What is the Bell System ?

The Bell System is wires and cables and laboratories and manufacturing plants and local operating companies and millions of telephones in every part of the country.

The Bell System is people . . . hundreds of thousands of employees and more than a million and a half men and women who have invested their savings in the business.

It is more than that. The Bell System is an idea.

It is an idea that starts with the policy of providing the best possible telephone service at the lowest possible price.

But desire is not enough. Bright dreams and high hopes need to be brought to earth and made to work.

You could have all the equipment and still not have the service you know today.

You could have all the separate parts of the Bell System and not have the benefits of all those parts fitted together in a nationwide whole.

The thing that makes it work so well in your behalf is the way the Bell System is set up to do the job.

No matter whether it is some simple matter of everyday operation—or the great skills necessary to invent the Transistor or develop underseas telephone cables to distant countries—the Bell System has the experience and organization to get it done.

And an attitude and spirit of service that our customers have come to know as a most important part of the Bell System idea.

It's time to stop this nonsense

From every college in the nation comes the warning, "We're losing good professors faster than we can find them, yet our classrooms are growing more crowded each year. What will be the effect on our country, and on its citizens, if this trend continues?"

The warning has sound basis. Low salaries—characteristic in teaching—are driving gifted instructors and professors into other fields, and are discouraging promising young people from taking up academic careers. Classrooms and laboratories are overflowing now with students, and yet applications are expected to double in the next 10 years.

It's amazing that a nation such as ours, strengthened and enriched by our institutions of higher learning, should allow anything to threaten these wellsprings of our progress.

It's time to stop this nonsense.

In a very real sense, our personal and national well-being depends on the quality of learning nourished and transmitted by our colleges and universities. They need the help of all who love freedom, all who hope for our continued advancement in science, in statesmanship, in the better things of life. And they need it now!

I was chatting with the postman who delivers my mail. He remarked that two families on his route who get The Wall Street Journal had recently moved into bigger houses.

This started me thinking. I had heard that The Wall Street Journal helps people get ahead. "Is it really true?" I asked myself. "Can a newspaper help a man earn more money?"

Well, to make a long story short, I tried it and IT DID. Within a year I added $2,000 to my income.

This story is typical. The Journal is a wonderful aid to men making $7,000 to $20,000 a year. It is valuable to the owner of a small business. It can be of priceless benefit to young men.

MARCH 1, 1958

Celebration Honors L. H. Bailey New Stamp to Mark 100th Birthday

CENTENNIAL of the birthday of Liberty Hyde Bailey, former Dean of Agriculture and world-famous plantsman, will be celebrated with a day-long program at the University, March 14, and the first commemorative stamp to have its initial issue in Ithaca.

The Bailey Hortorium that Professor Bailey founded and gave to the University has arranged a program devoted to Bailey's great contributions to gardening and horticulture. In sessions in Statler Hall, Bailey's colleagues, former students, and horticultural and gardening leaders of the country will consider the various facets of his life and work. These speakers will include Dean William I. Myers '14 of the College of Agriculture, Professors Lewis Knudson, PhD '11, Botany, Emeritus; George H. M. Lawrence, PhD '39, Director of the Hortorium; Olaf F. Larson, Rural Sociology; and E. Laurence Palmer '11, Rural Education, Emeritus; Professor Harold B. Tukey, Grad '22-'23, of Michigan State University; Albert J. Irving, president of the American Horticultural Council; Mrs. Daniel J. Mooney, president, National Council of State Garden Clubs; Mrs. Dunham C. Jones, president, Federated Garden Clubs of New York State; Raymond C. Allen, PhD '38, president, Men's Garden Clubs of America; George M. Darrow, MA '11, retired horticulturist of the US Department of Agriculture; Philip A. Munz, PhD '17, director of Rancho Santa Ana Botanical Garden, Claremont, Cal.; Carol H. Woodward, editor of outdoor books, The Macmillan Co.

At a closing dinner in Statler Hall ballroom, Harold R. Fletcher, head of the Royal Botanic Garden in Edinburgh, will speak on "Horticultural Progress During Liberty Hyde Bailey's Lifetime" and Professor Curtis C. Page of Drake University, who is Bailey's grandson-in-law and co-author with Professor Lawrence of a forthcoming biography of Bailey, will speak on "Liberty Hyde Bailey, the Humanist." A founder's plaque of the Bailey Memorial Fund that is being raised for support of the Hortorium will be unveiled by H. W. Peters '14 and Mrs. Lewis M. Hull, past-president of the American Horticultural Council and the National Council of State Garden Clubs.

At this dinner, too, US Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield will present the commemorative stamp honoring American gardening and horticulture. This three-cent stamp, designed by Denver Gillen, will have its first sale at the Ithaca post office, March 15. It was authorized after petitions from some fourteen agricultural, horticultural, and botanical organizations with about 3,000,000 members. An official cachet for first-day covers has Professor Bailey's portrait and the seals of the sponsoring organizations, American Horticultural Council, National Council of State Garden Clubs, and Bailey Hortorium. Collectors may obtain first-day covers of this cachet at 25 cents each, five for $1, by sending payment with names and addresses of recipients to the Hobby Den, 306 East State Street, Ithaca. First-day cancellations of the stamp may also be obtained if addressed envelopes are mailed with money orders for cost of the stamps to the Postmaster at Ithaca, the enclosing envelope marked "First day covers, horticultural stamp."

Professor Bailey died December 25, 1954, about three months before his ninety-seventh birthday, March 15. A teacher at Cornell from 1888 until he retired as Dean of Agriculture in 1913, he founded the Hortorium and gave it to the University in 1935 and was its Director until 1952. He wrote seventy-five books and edited many more and made 128 scientific expeditions, the last in search of palms in the Amazon region of Brazil when he was ninety-one. To endow expanded work of the Hortorium, the Liberty Hyde Bailey Memorial Fund was started in 1956 with a goal of $500,000. It has the support of national gardening, horticultural, and seed and nursery trade organizations with a campaign committee headed by Professor Knudson and Director Lawrence and with representatives of the several organizations. Names of those who have given $500 or more to the Fund will be on the founders plaque unveiled March 14.

Flower Shows To Honor Bailey

First day of the International Flower Show in New York City, March 9, will be dedicated to Professor Bailey and to his colleague and friend, the late David

L. H. Bailey Cachet—This design is the official cachet for first-day cover envelopes for the Gardening & Horticulture commemorative three-cent stamp that will be issued in Ithaca March 15, the 100th birthday of the late Professor Liberty Hyde Bailey. It has seals of the sponsoring organizations, American Horticultural Council, National Council of State Garden Clubs, and the Bailey Hortorium at Cornell.

Fairchild, who was a plant explorer for the US Department of Agriculture. Special attention will be given to the many plants and flowers that these two men made familiar to American gardens. Executive director of the New York Flower Show is Richard B. Farnham '23.

Spring flower show of the Michigan Horticultural Society in Detroit, March 22-30, will have exhibits of flower arrangements to typify the theme, "The Bailey Legacy." Each of four days is designated for a period of Professor Bailey's life and horticultural work and the medals he received will be displayed. Mrs. Isabel Schnapper Zucker '26, garden editor of the Detroit Times, is one of the horticultural advisors to the women's exhibition committee for the show.

D.C. Veterinary Officers

NEW OFFICERS of the District of Columbia Veterinary Medicine Association include two graduates of the Veterinary College. Dr. Robert J. Byrne '44 of Silver Spring, Md., a member of the University of Maryland faculty, is second vice-president and Dr. William I. Gay '50 of Bethesda, Md., veterinarian at the National Institutes of Health, is secretary-treasurer. They were elected at the Association's quarterly meeting, January 21, at the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology in Washington. Guest speaker for the meeting was Dr. Benjamin F. Hoerlein, PhD '52, who is a professor in the small animal clinic at Alabama Polytechnic Institute in Auburn.

Lawyers Gather

ABOUT 325 Cornell lawyers and their guests attended a Law Association luncheon in honor of Joseph Weintraub '28, Chief Justice of the New Jersey Supreme Court, January 31, at the Hotel Commodore in New York City. It was during the annual meeting of the New York State Bar Association. Speakers were Justice Weintraub, who presented "A New Look at Legal Education," President Deane W. Malott, and Dean Gray Thoron of the Law School. Alfred M. Saperston '19, president of the Cornell Law Association, introduced the speakers. Professor W. David Curtiss '40, secretary-treasurer of the Association, was in charge of the luncheon arrangements.

The youngest member of the New Jersey Supreme Court, Justice Weintraub was an Associate Justice of the Court before his appointment as Chief Justice, last August. He is a former Judge of the New Jersey Superior Court, has served as Governor Robert B. Meyner's personal counsel, and has represented New Jersey on the Waterfront Commission of New York Harbor. He received the AB at Cornell in 1928 and the LLB with honors in 1930; was editor-in-chief of the Law Quarterly and is a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

Two To Go As Presidents

TWO MEMBERS of the University will leave to become college presidents, July 1, it was announced in February. Professor Lloyd H. Elliott, Educational Administration and executive assistant to President Malott, will head the University of Maine in Orono and the Rev. Glenn A. Olds, Director of Cornell United Religious Work since 1954, will become president of Springfield (Mass.) College.

Professor Elliott came to the University in 1948 as assistant professor in Secondary Education. He was appointed associate professor in 1950, Director of the Summer Session in 1953, and professor of Educational Administration in 1954. In 1955, he became assistant to the Provost and also acting Director of the School of Education. Since 1956, he has been executive assistant to the President. His responsibilities have included work with student affairs and coordinating for the President the work of other administrative officers of the University.

He received the AB in 1937 at Glenville (W.Va.) State College, MA in 1939 at West Virginia University, and EdD in 1948 at University of Colorado. He taught and was principal of schools in Widen, W.Va. and, after war service as a lieutenant commander, USNR, became in 1947 assistant superintendent of schools in Boulder, Colo. He was a consultant on curriculum for the US Air Force Special Staff School at Craig AFB, Ala., and for a survey of public education undertaken in 1950-51 by the North Carolina Education Department.

An ordained Methodist minister, Director Olds came to Cornell from University of Denver, where he was for three years chaplain and professor of religion. He is a graduate of Willamette and received the BD at Garrett Theological Seminary, MA at Northwestern, and PhD in philosophy at Yale. To supplement scholarships and fellowships, he worked at sawmilling, truck driving and professional boxing. Before joining the University of Denver faculty in 1951, he taught philosophy and religion at Yale, DePauw, Garrett, and Northwestern and spent a year doing research in psychology at Oregon State Mental Hospital. In 1950, he was a member of the American Seminar to Europe under Sherwood Eddy and last summer he was director of the Seminar on its six-week tour through the Soviet Union. He is the author of The Christian Corrective to Campus Confusion, and has been a frequent speaker at educational institutions.

Since Olds became Director, CURW activities have expanded, both in bringing speakers to the University and such student programs as the Campus Conference on Religion and Lenten services in Sage Chapel. Last year, CURW was brought more closely within the University organization when the Trustees authorized an administrative council for the CURW program and operation of Anabel Taylor Hall.

Cos Club To Become Church

COSMOPOLITAN HOUSE at 301 Bryant Avenue, headquarters of the Cosmopolitan Club and foreign student work at the University from 1911-54, was sold last month to the Greek Orthodox Church. The Church, which hopes to begin holding services there in May or June, will use only two floors of the building, converting the main floor for services and the basement for social rooms. There is not now a Greek Orthodox Church building in Ithaca.

This is the second time in the last four years that the building has been sold. In 1954, it was bought by Samuel Kuntz and Robert Hamble from the International Association, Inc. of Ithaca, made up of interested members of the Faculty and local community. The House was built by the Club in 1910-11, when there was no student union and when student social life was largely centered in fraternities and a few other groups with houses. Money for its construction was raised by sale of bonds to students, Faculty, and townspeople. It was probably the first international house in the United States.

Almost from the start, the Club encountered serious financial difficulties. In 1921, Mrs. Willard Straight came to its rescue and the Club and building were rehabilitated under leadership of the Club's president, Leonard K. Elmhirst '21, who later married Mrs.

Straight. Another financial low point occurred in 1933 and the Club conveyed the building to the International Association. During World War II, the University subsidized it and the Department of Residential Halls began to operate the building. After the war, however, the house was closed when new centers of student activity such as Anabel Taylor Hall were established and as a more international consciousness and attitude developed among students.

Midwest Alumni Discuss University

ALUMNI from Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Missouri, and Indiana gathered at the Drake Hotel in Chicago, February 1, for an all-day meeting devoted to various aspects of University-alumni relations.

Vice-president James L. Zwingle, PhD '42, presided at the opening session at 9:30, and outlined "Goals for the Day." He spoke of the crisis confronting American higher education from increased numbers of prospective students as a happy one. He said, however, that it presents real problems as well as opportunities to universities and colleges and that the problems will not be solved by an attitude of complacency. They require self-analysis by all concerned. Following the general session were two discussion groups. Secondary school activities and the problem of interesting top quality students in Cornell were taken up at one seminar, with Peter M. Wolff '42 and Robert W. Storandt '40, Associate Director of Admissions, the chairmen. Another group, with George D. Hardin '13 and William V. Nixon, Director of University Development, chairmen, discussed alumni giving.

Wilson Describes Nuclear Studies

At luncheon, Director Robert R. Wilson of the Laboratory of Nuclear Studies traced some recent developments in nuclear research and spoke of the high level of instruction in this field that Cornell provides for both undergraduates and graduate students. "What has nuclear science got to do with education," he said. "We at Cornell have a two-fold interest in it: teaching and research. We can do research at the national laboratories, but we cannot teach there. The pay-off is the student. It was said that the battles of Britain are won on the playing fields of Eton. In the cold war, the battles are being won in the college laboratories. This country, today, is as strong, technologically, as it needs to be. You can be proud of Cornell; we are big league." Professor Wilson was introduced by Christopher W. Wilson, Jr. '31 and John F. P. Farrar '25 presided.

The afternoon was devoted to two seminars. Alumni Secretary Hunt Bradley '26 and John Mason Potter, Director of the University News Bureau, discussed Cornell Club work and public relations. David B. Hoffman '40, president of the Cornell Club of Chicago, was chairman. Bequests and corporate support was the theme of a meeting led by Vice-president Zwingle, Wilson, Benjamin H. Weisbrod '14, and Walter G. Bruska '50, Assistant to the President and Associate Director of University Development.

Guy T. Warfield, Jr. '25, chairman of the University Council, presided at a closing dinner that was attended by more than 200 persons. Professor Clinton L. Rossiter III '39, chairman of the Government Department, said that the purpose of his department is not to prepare young men and women for careers in government work, though some do enter government service, nor to help students to make a living; rather, it is intended to "help them make a life for themselves." "We hope that our students will acquire five things," he said, "knowledge, understanding, conviction, scholarly habits, and the ability to think. We do not teach them these things; we do not teach them anything. We try to provide the opportunity to learn, to make knowledge available, to stimulate interest, but it is they who must do the learning. . . . Today's undergraduate has less interest in controversy than had his predecessors; he is more interested in issues. The present generation of students is more conservative than those of the past. But this is temporary, as are all student attitudes. Their conservativeness reflects the attitude of American society in general."

Robert J. Kane '34, Director of Physical Education & Athletics, described the athletic program and said that Cornell has teams in more intercollegiate sports than any other college or university in the country. He gave examples of the many fine athletes here who had no experience before they came to the University in the sports in which they learned to excel.

This was the second regional alumni meeting to be held in Chicago. Farrar and Wilson were co-chairmen of the committee in charge of arrangements. Other members were Mrs. Bernard A. Savage (Carmen Schneider) '27; David B. Hoffman '40, president of the Cornell Club of Chicago; and Mrs. James M. Hall (Clarine Capuzzi) '48, president of the Cornell Women's Club of Chicago.

New Englanders To Meet

SOME 200 ALUMNI had indicated by mid-February that they planned to attend a regional meeting of Cornellians in Boston, March 29, and replies were still coming in.

That Saturday at the Hotel Somerset will be devoted to informing alumni of New England about the University and its plans and operations, and to getting their ideas and assistance. Starting at 10 a.m., Professor Arthur Mizener, English, will speak on the academic program of the University as it is today, and Vice-president James L. Zwingle, PhD '42, will tell of plans for the future. At luncheon, Professor J. Barkley Rosser, Mathematics, will tell of work on the ballistics of rockets and guided missiles, in which he is an authority.

In separate afternoon groups, alumni

will have opportunity to discuss secondary school activities with Robert W. Storandt '40, Associate Director of Admissions; Cornell Club programs with Alumni Secretary Hunt Bradley '26; and fund raising for the University with Walter G. Bruska '50 of the Development Office. It is expected that Louis J. Dughi '36, chairman of the national secondary school committee, William H. Harder '30, president of the Federation of Cornell Men's Clubs, and Guy T. Warfield, Jr. '25, chairman of the University Council, will be present for these meetings. After them, Robert J. Kane '34, Director of Athletics, will show a sound picture of the Varsity crew at the Henley Regatta in England last summer and speak on athletics at the University.

Dinner speaker will be President Deane W. Malott, and a concert by the Glee Club will follow. All alumni in New England and their wives and husbands are invited to attend. Reservations may be made with the chairman of the committee in charge, William H. Robertson '34, Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Co., 31 Milk Street, Boston, Mass.

Group Honors Upson '99

CORNELL ALUMNI ASSOCIATION of New York City conferred its first annual Alumni Award on Trustee Maxwell M. Upson '99 at a dinner, January 23. Among the 250 alumni gathered at the Toots Shor Restaurant were many of Upson's fellow Trustees of the University and other friends.

President Deane W. Malott presented the guest of honor with a framed certificate of award, "in recognition of distinguished service in the field of engineering and to Cornell University." Upson was cited for his service and counsel as a Trustee since 1925 and for his engineering accomplishments. He is board chairman of Raymond Concrete Pile Co.; is president of the Class of '99, and donor of Upson Hall now nearing completion for the School of Mechanical Engineering. An award will be made each year by the Association to a Cornellian of the Metropolitan area on the basis of usefulness or credit of his activities to the University.

State to Provide New Animal Husbandry Building—Architect's drawing from the office of James Cameron Mackenzie of New York City shows a four-story main structure facing Tower Road at the corner of Judd Falls Road, east of the Dairy Building on the site of the old Agriculture barns. The new Animal Husbandry Building will house the Department activities in teaching, research, and extension that have overflowed Wing Hall since it was completed in 1914. General arrangement of the building was planned by a Faculty committee headed by Professor Sedgwick E. Smith, PhD '39. It is hoped that ground may be broken this year. Cost estimate is $4,300,000.

Upson expressed his gratitude for the award and other speakers who paid tribute to him were Haig K. Shiroyan '24, Association Secretary, Director of Athletics Robert J. Kane '34, Dean S. C. Hollister of the College of Engineering, and Alumni Secretary Hunt Bradley '26. Anthony S. Gaccione '21, past-president of the Association and chairman of the award committee, presided in the absence of the president, Trustee Edwin T. Gibson '08, who was ill. Also at the speakers' table were past-president Harold Riegelman '14 and University vice-president James L. Zwingle, PhD '42. Hugh A. Chapin '47 was chairman of the committee for the annual dinner.

Faculty Members Retire

PROFESSORS Dorothy C. DeLany '23, Extension Service, and Helen P. Smith, head of Textiles & Clothing, retired from the College of Home Economics, January 1.

A native of Ithaca, Miss DeLany received the BS in 1923 and MS in 1931 at the University. She also studied at Columbia and University of Michigan. After two years as home demonstration agent in Oneida County, she returned to the University as assistant State leader of home demonstration work. She became assistant State 4-H Club leader in 1934 and three years later was appointed professor in the Extension Service. In 1945, she organized the office of Extension Studies and has developed study programs in collaboration with other members of the State Extension staff, including county agents. In recognition of her outstanding contributions to the Extension Service, she received an Award of Merit in 1953 from Epsilon Sigma Phi, Extension honor society.

From 1952-54, Miss DeLany was president of the New York State Home Economics Association and in 1954 she was chairman of State presidents in the American Home Economics Association. Since 1955, she has been a member of the women's committee of the New York State Fair. She is president of the Cornell Women's Club of Ithaca and in 1953 was chairman of the women's Thirty-year Reunion. She is a member of Alpha Xi Delta and Mortar Board.

Radio Teaching Wins Award

Mrs. Smith came to Home Economics in 1937 as an Extension specialist in clothing. She was appointed associate professor of Textiles & Clothing in 1943, head of the Department in 1951, and professor in 1953. The author of many Extension bulletins and magazine articles, Mrs. Smith started in 1945 a radio program entitled "Let's Make a Dress." Some 20,000 women throughout the State followed it to make dresses and the program won a national award for University Radio Station WHCU, where it originated, and brought Mrs. Smith a certificate of highest achievement from Epsilon Sigma Phi.

Professor Smith had been with the New Jersey Extension Service and from 1929-37, she was director of the educational and color research bureaus of Spool Cotton Co., New York City. She received the BS in home economics at Penn State in 1921 and studied also at Columbia and at art schools in Maine and North Carolina. She is the wife of Culver A. Smith '26, who was with the University Placement Office for many years.

Alumni Discuss Theatre

"CORNELL AND THE THEATRE" was the theme for the sixty-first annual luncheon of the Cornell Women's Club of New York. More than 300 guests in the grand ballroom of the Roosevelt Hotel, February 8, enjoyed an entertainingly informal discussion of experiences and observations by three Cornellians who are professionally concerned with the theatre. Warren M. Caro '27, executive director of the Theatre Guild-American Theatre Society and a member of President Eisenhower's international program, presided and talked with Douglas B. Watt '34, drama editor of the New York News, song writer, and staff member of The New Yorker; and with Dorothy Sarnoff '35, star of Broadway and television plays.

The guests were welcomed by Alice C. Sanderson '41, president of the Cornell Women's Club. Chairman of the luncheon committee was Mrs. Irving Zimmerman (Pearl Margolin) '35.

Club Officials Meet

As in former years, the New York luncheon was the occasion for meetings of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs executive committee and Club presidents. The committee met February 7 to hear reports of activities by Federation officers and delegates and from Deans Dorothy V. N. Brooks at the University in Ithaca and Virginia M. Dunbar at the Nursing School in New York. Federation president Marjory A. Rice '29 presided.

Presidents and other representatives from twenty-five Clubs in six States met with the executive committee the morning before the luncheon, February 8. There was general discussion of a proposed handbook for Club officers. The group was addressed by Miss Sanderson, president of the New York Club, and by Deans Brooks and Dunbar; Mrs. Thomas T. Mackie (Helen Holme) '29, Alumni Trustee of the University; Marion Quell '26, chairman of the Alumni Association committee on Alumni Trustee nominations; Mrs. James H. Zimmer (Orpha Spicer) '27, member of the University Council administrative board; and Alumnae Secretary Pauline J. Schmid '25.

Winter Remembrance

BELOW-ZERO GOLD in Ithaca in February recalls an escapade of forty-six years ago when five Cornellians skated the forty-mile length of Cayuga Lake. February 16, 1912, after finals, Trustee Floyd R. Newman '12, Professor George I. Dale '10 (then instructor in Romance Languages), Dr. Leon E. DeYoe '12, George W. Kuchler, Jr. '12, and another student made the memorable trek. Newman wrote the story to the late Romeyn Berry '04 a year ago, after Berry had recounted his own experience of starting to skate the length of the Lake in 1904 and going ashore midway, panic-stricken by thin ice. Of the 1912 exploit Newman wrote:

"There was no wind and the glass-like surface stretched out for miles ahead of us. It was mid-afternoon and we started north. Every stroke was a thrilling experience. In no time at all, so it seemed, we were opposite Crowbar Point. When we started, we had no plans as to how far or how long we would skate, but the conditions were so ideal and so little effort was required that before we knew it we were halfway to the north end of the Lake. We passed Sheldrake in the distance on the west shore and next we whizzed by Aurora. We realized then that night would soon be on us, and we prudently determined not to return on the ice after dark; but how we would get back to Ithaca was of no import then. We passed Union Springs and finally we reached Cayuga; and upon making inquiry regarding trains, we found to our great satisfaction that a south-bound local was due in another hour or so."

This journey followed an episode two days earlier when Newman and his room-mates at the Bandhu House, Henry A. Fruauff '12 and Robert V. Proctor '13, had a narrow escape on the ice. Not far from Renwick Park they came to thin, black new ice that sagged and cracked under their weight, but they dared neither stop nor turn back. About three miles down the Lake, they finally got to the east shore, "where we embraced each other and offered a prayer of thanks that our lives had been spared," Newman said.

"I'm afraid, sir, that offhand I can't say whether or not they're biting at Cayuga Lake"—Jack Tyrrell's cartoon reproduced from Outdoor Life, January, 1958.

Two days after the later group's successful trip, Terry A. Converse '13 and Charles W. Getman '13 were drowned when they broke through the ice near King Ferry and Rodney E. Newman '12 nearly lost his life.

For Insect Studies

NEW $15,000 insecticide laboratory for the College of Agriculture was dedicated, January 15, to the late Professor William E. Blauvelt '25, Entomology, who died February 2, 1953. At ceremonies during a meeting of the State Flower Growers' Association on the Campus, about 150 persons heard Research Director Charles E. Palm, PhD '35, speak of Professor Blauvelt's work, and Dan Fredericks, president of the Flower Growers' Association, speak for the florist industry, which raised $5000 toward the new laboratory through a special memorial fund. A plaque naming the building was unveiled by Professor Blauvelt's widow, the former Helen Hayden '30. Professor Blauvelt's later work was principally on control of insects that attack florist crops.

Erected at the northeast corner of Judd Falls and Tower Roads, the Blauvelt Laboratory has four rooms and two small adjoining greenhouses. Two of the rooms are air conditioned and held at a temperature of 80 degrees Fahrenheit for raising insects and mites. Professor John A. Naegele '49, who is now in charge of the Entomology Department's florist pest control program, says the Laboratory's first major job will be to find a control for the spider mite, which is resistant to most insecticides. This tiny, red spider, smaller than a pinhead and barely visible to the naked eye, costs flower growers thousands of dollars every year.

Gift for Medical Studies

ANNE PARRISH, novelist, who died last September, left $10,000,000 to The New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center, to be used for study and treatment of mental and emotional disorders. Her will provided the bequest for study of causes, prevention, and cure of such disorders, for the care of persons afflicted with them, and for the education and training of neurologists, psychiatrists, and other workers in this field. The fund was left to The New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center Foundation, Inc., which was established in 1956 to facilitate administration of bequests and grants for work to be carried on jointly in The New York Hospital and Cornell Medical College and School of Nursing.

Miss Parrish was the author of more than twenty novels, some of which were made into motion pictures. She was the widow of Charles A. Corliss, president of Lamont, Corliss & Co., who died in 1936, and of Josiah Titzell, who died in 1943. She lived in Georgetown, Conn. and died at the age of sixty-eight. She had been treated by doctors of The New York Hospital and Cornell Medical College staff. Her attorney, who drew her will, was Henry G. Seipp '11, member of the New York City law firm of Sheppard & Seipp.

GE Missile Engineers

NINE ALUMNI of the Engineering College are working at General Electric Co. on one of the country's most crucial defense projects, development of the nose cone for the Atlas intercontinental and Thor intermediate range ballistic missiles. The nose cone houses the warhead and control system and must remain functional and intact as it re-enters the earth's dense atmosphere.

Working on the project as engineers with General Electric's missile and ordnance systems department in Philadelphia, Pa. are Howard P. Lynch '41, Donald L. Parmelee '42, John D. M. Cameron '44, Lawrence R. Dows '45, Stanley I. Jacobson '49, Robert G. Myers '50, George W. Sutton '51, Jack R. Vinson '51, and Robert W. Ghastin '52.

Aid Agriculture Abroad

A FORMER graduate assistant in Plant Breeding, who is Secretary of Agriculture & Natural Resources of the Philippines, returned to the Campus for a two-day visit in January. Juan De G. Rodriguez, Grad '24-'26, on a round-the-world mission for his government, made a special trip to visit the Campus and to see Philippine graduate students and Agriculture professors who have worked in the Philippines on the Cornell contract with the University of the Philippines at Los Banos. These professors, Rodriguez said, have stimulated the people of the Philippines into "thinking of growth in agriculture." "Inventions and discoveries are not taught," he said. "Rather, they come from stimulants, and the Cornell professors have kept us moving." Rodriguez said that plans are being made for an educational organization to be named "Cornell in the Philippines."

The Secretary's tour included a stop in Rome, Italy, where he attended a meeting of the Food & Agriculture Organization of the United Nations. He is chairman of the Philippine delegation to the FAO. While he was a student here, Rodriguez was president of the Cosmopolitan Club and was one of the first members of the Willard Straight Hall board of managers. He is an active member of the Cornell Club of the Philippines.

Two more Faculty members of Agriculture left in January for Los Banos, where specialists from the College are aiding in the agricultural rehabilitation of the country. Professor Orval C. French, Agricultural Engineering, will remain at Los Banos for a year and Professor Harold R. Cushman, PhD '51, Rural Education, for eighteen months. Dean William I. Myers '14 returns March 2, after more than a month there. Also appointed to the Los Banos staff is Lewis A. Schafer, PhD '53, from Nebraska Wesleyan University.

Lean Season for Success

IT HAS BEEN a sparse winter for athletic success. Except for the wrestling team and a couple of fine efforts by the track team, there have been only occasional moments of victory. On top of that, there were unconfirmed reports of an unusually high number of academic casualties. The basketball team, with all the rest of its troubles, was expecting four losses. Three are first stringers. It is the only team in the Ivy League to report academic losses. Hockey, fencing, track, and swimming teams worried about several key personalities. Out of season sports were also anticipating some attrition. Varsity and Freshman football squads, for some mysterious reason, seemed to be escaping the wide swath of the heavy mid-year cleaner. Perhaps they were being held over for June decapitation.

Basketball Team Tries Hard

The last full game that George A. Farley '60 played was with Princeton at Princeton, January 18. Cornell won that, 82-56. He broke a bone in his foot, January 25 in the Colgate game at Hamilton, and the Big Red stopped winning games then.

Princeton came back after its resounding defeat on its home court to win a last-minute victory in Barton Hall, February 15, over its unpredictable and hapless earlier conquerors. Score was 66-63. Between the first and second Princeton games, Cornell lost to Colgate, Dartmouth, and Harvard on the road and Penn at home. Colgate and Harvard were earlier Barton Hall victims and the record was eight wins, nine losses; two to six in the League. The Princeton game was the sixth successive one decided in the final twenty seconds in Barton Hall this season. Cornell won two, over Syracuse, 70-69, and Harvard, 58-55, and lost four, to Columbia, 60-56, Dartmouth, 60-63, Penn, 71-69, and Princeton.

Despite the five straight losses and a pauperish League record, Louis R. Jordan '59 was still leading the League in scoring with a total of 178 points, an average of 19.8 in nine games.

Dartmouth defeated Cornell, 58-48, February 7 at Hanover. Both sank nineteen field goals. The Green made twenty foul goals to ten for the visitors. The Red players had more chances than Dartmouth, but could not make them good. David H. Zornow '60 made 19 points, William E. Sullivan '59, 16. Lou Jordan only had 9. LaRusso had 15 and Sosnowski 14 for Dartmouth.

Harvard took the Red the next night,

63-59, again because of lack of poise and certainty at the foul line. Each team sank twenty-two of sixty field shots, but the Crimson made four more foul shots. Jordan had 17, Franklin B. Mead '59, in Farley's center post, got 12.

Penn won a 71-69 game, February 12, that apparently appealed to different people in different ways. One observer remarked, "That was one of the dulllest close games I ever saw." The Cornell Daily Sun the next day called it a "thriller." It was won by a senior substitute who laid one up directly underneath after Penn "froze" the ball for two minutes and forty-five seconds waiting that one shot. It made it look easy. Lou Jordan made 21 points and was effective, as usual. Dave Zornow played his best game since early season and also made 21.

Lose On Fouls

The fifth straight loss, to Princeton, was again due to inability to make foul shots. Princeton did not do so well in this department, either. Cornell made twenty-four field goals, fifteen of twenty-four foul shots. Princeton made twenty-three and twenty of twenty-eight fouls. Both had extraordinarily good floor percentage. Princeton, .535; Cornell, .480, Lou Jordan had 27; Mead, 16. Little Artie Klein was a thorn in the side of the luckless Cornellians. He made four shots and stole the ball once in the final three minutes.

Barton Hall crowds have diminished in conformance with the success of the team. Penn and Princeton crowds were about 1000. Faithful fan Frank Laverty, City Superintendent, shook his head after the Princeton disappointment, "Well, you can't win them all."

Freshmen Do Better

Freshman basketballers manage to be just a bit less erratic than their seniors. After defeating the Colgate freshmen three times, they lost at Hamilton by a lopsided 82-62, February 7. February 8, the Red yearlings took Ithaca College, 86-67. Paul R. Beach had 14 and 27, respectively. He also starred in a triumph over Syracuse, February 12, 85-76, scoring 30 points. It was the first defeat for the Orange, which had beaten the Red the first two tries. Ronald S. Ivkovich had 24 and led the team with 192. Beach was close behind with 188. The Freshmen had eight wins and four losses at this stage.

Wrestlers Continue Wins

The high riding Varsity wrestlers beat Penn State for the first time since 1928. It happened at University Park, February 8, with a 17-9 score. David C. Auble '60, 123 pounds, Captain Richard F. Vincent '58, 157, and Stephen Friedman '59, 167, continued their unbeaten skeins. Auble's victim, Gordon L. Danks, is the son of Professor A. Gordon Danks '33 of the Veterinary College. Return to action of injured heavyweight David R. Dunlop '59 was a help. He won by a 2-0 score over Raymond Pottios. National Collegiate champion Johnny Johnston beat Carmon J. Molino '58 at 130 pounds, 4-0, in an absorbing match.

Freshmen were beaten in the preliminary, 14-11. Heavyweight Robert K. Wrede '61 of Jackson Heights tried desperately to throw Robert Gilmour to gain a team victory, but he had to settle for a 4-4 draw.

An opening 15-9 loss to Lehigh is the only defeat so far for the Varsity. The 1957 Ivy champions are now 6-1 and undefeated in three League tests.

Other Sports

VARSITY TRACK team divided forces, February 15. A two-mile relay team went to the New York AC Games in Madison Square Garden and won over St. Joseph's and Seton Hall in 7:55.1 and the mile relay team was last in its race, the Red losing indefinitely its ace middle distance star, John S. Ingley '58, who pulled a muscle in the anchor leg. At a meet in Buffalo, Earl S. McHugh '58 won the seventy-five-yard dash in 0:07.9, Nathaniel J. Cravener '59 ran second in the mile, and David C. Eckel '58 was second in the two-mile.

Arnold Cummins '59, David G. Cadiz '58, Charles H. Hill '59, and Michael Midler '58 were the winning two-mile foursome at Madison Square Garden. Midler ran a glistening 1:53.8 anchor leg. Ingley is a tough loss for Coach Louis C. Montgomery, who was hopeful of an indoor Heptagonal championship.

Connecticut tied the Varsity swimming team, 43-43, February 14 in Teagle Hall, and the next day the Cornellians beat Princeton by a sound 53-31 score. Harvard clobbered the Red here, 70-16, February 8. The tie with Connecticut was a surprise to U. Conn. alumnus G. Scott Little. The Red medley relay team lowered the school record by two seconds to 4:06.2. Team was composed of Robert Coifman '59, George D. Mathias '58, E. Ritts Howard '60, and Captain R. Scott Wetzsteon '58.

John C. Waterfall '60 won two events in the Princeton meet. The summary:

400 medley relay—1, Cornell (Bob Coifman, George Mathias, Ritts Howard, Scott Wetzsteon). 4:09.7.

200 freestyle—1, John Waterfall, C.; 2, Larry Kaufman, C; 3, Larry Jelsman, P. 2:19.50 freestyle—1, Gerry Nalewaik, C; 2, Art Bellows, P; 3, Jim Foster, C. 0:24.5.

Dive—1, Al Routh, P; 2, Ross Gilbert, C; 3, Richard Wells, C. Points 74.7.

200 butterfly—1. Charles Carpenter, C;

2, George Mathias, C; 3, Keith Barton, P. 2:32.3.

100 freestyle—1, Bob Gibbon, P; 2, Gerry Nalewaik, C; 3, Scott Wetzsteon, C. 0:54.4.

200 backstroke—1, Bob Coifman, C; 2, Ritts Howard, C; 3, Warren Davis, P. 2:20.1.

440 freestyle—1, John Waterfall, C; 2, Larry Jelsman, P; 3, Fred Schneider, P. 5:10.6.

200 breaststroke—1, David Stiller, C; 2, Bart Arnold, P; 3, Dan Gothie, P. 2:34.3.

400 freestyle relay—1, Princeton (Bob Johnston, Bill Roberts, Art Bellows, Bob Gibbon). 3:40.5.

Fencers Win & Lose

Varsity fencers won over Syracuse and Buffalo by identical 21-6 scores in a triangular competition at Syracuse, February 12. Cornell foil team won 8-1, the saber, 7-2, and the epee, 8-1. Total touches over Syracuse were 117-71 and against Buffalo, 121-68.

Navy beat the Red, 16-11, in Teagle Hall, February 15. It was Navy's fourth win in five matches, having lost to NYU, 13-12. Cornell won the foil, 5-4, but lost in both saber and epee, 6-3. The summary:

Foil: Cornell 5, Navy 4. William Cotton, C, beat R. Wommack, 5-3; Raoul Sudre, C; beat Wommack, 5-2; F. Larson, 5-1; Richard Yellen, C, beat J. Paletta, 5-0; E. Studer, 5-2; Larson, N, beat Cotton, 5-0, Yellen, 5-1; Paletta, N, beat Studer, 5-4, Cotton, 5-1.

Saber: Navy 6, Cornell 3. L. Polk, N, beat Roger Wiley, 5-4, Jim Coatsworth, 5-4; A. H. Morales, N, beat Don Gleklen, 5-2, Wiley, 5-2; J. Estep, N, beat Coatsworth, 5-4; J. Sullivan, N, beat Coatsworth, 5-4; Gleklen, C, beat Estep, 5-4, Polk, 5-4; Wiley, C, beat Estep, 5-4.

Epee: Navy 6, Cornell 3. R. Davies, N, beat Richard Cole, 5-2, Thomas, 5-2; P. Stiller, N, beat Mark Levin, 5-2, Cole, 5-2, Thomas, 5-2; H. Starchwitz, N, beat L. Van Slyke, 5-1; Ritchie Thomas, C, beat Starchwitz, 5-4; Cole, C, beat E. Thacher, 5-3; John Wiley, C, beat Davies, 4-3.

Squash Team Beats Penn

Red squash team won its first League match of the season by taking Penn, 7-2, at Grumman Courts, February 15. Only losses were at 7 and 9 spots. Captain Edward A. Fox '58 of Jamaica Estates won a notable victory over Claud Beer by a difficult route: 5-15, 16-18, 18-17, 15-12, 16-15. In the windup match between No. 2 men, Earl S. Dworkin '58 of Fredonia beat Axel Jonasson in five games. Conclusion of the match in Dworkin's favor prompted Jonasson to give vent to his temper. He threw his racquet against the wall and then picked it up and heaved it at the spectators' gallery, narrowly missing some of the people there. Record is 2-4 at present.

Peter D. Baldwin '54 of Honolulu, Hawaii, made 11 goals and the Cornell polo team beat Yale, 17-11, at New Haven, February 15.

Colgate hockey team more than made up for the 8-4 beating, January 18 at Lynah Hall, by taking the Red, 6-5, in a return match at Lynah, February 8, and a week later giving the beleaguered Red a 4-1 lacing at Hamilton in their only outdoor appearance. February 12, Cor-

Buenos Aires Cornell Club Gathers—At the American Club in Buenos Aires, January 21, members of the Cornell Club entertained Monsignor Donald M. Cleary, Grad '38-'39, Catholic Chaplain at the University, and his brother, Father Thomas Cleary, who were visiting Venezuela, Brazil, Argentina, and Peru. From left are Ernesto Lix-Klett '08, Carlos R. Morandi, Grad '23-'24, Lucio R. Ballester, Grad '51, Mrs. Buenano, Mrs. deBary-Tornquist, Harry L. nell tried Princeton at Princeton and was given a 7-0 lesson. This was not as bad as the 13-0 administered at Ithaca, December 19.

The Freshmen were not doing any better. Clarkson defeated them, 8-0, February 7 at Potsdam, and St. Lawrence made it by a 16-0 score at Canton the following night. Hamilton junior varsity were a little more in their class as they emerged with a 4-1 victory, February 14 at Lynah Hall. The Cornell score was made in the third period by James W. Dean '61 of Canton on an assist by Thomas A. Blake, Jr. '61 of Waretown, Mass.

New Defensive Coach

JAMES W. OSTENDARP will be added to Coach George K. James's football staff for 1958. He will be in charge of defense. He is a 1950 graduate of Bucknell, where he majored in mathematics. He took a Master's degree in education at Columbia in 1954 and is working on his Doctorate at Harvard. He was a much decorated paratroop officer in the 82d Airborne Division. He was star halfback at Bucknell in 1947-48-49, after spending a pre-war year at Maryland. He is a native of Baltimore. He played with the New York Giants in 1950 and 1951 and was named most valuable player with the Montreal Alouettes in the Canadian Professional League in 1952. The last three years, Ostendarp has been assistant coach at Williams after a two-year stint at Bucknell. Last year, Williams was undefeated. As varsity wrestling and varsity lacrosse coach, he will be busy at Williams until June.

GE Gives Nuclear Device

A DEVICE to study the properties of nuclear particles has been given to the Newman Laboratory of Nuclear Studies by the General Electric Research Laboratory. The device, known as a "bubble chamber," was constructed in 1955 at the GE laboratory in Schenectady and has been used in experiments with the laboratory's 300-million electron volt synchrotron.

The heart of the bubble chamber is a glass-ended cylinder about six inches in diameter containing liquid hydrogen at about 400° F. below zero, through which passes the charged particle to be studied. When pressure on the liquid hydrogen is suddenly reduced, the liquid hydrogen begins to vaporize, which in turn causes the trail of ions (other charged particles) left by the original particle to take the form of a line of bubbles. This line can be photographed and the properties of the particle which made the track can be determined by the length of the track and the number of bubbles along it.

The bubble chamber will be used at Cornell to study nuclear particles called "K-mesons" produced by the University's 1.1 billion electron-volt synchrotron. Previous investigations of these particles led to the discovery of the unsymmetrical nature of the laws of physics, for which Drs. Lee and Yang of Columbia and the Institute of Advanced Study at Princeton were awarded the 1957 Nobel Prize in physics. Some of the experiments which will be performed with the bubble chamber here will be related to this discovery.

Add Third Generation

ANOTHER third-generation Cornellian who entered the University in 1957 is James E. Bryant '61, Freshmen in Arts & Sciences. He was listed only as the son of Dr. Frank A. M. Bryant '30 of Los Angeles, Cal., but his grandfather was the late Dr. Frank A. M. Bryant '07. He is the forty-second new student last year now known to be of the third Cornell generation.

Some new students always fail to list completely their Cornellian forbears as requested when they enter the University. Additions and corrections to our published listings are welcomed.

Alumni Givers Increase

ALUMNI ANNUAL GIVING for the Cornell Fund had 339 more contributors at the end of January than at the same date last year. Gifts totalled $207,877 from 2241 alumni.

William R. Robertson '34, campaign chairman this year, credits this early success to the results in "leadership gifts" obtained by special committees in sixty cities. "Under the able direction of William L. Lewis '22," he says, "the men and women of these committees did an extensive job covering all prospects, with the result that $137,128 came in from 881 contributors. The over-all increase in givers is a direct result of a more informed and dedicated approach by committee members. With this encouragement, Class committees are now going into action on all fronts. Most Classes have appointed their regional chairmen and these are selecting area chairmen and committee members to tell the Cornell story to all Classmates, for unrestricted gifts to meet our goal of $800,000 by June 15."

A number of Classes have new representatives this year in charge of their annual giving campaign. Harrison D. Cannon '92 of Louisville, Ky. has accepted responsibility for the Classes '79-'92. Other changes in men's Classes are David N. Dattelbaum '22 of New York City in place of Richard K. Kaufmann '22; Alfred S. Berg '30, Great Neck, in place of C. Herbert Bell, Jr. '30; Milton C. Smith '32, Wayne, Pa., in place of Bernard L. Falk '32; Diederich K. Willers '36, University Personnel Director, in place of John F. McManus '36; John W. Kelly '37, Dansville, in place of Preston D. Carter '37. Thomas W. Itin '57 of West Englewood, N.J. heads the campaign for the newest alumni Class.

Grants Foster Research & Teaching

MORE THAN $300,000 in grants from foundations and business corporations has been received by the University in the last three months.

Rockefeller Foundation has given $250,000 to support fundamental research and graduate training in plant physiology. Professor Charles E. Palm, PhD '35, Director of Research in Agriculture, says that this will support new basic research, help to strengthen the graduate program, and encourage pooling of resources and greater teamwork of scientists which modern research requires. Possible areas of research include the various ways plants use energy, how nutrients affect the metabolism of plants, cell expansion in normal and abnormal situations, effects of chemical growth regulators, and mineral nutrition of plants. Improved facilities for growing plants under controlled conditions and new instruments for studying their behavior will be provided.

Six grants totalling more than $41,000 have been made by E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. under its annual program of aid to education. The largest, $15,000, is a renewal of a grant made last year for fundamental research in chemistry. The University will determine the work to be undertaken, although it must be fundamental in nature, and the researchers will be free to publish the results of their work. A $12,000 grant to encourage better teaching of science and mathematics in high schools will provide six fellowships for recent college graduates. Each fellowship covers tuition, living expenses, and a grant to the University. A gift of $4000 is to help maintain the excellence of teaching at Cornell. Of this amount, $2500 will be for Chemistry teaching and the remainder for other courses. A graduate fellowship in Chemical Engineering has a grant of more than $3600. The fellowship provides up to $1800 for the student with additional allowances if he has children, tuition and fees, and a contribution of $1200 to the University. A similar fellowship for an outstanding graduate student with two years' experience as a part-time teaching assistant provides a stipend of $2400 with additional allowances if he has children, tuition and fees, and $500 to Cornell. A grant of $3000 has been made to the Department of Biochemistry at the Medical College in New York. It is the first time the Medical College has received a grant from Du Pont.

The Mark L. Morris Animal Memorial Foundation has given $4000 for research on the breeding of dogs to Dr. George Blackledge, a graduate student in the Veterinary College. Dr. Blackledge's research is expected to show which management practices will keep male dogs in the best condition for breeding, and such factors as feeding and exercise will also be studied. The research will be under direction of Dr. Robert W. Kirk '46, Therapeutics &

To Help Veterinary Students—Mrs. Earl Munderback and her husband, of Clockville, pay their first visit to the University to present a gift of $1000 from Mrs. Munderback's savings to Dean William A. Hagan, MS '17, of the Veterinary College (left). The gift establishes a loan fund in their name for Veterinary students. It was inspired by their high regard for Dr. Donald E. Henry '45, who takes care of their farm animals, and for other Cornell veterinarians around Canastota, where Mrs. Munderback is employed by the Diemolding Corp. They brought with them two neighbor boys to see the new plant of the Veterinary College. Photo Science

Small Animal Diseases, and Professor Robert H. Foote, PhD '50, Animal Husbandry. The Morris Foundation, of which Dr. Mark L. Morris '26 of Topeka, Kans. is president, sponsors animal research at many educational institutions in the United States. Dr. Blackledge received the BS at Hampton Institute in 1940 and the DVM at Tuskegee Institute in 1951.

A grant of $5000 to aid the teaching of science and education on the graduate level has come to the University from Esso Education Foundation. To be used for graduate students in Mechanical Engineering, this is the first installment of a special three-year program started by the Foundation. It is in addition to 345 grants totalling $1,332,760 given by the Foundation last October to educational institutions throughout the country.

Gift to Library

MANUSCRIPTS by some of the most distinguished figures in English literature have been given to the University Library by Hubert S. Upjohn and Mrs. Upjohn (Estelle Leach) '99 of Carmel, Cal. Consisting mostly of holograph letters, the collection ranges from the eighteenth to twentieth centuries. It is especially rich in nineteenth century material. The Lake School of poetry is represented by Wordsworth, Coleridge, and Southey manuscripts; the Victorians, by letters of Ruskin, Browning, Elizabeth Barrett Browning, Edward Lear, and Kate Dickens, daughter of the novelist. The earliest manuscript is a letter of Richard Brinsley Sheridan, the Irish dramatist, and the most recent is a letter of John Galsworthy. A fancily decorated Victorian valentine, which when opened, reflects the recipient's face in a small mirror labeled "Venus" is from a collection of valentines owned by Ruskin.

Aeronautic Scientists

NATIONAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE for Aeronautics has eight members of the University and Aeronautical Laboratory in Buffalo on its technical committees and subcommittees this year. Nearly 500 specialists in almost every branch of aeronautical science make up the twenty-eight groups that comprise NACA committees. They advise on technical problems, review research throughout the world, recommend new areas of interest, coordinate research programs carried on by the NACA and other agencies, and assist in initiating research programs.

Theodore P. Wright, University Vice-president for Research and president of Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory, Inc., continues as vice-chairman of the committee on aerodynamics. Director William R. Sears of the Graduate School of Aeronautical Engineering has been appointed to the committee on aerodynamics and has been named chairman of the subcommittee on fluid dynamics, of which he was a member last year. Professor Edwin L. Resler, Jr., PhD '51, Aeronautical Engineering & Engineering Physics, has been reappointed to the subcommittee on fluid dynamics. Professor George V. Smith, Metallurgical Engineering, is again a member of the subcommittee on aircraft structural materials.

Alexander H. Flax, vice-president of technical operations at the Aeronautical Laboratory, has been reappointed to the subcommittee on high-speed aerodynam-ics and Waldemar O. Breuhaus, head of the flight research department at the Laboratory, has been named again to the subcommittee on aerodynamic stability and control. A. Howard Hasbrook, director of the University's aviation crash injury research project in Phoenix, Ariz., continues on the committee on flight safety. Jerome Lederer, director of the Cornell-Guggenheim Aviation Safety Center in New York City, has been appointed to the operating problems committee.

Alumni Trustee William Littlewood '20, vice-president of American Airlines, is a member of NACA committees on operating problems and industry consulting and is vice-chairman of the subcommittee on aircraft noise.

Fraternities Take Stock

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL held a "retreat" for house officers and advisers, January 18, followed by a dinner with officers of the Interfraternity Alumni Association. Committee chairmen reported on orientation, discrimination, finances, rushing, social improvements, and community service. A committee is in process of evaluating the results of deferred rushing, now in its third year. It appears from polls taken in fraternities that for the most part, Juniors and Sophomores approve of second-term rushing, while Seniors think that early rushing was better.

Has deferred rushing resulted in better marks for Freshmen; in less need for punitive action by the Dean's office and Men's Judiciary Board? It is reported that the number of Freshmen dropped, put on probation, or officially warned, has decreased since the change in rushing. It is said that fewer Freshmen have been charged with serious misconduct, that Class spirit seems to be better, and that integration of Freshmen into University life has been more satisfactory. But these changes may be due, wholly or in part, to the new dormitories and the Freshman counselling system there. So there is no definite conclusion yet. Starting rushing perhaps the Friday of midyear recess, as does sorority rushing, would do much to take the pressure off the first few days and nights of the new term.

House presidents at the retreat accepted a policy statement that Freshmen should be pledged a full term before they are initiated; which means fall initiations. It was agreed also that men on probation should not be initiated.

At the dinner, the Interfraternity Alumni Association award for general improvement was presented to Phi Gamma Delta; achievement award, to Delta Upsilon; for highest academic average in 1956-57, to Alpha Zeta; for academic improvement, to Tau Epsilon Phi; for extra-curricular activities, to Delta Phi.

Social code controversy has more or less quieted down. The Interfraternity Council has accepted responsibility for enforcing a revised code, thus paving the way for Spring Week End house parties, May 17, and a "single overnight," March 15. The new code extends the closing hour for over-night parties from 1:30 to 3 a.m. There will be further discussion and consideration of "room parties" by the IFC social improvements committee and the University committee on student activities. There may be further revisions.

President Malott's long-awaited appearance at an open meeting of the Student Council more than filled Willard Straight Memorial Room, January 20. It was in many ways not worth the time spent. The President's outline of how the University operates was good. The two hours of questioning by students was poor; at times, almost crude. The President did well with his answers, considering the style and content of the questions. These, it seemed to us, were not too constructive. We took four pages of notes on the questions and answers, but little came out of them except that relations between students, Faculty, and administration seem to be suffering from lack of adequate communication, along with some slight personal misunderstandings.

A year ago, only 3134 ballots were cast in Student Council elections. There was a marked lack of willing candidates for office. Now, or at least recently, Campus opinion was apparently marshalled behind Student Council action in regard to a social code. Student Council asks for more responsibility and trust, but we can barely muster candidates for a Council, or votes enough to call the Council representative.

Thirty singers from the Sage Chapel Choir gave a program of Christmas music at Willard State Hospital for some 600 patients. The program also included piano solos and singing by the audience. Professor Thomas A. Sokol, Music, directed the choir.

"Filipiniana Night," a program of songs, folk dances, and music from the Philippines was held in Willard Straight Hall. Directed by Eudaldo P. Reyes, Grad, the event was sponsored by the Filipino Club in cooperation with the International Organization of the University.

The English Club presented a reading of the "The Second Shepherd's Play" in the White Museum. The play was read against a background of music by recorders and voices. Plays of this kind flourished during the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries and were called "mysteries." They dealt with various aspects of religious history, but most frequently related events from the life of Christ. "The Second Shepherd's Play" was written by an anonymous figure known only as the "Wakefield Master." Unlike most other mystery plays, it is satirical and comic as well as unusually dramatic.

Snow, ice, and an unfortunate tractor made news and pictures for the Sun for several days. Six inches of copy and two pictures were devoted to efforts to retrieve a tractor-plow that broke through the ice on Beebe Lake while clearing it for skating. As the Sun had it, "the tractor had been testing the ice when it fell through." Police had to quell snowball fights around the men's dormitories after a heavy, wet snow January 25 & 26.

Sphinx Head Scholarships of $400 each have been awarded for this year to Roger L. Garrett '58 of Robesonia, Pa. and Gerald T. Knapp '58 of Ithaca. For Senior men, preferably members of Sphinx Head, the Scholarships are supported from a fund of $20,000 given by Spencer L. Adams '93.

"Personality Sublimation in Industry" was described in the Industrial & Labor Relations School student newspaper as a new course to be offered. It would "deal with an investigation of the demands made on executives by [the] modern business organization. A knowledge of the demands will aid the student in aligning his abilities and aspirations with the aims of the company." The author, William F. Delaney '60, said also that the course would cover "the historical development of individualism and its contribution to American Society." Twenty or more students inquired about the spring term course, but they found that it was known only to the writer of the story and the editors of the paper it appeared in.

Many visitors to the White Museum of Art were fooled during the recent exhibit of "Fantastic Art Through the Ages" that drew record attendance. Among displays of the work of Dali, Ernst, Duchamp, and others was one devoted to "Estaban Xiros." He was described as "perhaps the best known nineteenth-century collagist . . . born in Taormina, Sicily, in 1828." Further biographical information went into great detail and included the name of a grandson, "Ralph Xiros Smith of Etna, N.Y." The Xiros exhibit, accepted generally as authentic, old and interesting, though strange, was created by the Fine Arts class that had helped the Museum staff prepare the "Fantastic Art" show.

THE FACULTY

President Eisenhower appointed University Trustee Victor Emanuel '19, president of Avco Manufacturing Corp., to the board of visitors of the Air Force Academy, January 28.

Alumni Trustee William Littlewood '20, vice-president of American Airlines in charge of engineering, was named an honorary fellow of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences during the Institute's annual meetings at Hotel Sheraton Astor in New York City, January 27-30. Problems of keeping aircraft and missiles from disintegrating under high speeds were discussed by Professor Paul P. Bijlaard, Mechanics, in a talk, "Thermal Stresses and Deflections in Rectangular Sandwich Plates." Professor Bijlaard has been doing research for Bell Aircraft Corp., Buffalo, for a number of years on the most effective materials to use for plates in supersonic aircraft and high-speed missiles.

Professor Stanley J. Brownell, Grad '30, Animal Husbandry, left February 1 to return to Greece for six months to continue a program of livestock improvement he started in 1955. He was asked to return by the Government of Greece and will work under auspices of the International Cooperation Administration division of the US Department of State. Professor Robert F. Holland '30, Dairy Industry, returned January 21 from six months in Europe with the ICA. He spent four months in Greece, assisting the Ministry of Agriculture on problems of sanitation and manufacturing dairy by-products, and visited American agricultural attachés in seven other countries.

Mrs. Suzanne Adams Sutherland, wife of Arthur E. Sutherland, professor of Law from 1945-50, now on the faculty of Harvard Law School, died January 1.

Jean G. French '49 returned to the School of Nursing in New York this fall as instructor in Public Health Nursing and consultant in Public Health Nursing to The New York Hospital Nursing Service.

"Of Night and the Sea," a cantata by Professor Robert M. Palmer, Music, was performed for the first time in its entirety at University of Illinois, February 9. The work was commissioned by the Fromm Foundation for Contemporary Music. Part I was previously performed at Illinois and Part II, at a Fromm Foundation concert at Tanglewood, Mass.

Professor Dorothy M. Proud, Institution Management, participated in a nutrition and food service section at a national conference on nursing homes and homes for the aged in Washington, D.C., February 25-28. Several Cornell Extension bulletins on purchasing, cooking, and serving foods in quantity were exhibited at the conference, which was called by the Department of Health, Education & Welfare, US Public Health Service.

Professor Morris G. Bishop '14, Romance Literature, will take part in a current course of seven weekly informal discussions with the general title, "Writers on Writing," at Washington Square Center of New York University. With Babette Deutsch and David McCord, he will discuss "The Poets," March 6.

"The Origin and Development of the Human Extrinsic Ocular Muscles," by Professor Perry W. Gilbert, PhD '40, Zoology, has been reprinted from Carnegie Institution of Washington publication 611, Contributions to Embryology, vol. 36, pages 59-68. The illustrated monograph is the first comprehensive study of the origin and development of the muscles that move the human eyeball. One hundred human embryos, ranging in size from 1 mm. to 32 mm., were critically examined. Professor Gilbert's work was done at the Carnegie Institution department of embryology at Johns Hopkins Medical School and in the Zoology Department here.

Professor Jeremiah J. Wanderstock '41, Hotel Administration, spoke on meat management at a Restaurant Management Institute at Rutgers, January 28. A cooperator was the New Jersey Restaurant Association, whose president is Martin L. Horn, Jr. '50, who operates Mayfair Farms and Pals Cabin in West Orange. Howard A. Heinsius '50, vice-president of Needham & Grohmann, Inc. advertising agency, spoke on sales promotion.

Professor Philip Morrison, Physics & Nuclear Studies, delivered the sixteenth Richtmyer Memorial Lecture, named for the late Professor Floyd K. Richtmyer '04, Physics, February 1 in New York City, at joint meetings of the American Institute of Physics and American Association of Physics Teachers. Professor Morrison has been appointed associate editor of Reviews of Modern Physics, published by the American Physical Society.

Professor Milton R. Konvitz, PhD '33, Industrial & Labor Relations and Law, has been appointed a member of a special investigating commission to make a study of compliance operations under the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination. The law is administered and enforced by the State Department of Education, directed by an assistant commissioner of education in charge of the Division Against Discrimination. The commission is to study cases handled by the New Jersey agency, report on current compliance practices and procedures, and make recommendations.

Professor Dexter Perkins, American Civilization, gave three University lectures on "Midwesterners in American Politics" to overflow audiences in Olin Hall. February 12, he spoke on William Jennings Bryan; February 19, on Robert M. LaFollette; February 26, on Robert A. Taft.

Professor Robert B. MacLeod, Psychology, was official delegate of the American Psychological Association to the Fifth Inter-American Congress of Psychology in Mexico City, December 18-23. He spoke on a phenomenological approach to communication.

Carleton M. Edwards '36, assistant & associate professor of Agricultural Engineering, 1945-57, is now associate professor of forest products at Michigan State University in East Lansing.

Professor Samuel L. Boothroyd, Grad '04-'08, Astronomy, Emeritus, and Mrs. Boothroyd observed their sixtieth wedding anniversary at their home, 311 Roat Street, Ithaca, January 12. They have two sons and two daughters, Mrs. Ernst C. Abbe (Lucy Boothroyd) '28 and Mrs. Raymond J. Hemstreet (Mary Boothroyd) '35.

Audrey M. McCluskey '44 has succeeded Professor Verda Hickcox, who retired in June, as Nursing Department head of the Lying-In Hospital of The New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center. Miss McCluskey received the BS at Temple in 1945 and the MA at Columbia in 1948. As assistant professor of Nursing the last three years, she has been responsible for the Nursing aspects of the newly-established program in long-term illness and rehabilitation. She is a former president of the School of Nursing Alumnae Association and is now its representative on the Cornell Alumni Association committee on Alumni Trustee nominations.

Agriculture Alumni Assist College—These alumni of the College of Agriculture have been meeting with high school guidance counselors and prospective students in Western New York to advise them of opportunities the College offers for professional training, not only for farming but for related work in science and industry. They met for dinner in Orleans, December 12, with Carl F. Gortzig '52, field representative of the College. From left, they are (standing): Ronald E. Nearpass '52, Edgar E. Backlund '50, Fritz A. Aude '52, Gordon E. Mereness '37, Donald I. Wickham '55, Kenneth C. Holgate '39, Donald M. Bay '55, Gilbert C. Smith '37, George B. Mueller '54, Andrew Baran '49, Laurence P. Draper '30. (Seated): David N. Russell '38, John C. Perry '41, Jesse E. Dalrymple '37, Milton G. Soper '48, John A. Tarr '53, Morton Adams '33, Lloyd E. Curtis '35, Gortzig, Benjamin J. Miles '43, William H. Sherman '35, Norval G. Budd '29.

Studies on the Comparative Ethology of Digger Wasps of the Genus Bembix, by Professor Howard E. Evans, PhD '49, Entomology, has been published by Comstock Publishing Associates, a division of the Cornell University Press. The book, a volume in the Cornell Studies in Entomology Series, has 255 pages, paperbound, and is priced at $4.75. It describes the behavior of virtually all American species of Bembix.

Professor LaMont C. Cole, Zoology, has been named editor of the zoological section of Ecology, official publication of the Ecological Society of America. Editor of the section dealing with botany is Alton A. Lindsey, PhD '37, of Purdue. Professor Cole was keynote speaker at a national symposium on quantitative biology at Cold Spring Harbor, L.I., last June.

Donald K. Tressler, PhD '18, head of the Chemistry Department at the Geneva Experiment Station from 1933-43, has resigned as scientific director of the Quartermaster Food & Container Institute for the Armed Forces, Chicago, Ill., and returned to his consulting practice as manager of Donald K. Tressler & Associates, with laboratories on North Compo Road, Westport, Conn. He had been at the Institute since 1950. He is also editor of Avi Publishing Co., publishers of food technology books, in Westport.

Concerts Enjoyed

MEMORABLE CONCERTS by a leading bass of the Metropolitan Opera Co. and, a few nights later, by one of America's finest chamber music groups helped Ithaca music lovers through what was perhaps one of the coldest and snowiest Januaries of recent times.

Cesare Siepi, who recently starred in the production of "Don Giovanni" filmed at Salzburg, showed himself at ease with all kinds of music in his concert at Bailey Hall, January 14. He presented a recital ranging from contemporary English songs to Italian operatic arias. Especially notable were the arias from Mozart's "The Abduction from the Seraglio" and Verdi's "Othello" and a group of three songs by Richard Strauss. He was capably accompanied by Leo Taubman.

January 22, a capacity audience heard the Budapest String Quartet present another of its near-perfect concerts in the Willard Straight Theater. Like that of the Siepi concert, this program showed a wide range in moods and styles of music. It included the romantic "Quartet in E Flat Major" by Schubert; the modern "Quartet No. 1" by the twenty-two-year-old American composer, Easley Blackwood; and the vigorous "Quartet in B-Flat Major" by Brahms.

Addresses which appear in these pages are in New York State unless otherwise designated. Class columns headed by Class numerals and the names and addresses of the correspondents who write them are principally those of Classes which have purchased group subscriptions to the News for all members. Personal items, newspaper clippings, or other notes about Cornellians of all Classes are welcomed for publication.

'96—Visits with two members of the Class of '96 were included in a December trip to Florida by Emerson Hinchliff '14 and his wife. One was with his fraternity brother George H. Stickney, the "grand old man of the electrical illuminating industry." Stickney was surrounded by Christmas cards, one of them from mutual friend Guy Gundaker of Philadelphia, former president of Rotary International. Stickney has lived for many years in Daytona Beach. He suffered a slight stroke a few months ago, the only effect being that he can't talk quite so fast as he can think, but he looks fine, gets around well, and can lay his hands on anything he wants in his study-library. The other was with Lillian Hoag in Penney Farms. She lived with her mother in about 1910-14 at 400 Oak Avenue, Ithaca, the house that the Hinchliffs now own, which was built about the turn of the century by the original florist Bool. New Year's Eve passed very pleasantly with talk of old Ithacans and of "Quaint House."—E. H.

'99 BS—Mrs. Adelaide Young Shaw, since the death of her husband, Dr. Farnham H. Shaw, in 1954, has continued to live alone in their old home at 53 West Avenue, Willsboro, Pa. She is the mother of Professor Mary Shaw Ryan, PhD '37, Textiles & Clothing, wife of Professor Thomas A. Ryan '33, Psychology; and Farnham H. Shaw, Jr. '41, production superintendent of the Harrodsburg, Ky. plant of Corning Glass Works. Her other son, James, a graduate of Lafayette College, is in the technical service department of Corning Glass Works. Mrs. Shaw taught six years at Elmira College before her marriage in 1905.

'06 AB—Edwin G. Nourse (above, center), former chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, has been named one of the first ten fellows of the American Farm Economic Association in recognition of his outstanding service to the profession of agricultural economics. At left in the picture is Under Secretary of Agriculture True D. Morse, who presented the citation at a luncheon at the US Department of Agriculture in Washington, D.C., December 23; at right is Sherman Johnson, USDA scientific and professional adviser, who read it to the gathering. Nourse lives at 1785 Massachusetts Avenue, NW, Washington 6, D.C.

Augustus J. Brown, 3355 Sixteenth Street NW, Washington 10, D.C., writes: "Nothing spectacular or glamorous to report. Retired from Bell system nearly five years ago after serving in various locations coast to coast for forty-two years. Wound up in Washington where Mrs. B. and I live quietly as befits pensioners in these times. Take occasional out-of-town trips to visit three of our four children (one resides in Washington area) and our five grandchildren. Among other things we try to keep abreast of a dozen well-known periodicals, one of which is the ALUMNI NEWS."

J. Paul (Poppy) Wait, Room 1, Wait Block, Sturgis, Mich., reports: "Fifty years a Shriner and the recipient of three gifts from my local Shrine Club so inscribed. Belonged to the Tompkins County Shrine Club during my days in Ithaca (if anybody cares). W. C. M. Butler, Conyngham, Pa.: "Enjoy traveling on freighters. Last year took trip around the world on the President Hayes, American President Lines (New York to New York), trying to get some bookings to the South Sea Islands for the winter of 1958." Hugh M. Platt, 47 Ellicott Avenue, Batavia: "Haven't done anything important enough to call out the Federal paratroopers, but haven't retired yet either. In fact, am more interested in more things than I was fifty years ago. My only regret is that my oldest son is going to Syracuse instead of Cornell."

South Bend 14, Ind.

Our wandering '13 emissary has come back home. Nei (M. R.) Neifeld and his wife Gert returned safely before Christmas after visiting most of the Latin American countries on his speaking tour under the auspices of National Sales Executives—International, discussing selling and distribution and how we do it in the US. His trip was most enjoyable, and I am sure very successful, but very strenuous. I understand one of the "mostest" of the strenuous things seems to have been the late dinner hour, and consequently unavoidably late bedtime, which is the regular custom in all Spanish countries.

Nei had hoped to visit with Bent (Horace F.) Benton in Rio de Janeiro, but they missed connections. Bent retired from Texas Co. in Rio de Janeiro in 1956, but the day of his retirement they asked him to build a terminal and install an airplane refueling system at Manaus, Brazil. He has been there since January last year, but returned to Rio in time for Christmas. Bent writes that he has been completely out of touch with his Classmates since he left Cornell; too far off the beat for fellow '13ers. His address is Caixa Postal 81, Nova Iguaçu, Estado Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. Well, Bent, since '13 Classmates do not get to Rio, the best way to see them is for you to come back to Cornell this June for our Forty-five-year Reunion. The whole gang will be back for this affair and you can catch up on your visiting with everyone at once.

Got a nice letter from Ralph K. Pratt, 7425 Southeast Forty-second Avenue, Portland 6, Ore. Ralph retired in 1953 from engineering work with Crown Zellerbach Corp. at West Lynn, Ore. He took a long trip east and then to Honolulu, and evidently felt so full of pep and vinegar upon his return that he was persuaded to help in engineering work with Harshberger Equipment Co. in Portland. Now he is planning to re-retire; in fact, he is supposed to have re-retired this January 1. But let's wait and see how long this retirement will last.

Schnitz (Moulton B.) Goff, 1860 Bel Air Road, Los Angeles 24, Cal., will be at Reunion. Mort (Mortimer D.) Leonard, 2480 Sixteenth Street, NW, Washington 9, D.C., and Tip (Frederick H.) Tyler, 2149 Malvern Avenue, Dayton 6, Ohio, will also be there. In fact, these three have been working it up between them to make sure they will all be back. Sounds like a swell arrangement. Get in touch now with your special buddies and make mutual arrangements to meet at our Reunion. If you are in the same part of the country, why not arrange to go and come together, driving, flying or by train.

One chap who can't make it, and feels pretty badly about it, is Nort (Allen B.) Norton. Nort has been looking forward to attending this Reunion for the last five years. He retired in 1956 and expected to be all through with work except golf (which he says gets to be more work each year) and trying to make things grow around the house. But enter the villain! Last spring he was approached by the International Cooperation Administration about taking an assignment in Austria for a branch of the Austrian government. Result: he and Mrs. Norton left for Vienna early in January. He expects to be there about six months, and that means he cannot be with us in June. He writes that he will envy all of us at Reunion and sends best wishes for a fine and successful get-together. We'll miss you, too, Nort. Send me your address, so we can get in touch with you.

So long! See you in June.

Material for this column piles up. I'll get to it eventually, but it distresses me to have the bloom of immediacy wane on some of the items. For instance, the New York Herald Trib of November 25 showed that Hal Halsted was competing in the thirty-fifth world championship Star Class yachting races off Marianao, Havana, Cuba, and had placed sixth out of twenty-one in the second race. The weather is still blustery enough up here to give the picture of Hal riding the blue waves an added fillip. You may find the news a bit sparse next summer, since my wife and I will be abroad. Perhaps Ramsay Spillman, my most faithful correspondent, would do a column. Will any of you be in England or Europe next summer? We might meet.

Abe Lincoln, who does '11 notes, noticed that Hibby Ayer was moving to Springfield, Mass. (his home) and wrote that he "would like to get in touch with that old bird Hibby" and asked for his address, which is 153 Trafton Road. I extract a few lines from a letter by the author of "Cornell Victorious" to Doc Peters dated January 6: "It will be just a year, January 8, since I last packed the old lunch pail and headed for work at New York Air Brake Co. in Watertown. You might say that I am now retired, but the fact is that I have an enlarged heart that will keep me on the straight and narrow path from now on." His son covers the Springfield area for Agricultural Insurance Co. of Watertown. Hibby added that he was better than he was a year ago and sent his best to everyone.

Arthur F. (Fritz) Rees, Jr. has popped up at 36 Sheridan Drive, NE, Atlantic 5, Ga. Fritz has retired and moved south and east of his old home in St. Louis so that he can be closer to his oldest son and family. An Ithaca friend sent me a clipping with picture from the Worcester Telegram of November 9 stating that Bob Shoemaker was awarded a citation "for outstanding Christian service" at the 150th annual convocation of Andover Newton Theological School. Bob has been for many years general secretary of the big Worcester YMCA.

J. Lossing Buck retired August 31 as director for agricultural economics of the Council on Economic & Cultural Affairs and writes from Pleasant Valley: "Since August I have been enjoying a vacation on the home farm with my family. After all my travels it is good to be with the children for a change. Rosalind is fourteen and Paul twelve and both are doing all that could be desired. Maybe one or both will be at Cornell some day." Council president is John D. Rockefeller III, our Bill Myers is a trustee, and former Professor Arthur T. Mosher is executive director. The retirement resolutions, as given in the CECA Newsletter expressed "... a perpetual debt of gratitude to Dr. J. Lossing Buck for his great energy, initiative, and resourcefulness in establishing the program of the Council in the field of agricultural economics, for the deep wisdom and the forethought with which he has administered this program during its crucial first three years, and for the professional prestige, the high international standing, and the intimate knowledge of people and conditions of the Far East which he has contributed to it." The Council financed a summer course at Cornell, July 1-August 9, for eighteen Asian students who have been studying agricultural economics in the United States. "J.L.", Bill Myers, and several other Cornellians participated.

At a meeting at the Biltmore in New York City, January 18, of Class officers and committee chairmen, the ALUMNI NEWS was the subject of one of the sessions. G. Gilson (Terry) Terriberry, 230 Park Avenue, New York City, generously gave up his Saturday to represent our Class. Among the ideas discussed: Class dues may as well be $8 or $10. (They are now $6.) It seems that a dollar or two more or less has no effect among the older Classes. A member either kicks in or he doesn't. If the Class can get a few extra dollars, this can help to defray Reunion expenses. It was pointed out that at Princeton many Classes have sufficient funds to pay all Reunion costs except the transportation of the attending members.

It is not too soon to start talking up the 1960 (Forty-five-year) Reunion. Also, it is a good idea to publish a directory of the Class (especially since so many '15ers have new addresses) about six months before that Reunion so that Ed, Joe, Mac, and Eddie can exchange a few letters to find out who plans to attend.

Howard S. Rappleye, 6712 Fourth Street, NW, Washington 12, D.C., has turned out another piece of writing in the form of a poem (that is, the first word of each line starts with a capital letter and the last words of each pair of lines rhyme). It tells of the doings of his family all through 1957. If you request it, he will no doubt send you a copy if he still has a few extras.

The Warden M. Wilsons are now at their home in Asheville, N.C. (2 Stuyvesant Road, Biltmore Forest) after spending the month of November in Hot Springs. They sometimes spend their winters in Tucson. Ward's daughter is married, lives in Charlestown, S.C., and his son, a Yale graduate, is studying architecture at U of P. He says he hears from William H. (Hal) Tyler, 633 South Berendo Street, Los Angeles 5, Cal., sometimes, sees George Rapp '16 once in a while, and saw Dr. William F. (Bill) Rienhoff, Jr., 608 West Belvedere Avenue, Baltimore 10, Md., a short time ago; but hasn't seen any other '15ers in years. He can remedy that by coming to Reunion in 1960.

I was listening to the radio program "Youth Wants to Know" several weeks ago when I heard Judge Sam S. Liebowitz, County Court, Kings County, Brooklyn, dishing out some good hard facts about juvenile delinquency as it is carried out in the big cities. I wrote him a letter of appreciation. Among other things in his reply he says: "I must tell you about a strange thing that happened yesterday. I was startled from a deep slumber. In the early morning I tried to make out what the hands on the clock were saying. For the moment I had an uneasy feeling that I had overslept and was about to miss a 9:00 a.m. class in old Boardman Hall. Think of it, it is more than forty years since Prexy Schurman handed us our sheepskins on Library Slope. . . . Would that we could relive those lazy sunny spring afternoons, squat against a tree on the Quadrangle, and let this woozy world pass in review."

This is the time of year when news runs out. As soon as the replies to Ed Dixon's memos start to come in, we'll be back in business. (You may have noticed that for the first time in three years we had no '15 news items in a recent ALUMNI NEWS, the January issue). The items which Ed forwards to me will be used in the order in which they are received.

Members of the Class will no doubt be interested in a brief report of the activities which have been supported by the Class of 1916 Professorship endowment fund during the first year and a half since its establishment at the time of the Forty-year Reunion of the Class. First call upon the fund, of course, has been the salary of the Class of 1916 Professor of English, Francis E. Mineka, who in February, 1957, became Dean of the College of Arts & Sciences for five years. Dean Mineka continues to teach a graduate course in Victorian Literature and plans at the end of his Deanship to return to full-time teaching.

Meanwhile, he has also been attempting to complete a research project begun some years ago: the publication of as complete an edition as possible of the early letters of John Stuart Mill. Approximately 500 of Mill's letters down to 1849 have been assembled, more than half of which have not previously been published. The '16 fund has provided valuable financial assistance to the project: in the summer of 1956, it helped to defray part of the 1916 Professor's expenses while he did research in England; in 1956-1957, it enabled him to engage a part-time research assistant, and, this fall, to engage a part-time editorial assistant. The progress of the edition has been greatly facilitated with this assistance.

Additional benefits have also accrued to the University. The University Library was given $500 to purchase books in nineteenth-century English literature. In the current year, a Class of 1916 Fellowship of $2500 has been awarded to an outstanding graduate student in English and a similar award is planned for next year. The present holder of the Fellowship is Stanford P. Rosenbaum, an AB of University of Colorado, an MA of Rutgers. After one year at Cornell, Rosenbaum won a Fulbright Fellowship for study at Oxford in 1956-57; he is now in residence at Cornell, engaged on a dissertation on the work of Henry James. Appointment to the Fellowship is recommended to the Graduate School by the 1916 Professor with the advice and concurrence of his Department. The existence of the Fellowship is of great help to the English Department in attracting first-rate graduate students.

The '16 endowment of a professorship with accessory funds still continues to attract national attention. A brochure entitled "Backing Up Brains: Modest Proposals on Behalf of College Teachers," published by the Council for Financial Aid to Education, Inc., 6 East Forty-fifth Street, New York City 17, has recently cited the Class gift as a notable alumni contribution to higher education.

'17 Men—Glen Acheson reports all arrangements completed for our annual dinner at the Cornell Club of New York, Monday, April 14. Preliminaries will start about 5:00 p.m. in our own room, which is earlier than usual. Dinner begins promptly at 6:30 p.m. so the out-of-town boys can leave in time to get some sleep before they start for work the next morning. Fifty-nine attended last year; let's break that modern record for off-the-Campus Class Reunions. And remember, this year we have a surprise m.c.! Who? Come and see!

Have had a hard time locating Lew Balser. Mail addressed to Yorktown Village, Md. was returned. Chairman of our committee of '17, Ells Filby, then found a Yorktown Village in Maine but mail was returned undelivered from there also. Then we wrote Lew at 4905 Earliston Drive, Yorktown Village, Washington 16, D.C. and the letter was not returned! Hope we have located Lew. We can be sure by a reply to our letter!

Just learned that we have a large group of Morris High (Bronx) alumni in our Class, among them Lou Fuchs, Ells Filby, Bob (two L) Willson, and probably several more. Would like to get names of other Morris Highers. Can you name them? Reminds me that my own Buffalo Lafayette High School sent a big group to Cornell in the fall of 1913, among them Herb Buck (where's Herb now?), Bob Carr, Dave Cownic, Bob Grant, the late Roscoe Hambleton, Eric Hodge (anyone know where Eric is?), Jack Houck, the late Ed Houck, Carl Lautz, Ted Lautz, the late Warren Lehrbach, Don Maclay, Geoffrey Maclay, Ira Myers, Ed Seibert, the late Bill Seligman, Howard Smith, the late Carl Stanley, Bob Strebel, and Les Weil. Counting your Class secretary, this high school sent twenty-one fellows to Cornell in one year. Can any other school beat that record for '17?

Robert H. Bahney has retired as chief engineer of Republic Steel Corp. steel plants. Bob was with this concern for his entire business career of forty years. Another ME, Harold G. Meissner, is with Combustion Engineering, Inc. His address is 61 Dell Avenue, Mt. Vernon. Carl F. (Bud) Walter is still in the investment business and lives at 955 North Irving Avenue, Scranton 10, Pa. He corresponds frequently with Charlie (Shep) Shepard who keeps us informed of Cornell affairs in and around the District of Columbia. Shep's address is 3605 Norton Place, NW, Washington 16, D.C. Frank C. Snow is still head of the chemistry department at Buffalo's Bennett High School. Frank was happily married again several months ago and resides at 589 Minnesota Avenue, Buffalo 15.

Your secretary acquired a second granddaughter and sixth grandchild January 6. Mr. and Mrs. Donald (Pete) Johnston '49 have a second daughter with two sons. Dick Johnston '41 has two sons. The total of six leaves us far behind in the '17 grandchild race. Oh, well! I'm young, with Herb, Jr. '59 still to help! Hope to see you in New York April 14.—Herb Johnston

Washington 4, D.C.

The hot-stove league has been holding small meetings here and there to whip up plans for the Fortieth into shape. To put it in terms of Washington gobbledegookese, the program is now being "finalized." Of course, much of it is too secret for public release as yet. But behind the scenes the various committees are priming the pump, setting the fuse, fueling the rocket, preparing for the count-down. We still need more definite information as to how many '18ers are coming back to Ithaca in June. The last report from Charley Muller indicated that about 200 had already "reported in" and "submitted their credentials." Probably more are held up because the little return postcard got lost, and you don't know where to write. Just drop a note to Charles Muller, 28 Orchard Place, Greenwich, Conn., and give him the happy yes or the sad no.

Lou Freedman is writing to many of those who have sent in cards indicating they will attend. What he hopes to do is to set up some good, active regional committees which will undertake to contact all Classmates in the same town or city. This is an important part of the Reunion task. Paul Wanser and Lou are working hard to get a maximum Class gift to Cornell. Paul, who met with Charley Muller and me in New York City last month, is chasing to luncheons, dinners, and other informal meetings everywhere he can find an interested Classmate. Between them the job is well organized—and more than that, will produce results.

Names in the news department: William L. Glenzing gets a big write-up in the house organ of Parsons, Brinckerhoff, Hall & Macdonald, the vast engineering organization which has been the builder of so many of our newest thruways, turnpikes, underwater highway tunnels, and such-like projects. Bill has had a long career with the American Society of Civil Engineers and with engineering firms. Since 1952 he has been in his present job of promotion and selling, including editing a house organ. Archie (the Great) Palmer retired in 1955 as chairman of the Government Patents Board, a job he held under both Truman and Eisenhower. As best I can judge he now is so active he has to wear six hats. His work includes serving as survey director, writing books and articles for the National Research Council, and more recently directing the Washington office of Landon Foundation, a non-profit organization to stimulate research. In his spare time he serves as a consultant for a Senate committee. What a life!

Where is '18's Lost Battalion, a company eighty-one strong? Some of the fellows listed are probably dead, sad to say. The list includes, for example, the names of twelve of those fine Chinese students who came to Cornell in large numbers during our undergraduate years. All have long since been swallowed up by wars and the iron discipline of Red China, and we have no trace of them. But also listed without known addresses are such familiar names as Fred Alfke, Selden Allis, Volney Avery, Morris Barnes, Alphonse Bonagura, Guy Becker, James Bul-

In my scrounging around for news, I was delighted to find an article in February Fortune entitled "The Wall Street Lawyers" featuring photos of several distinguished lawyers, including an excellent one of University Trustee Arthur H. Dean. This article mentions, as many of you know, that he is "successor to John Foster Dulles as ranking senior partner of Sullivan & Cromwell and differs from many other Wall Street lawyers in that he is both a trial and an office lawyer. Widely respected for his business judgment, he is a director of eight companies." An interesting comment is made by Arthur on how old clients can be lost: "The greatest mistake is to think you're entitled to be consulted. Some lawyers get to be fortyish, fiftyish, living in the suburbs, playing golf on week ends; then suddenly the client is faced with some new and very tough problem, and he takes his business somewhere else. In many cases where a law firm loses a client, you'll find the lawyers had too comfortable an existence." So this happens in the law business, too!

Johnnie Hollis very kindly sent me a publication of the American Management Association which also had a picture of Arthur Dean, this time addressing a conference on "Mergers and Acquisitions," regarding the significance of recent court decisions and pending Federal legislation on mergers.

Lawrence S. Waterbury, 26 Broadway, New York City 4. On the subject of highways we have a recognized authority in Larry Waterbury who has a background of many years engineering experience in this field. Among other authorities, he was asked by Engineering News Record to express an opinion on the controversial subject "Should the Federal Government reimburse states and toll authorities for roads on the interstate system already built to required standards?" Does this confuse you as it does me? Well, think nothing of it, because Larry had an answer for them in the affirmative—and six other experts agreed with him; while five disagreed, making the score seven to five in favor of Larry's position. One question, Larry: when all these roads are built where are we going to park all those cars?

Peter Antonelli, 592 Bard Avenue, Staten Island. Last report from Peter said he was in La Paz, Bolivia, as project manager and consultant to the entire Bolivian mining industry and evaluating investment opportunities. Since graduation Peter has been continuously with Ford, Bacon & Davis, Inc., engineers, 39 Broadway, New York City. His work has involved large scale engineering surveys, economic studies, construction of industrial plants, oil properties, light and power plants, mining, sugar, water supply, and natural gas projects both in the United States and foreign countries.

You have all received Lloyd Bemis's fine letter of January 24 and may I join Lloyd in urging you to reply as he requests, include a few notes about yourself on the printed form he sent you. Really, fellows, this is a very small chore to ask of you, and your cooperation will not only help Lloyd keep his books balanced, but will make me your devoted slave, if you will just include a crumb or two of gossip.

We're all agog! The unprecedented news fall-out has brought us a rash of new grandchildren, retirements, promotions, new wives, and news items from coast to coast, and best of all a flock of new faces of 1958 to join our "litiwawee gwoop." The new members are all standing on tippy-toe waiting to be introduced, so we'll get on with it, shall we?

On our right is T. DeWitt Dodson, 5 Peter Cooper Road 8F, New York City 10. "Dod" is assistant general counsel for Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., supervising all claim litigation in New York City. Torrey, Jr. is an officer of Teachers Insurance & Annuities Co., and other son Warren has just finished eighteen months as a captain in Army Dentistry in Korea and will soon start his practice in Princeton, N.J. "Dod" has a good start with three grandchildren. He'll probably catch up!

To the left is W. Sheldon Howell who's had himself in a devil of a rut (his own words) for nearly thirty-four years as chief estimator, hull division, of Great Lakes Engineering Works at River Rouge, Mich. "Shelly" found that figuring the cost of ship's bottoms to be a lumpy sort of business and decided he needed fun and frolic on his off time. So he moved out to the middle of the Detroit River on Grosse Ile, and plunked his home down at 26212 Playview Drive, where he keeps a stable of one, plenty of cats and dogs, an artist son who's picking up a few ideas (good ones we hope) at the shipyard, and a daughter in college. Glad you're aboard, Shelly.

There's Bill Crawford who formerly lived in Alexandria, Va. and sends greetings (and check) from 539 Rosemont Drive, Colorado Springs, Colo. Tom Jenkins added his, too, from 527 Whitney Avenue, New Haven, Conn., and so did Joe Trethaway who slipped down from Upper Montclair to Montclair, N.J. stopping at 230 Park Street. Ben Fishman galloped in from Jamaica where he can be found at 8675 Midland Parkway. Paul Wynne hears a bit of Cornell news from time to time at 3 Zane (e is silent) Road, Binghamton, but likes to read it, too.

Folks, meet Harold Van Aernam of Ballston Spa. (Y'got me, too!) As a member of the New York State Bar since 1926, Van has been about the busiest bee around the State Legislature, serving on innumerable committees, commissions, and for twenty years with the Legislative Index Co. at Albany during sessions, a daily service summarizing bills introduced into the Legislature. Glad to see Van's a fellow Rotarian and has time to have a hobby of growing flowers and herbs. Van was a widower but remarried, Ann Pack of Syracuse. Sorry Van is not eligible for the Grandfathers Club; he didn't have no luck, twice!

J. Dickson Edson, our vice-president in charge of Fund raising, is still raising pheasants up New Canaan way in the hills of Connecticut, and will ship you a brace of these cuties for $9.75 P.P. Special Handling (slightly more for blondes). Send your pheasant orders to 361 Greenwich Street, New York City, but send your Alumni Fund contributions to Cornell Fund, Ithaca. This is the year to double your gift to Cornell as $16,000 is the goal for '20 in June. It'll be easy, if you start now.

All right, slaves, read about Kurt C. "Casey" Lauter who retired as vice-president of Grace National Bank of New York in 1956 and divides his time between Roslyn Harbor, L.I. for winter and Shelter Island, L.I. for the summer sports. When Old Man Winter gets real tough, it's just a hop and a skip to Bermuda or Florida, and right now he's about to shove off on a Mediterranean Cruise. "Casey" couldn't perpetuate his name at Cornell; his daughters graduated from Mt. Holyoke and Sweet Briar. Yes, there's two grandchildren and some room for improvement.

Notwithstanding his great engineering skill, it took Herman Halperin this long to solve the grandson problem, and calls it the Great Event of 1957. Herman is still staff engineer with Commonwealth Edison Co., and resides on Marine Drive overlooking Lake Michigan in Chicago. Whyland D. Sprong's many years of service with the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets may earn him retirement in about two years. He lives at 12 Elmwood Avenue, Sodus. His son Neal hopes to enter Cornell in the fall.

Must remind you Southbound birds that on Florida's west coast you'll find a hearty welcome from Ed Ackery who spends six months at 2165 Gulf-to-Bay Road, Clearwater. Ed has a new address in Detroit, too, 5538 Cadieux Road, but he won't be there until May. Ed Cary's down that way, too, at Floral City, where any kind of weather beats snow shoveling up North. Ed says he's an "old buck," but refuses to admit looking like those old guys in the Class pictures. We'll give him a chance to prove it in June, 1960.

Thank y'all for that two-candle cake, folks! It's sure mighty nice, seein' this here now's our second anniversary clangin' the bell along this line, and we're just glad we ain't wrecked the thing. Sure beats all how time gets aroun' though, don't it? Well, there warn't no pink slip in m'pay envelope; so we'll jest dust off the conductor's cap and pick y'up at the next stop, called Ides (in March). Clang! Clang!

News about members of '21 is not too hard to come by. The name of Wolcott Hooker is seen in the newspapers quite often. Wolcott is senior vice-president and director of Hooker Electrochemical Co., Niagara Falls. He was re-elected for a third term as president of the Synthetic Chemical Manufacturers Association and recently received the 1957 inter-faith award.

Arthur S. Griswold has been elected vice-president of Detroit Edison Co. He has been industry assistant to Detroit Edison President Walker L. Cisler '22 since 1952.

Many of our Class are turning up on the list of the retired and seem to be enjoying it. Heading the list is former president of our Class, Willard A. Kiggins, Jr. After many years of directing the affairs of Bull Steamship Lines in New York City, Kig can now be found in the hills of Vermont; Londonderry, Vt. to be specific.

O. Raynor Ostergren is just as enthusiastic about retirement. Ray has chosen Escondido, Cal. for his Shangri-la. We will surely see him at our Reunions because he never misses.

Rolfe Shellenberger has retired from Babcock & Wilcox and is enjoying his farm at Belvidere, N.J.

Thomas W. Turner of Hampton, Va., professor emeritus of Hampton Institute, has been retired since 1945, enjoying life in community affairs and gardening.

Dr. W. B. Townsend of Colton, Cal. had forced retirement ten years ago due to polio, but is coming along fine now as a gay ranchero on his California ranch. That is enough for the retired contingent at present.

Colwell J. Carney, 80 Eaton Square, London, England, has been living as a Britisher for a number of years and he seems to love it.

Roger D. MacPherson, 96 Viale Parioli, Rome, Italy, is still bringing American architecture into the hills of Rome. Make a note of the address. If you're going to Rome, he will be glad to see you.

Albert L. Lentz is now in Grand Rapids, Mich. Al is looking forward to our Reunion in 1961. Who can ever forget him as leader of the band at the past Reunions?

Robert O. Davison of Westfield, N.J. is director of the Dairy Industries Supply Association. Obbie has never missed a Class dinner or Reunion.

Dr. Jesse D. Stark, 1082 Park Avenue, New York City, is one of America's experts in radiology and radio isotopes. He has just returned from a European lecture tour, but we see him always at our Reunions.

Dr. Milton H. Gennis of Tulsa, Okla., a specialist in podiatry, has reached the stage of lecturing on the subject before professional groups in various parts of the country.

Our banker Classmate, Selden W. Ostrom of New Rochelle, is taking a holiday in Florida. With four married children, three of them Cornellians, and nine grandchildren, it is a good thing that Cornell is expanding as fast as it is to take care of the future generations of Ostroms.

'22 Men—For several years the Class of '22, through its own newsletter, has been keeping the Class posted on the exploits and whereabouts of its own gang. That probably has been good for '22 but, lest those of the fringe Classes feel we have all died or have become "upper-snoot," it is the opinion of many that Cornell's official alumni organ have something written in that blank space between the news of '21 and '23. To that end, your official scribe has agreed to do something, time and ALUMNI News space permitting. Don't let the address (Folly Farm, RD 3, Coventry, Conn.) mislead you into thinking that this editor is a leisurely old gink with nothing else to do but toast his shins before a massive fireplace. On the contrary, as chief of industrial engineering at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft, he goes to work every day, mainly because he needs the money.

A few of the Class have stored up enough hay to retire, but most of them are still making it. A note here says that Dr. William I.

Jablon, 334 South Witmer Street, Los Angeles 17, Cal., has retired from medical practice to become associated with Acoustican Hearing Apparatuses. His three sons have all been educated and are on their own. Bert is an educator in Delmar, Jerome an MD in Van Nuys, Cal., and Merrill is with Turco Products of Los Angeles.

George Teare, former director of construction for Stouffer Corp., has joined the architectural firm of Hubbell & Benes Co. of Cleveland, Ohio. He is also director of Shaker Heights Savings & Loan Association and a vice-president of Northern Ohio Lumber & Timber Co. Aside from being a big executive, George still likes music but the saxophone has long since yielded to the Hammond Organ. It was rumored that he would attend our annual dinner in New York City, but he didn't show. His address: 2596 Guilford Road, Cleveland Heights, Ohio.

Howard E. Whitney is a professional engineer with the firm of William H. McFarland, engineer, 333 Front Street, Binghamton.

Fred W. Utz has recently been elected director and vice-president of Jamaica Public Service Co. Ltd. He is still vice-president of Stone & Webster Service Corp. and president of Safe Harbor Water Power Corp. He lives at 116 East Sixty-third Street, New York City 21; that is, when he isn't relaxing at his farm located on the fringe of the Campus.

Herbert F. Johnson of S. C. Johnson & Son, Inc. of Racine, Wis. and a Trustee of the University has been succeeded as president of the above firm, a post he held since 1928. However, he will continue as chairman and chief executive officer. Hib's firm, as we know, sponsor various TV and radio programs and are the makers of Johnson's Wax, and other household products.

Thomas A. Bissell has been appointed executive secretary of the relatively new Society of Plastics Engineers, with headquarters in Greenwich, Conn. Formerly, Tom had been with the Society of Automotive Engineers, first as technical editor of their journal and later as manager of the meetings division.—Joe Motycka

'23 Dr. George J. Young
Box 324
West Harwich, Mass.

I give you a letter I received from Mrs. Maltby, wife of F. Lee Maltby, Croton Falls, to me, a very beautiful letter: "Dear Dr. Young, It always seems strange to pick up a new copy of the ALUMNI News and to realize that I am not an alumna. For years, or so it appears, I have been cheering the Big Red Team, and of late, have felt heartbroken when Cornell lost a game. The last two years there were no games for the Maltbys, as we were very busy just keeping alive. Finally in November, my husband passed on into that world where bands no longer play and the score is always right. Our son was a member of the Cornell band during his four years at college, and we enjoyed attending the football games and many of the track meets during those years. Our two grandchildren are future Cornellians. Unfortunately, I was privileged to enjoy but a Summer Session on the Hill. Thank you for your Xmas card to my husband. I am only sorry that it came too late. He had hoped, in spite of his battle with cancer, that he would be able to attend his 35th Reunion, but that is not to be. Sincerely, Eleanor P. Maltby."

And word received from Charlie Brumbaugh of the death of R. B. Stichter, January 28, in Dallas, Tex. For the Class of '23, I extend our deepest sympathy to these families.

We are not getting any younger, my friends, and perhaps we should adhere more closely to those anonymously written words, "I expect to pass through this world but once. If, therefore, there be any kindness I can show, or any goodness I can do my fellow human beings, let me do it now, let me not defer nor neglect it, for I will not pass this way again."

George W. Holbrook, who was boss of the galley slaves of '23, lives at 80 North Main Street, Wellsville, and is in both the natural gas utility business and crude oil producing in the Penn Grade area and middle west. Son George Jr. is Cornell '53 and daughter Marian graduated from Smith in 1955, where youngest daughter Elizabeth is now a senior. The Kid's greatest ambition these days is to get a few strokes off his week end golf scores, and in time, he hopes to see as much of the world as his children have seen. Why not put one over on them, George m'boy, and book for passage to the moon?

Percy H. Winch has moved from Hadonfield, N.J. to 88 Meadowbrook Road, North Plainfield, N.J. A year ago he was transferred from the southern division of Public Service Electric & Gas Co. to their central division, and last August moved to his present address. All Classmates in and around Plainfield have a standing invitation to an open house.

George Lee met up with Irv Wright recently, only it was in a patient-doctor relationship. George was a patient at the New York Hospital where Irv took care of him. Hope you're back with the Red Devil by now, George, knockin' off all those new tools for spring gardening.

Some Reunion news: C. H. (Jim) Churchill will serve as chairman of the Reunion committee, with Ed Gouinlock, Stan Perez, Charlie Kells, and Johnnie Cole. On matters pertaining to our Thirty-five-year Reunion, get in touch with Jim Churchill at Cortland Savings Bank in Cortland.

In January, I reported that Jack Gaty was vice-president of Beech Aircraft Co. in Dallas, Tex. I was only half right; Jack is with Beechcraft all right, but he is located at the factory in Wichita, Kans.

Only three more months, my friends! Have you made note of those important dates, June 13 & 14? I know that Charlie Brumbaugh, H. C. Meyer, Wade Duley, and Johnnie Cole will be back in Ithaca. How about you?

'23 Women—Last June at Reunion time, some '23 women, including Eleanor Riley Beach, Dorothy DeLany, Florence Foster Durkee, May Mattson, Gertrude Mathewson Nolin, Doris Wadsworth Toole, Kay Slater Wyckoff, and Lucille Wyman Bigelow got together in Barton Hall to start plans for our big Thirty-five-year Reunion. A questionnaire sent out in December has brought us interesting bits of news which we hope to pass along.

Edith Severance Andrews (Mrs. F. Emerson), 34 Oak Street, Tenafly, N.J., has three sons, one of whom, Bryant, is a Sophomore at Cornell.

Sarah Fox Adler (Mrs. Samuel F.), 185 McClellan Street, New York City, has been teaching for thirty years to make it possible for her husband to devote his life to painting. He has become well known in his field and has had his works exhibited in sixty-five of the important museums here and abroad. She herself writes children's books.

M. Lillian Armor, Chadds Ford, Pa., is principal of "The Children's School" at Chadds Ford, a director of Nature Study Camp Cotuit, West Barnstable, Mass., and has written nature and science articles for Brandywine Review.

Dr. Ruth Morris Bakwin, 132 East Seventy-first Street, New York City, is a director of League for Emotionally Disturbed Children, has written two medical books, teaches at New York University Medical College, does work at Bellevue Hospital and New York Infirmary.

Grace Bullen Belding (Mrs. Cardwell E.), 80 Birchwood Road, Glen Rock, N.J., has two children and seven grandchildren. Since five of the latter live nearby, she says she spends a lot of her time "grandmothering" but also finds time to work for the Seal sale of Bergen County TB & Health Association in Hackensack.

Emma Roseboom Bentley (Mrs. Harold J.), of Worcester writes that since her husband has retired they spend their winters near New Port Richey, Fla.

Aurelia Vaughn Bird (Mrs. Horace), Medina, has five children and three grandchildren. One son, Leslie, graduated from EE and Horace, Jr. is a present student in EE. One daughter, Emily Ann, graduated from Denison and is now married to a Baptist minister and resides in Winchendon, Mass. Another daughter, Helen, is at Denison now.—L.W.B.

Abe Lincoln, ME, is now with the Mount Vernon, Ohio division of Continental Can Co. He moved from Marion, Va. about two years ago. He is presently active in the development of a new product for Continental Can made of plastic and fibre glass combinations that will combine great strength and light weight.

Ed Kirby has been named director of research for New York Trap Rock Corp.

John Joyce is in the securities business in Columbus, Ohio. His address is Huntington Bank Building.

'26 Hunt Bradley
Alumni Office, Day Hall
Ithaca, N.Y.

Elmer (Al) L. Fingar, 20 Pine Cliff Road, Chappaqua, writes that in connection with his role as vice-president and senior trust officer of National Bank of Westchester, White Plains, he has just been appointed chairman of the trust & estate law committee, trust division, New York State Bankers Association.

A. C. "Hank" Bowdish of 145 Northeast Sixth Avenue, Mount Dora, Fla. advises that he has been going up to the Jersey Coast each spring and summer for the last seven years, operating a large seafood restaurant. He says it now appears that he may take a lease on a restaurant in Mount Dora, which he will operate year-round except for the month of August. Our sincere sympathies to you, Hank, for the loss of your wife.

Irving J. Bland sends in this note: "Like the Mississippi I just keep rolling along (with the punches) at the practice of law. My older boy, Ron, now in his first year at Yale law school, 'threatens' to help me out in a few years. The younger one, ready to start the college tour in September, is more comforting; he says he's interested in Architecture at Cornell, and bleeds a little when the football team loses the close ones." Irv's address is 201 Main Street, White Plains.

Chauncey L. Grant is a member of the New York law firm of Gasser & Hayes. He is serving a second three-year term on the Glen Ridge Borough Council and advises that three others of the seven-man council are Cornellians, while one other is a Cornell Law School graduate. Chauncey resides at 40 Hamilton Road, Glen Ridge, N.J.

George T. Larson is with Ryan Contracting Corp., which has been building churches and schools during the last eight years. His oldest daughter, Sandra, is a junior at Douglass; the second, Georgia, is a junior at Dwight; and his youngest, Lisa, is in grade school. George's address is 50 Crest Drive, South, Cresskill, N.J.

Charles L. Pope writes: "In addition to my regular job as consultant on mechanical equipment for Eastman Kodak, have lectured to engineering groups in Tennessee, Dayton, Columbus, Montreal. Driving the 31-year-old Rolls Royce I had at our Thirty-year Reunion; the Jaguar is on the fritz, the Plymouth has a bent frame, etc." Charlie's home address is 361 Sagamore Drive, Rochester 17.

Dr. Francis I. Reed was recently elected president of the Western New York Veterinary Medicine Association. He is located at 425 Main Street, East Aurora.

Donald K. Blood is with Ebasco Services, Inc. and lives at 4 Davidson Avenue, Ramsey, N.J.

Your correspondent had the pleasure, on a recent trip, of seeing Milford C. Howard at a Cornell meeting in Chicago. Milford has recently moved to Milwaukee and his address is 754 North Twelfth Street, Apt. 803, Milwaukee 3, Wis. In Indianapolis, Class President Harry V. Wade and his wife, Agnes, were most congenial hosts. In Cincinnati, acquaintance was renewed with Dan Coppin, whose son is now a freshman at Purdue.

'27, '28 AB—Frederick J. Behlers (above), head of the installment loan division of Bankers Trust Co., 16 Wall Street, New York City 15, has been named a vice-president of the bank. He joined the bank in 1943, has also served in the credit division and as an out-of-town officer for the middle western states and as head of the Long Island City office. He was named an officer in 1948 and an assistant vice-president in 1952.

H. Lee Merriman, BArch (above), returned again this winter to Key West, Fla. as general manager of The Key Wester, year-round country club resort. Lee writes he will be glad to hear from any Class members who are in his vicinity. He has spent most of his career in the hotel business in the East, but since 1950 has concentrated on Florida which evidently has become his favorite State. Lee is a member of the American Hotel Association, Florida Hotel Association, Hotel Greeters of America, and an associate member (honorary) of the Cornell Society of Hotelmen. He is also a member and ambassador-at-large of Mahi Temple, and a member of the Elks Club and Rotary Club of Hollywood, Fla. Lee was on the track team at Cornell and in 1929 won the National Amateur 56-pound weight track event in Denver, Colo. He is married and has one son, and his hobbies are music (singing), swimming, and movies. (This news and picture is repeated to correct an error by which it appeared in the '32 Class column last issue. Merriman is a member of the Class of '28—Ed.)

Roger W. Jones, assistant director of the Budget Bureau's Legislative Reference Service, was named January 16 by President Eisenhower as one of the first five recipients of the President's award for "exceptionally meritorious civilian service" to the Government. The award, a gold medal, was presented at a White House ceremony, January 27. Rog was praised for "exceptional objectivity and constructiveness" in the development of Federal legislation. Among family members present were his wife, the former Dorothy Heyl '29, his father, H. Roger Jones '06, and his daughter, Mrs. Cynthia Jones Hodges. His son, Roger H. Jones '57, is in the Graduate School of Business & Public Administration.

Clarence A. Martin, Jr. has written us that he has been promoted to traffic engineer for General Telephone Corp. at headquarters, 260 Madison Avenue, New York City 16. Mike was general traffic manager for General Telephone Co. of the Southwest, San Angelo, Tex. He is married and writes he will send us his home address here in the North when he is settled. His favorite hobby is photography.

James D. Pond has announced the sale of the tree trimming and landscape sections of Pond & Moyer Co., Ithaca, of which he is president. Froggy plans to continue the consulting and Christmas tree sections of the business and will specialize in timber appraisals, estimates and management, and supervision of Christmas tree appraisals.

January 30, the executive committee of the Class of '28 held a meeting at the Cornell Club of New York. Those attending included Stan Krusen, vice-president; Bob Leng, treasurer; Tom Wyman, secretary; Ray Beckwith, Jim Stewart, John Young, and your correspondent, as president. Also at the meeting were Doc Smythe, who is assisting Jim Stewart on the Alumni Fund in the New York area, and Dick Kochenthal. Plans for our Thirty-year Reunion in June were discussed at this meeting. John White was again selected as chairman of the attendance committee, Dick Kochenthal will look into costume requirements, and Charlie Macbeth is taking care of the arrangements in Ithaca. Your correspondent was also roped in again to handle publicity and printed promotion for our Reunion.

'28 AB—Mrs. Ronald Cooper (Edith Christensen) (above), 286 Wood-Ridge Street, Wood-Ridge, N.J., has been elected secretary of Midland Bank, a new commercial bank that opened in February in Paramus, N.J. Her duties will include the bank's public and community relations program. Mrs. Cooper attended NYU graduate school of business administration and Columbia. She has been with Lincoln Savings Bank of Brooklyn and American Machine & Foundry Co., New York City. She was an officer of Savings Bank Women of New York and is a member of the Spence-Chapin Adoption Service committee of women in finance and the National Thrift Committee extension committee. She belongs to the National Association of Bank Women, Cornell Club of New York, Cornell Women's Club of Bergen County, Delta Delta Delta, and Mortar Board. Variety is good; it is the spice of life, or so they say. We try to give some variety in these columns. Perhaps we succeed; but today we talk of children, our children, and it seems we always talk of them. We think it is good to do so especially when they are now attending Cornell. Here are some of them.

George R. Bradley, Jr., ME, who lives at 146-05 Fifty-eighth Road, Flushing 55, writes that his son George R. III is now in the fifth year of Chemical Engineering.

Leonard Gordon, AB, 127 Harris Street, Far Rockaway, who appeared earlier in these columns, wrote that his daughter Margaret, a Sophomore, besides having a National Merit Scholarship, also has New York State Cash and Cornell Scholarships.

Stewart A. Maurer, Jr. graduated from the Hotel School in June. His father, our Classmate, lives at 217 Bonnie Brae Avenue, Rochester.

Donald W. Moore and his wife, Ella Miller '31, write that their second son, Allen, is Class of '61, currently living at Telluride House and is a National Merit Scholar. Their oldest son attended Julliard School where he had a scholarship. Donald is a partner in T. G. Miller's Sons Paper Co. and his address is Box 646, Ithaca.

Not quite there, but ready for the Class of '62, is Claressa, daughter of Hyman B. Fisher of 713 Elizabeth Street, Ogdensburg.

Robert C. Hazlett's oldest boy, Robert C., Jr., is a Sophomore in Electrical Engineering. Bob, CE, lives at 6 Echo Point Circle, Wheeling, W.Va.

We do not come close to home grounds very often, but Burt G. Lewis opened the door for us when he wrote that his two sons are Cornellians, Burt G. Lewis III '54 and Ronald B. Lewis '60. He sells Cadillacs, Pontiacs, and Buicks at Peconic, L.I., and runs the Lewis House at Sheepshead Bay, where he serves Schaefer Beer. What more do we need for an opening. We have two children. Roger, a junior at Loomis School, Windsor, Conn., looks like good crew or basketball material, now standing better than 6'4". Judith is completing eighth grade. Cornell? for both? We hope they make it third generation for this family.

'32 William H. Gerstenberger
2751 E. Jefferson Ave.
Detroit 7, Mich.

Navy Captain Thomas D. Slagle (above), Medical Corps, USN, husband of the former Helen L. Field of Sylve, N.C., is part of a group of Navy Seabees, fliers, and civilian scientists who will man the US scientific observation stations in Antarctica during 1958 and early 1959. Volunteers with the Navy's "Operation Deepfreeze III," the group will be assigned to the seven US scientific bases in the various remote sections of this frigid polar continent.

Mrs. Trudy Dye of Philadelphia and Robert K. Farrand were married January 18 in Beach Haven, N.J. Lutheran Church. Bob is the son of the late President Livingston Farrand of Cornell and the late Mrs. Farrand. He is an executive with The Saturday Evening Post.

James E. Magoffin was elected a vice-president of Eastman Chemical Products, Inc., Kingsport, Tenn., effective January 1. He now heads the chemicals division of this Eastman Kodak Co. marketing subsidiary for products manufactured by Kodak's Tennessee & Texas Eastman divisions. Magoffin has been with the Eastman organization since he joined Tennessee Eastman Co., Kingsport, in 1931. He is married to the former Dorothy Elizabeth Seay of Atlanta, Ga. They live at 1524 Watauga Street, Kingsport.

John F. Wallace reports that he is president of Air Survey Corp., 1101 Lee Highway, Arlington, Va. His specialty: "Doing aerial surveys and topographic mapping for many consulting engineers who seem always to have some Cornellians on their staff."

Charles O. Vail, Creole Petroleum Corp., La Salina Zulia, Venezuela, writes that he married Marjory Rendle of Rawlins, Wyo., and has two daughters, Virginia and Carolyn, aged 13 and 12, respectively. He has worked in the oil business in Venezuela since May, 1937, with two years out during the war. Present position is service supervisor in the La Salina district.

Donald H. Foster, Albany, reports: "After four years in Chicago and nine in Topeka, Kans., I returned to my former location in Albany with the Crop Reporting Service, Agriculture Marketing Service, US Department of Agriculture. Travel around the State quite a bit. Married, no children."

David R. Clarkson, Lexington, Ky., is personnel manager of the electric typewriter division of IBM. He writes: "Son David, 9, and daughter Margaret, 11, are rabid Wildcat rooters in this basketball-mad town. Just ask them who Rupp is."

Fred B. Ferris, Jenkintown, Pa., brings us up to date: "I am an industrial engineer with the methods & standards department of Atlantic Refining Co., Philadelphia. Married Carrie Lightcap (9/7/46) of Jenkintown. Member of the Philadelphia Chapter, SAM."

'32 AB—Mrs. Joseph M. Davis, Jr. (Frances Reinhart) lives at 10654 Overlook Place, Los Angeles 34, Cal.; has a daughter, Sheila, twelve, and a son, Joe III, nine, both busy with Scouting. She is active in PTA work and has been doing a lot of traveling, including trips to Europe. She missed her Twenty-five-year Reunion in June because she went with her husband to help him celebrate his twenty-five-year one at Harvard.

'33 AB, '39 MS, '46 PhD—Richard H. Jordan of 1844 Arroya Avenue, Colorado Springs, Colo., has been appointed assistant technical director of the Airways Modernization Board. As head of operations analysis, he will apply modern research techniques to studies of all phases of military and civil aviation. He has been on the operations analysis staff of the North American Air Defense Command in Colorado Springs.

'35 BS—J. Frank Birdsall, Jr., innkeeper of Treadway Inn, Rochester, and head of the New York-Pennsylvania division of Treadway's group of country inns, received the first "Golden Host" award as the Food Man of the Year for 1957. The hotel industry's new "Oscar," sponsored by the magazine Hotel Management, for the year's most outstanding accomplishment in a given phase of hotel operation was presented to Birdsall during the National Hotel Show. The golden statuette carries with it two round-trip KLM plane tickets to Europe and $500 for expenses. Birdsall was also named "Top Host" of the country by the National Restaurant Association last spring.

Charles W. Egbert (above) has been named manager of applications for York Corp., a subsidiary of Borg-Warner. Charlie joined York Corp. in 1936 and has worked up through the organization in various sales and engineering capacities. He is married and has three children and recently moved to 3206 Eastern Boulevard, York, Pa.

David C. Amsler advises us that his new address is 170 Chatham Road, Syracuse 6. Last summer he and his wife toured England and Western Europe for five weeks, covering more than 3000 miles.

Harold Deckinger lives at 85 Locust Avenue, Millburn, with his wife Norma and three sons, Michael 15, Eric 11, and Merrill 6. He is an attorney and officer in training at Title Guarantee & Trust Co., New York City.

Charles E. Dykes does not give us his new home address but he has deserted Ithaca to become controller of Avon Products, Inc., with offices at 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York City.

Louis J. Dughi is a senior partner of Dughi & Johnstone in Westfield, N.J., and has recently been appointed county attorney for Union County. He is a member of the Board of Education, a director of National Bank of Westfield, and has been a member of the University Council and chairman of the National Alumni Committee on Secondary Schools for the last three years. He lives at 601 Lenox Avenue, in Westfield, with his wife and four children, and spends his summers at South Montoloking, N.J.

Max M. Kleinbaum has been administrative assistant to the president of Brandeis University, Waltham, Mass., since October, 1956, and has three children, Paul 7, Sara 5, and Aaron 3.

Alan B. Mills, Jr. writes that he has recently been designing establishments for nuclear reactors and guided missiles and other types of military design. He is especially proud of the design of the new wings for the Museum of Natural History in Washington and of his association with McKim, Mead & White in the design of the new Smithsonian Museum of History & Technology. His address is 3308 Fourteenth Street, NW, Washington 10, D.C.

William G. Van Arsdale lives in Castile.

He has a son who is a Freshman in Mechanical Engineering.

Warren W. Woessner, who is the father of three boys, 13, 11, and 8, lives on RD 1, Chestnut Drive, Woodstown, N.J. He writes that he is chief supervisor of heavy chemicals area of the DuPont Chambers Works at Pennsgrove, N.J. He is active in Scout work and relaxes with his Hammond Organ when not practicing for church work.

'37 Women—Luciana Hnatt, Colbrook Apts., Rye, who teaches Latin at Rye High School, wrote last spring that she could not attend Reunion "because Uncle Sam invited me through his Fulbright Program to spend ten weeks in my beloved Rome at the American Academy." She has kept her promise to report on this adventure and I pass along some of her long and enthusiastic report:

A summer seminar in the American Academy at Rome requires several pairs of sturdy shoes and a grim determination not to die of sunstroke. Imagine a day in mid-summer beginning around 7 a.m. at the Palazzo Salviati (Rome's unique Florentine Palace, just as built) at the edge of the Trastevere section (Rome's Greenwich Village) when three roommates descend to the dining room where they, with their fellow Fulbrights, tackle hard rolls (cf. The Case of the Broken Tooth) and cafe latte, and fight their way into an incredibly packed bus for such places as the Roman Forum, Baths of Caracalla, or the Villa Giulia. Imagine the Italian sun beating upon them as, with faces streaked, they tramp the dust of the regal ruins, the republican ruins, the imperial ruins, writing, writing, observing, listening, while their indefatigable professor (McKendrick of Wisconsin) expounds upon the seven kinds of tufa or the questionable site of Romulus's hut. Imagine the Angelus accompanied by so welcome a sound as "That's all for this morning" as each makes his separate way to the Monte Janiculo and the Academy Villa, diverted occasionally to Dreher's and the cooling draft of scuro grande...

Picture a cool and lovely villa with a modest fountain in its peristyle and a long table for thirty-six in the portico where the dusty marchers sit at leisure sipping wonderful cafe espresso... Picture all of Rome at rest (every last ruin and church locked tight), but the Academicians sitting tight in the high shutter-darkened lecture room, far from the cool fountain, drinking in intellectual drafts of knowledge from the lips of their learned tutors... Think of a late afternoon when all Rome is alive again and the scholars are set free to roam (if able) among the classical, medieval, or modern streets, spending those delightful lire by the hundreds or just looking... How could anyone without seeing it imagine the pleasure of an evening in Rome? Everything moves, from the fantastic fountains to the proud cats who possess the City and live by their wits. No one sleeps, and the largest crowds move toward the Baths of Caracalla where spectacular productions of "Aida," "Carmen," and all the favorites are performed... Hardly a day passes when a movie scene isn't being filmed somewhere (watch for Mario Lanza in something or other. We stumbled over him twice in heart-gripping scenes...)

After a pleasant walk (!) home or a survival-of-the-fittest bus ride, think not of pleasant Morpheus, for though we lay our weary heads upon those cement sacks (unreasonable facsimiles of pillows), there is a new crowd of youthful tourists in the bar of our Florentine courtyard below. Their happy laughter and song mushroom to our third-floor windows like the roar of an angry Vesuvius. By the time we learn to sleep through it, the noisy Scandinavians have left, and a quiet

(sic) crowd of GIs has stopped by. . . . We shall sorely miss the Salviati. It is friendly and cheap. . . .

If you can picture such a day, you have a small view of the life of a student in Rome. Somewhere there was much more studying, library-digging, and tomb-crawling. . . . The Fulbright Commission in Rome kept busy thinking of ways to make our stay even more delightful. Take, for instance, the Sunday they took us up to Mt. Terminillo . . . to visit the Italian teachers learning American intonation under the able guidance of our own Professor Frederick B. Agard, Linguistics. We chatted briefly about Cornell. Professor Blanchard L. Rideout, PhD '36, Director of the Division of Unclassified Students, and the Junior Rideouts stopped by to say hello, and my closest traveling companion and fellow-Fulbright was Ellen McTiernan, MA '45. Coi i migliori auguri.

What was that last again? Translation, anybody?

Hello, out there! Here we are again with nuggets of news about delinquent and non-delinquent '38ers. The delinquents first:

Two minutes before I sat down to write this column, the phone rang and a voice said, "I understand we're having a Reunion." It was the voice of George Smith, from whom little has been heard in a dog's age. He was reporting in that he and his good frau were taking off for Italy this week end and were to spend the first week of their four-week sojourn with Bill and Jane Kruse in Milan. Bill is going to meet them at the airport and whisk them back to the Kruse villa at Via Morozzo Della Rocca #5 (in case anyone wants to drop by for a spot of vino). George & family are apparently still cozy out in Westfield, N.J.

A three-month-old post card from delinquent Fred Huntington that came to light tonight says, in part: "Took Anne (17 and senior in high school) to hear Assistant Dean Rollin Perry [MSinEd '47], Arts & Sciences, address the Toledo flock recently. She is interested in Cornell, but wants to study nursing. Emily Jane (12) is in the seventh grade, and Babs (10) is in the fifth grade. All at Ottawa Hills schools. I was re-elected to the Ottawa Hills village council and am manager of the Dura Division (auto parts) of Detroit Harvester Co."

Harold Smith has been named operations specialist in distribution services of Co-operative GLF Exchange, Inc., Ithaca. Fred Tuthill has been appointed junior-senior high school principal in Trumansburg Central School. Charlie Riley has been named director of wholesale operations for Co-operative GLF Exchange. Orvis Sowerwine recently became a member of the law firm of Chadbourne, Parke, Whiteside & Wolff, 25 Broadway, New York City 4.

I've had two fine letters from Hank Beutell in Switzerland and condense them for you here: "I have spent almost half the time since '38 with Republic Aviation Corp. Shortly after the first of '57, I accepted a transfer to our foreign subsidiary, Republic Aviation (International) S.A. (Riva Caccia 12, Lugano), as general manager. . . . I rented a house in Lugano so that we have long since been able to settle down to enjoying our 'second home.' Jan, our daughter (15), attends school in Lausanne, where, among other things, she has learned enough French to put Emily's and mine to shame. . . . The boys (10 and 12) are now attending Le Rosey which is in Rolle, Switzerland. . . . RAI holds fairly large contracts for Republic airplane spares which we procure over here for both the USAF and so far for one of our NATO countries. . . . I have found the work most interesting and, needless to say, we are all very happy to have the many opportunities which living here provides. . . . We have made the most of several long week ends and also our summer vacation to see a good deal of Europe and the Scandinavian countries. . . . I was very interested to note your excerpts from letters received from Burton Eaton and Dick Anderson. I will soon write to both of them, and I am particularly anxious to tell Burt that I have revisited many of the places that he, Dave Peace '41, my brother Richard '40 and I staggered in and out of during our visit to Europe in the summer of '38. I must say my visits have been under entirely different circumstances, since I now go in with a ring through my nose."

And that rings down the curtain for this issue. Be with you in two weeks. Pay your dues and send your news!

It may come as a shock to most of you and you may think this is too early to think about it; our Twenty-year Reunion happens in June, 1959, a little more than a year from now. Your officers have already started to think, and do something, about it. At a meeting in New York City last week, preliminary discussions were had and plans made for the committees to be organized. This Reunion is an important one because it is the first Reunion after we turn forty and, as they say, Life Does Begin At 40. This, the 25th, and the 40th are the big ones.

From now on this column will keep you well informed of progress as well as do the job it is regularly supposed to. This job is to keep the Class up-to-date on its members and activities and without your help in feeding me news we cannot do this job.

The folder with the backlog of news items about our Classmates is beginning to look a little thin. How about sitting down tonight and sending news of your activities and word about some of the fellows whose accomplishments (or address) are known to you?

Richard B. Drooz, MD, is associate professor of psychiatry at State University of New York College of Medicine. He is also clinical director of the psychiatric division at Kings County Hospital. Under the "also" heading comes the fact that he is a new subscriber to the ALUMNI NEWS. The home address is 8-A East Sixty-third Street, New York City 21.

Edgar A. Kudlich is president of Kudlich General Insurance Agency, Ltd. in Honolulu. Ed writes that he sees Fred Koch and Bill Fleming occasionally. Next year will be his turn to visit the "mainland" since his wife Sue made the trip this year. (Someone has to stay home to care for the three boys and one girl in the family.) He adds: "We all enjoy visitors; so, Classmates, call us when you are at the crossroads of the Pacific." Their street address is 1471 Kapiolani Boulevard.

The John V. Flynns live at 303 Dakota Avenue, Wilmington, Del. with their four children (boy, girl, boy, girl). He has been with E. I. du Pont de Nemours for the last five years, first in development, pilot plant, and production and now in maintenance.

Governor Robert Meyner of New Jersey has appointed William Ezra Cornell chairman of a Governor's committee on employment of the physically handicapped. Bill's address is 85 Overlook Terrace, Bloomfield, N.J.

Here are some new addresses which may be indications of new houses built, new jobs started, or simply a switching of landlords. We don't have the details, but know you'll be interested. R. I. Ballinger, Jr., Radnor Way, Radnor, Pa.; Dr. R. Hugh Dickinson, 2318 Ballinger Way, Seattle 55, Wash.; Benjamin S. Truszkowski, YMCA, Box 317, 117 West Monument, Dayton, Ohio; Hamilton S. White, 309 Dawley Road, Fayetteville; William H. Worcester, 32435 Wing Lake Road, Birmingham, Mich.; Russell Smith, 3605 Sheridan Boulevard, Lincoln, Nebr.; Dr. Raymond W. Mitchell, 300 Long Avenue, Hamburg; Dr. Sidney A. Haber, 56 Richbell Road, White Plains.

A change of address for Jack Crom indicates he may now be reached at 15 Northeast First Avenue, Gainesville, Fla. He is in the business of building prestressed concrete tanks for water, sewage, and chemicals. The sixth youngster, a boy, joined the family in September to find Joe, Judy, Suzy, Chris, and Sean already in the family circle. Jack and Norine can both keep busy helping with rubbers on a rainy day!

The new address for Edward L. Griffin, Jr. is 1619 West Willcox Street, Peoria, Ill.

A check and brief note brings evidence that Francis Shepardson is in Canandaigua (55 Chapel Street). He has been there for five years as farm appraiser for Federal Land Bank. Thanks for the check, Francis. It has been forwarded to Larry Lilienthal. We'll be glad to do the same for any other men of '40 who want to catch up on their dues.

Merle S. Robie is still in the Philippines where he is vice-president and general manager of Columbian Rope Co. of Philippines. He and Sally (Sally Gibson '40), Patti (10), Cathy (8), and Steve (3½) expect to be back in the USA during 1958. Merle, a lot of Cornellians have been serving on the staff of the College of Agriculture at Los Banos during the last four years to help rehabilitate that institution under an ICA Contract. Hope you have had a chance to see some of them.

David E. Roe lives in Campbell and works as accountant for Corning Glass Works in the "A" factory branch. His son, David, who was the first son in the Class of '40 written up in the ALUMNI NEWS, is now applying to Cornell for admission in September, 1958. Dave, Sr. keeps more than busy with a total of five children and his interests in Elmira Chapter, National Association of Accountants, member of school board and school clerk for Campbell Central School.

'41 Men—S. Michael Schatz, a partner in the law firm of Schatz & Schatz, 720 Main Street, Hartford, Conn., reminds us that his firm has probably the largest aggregation of Cornell lawyers in that state. Included are Arthur M. Schatz '40, LLB '42; Walter B. Schatz '44, LLB '47; Ralph M. Shulansky, LLB '52; and Daniel E. Holland, Jr., LLB '53. Mike is assistant secretary-treasurer of the State Bar Association of Connecticut after having served as a director of the Junior Bar Conference of the American Bar Association.

Also in the same community, Joseph S. Hilbert, 14 Portage Road, West Hartford, Conn., announced the birth of a daughter in November. Joe teaches Latin at Weaver High School, having studied under the beloved professor of our time "Bull" Durham [PhD '99]. A Fulbright Grant took Joe to American Academy at Rome in 1956 and away from our big Fifteen-year Reunion. He assures us that he has definite plans to be in Ithaca for our Twenty-year one.

Cornell alumni in the Hartford area are busy with preparations for another Glee Club concert scheduled for the end of March. Classmates around town include Robert E. Kilian, president of Kilian Steel Ball Corp., 100 Wellington Street, Hartford, and John C. Sterling, Jr., 1889 Asylum Avenue, West Hartford, development engineer and head of the air conditioning group at Hamilton-Standard, division of United Aircraft Corp.

Thomas J. Redington, 422 Westgate Drive, Park Forest, Ill., is purchasing agent for Turner Construction Co. in Chicago. Tom lists three children: "TJ, Jr.", Mary, and Bill.

Bell Telephone Laboratories advises us that Classmate Seymour Geller (also PhD '49), 51 Dogwood Road, Morristown, N.J., has distinguished himself in certain discoveries of the ferrimagnetism of materials known as rare-earth-iron garnets. Seymour performed studies at the Laboratoire Electrostatique et De Physique du Metal of the Institute Fourier in Grenoble, France.

Right here might be a well-taken spot for a commercial, a plug for more news from Classmates. So friends, just lift the nearest stationery item from your wife's desk and before she returns to the room write your name and address and occupation and whatever else time may permit. Mail it to 51 North Quaker Lane, West Hartford, Conn. in care of Robert L. Bartholomew, or Class secretary, Class correspondent, Bart, Bob, or Moose. And now back to the late, late show.

From Atlanta, Ga. at 1063 Peachtree Battle Avenue, NW, comes a letter with this word from Class vice-president Raymond W. Kruse, "Don't forget my pledge to support the '41 Group Subscription Plan to the ALUMNI NEWS. I signed up at Reunion time." Ray also mentions his three children and his job as branch manager of the southeastern territory of the plastics department for Rohm & Haas Co. Recently in Tampa, Fla. Ray bumped into Chester O. Wavvig, Jr., 3932 North Lake Drive, Milwaukee 11, Wis. New plant construction took Chet, president of Globe Union, Inc., to Tampa.—R.L.B.

'42—Loren V. Petry is a senior captain with Trans World Airlines now flying the non-stop flight from New York to Los Angeles. Cornellians on his flight are invited to make themselves known. Petry is the son of Professor Loren C. Petry, Botany, Emeritus.

'42 AB—A daughter, Margery Lee Harper, was born January 6 to Mrs. Ashby T. Harper (Madge Palmer), joining twin brothers, Rick and Dave, three, and Fred, five. Mrs. Harper is the wife of the headmaster of St. Louis Country Day School, St. Louis 24, Mo.

'43, '47 BS—E. John Egan, manager of the food & beverage department of Mayflower Hotel, DeSales Street at Connecticut Avenue, NW, Washington, D.C., writes: "Beginning to feel like a real Washington resident now that we are getting settled in our new home at 6435 Barnaby Street, NW. We frequently see Bob Ladd, who is going to help me round up a good group for our Fifteen-year Reunion in June."

'43 BChEmE, '47 MChEmE—A daughter, Mary Anne Sfat, was born November 5 to Michael R. Sfat and Mrs. Sfat of 1137 North Sixteenth Street, Manitowoc, Wis.

'44, '49 BArch—John B. Cummings, associate in the architectural firm of Conrad & Cummings, has been named Binghamton's "Outstanding Young Man of the Year" by the Binghamton Junior Chamber of Commerce. Robert E. Peach, Law '45-'49, president of Mohawk Airlines, Utica, was guest speaker at the annual distinguished service award dinner, January 14, in Hotel Arlington. Cummings is president and a former secretary and vice-president of the Cerebral Palsy Association in Binghamton and served as chairman of the trade groups division in the United Fund's torch drive for 1958. He is a former Binghamton district Boy Scout commissioner and a member of the youth work committee of the Binghamton YMCA. He is a director of the Central New York chapter of the American Institute of Architects and a member of the State Association of Architects. He was recently president and is now a director of the Cornell Club of Broome County; is a director of the alumni board of the Cornell chapter of Kappa Sigma; was president of Quill & Dagger from 1946-47. From 1943-45, he served as a second lieutenant in the Army Air Corps. He and Mrs. Cummings (Jean Hendrickson) '45 live with their four children at 57 Lincoln Avenue in Binghamton. He is the son of George B. Cummings '12 and the brother of Mrs. Robert W. Storandt (Jean Cummings) '42.

'45 Men—The following news items may be appearing for the second time as I uncovered some news notes the other night while rummaging through my desk. However, I do want to make sure that it has been included, so here goes. Russ Greer, a major with the USAF and a DVM, has a little girl, Melissa Holly, who will be a year old in April. She has two big brothers, Randy and Michael. Dr. Greer or Major Greer, when last reported, was at the USAF Hospital in Plattsburgh. Robert B. Trousdale, 9315 Bigby Street, Downey, Cal., is a research engineer with North American Aviation Corp.; is working on the ICBM and has more than twenty-two patents. Bob's wife is Gladys Binns '51, and his father is James B. Trousdale '22, Assistant Controller for Accounting at the University, and his mother is Ruth St. John '22.

Roy E. Hughes is sales manager for Lone Star Boat Co., Dallas, Tex., and lives at 3907 Travis Street in Dallas. Wood Bacon, 1601 Tradelo Road, Waltham, Mass., is sales manager of the industrial division at Tracerlab, Inc. Woody has a wife and three children whom he acquired during his seven years in Pittsburgh. Dr. Richard L. Zimmern, 1704 Summer Street, Stamford, Conn., is a pediatrician and was married in 1955. Dick's family includes a boy, David Lee, who will be two in July, and a wife. This particular note is six months old, so the chances are that there has been another addition since then, what with the business Dick is in. Louis C. Schimoler, 41 Colfax Road, Springfield, N.J., is a DVM and practices in Summit. Dutch has two daughters, Laura Ann and Mary Lou.

David Erle Huyler, 117 West End Avenue, Alma, Mich., is assistant professor of history at Alma College where he has been since September, 1956. Dave likes his job very much and thinks Alma is a great place to live. Edwin F. Whiting, 609 North Fletcher, Kalamazoo, Mich., is a research chemist with Upjohn and has a little girl, Ann Louise. Sidney G. Rumbold has been since July project engineer for nuclear rocket projects with the Aerojet-General Corp. Sid joined Aerojet in 1955 and lives in Claremont, Cal. If there are recent developments with the Classmates mentioned, let me have them for inclusion in a future column.

Now for some fresh news: Howard E. Blood, Jr. has been promoted to director of industrial & public relations of Long Manufacturing Division, Borg-Warner Corp. Howard lives at 604 University Place, Grosse Pointe, Mich. For the last eleven years he has been with Long Manufacturing and other divisions of Borg-Warner Corp. Most recently he has been administrative assistant to the president. Frank K. Hoover, 1046 Michigan Avenue, Evanston, Ill., was elected an alderman last November. Frank says that his deep interest in government as a "system of personal freedom" and his awareness of the problems of his ward and native city caused him to respond to the urging of friends to run for alderman. Congratulations, Frank! I wish more of our Classmates were taking an active role in the government whether, State, local or Federal. Maybe they are and we just don't hear or know about it. So, if you are active and no matter how small a part you are playing, please drop me a line and we'll run a special column on what our Class is doing in making democracy work.

Everett T. Nealey, 228 Shaw Street, WHP, Ft. Bragg, N.C., has sold his home and dental practice in Exeter, N.H. to accept a captaincy in the Army Dental Corps. Now serving at Ft. Bragg, Captain Nealey has a lovely wife (whom I well remember), Dorothea M. (Lemon) '44, and two children, James 6 and Pamela 3½.

'48 Men—More news from '48: John F. Marion, AB, (wife, Norma Braun '51, and a daughter) of 215 Crestwood Lane, Harbor Bluffs, Largo, Fla., is now engineering section head, Sperry-Rand Corp., Clearwater, Fla. Raymond E. Tuttle, BS, is now assistant manager, engineering, Florida operations, phosphate chemical division of International Minerals & Chemical Corp., Bonnie Plant, Bartow, Fla. Leonard Marsak, BS, 99 Florida Street, Long Beach, received the PhD at Cornell in '57, and is instructor in history at Wellesley College, Wellesley, Mass. Captain Herbert S. Holland, Jr., BS, Camp Kilmer, N.J., now married with five children, is assistant professor of military science & tactics at Seton Hall University, South Orange, N.J. Richard Landsman, AB, 35 Deepdale Parkway, Roslyn Heights, is fulfillment manager, Greystone Corp., and visited Cornell over Labor Day for a houseparty at Tau Delta Phi. Charles von Wrangell, BME, 24 Ludlow Road, Westport, Conn., and now senior research associate, Dunlap & Associates, Inc., anxiously awaits June Reunion "what with the new Engineering Campus, boat-house, rowing tanks." Your correspondent adds that the new "on Campus" facilities are so numerous that even the Ithaca alumni look forward to Reunion vacation so that they can get up to date on our new Campus.—Bob Colbert

'48 Women—Our Ten-year Reunion coming up and from the mail I get there will be a lot of '48ers present! So start saving your pennies, arranging for time off, and looking for baby sitters, and let's have the biggest showing there!

Our famous Classmate, Dr. Joyce Bauer Brothers, did it again when she defeated a team of seven boxers at their own specialty, boxing lore, to take top prize on the CBS program $64,000 Challenge. The prize, together with $70,000 won on previous quiz show appearances, brought Joyce's winnings to $134,000 and made her television's fourth-highest money winner.

Marjorie Atrick Wohl and husband Charles live at 321 Stuart Drive, New Rochelle. They have two girls, 1½ and 6 years old. Marjorie is a licensed real estate saleswoman with B. F. Ruskin Agency, New Rochelle.

June Englebright Fleming lives at 245 Montalvo, San Clemente, Cal. and would welcome hearing from Classmates "lost in the limbo of southern California." She thinks Genevieve Fredericks Petrie is there somewhere, but can't find her! She and husband Van have a son, Kelly Eugene, born July 29, and a daughter Laura Lillian, 2½.

News from Ruth Rotholz tells of her marriage to Clifford F. Jeddiss of San Francisco, June 30. Present at the wedding were Rusty Lubin Bass '49, Don Bass '48, Isabel Mayer Berley '47, Bill Berley '48, Iris Weiner Bluestein, Audrey Perla Orange '49, Laurel Fox Vlock, and Jim Vlock '48. Sounds like a real Reunion! Ruth and Clifford's address is 240 East Seventy-sixth Street, New York City.

Marge Labash is hoping to attend Reunion on her honeymoon on the way out to Ann Arbor, Mich. Marge will marry Harold C. Young of Cambridge in May. They are both on the staff of Cambridge Public Library. Harold expects to attend grad school at Ann Arbor starting in June. Marge also writes that she enjoyed a wonderful trip to Europe in 1955. Her present address is 285 Harvard Street, Apt. 102, Cambridge, Mass.

Eileen Peck writes that aside from her full-time job as chief dietitian at Arnot Ogden Memorial Hospital in Elmira, she is career guidance chairman for the New York State Dietetic Association and the third vice-president of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs. Eileen's address is 333 Broadway, Elmira.

Nancy Horton Bartels writes that she and Hank '48 plan two weeks of skiing, one with their sons, and one without. They're going with Kennie and Bob Seidel '48 to Mt. Tremblant for the week without the children. Nancy's address is 51 Broadfield Road, Hamden 17, Conn. Keep the news coming to #1 Dartmoor Drive, East Northport. See you in June!

—Sylvia Kilbourne Hosie

'49 Men—Sitting here shivering with most of the rest of the country, it is nice to hear about Classmates in more tropic climates. For example, Robert R. Johns writes from California that he is now district sales manager of the aluminum division of Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. He has accepted this position after a "pleasant association with Armco Steel as district manager in Cali, Colombia, South America." He lives with his wife, two sons, 5 and

6, and a daughter, one, at 3243 Wilshire Boulevard, Los Angeles 5, Cal. Still far away is Roger E. Thayer. He and his wife and son and daughter are in Tokyo. Their address is NSAPAC, APO 500, San Francisco, Cal., and he writes that he has attended a few meetings of the Cornell Club of Tokyo. Recently in the warm Pacific climes was Robert I. Epstein. Last year he was at Operation Redwing for Martin Co. and is now working on the Vanguard Project. His address, when not flying to New York or other places in his own plane, is 3 Glenwood Road, Baltimore 21, Md.

Back in the more frigid parts of the world, Peter F. Roland should be enjoying winter in all its fury as owner and operator of two

"...yes, but he went over

Lake Placid hotels. He sends along several tempting brochures advertising the Homestead and the Lakeside. Also in the hotel business, but probably looking forward to spring with the rest of us, is Low Malamut, vice-president of The Shelburne Hotel, Atlantic City, N.J. Another vice-president is Roderic B. MacDonald of Mackenzie Muffler Co., Youngstown, Ohio. His address is 374 Boardman-Poland Road, in Youngstown. Jim Edmondson is a publisher's representative with The Macmillan Co. His address is 251 Maple Avenue, North Haven, Conn., where he and Helvie (Selkee '48) have two children. Esso Standard Oil Co. has transferred Thomas M. Potts from Boston to 296 Cole Avenue, Providence 6, R.I. He is now assistant district manager of the Rhode Island district. Sidney Brill is a project engineer with Cape Constructors, Dover, Del., but his address is 597 Fourth Avenue, Brooklyn. When last heard from, Pete Bush was in Erie selling group insurance for The Travelers Insurance Co. He has been there for several years after living in Hartford, New York City, and Buffalo. His address is Marine National Bank Building, 901 State Street, Erie, Pa.

Harvey N. Roehl is the author of an interesting and provocative article in the Cornell Engineer recently, entitled "Rhapsodies in Wrapping Paper." The article is primarily concerned with the evolution and present status of player pianos and several other musical instruments. The most interesting part of the article is the self-written (we're sure) sketch of the author. It states that "Harvey tried working for a couple of years after leaving Ithaca (summa-good-riddance from Sibley in 1949, after starting in 1941), but finally decided that teaching is an easier way of making a living. Presently he is director of extension work at Broome Technical Community College in Binghamton." He is the son of the late Professor Louis M. Roehl Sp '18-'19, Agricultural Engineering.

'50 Men—A couple of columns have been missed and your not so faithful correspondent apologizes sincerely to all Classmates.

September 28, Shirley A. Martin '48 and John R. Maloney were married in Lady Chapel, St. Patrick's, New York City. Our new address is 204 Dorchester Avenue, Syracuse 6, and we invite all passers by to see us when and if they're in Central New York. In addition, Maloney took on a new job with Carrier Corp. recently, having been appointed personnel director of Carrier's Geddes Street plant in Syracuse.

There have been many weddings. John Boak and Sarah Johnson Bush were married April 13 in Woodbridge, Conn. and live at 28 Academy Hill, Watertown, Conn. John is mill manager for Plume & Atwood Manufacturing Co.

John Laibe and Ann Davis were married last October in Scranton, Pa. Although we have no address, I believe John can be reached through the New York office of Enjay Co., Inc., a subsidiary of Standard Oil of New Jersey. John and his new bride and your correspondent also with bride ran into each other while joining the Christmas rush home at Newark Airport.

Another bachelor bit the dust when Floyd Le Roy and Josephine Vitano were married in October, 1956. They live at 69-12 140th Street, Flushing. Floyd is assistant service manager in the residential mortgage department of Equitable Life.

In June, 1956, Frederick O. Hoerle and Marlene Zahnke of Bristol, Conn. were married and now live at Red Stone Hill, Plainville, Conn. where Fred runs The Ideal Machinery & Supply Co.

The Ithaca Journal of October 9 noted that Manley Thaler, 220 Highgate Road, was admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court of the United States. Congratulations to Lee, our Fund chairman.

We were most happy to receive a note from Harry E. Cassel (MD '54) who is now practicing in Allen Park, Mich. and lives at 1816 Fifteenth Street, Wyandotte, Mich. Harry and his wife have three children.

Richard R. Myers (MBA'51), 619 Cornelia Street, Janesville, Wis., has been appointed market research manager for Parker Pen. He and his wife, the former Ursula Sennwald '51, have a budding family.

There have also been a lot of births. Robert F. Neu, 308 Wells Street, Westfield, N.J., notes that he and his wife, the former Caroline Cramer '48, are doing their part toward another championship crew in 1976 with the arrival of a ten-pound boy in July. Bob is a section head with Enjay Laboratories, Linden, N.J. Robert W. Potter, 75 Seventh Street, Oneida Castle, an engineer with General Electric in Utica, moved to a new home last February and had his third child, a boy, in April. Robert N. Post, 345 Diamond Hill Road, Berkeley Heights, N.J., a representative of American Brake Shoe Co., announces the arrival of William N. Post II born in February, 1957. Howard A.

Acheson, Jr., 126 Pine Tree Road, Radnor, Pa., plant manager of Acheson Dispersed Pigments Co., had a son in March, 1957. This makes two for Howie and his wife. A second boy and third child was born to Mr. & Mrs. James G. McMillan, Jr., 87 Rutledge Drive, Red Bank, N.J. Jim is with Hercules Powder Co., Parlin, N.J. And now, to the champion of them all as far as we know, Robert E. Cowley, Jr., 443 North Stone Avenue, Lagrange Park, Ill., announces the arrival of a seventh child born in September, 1956.—J.R.M.

'51 Men—Remember our news 'n' dues campaign. So far 139 Class members have gotten on this year's News 'n' Dues Bandwagon by sending their news and $3 to Keith Seegmiller, Walloomsac Road, Bennington, Vt. How about you? If not, climb aboard today.

After obtaining the Master of Industrial Engineering at Cornell Reino Merikallio is a systems analyst specializing in operations research and electronic data processing for Combustion Engineering. Address: 157 East Eighty-ninth Street, New York City 28. Don Richards, 16A Rye Colony, Rye, is director of promotion and research for the radio and TV division of The Branham Co. in the City.

Recipient of a Princeton PhD in philosophy is Jerome Schneewing, 77 Valley Road, New Rochelle. In Ithaca, Victor Bagnardi recently opened architectural offices in the Forest Home Building. While with a Buffalo firm, he designed the Prudential Life Building, an addition to Morse Chain, and the National Cash Register plant, all in Ithaca. Resides at 412 Wood Street, Ithaca.

Farm management officer is Hugh Robotham, 19 Three Views Avenue, Halfway Tree, Jamaica, British West Indies. In a far different climate is Bill Brasie at 720 Whitman Drive, Midland, Mich. He is the proud, recent possessor of a new wife, an old house, and an eighty-acre farm as well as continuing as technical assistant to the director of Dow's plastics production lab.

'52 Men: Philip A. Fleming
3324 Valley Drive
Alexandria, Va.

A timely press release from Princeton indicates that Ricardo Chicurel, 27-4 Avenue, Mexico City, Mex., received the MME "recently" from Princeton. We say "timely" since the release was dated sometime in November, and presumably it refers to degrees awarded last June.

Another Cornellian who has joined the ranks of that large body of alumni who reside and work in and around the Potomac River is Chip Shelton. Following his graduation from University of Michigan law school, Chip just recently accepted a job with the Federal Mediation & Conciliation Service of the US Department of Labor as a "mediator-trainee." He says that the "trainee" program is new, and that he will probably be in trainee status for a year or so before he can assume the full chores of a mediator. Chip is an I&LR graduate, and in law school he took a heavy load of labor law courses and also worked part-time for an arbitrator in Detroit.

From a list of Law School prizes awarded by the University, we note that Stu Merz,

... Hey, getcha cold beer

Hey getcha Ballantine!

the 'crisp' refresher...anytime!

Here's a beer to go steady with! From its frothy top to its frosty, golden depths, it's icily light, precisely right! With a crisp, clean flavor that makes you glad you're alive! Yes, Ballantine's brewed for you. Taste it, and you'll take the Crisp Refresher... anytime!

Enjoy the liveliest taste in town!

P. BALLANTINE & SONS, NEWARK, N. J. an associate with the firm of Jones, Day, Cockley & Reavis, 1759 Union Commerce Building, Cleveland 14, Ohio, received the Corporate Finance Prize. The prize consists of a Student Achievement Medal and a year's subscription to the Wall Street Journal.

Nicholas J. Juried, Applegate Road, Ithaca, has been appointed senior account executive of Laux Advertising, Inc. In his new job, Nick will be responsible for the creation and supervision of advertising programs for several local and national advertising accounts, through the mediums of copy for ads, sales promotional literature, radio, and television. Nick had previously been with Laux for three years, and now returns after working as sales manager for National Stainless Co., and advertising and business manager for the trade publications division of Roy H. Park, Inc. He is married to the former Dorothy Cox of San Antonio, Tex. and has one daughter.

Also in Ithaca, William B. Kerr, 522 The Parkway, has resumed his Law School studies. Bill capped an overseas tour of duty with the Air Force by marrying Margaret A. Dooty '55 in Paris March 12, 1957, just three days after his separation from the military. The couple toured France and Italy on their honeymoon, and returned to this country last May.

A. Donald Klingenberg, 42 Trask Road, Peabody, Mass., reports that he is now a product planner in General Electric's medium steam turbine plant in Lynn after completing GE's marketing training program which took him all over the country. Dr. Richard J. Helfman, 48 St. Paul's Place, Brooklyn 26, is a ward physician at Brooklyn Veterans' Hospital. Dick is married and has an eight-month-old son, Stephen Jay. Elsewhere in the metropolitan New York area, Robert D. Anderson, 34-15 Parsons Boulevard, Flushing, is a field engineer for William L. Crow Construction Co. Bill reports that a second son arrived November 28, just two days after his first son's second birthday. The boys' names are Mark Edward and Tommy, respectively.

'52 Women: Mrs. C. D. Graham, Jr.
2211 The Plaza,
Schenectady 9, N. Y.

Lots of news from the domestic front this trip, to counteract last issue's travelog! Checking in from the ranks of the homemakers is Barbara Fradkin Prins, who's keeping things tidy at 95 Cooper Drive in New Rochelle.

Lured to the home front from the world of research is Anna Lee Rechter Simon, who writes: "We moved to the suburbs in June, and are enjoying the life immensely. Harry '52 is happy in his new teaching job (as biology teacher at Mamaroneck Senior High School) and has finally stopped blushing during his lectures on reproduction. I'm living the leisurely (?) life of a housewife. Despite efforts, my cooking is still barely edible, and my housecleaning short of adequate. Liberal arts education isn't helping much! Both of us are quite active in community activities. Harry is going to NYU evenings, working towards the PhD in education. Lots of bridge games, and many pleasant visits with old Cornell friends who live nearby."

Had a squib from ex-writer-type Pat Lovejoy Stoddard which she says to use when I get desperate. (Silly girl, this column is always desperate). Cheerful news from the Stoddards is that daughter Jane Gillan was born October 8, and that she, brother Daniel, mère & père are all living happily on Nuhel Lane, New Canaan, Conn.

And from the foreign-domestic scene, Barbara Erdman Blais reports that she and Dave '52 had a pre-Christmas visit from Phebe (Vandervort) and Sid Goldstein '52 who are stationed near them in Germany. As of the first of the year, the Blaises made another short move entailing a ponderous shift of address to: Hq. 701st Tactical Missile Wing, APO 109, New York City. Barb says they hope to return Stateside in the summer of 1959.

Well, gals, that cleans out the backlog of news. Get literate, or get lost! As a postscript of note to other Classes, I recently, and somewhat enviously, put my mother, Thyra Jeremiassen Bliss '15, aboard a plane for California, where she's visiting my sister, Rosemary Bliss Reed '46 and her husband and three children in Los Angeles.

'53 Men: Dr. Samuel D. Licklider
Colorado General Hospital
Denver 20, Colo.

Charles E. Juran, 1360 Pepper Tree Lane, San Bernardino, Cal., is still with Grand Central Rocket Co. and is about to go into orbit himself, having become engaged the day the American space satellite, "Explorer," was launched. Writes Chuck, "With Explorer in orbit (assisted by Grand Central solid propellants in the upper stages, of course) things have a little different slant from a year ago." Working on preliminary design and engineering presentations, staff engineer Juran adds, "Not as dramatic as blowing up rockets (I've had my share of laudenboomers in project work), but very satisfying. The stuff in the paper stages is unbelievable." Chuck has capitalized on the Sputnik era by building up an after-hours lecturing practice, carrying the space-age gospel to Rotary Clubs, chambers of commerce, and other such groups of wide vision. Gathering further speed for his own launching, he has got himself elected county director of the California Republican Assembly and recently had the pleasure of introducing Senator William Knowland at a dinner rally. Chuck's June launching will be in company with Jo Vance of Mishawaka, Ind.

In his second year in the Graduate School, Alan J. Boardman (Cascadilla Hall) is nearing completion of the MEE.

Working toward the Masters in Education at Cornell, Frank J. Wolff, 286 W. Pulteney Street, Corning, invests the bulk of his time teaching vocational agriculture at Corning's Northside High School. Frank announces his second daughter, Kathryn Amy, born March 24, 1957.

Richard M. Bosshardt and Joan Clifton Bosshardt '54 announce a son, Richard Andrew, born August 4. Their new address is 286 E. 235 St., Euclid 23, Ohio; Dick is now with Reliance Electric & Engineering Co. Stephen Holland and Margot Wishbow of Cedarhurst and of Tobé-Coburn School, were wed September 22.

Robert Sticher and Delight Warren '57

were declared man and wife in Ithaca, September 14. Bob completed the Master's in chemistry at Columbia last June. Father of Barbara Meryl, born December 29, 1956, Raymond L. Simon, 66-15 Wetherole Street, Forest Hills 74, is working in electrical engineering and is continuing graduate study at Columbia nights.

William H. Atkinson and Ineke Smid of Groningen, The Netherlands, were wed March 9. Bill is practicing law with Cummings & Lockwood from his home at 269 Sylvan Knoll Road, Stamford, Conn. Louis Ingrassia, RD 3, Middletown, has moved with his wife into their newly-built home. Louis is doing "black-dirt" farming. The new Treadway Inn in Meadville, Pa., will be managed by Parry C. Benton.

According to an Army release now before me, Santo Bottino, stationed at the 60th Station Hospital in Chinon, France, is a member of Phi Beta Kappa (sic). Robert E. Freyer, 2565 Grand Ave., Bellmore, is in developmental engineering with Bakelite Co. After completing the LLB at Georgetown last October, James J. Allen is continuing there at the graduate level now pursuing the LLM. Jim and wife Ruth Morse Allen '53 live at 4233 S. Four Mile Run Drive, Arlington 4, Va., with sons Paul, 3, and Stephen, who is just 1.

'53 Women: Mrs. A. B. Boehm, Jr.

Midland, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. (Barbara Querze) Weinreich are now living at 24241 Parklawn, Oak Park 37, Mich. Bob '52 is a buyer at Chrysler Corp. The Weinreichs' first child, Paula Beth, was born December 10.

Mrs. J. Bryan (Floretta Threadgill) Jones, 388 Second Street, Los Altos, Cal., writes that they went to California to go to Stanford law school where Bryan passed the bar exams. He is now practicing in San Francisco and Los Altos. The Jones have three children: Jack, five-and-a-half; Linda Sue, three-and-a-half, Catherine Grace, four months.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Leighton (Dorothy Dean) Wiant, 3615 Meadow Drive, Nashville, Tenn., were commissioned by The Methodist Church January 17 at Buck Hill Falls, Pa. to go to Southeast Asia to do agricultural work. Since graduation from Cornell, Dorothy has been an extension home economist and a social worker in Alaska, a marketing specialist for the New York State Extension Service, and a nursery school teacher in Ithaca. The Wiants currently are doing special study at Garrett Biblical Institute, Evanston, Ill.

I had a nice letter from Carol Erdman, 118 Eddy Street, Ithaca, telling that she has been with the Advanced Electronics Center of General Electric in Ithaca since graduation. Carol finds her job as a mathematician very rewarding. Let's hear from more of you; and for you who may still be wondering, I was Biff Marquardt as an undergraduate.

'54 Men: William F. Waters
327 N. Harvard St.
Allston 34, Mass.

This is a good issue to go marching through the mail bag without any particular plan or outline and our first note is from Richard S. Elliott who is a personnel assistant at Stromberg-Carlson and lives with wife Rinkey at 452 Linden Avenue, Rochester. Dick has seen a bit of Don Wehmann and his wife Dot (Connelly) '53 who live on Long Island, and he says hello to Rich Fene and Don and Eva Tylor. The Tylors, incidentally, are now living at 950 Round Hill Road in Redwood City, Cal., where Don is a sales engineer with Glass Engineering Laboratories, Belmont, Cal.

Former Cornell Countryman editor Dana Dalrymple is still in the agriculture field, working as an extension economist in fruit and vegetable marketing for University of Connecticut. He lives with Ray Borton '53 and can be reached at 315 Agriculture Bldg., Storrs, Conn.

Turning to the military momentarily. David Diver can be considered a short timer as this appears. He is now with the Air Force stationed at the Pentagon but will be a civilian again in June. Dave and Carol (Cobb) '57 live in Apartment 3, 1675 North Twenty-first Street, Arlington 9, Va. Another fly-boy is James Davis who lists his occupation as naval aviator and his address as 103 West Montgomery Avenue, Rockville, Md.

A long note arrived from John Manley (First Lieutenant Manley, that is). John is an example of the dispersal of the US Air Force, having been serving as the base ammunition officer for Wheelus AFB in Tripoli, Libya. He tells us that between the Middle East war scares he has found time to journey to Germany (three times), Benghazi, and Morocco, with enroute visits to Rome, Athens, Tunis, Marseilles, and Chateauroux. John hasn't seen too many Cornellians in the desert but did run across Jim Leaton '53 who was on a tour of the world and wandered off course.

This may be repetition but here is a reminder that Alexander Neuwirth is now in his second term at Harvard Business School, Soldiers Field 63, Mass. and welcomes all callers who enjoy Scotch and stories of old times.

Just received a long letter from my old track manager friend, Jim Buchan, now an Army officer who is about to embark on a sixty-day tour of the world while enroute from Japan to his new assignment in New York. His rather involved itinerary includes such way stations as Bangkok, Calcutta, Dhahran, Athens, Rome, Zurich, Copenhagen, and many others. Who said "War is Hell?" Jim expects to be out of service sometime this summer in time to attend law school on the West Coast. Thanks for the note, Cat. Hope this issue reaches you somewhere along the tour.

Commissioned a Navy ensign last fall was James Carpenter who went through the Pensacola Pre-Flight School to earn his bars. Jim then went on the next rung of the ladder by taking his flight training at Saufley Field Naval Air Station. Do you have those wings yet, Jim?

Here's another item dated last fall, September 14, Pierre Dussol and Anne C. Heber of Asheville, N.C. were married at the Ft. Meade, Md. chapel. Belated congratulations to you!

Hotelman Henry Thering is still plying his Statler Hall trade as food service manager at the Anderson, Ind. plant of Delco-Remy. Hank resides with his small family in SPRING, the young folk's fancy

Because Easter comes at just the right time this year, Spring vacation on this 600-acre estate will be a young folks affair . . . sophisticated collegians to toddlers. Special parties, great music, golf, tennis, swimming events and a world of fun. Good times for young-in-heart parents, too. Low Family Plan rates March 25th to April 12th. Write for reservations now for the most memorable family vacation ever.

The Route of THE BLACK DIAMOND

on Route 4, Box 114, Anderson. Raymond Rivoli is a staff member of Sylvania Electric's electronic products sales department in the New York City office. His fields of responsibility include pricing and administration.

'54 Women: Ellen R. Shapiro 44 East 74th Street, Apt. 1B New York 21, N.Y.

Jean Lanigan is living at 2038 Locust Street, Philadelphia 3, Pa., where she works as an analyst for Alderson & Sessions.

Joan Sherbow Lapides writes that she and her husband, Morton, have three children, Jeffrey, three and a half; Julie, two; and Jill, one year. Her husband is an industrial engineer, who has forsaken engineering for the real estate business. They live in their own home on the Severn River, near Annapolis. Address: Route 2, Box 256A, Arnold, Md.

Debby Kroker Ineich (Mrs. Robert) sends word that they have settled in the Chicago area, after her husband's discharge from the Air Force last summer. Bob is a chemical engineer with Corn Products Refining Co. They have two children, Peter, two and a half, and Timothy, who was born December 8. She writes they'd love to hear from Cornellians in the area; address: 1504 George Street, Downers Grove, Ill.

Living in the New York area is Judy Kline Beyer (Mrs. Hulbert C.), who writes that her family is settled at 47 Hemloch Lane, Bay Shore. The Beyers have two children, Todd, who's a year and a half, and Lynn, born November 22.

Have a lengthy note from Jane Foster Hobkirk who was married December 28, at the First Presbyterian Church in her hometown of Gouverneur. Jane Wight Bailey was one of her bridesmaids. Jane's husband is a lieutenant in the US Navy, stationed with the Navy Department Bureau of Aeronautics in Washington, D.C. She's working for Woodward & Lothrop in their Alexandria, Va. branch store. Jane's address is 4201 Massachusetts Avenue, NW, Apt. 288, Washington 16, D.C., and she'd welcome calls from Cornellians.

A note from Rita Simen Dorrance tells that she and Jack '53 have moved from Syracuse to their home at 63 Lake Drive West, Packanack, N.J. The Dorrances have two boys, Johnny and Billy, and Rita's sister, Zelda Simen Black, has a boy, Teddy, and a girl, Debbie. Rita says that her husband is still with Lamson Corp. of Syracuse, but is covering North Jersey for them. Her sister lives across the lake from her.

'55 Women: Mrs. Harry C. Olsen ROICC Area III APO 284, New York, N.Y.

Have a "rarin' to go" letter from Naomi Freistadt of 37 Overlook Terrace, New York City 33 (as you all may know by now). Naomi reminds me that this is our Class motto and that this is the year of our Baby Reunion, June 13 & 14, in the spirited Ithaca hills. So now, it looks as if we're already going to set a record for attendance at a Baby Reunion. All you have to do is go. Although her postman hasn't joined in the enthusiasm, Naomi wants to see the rest of those postcards that Mel Davison sent us.

Also, the fun isn't restricted to those two sunny June days; there are pre-Reunion area get-togethers coming up. On schedule for New York City: March 6, Women's City Club, 277 Park Avenue, 7:30 p.m., the first in a round of parties to which you are invited; that is, to help make things better for June 13 & 14. Hopefully there will be others in Syracuse, Rochester, Boston, Cleveland, Philadelphia, and Ithaca. Any nearby residents are warned to be aware of coming fun and Naomi has promised her eternal blessings for any of you interested in committee work. Sounds like fun and furthermore it will be fun. Any Pan Am workers interested in paying transatlantic plane fare for yours truly please rush to the mailbox.

The George Shieblers (Sandra Cestari) of 12 Hempstead Avenue, Rockville Centre, have a "new fall creation," Susan Anne, born October 13 at 3:36 a.m. Lucky George! Family's doing fine and I trust baby Susan has since been trained for more manageable hours. Have a long letter from Carolyn Dell who has had the good fortune to be sent to the West Coast with IBM several times last summer. Highlight of one trip was a side tour to Hawaii for a lazy week at Waikiki and a visit with the O. V. Scotts (Francie Williams), who have been soaking up the Hawaiian sun for a year now and still have another year to look forward to. Back in New York Carolyn has moved into a new apartment at 71 East Eightieth Street, an eastsider at last. Her former roommates, Barbie Stewman, Fran De Sylva, and Gail Wren have moved in with Felicia Riemer at 82 Irving Place.

According to a Christmas card from Polkie and Barney Reilly (Joyce Wilson) (as usual with no return address!), they had a son, Kirk, July 11. Rumor has it that the Reillys live in the Philadelphia area. A note from Mrs. Jay Gurfein (Bonnie Thaler) relates the arrival of a daughter, Robin Patricia, October 30. The Gurfeins live at 67-12 Yellowstone Boulevard, Forest Hills, where Jay is combining real estate business with night-time law studies at NYU. Week ends, however, our new ski enthusiasts are usually found on the snowy slopes.

Virginia Dudley just returned about six months ago from Lubbock, Tex., where she was a nurse at Methodist Hospital. Gina returned via the US tour route from California to her home at 441 Fowler Avenue, Pelham Manor 65, and is now a nurse in Pelham.

The John Bartholomews (Mary Townsend) are in Princeton, N.J., 25 Edwards Place, where John is finishing his last year at Princeton Theological Seminary and Mary teaches young 'uns in Lawrence Township. They spent last summer in Fairbanks, Alaska, with the Presbyterian Board of National Missions. There (temperature 80 F. by the way) John was in charge of the Eskimo congregation as well as working with two church camps and doing some radio broadcasting. June 13, 14, 13, 14. . .

'56 Women: Linda J. Hudson 23 Amherst Street Rochester 7, N. Y.

At the risk of sounding like a county clerk's record book let me give the wedding news since last this column appeared.

Mary Martin and Jim Van Buren '55

were married in Lancaster, Pa. December 21. John Friedeman was in the wedding and among the guests were Dee Malstrom and Nan Harper Morris. The Van Burens' address is 421 East Sixty-ninth Street, New York City, while Jim is in Med. School. Dee sends this information along with news that she has left Washington and the Foreign Service for the sunny clime of Florida and a spot in the Cypress Gardens Aqua Show. She can be reached at 630 Grand Avenue, NW, Winter Haven, Fla.

Other news from Dee includes a note that Sue Sylvester and Nancy Galush share a house at 1625 33d Street, NW, Washington, D.C. Mary Ellen Hopper Friedeman and husband John are spending time in Switzerland, a year and a half to be exact, where, Dee writes, John has a teaching assistantship. Joan Hoyland and Lee Townsend were married December 28, Dee continues. Nan and John Morris live at 405 East Sixty-ninth Street, New York City, next door to the Van Burens.

Other weddings! Marianne Oehrlein and Dr. Leo J. van Dijk '57 were married in New Rochelle, November 30. They live in Middletown, Conn. Sandra Hammer and Harvey L. Gordon '55 are at 211 East Thirty-first Street, New York City 16. Harvey is a third-year student at NYU-Bellevue Medical Center.

Norma Redstone became Mrs. Melvin F. Shakin in September. She lives at 270 Jay Street, Apt. 16 F, Brooklyn 1.

Margaret A. McCarthy became Mrs. Peter W. Stack December 28 in Skaneateles. Peter is a graduate of St. Bonaventure and Wharton School of Finance, University of Pennsylvania.

Going on, we come to the birth announcements, and a very cute one this is from Connie Grand-Leinard and Stephen J. Pajeski '57. It announces Tracy Elizabeth. She was born November 29 in Dallas, Tex., where Stephen is working for Republic National Bank Building Co. Connie writes "please extend an open invitation to anyone within accessible distance of Dallas to stop in and see us." They're at 5714 Claridge Circle East, Apt. C., Dallas 35, Tex. On their way to Mexico a while back, the Pajeskis dropped in on Gale Briggs Hurd in Harlingen. No further address.

Bonnie Smith recently broke into the Rochester press; sorry to report that it was the opposition, not the paper I work for. She and six other girls received quite a story on their adventures in cooperative living. They've rented a house at 83 Brunswick Street, Rochester, and are keeping it going quite well, thank you. Share cooking, cleaning, two garages, and expenses, including a weekly cleaning woman. Bonnie, by the way, teaches home economics here.

Another addition to the William T. (Pete Jensen) Eldridge family. It's another girl and her name is Donna Delaney. She was born December 10, shortly after Pete and Bill moved to 732 Mulford Street, Evanston, Ill.

A final note from Class Treasurer Peg Jones Halberstadt who writes that Betsy Jennings and Dick Rutledge '55 are off for a two-year tour of duty in Hawaii this month. Also Jane (Brayton) and Jim Marshall '56 had an addition, Anne Elizabeth, but that's about all Peg could say. Didn't know the date.

'57 Women: Diane Heasley
425 Royal Hawaiian Avenue
Honolulu, Hawaii

The last month has brought fascinating news from the four corners of the world. It seems that our Class is putting on its traveling boots and is really "making tracks."

Karen Gay Anderson sends a "Hej" from Sweden. She wrote a most interesting and informative letter from Kronobergsgatan 1 II, c/o Eberhardt, Stockholm K., Sweden. She attends Stockholm University and the Royal Academy of Art and is studying landscape architecture, city-planning, and architectural history. She has been traveling through Russia and New Year's Eve found her on Red Square, looking up at the famous Kremlin. She writes: "We spent eight rather exciting days in Russia, five of them in Moscow. We saw several ballets . . . went to the Moscow circus, which was complete with Sputnik jokes and a trained hippopotamus. The Russians gave us a very lavish party on New Year's Eve. . . . Quite impressive. . . . And the twenty-nine of us who were Americans got to Russia six months before 'the first group of American students to visit Russia.' They're going next summer."

From the Philippines I received a most fascinating and detailed note of Sharie Flynn's vacation in Singapore. She journeyed from her studies at the University of Manila. The most thrilling part of her letter was the news of Sharie's engagement to Dick Bump '56 Christmas Day in Singapore. Her description of the city with its "Raffles Museum and its fascinating collection of art treasures from Malaya and Indonesia as well as excellent animal exhibits from the region," the Botanical Gardens, the night spots, and the swimming Christmas Day were intriguing. It sounds as though she is experiencing a wonderful journey. She can be reached c/o Mr. R. J. Monical Caltax (Philippines) Inc. Box 783, Manila, Philippines.

From South America comes a long letter from Anabel Stresino informing me that she was not "wandering through South America," but rather living with her sister and brother-in-law. She also is taking art and dance classes and is teaching art to young children. She said that Maravaibo is similar to any large city in the States. The town itself is growing rapidly. She compares it to a "boom-town" in pioneer days. She wrote that ex-roommate Connie Santagato Hosterman lives at 2516 Amelia Drive, West Richfield, Ohio, where she is teaching fourth grade.

Sue Sutton Moyer and husband Bill '55 have returned from Germany and are living at 211 Friends Lane, Westbury. A note from Linda Shick Aaronson related the fact that she and Jules '55 live in New Haven at 71 Sylvan Ave. Jules is at Yale and Linda is working for a brokerage firm.

Phillis Ferguson Adam and husband Bill '57 are at 918 North County Street, Waukegan, Ill., while Bill attends engineering school for the Navy. Barbara Ries has just received wings as a hostess from TWA and is stationed in New York. Address unknown at the moment. Mary Lou Hennekens Mahan and husband Wallace became the parents of an 8 lb. 10 oz. baby girl, Jacqueline, in Marlboro.

BUT WHAT ABOUT HIS family?

This man carries heavy and time-consuming responsibilities as chief executive of his company.

Fortunately—for his company and himself—he has an organization of people with many specialized skills, who work as a unit under his direction. The result is a profitable company—and a reasonable distribution of cares and responsibilities.

As head of his family, he has equally important duties in shaping their present and future financial security.

But he has not yet delegated these responsibilities.

Fortunately (if he makes use of it) the United States Trust Company is waiting to work under his direction in this field. Its officers and staff have been as carefully chosen and trained as the men in his own corporation, for experience, ability, knowledge and integrity.

If you have not arranged qualified management for your investment and estate affairs, we believe that our approach to your problems will interest you.
