University Board of Trustees at its meeting in Ithaca April 27 elected H. Edward Babcock as chairman of the Board. He has been acting chairman for a year, being elected during the illness of the late chairman, J. DuPratt White '90. Former general manager of the GLF Exchange, largest farmers' cooperative in the United States, Babcock has been a member of the Board of Trustees since 1930, elected annually by the New York State Grange. He has been a member of the committee on general administration and executive committee of the Board since 1935.

Professor George H. Sabine '03, Philosophy, will be Dean of the Graduate School from next September 1. He has been professor of Philosophy since 1931; was at Stanford, University of Missouri, and Ohio State University after leaving Cornell in 1907. He has published widely in the fields of philosophy and political theory, has been for nine years an editor of the American Philosophical Review, is a former president of the American Philosophical Association, member of Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi. He received the AB in 1903 and the PhD in 1906, holding as a graduate student the Susan Linn Sage Scholarship and Fellowship in Philosophy.

Professor Benton S. Monroe '96, English, who has been acting Dean of the Graduate School since the death of Dean Floyd K. Richtmyer '04, was elected chairman of the English Department, beginning July 1.

The Trustees appointed Professor Charles L. Durham '99, Latin, the first incumbent of the new John Wendell Anderson Professorship recently announced as the gift of John W. Anderson '89. The appointment becomes effective at once and will continue until Professor Durham's retirement at the end of this academic year. It is recognition of his long and effective service to the University in many capacities since he first came to Cornell in 1896. Especially has he been active in furthering the alumni relations of the University; took a leading part in the Semi-Centennial Endowment Fund campaign and in raising the Class of '99 Fund; is a long-time friend of Anderson.

Two new appointments to the Faculty are of Dr. Detlev W. Bronk as professor of Physiology and chairman of the Department of Physiology and Biophysics at the Medical College in New York, and of Frederick F. Stephan as professor of Sociology in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Dr. Bronk has been for eleven years professor of biophysics and director of the Johnson Foundation for Medical Physics at the University of Pennsylvania and since 1936 also director of the Institute of Neurology. He is an authority on the physiology of respiration, circulation, and of the nervous system; member of Phi Kappa Psi, Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, and many professional societies. Receiving the AB at Swarthmore in 1920, he taught physics and physiology at the University of Michigan until 1926, then returned to Swarthmore and became professor of physiology and biophysics, chairman of the zoology department, and dean of men. He received the PhD at Michigan in 1926, and studied a year at Cambridge and the University of London as a Fellow of the National Research Council.

For five years secretary-treasurer of the American Statistical Association, Professor Stephan has been adviser to the Census Bureau and other government agencies and since 1936 a member of the central statistical board in the Bureau of the Budget. He received the AB in 1924 at the University of Illinois and the AM at the University of Chicago in 1926; has been instructor and assistant professor of sociology at University of Pittsburgh and director of its Bureau of Social Research; lectured in statistics at Columbia.

The Trustees also appointed James N. Goodier professor of Mechanics in the College of Engineering, where he has been acting professor since 1938. Graduate of Cambridge University in 1927, he remained there for two years of research and in charge of engineering students, then attended the University of Michigan with a fellowship of the Commonwealth Fund, receiving the PhD of both Cambridge and Michigan in 1931. Later he was a research fellow of the Ontario Research Foundation and in charge of its machine shop, and lectured in civil engineering at the University of Toronto. He is an authority on elasticity, plasticity, and dynamics, including thermodynamics.

The Trustees appointed Professor Mary F. Henry acting Director of the College of Home Economics for next year, from the retirement of Professor Flora Rose next October 1. They also confirmed appointment of Dr. Mary M. Crawford '04 to the Medical College Council for next year; of Trustee Paul A. Schoellkopf '06 and R. H. Shreve '02 to the College of Architecture Council for two years; and of J. Carlton Ward, Jr. '14 and Harold W. Elley, PhD '16, to the Engineering College Council for two years.

GIRLS VISIT CAMPUS

Brought By Alumnae

Alumnae from six Eastern states, representing twenty-one Cornell Women's Clubs, brought 156 high school girls to visit the University last Saturday, as guests at the seventh annual Cornell Day for Women.

Guests arrived Friday night and Saturday morning, mostly brought by alumnae "chauffeurs." At Willard Straight Hall they were assigned to rooms in dormitories or sorority houses, and each met her individual undergraduate hostess.

Saturday morning, with welcome sunshine flooding the Hill, each hostess escorted her sub-Freshman guest around the Campus. Later they met in Willard Straight Memorial Room where Lois C. Osborn '16, general chairman, presided at a panel discussion. Mrs. Olive Northup Snyder '22 told of the history and purpose of Cornell Day. Entrance requirements, living facilities, expenses, and offerings of the University were discussed by R. Louise Fitch, Dean of Women; Professor Mary F. Henry, assistant Director of the College of Home Economics; Dr. Eugene B. Bradford, Director of Admissions; and Professor Blanchard L. Rideout, PhD '36, acting secretary of the Arts College.

Meanwhile, the alumnae "chauffeurs" met separately to discuss Cornell Day plans and the current Federation Scholarship Fund Campaign. Mrs. Robert C. Osborn (Agda T. Swenson) '20, president of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs, presiding.

Sub-Freshmen guests, alumnae, and hostesses were guests at luncheon at Prudence Risley Hall. Marjorie H. Lee '41 of Mt. Vernon, undergraduate chairman of Cornell Day, was toastmistress. Speakers included Mary H. Donlon '20, Alumni Trustee; Professor Dexter S. Kimball, Engineering, Emeritus; Patricia Avery '40, of Groton, Conn., president of WSGA; and Margaret E. Russell '40, of Clark's Summit, Pa., undergraduate chairman of Cornell Day last year. Miss Donlon brought President Edmund E. Day's greetings and message.

Rhoda B. Dunham '41 of Pittsburgh, Pa., was chairman of a tea dance honoring the sub-Freshmen guests Saturday afternoon in Willard Straight Memorial Room. H. Lyford Cobb '40 of Bronxville, chairman of the Willard Straight board of managers, described briefly the purpose and the activities of the Hall. Members of men's honorary societies served on the floor committee, and invited Freshman men were guests.

The program concluded with an informal party in Willard Straight Hall.

Eleanore V. Reed '42, of Yonkers was in charge, and entertainment was provided by R. Selden Brewer '40 of East Hartford, Conn., and by the Junior quartette of the Glee Club.

General committee for Cornell Day for Women included, beside the Misses Osborn, Fitch, Lee, Dunham, and Reed, Mrs. Anna F. Grace '10, University Manager of Residential Halls; Ruth E. Davis '17, treasurer of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs; Cecelia Werner, social director of Willard Straight Hall; Olive G. Worden '31, president of the Cornell Women's Club of Ithaca; Mrs. Walter J. Purcell (Dorothy A. Korherr) '30, of the Alumni Office; Jane F. Murphy '41 of Gloversville, in charge of hostesses; and Eileen McQuillin '41 of Pittsburgh, Pa., registration chairman.

Alumnae who brought high school girls to Cornell Day include: Hilda Goltz '21, Helen M. Hedden '23, Marion F. Mellinger '18, and Betty C. Jokl '38, all of Buffalo; Lois M. Dusbunbury '25 of Trenton, N. J.; Mrs. Roberta Quick Wood '22 of Little Falls; Mrs. George D. Musser (Maxine E. Montgomery) '18 and Helen E. Watkins '25 of Middletown; Mrs. John B. Slimm (Helen L. Waters) '18 of Utica; Mrs. L. B. Bowman (Martha S. Hawley) '24 of Rochester; Lucy J. Collins '06 of Amsterdam; Mrs. S. E. Ronk (M. Gertrude Godfrey) '27 of Boston, Mass.; Mrs. L. Janning Taylor (Margaret J. Kirkwood) '21 of Owego; Mrs. Albert W. Hilf (Muriel L. Townsend) '21 of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Mrs. Harold A. Kazmann (Frances M. Bayard) '19 of Long Branch, N. J.; Mrs. Georgina Halsey Schoof '10 and Mrs. Roy W. Shaver (G. Marion Hess) '17 of Westchester County; and Mrs. George E. Graves (Marion M. Selden) '18 of Rome.

PHILADELPHIA SPORTS

Thirty members of the Cornell Club of Philadelphia greeted Coach John F. Moakley at luncheon April 26 at the Engineers Club. He was in town with the track men who competed in the Pennsylvania relay games; spoke briefly about track team prospects for this spring.

The Cornell Club has again entered a team in the Philadelphia intercollegiate softball league, with Tinius Olsen II '35 as manager, the first game May 2. Annual golf tournament with Dartmouth alumni is scheduled also for May, with Lea P. Warner, Jr. '33 in charge.

About ATHLETICS

BASEBALL TEAM WINS TWO

The baseball team moved into first place in the Eastern Intercollegiate League with a 5-4 victory over Dartmouth on Hoy Field last Saturday.

In a non-league game at Syracuse April 24, Cornell defeated Syracuse, 8-1.

In League competition Cornell has won three straight games. Standing of the teams:

	W	L	PC
Cornell	3	0	1.000
Yale	1	0	1.000
Columbia	3	1	.750
Harvard	1	2	.333
Pennsylvania	1	3	.250
Dartmouth	0	1	.000
Princeton	0	2	.000

A four-run rally in the seventh inning won last Saturday's game against Dartmouth. The four runs erased a 3-1 Dartmouth lead, and top-notch relief pitching by James A. Young '40 saved the game in the eighth.

Dartmouth scored a run in the first inning on a single by Broberg and Orr's triple. A base on balls to Orr launched another Dartmouth run in the fourth, Orr reaching second on a poor throw to first by Pitcher Walter J. Sickles '41 and scoring on Reeves' single.

For four innings held to one hit, a single by Charles S. Bowen '40, Cornell scored its first run in the fifth. It was a gift. Kenneth G. Brown '40 reached first on an error, went to third when Pitcher Lendo threw wild to first, and scored on Lendo's wild pitch.

Dartmouth scored again in the sixth. Reeves was hit by a pitch and moved to third on Parmer's single. The runners worked a successful double steal, Reeves scoring.

Cornell cut loose in the seventh. With one out, Sickles doubled to left. Brown walked. Ronald E. Stillman '42 forced Sickles at third. Captain George F. Polzer '40 scored Brown with a single to left. Walter Scholl '41 walked. Robert C. Ochs '42 lined a single to center, scoring Stillman and Polzer. Scholl reached third when Broberg misplayed the ball in center. The runners worked a double steal, Scholl scoring, but Ochs was thrown out at third on the same play.

Dartmouth threatened in the eighth. Orr singled and Burns doubled, Orr scoring when Frank K. Finneran '41 dropped a good throw at the plate. Sickles left the mound, and Leo Hamalian '42 walked two batters and retired one on a grounder, filling the bases. Then Young came in and threw eight pitches, striking out two men and ending the rally. Sickles, however, received credit for the victory, his third of the League campaign.

RUNNERS OUTCLASSED

Cornell runners in the Penn Relays at Philadelphia last Friday and Saturday found the competition away over their heads, Coach John F. Moakley said on his return to Ithaca. Three Varsity quartets and one Freshman relay team were eliminated in preliminary heats. Four other Varsity teams failed to place in section or final runs.

Best individual performances were turned in by George A. Knoerl '42 and Lester E. Murdock '41. Knoerl placed second to Fuller of Virginia in the invitation 120-yard high hurdles after winning his heat in 0:15.3. Fuller's time in the final was 0:14.8. Murdock placed third in the broad jump with 23 feet 4 inches. The event was won by Blount of Dartmouth with 25 feet 3/4 inch.

In preliminary heats, Knoerl, Kirk Hershey '41, Donald A. Weldon '40, and Lawrence W. Wheeler '40 placed second to Yale in the 480-yard shuttle hurdle relay; Captain Walter W. Zittel '40, Kenneth I. Zeigler '42, Rex W. Wood '41, and George Walker '40 placed third to New York University and Fordham in the half-mile relay; and Zittel, Knoerl, Wood, and Walker finished third behind Pittsburgh and Virginia State in the quarter-mile relay.

LOSE AT LACROSSE

The lacrosse team lost to Hobart, 19-6, on Alumni Field last Saturday as the visitors, undefeated this season, took command with a barrage of nine goals in the second period. Cornell gained a 3-1 advantage in the first period, but could not cope with Hobart's attack thereafter. Cornell scored one goal in each of the last three periods.

High scorer for Cornell was Robert D. Brennan '40, with three goals. William S. Heit '41, Richard L. Campbell '41, and Robert L. Case '40 each scored once.

TENNIS TEAM WINS

Winning four singles matches and one doubles, the Varsity tennis team defeated the U. S. Naval Academy, 5-4, in the first home engagement on Cascadilla Courts last Saturday.

Captain Kennedy Randall '41 lost for the first time this season, 6-2, 6-0, to Midshipman Hunt, a member of last year's American Davis Cup squad.

Singles victories were recorded by William E. Gifford '41, Louis C. Boochever, Jr. '41, Jerome I. Lieberthal '42, and Robert J. Schwartzman '40. Lieberthal and Howard S. Dye '41 won in the doubles.

GOLFERS TIE SYRACUSE

The golf team tied Syracuse, 4½-4½, at the Bellevue Country Club, Syracuse, April 24.

Harry L. Bill, Jr. '41 and John C. Sterling, Jr. '41, the No. 1 twosome, broke even, Bill losing and Sterling winning individual matches, with the best ball a tie. The team's co-captains, Richard T. Meister '40 and James M. Bostwick '40, lost. The No. 3 twosome, however, took three points as Paul R. Thomas '42 and William H. Middleton '41 won their singles and best ball matches.

RUGBY CLUB LOSES

Cornell Rugby Club's team lost again last Saturday, bowing to Long Island University, 9-3, on Alumni Field. LIU scored two tries for a 6-0 lead in the first half and added another try for 3 more points in the second. Cornell's 3 points were registered by Robert Boochever '39 on a 15-yard penalty kick in the second half.

GIVE PRIZE PLAYS

Versatility of Dramatic Club members as actors, producers, directors, and playwrights was well demonstrated in the Club's presentation of four plays which won Heermans Prizes this year, in the Willard Straight Theater, April 19 and 20.

Edward L. Kamarck '40, who wrote the first-prize-winning play, "Chenango Crone," and Lauren Williams, Grad, whose "Over Fourteen, and Single" won first prize in a special contest, both gave competent performances in "Domestic Relations," a comedy of a radio counselor written by Philip Mandel '40. Thirty-three other members of the Club appeared in the four plays, with many others behind the scenes at work with production.

Especially noteworthy was Kamarck's play, "Chenango Crone," and the performance of Gay S. Churchill '41 as the domineering, ruthless old mother of the outlaw McIlherrons in the Chenango valley in 1865. "Over Fourteen, and Single" is a log cabin comedy of 1820 in Western New York. Fourth play, "The Ripple," by Peter Kuchmy '39, was a mystical interlude based on a deathbed watch in a snowbound farmhouse.

WIDOW CONGLOMERATE

Current issue of The Cornell Widow is an elaborated "Smears-Rotgut Catalogue," containing conglomerate offerings of outmoded automobiles, buggies, household appliances, tricks, games, musical instruments, wallpaper samples, old issues of the Sun, and other items too numerous to recount. It has testimonials from satisfied customers, many pictures, and advertisements, all bound together in pink covers to make a bewildering volume.

CORNELL ENGINEER

Tell Berna '12 writes on "Machine Tools and the Emergency" in The Cornell Engineer for April. He is general manager of the National Machine Tool Builders Association; tells of the contribution of the industry to American production and pleads for relaxation of present government restrictions as to depreciation allowance and re-investment of earnings in plant and equipment. Greater freedom in these respects, he says, is necessary to enable industry generally to cope with present-day conditions.

This issue contains also photographs of the members of the Engineering College Council, with brief biographies of each. Willis H. Carrier '01 in his "President's Message" to the Cornell Society of Engineers describes the organization of three regional sections of the Society, in Pittsburgh, Pa., Philadelphia, Pa., and Syracuse.

MURPHY, SNAVELY IN OHIO

Alumni in two Ohio cities were addressed by Emmet J. Murphy '22, Alumni Secretary, and Coach Carl G. Snavely, and enjoyed football motion pictures early in April.

Forty attended a dinner at the Youngstown Country Club, April 2. John P. Huestis '21 introduced the speakers. Among those present were J. Eugene Bennett '11 and two of his three sons who play basketball at the University.

Next day in Cleveland, Murphy and Snavely were guests of the officers and directors of the Cornell Club for luncheon and dinner. At the annual smoker that evening in the Cleveland Club, the visitors spoke before 250 alumni, undergraduates, fathers, and friends. George W. Teare '24 was master of ceremonies. The speakers from Ithaca were introduced by Frederick W. Krebs '12. Burke Patterson '22, president of the Hermit Club in Cleveland, told stories and introduced entertainers from the Club. Case Institute glee club sang. Chairman of the committee was James A. Webb '09.

NOW IN MY TIME!

By Romeyn Berry

The new office of the CORNELL ALUMNI NEWS looks down upon fifty years of baseball.

From the little boys' room on the east side, one may observe Hoy Field and watch Messrs. Polzer, Scholl, Finneran, and their efficient co-workers playing the game with a hard ball precisely as it was played in 1890.

Simultaneously, on the west side, the editor in charge of "Alumni Notes," "Book Reviews," and "Club Smokers To Meet Mr. Snavelly and See Movies of the Ohio State Game" can gaze pensively upon Sage green and see a dozen games of softy all going on at once.

This reporter has never seen a game of softy played and is not a little vain of the alertness on his part which has kept him in that creditable state of innocence. He is informed, however, by the editor of "Alumni Notes," etc., from her side of the office, that its popularity among the students is growing by leaps and bad bounds; that for purposes of fraternal strife the brothers vastly prefer it to the traditional hard-ball game which gave the nation such enduring names as Mugsy McGraw, Three-Fingered Brown, Charlie Blair, and Iron-man M'Qinnity.

Softy seems to have come to stay. That horrid fact must be recorded, however much it may offend hairy old players of another era. And it must also be admitted that for practical, University purposes softy possesses some advantages over hardy.

The Cornell Campus, apparently vast, is limited in area. Even in the old days there was never room for more than six fraternal ball games at one time. One in front of Lincoln, batting toward White; a second, with home plate located on the south edge of the Grove with the pitcher facing north; a third, down toward Boardman Hall. That just about filled the Quadrangle. Then if both teams straggled down to the Sage Green and found that also in use, about all there was left was the stretch of lawn in front of the Veterinary College.

That stretch of lawn in front of the Vet, ample enough for softy, was never adequate for men's baseball. This fact was demonstrated for all time by your reporter in the spring of 1903 during a non-secret contest with Delta Upsilon, when in the sixth stanza he connected with a fast one on the nose. That blow resulted in the only home run ever credited to your reporter in the official records of organized hardy. Naturally, then, he remembers every incident connected with it: the loud and astonished cries of the brothers, the urges to more speed and greater effort, the expressions of non-secret frustration on the faces of the Delta Upsilon. Most vividly of all however, he recalls the sound bit of coaching given him by Brother William Henry Forbes '06 as he rounded third base in a high state of nervous exhaustion and physical fatigue: "Stay up; keep going Fathead! And when you get to home plate don't stop there either—keep right on running. That was Bobby Thurston's window you knocked it through!"

HEAR AIR TRAVELER

Twenty members of the Cornell Women's Club of Northern California met for luncheon April 13 at the Women's Faculty Club on the University of California campus at Berkeley. Guest speaker was Dorothy Kaucher, PhD '28, who described her voyage to Europe last summer on the fourth passenger trip of the Atlantic Clipper. She was the first American woman to fly a new route over Gibraltar to France, spent some time in London, and embarked for home by the northern route from the Isle of Man.

At the meeting, the Club reelected Mrs. N. Forsyth Ward (Janet B. Nundy) '26, president. Mrs. Frances Ufer Devine '20 is vice-president; Mrs. Mary V. Ferguson '07, recording secretary; Mrs. D. Scott Fox (Grace Fordyce) '15, corresponding secretary.

Dr. Albert F. Ranney '32 (left) and his brother, George E. Ranney '39 (right) with the Moakley Cups they both won for the best record, attitude, and performance in the two-mile run. Ranney '32 won his in May, 1930; the next fall he was captain of cross country and he still holds the Barton Hall record of 9 minutes 32 seconds for two miles. He is director of the Vermont State Laboratory in Montpelier. Ranney '39 won his last October for performance during the year 1938-9. He manages a farm near Rutland, Vt. The Moakley Cups have been provided by Cornell Clubs since 1928 for men selected by Coach Moakley.

FROM FAR BELOW . . .

By Bob Bliss '30

You probably noticed a picture recently in the New York Sunday papers of the Buckram Beagles from Brookville, Long Island, climbing aboard a TWA plane, complete with hunting horns and whippers-in. The piece told how the pack of merry little hounds was off to Camden for a hare hunt.

It was Tom Haire '34 (no pun intended) who put the beagles in the air. He's a son of Andrew Haire '05, who publishes the Haire trade magazines and is president of the New York City Rotary Club. Tom fell in with the sport when he was in the West, and brought a couple back with him. You never have eleven beagles, you know: you have five-and-a-half couple. He's been hunting with the Buckram pack (there are less than two dozen registered packs in America) for some time since, and the idea of commuting by air for swap engagements was his.

In beagling, you don't sit still, astride, and watch hounds, whips, and horses work. You walk. You climb walls, and cut through brambles, and scale rock cuts. You don't follow Reynard. You pursue the wily Texas jackrabbit, or hare. Many of these long-legged devils have been planted East for the purpose. And they are customers to catch up with. You don't come home with the fox's brush; your rabbit's tail is called a scut. And he's just as clever a fellow as your fox.

Tom's idea just advances a comparatively new and invigorating sport a step further. He piled his hunt members and hounds all into a chartered plane at La Guardia Field, flew a hundred and fifty miles away, hunted, and had them back home the same night. Something you couldn't do with horses!

In case you're wondering, the question will be answered. We've brought home dogs from kennels on their first car ride, too. The dogs stood the trip beautifully, and never hunted better, their sterns wagging vigorously from the minute they took off until they were eased down at Camden. We can't fail in our duty to report to you, however, that four of the socially-elect beaglers arrived as green as their livery, and were unable to follow the pack.

And that's the end of a Haire story, except that on the way back the hunt was served high tea aloft, and we hope each beagle was able to snatch a crumpet.

Most Cornellians think of "Chick" Norris '24 as the great character actor and fun man, who can reproduce at will any sound from the noises of Ithaca trolley car airbrakes to the Morse Chain works weather whistle.

We stayed with him recently on the occasion of Fabe Kunzelmann '38 becoming engaged to Chick's niece. We can tell you that as a family man, Chick can keep his inimitable repertoire in top shape and still indulge a full-time hobby, which is collecting clocks. Cuckoos, Terrys (I remembered that one, Chick), banjos, steeples—he's got 'em all. And believe me, it's something to sleep through! He sets the cuckoos a half-hour fast, or slow, so the combined noise of all the timepieces going off at once won't loosen the rafters.

And any of the many Musical Club shows that have been built around him would be considerably enhanced by the rendition he does of the "Alma Mater" on his venerable double-reed melodeon.

"SPRING FERVOR"

More than 200 student singers and instrumentalists appeared in Bailey Hall April 24 for the annual spring concert of the combined Men's Glee Club, Women's Glee Club, and Instrumental Club. Guest soloist was Arthur Kent '28, bass-baritone winner of the recent Metropolitan Opera auditions, who seemed to enjoy greatly his return to the University and singing again with the Glee Club. His rendition of "The Song of the Vagabonds" with the men's Club, as an encore, was vigorous and colorful. The range and power of his voice were well demonstrated in two earlier operatic selections, an aria from "Faust" and the prologue to "Pagliacci," and humor and dramatic ability were apparent in four shorter selections.

A highlight of the students' part of the show was an amusing novelty number arranged by Raymond W. Kruse '41, with Gilbert H. Cobb '41 singing "The Easter Parade" and a chorus of eight strutting couples.

The Instrumental Club was led in its several numbers by its director, George L. Coleman '95, and its student leader, Irving R. Merrill '41. From the group, Elisabeth W. Olesen '40 and Helen K. Jammer '43, violinists, accompanied the Women's Glee Club in Elgar's "The Snow," and John W. Bryant '42 was piccolo soloist with the Men's Glee Club in "The Galway Piper."

Eric Dudley led the combined Glee Clubs in their opening group, a medley of Southern folk songs with Cobb as soloist, and two Negro spirituals. Mrs. Dudley led four numbers by the Women's Glee Club, including "Spring" by Henschel, with Dorothy M. Cothran '43 as soloist. Twice the Men's Glee Club was called upon to sing the popular new song "In the Red" written by Richard H. Lee '41, with the author-composer at the piano and Kruse leading the singers. The combined Clubs gave a stirring rendition of Elgar's "Land of Hope and Glory," and the program closed with the "Alma Mater" by the entire company.

LETTERS

Subject to the usual restrictions of space and good taste, we shall print letters from subscribers on any side of any subject of interest to Cornellians. The ALUMNI NEWS often may not agree with the sentiments expressed, and disclaims any responsibility beyond that of fostering interest in the University.

ABOUT HUGH JENNINGS

TO THE EDITOR:

In your issue of March 21 in "Letters," Louis E. Johnson '10, under caption of "Famous Baseball Players," says: "Of course Hughie Jennings '04 went to the Cornell Law School, but not until after his playing days were over."

My recollection is that in 1902, while a member of the student body, he played with Baltimore, in 1903 he played in the outfield for Brooklyn Nationals, and in 1904 he played shortstop and managed the Baltimore Orioles. While with the Orioles it might be mentioned that he led the team in batting. He was a special student in Law School and I think his attendance at Cornell began in the fall of 1902.—PERRY D. DUNN '04.

University records show that Hugh Jennings entered the Law School as a special student the fall of 1900. He was also enrolled in Law during the years 1902-3 and 1903-4. He coached baseball from the spring of 1900 until 1904.—Ed.

OUR ERROR

TO THE EDITOR:

Just to keep the record straight, may I correct your statement re Harry L. Taylor '88 in the article, "Famous Baseball Players," March 21? Harry Taylor rarely pitched; his position was invariably that of catcher during the two years that I saw every game played on the Campus. In only one game, played in Philadelphia against University of Pennsylvania, do I know of his having pitched; and he won his game, too!—RICHARD WAGNER '00.

PRAISE FROM EXPERTS

TO THE EDITOR:

My, how the ALUMNI NEWS has perked up. Congratulations!

TO PRESIDENT DAY:

The ALUMNI NEWS for April 18 is a great improvement, in cover and content; better in appearance and substance matter than that sent out by any other university, I believe.

For years I have been writing, speaking, and conferring upon a vital past weakness—our failure to make every alumnus know the three things he ought to know:

1. The number, composition, variety, and qualifications of the students who enter.
2. What is done for them at Ithaca after they enter.
3. What they accomplish for humanity (not merely what they do for their own fame and fortune) after they leave the University.

A series of issues like the one I received today should be in the hands of every alumnus. One year of that kind of bombardment would do more to rid the alumni of that inferiority complex than any other effort could possibly accomplish. If I had a fortune, I would finance a complimentary distribution to those who cannot or will not subscribe to the ALUMNI NEWS.

I am quite heartened by the present issue.—JOHN T. MCGOVERN '00.

P.S. Even if it omits reference to the life and battles of Terry McGovern.—T.

DRESS UP BLACK DIAMOND

Familiar Black Diamond trains of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, which run daily in each direction from New York City to Buffalo, have been modernized and painted outside from engines to observation cars in Cornell red and white. The bullet-nosed, stream-styled locomotives were designed by Otto Kuhler. The trains are now completely air-conditioned, coaches with new chrome and fabric seats, fluorescent lighting, and cushioned floors, and modern dining-buffer cars.

With the advent of daylight-saving time in Ithaca and elsewhere April 28, the Lehigh has changed the times of its trains serving Ithaca.

From the seaboard to Ithaca and west, the Black Diamond now leaves New York City at 7:07 a.m. Eastern standard time, Philadelphia 7:20 a.m., arriving Ithaca at 2:54 p.m. The Star leaves New York City at 9:10 p.m., Philadelphia 9:20 p.m., arriving Ithaca at 5:06 a.m. except Mondays, when arrival is about thirty minutes later. Later train leaves New York City, daily except Sunday, at 11:20 p.m., Philadelphia 11:45 p.m., due Ithaca at 8:45 a.m. except Mondays.

From Ithaca eastward, the Black Diamond now leaves Ithaca at 1:42 p.m., standard time, arriving New York City at 9:35 p.m., Philadelphia at 9:03 p.m. Evening train leaves Ithaca at 10:38 p.m., arriving New York City at 7:05 a.m., Philadelphia at 7:45 a.m.

ASK the NEWS!

Subscribers are invited to submit pertinent questions, to be answered below. All questions must be signed, but only Class numerals will be published.

Q—"Is there now an honor system for examinations at the University? Is it generally observed by students?"—'14

A—The University honor system which was adopted in 1921 has now passed out of use. We are informed, however, that the Law School, Civil Engineering, and Hotel Administration do have honor systems which are administered by students. In some other Colleges and Departments, it is left to the discretion of instructors as to whether or not proctors are present at examinations, and there is no uniformity of practice. Editorially, last week, the Sun decried a proposal put forth by West Hooker '40, president of the Student Council, to set up a secret committee of undergraduates who should be charged with the duty of reporting and punishing class-room cheating. Labeling it "Mr. Hooker's Gestapo," the Sun said: "What the Council might do, rather than to try to police the classes, is to build up an esprit de corps which would frown on cheating, and make students feel a responsibility for doing honest work."

Q—"How many members in the present Senior Class? How large was it as a Freshman Class?"—'08.

A—The Alumni Fund office (which has counted them for this year's Senior pledge campaign) says that the Class of '40 numbers 1,272, including those few who received degrees in February, after three-and-a-half years. Number in the entering Class four years ago was given as 1,437, not including those in the two-year special course in Agriculture, some of whom have since transferred to the four-year course.

Q—"How many students are taking drill, and how many hours a week do they spend at it?"—'19

A—Enrolled in the ROTC at the beginning of this academic year were 2,225 undergraduates, of whom 285 were Juniors and Seniors taking advanced courses. Freshmen and Sophomores in the required basic courses numbered 1,193 in Field Artillery, 543 in Infantry, 142 in Signal Corps, and 62 assigned to Ordnance. Underclassmen drill one afternoon a week, for three hours. Students in advanced courses, which are elective, drill one afternoon a week and spend two hours a week in theoretical instruction. It is expected that approximately 120 men will complete four years of ROTC instruction this year, and receive commissions as second lieutenants in the Officers Reserve Corps.

TO SUPPORT SCHOLARSHIPS

Cornell Club of New York has announced a "Dollar a Month Club" to support its Alumni Regional Scholarships at the University. Latest report is of sixty-three "honorary members" who contribute more than one dollar a month, and 111 "regular members" giving that amount. Scholarships financed by the Club are now held by nine undergraduates. George R. Pfann '24 is chairman of the regional scholarship committee.

AREOPAGUS ELECTS

Areopagus, "Cornell Journal of Opinion," has announced the election of Herbert L. Abrams '41 of Brooklyn and William Hinton '41 of Putney, Vt., as editors for next year; Sonia E. Adelson '41 of Newport, R. I., associate editor; and to the board of control Professor Victor Lange, German.

In the April number, Hinton writes on "Farming and the Individual" and a short story, "Memorial Day." Professor Heinrich Schneider, German, looks into the origin of printing and its effects, under the title "Gutenberg." Ward H. Goodenough '40 of New Haven, Conn., inquires "Do Liberals Need Glasses," and James H. Brewster '43 of Litchfield, Conn., contributes "The Priest," a short story, and "Suomossalmi," a poem. Editorials approve the program of the recently-formed Cornell United Student Peace Council; protest the increase of fifty dollars made by the Trustees in tuition for the Graduate School; and decry the failure of the Interfraternity Council to prohibit pre-pledging of prospective Freshmen.

ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

ITHACA NATURE NOTE: One day last week a doe was chased by dogs through downtown streets, taking refuge in a garage and there rescued by game wardens. The same day, a full-grown beaver was discovered asleep in a boathouse along the Inlet.

BRIDGE CHAMPIONS of the University are Wellington L. Ramsey '41 of the football team and captain-elect of basketball, and Ellis J. Green '42 of Providence, R. I. They won in a field of twenty-six entrants; but at an intercollegiate bridge tournament in New York City April 26 and 27, they finished tenth among pairs from eleven other Eastern colleges. A Radcliffe team won the tournament, with Princeton second. Cornell finished ahead of Wellesley and Mt. Holyoke.

HORSE SHOW of the ROTC in the Riding Hall April 26 and 27 brought out good crowds, to see sixty-six men and women undergraduates and some local owners display their horsemanship.

ACCUSATIONS AND DENIALS that American newspapers distort the news were heard recently by the Ithaca Rotary Club. Stanley M. Brown, graduate of Dartmouth and a first-year student in the Law School who worked last year in the White House secretariat, division of press intelligence, was the accuser. He was answered at a later Rotary Club meeting by Harry G. Stutz '07, editor of the Ithaca Journal.

TAU BETA PI, Engineering honor society, has initiated as its alumnus member for this year Kirk M. Reid '19, illuminating engineer with General Electric at Nela Park, Cleveland, Ohio.

UNIVERSITY ORCHESTRA played at Wells College April 27, with Nicholas Nabokoff, head of the music department at Wells, as guest conductor and the Wells College Glee Club singing. It was the concluding entertainment of a two-day conference of students from eight Eastern colleges, including Cornell, meeting as a model League of Nations. May 1, the same musical program was to be repeated by the same artists in Bailey Hall, for the annual Gerald Hinkley Fund concert of the Orchestra.

MOOT COURT decision, following argument by first-year Law School students, was announced by the visiting judges in favor of the plaintiff-appellant, represented by John W. Reed of Kansas City, Mo., and Jack L. Ratzkin '40 of Brooklyn. Perhaps you recall that the complaint was against use of a building as a baseball grandstand and broadcasting station. The judges agreed that such use was in fact unfair competition with the owner of the park, their decision being announced at a dinner in Willard Straight Hall attended by Faculty and students of the Law School. Reed was awarded the trophy given by Phi Alpha Delta for best court-room performance.

SURE SIGN of spring in Ithaca is to see squads of Freshmen on a Sunday morning, diligently raking and sprucing up the grounds of the fraternity houses. It really arrived last Sunday, with warm, bright sun and preparations for the Cornell Day week-end and houseparties later. While the Freshmen work, many Seniors take flight on the hunt for jobs. Thus we know it's spring!

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB has elected as president Sala Dasananda '39 of Dhonburi, Thailand, now a student in the Graduate School. Vice-president is Jeanette C. Ross '41 of Nyack; secretary, Francis W. Watlington '40 of Hamilton, Bermuda; treasurer, Roscoe C. Howard, MS '31, of Ettrick, Va.

STATE MEETING of undergraduate and alumnae chapters of Delta Delta Delta was held here April 27. The previous week-end a district convention of nearby chapters was at the Beta Theta Pi house.

SUCCESS STORY in the development of air-conditioning was related to Engineering Seniors April 12 by Willis H. Carrier '01, founder of the industry. A printer's request for help in regulating the temperature and humidity in his press room, Carrier said, led to his designing special apparatus, based on the principle of an insect spray invented by the late Professor William S. Barnard '71, Entomology, who was the father of Director William N. Barnard '97, Mechanical Engineering.

CONSTANT READERS of this page will be struck with the number and prominence of Engineering alumni who come back to Ithaca to speak to students in the College. Two recently have been James W. Parker '08, University Trustee and vice-president of the Detroit Edison, and A. Griffin Ashcroft '21, director of the product engineering laboratory for the Alexander Smith & Sons Carpet Co. And April 29, Allan H. Mogensen '24, successful exponent of work simplification, gave a University lecture, "Adventures in Industrial Citizenship."

SAGE SWIMMERS won an intramural swimming meet in the Old Armory pool April 20, sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association. Tied for second place were the teams of Alpha Omicron Pi, Delta Delta Delta, and Delta Gamma.

FUERTES MEMORIAL contest in public speaking for students in Engineering was won by James G. McKearin '40 of Springfield, Mass., first prize of $80 for his speech on "Public Utilities: A Private Affair." Second prize of $40 went to Charles W. Lake, Jr. '41 of Beloit, Wis., who spoke on "Planned Industrial Demobilization." Third prize of $20 was won by Frank E. Hutchinson, Jr. '41 of Houston, Tex., speaking on "A New Product to Meet a New Market."

TWO MEMBERS of the Women's Debate Club met a team of the University of Connecticut in Storrs, April 19. Dorothy M. Dunn '42 of Lyons and Marjorie Elliott '42 of Fairport outtalked their opponents to win for the negative of the question, "Resolved: That the Allies are to blame for the present world war."

SIGMA DELTA TAU has won for the third year, and thus retains permanently, the cup awarded by the Pan Hellenic Association for highest sorority scholarship. Winning average for the last two terms was 80.2. Alpha Epsilon Phi had 79.6; Sigma Kappa, 78.4; Chi Omega, 78.3; Kappa Alpha Theta, 77.7; Kappa Delta, 77.7; Alpha Phi, 77.4; Alpha Xi Delta, 77.3; Delta Delta Delta, 77.2; Kappa Kappa Gamma, 77.2; Pi Beta Phi, 76.5; Alpha Omicron Pi, 67.4.

SAGE CHAPEL PREACHER May 5 is the Rev. Karl Reiland, former rector of St. George's Church, New York City.

LECTURES this week include the three concluding Messenger lectures, on "The Art of the Anglo-Saxons," by T. D. Kendrick of the British Museum; Louis MacNeice, visiting lecturer in English, "The Poetry of T. S. Eliot," and Dr. E. B. McGilvary, Sage professor of Ethics here the six years until 1905 and now emeritus professor at the University of Wisconsin, "Perspectives in Philosophy," on the Goldwin Smith Foundation, May 2.

PRIMARY ELECTIONS in Ithaca passed with no contests and few votes cast. To their State committees from Tompkins County, Republicans elected Mrs. Robert C. Osborn (Agda T. Swenson) '20 and reelected Fitch H. Stephens '05; Democrats reelected Mrs. Willard W. Ellis (Edith A. Ellis) '90 and Professor Julian P. Bretz, History; and Dr. Leonard T. Pockman, Physics, was elected to the State committee of the American Labor Party. Stephen M. Lounsbury '10 of Owego was designated a delegate to the Republican national convention from the Thirty-seventh Congressional District, as was David Moses '32 of Watkins Glen to the Democratic convention.

Concerning THE FACULTY

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT has appointed Dean Gilmore D. Clarke '13, Architecture, a member of the National Commission of Fine Arts for a third term. In 1938 he was elected chairman and continues to serve in that office. The Commission was established in 1910 and advises Congress in all questions pertaining to art, architecture, and landscape architecture in Washington; also it is charged with the administration of the Shipstead-Luce Act, which "regulates the height, exterior design, and construction of private and semi-private buildings in certain areas of the National Capitol."

PROFESSOR HAROLD W. THOMPSON, who becomes professor of English here July 1, was among the passengers on the ill-fated Lake Shore Limited which crashed at Little Falls, April 19. Apparently he was one of about four who escaped death or serious injury when the first coach in the train derailed.

PROFESSOR CLYDE W. MASON, PhD '24, Chemistry, spoke on "Microscopy of Particles" before the Western Connecticut section of the American Chemical Society, April 22, at Stamford, Conn.

PROFESSOR HANS A. BETHE, Physics, delivered two lectures, "The Thermodynamics of Nuclear Reactions" and "The Theory of Stellar Energy," on the Foster Foundation of the University of Buffalo.

PROFESSOR WILLIAM A. LEWIS, Jr., director of the School of Electrical Engineering, addressed the seniors of Clinton Central High School, April 23, on "Engineering as a Career." May 13 in Springfield, Mass., he will speak before the local section of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers on "Symmetrical Components Made Easy," and May 17 he will attend a meeting of the protective devices committee of the Institute in Niagara Falls.

Glances Backward

"It might have been."

When the beloved John Greenleaf Whittier dubbed that phrase the saddest words of tongue or pen, he uttered a great truth.

Thousands of men who can remember the time when they were eligible for life insurance, find themselves now unable to acquire protection because of some physical defect.

It might have been different had they acted more promptly.

Avoid this costly retrospect.
