VOL. XX, No. 28

ITHACA, N. Y., APRIL 4, 1918

PRICE 10 CENTS

THE University Faculty at a special meeting held on March 29 took action regarding the academic standing of seniors who may enter the Army or Navy during the remainder of the present term. Resolutions were adopted that scholastic and residence credit, if given, be granted only to such seniors as are absent from the University in the Army or Navy of the United States or of her Allies; that on and after April 2, 1918, members of the senior class who are in good standing and who leave the University for military or naval service in their last term of residence and within six weeks of the close of instruction, shall be graduated with their class. They must, however, submit to their respective deans after the close of the semester a statement duly certified by the naval or military authorities that they are in active service in the Army or Navy, and that their engagement in this service was continuous from a date not later than ten days following their withdrawal from the University to the date fixed for graduation.

THE STATE SENATE has passed the so-called extended scholarship bill. This bill provides that a holder of a state scholarship, having left Cornell University for rendering military or naval service to the United States in time of war, or on account of conscription by the Federal Government, for any services, may obtain from the president of the University an extension of his scholarship equivalent to the time of his absence on account of such service. There is no doubt that the bill will become a law.

PREPARATIONS are now complete for the Liberty Loan campaign in Ithaca and vicinity. The various committees working in cooperation with the state leaders are organized, including in the membership many Cornellians. The general chairman for Tompkins County is George F. Rogalsky '07, and on the advisory committee are Roger B. Williams, chairman, Mynderse Van Cleef '74, and Charles E. Treman '89, all three of the University Board of Trustees. On the city committee, headed by Louis P. Smith, president of the Ithaca Gun Company, are Professors Willcox, Sampson, and Durham, Dr. H. E. Merriam '01, Leon D. Rothschild '09, James R. Robinson '10, and E. Morgan St. John '11. And on the women's committee are Mrs. K. M. Wiegand (Ella M. Cipperly) '04 and Mrs. B. S. Cushman (Jessie R. Manley) '96. The Four Minute Men are of course permanently organized and will as before do their share; their local director is Clarence F. Wyckoff '98.

THE QUOTA OF BONDS to be subscribed for in the county has not yet been officially announced. It is supposed, however, that the amount will be the same as for the second loan, $1,300,000.

THE ANNUAL TRIANGULAR DEBATES are set for Friday evening, April 5, on the question, "Resolved, that the government should exercise its power to restrict the expression of opinion in war time." One Cornell team, supporting the affirmative, will meet Columbia at Ithaca; another, supporting the negative, will meet Pennsylvania at Philadelphia. In the first team are Alfred M. Saperston '19, law, of Buffalo, Edward E. Dicker '19, law, of Ithaca, and George L. Loveridge '18, arts, of Churchville, N. Y.; in the second, Walter Measday, jr., '20, agriculture, of Brooklyn, Chen Ku '18, Sibley, of Peking, China, and Charles G. Garside '21, law, of Meriden, Conn. Joseph P. Shaw '19, arts, goes to Philadelphia as alternate.

SENIORS this year as in the past will wear caps and gowns at Commencement. In reversing a decision made several weeks ago, the Student Council has acted on fuller information and in the knowledge that giving up the custom would probably not mean a saving either of materials or of labor. There is already on hand a sufficient supply of caps, of gowns, and of cloth. It is a pleasure to know that the academic dress is thus to be retained.

THE BOY SCOUTS of Ithaca, during the past month, have carried on a campaign for the sale of War Saving Stamps and Certificates with admirable zeal and devotion. Their sales thus far, not including orders for future delivery, amount to over $35,000, cash actually paid in. This is the goal which the boys set for themselves, their confidence and ambition outrunning the more modest expectations of their elders. This sum will be increased during the present week. In appreciation of these and other civic services, the Rotary Club of Ithaca gave an honorary dinner to the Boy Scouts on Wednesday, April 3. The principal speakers were William J. Tully, former State Senator and director for New York of the National War Savings Committee, and James E. West, chief executive of the Boy Scouts of America.

THE CAYUGA LAKE CEMENT CORPORATION, after being closed for three months for causes arising out of the war, will resume operations this week. The running of the plant on full time, with day and night shifts, requires about a hundred and fifty men. The company's headquarters are at Portland Point.

THE CONVOCATION HOUR this week was at eight o'clock Monday evening. Daniel A. Reed '98 was the speaker. Reed, who had been to the trenches in France gathering information on the need of food conservation, has recently been touring the Middle West speaking an average of six hours a day, and has lost thirty pounds in weight. In his address Reed gave details of the German method of playing the game without regard for the rules, and impressed his audience with the necessity of national unity in all war matters, prophesying five years more of war unless America stood solidly behind its army, particularly in matters of food conservation. His speech was very effective.

NOMINATIONS CLOSED Monday at midnight for the two Alumni Trusteeships to be filled at the annual meeting of the Associate Alumni on May 18. But two nominations, those of John L. Senior '01 and Judge Cuthbert W. Pound '87, were filed.

A WAR ISSUE of the Sun is advertised for appearance on Saturday, April 6; it will contain accounts in full of what Cornell has done and is doing toward winning the war. The price is ten cents a copy.

THE TOMPKINS COUNTY WAR CHEST has voted an appropriation of $2,100 to the Knights of Columbus for war relief work, $700 for each of three months, January, February, and March.

Liberty Bonds For Cornell Cornellian Council Begins Its Campaign to Wipe Out the Deficit

The Cornellian Council will conduct a second nation-wide Liberty Bond campaign in connection with the third Government campaign for the purpose of securing contributions of bonds with which to meet the University's deficit for this year. Representative Cornellians in every center in the United States have already organized their forces to be ready when the campaign starts April 6.

$18,000 was contributed during the first Cornell Liberty Bond campaign. This was the result of a very brief preparation. Over seven thousand Cornellians made contributions at this time. These bonds as soon as received are credited to the Cornell University Alumni Fund at their face value and will be held as investments by the University. Every district has been given a quota based on the proportion of alumni and the amount of the University's deficit. A great many alumni have paid their Alumni Fund subscriptions in Liberty Bonds. The Council will be glad to receive payments of subscriptions in this form at anytime.

Two of the men, Bullock and Fuchs, are just leaving with the 503d Aero Construction Squadron for Morrison, Virginia. The Dangers of Cayuga Lake University Distributes Sign Warning Students Against the Dangers of Canoeing

The dangers of Cayuga Lake are no new theme. Too often in the past has oral warning of those dangers fallen on deaf ears; and the number of drownings seems not, in a changing body of students, to have taught the lesson that a stable body of residents long ago learned. During the past thirteen years, there have been, among members of the University community, thirteen fatalities: in 1905, two; in 1908, one; in 1909, two; in 1913, one; in 1914, four; in 1916, two; in 1917, one. Moreover, the records, kept by Professor Hammond, secretary of the University Faculty, show that in every case the persons drowned went out on the lake in rented canoes.

Now the University proposes that no one shall be unaware of the dangers of canoeing, uncautioned against the treachery of the lake. By order of the President a warning printed in broadside, large black type within a red border, is to be placed conspicuously and permanently in every University building; it is hoped also in every fraternity house. The text of this most important message to students, written by Woodford Patterson '95, secretary of the University, is given below:

WARNING TO STUDENTS

Many lives have been lost by drowning in Cayuga Lake. This lake is an especially dangerous body of water, for these two reasons:

1. The water is very cold throughout the year.
2. Squalls strike the lake without any warning.

During March, April, May, and June, and in the autumn, the temperature of the surface water of Cayuga Lake seldom rises above 50 degrees Fahrenheit. Most of that time it is within 15 degrees of the freezing point. Immersed in such cold water the body becomes numb and helpless in a few moments. The coldness of the water is caused by the great depth of the lake—more than 400 feet. The lake's superficial area is so small in proportion to its volume that the water draws little heat from the sun. Only in midsummer, and then only on the surface, is the water tempered by the sun. Even then, after a south wind has blown the warmed upper layer from this end of the lake, there are days when the water here is too cold for a swimmer.

The danger of squalls and sudden shifts of wind is present all summer long. The lake is narrow and its banks are high and steep. Often, for that reason, it fails to give warning of a coming squall. Gusts heavy enough to capsize a sailboat or a canoe strike the water before even a cat's-paw has ruffled the surface.

Students who use boats on the lake should be on their guard against its dangers. When the surface water is cold, any boating thereon is risky. The rowboat and the motorboat, for small craft, are comparatively safe. In summer the sailboat, if skillfully handled, is safe provided certain special precautions be taken. The crew of a sailboat should include at least three persons well practiced in sailing—one to man the tiller and the others to tend the ropes. If the weather be rough or threatening, the mainsail should be reefed or double-reefed before the boat leaves her mooring. Neither the mainsheet nor the jibsheet should ever be made fast. There is always danger of jibing, and the crew should be always ready to bring the boat into the wind.

The canoe is too easily swamped to be safe on water so deep, so treacherous, and so cold as this lake. Its use here by students has cost many lives. Only near the shore, only when the water is warm, and only by a good swimmer can a canoe be used without excessive risk. Students weather-wise on other lakes have met with fatal mishaps on Cayuga Lake. Few other lakes have its peculiar dangers—sudden squalls and numbing cold.

SALARY INCREASE AT CALIFORNIA

President Benjamin Ide Wheeler of the University of California has again asked for an increase in salaries for members of the California faculty. A year ago men of the grade of instructor and assistant professor received an increase of ten per cent. A member of the California department of economics has found that the cost of living in the Berkeley region advanced 32.7 per cent in the twelvemonth ending in December last.

THE ANNUALS BOARD has elected A. E. Fischer as editor-in-chief, C. W. Cahoon, jr., business manager, and A. E. Middlehurst, art editor. Two assistant business managers were elected, M. K. Bailey and A. S. Collins. B. S. Hubbell, jr., is managing editor, E. W. Taylor, senior associate, and Mary A. Conroy, women's editor. All are members of the class of 1919.

WOMEN TO AID PARIS BUREAU

The Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs is undertaking a campaign among the women's clubs to secure funds for war relief. A subscription form is being sent to the various clubs for distribution among its members and it is hoped a large sum will be received in this way. A quarter of the funds received will be turned over to the American University Union for the Cornell Bureau; the remainder will be given to the Red Cross for ambulances or nurses. Every Cornell woman is urged to consider this pledge very carefully and contribute generously in support of this movement. The request and pledge follow:

"The Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs, after careful consideration has decided that, as so many Cornell men have offered their lives for their country, the women as a unit should enlist in war service, and sends this appeal to you for funds for that purpose: Please sign and return the accompanying pledge giving liberally for your country and the honor of Cornell.

SUBSCRIPTION FORM

I hereby pledge to the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs $. toward a Cornell Women's War Fund, three-fourths of which shall be given to the American Red Cross (for ambulances or nurses) and one-fourth to the American University Union in Paris for the Cornell Bureau. Payable on or before June 1, 1918."

ATHLETICS

Track

Although the complete schedule of the Cornell track team has not been submitted for ratification, two engagements have become known. Cornell will meet the team of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology on Schoellkopf Field on Saturday, May 4, in what will probably be the only home dual meet of the season. The track team will also be represented at the annual relay carnival of the University of Pennsylvania, which will be run off Friday and Saturday, April 26 and 27, at Franklin Field.

The meet with M. I. T. is a welcome novelty on Cornell track schedules. According to competent critics, Jack Moakley among them, the engineers have perhaps the best all-around track team in the East, as they have lost fewer men of ability than most of their rivals. They won the last New England intercollegiate cross country and track championships.

With the announcement that this meet had been scheduled came the news that Cornell would not meet Pennsylvania in a dual track meet this spring. The meet with Penn has been an annual fixture of the Cornell program for a number of years. It has been the practice to make it a home and home affair, Cornell going to Franklin Field one year and the Quakers coming to Ithaca the next. The last meet was run off in Philadelphia in May 1916, and under the terms of the engagement existing between the two managements, Penn should have come here this year, as no contest was held in 1917. The Cornell management, however, has received word that Penn will not send a team to Ithaca this year, it being said that the state of the Athletic Association's finances would not permit the team to make the trip.

Outdoor practice for the track squad has begun on Schoellkopf Field, the runners using the cinder track for the first time on Saturday. On account of the fact that at present all freshmen and sophomores are drilling all day Saturdays now, the customary weekly meets are temporarily abandoned. After April 13, the last drill Saturday, the full squad will be out again on Saturdays and weekly competition will be resumed.

The immediate goal of the track squad now is the Pennsylvania Relay Carnival in which Cornell will be represented by a medley relay team, a four-mile relay team, several individual entries, and possibly a one-mile relay team. The medley relay team which captured the A. A. U. indoor championship in New York City recently will endeavor to win the outdoor championship. This team will probably be the same as that which ran in New York City: Cleminshaw, Smith, Mayer, and Dresser.

Rowing

Confirmation of the crew race between Princeton and Cornell came this week in the publication by the Tigers' management of their rowing schedule for 1918. This shows that the Cornell varsity and freshman eights are to row the Princeton varsity and freshman crews on Carnegie Lake May 25. The varsity race is to be a triangular affair if the plans of the Princeton management are successful. An invitation has been extended to Yale to enter a crew in this race.

It will be recalled that for several years Cornell, Princeton, and Yale have met in a triangular regatta, the last one to be rowed having taken place on Cayuga Lake in May 1916.

Baseball

Baseball practice continued out of doors this week, the squad expecting to start daily workouts on Percy Field on Wednesday. The baseball squad for the balance of the season has been selected by Dr. Sharpe, who also has made up his mind about most of the selections for the varsity team. The season will open one week from Saturday with Lafayette as the opposing nine.

The pitching staff this year will be chosen from Brookmire, Needle, Malcolm, Scutt, Holbrook, Rees, and Stockett, the latter the only left-hander of the outfit. Besides Brookmire, Malcolm and Needle have been showing the most promise. J. Minier seems to be the choice for catcher, while Ensworth at first base, Kendall at second, Howard at short stop, and Bonagura at third base constitute the infield that seems to have the preference. There is a chance that Kendall may be shifted to the outfield, with Murphy coming into second, but this change, if it is made at all, is not to come until the other combination is tried out.

In the outfield Dr. Sharpe will probably use two sets of men; it depends on whether the team happens to be opposed by right, or left-handed pitchers. The outfielders include Wagner, Cross, Corwin, Muller, Whitmore, Lalley, and Stewart.

Elections to the senior societies were made a month earlier than usual because of the early close of the term this year, and bids were extended by agreement on Tuesday morning, April 2. LITERARY REVIEW

Life in Camp and Hospital

Out There. By Charles W. Whitehair. New York. D. Appleton and Company. 1918. 8vo, pp. 249. 17 illustrations. Price, $1.50, net.

In his work as a speaker and Y. M. C. A. man Mr. Whitehair, who is secretary of the C. U. C. A. on leave, has had unusual opportunities. He has visited the trenches, the hospitals, the training camps, the prison camps, and even the battle line itself. He has met and lived with men of every nationality among the Allies. In this volume he gives a series of pictures of the life he has seen, in the Egyptian desert, in the British camps, in the hospitals and on the battlefields of France. There is no very evident order of procedure, except in the first three chapters, which describe the process of going over the top and coming back again; there is no particular unity in the several chapters except in that they all tell more or less about Y. M. C. A. work; and there are some slight errors of fact, apparently due to haste in putting out the book. The illustrations are partly from photographs, partly from sketches by W. Cecil Dunford; and the latter are disappointing. When all these structures have been made, however, it remains to be said that the narrative is lively and interesting and the pictures of camp and hospital are vividly presented. There is naturally much about the great organization which the author represents, and the reader forms a very favorable impression of the efficient work of the Y. M. C. A. and is more than ever convinced of the necessity of giving this work the strongest kind of support; for the influence of this work upon the morale of our armies is immense.

Books and Magazine Articles

Writing on research in America in Science for March 29, Professor George Sarton of Harvard says: "The reader should not be left under the impression that no real research work has been undertaken in this country. It will be enough to remind him of the two beautiful studies contained in the eleventh volume of the Humanistic Series of the University of Michigan. The first is an admirable edition of Robert of Chester's Latin translation of the 'Algebra' of St. Khwarizmi, with an introduction, translation, and notes by Ch. L. Karpinski [1915]. The second, an English version of Nicolaus Steno's 'Prodromus,' with notes by J. G. Winter in 1916."

Professor Boyd H. Bode, Ph.D. '00, of the University of Illinois, writing in The Journal of Philosophy, Psychology, and Scientific Methods for March 28, discusses the question, "Why do Philosophical Problems Persist?" He concludes that "the need of reconstruction from which philosophy is born is precisely the need to escape from the obsessions of the past and thus to liberate intelligence for the tasks of the present. Philosophic reflection means an unlimbering of our intellectual resources, an emancipation from the effects of mental habits and predispositions, in so far as these constitute obstructions to a more effectual mode of dealing with present times and circumstances; and the 'persistent problems of philosophy,' accordingly, demand a solution, not in terms of 'absolute reason,' but rather in terms of the successive situations which give to each solution whatever value it may possess as a contribution to human progress." In the same number "The Fundamentals of Psychology" by Professor W. B. Pillsbury, Ph.D. '96 (Macmillan), is revised by Professor Margaret F. Washburn, Ph.D. '94, of Vassar College.

In The Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science for March, the posthumous "Trade Unionism in the United States" (Appleton) of the late Professor Robert F. Hoxie '92, of the University of Chicago, is briefly reviewed by Professor George M. Jones, of the University of North Dakota, who finds the book "a distinct contribution to the literature of labor problems." In the same number "Social Insurance: an Economic Analysis," by Robert M. Woodbury, Ph.D. '15 (Holt), is reviewed by Bruce D. Mudgett of the University of Washington, who thinks it valuable, but somewhat belated. Professor Robert C. Brooks, Ph.D. '03, of Swarthmore College, reviews David D. Wallace's "The Government of England: National, Local, and Imperial" (Putnam).

Professor William K. Wright, of Dartmouth College, formerly of Cornell, contributes to the March Philosophical Review an article on "The Relation of the Psychology of Religion to the Philosophy of Religion." Professor Frank Thilly is the author of two reviews: of F. Sartiaux's "Morale Kantienne et Morale Humaine" (Paris, Hachette) and of "Leibniz," by Clodius Piat (Paris, Alcan). Professor Margaret F. Washburn, Ph.D. '94, of Vassar College, contributes a review of Ellwood's "Introduction to Social Psychology." Professor George H. Sabine '03, of the University of Missouri, reviews Charles A. Mercier's "On Causation, with a Chapter on Belief" (Longmans).

In Modern Philology for March Professor Ray P. Bowen, Ph.D. '16, of Syracuse University, writes on "The Peasant Language in Ferdinand Fabre's Le Chevrier." The "Catalogue of the Petrarch Collection" by Miss Mary Fowler '82 is reviewed by Professor McKenzie, of the University of Illinois, who speaks of it as "the most important Petrarch bibliography in existence."

The American Journal of Botany for January, delayed in transit, contains a study of "The Development of Some Exogenous Species of Agarics" by Gertrude E. Douglas, A.M. '07. Seven plates accompany the article.

In The Journal of the American Institute of Architects for February, lately out, Frederick L. Ackerman '01 writes a trenchant review of "Housing Conditions in the City of St. Paul" by Carol Aro-novici '05. His only complaint is that the author does not plead vigorously enough for "constructive legislature enactments which will stimulate better building." The report is published by the Amherst H. Wilder Charity, St. Paul, and includes an exhaustive analysis of building laws in America.

The American Historical Review for January, which has just appeared, contains a brief review by Professor Burr of Dorothy Stimson's "The Gradual Acceptance of the Copernican Theory of the Universe" (Baker and Taylor). Professor Carl Becker is one of the editors of the magazine.

Economic Geology for March includes an article entitled "Further Remarks on the Ores of Engels, California" by Louis C. Graton '00 and D. H. McLaughlin. Professor James F. Kemp, formerly of Cornell, reviews "The Gold Deposits of the Rand" by C. Boring Horwood.

The Yale Law Journal for February includes an article on "The Renvoi Doctrine in the Conflict of Laws" by Professor Ernest G. Lorenzen '98, of the Yale School of Law.

The California Alumni Quarterly for March is a handsome illustrated souvenir number commemorating the semi-centenary of the University. One of the illustrations is a bust of President Wheeler modeled from life by William W. Manatt. Professor Henry Morse Stephens contributes an article on "Dramatic Activities in the University."

BUY LIBERTY BONDS

The Third Liberty Loan campaign brings to every citizen of the Republic a privilege and a challenge. It is the privilege of becoming a silent partner with Uncle Sam in the finest job that mortal man ever had or ever will have to do—to help rid the world of injustice, tyranny, brutality. If ever there was a war of righteousness against iniquity, of manhood against meanness, of honor against lust and crime, this is it. Whether we go to the front or only eat rye bread at home, we can all make arrangements to look posterity in the eye and say, "I helped." Between the Thrift Stamps and the three billions of the Third Loan there is a range to suit everybody's purse.

But here is also a challenge. You are patriotic? Granted. You wish to show your confidence in the integrity of our principles in the war? Yes. Then the question naturally rises, how patriotic are you? How sure are you about democracy? How much do you hate the Hohenzollern system? Show it in your bond subscription. This may be the last loan needed; let us hope so; but whether you expect it to be or not, drop into it every dollar you can honestly get your hands on. See to it, so far as you are able, that the soldiers and sailors have everything they need in equipment and comforts.

LIBERTY BONDS FOR CORNELL

Because of conditions caused by the war, Cornell is facing a large deficit. Last spring forty per cent of the students enlisted in some form of government service. Of the class of 1918, whose total registration is 1,600, there are now 498 in the University. Nearly one-third of the regular enrollment did not return in the fall. Since then more than six hundred have left college to enter the service.

Because of the inevitable deficit thus caused, President Schurman has appealed to every department to reduce its expenses to the lowest possible figure. As a result some departments are even doing their own janitor work.

Cornell, then, has a right to ask of her alumni that they shall rally to her support in this great crisis. She is giving her best, freely, and gladly, for the service of the Republic. She needs the support, moral and financial, of every Cornellian.

On the financial side it is easy to do your duty to the Flag and to Cornell: subscribe for the largest Liberty Bond you are able to donate to Cornell.

Cornell backs Uncle Sam; stand back of Cornell.

OBITUARY

Clarence B. Lamont '00

Clarence Booth Lamont, M.E., died at his home in Seattle, Wash., on March 22, of pneumonia, at the age of forty-one. While in college he became a member of Phi Gamma Delta and of the Masque. After graduation he was connected for a time with the Union Iron Works of San Francisco. For many years he was assistant to the president of the Seattle Construction and Drydock Company and consulting engineer for the White Pass and Yukon Railway; and he superintended many engineering enterprises in Seattle, Portland, and Spokane, becoming one of the leading structural engineers and inventors of the West. In 1907 he married Miss Maude Hahn, of Portland, who with two sons survives him.

Lamont was a captain in the National Guard, but on account of ill health had been unable to go to France.

Frank P. Deane '08

Frank Putnam Deane, C.E., died of pneumonia at his home, 564 Lafayette Avenue, Buffalo, on February 6, at the age of thirty-three. He had been ill six weeks and was improving, but had a bad attack of acute dilatation of the heart and died suddenly. He was a graduate of the Fredonia Normal School. In the University he was a member of Phi Gamma Delta and Sphinx Head, manager of basketball, treasurer of the Intercollegiate Basketball Association, an editor of the Class Book, The Cornellian, and The Cornell Civil Engineer. He is survived by his widow, who was Miss Bertha Gager, and by two children, Bertha and Frank Putnam, jr.

Philip C. Starr '13

Philip Comfort Starr, who spent a year here with the class of 1913 in the course in mechanical engineering, was killed in action while fighting in the British army in Flanders, on February 20. He registered from Kenilworth, Illinois. While here he became a member of Sigma Phi. In 1910 he entered Harvard with the class of 1914, winning distinction both in his university work and in athletics, particularly football. He enlisted in Canada in 1915, obtaining a commission at Kingston, and on reaching England was transferred to the 154th Company, Royal Engineers.

Robert D. Garwood

Robert Daniel Garwood, in 1916-17 a graduate student and assistant in American history, was instantly killed at Fort Worth, Texas, on March 29. While he was doing a tail spin his plane crashed to the ground. He was born on March 19, 1895 and was a graduate (Ph.B) of Alfred University; his home was in Canaseraga, N. Y. He left Cornell last May to enter the transatlantic service and was on the torpedoed freighter Verdi. He afterward joined the Royal Flying Corps and went to Fort Worth for practice.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATIONS

TWO SECRETARIES IN SERVICE

Two more secretaries of alumni clubs have gone into the Army. Max H. Thurnauer, of the Southern Ohio club, is in a training camp, and Leslie H. Groser, of the Cornell Lawyers' Association, is with the American Expeditionary Forces. Tell S. Berna, of the Cutler-Hammer Manufacturing Company, succeeds Thurnauer, and John T. McGovern, 141 Broadway, New York, is Groser's successor as acting secretary of the lawyers.

CHICAGO LUNCHEON

At the weekly luncheon of the Chicago association on March 28, John Edgar Freeman spoke on "Concrete Ships" and illustrated the talk with motion pictures of the launching of the concrete ship Faith on the Pacific coast.

LAST CLEVELAND LUNCHEON

With the luncheon of March 28, the Cornell Club of Cleveland suspended its luncheon program until fall. The speaker at this luncheon was President Charles S. Howe, of the Case School of Applied Sciences, who spoke on "The Colleges and the War." Charles W. Wason '76, the club's military secretary, reported that since his appointment in September he had written 463 letters to the 49 members of the club who are in the service. We are just beginning to recognize this realm through the medium of scientific discovery. All the great philosophers and religious teachers of the ages have maintained that it exists. WHICH!—A KNIFE OR A PENCIL SHARPENER

A person spending money on a knife will spend on the average a dollar. Many will spend more. It is only in comparatively recent times that you could obtain a good pencil sharpener at this price. The principle of this cutter is the same as that of the seven and a half dollar sharpener. We have been selling them for over a year and find them entirely satisfactory. If your dealer does not have them send to the Co-op. You will remember that you obtained good service when you were in Ithaca.

WHY DO WE ADVERTISE IN THE ALUMNI NEWS?

1. It isn't merely because we are fond of Tubby Sailor or of Harry Stutz, or others.
2. It isn't merely because we think the Cornell Alumni News the best edited of the College Alumni publications.

TAKING YOU INTO OUR CONFIDENCE WE DO NOT MIND SAYING THAT WE THINK

- (a) That the readers of this publication are, as a class unusually progressive and desirous of knowing about the things that will bring joy into their lives and will increase the productivity of themselves and their firms; and
- (b) That a series of advertisements, of our unique and meritorious typewriter, addressed to them will result in
 1. Many inquiries for further information (note coupon in the corner): and
 2. Many more distinguished and satisfied users of the Hammond typewriters.(Tubby says he feels sure of it; as for us, we await with interest the result)
