The Headmaster's Task

The success of a school, like an army or a business organization, depends primarily on the skill of the "chief",—aided of course by properly selected and capable assistants. We submit a partial answer to the oft-posed question of how we "do it": Each student in our school is under the the immediate and personal supervision and management of the director, F. C. Edminster '02.

SPIRITED campaigning by members of the Faculty for election as Knight of Venice to lead the Spring Day festivities at Beebe Lake took place on the Quadrangle last week. Nominations were made of one man in each college early in the week, and the final election, in which votes are cast only by those who hold tickets to Venice (1st Cabin), was scheduled for Monday. Although some of the candidates did not appear personally, several did at the between-classes rallies held on the Campus toward the end of last week. Professor Arthur W. Browne '03 held forth from the portico of Sibley, while Professor Lyman P. Wilson, the Lawyers' choice, harangued his audience from a packing case set up on the lawn in front of Boardman Hall. A rally for Professor Charles L. Durham '99 was held in his absence with undergraduate spellbinders speaking from the lap of the Andrew D. White statue, and Professor John T. Parson's supporters finally brought him to the platform to urge his own election or he would drain Beebe Lake. Many and varied were the platforms set forth, with the speakers attracting the largest crowds of undergraduates seen about the Campus for some time.

A PARTY OF PERSONS especially interested in the new Willard Straight Hall visited Ithaca on May 8, and were entertained at luncheon by Mrs. Farrand. The party included Mr. and Mrs. Leonard K. Elmhirst, W. A. Delano, and H. S. Waterbury of the firm of Delano and Aldrich, architects in charge of the building. Mrs. Elmhirst is the widow of Willard D. Straight '02, and the donor of the building.

A CHEERLEADING COMPETITION which began last December ended with Sidney W. Little '26 of Buffalo as head cheerleader for next year. The other cheerleaders will be Warren R. Bentley '26 of North Tonawanda; J. D. Nobel '26 of Hackensack, New Jersey; W. G. Shoemaker, Jr., '26 of Buffalo; Harry B. Love '27 of Ithaca; Martin E. Maloney '27 of Waterloo; and Andrew J. Schroder, Jr., '27 of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

BOOK AND BOWL, revived this year, entertained William McFee, the novelist who at one time was a ship's engineer, as guest of honor at a banquet held in Trumansburg on May 14.

THE MUD RUSH this year between the sophomores and freshmen had a definite point besides the hurling of mud and the adding of giddy paint to figures shorn of most of their garments. A 1927 banner flew at the top of a greased and muddy pole which it was the freshman aim to capture. Although the frosh outnumbered the sophomores three to one, from the starting signal of Lieutenant Twesten's pistol to the stopping signal twelve minutes later, no freshman had succeeded in climbing the pole, and 1927 were proclaimed victors of the rush.

THE SOPHOMORE SMOKER was held in the Old Armory on May 8, and in the hands of Eugene W. Goodwillie '27 of Chicago as toastmaster was a successful affair. Foster M. Coffin '12, Lewis Henry '09, Coach Nicholas Bawlf, and Gil Dobie were the speakers. The Savage Club showed off with a few stunts between the speeches.

ON THE FOLLOWING NIGHT the freshman class gave its banquet in the Old Armory, with Robert S. Betten '28 of Ithaca acting as toastmaster. The speakers were Prof. Charles L. Durham '99, Proctor Theodore H. Twesten, Professor Walter King Stone, and William R. (Daddy) George, of the George Junior Republic at Freeville.

BETA THETA PI won the interfraternity track meet with a total of 57 6-7 points, beating Phi Delta Theta, runner-up, who had a total of 30 5-7 points. Pi Kappa Alpha came third with 12 6-7 points. Douglas K. Condie '25 of Ferguson, Missouri, on the Phi Delta Theta team, was individual star, taking two firsts and a third, winning almost half of his team's points.

THE WOMEN'S DRAMATIC CLUB scored a hit with their production of "The Dragon" on May 9 at the Lyceum. The cast was coached by Edward J. West '25 of Hudson, and especially starring in the production was Miss Mildred J. Oliver '25 of New City in the role of the King. Music for the play was furnished by the Women's Mandolin Club.

THE COVER COMPETITION for the Spring Day Book was won by Walter K. Nield '27 of East Aurora. It has been announced that the book would be along the lines of "La Vie Parisienne" except that it would be predominately Venetian instead of Parisian, if such a change may be imagined.

THE SAGE CHAPEL Preacher for May 24 will be the Rev. Dr. A. W. Beavan, minister of the Lake Avenue Baptist Church, Rochester.

STUDENTS IN GOLDWIN SMITH got much excited one day last week when thick clouds of smoke began to pour out of the office occupied by Professor J. F. Mountford. The excitement increased when the door was found to be locked. Some bright soul rushed to the Dean's office for a key, and when the door was opened, a smouldering raincoat was found hanging on a hook. It is rumored that Professor Mountford forgot to extinguish his pipe when he put it in the raincoat pocket. Anyway, he is out one coat, and the students got a lot of entertainment from the performance.

A FRACTURED WRIST and a badly damaged Chalmers car was the price Carl F. Muller '26 of New York paid when the car in which he was riding skidded on the wet pavement near the bridge over Buttermilk Creek and crashed through a fence into the ditch. Wallace O. Leonard '27 of Freeport, Illinois, who was also in the car, escaped unhurt.

PROFESSOR JAMES H. BREASTED, Messenger lecturer, this week discussed the following topics: "The Artist-Craftsmen of the Ancient East (3500 to 500 B.C.);" "Literature: Man's Growing Power of Expression as Stimulated by Contemplation of Nature, Society, and the Human Soul (3500 to 500 B.C.);" and "The Legacy of the Imperial East to Later Civilization."

OTHER LECTURES for the week included "Criticism and Creation" by James Stephens, under the auspices of the Women's Club of Ithaca, on May 18; "Aus den Werken Stefan Georges" by Professor Karl Koffka, under the auspices of the Deutscher Verein, on May 20; "The Mentality of Apes," illustrated, by Dr. Wolfgang Koehler, professor of psychology in the University of Berlin, on the Goldwin Smith Foundation, on May 21; and "Dangers in Disregarding Fundamental Conceptions when Amending the Federal Constitution," the Frank Irvine Lecture by Hon. Robert Von Moschzisker, chief justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, on May 22.

DELEGATES FROM TWENTY-TWO universities and colleges were in Ithaca on May 2 and 3, attending the Third Biennial Intercollegiate Conference. The chief purpose of the present meeting was to place extra-curricular activities on a basis which will insure the most beneficial results to those participating and to strike a sane balance between these activities and the regular curricular work.

THE ARTS COLLEGE won the Intercollegiate wrestling championship at the finals held on May 14, Agriculture being second and Mechanical Engineering third.

THE NEW PRESIDENT of the Town and Gown Club is C. Tracey Stagg '02, who was elected at the annual meeting, to succeed Professor Martin W. Sampson. R. Warren Sailor '07 was elected secretary, and Harry C. Baldwin '06 treasurer. The Club adopted a resolution of appreciation for the service of Professor Benton S. Monroe '96, secretary for seventeen years.

SPORT STUFF

The psychology of an alumni body in disastrous and disappointing athletic defeat is much like that of a nation in war-time when its armies have been routed. Explanations and alibis merely fan the flames of passion. What is exclusively desired is human sacrifice—a string of generals hanging on a row of telegraph poles.

The tradition of Cornell is rather against hanging generals prematurely,*and the record tends to justify the wisdom of that tradition. Here and there among the more bloodthirsty, one can recognize, too, the same voices which called most earnestly in 1920 for the severed head of one G. Dobie.

What a time to announce the sale of tickets for the observation train at Poughkeepsie! But it must be done,—another week would be too late. The sale opens on Monday, June 1. The tickets are $5.50 each. Nineteen cents should be added to remittances to cover registration and postage. Checks should be made to the Cornell University Athletic Association.

'21 NEW YORKERS DINE TOGETHER

Even though the Class of '21 is having no reunion this year, the New York members are keeping alive the interest. Under the leadership of R. Alexander McClelland twenty-eight men of the class met for dinner at the Cornell Club of New York on April 23.

PALMER '18 COLUMBIA OFFICER

The Columbia Alumni News announces that at the May meeting of its Board of Directors, the Columbia Alumni Federation elected Archie M. Palmer '18 its business secretary. The position at Columbia corresponds with that of Alumni Representative at Cornell.

Palmer will be remembered by many as the secretary of the College of Arts and Sciences from September, 1920, to September, 1923, when he left to spend a year in sales and sales research for the Procter and Gamble Company. Recently he has been a partner in a Cincinnati employment agency handling the placement of sales and technical applicants.

"This combination of experiences and the general equipment which Palmer brings to the East Hall job argue very strongly for his success in revivifying the work of the Alumni Office," says the Columbia paper. "It is generally understood that there is a great deal to be done in our general alumni situation, and the directors feel that they have chosen just the man in the present emergency. He enters upon his duties with the best wishes of the entire alumni constituency back of him, confident that the many undeveloped fields of Columbia alumni work are entering upon a new and successful era."

'05 TO CELEBRATE

One of the best reunions in Ithaca next month promises to be that of the Class of '05, back for its Twentieth. Under the leadership of F. W. Scheidenhelm of New York for the men and Dr. Esther Parker of Ithaca for the women, the class is out to bring back the greatest number ever recorded for a twenty-year reunion.

Scheidenhelm's chairman for attendance is Henry N. Morse; for finances, Everett C. Welsh; and for costumes, Richard A. Wright.

The men of the Class will meet for dinner at the Cornell Club of New York on Monday, May 25, at 6:30. Andrew J. Haire of 1170 Broadway is in charge. All men of the Class are welcome.

'71 HAS EIGHT LEFT

A recent check-up of the Class of 1871, the first to graduate from Cornell, shows that of the original forty-one, only eight now are living. They are Judge Pascal C. J. DeAngelis of Utica, N. Y., Rev. Sanford F. Huntley of Wessington Springs, S. Dak., Kirkland W. Ingham of 160 Lincoln Avenue, Bellevue, Pa., Charles E. Reeves of Benton Harbor, Mich., Miller A. Smith of 15 William Street, New York, Royal Taft of Dunmore, Pa., Rev. William DeL. Wilson of 814 Lancaster Avenue, Syracuse, N. Y., and Judge James O'Neill of Neillsville, Wis.

Judge O'Neill has been appointed by the Class Secretaries' Association as acting secretary of the class pending the next meeting. He takes the place made vacant by the death of R. G. H. Speed, who was the '71 Class secretary for fifty-four years.

ATHLETICS

Track Man Equals World's Record

Brilliant performances by Russell in both sprints were high lights of the dual track meet with Massachusetts Institute of Technology, which Cornell won on Schoellkopf Field last Saturday by a score of 94 2-3 to 40 1-3. The Cornell sprinter, who had equalled the Intercollegiate record in the 220-yard dash in the meet with Pennsylvania at Philadelphia last week, ran the furlong on Schoellkopf Field in 20 4-5 seconds, equalling the world's record. An hour before he had won the hundred-yard dash in 9 4-5 seconds, equalling the track record. Both performances, it is true, were helped a bit by a stiff southwest wind, which swept diagonally across the track and the records could not receive an official rating. But Russell's running was extraordinary, nevertheless. Without the wind he would have covered the furlong in at least intercollegiate record time.

M. I. T. proved a stronger opponent than anticipated. The Engineers won six first places to nine for Cornell, piling up most of their points in the runs and hurdles. Cornell's weakness in the runs, a weakness which prevents this year's team from ranking as a first class outfit, was emphasized when Leness of M. I. T., a powerful runner, won both the 440-yard dash and half mile run and Bemis ran away from his Cornell competitors in the last lap of the two-mile race. The mile was won by Termohlen of Cornell by inches from Smith of M. I. T. Steinbrenner won both hurdle races for the visitors, and Drew the high jump. Cornell made a sweep in the weight events, and also won the pole vault and broad jump. Wolkowitz's performance in the javelin throw was noteworthy. He hurled the javelin 187 feet, 4 inches, breaking the Cornell record, which was 177 feet two inches. Wolkowitz also won the shot put. Bowen, who won the hammer throw and was second in the discus throw and shot put, was high scorer of the meet with 11 points.

The summaries:

CORNELLIAN EQUALS WORLD'S RECORD

Running easily at the finish, Russell of Cornell touched the tape in the 220-yard dash in 20 4-5 seconds, in Saturday's meet with M. I. T. on Schoellkopf Field, after previously winning the hundred in 9 4-5. Fuller, Cornell, is the next man behind Russell, to his right, and the Tech man who is third is Kauzman. This remarkable photograph shows the winner just at the instant of crossing the finish line, while the tape is still taut.

Varsity Crew Comes Second

The Varsity crew put up a better exhibition at Derby Saturday than in the Harvard regatta at Cambridge the week before, but was unable to keep pace with Yale, and lost the two mile race to the Blue by four boat lengths. Princeton was third. In the Junior varsity and freshman races Cornell was not a factor, finishing third in both. The freshman crew was particularly disappointing, trailing Yale, which has a very good yearling eight, by fourteen boat lengths and Princeton by two. The Junior eight was nine lengths behind Yale and six behind the Tigers.

The Cornell varsity made a better impression than the week before. For a mile it fought Yale, stroke for stroke. Indeed, for the first half mile Cornell was out ahead, but the crew lacked the finish and smooth form of the Blue shell. Cornell went off at a high stroke and maintained a consistently higher beat than in the race on the Charles. About half way Yale put on more power, at the same time slightly increasing the beat, and forged steadily ahead. Cornell attempted to spurt at the mile and three quarters, but could do no more than hold her position. The crews will now begin training for the Poughkeepsie regatta, which is the goal of Coach Leuder's campaign. The early races have been disappointing, to say the least, but the season will be judged by the outcome at Poughkeepsie.

Times in the varsity race: (two miles): Yale 11:06; Cornell 11:21; Princeton 11:25 4-5.

Yale Takes Close Game

Cornell lost a close baseball game to Yale at New Haven Saturday by a score of 2 to 3. Although Brown allowed but four hits and the team fielded faultlessly, Lindley's swift base running in the sixth inning broke a 2 to 2 tie and gave the Blue victory. In this inning Lindley bunted safely, stole second, took third on Pond's bunt, and scored on a short passed ball which rolled only a few feet from the plate.

Cornell scored in the first when Trefts received a base on balls, stole second, and came in on Coleman's fumble. Yale went ahead in its half of this inning, scoring twice on three bases on balls and a wild pitch. Shaw tied the score in the fourth on two bases on balls and Dupree's single. Davis, shortstop, fielded brilliantly, making three put outs and four assists in clever style and Merrill and Shaw contributed fielding features, the former catching a foul off the left field bleachers and the latter one off the first base stands.

Tennis Team Defeats Michigan

The tennis team defeated Michigan, Western Conference champions, by a score of 4 to 3 in matches on the home courts Saturday. Cornell won two out of five singles and both doubles matches.

Frosh Lose to Pennsylvania

The Pennsylvania freshman nine defeated the Cornell yearlings on Hoy Field Saturday, 7 to 3. The visitors piled up an early lead which the Red and White cubs were unable to overcome.

The game was featured by a home run by Deutsch in the second inning. The Quakers had tallied three runs in the first on well bunched hits and a couple of Cornell errors. Three more runs were made in the fifth on hits by Thomas, Cole, and Fauber.

A two-base hit in the first inning coupled with a fielder's choice and a wild throw gave Cornell a run and two were scored in the fifth on three hits and Walker's error.

Lose Lacrosse to Syracuse

After holding Syracuse, Intercollegiate League lacrosse champions, to a 1 to 1 tie in the first half Cornell went down to defeat in the second half of Saturday's game, played before a large crowd on Lower Alumni Field. The Orange attack in the second half scored five runs and the final score was 6 to 1 in their favor. The Cornell defense held finely in the first half, but crumpled in the second.

LITERARY REVIEW

Cornell in Pictures

A Book of Views. Ithaca. Cornell University. Produced by the Aquatone Process at the Printing House of William Edwin Rudge on the Harris Automatic Press from Photos by John P. Troy. 1925. 31.3 by 44.3 cm. Price, $4.50.

A book of views adequately setting forth the buildings and grounds of the University and some of the adjacent scenery has long been a desideratum. There have been many attempts to supply such a book; but who has not wished, after looking them over, that something better might be produced?

Now we have our wish. It is safe to say that until far superior processes have been invented and utilized, nothing finer will be forthcoming, and from the point of view of artistic selection, skillful grouping, and the significant massing of effects, it is hard to see how anything superior could be worked out.

On the first page there confronts us the rugged, noble countenance of the Founder's statue, lighted as it were by the thought of a great purpose; the thoughtful face of our second Founder, the scholar and administrator, Andrew Dickson White; and between them the Library Tower, symbol of the heart of the learned world.

The view of the University from West Hill with the Drill Hall, the Library Tower, and the Ithaca Falls as high spots, is full of interest. From this we pass on to the familiar view of the Campus and the Lake from the tower of Sage College, with the dorms at the left—one of the most beautiful Campus pictures ever made. This is followed by familiar Campus scenes interspersed with glimpses of the natural scenery which has made Ithaca famous and has done so much to endear the place to those who live here for even a short time. Triphammer Falls at high water is especially noteworthy, and its companion, a view down Cascadilla Gorge toward the city, is a gem which, if it could be got in no other way, would alone be worth the price of the volume. One hardly expected Sibley to contribute one of the most beautiful pictures in the book; yet such is the case. Willard Straight Hall is represented by a fine reproduction of the architect's drawing.

There are also several views of attractive interiors, notably of Baker Laboratory, the Coffee House, Risley, and the Chapel.

Sports come in for their fair share of attention—cross country, football, with Pfann carrying the pigskin, tobogganing, skating, baseball, crew races, a running race, basketball—and drill. Spring Day is well represented.

The dormitories furnish some of the most satisfactory pictures, notably the entrance to Baker. Of Enfield and Taughannock we have never seen finer pictures.

Appropriate as a final piece is the line of candidates for graduation on Commencement Day. Most of the boys are serious and thoughtful.

Every Cornellian ought to have this book on his table to keep him reminded. And for the money there is nothing else like it as a present, whether for graduation birthday, or holiday. As all profits go to the support of the University, we do not hesitate to urge the reader to procure his copy at once while the supply still holds out.

CLUB ACTIVITIES

Detroit

Rex B. Cunliffe, head of the vocational department of the City College of Detroit, was the speaker at the weekly luncheon of the Cornell University Association of Michigan on Thursday, May 7.

Elmira, New York

The Cornell men of Elmira, New York, will meet for dinner on May 28, at the Cold Brook Club, to reorganize the Cornell club which formerly flourished in the Southern Tier. Several Ithacans will be at the meeting, among them R. Warren Sailor '07, Foster Coffin '12, and Howard A. Stevenson '19. Reservations should be made with Frederick B. Gridley '11, 824 West First Street, Elmira.

Rochester Women

The Cornell Women's Club of Rochester on May 8 entertained some seventy-five junior and senior girls of the Rochester high schools. Elizabeth Neely '19, assistant to Dr. Georgia L. White '96, dean of women, was present from Ithaca to speak informally of the aims of the Founders of Cornell, the standing of the University in the educational world, courses offered, and student activities. Her talk was accompanied by motion pictures and lantern slides.

The committee on arrangements included Mrs. Charles W. Curtis (Stephanie Marx) '88, chairman, Miss Hester A. Austin '16, and Ina W. Hall '18. The meeting was held in accordance with the policy adopted a year ago that an annual party for high school girls contemplating college should be in the yearly program.

The women of Rochester have had a busy spring. On April 23 the club brought Dr. John Cowper Powys to Rochester, when the distinguished English critic, author, and poet lectured before an audience of two hundred at the University of Rochester. He spoke of "The Psychology of Modern Literature."

The regular May meeting of the club was held on the second, at the home of Mrs. Curtis.

Western Pennsylvania

The annual dinner of the Cornell Association of Western Pennsylvania was held on May 2 at the William Penn Hotel in Pittsburgh. The principal speaker was Dean Kimball, who spoke informally and in a most optimistic vein on Cornell and her most recent problems, with many little human touches that awakened in a vivid manner memories of the days on the Campus. In common with other speakers from Ithaca this year, he became enthusiastic on the splendid leadership of President Farrand.

On May 8 the Club was addressed by Robert Garland, one of Pittsburgh's city councilmen, as well as one of her most active business men. He emphasized the value of borough annexation, pointing out that whereas Pittsburgh ranked thirteenth in population, clearing house records indicated that it was the fifth busiest city in the country.

ELECTIONEERING FOR "KNIGHT OF VENICE"

The largest and most interested crowds of undergraduates in years gathered between classes on the Quadrangle last week to hear various professors praise themselves and run down their rivals in the campaign for the high priest of "So This Is Venice!" Professor Arthur W. Browne, Chemistry, appropriately flanked by balloons, makes a speech from Sibley portico. At similar meetings all about the Quadrangle, excitement ran at fever heat and the number of campaign slogans was limited only by the number of candidates.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND LOAN FUNDS

WE have doubtless from time to time called attention to the need of more funds for the support of needy students. This need seems to grow rather than to diminish.

The costs of an education have now risen to such a point that without special help only the children of the well to do can afford to go through a four years' college course. Yet it is a generally recognized fact that this group does not by any means include all those who ought to be educated, who want to be educated, and whom it would be worth while, if necessary, for the state to educate.

How shall we provide the means for this worthy class of young men and women? They should not be saddled with a heavy debt which it would take them several years to pay off. On the other hand they will appreciate all the more the value of the pecuniary assistance which they receive if it is not entirely gratis.

A possible solution is the creation of additional undergraduate scholarships which shall be large enough or nearly large enough to carry the student through, with the understanding that a certain part of the money is to be paid back to the fund by a certain specified time, and that a small interest charge shall begin after a year or so from graduation. Such scholarships would be held as honors, and would be eagerly sought after.

A similar policy might well be pursued in the creation of additional fellowships and scholarships in the Graduate School.

This part of the University is the feeder of all our Faculties. Only by attracting the best men and women into the field of graduate study can we hope to keep our staff of instruction up to the highest standard. Many young men and women can muster the funds necessary to get their first degree, but if they want to prepare for higher teaching they must go out and earn money. The experience gained may be worth something; but they have at the same time lost something in the way of time and energy. The years of youth are precious. Those who have shown themselves especially worthy should be enabled at graduation to pass at once into the Graduate School and thence into college teaching positions.

The University could, we believe, use a million dollars or more in thus promoting the education of tested students. And somewhere there are some millions that would do more good in this way than in any other.

PRAISE FOR THE BOOK OF VIEWS

SOME very flattering letters of commendation have been received on the Hill with regard to the Book of Views.

President Frank P. Graves, of the University of the State of New York, a Trustee of the University, says: "It should be very helpful in stimulating interest in the needs of this great institution." Maxwell Upson '99 says: "This is a wonderful production, and thrills the hearts of all true Cornellians." Lieutenant Governor Lowman says: "It is indeed a beautiful volume." Colonel Henry W. Sackett '75 says: "It is a beautiful production and, either as a souvenir, or for the more practical purposes of enlisting the interest of those not familiar with the beauties of the Cornell Campus and its surroundings, it ought to be productive of much good." Dr. Lewis L. Seaman '72 says: "It is superbly done."

I have roved around the footstool nearly four times and visited almost all the great universities of Europe and Asia as well as South America and our own fair land, and it is no exaggeration to say that in point of beauty none of them can touch our good old Alma Mater." Frank H. Miller says: "The work reflects great credit upon those who were instrumental in bringing it out." Henry R. Ickelheimer '88 says: "I want to compliment you on what I believe to be the best publication of its kind that I have yet seen. It reflects great credit on the compilers." George F. Baker says: "It is certainly gotten up very finely and attractively." Ira A. Place '81 says: "I have examined it with a great deal of interest and pleasure. It is a splendid work." Horace White '87 says: "It is certainly one of the best productions of its kind I have ever seen."

THE SUN has announced the election of Mary A. Milmo '27 of Canastota as Women's Assistant Business Manager.

Untrimmed for the Occasion

When this deckle-edged ornament of the bar summed up before a jury or addressed a political convention he relied very largely upon his facial forget-me-nots for assistance in registering emotion.

He could hiss defiantly through those matted tendrils, if hissing seemed to be in order; but when soulful sentiment stirred him, his sibilant speech took on the characteristics of the south wind sighing among stately pines.

In his day shaving was a hard task, and whiskers were permitted, for that reason, to protrude from many chins that were worthy of better things.

COLGATE'S
Rapid-Shave Cream

Men who lather with Colgate's Rapid-Shave Cream are happily surprised at the wonderful difference it makes for the better. It eliminates the need of swathing with hot towels and of rubbing in with the fingers.

In addition to making shaving much easier, Colgate's Rapid-Shave Cream leaves the face soothed and velvety.

You will realize when you lather with Colgate's that it beats anything else you have ever tried for shaving comfort.
