MESSAGE FROM THE DIRECTOR

With great pleasure we send you our eleventh Annual Report. We have had an excellent year at the Institute. Your help has made possible improvement of our physical plant and the purchase of certain essential equipment; our productivity correspondingly has improved. During the past year more talks were given before scientific and other groups and more papers were published than in any one previous year. As a result of better facilities our output has increased about 20 per cent.

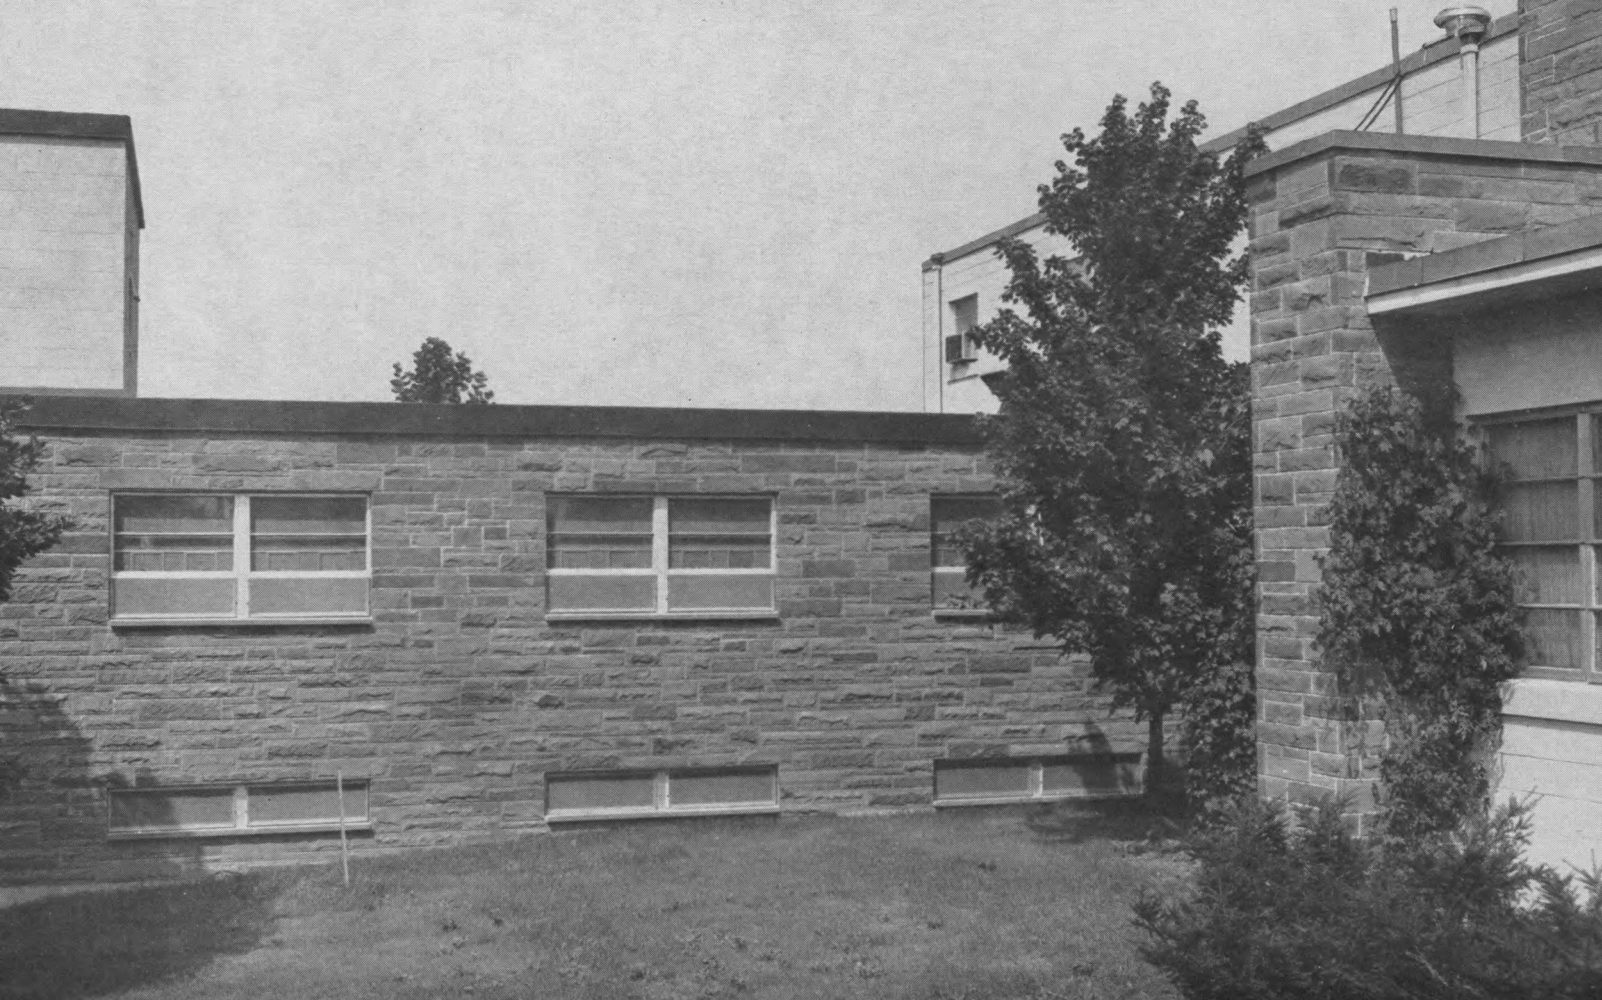

In this technical age and, in the present stage of our knowledge, it is no longer enough that we know certain fundamental principles, but also that we know why these occur if we are to make progress. To do this, better controlled laboratory conditions became necessary and, accordingly, the Giralda Division and the Daynemouth Division have been completely remodeled and equipment has been added which will allow for an expansion of work into fundamental processes that are expected to make dogs healthier. Addition of the Colgate Division has vastly improved our facilities for cellular studies on viral parasitism.

Our budget for the Cornell Research Laboratory for Diseases of Dogs is now $110,000 annually. More could be spent to good advantage, but expenditures must be kept in balance with income and, in addition, an endowment should be built. Endowment is essential for proper stabilization of staff employment; we regret having to see our well-trained scientists of outstanding ability take employment elsewhere in order to safeguard their futures. Our research program suffers accordingly. This will continue unless sufficient financial reserves become available to guarantee long term employment at the Laboratory.

If every donor will make a gift in keeping with his interest in dogs and his ability to give, as well as encourage additional support from others who should be interested, we will be able to continue to operate a fine research laboratory for diseases of dogs and keep it well staffed by people of unexcelled ability.

We are grateful to all our supporters, who by their interest and generous financial help have made this the best year in our history. I should like to express special appreciation to the following for their assistance, counsel and support during the past year: Miss Adele Colgate, Colonel and Mrs. Lee Garnett Day, Mrs. Geraldine R. Dodge, Mr. Richard King Mellon, Mr. John M. Olin, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Stewart, Jr., Mr. Richard Tift, and Mr. John C. Neff and the members of the Research Committee of the American Kennel Club, Mr. T. W. Merritt, Mr. Howard Parker and Mr. C. K. Rickel.

THE INSTITUTE REPORT

SIGNIFICANT progress at the Veterinary Virus Research Institute has been made during 1961 in several different phases of our activities. These have included: first, and most important, the discovery and preliminary reporting of new scientific concepts in immunology, which are leading to better methods of protection against disease; second, a broader understanding and more general application of our past discoveries which have led to improved vaccines and vaccination procedures against canine distemper, infectious canine hepatitis, and canine leptospirosis; third, by international recognition of our research activities, that resulted in the award of grants for travel and invitations to speak at several scientific meetings in Europe last spring and again this fall, as well as staff participation in a great number of meetings in this country; fourth, the modernization and remodeling of our oldest laboratories in order better to accommodate more workers, and the addition of new facilities for tissue culture and sterilization of laboratory glassware and equipment.

An important new section devoted primarily to tissue culture activities, known as the Colgate Division and named for its principle donor, Miss Adele Colgate, is shown in the frontispiece, opposite. The photograph below shows technicians in one of the new tissue culture booths of the Colgate Division.
