A Hint To Wives

If you're coming to town with Him on that business trip, here's a tip.

The Grosvenor is a man's choice for comfort, service and top transportation facilities; the quiet surroundings make for restful nights after hectic days at the office. So much for him. For you, a charming exclusive neighborhood . . . historic Washington Square . . . with smart shops and picture houses; old Greenwich Village with its crooked streets and lovely doorways. Then, too, the Wedgwood Room and little Lounge Bar are delightful for friendly parties.

You'll be happy, too.

WOMEN ENROLL FOR WAR COURSES

Study Map Making Here, Engineering "Cadettes" Leave

In one of the drafting rooms of Lincoln Hall from 4 to 6 every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon this term, twenty-four women are learning to make military maps under direction of Professor Paul H. Underwood '07 and Frederick J. Spry, MCE '29, Civil Engineering.

Fifteen of the women are Seniors from the Colleges of Arts and Sciences, Agriculture, and Home Economics, who are taking the sixty hours of lectures and laboratory practice while they are completing their regular courses. The others are wives of instructors, Ithacans, and University employees working on their own time.

To Supply Army Maps

The fifteen-week course is prescribed by the Army Map Service in Washington, D.C., which supplies drafting materials, practice plates, and test exercises for training toward employment in making the 4,000,000 maps a month which our armed forces need all over the world. Among Professor Underwood's lesson material are maps of North Africa, China, some of the Japanese islands, and many other strategic areas. The Army Map Service has 1500 men and women working day and night in Washington and its other offices, and is taking this means of training more under the Engineering, Science, and Management War Training program in a score of colleges. The work includes planimetric and topographic maps and mapping, map draftsman-ship, projections, military grids and map series, aeronautical charts, map reproduction methods, photo mapping in two dimensions, checking and evaluation.

Alumnae enrolled for the course here are Mrs. Carl F. Gilbert (Marie Turpin) '21, Mrs. John Bentley, Jr. (Maria Seguin) '23, Violet L. Dvorak '29, Mrs. Donald O'Connor (Audrey Harkness) '35, Mrs. Rowland A. Wells (Mary Savage) '40, and Winifred F. Brown '41. Seniors are Elizabeth J. Barlow, New York

City; Shirley J. Busacker, Westford; Mrs. Basil W. Conrad, Jr. (Anne Farnham), Versailles; Mary H. Crowley, Bowling Green, Ohio; Mary E. Frank, Ithaca; Lillian L. Fuller, Morris Plains, N.J.; Margaret D. Hall, Winchester, Mass.; Barbara B. Hesse, Glenside, Pa.; Mary L. Howell, Highland Park, Mich.; Elizabeth A. Kehoe, West Winfield; Mrs. Kermit Kruse (Shirley Ruckaberle), Schaghticoke; Doris B. Lee, Rochester; Mrs. Marilyn Haviland Mele, Fort DuPont, Del.; Caroline M. Norfleet, Bethesda, Md.; Virginia L. Witmer, Port Washington.

Leave for Engineering Study

Early in February, twenty-eight Senior, Junior, and Sophomore women from Arts, Agriculture, Home Economics, and Architecture were sent by the Curtiss-Wright Corp. to five other colleges as "engineering cadettes" for a year's training to prepare them for work as junior engineers in Curtiss-Wright plants. They were interviewed here before Christmas, are housed and fed at the various schools and paid ten dollars a week while they are learning. Their studies, forty hours a week, begin with mathematics, physics, chemistry, elementary engineering, drafting, and shop practice, and a second term's work will prepare them for specific jobs such as production engineering, electrical, structural, and mechanical design, design of electrical systems, aerodynamics, stress analysis, and similar work.

"Cadettes" Come Here

A group of 125 Curtiss-Wright cadettes from other colleges and universities has arrived in Ithaca to be trained in the College of Engineering for work in the Curtiss-Wright Airplane Division in Buffalo. They are housed in Anna Comstock House, vacated by its student residents and equipped with double-deck beds, and eat in Prudence Risley Hall across Thurston Avenue. Their work is in White, Franklin, Sibley, Lincoln, and Rand halls, and instruction is given by twenty-one members of the Engineering Faculty under direction of Fred Ocvirk who has been supervisor of aircraft construction training in Buffalo for the University's ESMWT program.

Cornellians who have entered Curtiss-Wright training at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, are Beth A. Smiley '43, Ithaca; Iris M. Coville '44, New Lisbon, N.J.; Ann Davis '44, Kerhonkson; Margaret G. Chandler '44, Scarsdale; Janet V. Sabine '44, Ithaca; Joan D. Hall '45, Mineola; Sue E. Lopez '45, Sand Lake; Arlene A. Loede '45, Passaic, N.J.; Carolyn E. Worcester '45, Middletown; Nancy A. Stephenson '45, Ithaca.

At Pennsylvania State College, State College, Pa., are Alison King '44, Morgantown, W. Va.; Sansa R. O'Connor '44, Olean; Jane D. Richards '44, Ithaca; Corrine E. Smith '44, Auburn; Evelyn G. Wilber '44, Albany; Nancy K. Blanche '45, Ithaca; Mary I. MacDonald '45, Rochester; Elizabeth M. Marshall '45, Munnsville; Elizabeth P. Young '45, Ithaca.

To Iowa State College at Ames have gone Edna R. Suydam '43 of State College, Pa., Doris K. Lehmann '44 of Ithaca, and Phyllis L. Surwillo '45 of Rochester; University of Minnesota, St. Paul, Marylou Black

About ATHLETICS

TEAM BEATS PENN

The basketball team turned in one of the upsets of the season in Philadelphia last Saturday with its 35-30 victory over Pennsylvania. The night before at Princeton, Cornell lost to Princeton, 36-52.

Pennsylvania had won thirteen straight victories, five of them in Eastern Inter-collegiate League competition, and had beaten Cornell, 42-35, in their February 6 game in Barton Hall.

But Cornell, paced by Captain Samuel W. Hunter '43 with 15 points, kept close to Pennsylvania through the first half, took the lead of 28-24 midway in the second half, and making good a greater percentage of free throws, stayed ahead to the game's end. Each team scored thirteen field goals. Cornell missed only one of ten foul shots.

In the Princeton game, Cornell faded in the second half after holding the home team to a 27-25 lead in the first half and going into a 31-27 lead with fourteen minutes left to play. Princeton suddenly found the range and threw in 25 points. Cornell was able to muster 5 points. Richard K. Giles '45, who had had a sizeable splinter removed from his leg two days before, and Roger D. Booze '45 topped the scoring at Princeton with 8 points apiece.

The squad lost the services of John F. Harper '43 and Thomas A. Cartmill '45 through ineligibility before the trip began.

WIN TRACK MEET

The track team defeated Penn State, 70-2/5 to 42-3/5, in Barton Hall last Saturday night, thus reversing last year's defeat. A Cornell victory by two yards in the mile relay clinched the decision, with two events undecided.

Captain Lyman W. Warfield '43 of Winnetka, Ill., was the individual star in his final appearance. After the meet, along with Watson B. Smith '43 of Larchmont, Frank C. Slovak '45 of New York City, and George E. Hiebeler, Jr. '43 of Chatham, Captain Warfield left to report for duty with the Army Air Forces.

Warfield won the 75-yard high hurdles in the meet—record-equalling time of 0:09.4 and the 75-yard low hurdles, then ran the first leg of the relay. His two victories were matched by the stirring wins turned in by Karver of Penn State in the mile and 880-yard runs. In both races, Karver had to fight off Paul M. Kelsey '43 of Ithaca. Karver set the pace in the mile and Kelsey kept on his heels all the way, finishing two yards behind. In the 880-yard run, Kelsey went into the lead halfway through, but Karver's finishing sprint caught him by less than a yard at the tape.

The meet records held firm. Warfield's effort in the high hurdles equalled the mark set in 1940 by George A. Knoerl '42. Clark R. Sanford '44 of Potsdam created a record by winning the 56-pound weight throw at 47 feet 3 inches because the event had not previously been contested in the series.

Charles E. Shaw, Jr. '43 of Scarsdale breezed to an easy victory in the 75-yard dash, as did John F. Kandl '44 of New York City in the two-mile run. Cornell was shut out of the 440-yard run, but swept the 75-yard low hurdles as Ralph J. Edsell, Jr. '45 of Cedarhurst and Aubrey E. Robinson '43 of Madison, N.J., finished second and third.

Howard W. Blose '44 of Dayton, Ohio, turned in an upset when he defeated Hanin of Penn State by one inch in the 16-pound shot put. Blose's winning toss was 43 feet 5 1/4 inches, compared to the meet record of 45 feet 11 1/8 inches set by Hanin last year.

Richard M. Junge '43 of Ridgewood, N.J., was Cornell's other winner with his victory in the pole vault. Five high jumpers, including Earl W. Benjamin '43 of New York City, Robert W. Larson '43 of Dover, N.J., and John A. Mitchell '46 of Ridley Park, Pa., tied for first.

Pole vault: Won by Junge, Cornell, 12 ft. 6 in.; tie for second between Powers, Cornell, and Stemler, Penn State, 12 ft.

WRESTLERS LOSE

The wrestling team lost to Penn State, 9-19, in Barton Hall last Saturday afternoon, as the visitors won five of the eight bouts, two of them on falls.

Ridenour of State threw John G. Raine '46 in the final second of the 128-pound class. He used a short arm scissors.

Decisions in the 121- and 136-pound bouts gave Penn State an 11-0 advantage before Erie J. Miller, Jr. '44 earned a decision over Crabtree in a closely-fought 145-pound bout. Miller had a 2-point margin at the end of nine minutes of wrestling.

Carl W. E. Almquist '45, in another close bout, earned a decision over Dipner in the 155-pound class. The 165-pound contest went into overtime, with John R. Crawford '46 finally yielding a decision to Reeve.

Wrestling for the first time in the 175-pound class after almost two seasons in the unlimited division, Gordon H. Steele '45 defeated Samler for a decision and Cornell's last 3 points.

SWIMMING TEAM WINS

The swimming team defeated Penn State, 58-17, in the Old Armory pool last Friday night for its fourth successive victory after one defeat.

Double winner for Cornell was John B. Rogers '45 who won the 50- and 100-yard freestyle races. Captain Warren H. Fisher '43 returned to action after an illness to win the 220-yard race, and Cornell completed a sweep of the freestyle contests when Thomas C. Weaver '45 won at 440 yards.

Burton Preston III '45 won the 200-yard breaststroke, and Cornell combinations won the medley and freestyle relays. Winning the 150-yard backstroke race, Cowell of Penn State set a new pool record of 1:39.3, eclipsing the 1:44.1 set by Melvin J. Blessing '40 in 1940. Young, placing first in the dive, was State's only other winner.

Rogers, in addition to his twin victories, also swam on the freestyle relay team.

FENCERS LOSE TO ARMY

The fencing team lost to the US Military Academy, 8-19, at West Point last Saturday for its second defeat in three engagements.

Double winners were Captain Philip V. Johnson '43 of Bloomfield, N.J., and Marvin Kopp '46 of Jersey City, N.J., in foils, and Bernard Scheffler '43 of New York City in the sabre bouts.

ARMAND L. ADAMS '31 has been re-elected president of the Family Welfare Society of Ithaca, as were Dr. C. Douglas Darling, Hygiene, vice-president; Mrs. George R. Chamberlain (Grace Caldwell) '92, treasurer; and Mrs. Harold Flack (Evelyn Alspach) '16, secretary.

FOR "BONDED REUNIONS" Secretaries Vote New Plan

Association of Class Secretaries meeting at the Cornell Club of New York February 20 voted unanimously to sponsor "Bonded Reunions" this spring for all alumni, in place of the usual Class Reunions in Ithaca.

Beginning immediately, all Classes that would normally hold Reunions at Commencement time will urge their members to purchase instead one $25 Series F. War Savings Bond in the name of Cornell University, and send that bond to the University through the Alumni Fund.

The plan was presented by Dr. Lyman R. Fisher '28 in his report for a committee of Class secretaries appointed to consider the possibilities of Class Reunions this year. He pointed out that transportation would be unavailable to Ithaca, that with the imminence of Army and Navy men being sent to the University for training there would be no accommodations for alumni, and that the University will greatly need increased financial support to offset the expected loss of regular students. Furthermore, he said, purchase of a $25 War Bond costs less than an individual's Reunion trip to Ithaca, and will help both the University and the country's war effort. Series F. bonds are discounted to cost $18.50, and can be purchased at any bank or post office.

As endorsement for the Bonded Reunions idea, the Association of Class Secretaries voted to buy a $100 War Bond from its funds and present it to the University as the first Reunion gift. It is expected that all Class secretaries will devote their Class letters and Reunion efforts this spring to encouraging the purchase of a $25 Bond for the University, by every member, and mailings are already being planned to promote this program. It will be urged also that Cornellians who are not subscribers to the ALUMNI NEWS now make sure they receive it as the best opportunity to renew their acquaintance with Classmates and the University.

Dr. Fisher's committee was continued, to head the plan for Bonded Reunions. Its other members are Class Secretaries Clark S. Northup '93, Anna Fielden Grace '10, Harriett Hosmer '18, Henry W. Roden '18, Mrs. Alvin R. Carpenter (Helen Worden) '28, and James D. Pond '28.

The Association elected Frank H. McCormick '10 of Wilmington, Del., the new president, succeeding Herbert F. Johnston '17. Dr. Fisher is vice-president; Mrs. R. W. Sailor (Queenie Horton) '09 was re-elected treasurer; and Walter C. Heasley, Jr. '30 is acting secretary. Johnston, Charles A. Dewey '12, and Alice E. L. Mouronval '23 are also members of the executive committee.

Johnston presided at the luncheon meeting at the Cornell Club. Class secretaries and their representatives (names in italics) present were:

Dr. Henry P. deForest '84, Frank N. Waterman '89, Mary R. Fitzpatrick '93, John M. Stoddard '94, William E. Schenck '95, Albert T. Scharps '96, Katherine R. Buckley '01, *Mrs. R. H. KANSAS CITY GATHERS

Cornell Club of Kansas City, Mo., had eight alumni for a dinner meeting at the University Club February 10. Motion pictures of Cornell football games, sent by the Alumni Office, were much enjoyed, and those present agreed to hold more meetings of this kind.

CHICAGO STUDIES TRACTION

Speaker at the February 18 luncheon of the Cornell Club of Chicago, Ill., was Fred Kleinman '13, chief financial accountant for the Illinois Commerce Commission. His efforts on rate reductions are said to have saved gas consumers millions of dollars. His luncheon subject was "The Chicago Traction Plan."

FRESHMAN AWARDS OPEN

Students who plan to enter Cornell either next June or October, and who wish to compete for University scholarships, must notify the Director of Admissions, Morrill Hall, of their intention before March 8.

College Entrance Examination Board examinations will be given this year April 10 in various centers throughout the country, instead of in September as before. These tests, including scholastic aptitude, an achievement test in English composition, and choice of two other achievement tests among several offered, are the basis of awarding the University's twenty-three scholarships available to entering students. Five of these, the George E. Lefevre Scholarships, have annual value of $400 each; the others are University Undergraduate Scholarships of $200 a year.

Application blanks for the scholastic aptitude test and achievement tests are to be obtained from the College Entrance Examination Board, Box 592, Princeton, N.J. Applicants for examinations to be given west of the Mississippi must have requests in to the Board by March 13; those east of the Mississippi, March 20.

PHYSICIAN HONORED

Dr. Arthur W. Bingham is one of three Classmates of '93 who are active in medical affairs in the Oranges of New Jersey.

On February 14, Dr. Bingham was presented with the Dr. Edward J. Ill Award of the Academy of Medicine of Northern New Jersey at his home in East Orange, 219 South Harrison Street, where he is recovering from a recent illness. A bronze medal, presented by officers of the Academy in the presence of Mrs. Bingham (Grace Lewis) '97 and a few old friends, is inscribed to him as "learned obstetrician, instructive author, and public-spirited citizen." Dr. Bingham was an organizer of the Medical Commission for Maternal Welfare of Essex County in 1923, forerunner of the Medical Society of New Jersey's committee on maternal welfare which he has headed since its inception. In that period, the maternal death rate in the State has decreased from 5.9 per 1,000 to 1.8 per 1,000. In 1940, the Medical Society of New Jersey awarded Dr. Bingham a citation "for distinguished service in the field of public health," and the same year he was voted "the outstanding citizen" by the Oranges and Maplewood Chamber of Commerce and Civics.

For forty years, he has been associated with the Orange Memorial Hospital, of which his Classmate, Ernest R. Hill '93, is president of the board of trustees. Another Classmate, August Merz '93, is president of the board of trustees of the East Orange General Hospital.

NOW IN MY TIME!

By Romeyn Berry

Pretty much all non-studious student organizations are reported suffering acutely from compet trouble. You can see how it would be. What's the sense of enlisting in a long, arduous struggle for a managership or an editorship when long before the end of the competition there may not be any team to manage or any paper to edit?

What you are looking at may well turn out to be the first sign of crumbling in the structure which for half a century has held up the entire undergraduate social fabric at Cornell.

Other colleges, to be sure, awarded periodically positions of honor and responsibility on the basis of competition, but we suspect the system has achieved its most luxuriant flowering at Cornell.

The compet system existed before his time, of course, but it was John Senior who, as Graduate Manager of the Athletic Association at the turn of the century, first recognized its possibilities, exploited it to the full, and demonstrated its universal application. Under John, jobs were taken out of politics and awarded on the basis of merit as disclosed by accomplishment. Under John's guidance, everybody benefitted. The compets in the term of their apprenticeship learned something of methodical business practice and the arts of management, while the Athletic Association received for nothing from the compets a vast number of necessary menial services which if rendered by hired help would have cost it thousands and thousands of dollars. In my time, it was the compets who sold season tickets, solicited program advertising, ushered and policed fences at games, chalked the Campus sidewalks, cut the grass and rolled the track at Percy Field, checked and repaired equipment, rubbed down second-string athletes, and supplied emergency cigarettes to nervous coaches.

On more than one May Saturday has your reporter arisen at 3 a.m. to chalk advertising copy on the Campus sidewalks, spent the morning watering, rolling, and marking the running track for a dual meet, officiated in a minor capacity at the afternoon's contest, and then continued into the night putting away hurdles and hunting through the tall grass for lost sixteen-pound hammers.

Some compets entered competitions of their own volition, but more were kicked in willy-nilly by the older brothers in the bond. It wouldn't do for a house to have its Sophomore delegation sitting around and playing bridge. And the strange part is (or was) that the compets liked it once they were in. You were now a respectable part of a going concern. You became acquainted with the Great Ones. Your talents, if any, were disclosed to the community. And even though you did not win, all was not lost by any means. Unsuccessful compets for the big jobs became the source from which were recruited lesser managers, Class committees, and societies with nice pins.

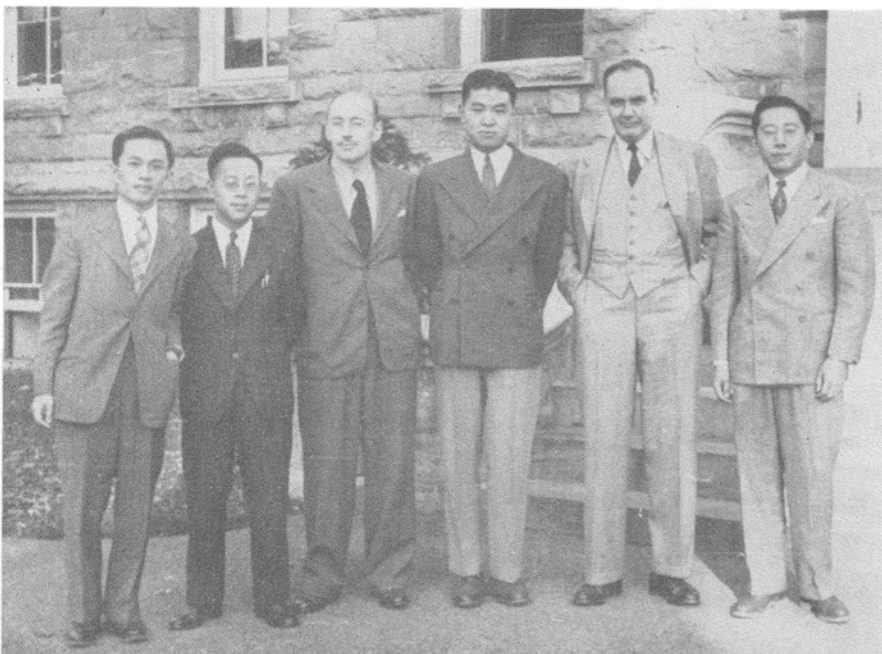

The compet system, even when carried into fantastic exaggerations, has (or had) its undoubted points. We've often wondered why it, or something like it, was not employed to stimulate wider participation, a more combative striving for recognition, in studious activities!

But last week, the basketball manager reported at the Athletic Office that half his compets had gone to the Infirmary with gripe. "Now there's one left," he said.

CORNELL ENGINEER

In The Cornell Engineer for February, Herbert B. Reynolds '11 writes on "Power for Subways." He describes the power installations for the New York City rapid transit system, the largest subway system in the world. Reynolds was assistant engineer of motive power with the Interborough Rapid Transit Co., and last July became superintendent of motive power in the IRT division of the New York City Transit System.

Dr. David Dropkin '33, Westinghouse Research Associate and instructor in Mechanical Engineering, describes the Heat Transfer Laboratory recently installed in the Sibley Mechanical Laboratory, for research, testing, and teaching.

THEY PLAN CHINA'S POST-WAR REBUILDING

George N. Brown '08 in his President's Message to the Cornell Society of Engineers outlines the war activities of the College and emphasizes the importance to Engineering education that it is given "in the center of a great University where broad educational and cultural advantages can be had in practically unlimited fields."

MORE GET ARMY-NAVY "E"

To the mounting number of firms in which Cornellians have had a part in winning the Army-Navy "E" Award for outstanding production of war materials were recently added Corning Glass Works and Willys-Overland Motors, Inc. Glen W. Cole '18 is president of Corning Glass. Delmar G. Roos '11 is production manager of Willys-Overland, whose plant in Toledo, Ohio, builds Army "jeeps" and produces shells, bullet cores, ammunition and powder hoists, gun parts, aluminum aircraft forgings, and steel forgings.

ADAMS '26 TO VISIT SCHOOLS

Professor John C. Adams '26, English, has been relieved of part of his teaching to devote time to working with Cornell Clubs and alumni in the interests of the secondary schools program of the Alumni Association. He is available to visit Clubs of both men and women to assist in their relations with secondary schools, to speak at their parties for prospective students of the University, and to visit schools as arranged by Club committees and individual alumni. His new work will coordinate that of the Alumni Association secondary schools committee, of which Clarence J. Pope '10 is chairman, and of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs under Mrs. Bernard A. Savage (Carmen Schneider) '27 with the program of the Faculty committee on secondary school relations. Arrangements may be made directly with him at Alumni House, 3 East Avenue, Ithaca.

Professor Adams has been a member of the English Department since 1930, has taught Freshman English and several courses on Shakespeare and the Elizabethan drama. His book on the Globe Playhouse was recently published by the Harvard University Press. After receiving the AB in 1926, he spent two years at King's College, Cambridge University, where he rowed on the College crew and coached that of Corpus Christi College. He received the PhD in 1935 and spent the year 1937-38 as Senior Fellow at the Folger Library in Washington, D.C. He has been graduate manager of the Musical Clubs and is chairman of the University committee on student conduct. Member of Phi Beta Kappa, Quill and Dagger, and Chi Phi, he was Senior manager of the Musical Clubs and Class orator. He is the son of the late John D. Adams '82.

HISTORICAL COLLECTION GROWS

Alumni Give Valuable Records of Region

Hotel records of the Glen Springs House at Watkins Glen, including registers of this famous Finger Lakes watering place for forty-two years from 1890, have been given to the University's newly-established Collection of Regional History by William M. Leffingwell '18, president of the Glen Springs. The hotel is now closed because of the war, and Leffingwell is a captain in the Army.

This is the largest of thirty gifts and loans of valuable historical material that have been made to the Collection since it was announced last fall. With the aid of a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation, quarters have been fitted up in Boardman Hall for the preservation and cataloging of historical manuscripts of New York State and related areas. Curator of the collection is Whitney R. Cross, graduate of the University of Rochester who came from graduate work in history at Harvard. He spends much of his time travelling around the State looking up materials about which word comes to him from Cornellians and others interested in preserving historical materials and making them available for the use of scholars.

Several other alumni are among those who have sent interesting items to the Collection. From Mrs. William J. Sly (Grace Taintor) '91 and her sister, of East Avon, Cross has received a hardware store account book and miscellaneous papers of their father's of the period 1853-72. Dr. Arthur W. Booth '93 of Elmira has contributed thirteen MSS relating to road laying and other matters in Bradford County, Pa., 1812-38. Price W. Kinney '06 of Warsaw sent a collection of papers relating to the village of Lyons and Lyons High School, 1890-1920. Mrs. George W. Swift of Marathon, mother of Gage B. Swift '19, deposited an interesting collection of papers of the period 1830-60. Dr. LeRoy H. Wardner '31 of Saranac Lake sent a pamphlet on Adirondack Medicine. C. Phelps Carter '36 of Oswego contributed a photostat of a share in the Castorland Co., formed in Paris in 1793 to purchase 2,000 acres of land in Jefferson County. Of related value also is a gift recently made to the University Library of eighty-seven volumes of old newspaper files including the Corning Daily Journal, Elmira Advertiser, Marshall (Mich.) Statesman, New York Evangelist, New York Weekly Tribune, New York World, and Wellsville Daily Reporter. These were from the estate of Harry H. Pratt, late editor of the Corning Journal, and came through his son, Surrogate George Pratt of Corning.

Cross points out that wartime fear of incendiary bombing has led to the cleaning out of attics, trunks, and cupboards, and suggests that this may unearth valuable historical material that should be preserved. "Our generation is interested," he says, "in the history of all the people, and the only source of much of this history will be in the records of the common people that are collected and preserved. This new history can be better and more accurate than any we have had before."

He welcomes correspondence from Cornellians and others who may have or know of old songs of the region, letters and diaries, records of stagecoach, canal, or railroad enterprises, old deeds and financial records pertaining to settlement of New York State lands and the interests of New Yorkers in western lands, farm diaries and accounts, dealers' records and those of cheese factories, general stores, feed stores, lumber and flour mills, and blacksmiths, records of schools, teachers, churches, clubs, and up-State industries. All of these, he says, will be valuable to investigators of regional history, and all such investigators are welcome to use the manuscript collection. It is hoped that with the various items already in the University Library and in several Departments, the Collection of Regional History will make Cornell a center for such research.

CURATOR OF REGIONAL HISTORY

Whitney R. Cross at his desk in Boardman Hall holds a letter written by Ezra Cornell to Ira Millard of New London, Wis., March 5, 1865, about location and sale of University lands in Wisconsin. This is one of nine letters of the Founder given by Davis Chambers of Wilmington, Ill. In front of Cross are several volumes of registers and account books of the Glen Springs Hotel, given by its president, William M. Leffingwell '18.

"WE SPEAK FORTH BITTERLY"

"A war of nerves which outdoes even Hitler's planning is now raging on the Cornell Campus. At the center lies the ERC question. Some of the rumors are fascinating. For instance the conversation overheard between Colonel Van Deusen and 'Speed' Wilson, or the pile of envelopes seen in the Post Office from the War Department, or the wild confusion now reigning at Governor's Island, delaying by weeks the induction day.

"These are only brief evidences of the tragedy of the ERC in higher education. Probably few other systems of using college-trained men could have done more to hinder progress in the many institutions throughout the country. There is little doubt in many minds on this Campus that M-Day will not come in the very near future. And there are few who will not breathe a great sigh of relief when it does arrive.

"It is wholly natural that college students should feel bitterly disappointed at this time. In a nation at war which has sorely needed their technically and liberally trained minds they have been allowed to wander without purpose. They have been told to stick by the jobs, they have convinced themselves that what they were doing was right, and then they have heard that these jobs were non-essential and should be 'radically altered.'

"Politicians and statesmen, few in number, have stood by us while college presidents have deserted a cause which they were supposed to champion.

"We pray fervently now that our call will not come before March 20, the day of academic grace set down by the Faculty for this term. But we know well that our prayers will be of no avail. And while we work from day to day, led on only by the slightest trace of hope, we speak forth bitterly against those who have led us to believe we are so important and who have left us so useless.

—Edward D. Eddy '44 in the Sun

"TOP RADIO REPORTER"

Newsweek for February 1 devotes its "Radio" column to Charles C. Collingwood '39, CBS reporter in French North Africa.

"Only twenty-five years old, the husky, blond-haired reporter now holds the top spot among radio reporters," says Newsweek. "He teams news sense with a natural radio voice, mature and well-modulated, which many mistake for that of a man of forty.

"At least a half-dozen times since the American troops landed last November, Collingwood has beaten his newsprint rivals via the microphone. His broadcasts have created at least the illusion of uncanny insight; sometimes they have caught the turn of events days in advance of official releases. Newspapers in both America and Britain have quoted him increasingly.

"To begin with, Collingwood on Christmas Eve scored a twenty-three-minute beat on the details of Admiral Darlan's assassination and then guessed correctly that General Giraud would become the new High Commissioner. The CBS correspondent was ahead also with news of the assassin's execution and the arrest of twelve persons allegedly plotting the death of Giraud. A fortnight ago, Collingwood added to the string of scoops. On January 11, he hinted at Royalist participation in the intrigue. Two days later, he broadcast a storybook inside account of Monarchist opportunism touching the Darlan murder plot.

"Nothing in Collingwood's early life pointed to his successful broadcasting career. One of six children, he is the son of a forestry expert [G. Harris Collingwood, formerly professor of Forestry at Cornell—Ed.]. He studied pre-law at Cornell University and on July 1, 1939, set out for Europe with a Rhodes Scholarship and a fellowship of the Students International Union in Geneva. When war broke out in September, Collingwood was hired by the United Press to serve as local Oxford correspondent. During the winter holidays he worked for the UP in Amsterdam, getting out before the Nazis arrived.

"Back at Oxford, he found it 'harder and harder to care about medieval law with Armageddon coming closer and closer.' So he went to work in the London UP office and in March, 1941, joined CBS. In London, Collingwood became known for his athletic ability (he pitched the correspondents to victory over a Marine Corps baseball team and won the title of 'the poor man's Bob Feller'), his skill at poker, and his scrupulous dress (he was known as the best-dressed newspaperman and claimed Ambassador Biddle copied him in wearing stiff-bosomed shirts with horizontal stripes).

"The CBS reporter arrived in Algiers with the British troops. His regular two-and-a-half-minute broadcasts twice a day (8 a.m. and 6:45 p.m. EWT) from Radio Algiers over the CBS coast-to-coast network didn't eat up enough of his nervous energy. So several times since, he has abandoned Algiers and toured the front lines in Tunisia."

Collingwood also represented CBS at the Roosevelt-Churchill conference in Casablanca last January.

ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

STUDENT CONDUCT committee cancelled its regularly scheduled February meeting, for lack of business to come before it. Opinion of the Campus is that students are too hard at work right now to give cause for disciplining.

MEN LEAVING for the armed services have resulted in "doubling up" in some fraternity dining rooms. This term, Delta Kappa Epsilon members are taking their meals at the Psi Upsilon house.

RECREATION CENTER for the service men now on the Campus has been organized at Barnes Hall by the women's cabinet of CURW. For the hour after dinner and before men of the Naval Training School return to their quarters, every evening except Saturday and Sunday, upperclass women act as hostesses for cards, checkers, ping-pong, and dancing.

MORSE HALL has received its second "temporary" roof since the top floors of the building were destroyed by fire in 1916. Ground floor and basement of the former Chemistry Laboratory building have been used in recent years by the College of Architecture and Department of Music.

ALEPH SAMACH, Junior Class honor society, has elected Edward D. Eddy, of Ithaca, president. Theodore H. Lansing of Cranford, N. J., is vice-president; Albert Beehler, Jr. of Baltimore, Md., secretary; R. Owen Jones of Milwaukee, Wis., treasurer.

SOPHOMORE COTILLION, scheduled for February 27 in Willard Straight Memorial Room, will be a Diamond Horseshoe affair of the Gay Nineties. The committee, headed by John T. Rogers '45 of Detroit, Mich., has five women members of the Class and ten men.

BAR ASSOCIATION officers in Tompkins County remain all Cornellians. Allan H. Treman '21 is advanced to president, succeeding Lawrence M. Mintz '11, and Louis K. Thaler '25 is the new vice-president. Robert S. Grant '34 and John A. Noble, Jr. '31 are re-elected the respective secretary and treasurer.

FRANK KAVANAGH spent last week at the US Military Academy at West Point, observing the physical training classes there and devoting special attention to the Army's instruction in judo. It is expected that the physical fitness course here may shortly include exercises in that form of organized homicide, and a new two-mile military trail is being laid out on the hillside and along Six Mile Creek back of the Artillery Stables. Here the men will run with packs when they are not playing baseball, lacrosse, football, and other sports in the spring's expanded intramural program.

SUN EDITORIAL February 20 points to "The Co-ed's Opportunity" to preserve during the war "as much as possible of the valuable elements of Cornell's vast extra-curricular network." The editor observes that when men in the Army and Navy training programs replace most of the present men students, there will be "a definite challenge and opportunity for the woman hitherto subjugated in higher education." "The women editors actors, business managers, and student government heads," the Sun concludes "will prove the connecting link between the liberal education of today and the higher pursuits of the post-war world. It is time the co-ed stepped forth to begin the work which will be hers when the vast change is made."

SUN CALENDAR of approved Campus social events February 19-24 included twenty Saturday night fraternity and sorority supper parties and victrola dances, two parties for Navy men, a Willard Straight Hall dance, an overnight outing at Mount Pleasant Lodge, two square dances, two Sunday dinner parties, and an exchange dinner of Beta Theta Pi with Delta Delta Delta.

WOMEN'S DEBATE CLUB has elected as president Charlotte M. Licht '44 of Trumansburg. Secretary-treasurer is M. Joanne Solar '44 of Grand Island, Nebr., and Frances Steyer '44 of Brooklyn is debate manager.

WAR RATION BOOKS were allotted to students in the Goldwin Smith Hall museum of casts February 24 by a committee of Faculty volunteers directed by Dr. Eugene F. Bradford, University Registrar.

FRANCIS X. KRAMER, for twenty-nine years stock keeper in Rand Hall of the College of Engineering until he retired four years ago, celebrated with Mrs. Kramer their fiftieth wedding anniversary February 14. A family dinner at their home, 301 West Lincoln Street, Ithaca, was attended by their children, Francis J. Kramer '18 and his sister, and grandchildren.

DEBATE ASSOCIATION speakers, Julian A. Jackson '43 of Meridian, Miss., and Karl Schmiedler '44 of Staten Island met speakers from the University of Vermont in Willard Straight Hall, February 19. They upheld the negative of the question, "Resolved: That we should have a federal union of the democracies."

TRACK MEET in Barton Hall Saturday night, the only indoor meet this winter, had attendance of approximately 600. Professor Bristow Adams, Agriculture Publications, presided in his customary top hat and tails, and Colonel Edwin R. Van Deusen, commandant of the ROTC, and Captain Burton W. Chippendale, commanding the Naval Training School, were honorary marshals.

LECTURER in the College of Engineering February 19 was Willis H. Carrier '01, University Trustee and chairman of the board of the Carrier Corp., Syracuse. Introduced by Director William N. Barnard '97 as the man who "created a new science into an industry," Carrier told of his experiences in perfecting "manufactured weather" to meet industrial conditions.

DRAMATIC CLUB gave three one-act plays in the Willard Straight Theater February 19 and 20. "Monday" by Alfred Kryembourg is a folk prose play. "Pullman Car Hiawatha" by Thornton Wilder depicts life and death on the Chicago flier. In "The Hope Chest," Professor Alex M. Drummond, Director of the University Theatre, depicts the soul of one person with a succession of characters.

CHAIRMAN of a campaign to raise $1500 on the Campus for the United Jewish Appeals is Roy B. Unger '43 of Cleveland Heights, Ohio. He is also chairman of the student committee on program for "Brotherhood Week" February 21-28.

SAGE CHAPEL PREACHER February 28 is the Rev. Justin W. Nixon of Colgate-Rochester Divinity School.

THE CORNELLIAN staff has elected Nancy L. Green '44 of LeRoy, women's business manager; Rose K. Matt '44 of Utica, women's advertising manager; and Maxine L. Katz '45 of Manchester, N.H., assistant business manager. Sophomore women added to the staff as the result of competitions are Phyllis C. Avery of LeRoy, Lenore H. Kennedy of Port Jefferson, Nancy M. Peters of Seneca Falls, and Frances M. Shloss of Des Moines, Ia. New Freshman staff member is Vaughn P. Rubin of Cleveland Heights, Ohio.

TOWN AND GOWN representatives compete in Sunday night quiz programs broadcast by Station WHCU in the interests of the Tompkins County Red Cross campaign. Moderator is Professor Bristow Adams, Agriculture Publications, and the opposing teams to answer questions submitted by listeners are made up of three members each, chosen to represent Ithaca and the Campus.

Concerning THE FACULTY

OFFICE OF WAR INFORMATION has made a recording of the "Fourth Symphony" by Roy Harris, Composer in Residence, for use in Allied and neutral radio stations. Known also as the "folk song symphony," his composition consists of seven movements, five of which use a mixed chorus and have American folk songs as the main theme.

EPSILON SIGMA PHI, national honor society of agricultural extension, has presented certificates of recognition for outstanding service to Professor Ralph H. Wheeler '09, Extension and Assistant Treasurer of the University, and to Flora Rose, former director of the College of Home Economics. Miss Rose's certificate was delivered to her by Claribel Nye '14, California State leader of home demonstration agents.

PROFESSOR EDWARD A. TENNEY, PhD '32, English, left Ithaca February 11 to work for Consolidated Aircraft Corp. in San Diego, Cal.

OIL PAINTINGS by Professor John A. Hartell '25, Architecture, are displayed in the Kraushaar Galleries in New York City, February 22-March 13.

PROFESSOR LOWELL C. CUNNINGHAM, PhD '34, Agricultural Economics, predicted a decline in fluid milk production in 1943 because of the shift of workers from farms to war industries. He spoke at an emergency conference of dairy farmers in New York City February 12.

PROFESSOR KENNETH L. WASHBURN '27, Fine Arts, designed a terra-cotta plaque commemorating Jethro Wood's invention of an all-metal plow in 1819, recently installed in the lobby of the Moravia Post Office.

DR. HERBERT F. TRAUT, associate professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology at the Medical College for the last twelve years, became head of the department of obstetrics and gynecology at the University of California in San Francisco last October.

AFTER MONTHS of combat duty in the Southwest Pacific, Lieutenant Paul W. Eckley, Jr. is stationed at the Army Air Base, Pyote, Tex. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross with silver star. A member of the 93d Bombardment Squadron whose exploits were typified in the history of the airplane, "Suzy-Q," pictured in Life January 18, he took part in twenty combat missions in the Java-Australia area and is reported to have been in the first Flying Fortress to bomb Raboul, Japanese base in the Solomons. He is the son of Paul W. Eckley '17 who was Varsity baseball coach from 1920 until 1936 when he went to Amherst as assistant professor of physical education and head coach of baseball.

PROFESSOR RALPH W. CHURCH, Philosophy, is the author of Bradley's Dialectic, recently published by the Cornell University Press. In this treatise, Professor Church reveals the essential character of the great British philosopher's dialectic, using as his main texts, "Appearance and Reality" and the essay on "Relations." The London Times Literary Supplement says, "Bradley, in all his manifestations, is clearly present to the writer's mind. . . it will, henceforward, be less easy for modern philosophers to represent a great thinker as a muddler or driveller."

NECROLOGY

'82 BS—Mrs. J. Henry Bartlett (JANE JOHNSON WETHERELL), December 8, 1942, in Haverford, Pa.

'90 ME(EE), '94 MME—SAMUEL BYRON FORTENBAUGH, January 5, 1943, in Glens Falls, where he had lived since his retirement in 1932 as railway engineer for General Electric Co. He had represented International General Electric Co. in South America, Africa, and Russia. Alpha Tau Omega.

'99 BS—ALICE GERTRUDE BRICKELMAIER, August 9, 1942, in Brooklyn. She taught in the Erasmus Hall High School, Brooklyn for many years.

'11 BArch—ANNA WAGNER KEICHLINE, February 5, 1943, at her home on East Bishop Street, Bellefonte, Pa. She was the first woman architect admitted to registry in Pennsylvania; designed many buildings in central Pennsylvania and in Washington, D.C., and held patents on several types of bricks.

'42—Swimming ability of Lieutenant GERALD T. ROGERS, USNR, AC, "largely due to his training at Camp Otter, unquestionably saved his life," according to a letter from his father to HOWARD B. ORTNER '19. The story as told to "Jerry's" father by a lieutenant of Jerry's squadron is that he left Port Moresby with six P39s which were attacked by ten Zeros over Buna. They shot down eight of the ten and his father says, "Jerry got his Zero and perhaps one more." He then started back because of engine trouble and, discovering a Zero on his tail, dove in the hope of getting away with a disabled engine but was unable to make it and "the Zero poured lead into him and his plane caught fire." He hit the water at about 275 miles an hour, came to with water rushing into the cockpit, wrenched the door open and swam to the surface. Natives who picked him up in a fishing boat bandaged him and nursed his fractured elbow, shell wounds in his scalp, left forearm, and thigh, and after two days in the boat helped him through the jungle for two more days to a deserted mission where a lone Australian was a lookout and had a wire to Milne Bay. He was picked up by a small plane and returned to Port Moresby two weeks after he had left. He was then flown to Australia where he spent a month in a hospital and reported back to his outfit November 15. His father said he was then ordered home, "but he finally sold his doctor and commanding officer on the idea that he was 100 per cent and they let him stay."

"Bill would have wanted me to write"

Dear Mr. _____,

Bill would have wanted me to write you this letter.

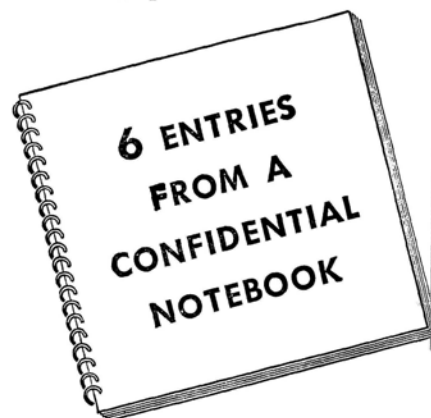

He was the one who first recognized the truth of your statement—"The future belongs to those who prepare for it." To me, I must confess, other things seemed more important—then.

Today I am so grateful that you persuaded Bill to say "yes" to life insurance!

Your friendly interest and your perseverance—these alone, I am sure, have made it possible for our children to make the most of the happy future Bill and I always planned for them . . .

THE FUTURE BELONGS TO THOSE WHO PREPARE FOR IT

NOV. 23—Called on W. H. Allison, lawyer, 32. Has young son and daughter. "Not interested in insurance."

MAY 30—Saw W. H. Allison. Outlined Family Income Policy for protection of wife and children. Wife doesn't want him to buy life insurance.

JULY 7—Saw Allisons at home. Presented plan providing that, if Mr. A died, Mrs. A would receive $150 monthly until children are grown, then $60 a month for life. But Mrs. A seems more interested in furnishing their new home.

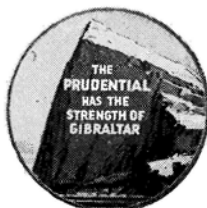

AUG. 4—Called again at Allison home. After further discussion, he bought plan as outlined last month. Well pleased.

APRIL 8—Heard Bill Allison was in hospital—pneumonia. Stopped to cheer him up, but too ill to be seen.

MAY 14—Yesterday took Grace Allison first of lifetime monthly income checks from Bill's insurance. Very thankful letter from her today. Especially satisfied with this case because of time and effort required to place this much-needed protection.
