Graduate Students Organize

*Association to Further Friendly Relations and Unify Graduate Body
Recently Formed*

The Cornell Graduate Student Association is being organized by graduate students. Two meetings last week marked progress in its formation.

Plans for the association were discussed by Faculty members April 22, and the sympathy of the Faculty toward the movement was made known, although no official action was taken. Professors, individually, are encouraging the movement.

Student representatives of various Graduate School departments discussed the proposed constitution at a luncheon in Willard Straight Hall April 25. A nominating committee was appointed to select a slate of officers. The constitution will be further discussed by departmental groups before it is submitted to the graduate student body for acceptance at a mass meeting May 7. The officers will also be elected at that time. Smith Simpson of Cherrydale, Va., presided at the luncheon.

The nominating committee is composed of Ralph I. Hale, Marysville, Cal., Harry C. Diener, Brookville, Pa., Walter E. Fleischer, Albany, Pu K. Kao, Mukden, China, Donald R. Morey, Buffalo, Lee G. Davy '31, Salt Lake City, Utah, Randle H. Powley, Maplewood, N. J., Thomas E. LaMont, Albion, Edward J. Farley, New York, Samuel R. Levering '30, The Hollow, Va., Tsung H. Chen, Changsha, China, William S. Salisbury, Phelos, and H. R. Wilson.

The object of the association, as provided in the proposed constitution, "to further friendly and helpful relations among the graduate students in their relations with each other, with the Faculty and the administration of the Graduate School, and with the University." The constitution provides also that students or Faculty members may bring before the association any problem involving the school or any of its members.

Officers to be elected include a president, two vice-presidents, and a secretary-treasurer. A council is also provided, to be composed of the officers and at least one member from each of the recognized groups of the school. Elections are held the first week in May of each school year.

The proposed association is the latest of a series of efforts to unify the graduate student body. At present, there is a graduate association composed entirely of Law School students. It is understood that it will join in the general association, at the same time, however, maintaining its identity.

Last year, the graduates organized a group to publish The Cornell Contemporary, a publication devoted exclusively to the interests of the Graduate School.

Spring Day Plans

*War Memorial Dedication and Athletic Events to Feature Holiday—
Carnival Abandoned*

Spring Day of 1931, although it will have no carnival, offers an unusually interesting program.

The carnival, traditional feature of the holiday morning, has been abandoned. Once the high spot of the day, the carnival, in more recent years, no longer provokes the interests of students, and it has been allowed to die a natural death.

So Saturday, May 23, will be given over entirely to three major sports events, the Princeton track meet on Schoellkopf Field in the morning, the Yale baseball game on Hoy Field in the afternoon, and the Harvard-Syracuse-M.I.T.-Cornell regatta on Lake Cayuga in the evening.

This year, however, there will be something different—the dedication of the War Memorial. The dedication, to be held at noon, is not on the Spring Day program proper.

Cornell's holiday in late May is no longer a one-day affair. Spring Day really starts the night before, with the annual concert of the Musical Clubs, to be held in Bailey Hall. And then there's the Navy Ball in the Drill Hall, beginning at 10:30 p.m. The concert is scheduled for 8,15 p.m., May 22.

The Princeton track meet, held in Ithaca every other year, will be conducted in the morning, but the exact hour has not yet been fixed. Dedication ceremonies at the War Memorial will be held at noon, followed by a luncheon in the Drill Hall. At 2 p.m., the umpire will call "play ball!"

The observation train for the regatta is scheduled to leave for the course at 5 p.m.

Unusual interest attaches to the regatta this year, for the three crews that finished first, second, and third in the Poughkeepsie varsity race will be represented. Cornell won, followed by Syracuse and M.I.T. Harvard, a traditional rival on the water, joins in the varsity and junior varsity races but will not be represented in the freshmen event. The other two colleges, however, will send their freshman as well as their varsity crews.

ATHLETICS

DARTMOUTH NINE WINS

The baseball team lost to Dartmouth at Hanover April 25 in its second Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League game, 10 to 5. Stevens, Cornell's starting pitcher, was knocked out of the box in the fourth inning after he had allowed nine hits. Sereysky, who pitched Cornell to a 6 to 3 victory over Colgate on Hoy Field April 22, finished the game and gave seven hits.

Boisseau, Dartmouth hurler, was touched for nine hits, all singles, but he kept them well scattered.

Cornell, in spite of three errors, played a good fielding game, recording four double plays.

The Indians started scoring in the first inning, on hits by Picken, Rolfe, and Mack, and a pass to Myllykangas. In the fourth frame, with one out, Harvey hit for four bases and Rolfe contributed a triple to mark Stevens' departure from the mound.

Cornell occupies the league cellar with two straight defeats.

In the Colgate game, Cornell displayed power with the bat, getting 11 safeties and piling up an early lead. Sereysky pitched good ball, keeping six Colgate hits well scattered.

Smith, right fielder, hit safely four times, once for two bases, while Hatkoff contributed a triple and a single. Cornell scored in the second inning on hits by Kappler, two infield outs, and a single by George. Colgate errors accounted for two Cornell runs in the fifth.

Cornell errors, one a wild pitch by Sereysky, gave Colgate two unearned runs in the eighth inning.

QUAKERS LEAD LEAGUE

Pennsylvania continued in first place in the Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League as a result of games played last week. Pennsylvania defeated Yale, 3 to 2; Dartmouth defeated Cornell, 10 to 5, and Princeton and Columbia battled to a 10 to 10 tie when darkness ended the game after the tenth inning. The game will be played off later, starting at the eleventh inning.

Pennsylvania leads the league with two victories and no defeats. Columbia and Dartmouth have won one and lost one, and Yale has won two and lost two. Cornell has lost two games. Princeton has yet to complete a full league game.

CORNELL AT THE RELAYS

Cornell track and field performers made a good showing in the annual Penn Relays at Franklin Field April 24 and 25, with Martin, miler, contributing an outstanding performance in a duel with Coan of Pennsylvania in the anchor leg of the four-mile relay.

Cornell made a surprising showing in the four-mile race by finishing second to Pennsylvania, with Harvard a close third in a blanket finish. Coan, who turned in one of the fastest miles ever recorded indoors last winter, had a lead of about thirty yards at the start of the final lap, but Martin closed in to within two feet in a driving finish. The time was slow, but the race was run on a rain-soaked track. The time was 18:02½.

Schoenfeld, competing in the decathlon for the first time, finished fourth, Berlinger, Pennsylvania's all around ace, taking first place and setting a new carnival record. He scored 7735.6135 points and failed by fewer than fifty points to set a new American record. In the final event, the 1,500-meter run, he finished last.

Schoenfeld won the discus throw in the decathlon, the only first place he scored in the ten-event competition. The next day he captured the individual discus throw event with a toss of 141 feet 2½ inches.

Ranney, Cornell distance runner, finished second to McCluskey of Fordham in the 3,000-meter steeplechase, giving a fine performance and finishing under the old record time, from which McCluskey clipped twenty seconds. Ranney was about seventy-five yards back of the winner who was clocked in 9:37.

Clark, high hurdler, finished fourth in the 120-yard high hurdles, in which Keller of Ohio State set a new carnival record of 0:14 7-10.

Colyer, pole vaulter, had an off day, clearing only 12 feet six inches to tie for second with Ruble of North Carolina. Lee of Yale, whom Colyer defeated in the Yale-Cornell indoor meet, won with a vault of 13 feet.

Ebelhare tied for third in the high jump with Hackel of Minnesota, Babor of C.C.N.Y., and Russel of Ohio State at 5 feet 11½ inches. O'Connor of Columbia won the event with a leap of 6 feet 2½ inches.

Jones finished fourth in the hammer throw, won by Connor of Yale. Jones tossed the hammer 150 feet 5 inches, more than twelve feet short of Connor's winning mark.

Meinig, sprinter, was eliminated in a semi-final heat in the 100-yard dash. In the first preliminary heat, he qualified by finishing third to Hutson of Denison and Kelly of Georgetown, who eventually finished second and third in the final. Lamb of Lehigh won in 0:10½.

FRESHMAN NINE LOSES

The freshman baseball team lost an eleven-inning 11 to 6 decision to Cook Academy April 25 on Hoy Field. A barrage of hits that brought in five runs gave Cook the victory in the eleventh frame.

The freshmen played well until the decisive inning, Pasto and Tomassulli pitching. In the ninth inning, Cornell pulled a triple play to prevent a score by Cook and send the game into the extra innings.

With the bases loaded, the batter hit a short fly to Miscall who threw to second for a relay to first to complete the triple killing.

HORSE SHOW PLANS

The 11th annual Spring Horse Show of the Cornell University R. O. T. C. Riding and Polo Club will be held on Upper Alumni Field May 2. Col. Joseph W. Beacham, Jr. '97 commandant of the Cornell R. O. T. C., is in charge.

The program will include a gymkhana for undergraduates, exhibition riding by Troop C of the New York State Troopers, a horse show with an open saddle class for three-gaited horses, an open saddle class of five-gaited horses, and an open jumping class. There will also be a polo game with Norwich University. In the evening a formal horse show dinner at the Ithaca Hotel followed by the annual polo ball at Willard Straight Hall. An outstanding feature of the event will be trick riding by Troop C, New York State Troopers, under the leadership of Capt. Daniel E. Fox. This group of men is said to contain some of the finest riders of the country who perform such feats as riding through hoops of fire.

THE CLUBS

RALEIGH, N. C.

Cornell's continued interest in her Alumni was portrayed by Ray Ashbery, field secretary of the Alumni Association, to the Raleigh-Cornell Club at a night meeting on April 22. Ashbery is on a southern tour, talking to alumni in southern cities.

The meeting was held at Meredith College, an A-grade Baptist Girls' college of which Charles E. Brewer, Ph.D. '00, is president. Ashbery made an effective and pleasing talk to the assembled group of twenty Cornellians which included four prospective students. He increased the interest of those present in the activities and aims of the University. He was introduced by Rowland Leiby '15, president of the Club, and talked prior to the showing of several reels of motion pictures depicting the Campus and athletics.

Ashbery will be warmly received by Raleigh Cornellians at any time in the future.

THE FACULTY BOWLING team, consisting of Professors R. A. Emerson '99, J. R. Livermore '12, R. G. Wiggans '15, R. Y. Thatcher '09, and J. J. McAllister, won for the second successive year the championship of the City of Ithaca. In a season of 99 games, the Faculty team pulled out successfully from a triple tie for first place three weeks ago.

PROFESSOR G. E. G. CATLIN of the Department of Government lectured on Monday evening before the Sage Philosophy Club on "The Philosophy of Politics."

FELLOWSHIPS SUGGESTED

Native of Ithaca, Greece, Urges Training in College of Agriculture

Plato Drakoules, a native of Ithaca, Greece, who visited Ithaca, New York, in 1925, has set his heart on seeing Homeric Ithacans trained in agriculture in American Ithaca.

Writing of his visit to the new world Ithaca in The Journal of the Ithacans, an independent fortnightly publication of Ithaca, Greece, Mr. Drakoules suggests the establishment of fellowships by the Greek Ithacans in the College of Agriculture for the training of their fellow-townsmen at Cornell.

He also suggests the gift to the University of a statue of Ulysses, carved of Ithaca marble, to be erected here in "some spot resembling the harbor of Phorkys."

His letter, recalling his visit to Ithaca, was published in translation in The Ithaca Journal-News. The translation was made by Professor Eugene P. Andrews '95, professor of archaeology.

He says, in his article, that he believes "I am the first, and I think up to now (the article appeared in the March 16, 1931 issue) the only Ithacan who has visited the American city of Ithaca—a small community, as indeed is our island. It is interesting to note," he continues, "that I found the Ithacans of the new world especially glad to welcome an Ithacan of the old world. The name of Ithaca is a magic word to charm the fantasy of the world's elect."

After he tells of his arrival here and of his sightseeing around the city and the Campus, Mr. Drakoules refers to visits with President Farrand, Robert H. Treman '78, Trustee, and Professor Andrews. He says: "The director of the museum (Goldwin Smith Museum of Casts)  expressed the hope that some day the museum would be enriched with antiquities relating to Ithaca."

"From conversations with several Americans," Mr. Drakoules' article continues, "there emerged the idea of training, in the American Ithaca, agriculturists born in the Homeric Ithaca. This idea was enthusiastically applauded by all, and I felt sure that it would be received in Greece with especial pleasure on account of manifold considerations connected with the Greek-American friendship."

In describing his visit with President Farrand, the writer quotes the President as saying: "May the Homeric and the American Ithacans clasp hands across the Atlantic."

STATION WEAI PRESENTS
VARIED DAILY PROGRAMS

One of the few radio stations in America devoted exclusively to educational programs, Station WEAI, is owned and operated by Cornell University.

The station is on the air twice daily, at noon, when the program is conducted by the College of Agriculture for farm interests, and in the afternoon, between five and six o'clock, when the "University Hour" is broadcast.

The "University Hour" is devoted to the activities of all colleges except the College of Agriculture.

And as the "University Hour" ends each day, the music of the chimes signals the end of the broadcast. "The Evening Song" is sent over the air every evening during the academic year.

The programs are varied and include music, drama, and talks on many subjects. Every Monday afternoon, the Cornell Radio Players present a short play. The casts are composed of members of the University theater company, under the direction of Professor Alexander M. Drummond.

One of the unusual programs is "Man and His Works," a series of talks covering every phase of man's life and activity. A science series is another feature, as are talks on engineering and home economics.

In the field of music, the programs include recitals by Cornell musical organizations and a series of talks by Professor Paul J. Weaver on musical appreciation.

Last week, the Sage Chapel Choir, under the direction of Professor Weaver, presented the first American performance of Vaughan Williams' Benedicite as part of a program devoted to modern British sacred music.

CORNELL FUNDS VETOED

Three bills, seeking appropriations of $33,000 for Cornell, were vetoed last week by Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The funds sought were: $10,000 for livestock experiments at the College of Agriculture; $8,000 for the construction of a greenhouse for the Department of Plant Industry, and $15,000 for the purchase of equipment for the agricultural experiment station at Geneva.

OFFICERS CLUB ELECTS

Robert A. Eyerman '32, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., was elected president of the Officers Club at a recent smoker in Willard Straight Hall. Other officers chosen were Albert F. Ranney '32, Putney, Vt., vice-president; John T. Livingston '32, Plainfield, N. J., corresponding secretary; Adolph E. Tiesler '32, Briarcliff Manor, recording secretary, and Joseph M. Youmans '32, Ithaca, treasurer.

BOOKS

THE TREASURES OF THE EARTH

Elementary Economic Geology. By Heinrich Ries. New York. John Wiley and Sons, Inc. 1930. 23.6 cm., pp. viii, 360. 29 plates, 136 figures. Price, $3.75.

The fifth edition of Professor Ries's Economic Geology was reviewed by us on May 13, 1926. A sixth edition has since appeared. Professor Ries has now presented us with a briefer treatment of the subject, suitable for a one-term course of study. To attain his end he has reduced the description of individual localities, though he still describes a sufficient number to illustrate the types of deposits. On the other hand he has somewhat increased his attention to the uses of the various materials.

The volume is well equipped with reading-references, a good select bibliography and locality and subject indexes.

The book maintains the high standard set by the author's earlier works and will, we believe, meet with marked success as a text in this important field.

BOOKS AND MAGAZINE ARTICLES

In The Sibley Journal of Engineering for March Milton Lowens '30 writes on "Civil Service as a Field of Employment." Jere G. Baldwin '33 describes "An English Hobby." P. Gerald Kruger, Ph.D. '29, discusses "Radiation Theories." Arthur C. Stallman '31 writes on "Public Address Systems." Joseph A. Becker '18 writes on "The Role of Barium in Vacuum Tubes."

In The American Historical Review for January Professor Leo Gershoy '19 has an article on "Barère in the Constituent Assembly." Professor Elizabeth Donnan '07 of Wellesley, Documents Illustrative of the History of the Slave Trade to America. Volume I is reviewed by Ulrich B. Phillips. Professor Franklin Edgerton '05 of Yale reviews Murray T. Titus, Indian Islam: a Religious History of Islam in India.

HEALTH BILL MADE LAW

A new health program for New York State, drafted by a commission headed by President Farrand, has been made law by the signature of Governor Roosevelt. The measure, however, failed to include a provision for the establishment of county health units, one of the major recommendations of the commission.

Enactment of the law calls for the expenditure of $750,000 for the establishment of three tuberculosis hospitals.

President Farrand expressed disappointment at the action of the State legislature, which refused to pass the health unit clause.

During the war he served as second lieutenant in the Dominican Republic. He had been in Nicaragua since March, 1930.

He was a member of Phi Delta Theta.

M. LEWIS BARTLETT '27

FUND SOUGHT TO FINISH

FUERTES BIRD SANCTUARY

The Cayuga Bird Club will campaign for a $500 fund this Spring to complete the memorial to Louis A. Fuertes '97 at Stewart Park.

The memorial, in the form of a refuge for waterfall, was begun two years ago. Funds are now required to complete grading and planting and to erect stone pillars upon which bronze plaques are to be placed.

In the center of the bird sanctuary, a house will be erected for purple martin, a species the club is attempting to attract to this region. Professor Arthur A. Allen '07 believes the sanctuary is an ideal spot for these birds.

JUST LOOKING AROUND

TWO BY TWO, the man-hunters from the great Corporations arrive in Ithaca. They issue a call for men, and establish headquarters where they interview applicants. According to the most approved systems of personnel management, they probe the applicant's character, and evaluate, integrate, co-ordinate, and synthesize.

By what mysterious means they reduce character to a fractional percentage I am unable to inform you. It is the fixed belief among the students that they judge the human spirit by certain sly rules of thumb. Voltaire's Zadig chose as treasurer the lightest dancer among the candidates, who had been left alone for a time in the unguarded treasury. Gideon picked for his organization those who were so eager that they would not lie nor kneel to drink from the stream. The students are convinced that similar tests are practiced upon them. The duty of the interviewer's silent companion is to inspect your shoes. The crucial question of the interviewer is: "How did you spend your last summer vacation?"

Incompletely polished shoes will bust the most brilliant on this examination. A vacation spent in happy sloth is doom to the ambitious. Deplorable though your scholarship and morals be, if you have spent the summer with wheelbarrow, pick, or broom, and if your shoes gleam brightly, you will be among the few that are chosen.

If you spent the summer as a bootblack you ought to get a job as vice-President.

CORNELLIANs COMPETING

FOR LANDSCAPE AWARD

Three Cornellians are among the five competitors retained in the preliminary contests for the Prix de Rome in Landscape Architecture.

They are Neil H. Park '27, Fred W. Short '31, and Stanley W. Abbott '29. Park last year won honorable mention.

Cornell architects have made a notable record in the competitions for this prize, which carries an award of $1,500 a year for three years of study at the American Academy in Rome.

The Prix de Rome has been awarded seven times, and Cornell men have been the winners five times.

Previous winners of the Prix de Rome are Edward G. Lawson '13, now assistant professor of architecture; Ralph E. Griswold '16, Norman T. Newton '19, Michael Rapuano '27, and Richard C. Murdock '29. Murdock won last year.

IF YOU SHOULD WISH TO

SLEEP ON SPRING DAY

A CIRCUSLESS Spring Day is in the offing. There is no sorrow apparent in the abandoning of this one event, the circus. In its place, temporarily at least, appear two new events, the Princeton track meet, and the dedication of the War Memorial. The latter cannot, of course, be reproduced annually or adequately replaced, but something will eventually show up to fill the abhorrent vacuum, even if only a more deliberate lunch hour.

This Spring Day, however, the first without a circus since 1900, will be simply a dizzy succession of major events ingeniously fitted together so that they interlock without overlapping. New groups are interested whose interests have not hitherto been cared for. The War Memorial dedication and the Princeton meet will add more color than has been lost.

The 1931 Spring Day promises to call to Ithaca crowds in excess of those of any previous Spring Day. The alumnus who expects to just drop in may find overnight accommodations unobtainable. Fortunately there are trains arriving before the first event starts and leaving after the last is over.

We earnestly suggest to our readers that they make complete arrangements for such housing as may be required well in advance of Spring Day, which is May 23. It is quite likely to be difficult to do so.

SAGE CHAPEL CHOIR

GIVES SPECIAL SERVICE

The first public American performance of R. Vaughan Williams's "Benedicite" was given on Sunday at a special vesper service at Sage Chapel, by a choir of eighty voices under the direction of Professor Paul J. Weaver. This magnificent work, hailed as one of the greatest of modern choral compositions, had its first hearing in England in the Fall and has been many times repeated there. It was performed privately by a group in Niagara Falls, N. Y. recently. It has been chosen as one of three modern works of its kind to be given at this summer's Oxford meeting of the International Society of Contemporary Music.

At the same service Gustav Holst's settings of the 86th and 148th Psalms were sung. The melodies come from the 16th century and Holst's treatment retains much of the original flavor of the ancient tunes. Vaughan Williams, whose Prelude on the Welsh Hymn Tune "Rhosymedre" was played as the organ prelude, creates his own melodies, using old modal ideas in a completely modern treatment.

The choir was assisted by Professor Harold D. Smith at the organ, who played for the postlude an Improvisation on "Veni Emmanuel" by Arthur H. Egerton, director of music at Wells College; and by the String Choir of the University Orchestra. The soloists were Mrs. Lo Rean Hodapp, Soprano, and Joseph Lautner, tenor.

This year, in common with many of the Ithaca churches, regular vesper services have not been held. A special service of Christmas music was given in December. Professor Weaver plans to repeat Sunday's service entire on May 24, the Sunday following Spring Day.

CORNELLIAN ANNOUNCES

BOARD FOR NEXT YEAR

William T. Thompson '32, Yonkers, will head the staff of The Cornelian as editor-in-chief next year. Robert E. Stevens '32, Corfu, will be business manager.

Other editors elected are Joseph M. Youmans '32, Ithaca, managing editor; Allen J. Levin '32, Philadelphia, Pa., photographic editor; William N. Sanchez '32, Maplewood, N. J., senior associate editor; Fred H. Harrington '33, Slingerlands, Francis R. Keating '33, Philadelphia, Pa., Emanuel S. Kline-mann '33, Johnstown, Pa., Raymond B. Redfield '33, Ithaca, and Richard H. Wels '33, New York, junior editors.

NEW APPOINTMENTS MADE

BY BOARD OF TRUSTEES

As we go to press, announcement is received from the President's office that Professor Edwin A. Burt of the University of Chicago has been appointed professor of philosophy effective at the beginning of the academic year 1932-33. This and the following appointments were ratified by the Board of Trustees last Saturday.

Three assistant professors in the English department have been appointed full professors: Benton S. Monroe '69, Frederick M. Smith, and Leslie N. Broughton Ph.D '11. Assistant professor Arthur L. Andrews '93 is appointed professor of German; Herbert A. Wichelns '16 is promoted from assistant professor to professor of public speaking.

Other appointments and further details will be announced in a later issue of the Alumni News.

THE WEEK ON THE CAMPUS

EVERY now and then something reminds us what a lot is going on that we don't know anything about. We show a visitor around the campus and discover three new buildings; we see a picture of the new Medical College in New York; we meet an impressive scholar, and find, on inquiry, that he has been teaching here for forty years.

LET US ALL, then, meditate for one minute on the fact that the Cooperative Extension Department of Cornell University organized a Drought Relief program throughout the State which resulted in the shipment of sixty-four carloads of food and clothing to the sufferers. The value of the labor, time, and materials that made up the contribution is estimated at $90,000. About 18,000 people contributed to the success of the campaign.

EXCAVATION for the new Farm Management Building was begun last Wednesday. It will probably be known as the Management Building merely, not, as we stated last week, the Warren Building of Agricultural Economics and Rural Social Organization. Those two departments will, however, occupy it. It stands on the Agricultural quadrangle, opposite the new Plant Industries Building. New York State has appropriated $600,000 for its construction, not $500,000. That was another mistake we made. We are always making mistakes.

THE ANNUAL MOOT COURT for first year Law students was held last Friday, before a distinguished bench, composed of the Hon. Irving G. Hubbs, Associate Judge, New York Court of Appeals, the Hon. James P. Hill, and the Hon. Ernest I. Edgcomb, Associate Judges, Appellate Division, New York Supreme Court. The Woodruff Club, represented by James B. Gitlitz '30 of Binghamton and Alfred L. Goldstein '32 of Union City, N. J., out-argued Jacob Blinkoff '31 of Buffalo and Meyer Rothwacks '31 of Passaic, N. J., for the Huffcut Club. The Law School Auditorium was jammed with auditors, standing in hushed joy before the speakers' eloquence. The judges reported themselves delighted. And what was the problem which held the lawyers in such thrall? It was the following drama of conflict:

DEFENDANT has erected an apartment building containing 30 apartments. In each he had installed a bathtub and a radio set, to satisfy the needs of the Flesh and the Spirit. Then he sold his building, and before the new owner took possession he removed bathtubs and radios. The purchaser brought suit for the value of these fixtures. The question at issue was, "Whether or not the bathtubs and radios were installed by the defendant-respondent with the intention that the installation be permanent." The jurists, after a delightful afternoon, decided that defendant's intention had been to make his bathtubs permanent.

THE EIGHTEENTH ANNUAL Fuertes Prize Contest in Public Speaking resulted in a tie for first place between Robert P. Harper '31 of Charlotte, N. C. and Gordon B. Hoffman '31 of Pittsburgh, Pa. Charles P. Beyland '31 of Pittsford was awarded third place. Harper spoke on "The World Fair of 1933; Hoffman on "The Low Cost of Rural Roads," and Beyland on "The Failure of Estimating Fees to Aid Contracting."

THE WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB gave its annual concert in Bailey Hall last Wednesday. The honors are to be divided between the visiting soloist, Raoul Nadeau, Atwater Kent audition winner, and the club as a whole, in its well drilled chorus work.

THE WOMEN had a "Play Day" on Saturday, the theme of the functions being "play for play's sake." Matches in baseball, soccer, ping pong, tennis, cageball, track and horseshoe pitching were held, with contestants from Elmira, Syracuse, Rochester, and William Smith Colleges. The events concluded with tea in Willard Straight Hall, at which Penthama, honorary athletic society, was the host. Miss Esther Hankinson '31 of Staten Island, president, poured.

THE RIFLE TEAM tied for third in the national R. O. T. C. competition. Does "tying for third" seem not in consonance with our tradition of primacy? Well, let me now reveal that there were 273 teams competing.

THE SENIOR BLAZERS appeared at the Colgate game Wednesday. They are the best-looking senior costumes within our recollection. Cream-colored flannel with dark bindings outlining the edges and the pockets; the Cornell emblem over the heart. At last the committees have got the idea; the blazer should be regarded as a part of the gentleman's permanent wardrobe, and should be decently made of decent materials. Like the blazers of Oxford and Cambridge, it should be worn publicly and without shame, on warm summer evenings, at garden teas, at gay gymkhanas. And it should be so built that it will outlast the figure.

AN AUTOGYRO flew over town Friday, the first one sighted. * * * A car was stuck in a snowdrift on Connecticut Hill on April 19. * * * If you happen to be driving to Ithaca beware of the Ithaca-

Dryden highway; two detours. If you are coming from Syracuse take the Auburn road. And there is construction on the Elmira Road. From Elmira lay a course through Horseheads, Montour Falls, Odessa, and Mecklenburg. They are beginning to oil the State roads.

GILMORE D. CLARKE '13 of Pelham has been awarded the Architectural League's gold medal of honor in landscape architecture, for his "masterly design as represented in the Westchester County Park and Parkway Development." The University is fortunate in having Mr. Clarke as an adviser in its architectural development.

GEORGE F. BASON '16, formerly Assistant Professor of Electrical Engineering here, returned to give a recital of Negro Spirituals in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday. Mr. Bason left our Faculty to go to the University of North Carolina; he has now definitely abandoned teaching for singing. He is studying under Justin Williams, head of the Department of Music in Rutgers University.

THE HORSE SHOW, to be held on May 2, promises to be quite an affair. There will be a polo game with Norwich University; Troop C of the New York State Troopers will give an exhibition of trick riding, such as Roman riding, jumping through hoops of fire, and so on.

"SHOULD the entire system of colleges and universities as we know them, with their principles of formal authority and segregation of the young, not be entirely abolished? Has this system, monastic in origin, not become as antiquated as feudalism?" says Sinclair Lewis in the Harkness Hoot. Maybe Sinclair Lewis is making the same mistake as Col. Charles R. Gow of Boston, who lectured here last week on "Humanics." Colonel Gow blamed the colleges because they do not develop 87% of the qualities that make the successful business man. But the universities have never been much concerned about developing the qualities of the successful business man. Their chief concern is the preservation, development, and diffusion of knowledge about Agronomy, Architecture, Animal Husbandry, Astronomy, and in short, everything of permanent importance.

"FROM THE STATION, a swift public vehicle bore me to the hotel. It was the best hotel, and is called the Ithaca Hotel. It is imposing and rich, like the Hotel Grande Bretagne in Athens."—The visit to Ithaca of Plato Drakoules of Ιθάκη.

M. G. B.

THE GUEST OF HONOR at the R. O. T. C. Horse Show will be Maj. Gen. Hanson E. Ely, U. S. A. who with President and Mrs. Farrand will occupy a special box.

HIBBY AYER'S TALES

There is probably no question asked more often in regard to shirts than this:

"What will I do with them if they're not right? If they're not the right size—if they haven't the right style collars?

If you buy them over the counter or at a sale, there is no doubt whose shirts they are. They're yours—and if you only wear them when you clean the cellar or if you never wear them—they're still yours.

If they're Hibby Ayer shirts and not the proper size or collar or whatever it is, they should be boxed up even if you've worn the whole lot and sent back by express collect with proper instructions so that a correct lot can be sent you for further trial.

The only Hibby Ayer shirts that are yours are the ones that will get your next order. All the rest belong to

THE ALUMNI

'82 BCE, '91 MCE—John C. Wait has retired after thirty years of active practice of law in New York, in building, construction, and public improvement cases, and architectural and engineering jurisprudence. He retains an office at 11 Park Place. He was assistant and acting corporation counsel of the City of New York from 1900 to 1904.

'87 ME—Charles A. McAllister, president of the American Bureau of Shipping, denied recently that France had surpassed the United States as a shipbuilding nation, as was declared by Lloyd's Register of Shipping. He said that the United States remains second only to Great Britain and Ireland.

'87 MS—I. Thornton Osmond, who is emeritus professor of physics at the Pennsylvania State College, lives at 658 North Hanover Street, Carlisle, Pa.

'88 BSArch—Samuel C. Register retired from business in 1927, and now lives in St. Michaels, Maryland.

'91 ME—Loyall A. Osborne, a vice-president of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, was re-elected a director of the Company at a meeting of the stockholders on April 8.

'93 CE—John B. MacHarg, who is professor of American History at Lawrence College in Appleton, Wisc., has recently completed a film-strip life of Lincoln, with accompanying notes. It is produced in five film slide rolls by the Society for Visual Education, Inc., and is composed of pictures illustrating the most significant events in Lincoln's life.

'94—Albert T. Terry is a realtor in St. Louis. His address is 823 Chestnut Street. He has a summer home on Lake Huron and a country home in Florida. He is on the Board of Directors of the Boatmen's National Bank and Provident Association.

'95 BSArch—Nathan Myers, after many years of independent practice, in 1927 joined in partnership for the general practice of architecture with J. Sanford Shanley, a graduate of Princeton, under the firm name of Myers and Shanley. Their offices are at 24 Walnut Street, Newark, N. J.

'97 CE—Homer G. Balcom, consulting engineer who designed the 102-story Empire State Building in New York, is a member of the committee acting for the American Institute of Steel Construction which will study the effect of wind and storm on the building to determine sway and vibration and any other scientific facts which will help engineers and builders in the construction of future skyscrapers. All-Golden Weddings

What finer gift can father hand to mother on their golden wedding day than a reassurance of his financial independence?

Too many of the pictures of "happy" celebrants of golden weddings are made in homes for the aged and other charitable institutions.

Consider this . . . By the laying aside of only a small sum weekly, any couple can provide against OLD AGE DEPENDENCE.
