STUDENT STUNTSTERS At Boston Convention

Laurence M. Selleck '15, chairman of entertainment for the biennial convention of the Cornell Alumni Association in Boston, Mass., November 14-16, has announced that a feature of the convention will be five talented undergraduates direct from the Campus. Alumni will thus have opportunity, he says, to compare the songs and "stunts" of present-day Cornellians with those of their times.

At the "Boston Tea Party" convention banquet in the grand ballroom of the Copley Plaza, November 15, the Senior Quartet of the Glee Club will sing. These four are Raymond W. Kruse of St. Davids, Pa., Gilbert H. Cobb of Newtown, Pa., Richard H. Lee of Washington, D. C., and William J. Packer, Jr. of Westbury. Kruse, the son of Otto V. Kruse '09, is leader of the Glee Club and a gifted pianist and arranger of music. Cobb is the tenor soloist of the Glee Club whose voice is heard in "Cornell" and the "Alumni Song" in the new Glee Club phonograph records. Lee, son of Cazenove G. Lee '07, is the author and composer of "In the Red and the White" which is also on the new records, and a talented performer on the accordion.

Besides their singing at the banquet, Selleck promises that these four and Harold B. Zook of Hinsdale, Ill., drummer-extraordinary, will also perform, each in his own way, at the smoker later that evening. Cobb will give his inimitable rendition of the "Sophomore Song," Zook and Kruse will play both hot and sweet on piano and drums, and Lee will entertain with his accordion and with combined singing and whistling. At least two other recent stars of the Glee Club, Selleck promises, will also be on hand: William C. Kruse '38, brother of Ray and a popular performer; and R. Selden Brewer '40, magician-extraordinary and manager of the Glee Club last year.

All these and others, Selleck, says, will be on the special train which the Cornell Club of New England has arranged to take the convention to the football game with Dartmouth November 16. His committee is also arranging for sightseeing tours in and around historic Boston between convention sessions, and for a bridge party and dancing after the "Tea Party" Friday evening, in the Copley Plaza.

These lighter features of the convention will follow a discussion session Thursday evening, November 14, on the special problems of Cornell Clubs; reports and discussions Friday morning on the entire alumni program for the University; distinguished Cornellians speaking at luncheon on topics of timely general interest; and President Edmund E. Day addressing alumni on the state of the University at the Friday evening banquet. Toastmaster at the banquet will be Robert P. Butler '05, recently president of the Alumni Fund Council.

TO ENTERTAIN ALUMNI CONVENTION

Talented Senior Quartet of the Musical Clubs will sing at Boston gathering November 14-16. Standing, Gilbert H. Cobb, tenor soloist; William J. Packer, Jr.; Richard H. Lee, composer of "In the Red and the White." Seated at the piano is Raymond W. Kruse, leader of the Glee Club.

Under the general chairmanship of Archie C. Burnett '90 and with J. Duncan Upham '74, F. Ellis Jackson '00, and George H. Rockwell '13 as vice-chairmen, numerous committees of the Cornell Club of New England are at work on convention arrangements. Besides Selleck's entertainment committee, William N. Davis '31 is chairman of hotel arrangements; Walter P. Phillips '15, of publicity; Jackson, reception; Newton C. Burnett '24, finance; Lawrence Richardson '10, train; and Mrs. M. Gregory Dexter (Jennie A. Curtis) '24 is chairman of an alumnae committee; with Norman F. Bissell '27, president of the Club, active in all departments.

Regional committees throughout New England are headed by L. Peter Ham '26, Western Massachusetts; H. Hunt Bradley '26, Rhode Island; R. Claud Bradley, PhD '26, New Hampshire; George Munsick '21, Hartford, Conn.; Thomas I. S. Boak '14, New Haven, Conn.; Donald J. Post '24, Waterbury, Conn.; A. Bradford Reed '27, Worcester, Mass.; and Carl W. Olney '22, Vermont. Francis O. Affeld '97 and Randolph W. Weed '10 are chairmen for New York City.

INCREASE SCHOLARSHIPS From McMullen Fund

Steadily increasing principal of the John McMullen Fund which was left to the University in 1923 for "the education of young men as engineers," and a new ruling by the Trustees allowing stipends to be varied to meet the needs of individual students have resulted in the award of forty-four McMullen Regional Scholarships in Engineering to entering students this year. Their holders come from twenty-two States, and most of them will receive $400 a year if they maintain satisfactory academic records for their entire four- and five-year courses in the College of Engineering. Besides these Regional Scholarships, others for apprentices in industry, for undergraduates already enrolled, and for graduate students are supported from the John McMullen Fund, of which the principal now amounts to approximately $2,000,000.

Mostly covering tuition in the College, the Regional Scholarships are awarded annually to outstanding graduates of secondary schools with the advice and aid of regional committees of Engineering alumni who interview applicants and make recommendations to the University. Because other scholarships are open to residents of New York, these are given only to residents of other States. Applications are filed by boys through their school principals and are referred by a committee of the Engineering Faculty to the regional alumni committees in fifteen districts of the United States. These alumni investigate the boys, interview them, and the final selections are guided by their reports. This year, 285 applications were received. Winners of the scholarships were all high in scholastic rank and were leaders in athletics, music, student government, journalism, and other school activities.

Among this year's recipients are five sons of Cornellians, their parents named in the list below. Eighteen of the forty-four have entered the five-year course in Chemical Engineering; the others, four-year courses, twelve in Mechanical Engineering, eight in Electrical Engineering, and six in Civil Engineering. Three of them entered as Sophomores, from University of Idaho, University of Nebraska, and Baltimore Polytechnic Institute. The list also includes (in parentheses) names of the chairmen of regional alumni committees who helped to select the scholarship winners:

ATHLETIC MANAGERS and captains of fraternity and independent teams met last week in Willard Straight Hall at the call of Nick Bawlf to arrange the season's intramural schedules for touch football, soccer, cross country, swimming, golf, and tennis. Monday of this week, first football games began in the rain on Alumni Field.

CORNELL 34, COLGATE 0

With an unparalleled demonstration of forward passing, the football team defeated Colgate, 34-0, on Schoellkopf Field October 5 to open Cornell's fifty-fourth season.

The first period gave no hint to approximately 12,000 spectators of the aerial fireworks that were to come. Colgate halted two serious threats, one on the 8-yard line as two passes misfired, and Cornell looked ragged and uncertain in executing its plays.

But in the second period Cornell scored three touchdowns with dispatch and precision, two on passes directly and another set up by forwards. Aerial attacks accounted for the fourth touchdown in the third period and the final touchdown in the fourth quarter. Another touchdown was nullified by a penalty.

All told, Cornell completed eleven of seventeen passes. Furthering its mastery of the air, Cornell intercepted five Colgate passes, the visitors completing four in eighteen attempts.

When Harold F. McCullough '41 of Brooklyn was not throwing passes he was running off the tackles or receiving passes from someone else. Louis C. Bufalino '42 of Swampscott, Mass., likewise threw and received, as did Walter Scholl '41 of Staten Island. William J. Murphy '41 of Glen Ridge, N. J., the only newcomer to the veteran lineup, took his turn at passing.

Star receiver until he was injured with a knee sprain, was Kirk Hershey '41 of Philadelphia, Pa., left end. His spectacular catch of a thirty-two-yard toss from McCullough set the stage for the first touchdown. He handled three passes netting ninety-four yards.

Mortimer W. Landsberg, Jr. '41 of Mamaroneck, James T. Schmuck '41 of Jamaica, Alva E. Kelley '41 of Tarentum, Pa., caught scoring passes. The lone non-aerial score was made by Bufalino on a five-yard sweep around right end.

Cornell's forward passing accounted for 240 yards and six first downs, but its rushing game, although it accounted for five first downs and netted 138 yards, did not seem as effective as last year. The fullbacks were seldom used and the running attack was directed more to the tackles and the flanks.

Cornell's defensive play was equally noteworthy. Colgate was held to five first downs. Two of these were gained by rushing in the second period, after Cornell's first score, when Colgate reached Cornell's 34-yard line, its farthest advance of the game.

Nicholas Drahos '41 of Cedarhurst played a spectacular defensive game. Twice he nailed the receiver of his own kickoffs. He also placekicked four goals in four tries for the points after touchdowns.

Coach Carl Snively used thirty-two players—six ends, six tackles, four guards, three centers, and thirteen backs. The second and third teams operated almost as effectively as the Varsity. Eleven Seniors started. The replacements included eight Seniors, eight Juniors, and five Sophomores.

The game began under a brilliant, warm sun with Cornell receiving the kickoff, Captain Walter J. Matuszczak '41 of Lowville returning seven yards to the Cornell 30-yard line. Murphy and McCullough ran the tackles to Colgate's 47, where McCullough was forced to punt against the wind. With the ball rolling free, a Colgate player was penalized for clipping, and Cornell was awarded the ball on Colgate's 11-yard line.

McCullough lost nine yards in recovering his own fumble. Dunn of Colgate knocked down a pass and Murphy ran to Colgate's 8. There McCullough's fourth-down pass failed to connect.

Hoague of Colgate punted out, and Cornell moved from its 35 to Colgate's 33 on McCullough's thirteen-yard pass to Hershey and his own off-tackle dash of nineteen yards. Then McCullough was twice thrown back as he attempted to pass. The second time he fumbled, and Van Loan of Colgate recovered on Cornell's 40. Matuszczak, however, intercepted Phinney's pass, and McCullough punted, Frederick W. West, Jr. '41 of Lansdowne, Pa., nailing Geyer on Colgate's 5. A tremendous punt by Hoague put the ball on Cornell's 25, and the first period ended with Cornell in possession on its 30.

Colgate lost ground on a punt exchange. From Colgate's 46, Cornell struck for a touchdown. McCullough passed to Hershey on the 9. Bufalino, in for Murphy, picked up two yards. McCullough tossed to the side to Landsberg who scored. Drahos placekicked the point.

Geyer returned the next kickoff twenty-four yards and teamed with Hanover to advance to Cornell's 34. There Cornell held, taking a Colgate punt on its 15. Hershey grabbed McCullough's pass and raced to Colgate's 40. McCullough ran another eight. A penalty against Colgate produced a first down for Cornell, and from the Colgate 27 McCullough passed to Matuszczak on the 5-yard line. From there Bufalino outraced Geyer in an end sweep to the goal line, Drahos again converting the point.

Landsberg turned in a twenty-eight-yard kickoff return, but it was nullified when, Scott intercepted McCullough's pass on Colgate's 18. It was the only pass interception of the game for the visitors. Colgate went into the air, but Scholl intercepted a pass on Colgate's 23. A penalty set Colgate back another five yards.

With two seconds of the half left to play, Scholl ran to his right, leaped high in the air as he hurled the ball. Schmuck plucked it from two Colgate defenders in the scoring zone. Again Drahos calmly placekicked the goal.

The first team returned to action after the half, and the teams exchanged punts, two penalties costing Cornell thirty yards. From the Cornell 29, Cornell rolled to its fourth touchdown, Murphy launching the drive by throwing a forward to McCullough who reached Colgate's 45. McCullough and Murphy picked up nine yards overland, then Hershey worked the famed end-around play for the first time, advancing thirteen yards for first down on Colgate's 23. There McCullough threw a pass to Kelley in the end zone. For the fourth time Drahos kicked the extra point.

Colgate fumbled on the first play of the final period, Kasimir E. Hipolit '41 of South Bound Brook, N. J., recovering. Cornell could make no headway, and the teams traded kicks, with Colgate gaining on the exchange. On Cornell's 40, Colgate launched a pass, but Philip T. Goldenberg '43 of Hartford, Conn., intercepted. Scholl immediately passed to Bufalino for first down on Colgate's 38. Three plays and a penalty on Colgate netted a first down, and Bufalino then raced through right tackle for a touchdown from the 33. It was nullified by a holding penalty that set Cornell back to the Colgate 45.

Scholl passed to Roy V. Johnson '43 of Tarentum, Pa., for first down. Scholl then scored on a pass from Bufalino from the Colgate 30. Michael J. Ruddy '41 of Alden, Pa., tried the placekick for the point, but the ball went wide.

The game ended with Scholl and Kenneth L. Stofer '43 of Olmstead Falls, Ohio, intercepting Colgate passes at midfield. Scholl ran his interception back to Colgate's 35, but a fumble there spoiled a final scoring chance.

Although the victory over Colgate was Cornell's ninth straight, Varsity teams have now played thirteen games without a defeat. In 1938, Syracuse won at Syracuse, 19-17. Thereafter that season Cornell defeated Penn State, Columbia, and Dartmouth and played a scoreless tie with Pennsylvania. Last year the team won all its eight games.

ALUMNI ON CANADA TOUR

James S. Knapp '31 of the College of Agriculture Publications Office snapped this picture of three Cornellians on a 1500-mile tour of the Province of Ontario made this summer by publishers of weekly newspapers in five States. They were the guests of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Publishers Association, the Ontario Hotel Association, and the Ontario Highways Department.

TO CLEAN UP CHICAGO

Six Chicago Cornellians have enlisted for active duty with the Chicago Business Men's 1940 Election Committee in one of the sixteen so-called "river wards" of Chicago which, "dominated by the Kelly-Nash machine not only controlled the City of Chicago, but Cook County as well as the State of Illinois." The six are Frank J. Durham '16, Frederick M. Gillies '18, Bartlett Richards '23, Frederick H. Bassett '24, C. Longford Felske '24, and M. Mead Montgomery '24.

Durham, in a letter to Chicago Cornellians soliciting support for the work of the committee says:

"Fred and I took unto ourselves the organization of the Twenty-second Ward, and like blind men in a nudist camp we had to start to feel our way. The results have been so astounding they cannot here be told in full. Sufficient to say, Fred Gillies is the Republican ward committeeman of the Twenty-second Ward. . . . He has coordinated three factions who have not spoken for many years and has them working together harmoniously and peacefully; at least thus far.

"The other Cornellians, together with about sixty-five other men, are working with the precinct captains of the ward, canvassing the precinct, preaching democracy to good Americans who are hungry for leadership. . . ."

UNIVERSITY CONCERTS

University concert series this year will bring to the Campus seven concerts in Bailey Hall and a series of three concerts in the Willard Straight Theater devoted to the string quartets of Beethoven.

Two gifts announced by the Faculty music committee have made possible additional concerts in the Bailey Hall series and a reduced price for those devoted to chamber music. From the proceeds of previous years, the committee has arranged for three free concerts by Dr. Egon Petri, famous Dutch pianist and teacher who is visiting lecturer in Music. First of these will be December 9, with tickets available first to students in the University and after December 5 to others who request them. March 12 and March 25, Dr. Petri will give two more concerts in Bailey Hall, for which tickets will be given to season subscribers and remaining seats will be available to others at nominal price.

Through the generosity of the Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge Foundation in the Library of Congress, prices for the chamber music series are substantially reduced this year. This will be a series of three concerts by the Pro Arte Quartet, who have appeared in Ithaca several times before. They will play the string quartets of Beethoven February 24, February 27, and March 3, in the Willard Straight Theater.

Jascha Heifitz, Russian violinist recently returned from a successful tour of South America, opens the Bailey Hall series, November 12. His last concert here was in 1936. Making its first appearance in Ithaca, the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra conducted by Fabien Sevitsky will give a concert December 3. Ethel Bartlett and Rae Robertson, making their eleventh American tour this season, will play a two-piano concert in Bailey Hall January 14. Next will come Alexander Kipnis, Russian bass-baritone of the Metropolitan Opera, February 18. Artur Rodzinski brings the popular Cleveland Orchestra for a return engagement March 18. Dr. Petri's third concert March 25 concludes the season.

Season tickets for this year are being subscribed in large number by students, Faculty, and other residents of Ithaca and vicinity. An attractive illustrated brochure describing the concerts and artists, with blanks for ticket reservations, may be obtained by alumni from the University Music Department, 320 Wait Avenue, Ithaca.

WORKERS WANTED

First Job Bulletin this fall of the University Placement Bureau lists a large number and variety of "Positions Open." As is to be expected, most of the forty-two kinds of jobs listed are for work in industry requiring Engineering training. These vary greatly in amount of experience required and the kind of work to be done. In addition, the Placement Bureau lists several sales jobs, one in a hotel credit department, one for an Agriculture graduate as field man for a dairy company, an Arts graduate proficient in Spanish or German or Italian, and one for a woman relief worker.

Job Bulletins are mailed periodically to alumni who register with the University Placement Bureau in Willard Straight Hall. Placement of teachers is handled by the Bureau of Educational Service, Stone Hall.

NOMINATED FOR CONGRESS

MARY H. DONLON '20, Alumni Trustee of the University, was nominated for Representative-at-large by the New York State Republican convention at White Plains, September 27. She was placed in nomination by Thomas B. Rudd '21, Oneida County chairman and a vice-president of the Cornell Law Association, and her nomination was seconded by Mrs. Robert C. Osborn (Agda T. Swenson) '20, member of the State committee from Tompkins County and president of the Ithaca Women's Republican Club. Mrs. Osborn will act as campaign manager for Miss Donlon.

Member of the New York City law firm of Burke & Burke, Miss Donlon has been active in politics as a member of the Republican State executive committee and recently as vice-chairman of the State committee's speakers' bureau. She was a delegate to the recent Constitutional convention and with Ione P. Barrett '28 wrote a "Syllabus for Study of the New York State Constitution" which was widely circulated. She is a member of the board of governors of the Women's National Republican Club and has been active in the AAUW; served for two years as president of the Cornell Federation of Women's Clubs and is a former director of the Cornell Alumni Corporation and Cornellian Council.

Entering the Law School in 1916 from Utica, she received the LLB in 1920; was the only woman to become editor-in-chief of the Law Quarterly, and received the Fraser Senior Scholarship. She was president of WSGA; member of Mortar Board and Alpha Omicron Pi. Her sisters are Mrs. Daniel J. Crowley (Katherine Donlon) '12 and Mrs. James C. Huntington (Joanna Donlon) '18.

STUDENTS TO REGISTER

Students in the University who are of draft age (twenty-one to thirty-five, inclusive) on October 16 will be required to register that day at places to be designated in their various Colleges. Registration as provided by the Selective Service Act has been placed under the direction of Dr. Eugene F. Bradford, University Registrar. Only students of conscription age not required to register are those who are enrolled in the advanced course of the ROTC, for Juniors and Seniors. They are exempted by Section 5A of the Act.

The Selective Service Act provides that students who may be drafted during the academic year 1940-41 may choose deferment of active training "until the end of the academic year or July 1, 1941, whichever occurs first." For those who are drafted and who choose to train this year, it is expected that the University will announce later its provisions for re-mitting tuition and for granting credit for courses partially completed.

"NIAGA SEGAVAS"

For the second time in its history, the Savage Club will meet on the stage of Bailey Hall for the entertainment of a paid audience. Cornellians who remember the first such public meeting two years ago will make every effort to attend this year's show, "Niaga Segavas," in Bailey Hall October 25, the eve of the Ohio State football game.

Again the entire furnishings and dishes will be transported to the stage from the Savage Club rooms downtown, and again their veteran steward, James Miller, will serve the Savages "vittles and drink" as he does at regular meetings, while they make merry.

From the proceeds of this year's show a contribution will be made to the British War Relief Society, in the name of the Savage Club of London, parent organization of the Savage Club of Ithaca.

Savages from both the Campus and town will provide a variety of entertainment at this open meeting, and among alumni members from out of town will be Alfred J. Sulla '29 with his banjo.

NOW, IN MY TIME!

By Romeyn Berry

Before 1914, when the original concrete stands at Schoellkopf Field were designed, the largest football crowd ever assembled at Ithaca had been estimated at 6,000. In consequence, Schoellkopf Field was arranged to seat 9,000. A 50 per cent margin was thought to be enough. As a matter of fact it proved to be enough until the Dartmouth game of 1921.

In 1921 the seating capacity was increased to the modest extent of 1,400 by setting up temporary bleachers on the west side. Even so, the Dartmouth game of that year brought about a complete sell-out. The last ticket went and the box office closed its window on Thursday, two days before that memorable contest.

In 1923, with the same seating chart, the Colgate game sold out on Tuesday before the event. This fact was widely publicized and patrons were asked not to come to Ithaca on Saturday in the hope of getting tickets at the last minute. Thousands came, nevertheless, and pretty nearly wrecked the place. It was that Colgate game of 1923 which demonstrated need of the enlargement which appeared the following autumn in the Cornell Crescent with its seating capacity of 20,950.

The response to the announcement of the Princeton game of 1927 quickly indicated the probable need of further capacity, and for that contest were procured the special batteries of knock-down bleachers now in use at the foot of the Crescent and over on the back stretch of the running track. This gave approximately 7,000 more seats without using the north and south ends of the playing area. The Princeton game of 1927 drew a crowd well in excess of the Crescent's capacity, but not enough to fill the temporary stands too.

It was not until the Dartmouth game of 1938 that Schoellkopf Field (its capacity then increased to 29,416 by the use of baseball bleachers at the two ends of the gridiron) was again completely filled. And for that game the window of the box office did not click down until the week of the event.

And now for this Ohio State match on October 26, with the capacity further enlarged to 31,200 by astute contriving, there has been announced a complete sell-out prior to October 1, to the accompaniment of angry rumbles from dilatory customers across the land.

From the standpoint of a college athletic administration, there is just one thing worse than angry rumbles from dilatory customers. That one thing is empty seats. In fifty-two years of Cornell football there have been but four complete sell-outs, which isn't many. Supply has kept pretty even with ticket demand. True, Schoellkopf Field has now just about reached the saturation point—short of expensive new construction—but the future of college football does not seem sufficiently assured to justify radical expansion. Look what happened to Florida when, misled by clamor, they started building new real estate out into the ocean!

It would be the idea of your reporter to let things lie as they are for the immediate present. The combination of circumstances which made the Ohio State game a sell-out in September does not frequently occur, and there is no selling talk for football games quite as effective as a thousand or so people who want to go to a football game and can't get tickets. A thousand college graduates who have delayed their ticket applications until too late invariably manage to make themselves sound like a million; and the game like a good one.

The only football seats that ever present a serious problem to a university administration are, as previously stated, empty ones.

CLUB AT WEST POINT

Cornell Club of Albany members and their guests have arranged for a bloc of seats at the Cornell-Army football game at West Point October 12, and will stop for dinner after the game at The Ship Lantern at Milton. Hugh Prytherch '25, secretary of the Albany Club, writes that many other Cornellians are expected to stop at The Ship Lantern on their way home from the game. It is on Route 9W between Newburgh and Kingston.

CORNELL ENGINEER

The Cornell Engineer opens the college year with an attractive new cover design. In the October issue, Robert F. McCann, Jr. '42 of Haverford, Pa., describes "The Dream Road of Pennsylvania" which connects Harrisburg with Pittsburgh. Dr. Eric T. B. Gross, resident doctor in Electrical Engineering since last fall, writes on "Earth Fault Coils in Transmission Lines and Distribution Networks." Leonard Ochtman, Jr. '15 contributes "More On Early Gliding at Cornell," with pictures of some of the gliders that were built and flown here by the Cornell Aero Club while he was an undergraduate. His article follows one by Ruth E. Dynes '42 which The Cornell Engineer published last December.

In his "President's Message" to the Cornell Society of Engineers, President John P. Syme '26 announces appointment of committee chairmen for the coming year: Professor John R. Bangs, Jr. '21, regional sections; Walker L. Cisar '22, alumni representation; Theodor S. Chadeayne '26, membership; Bernard A. Savage '25, meetings; and Clarence H. Davidson '11, publication.

ATHLETICS

pitch the baseball team to the Eastern Intercollegiate League championship last spring, threw two touchdown passes to Dyer B. Holmes '43, left end, in the first and second periods. The first scoring pass covered thirty-four yards.

Cornell's second touchdown came with the recovery of a fumble on Cortland's 24-yard line. Sickles passed twice to Holmes, the scoring play covering seven yards. Henry Dragon '42 placekicked the first point, Charles R. Sweeney '42 the second.

Cortland scored in the third period on a seventy-two-yard drive, with Parsons, right halfback, sweeping around end for the touchdown. The try for point was missed.

In the final period Cornell recovered another Cortland fumble on the 9-yard line. Richard L. Quigg '42 scored in one running play. The attempt for the extra point failed.

Junior Varsity players who appeared in the Varsity game the next day were Dragon, Sweeney, Quigg, and John A. Manganelli '43.

SOCCER TEAM LOSES

The soccer team opened its season in the Middle Atlantic Intercollegiate Soccer League by losing to Princeton, 4-1, at Princeton October 5. Cornell's one goal was scored in the fourth period by John H. Osborn '41 of Pembroke, Bermuda, on a penalty kick.

Two Cornell veterans were injured in the first half as Princeton gained a 1-0 advantage. They were Captain John C. Perry '41 of Ithaca, a halfback, and Robert F. Taylor '42 of Rochester. Princeton scored three goals in the third period to decide the outcome.

Coach Nicholas Bawlf, undiscouraged by the loss of the first game, said that the team still "gives promise."

Two Sophomores appeared in the starting lineup and four others were used as substitutes. Starters were: Goal guard, Robert C. Ochs '42 of Cleveland, Ohio; fullbacks, Richard E. Ford '42 of Chatham, N. J., and Charles S. Pearce '42 of Chicago, Ill.; halfbacks, Captain Perry, James H. Van Arsdale, III '41 of Castile and Richard H. Lee '41 of Washington, D. C.; on the forward wall, Taylor, Osborn, Daniel F. Kelley, Jr. '41 of San Juan, P. R., Eduardo M. Ricaurte '43 of Buenos Aires, Argentina, and Gordon B. Blatz '43 of Philadelphia, Pa.

Substitutes were Francis R. Berry, Jr. '41 of New Rochelle, Harry C. Allen '43 of Chatham, N. J., Paul E. Illick '43 of Syracuse, Torrance B. Brooks '43 of East Otto, and Ralph S. Croskey '43 of Villa Nova, Pa.

ODDS AND ENDS

Three of the seven teams Cornell has yet to meet in football this season lost last Saturday. Worst defeat was handed to Syracuse, 40-0 by Northwestern. Yale lost to Virginia, 19-14, and Dartmouth to Franklin and Marshall, 23-21. Army won from Williams, 20-19, and Ohio State from Purdue, 17-14. Columbia defeated Maine, 15-0, and Pennsylvania crushed Maryland, 51-0.

The Colgate game October 5 marked the twenty-fifth anniversary of football on Schoellkopf Field. Gettysburg played Cornell in the first game there in 1915.

Kenneth L. Stofer '43 of Olmstead Falls, Ohio, Sophomore halfback who played briefly against Colgate October 5, is a brother of Gordon F. Stofer '37 who played Varsity football in 1933-34-35. On the Freshman squad is another Viviano, Louis A. Jr. of Plainfield, N. J., brother of Bart J. '33, captain in 1932 and an all-American back.

The last time Cornell played Army in football was in 1907 when Cornell scored an upset 14-10 victory. On that Cornell team, at end, was Dr. Ray Van Orman '08, now assistant coach. Van Orman scouted Army in its 20-19 victory over Williams last Saturday.

COW NEWS

(R.B. in "State and Tioga," Ithaca Journal)

Through circumstances beyond our control, the vital sequences of our cow barn got out of rhythm last winter. As a result, we enjoy at the moment the benefactions of but a single cow, and the last expiring efforts of another.

Happily, this disturbing shortage is only temporary. Ruth, a most reliable Guernsey, is due to freshen (and a nice way of putting it, if you ask us) around October 15, and from then on the red marks which herald the blessed events in our cow barn are spread evenly through our calendar with the regularity of the dots in a mild case of chicken-pox.

All we know about the father of the little stranger due to arrive in our cow barn around October 15 is that the father lives in Syracuse; a meager fact which doesn't give the conscientious biographer much to work on. Even so, that's a lot more information than the cow possesses.

The whole romance is carried on with the impersonal efficiency of a correspondence course and is made possible only through the intermediate courtesies of the Greyhound Bus, the Pioneer Breeders Association, and the tireless Dr. Goss.

The practice of this particular mystery, known to us dairymen as "artificial insemination," began in Denmark four years ago. It was introduced into this country in 1938. Science now knows all there is to know concerning it, except what the cow thinks about it.

AID FARM FRESHMEN

First scholarships to be awarded to Freshmen entering the College of Agriculture are made possible this year by a grant of $3,000 from the Sears Roebuck Foundation, and two others given by the State Bankers Association.

A representative of the Sears-Roebuck Foundation, visiting the College last summer, explained that his company through its retail stores participates in community chests and other local beneficiencies, but wished to show its appreciation of the business it gets from farm families of New York outside these centers. Twenty scholarships of $150 each were decided upon by the College because that is about the amount of cash needed for fees and books the first year. They were awarded by the College to worthy boys of the State who needed such help. State Bankers Association has financed two scholarships of $150, one in Agriculture and one in Home Economics, for 4-H Club members.

All recipients of these new scholarships stood high in State Regents examinations and were leaders in their schools and in rural activities. None of them could have attended the University without such aid except by working for nearly all of their expenses, says Dr. John P. Hertel '34, secretary of the College of Agriculture.

ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

CORNELL-ARMY football game at West Point October 12 will be broadcast over the NBC Blue network, with Bill Stern at the microphone.

IN THE PRESS BOX for the Colgate game were Allison Danzig '21 of the New York Times and George Trevor of the New York Sun. Danzig spent several days here before the game. In the Times Saturday morning, he wrote about the Cornell team, pointing out that several key players had gained needed weight this summer, bringing the average to 205 pounds in the line and 183 in the backfield. He credited this "almost unbelievable" physical development largely to letters on diet which Trainer Frank Kavanagh has been sending to every member of the squad all summer.

IMPROVEMENTS at Schoellkopf this year are new backs on the players' benches at both sides of the field, and footboards which keep the players' feet several inches off the ground.

ROTC BAND marched and played smartly in its first appearance this season at the Colgate game. The Band will be at the Army game at West Point, and of course at Philadelphia November 23.

"WILLKIE FOR PRESIDENT" Club was organized at a meeting attended by a score of undergraduates last week. J. Burch Mayo '41 of Tulsa, Okla., and Robert D. Hughes, Jr. '42 of Dayton, Ohio, were elected temporary co-chairmen. Mayo's "political" speeches in the Roosevelt manner have been a feature of recent Musical Club shows.

ALUMNI TRUSTEE Mary H. Donlon '20 put in a busy day last Saturday. Republican candidate for Congress, she attended a meeting of the University Board of Trustees executive committee in the morning, flew back to address a political meeting in Glen Cove in the afternoon, and Saturday night accompanied Wendell L. Willkie on a campaign tour of Brooklyn.

POPULAR VISITOR to the Campus last week was Dr. Allan R. Dafoe, physician and guardian of the Dionne Quintuplets. He was brought to Ithaca jointly by the Newspaper Institute of the Office of Publication, College of Agriculture, October 4 and 5, by the Tompkins County Medical Association, and the New York Press Association. The Doctor completely captivated all who met him, and seemed to enjoy himself greatly. He told amusing incidents about the Quintuplets at a dinner in Willard Straight Hall Friday evening, told about their teeth at a meeting of the County Dental Association, said they were just normal little girls at a breakfast of the Home Economics Nursery School staff. He visited several fraternity and sorority houses and attended the Colgate football game where he was photographed with children who were there from Ithaca Reconstruction Home.

DEDICATION ceremony just before the Colgate game put into use a new flagpole, the gift of Dean S. C. Hollister, Engineering. A flag, twelve by eighteen feet, has been provided by the Athletic Association to be flown at all games. For this ceremony, which also marked the twenty-fifth anniversary of the opening of Schoellkopf Field, the ROTC fired a salute, Dean Hollister raised a larger flag provided by the Military Department, and the massed bands of Colgate and the ROTC played the national anthem as the huge flag slowly opened to the breeze in the bright sunlight. The tubular steel shaft, seventy-two feet high and surmounted with a chromium ball, stands at the extreme end of Schoellkopf, behind the south goal posts. It is pictured on our cover.

EIGHTY EDITORS and publishers of weekly newspapers in New York State, including several Cornellians, attended the annual Newspaper Institute arranged by Professor Bristow Adams and his staff of the College of Agriculture Office of Publication. They were shown over the Campus and addressed by President Day, Trustee Edward R. Eastman, Professors William I. Myers '14 and Martin P. Catherwood, PhD '30, Agricultural Economics; and by W. W. Chaplin, correspondent for International News Service, and Dean M. Lyle Spencer of the Syracuse University School of Journalism, among others. General theme of the Institute was "The Press and National Emergencies."

INTERFRATERNITY CONFERENCE is making history this year. To begin with, President James E. Bennett '41 told Freshmen at their Get-Wise meeting to "appraise the fraternities carefully before taking their pledge" and that "there are just as fine men outside the fraternities as there are in them." Such advice is unprecedented. Next the Council, after due trial, penalized one fraternity a half day of rushing next fall for violation of the rushing agreement. Bennett has asserted that the Council and its rules must be taken seriously.

SAGE CHAPEL PREACHER October 13 is the Rev. Bernard C. Clausen of the First Baptist Church, Pittsburgh, Pa.

"CAPERS IN INFIRMARY After Football Injury" says a recent Cornell Daily Sun headline. This isn't, as it appears, a commentary on the stamina of a football player. The story records that Ellison V. Capers '41, a member of the 150-pound football team, was hurt in practice and went to the Infirmary.

ROOMS IN ITHACA for the Ohio State game week-end are being registered at the Chamber of Commerce. With the crowd of visitors expected, over-night accommodations promise to be hard to find.

KATHARINE HEPBURN, coming to Ithaca October 9 for a performance of "Philadelphia Story," accepted an invitation from the Ithaca branch of the British War Relief Society to sell in the Society's State Street shop for an hour the afternoon before the show.

ALPHA XI DELTA sorority house at 228 Wait Avenue has been enlarged with the addition of two new wings. Some rooms have been rearranged and a recreation room and chapter room have been installed in the basement.

LECTURER this week on the Schiff Foundation is Dr. Joseph Needham, reader in biochemistry at the University of Cambridge; his subject: "The Position of Science in Europe Today."

JAMES P. DONOHUE '30 has been elected president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Ithaca, succeeding Charles E. Treman, Jr. '30.

CARL HALLOCK, for many years at Zinck's in Ithaca and who now presides at the Cornell Club of New York bar, was the subject of Tom O'Reilly's column in PM September 23. Hallock's picture was published and he was described as a "walking encyclopedia on Cornell matters."

FOURTH HIGHEST among the 750 winners of State scholarships in last June's graduates of high schools in New York State was William Tupper of Elmira, now a Freshman in Chemical Engineering. His examination mark was 98.91. Six years ago, his sister, Barbara H. Tupper '38, also entered the University with State cash and tuition scholarships, and later won the Senior Women's Alumnae Scholarship.

WINTER COURSES in the College of Agriculture start October 30 and will run for twelve weeks. Six courses will be given: general agriculture, dairy industry, poultry, fruit growing, flower growing, and vegetable crops. The College offers a booklet describing them.

NECROLOGY

DR. CHARLES NICOLL BANCKER CAMAC, September 27, 1940, in Altadena, Cal., where he lived since he retired in 1938. In 1899 he organized and became director of the laboratory of clinical pathology at the Medical College in New York, remaining a member of the Faculty until 1910. Then he taught at Columbia for twenty-eight years. During the War he served in hospitals in England and Belgium, became medical chief of Army hospitals at Fort McPherson, Ga., and at Eastview, attaining the rank of lieutenant colonel. He received the AB in 1892, the MD in 1895, at University of Pennsylvania; studied also in London and at Johns Hopkins. He was a member of Delta Psi and several learned societies; wrote numerous books on medical subjects.

'95—RICHARD MATTHEW SELLWOOD, February 1, 1940. He entered Sibley College from Cascadilla School in 1891 and transferred to Law the following year. Son, Joseph G. Sellwood '26.

'00—WILLIAM HORATIO MASON, August 24, 1940, at Rochester, Minn., where he had undergone a serious operation. He spent two years in Sibley College; had assisted the late Thomas Edison with experiments, and was in charge of a government shipbuilding unit during World War I. In 1920 he formed the Masonite Corp. for salvaging waste in lumber mills at Laurel, Miss. Wall board, furniture, and plastics were developed in this plant which is now the largest industry in Mississippi. At the time of his death he was vice-president and director of research of this corporation. In 1928 he was awarded a medal for outstanding contributions to the technical development of the paper industry by the Technical Association of the American Paper and Pulp Industry. He was given a cup by citizens of Laurel in 1938, as their most distinguished and useful citizen; last year was designated a Modern Pioneer by the National Association of Manufacturers.

'01—JOHN VINCENT MILLER, August 16, at Chautauqua, after an illness of two years. He entered Mechanical Engineering in 1897, having received the AB at Yale. After two years he joined the late Thomas A. Edison at West Orange, N. J., where he became division manager of the Edison Chemical Works and personal aide to Edison. At the time of his death he was vice-president, assistant treasurer, and a director of Thomas A. Edison, Inc. Cornell Club of New Jersey, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Quill and Dagger.

'05 MD—DR. MAURICE OLIVER MAGID, July 31, 1940, in New York City, where he had practiced medicine since 1905. He entered the Medical College in New York in 1901, graduating with a prize in Neurology; studied at the New York School of Philanthropy, at New York Polyclinic Medical School and Hospital, and the New York Medical College for Women. For five years he was instructor in gynecology at New York Polyclinic School and Hospital; was a founder and director of the Hunt's Point Hospital, since 1926 was attending gynecologist at the New York City Correction Hospital, and since 1931 associate attending gynecologist of the Bronx Hospital. He was a past president of the Bronx County Medical Society and the New York Physicians' Association, founder and past president of the Bronx Gynecological and Obstetrical Society, and a Fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine. He contributed largely to the professional journals, and had recently completed a series of color motion pictures of gynecological operations, to be used in teaching.

'15 BS—MRS. EDMUND H. STEVENS (Norma V. LaBarre), September 16, 1940, in Scarsdale, where she and her husband ('13) lived at 160 Bell Road. She entered Agriculture from Ithaca High School. She had been for many years a national officer of Delta Delta Delta sorority; was president of the Westchester Alliance of Delta Delta Delta. Frigga Fylgae. Sister, the late Mrs. Earl C. Vedder (Zella A. La Barre) '16.

'18—RICHARD JENKINSON LAUGHLIN, June 8, 1940, in Toronto, Canada. He entered Arts in 1914 from Kiskiminetas School, remained one year. He worked for Edgewater Steel Co., Pittsburgh, Pa., and in 1918 entered the School of Military Aeronautics at Princeton, being commissioned a second lieutenant in the Air Service, US Army. He flew as a pilot at Aspinwall, Pa., and recently had lived in Atlantic City, N. J. Phi Kappa Psi.

'22 BS—MRS. RALPH B. ALEXANDER (Sarah Janette Launt), May 20, 1940, at her home in Walton. After a year as assistant home demonstration agent in Jefferson County, she became home demonstration agent in Delaware County until she was married in 1926 to Alexander, principal of Margaretville High School. She entered Agriculture in 1918 from Walton High School. Frigga Fylgae.

'32—ANDREW EDWARD TUCK II, September 10, 1940, in Syracuse, of pneumonia and pleurisy following a paralytic disease. Tuck entered Arts in 1928 from Storm King Preparatory School; since 1931 had been with the Oil and Heating Service Corp. of Syracuse. Delta Upsilon. Father, Colonel John B. Tuck '93; brother, John B. Tuck, Jr. '29.

Concerning THE FACULTY

PROFESSOR ROBERT E. CUSHMAN, Government, addressed the annual meeting of the Missouri Bar Association September 27, in Kansas City, on "National Defense and the Protection of Civil Liberty."

GEORGE L. COLEMAN, '95 director of the University Orchestra, and Eric Dudley, director of the Glee Club, will conduct an All-East-Tennessee high school orchestra and chorus at the annual meeting of the East Tennessee Education Association, at Knoxville, October 31–November 2. They go at the invitation of Mondel E. Butterfield '22, chairman of the music department of the Association. Coleman will address the convention on instrumental music in colleges and Dudley will describe how choral singing aids in making good citizens.

GEORGE H. LEE, MS '37, Mechanical Engineering, is the author of Bulletin 10 of the Engineering Experiment Station Reprint Series, "The Influence of Hyperbolic Notches on the Transverse Flexure of Elastic Plates." His paper appeared originally in The Journal of Applied Mechanics.

PROFESSOR LEWIS W. MORSE '28, librarian of the Law School, has been elected president for 1940–41 of the American Association of Law Libraries. Annual meeting was in Toronto, Canada.

DR. ADRIAN G. GOULD, assistant Medical Advisor, formerly a major in the Medical Reserve Corps, US Army, has been commissioned a lieutenant colonel.

PROFESSOR CLYDE W. MASON, PhD '23, presided at meetings of the division of microchemistry at the American Chemical Society convention September 9–13, in Detroit, Mich.

PROFESSOR JOHN R. BANGS, JR. '21, Administrative Engineering, has been elected vice-chairman of the management division of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

PROFESSOR MYRON G. FINCHER '20, Veterinary, and Mrs. Fincher (Evelyn N. Davis) '22, have a daughter born September 15, in Ithaca.

MARTHA SEYMOUR, Sp '37, daughter of Professor Alexander D. Seymour, Architecture, married Olindo Grossi, September 26, in New York City. Mrs. Grossi was graduated at Wellesley in 1936, at the Simmons School of Social Work in 1939, and has been associated with the State Charities Aid. Grossi is a graduate of the Columbia University School of Architecture. He received the Prix de Rome in Architecture in 1933, is now on the faculty of Bard College, Annadale-on-Hudson.

DR. ARTHUR GORDON '04, former professor of Romance Languages, has been appointed director of inter-American relations at the Mission Inn, Riverside, Calif., after having spent twenty-five years in commercial life in South America. He sends a special invitation to Cornellians living or traveling near Riverside, to "look him up."

ADRIAN Z. HODSON, PhD '37, Poultry Husbandry, has a daughter born June 19. He lives at 402 College Avenue, Ithaca.

PROFESSOR HARRY J. LOBERG '29, Mechanical Engineering, attended the annual conference of the National Advertisers' Association September 18-20 in Detroit, Mich. His courses in advertising are part of the Administrative Engineering curriculum.

ELECT CORNELL OFFICERS

New York State Veterinary Medical Society at its recent annual meeting in Rochester elected a complete slate of Cornellians as officers for this year. Dean William A. Hagan, MS '17, of the Veterinary College is the new president; vice-president is Dr. Louis A. Corwin '19 of Jamaica; treasurer, Dr. William J. Sellman '27 of Utica; executive secretary, Dr. Joseph J. Regan '15 of Utica.

Dean Hagan was vice-president, but had been acting president since the president, Dr. Arthur G. Hall '08, was killed in a railroad wreck at Little Falls April 19.

CONNECTICUT WOMEN PLAN

Cornell Women's Club of Western Connecticut met September 25 at the home of Mrs. Paul P. McClellan (Marion F. Whipple) '30, in Old Greenwich. Plans were made for a book sale in Bridgeport during October and for a bridge party in November at the Fairfield Hunt Club, in charge of Mrs. John B. Warnock (Helen E. Holme) '28. Proceeds of both will go to the Federation Scholarship Fund.

Ruth E. Lowry '38, of Stamford, was elected corresponding secretary of the Club.

ROCHESTER WOMEN

Cornell Women's Club of Rochester has elected as its president for the coming year Mrs. Marvin P. Dye (Miriam Kelley) '17. Vice-president is Mrs. Leonard D. Booth (Eleanor Bradley) '33; recording secretary, Mrs. Kenneth B. Spear (Vera Dobert) '24; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Erwin J. McGuire (Helen Durham) '29; treasurer, Mrs. Joseph B. Spiller (Kate Binenkorb) '32.

Concerning THE ALUMNI

Personal items and newspaper clippings about all Cornellians are earnestly solicited.

'81—Mr. House of Texas, a new biography of Colonel Edward M. House, by Arthur D. Howden Smith, has recently appeared. Published by Funk & Wagnalls Co., it is said to have been written with the consent and help of Colonel House who stipulated that the book should not be published until after his death. The New York Herald Tribune describes it as a "revealing, if somewhat biased, treatise on the political conduct of man," and says it is "especially valuable for its indirect illumination of what we may expect as the present crisis unfolds."

'92 ME (EE)—Major Henry C. Nelson, retired, writes that he plans to attend the Army and the Ohio State games this fall, before going to California where he will winter at 862 South Catalina Street, Los Angeles. He encloses a clipping from the New York Times of October 16, 1937, describing the game in which the Cornell Freshmen defeated Kiski School 8-0. Major Nelson says "it may be interesting to compare with the Varsity line-up today. Looks like the same team." The starting line-up for that game included Hershey, Cohn, Drahos, Ruddy, Murphy, McCullough, and Matuszcak, all regulars of the present Varsity.

'96 Sp—Robert H. Blackall is president and general manager of Everglade Valencies Inc., a 112-acre orange grove in the Florida everglades near Fort Lauderdale.

'01 AB—Elizabeth W. Borst, daughter of Victor D. Borst '01, was married to Dr. Arthur M. Smith, June 22 in White Plains. Mrs. Smith is a graduate of Smith College. Dr. Smith is surgeon and chief-of-staff at Martha Jefferson Hospital at Charlottesville, Va.

It is wonderful to see how the other Classes follow 1916! For instance, in looking over the September 26 issue of the ALUMNI NEWS I find Hugh Edmiston writing for 1915 in "Concerning The Alumni," also 1936 and 1940 following along. Well, more power to them; I hope other Classes will do the same.

Ed Ludwig, who has a fine florist business in Pittsburgh, is nominee for president of the Florist Telegraph Delivery Association.

CLASS OF 1940

Women

*By Carol B. Clark, Class Secretary
47 Cedar Street, Binghamton, New York*

M. Elizabeth Russell was very busy "toying" with merchandising jobs when she found a nice opportunity with Equitable Life Assurance Society. She writes proposals in group insurance, lives with Doris Green and Jean Gillies '39, at Apt. 5 F, 45 Christopher Street, New York City.

Two girls lucky enough to live at home while working are Marion Baillie and Jean Raynor. They live in Mountain Lakes, N. J., and work at Bamberger's in Newark, N. J. Marion is on the training squad of the store and Jean says she is headed for management work.

Staying in Ithaca are Peg Dunwell, who is in her second year of Law School and lives at 109 Triphammer Road, and Louise Rider, who is the demonstrator for the Singer Sewing Machine Co. and lives with Marj Tillinghast at 519 East State Street.

Here is something out of the ordinary in our column: Merle M. Elliott is a draftsman in the office of Singman E. Ward, Illustrators, New York City. She lives at 122 Seventy-sixth Street, Brooklyn.

Evelyn Weber has gone west—a new experience for her. She is apprentice in the women's dormitories at Michigan State College, East Lansing, Mich.

Elinor Hansen also has a job connected with women's dormitories. She is at Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, as counselor and dietician in one of their co-operative houses.

On our department store list is Gay Sichel, receiving executive training at the Plum Store in Philadelphia, Pa.

As we like to know of girls who are in similar professions, I hope soon to devote each issue to one particular group—even including those already married.

Ideas and contributions for this weekly column are gladly received.

Allan B. Vogel is engaged to Betty Hersh of Long Pond. His address is 75 Moshola Parkway, Bronx.

I have just received an announcement that Carl F. Schneider married Alice B. Williams October 5.

Let me hear from some of you other fellows who have recently become married.

Among our Classmates who have already answered the Government's call are Herb Kneeland and Clark Ogden who have joined the Army Air Corps. From Carl Reide we receive news that August 7 he was ordered to one year active duty with the regular Army. He is with the 7th Field Artillery at Fort Ethan Allen, Vt. As others of us follow suit, be sure to let me know so that our Classmates may be informed through the News.

Rusty (Robert) Irish writes from Schenectady that he is doing test work for General Electric. In the same company are Crawford Adams, Otto Glasser, Bruce Nelson, James McKearin, Kingman Page, William Rauch, and Bill Mogk. They should be able to set up a General Electric Cornell Club.

TO HAVE .... AND TO HOLD

IT'S only human to want to own things . . . and just as human to want to keep them. But as you acquire material possessions . . . a home, furnishings, business, automobile, jewelry, furs, etc . . . you are constantly faced with the possibility of losing them by fire, explosion, embezzlement, accident and other hazards. The logical solution is insurance . . . there is a policy available against practically every hazard that threatens your financial welfare. Consult the North America Agent in your vicinity.
