Many Entering Freshmen Get Scholarship Awards

THAT about one-third of all undergraduates are receiving scholarship aid amounting to nearly $350,000 is the estimate of the University Scholarship Counsellor, Robert O. Shaffer, MS '48. With additional aid in the form of loans, grants, prizes, and part-time work, Shaffer thinks that probably two-thirds to three-fourths of all present undergraduates are receiving some form of financial assistance.

Largest individual awards are the twenty-five National Scholarships given each year to entering students, and the greatest number from any one fund are the John McMullen Regional Scholarships in Engineering. New recipients of these, and of the scholarships awarded through the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs, were reported in the September ALUMNI NEWS.

Clubs Aid Forty-three Students

This year, fifteen Cornell Clubs are financing forty-three Alumni Club Scholarships which carry stipends ranging from $150 to $1000 a year. They are awarded by the President to candidates nominated by the sponsoring Clubs, usually for four years if the recipient maintains satisfactory academic standing.

There are fourteen new recipients this year. Scholarships given by Cornell Clubs of New York and Nassau County have been awarded to Clarence G. Fauntleroy '54 of Franklin Square. Cornell Club of New York grants were also made to Freshmen Douglas C. Pierson of Glen Ridge, N.J., Norman F. Stephan of Palisades Park, N.J., and George H. Wilkinson of Duquesne, Pa. One of the two scholarships sponsored by the Cornell Club of Pittsburgh, Pa., in memory of the late Eugene C. Batchelar '02 has been awarded to Irvin A. Kramer '53 of Pittsburgh. Cornell Club of Buffalo has made two new grants, for Anthony N. D'Agnostino '54 of North Tonawanda and Donald H. Meyncke '54 of Buffalo.

Paul T. Kalinich '54 of Lombard, Ill., has received the scholarship of the Cornell Club of Chicago. Thomas F. Deutsch '54 of Shaker Heights, Ohio, has a scholarship from the Cornell Club of Cleveland, and Kenneth G. Pollock '54 of Baltimore has a grant from the Cornell Club of Maryland. Cornell Club of New England has financed an award to Howard S. Willard '54 of Quincy, Mass. Cornell Club of Philadelphia Scholarships went to John H. Gerdes '54 of Lebanon, Pa.; Cornell Club of Rochester, to John E. Drotning '54 of Rochester; and Cornell Club of St. Louis, Mo., to Richard B. Dempsey '54 of St. Louis.

A General Scholarship Fund is supported by contributions from individuals or alumni groups not participating in Alumni Club Scholarships. It now provides grants for fifteen undergraduates, with stipends ranging from $100 to $1000 a year. New recipients this year are Anthony N. D'Agnostino, who also holds a scholarship from the Cornell Club of Buffalo; Stanley Tsapis '54 of Weirton, W.Va.; and Lloyd R. Walters '54 of Newark.

University Grants Increase

LeFevre Scholarships, from a bequest of George W. LeFevre '89, have been increased this year from five to seven, with stipend of $400 a year for the duration of the recipient's course. They are awarded to Freshmen selected on the basis of academic records, promise, and need. New winners this year are Seymour M. Blinder and Bernice H. Ferris of New York City, Allan L. Griff of Far Rockaway, Lawrence E. Grolnick and Gilda Linder of Brooklyn, Sidney Loran of Albany, and George R. Stell of Sea Cliff. All are enrolled in the College of Arts and Sciences except Blinder, who has entered the School of Chemical Engineering.

University Undergraduate Scholarships of $200 a year for their first two years were awarded to Freshmen Josef L. Altholz, Bronx; Alvin R. Beatty, Wilmette, Ill.; Stanley R. Byron, Toledo, Ohio; Thomas W. Donnelly, Washington, D.C.; Carol McNeill, Stanley Rapoport, Lawrence Rosler, Gerald E. Sacks, Jerome Siegel, and Burton H. Slinger, Brooklyn; Richard J. Mayer, Freeport; David J. Nerrow, Waterbury, Conn.; Aline E. Nitzsche, Queens Village; Daniel W. Schwartz, Cedarhurst; Estelle S. Singer, Robert I. Steinmuller, and Steven Weinberg, New York City.

Albert C. Murphy Scholarship of $1600, open to male students entering from East St. Louis, Mo., went to Robert J. McEvilly. James H. Manning Scholarship of $400, for students entering from high schools in Albany, was awarded to George S. Stagnitta, Arts.

Twenty Teagle Foundation Scholarships of various amounts were awarded this year. Given by University Trustee Walter C. Teagle '00, the scholarships are intended primarily for employees of the Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) and their children. One of the awards was made to a first-year student in the Medical College in New York, Kenneth A. Hubel of Rye; the rest, to students at Ithaca. The other Teagle Scholars are Catherine J. Austin '53, Ventas, Venezuela; Virginia L. Beamer '54, Maplewood, N.J.; V. Edythe Buermeyer '52, Hasbrouck Heights, N.J.; Mason D. Colby '54, Montclair, N.J.; William L. Collins '54, Cranford, N.J.; Jacquelyn Engel '54, Roselle Park, N.J.; Carleton S. Everett '54, Scarsdale; Carl F. Figenbaum '52, Oslo, Norway; Francis M. Fletcher '54, Asheville, N.C.; Kirk C. Fourcher '54, Union, N.J.; Gilbert H. Gleason '54, Westfield, N.J.; Jacqueline M. Hosford '54, Pelham; Wilfrid C. Jervis '54, East Orange, N.J.; James R. Kerr '54, Union, N.J.; James B. Koopman '54, Elizabeth, N.J.; Johan F. W. Mohr '52, Bergen, Norway; Charles A. Saderholm '54, Staten Island; Samuel L. Sugarman '54, Springfield, Mass.; and Marjory A. Whitehurst '54, South Arlington, Va.

Agriculture Aids Ninety

More than ninety scholarships were newly awarded in the College of Agriculture. The winners received their checks at a barbecue dinner given for all new students by Dean William I. Myers '14 and Ho-Nun-De-Kah, October 2.

Agriculture students who have this year won Charles H. Roberts Scholarships of $250 are Donald A. Cario '52, Hamlin; Nicholas J. Juried '52, Middleburgh; John C. Meek '54, Deposit; Kenneth W. Olcott '52, Fabius; and William W. Zimmer '51, Gallupville. One-half Roberts Scholarships of $125 went to Ralph E. Erickson '52, Jamestown; George E. Payne '52 and Wesley T. Payne '51 of Shortsville; Gordon R. Plowe '52 of Bergen; Irving D. Smith '51 of Medina; and Joseph E. Wizeman, Jr. '52 of Palmyra. Non-resident Tuition Scholarships of $300 have been received by Gerald E. Ackerman '54, Ontario, Canada; George A. Boateng '53, Ashanti, Gold Coast; Valentins Dabols '51, Pinneberg-Holstein, Germany; Edgar Inselberg '53, Athens, Greece; Gerda Kittel '54, Kierspe-Bhf/Westf., Germany; Wybe Kroontje '51, Ithaca; Anne A. Leonard '51, Exeter, N.H.;

Jane M. Robertson '52 and Hugh C. Robotham '52, both from Halfway Tree, Jamaica, B.W.I.; Lewis G. Schaeneman '52, East Longmeadow, Mass.; Harry E. Theocharides '51, Salonika, Greece; Martha J. Trever '53, Arlington, Va.; Antonios Trimis '54, Athens, Greece; Heinz Von Sigriz '54, Bayern 3b, Germany; and John W. Wysong '53, Forest Hill, Md.

Sixteen Ladd Scholars

Freshman winners of Carl E. Ladd Memorial Scholarships of $200 a year are Harry J. Buck, Albion; Glenn D. Chaplin, Lockport; George W. Givens, Dryden; Floyd A. Guernsey II, Schoharie; Mary A. Smith, North Rose; Marily R. Stearns, Palmyra; Marian L. Trerise, Potsdam; Kenneth W. Van Doren, Chaumont. New recipients from other Classes are Paul R. Dries '52, Pavilion; Gerald H. Gibbs '52, Albion; Helen J. Gibson '53, Stanley; Robert B. Grossman '52, Burlington Flats; Clayton E. Hotchkiss '52, Belmont; Ellen M. Lockwood '53, Caneadea; John E. Price '52, Batavia; William H. Stevens '51, Stamford.

Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation Scholarships of $200 a year have been given to William R. Fitzgerald '53 of Walden and to Freshmen Dana G. Dalrymple, Lockport; Ronald A. Findlay, Centerville; Rodney S. Graves, Alden; Robert R. Hulse, Red Creek; Herbert C. Hyde, Whitney Point; Robert C. Livingston, Yonkers; Raymond G. Merrill, Atlanta; Calvin R. Nesbitt, Albion; Lewis W. Peavey, Warwick; Robert G. Peterson, Odessa; Edward A. Polasky, Elba; John T. Scott, Craryville; Richard E. Sickmon, Marathon; Robert E. Sturzebecher, Perry; and Willis F. Witter, Brookfield.

Other Agriculture Awards

Other scholarships awarded annually in Agriculture include the Ward W. Stevens Holstein Scholarship of $500 which is shared this year by Lawrence W. Specht '51 of Roscoe and Francis A. Trerise '51 of Potsdam; the Cladakis Scholarships ranging from $400 to $600 won by Stanley Z. Berry '52 and Ernest Reit '53, New York City, and Harry K. Schwarzweller '51 of Brooklyn; Borden Agricultural Scholarship of $300 awarded to William D. Bair '51, Ford City, Pa.; Harold E. Gulvin Scholarship of the Lincoln Foundation, with a stipend of $250, won by Francis J. Gross '51, Brooklyn; Mrs. Francis King Scholarship of $300 given to Anne Wagman '53, Warwick; National Association of Thoroughbred Breeders Scholarship of $250 which went to Gordon W. Duncan '54 of Franklin Square; George LaMont Education Fund Scholarships of $200 to Kenneth H. Axtell '51 and Richard F. Hollenbeck '54, both of Albion; New York State Bankers' 4-H Scholarship of $200 to Merton J. McElwain '54, Fort Covington; A. R. Brand Scholarships in Ornithology, worth $300 each, to Paul F. Connor '51, Jamaica, and Robert W. Dickerman '51, Ithaca; Harrison L. Beatty Agricultural Scholarships of $200 to Kenneth I. Sheldon '54, South Otselec, Helen D. Corbin '52, Bainbridge, William A. Noble '51, Norwich, and Franklin W. Ufford '53, Pitcher; Hervey S. Hall Scholarship of $120 shared by Floyd E. Estelle '51 and Peter L. Ward '52, both of Candor; Mrs. Walter Douglas Scholarship of $150 won by Mrs. Janet Armstrong Hamber '51, Kinderhook; Burpee Awards of $100 to George W. Cumming '51, Ithaca, and Robert H. Moll '51, Hamburg; and the Robert M. Adams 4-H Memorial Scholarship of $50 to Robert J. Williams, Delavan. Esso 4-H Club Scholarships of $100 a year for four years go to Arthur P. Ives '51, Guilford; Robert J. Williams '51, Delavan; George E. Klein, Jr. '52, Islip; Ward D. MacMillen '52, Central Bridge; Robert A. Howell '53, Bradford; Robert W. Snyder '53, Andover; Glenn O. MacMillen '54, Central Bridge; and David D. Hulett '54, Sinclairville.

New Award in Architecture

An annual scholarship of $1000 to be awarded to a fifth-year student in the College of Architecture was established this year by Skidmore, Owings & Merrill, architects and engineers of Chicago and New York City, of which Nathaniel A. Owings '27 is a member. First recipient of the award is Robert F. Gatzje '50 of Brooklyn, president of Telluride Association. He entered Architecture in 1947 as a transfer student from Deep Springs, Cal., and in 1948 won the Paul Dickinson Prize for attaining the highest record in the Freshman Class in Architecture.

Gillespie Prize Scholarships in Architecture for this term consist of a $200 grant to Robert T. W. Wong '51, Honolulu, T.H., and $100 grants each to James K. Bell '52, Oak Park, Ill.; and Carlton S. Young '52, Waterbury, Conn. Tuition Scholarships in Architecture have been awarded for the fall term to Irwin I. Axelrod '52, Brooklyn; David B. Carruth '52, Pleasantville; Gardner Ertman '51, Kingston, Mass.; Conrad Hamerman '54, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil; Elizabeth A. Robinson '51, Waban, Mass.; Richard J. Stacey '51, Ocean Grove, N.J.; James E. Strub '53, Kansas City, Mo.; and Florence Sweet '51, Brooklyn.

Grants Assist in Home Economics

College of Home Economics has awarded twelve scholarships. Home Bureau Scholarships, worth from $120 to $240, have been given to Harriet E. Baisley '51 of Montgomery, Marjorie J. Relyea '51 of Warsaw, Mina F. Brown '52 of Rochester, Virginia E. Foster '52 of Buffalo, Elizabeth A. Lightfoot '52 of Corning, Mary A. Moore '52 of Troy, and Dorothy A. Dean '53 of Marion. Omicron Nu Scholarships of $75 each have been awarded to Ruth F. Hartmann '52 of Troy and Muriel J. Snipper '52 of New York City. Home Economics Club Scholarship of $100 goes to Agnes S. Ronaldson '51 of Jackson Heights and the Home Economics Club Scholarship of $75, to Lois B. Sanow '51 of Rochester. Marion J. Plummer '53 of East Homer is the winner of the Robert M. Adams 4-H Memorial Scholarship of $50 and Ruth M. Slowik '51 of Syracuse has won the Home Economics Alumnae Association Scholarship of $80.

I & LR Scholarships

In the School of Industrial and Labor Relations, Daniel Alpern Memorial Scholarships ranging from $100 to $400 have been granted to Jack Golodner '53, New York City; William F. Perkins '52, Niagara Falls; Elwood R. Findholt '52, Carmel; Sanford Browe '53, Brooklyn; and Albert J. Steffen '53, Buffalo. Grants worth from $100 to $400 from the Sidney Hillman Memorial Scholarship Fund go to Lawrence F. Anderson '53, Nichols; Jimmy J. Oomrigar '53, India; Fraeda P. Aronowitz '52, Rochester; Stanley Popatkiewicz '53, Buffalo; Mary J. Weaver '52, Buffalo; and Florence B. Falk '52, Brooklyn. The Father William J. Kelley, OMI, Scholarship, $1200 annual award sponsored by Local 3, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, American Federation of Labor, goes to John J. Mahon '54 of Long Island City.

INTELLIGENCE

By Emerson Hinchliff '14

FRESHMAN enrolment in the College of Engineering this fall is down 15 per cent from 1949. Throughout the United States, it is off 27 per cent.

Shortage of Engineers? Compared with 1940, Cornell is up 3 per cent, but the country as a whole has 20 per cent fewer first-year engineering students. The number of high school graduates was almost identical in 1940 and 1950, so the reason must lie in a swing away from engineering as a profession, probably caused by reports of huge engineering college enrolments after the war and fears as to placement in industry of young graduates. Such a swing is certainly observable in Ithaca; during the postwar crush, Arts and Engineering used to run neck and neck, totaling about 2300 students each, whereas this fall Arts has 2643 (up 7.5 per cent from last year) and Engineering has 1694 (down 15 per cent).

These freshman registration statistics were compiled telegraphically by Dean Hollister for the manpower committee of the American Society for Engineering Education. They came from thirty-five schools (public, private, urban, cooperative) which together account for 50 per cent of all engineering students throughout the country, and were presented at a conference of the American Council on Education in Washington early in October.

Aware of the trend and alarmed for the College and for the US economy as a whole, Dean Hollister has been active in counter-offense. Last winter, the College sent to 3200 secondary schools a handsome illustrated brochure entitled "Engineering at Cornell." The same schools have recently received a cogent poster for their bulletin boards headed: "WANTED: Engineering Graduates," which warns that a shortage of young engineers has already developed and will become acute in the next five years. It says:

(1) 1949 and 1950 graduates in engineering have found a ready market for their services. Ninety-five per cent of the 1949 class of 47,000 was reported placed by November of that year. A larger proportion of the record 1950 class had been placed by July 1 of this year than had been placed of the 1949 class on the same date the year before. The Secretary of Labor included all the principal fields of engineering in the list of critical occupations which he issued August 3, 1950.

(2) There is a growing demand for engineering graduates in administration, sales, and technical jobs which are not classified under professional engineering opportunities.

(3) Baccalaureate degrees in engineering will drop to an estimated 35,000 in 1951, to 25,000 in 1952, to 20,000 in 1953, and to 18,000 in 1954 and 1955, based on present enrolment figures released in June, 1950, by the US Office of Education. By the time the entering class of 1950 graduates, there will be no more than 36 per cent as many students graduating in engineering as were graduated last year.

(4) As long as this country is engaged in waging war or in establishing its defenses, the demand for engineers both in industry and in the armed forces will be even greater than it has been since 1945.

If 50,000 engineering graduates had little trouble finding jobs in 1950, what do you think will be the prospects for 18,000 graduates of engineering colleges when you finish college, if, as seems probable, the demand for young men trained in this profession continues to increase?

To bring the employment picture closer home, John L. Munschauer '40, director of the University Placement Service, tells me that Cornell is certainly above the country average. He says that 60 to 75 per cent of Engineering graduates are now hired before they leave Ithaca. Companies recognize that they had better come early and seek out their men. An interesting sidelight is the wide field here from which prospective employers may choose. For instance, recruiters from a large chemical company on one trip interviewed chemists, biochemists, engineers, and a man to handle a small animal farm.

Our compulsory five-year curriculum in Engineering graduates its first class next June. It has been interesting to see it copied here and there, and to see makeshift attempts to absorb many of its features by appointing deans of humanities in some engineering schools or by making agreements with small liberal arts colleges to take their students at the end of three years of a prescribed science course and give them an engineering degree in two more years.

My theory is that it is much better to have the liberal arts subjects spread over the full five years, so that the student has a change of pace in his studies and has the benefit of added maturity for the Arts electives he takes in the last two years.

In this connection, I am glad to report the opinion of Herbert H. Williams '25, University Director of Admissions. I have heard fears expressed by both professors and students that the extra expense in time and money of the fifth year would drive away many applicants. Williams, after numberless interviews with parents (many of whom have remarked, "That's exactly what I want"), is convinced that we pick up as many students as we lose. Our comparative record with this year's entering Class seems to bear him out.

Air Photo Specialists Develop Means of "Armchair Prospecting"

SCIENTISTS at the Cornell Center for Integrated Aerial Photography can prospect for precious stones, metals, and oil by studying airplane photographs taken from an altitude of a mile or two. The clues were developed by Professor Donald J. Belcher, Civil Engineering, director of the Center. Black and white photos being used in the study now cover about a third of the land of the entire earth.

The method was described in a release by Howard W. Blakeslee, science editor of the Associated Press, who recently spent two days on the Campus gathering science articles. "Some clues are almost incredible," he wrote. "Drainage pipes buried underground, not visible when you walk over them, show as thin white lines. The earth is a little drier directly above them. This causes a slight change in the color of vegetation, which shows white. White spots the size of pin points in the Midwest were identified as ant holes. For several feet around each hole the ants track the vegetation enough to change the colors. Gold deposits have been discovered on photos by earthquake faults, iron by a slight change in colors of leaves. Air oil prospecting is widespread. . . . Diamonds are found in 'pipes.' These are circular deposits of blue clay about two miles in diameter, extending deep down. Prospectors run plow furrows looking for blue clay, but this requires years. The vegetation on top of a blue clay pipe is different enough to reveal the circular formation."

This method of armchair prospecting is an outgrowth of World War II when Professor Belcher wrote to General MacArthur's staff suggesting what they could discover by looking more closely at aerial photographs and was asked to go out there and help. Professor Belcher says that anyone can learn the clues. There are about thirty main formations and these repeat all over the world. For instance, the land forms around Cornell repeat in Nova Scotia and Switzerland.

The Cornell Center for Integrated Aerial Photography was recently organized to teach the use of aerial photographs for surveys and planning and, through research, will extend the use of aerial photography to new areas.

Community Players Gather

THE "Non-professional Theater" was the theme of the fifth New York State Community Theater Conference at the University, October 13-15, and the delegates from thirty-two players' groups saw an example of amateur acting at its best in the Batavia Players' presentation, October 14 in Willard Straight Theater, of "The Male Animal" by James Thurber and Elliott Nugent.

This comedy about a red scare at "Midwestern University" and misunderstandings between a young but absent-minded professor and his wife was performed with enthusiasm and a poise near professional standards. Especially good was the casting of the stereotype characters: the too-intellectual professor, the reactionary trustee, the former athlete, and the student editor, an "unconfused liberal."

At the opening session of the conference, John Gassner, Broadway producer, critic, and teacher, discussed progress of modern American drama. In thirty years, he said, this country has accomplished more in drama than any other nation has in an equal period. Our drama is deficient, he said, in imagination and effective language.

A conference panel discussed values and goals of the community theater. Participants were Professor Robert A. Polson, Rural Sociology; Professor Edward C. Devereaux, Child Development & Family Relationships; and L. Peter Ham '26, account executive of Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn advertising agency.

Other conference speakers were Professor Kelly Yeaton of Penn State; Mary V. Heinlein, drama department head at Vassar College; Professor Walter H. Stainton '19, Speech and Drama; and Professor Mary Eva Duthie, Rural Sociology, who is executive secretary of the State Community Theater Conference.

Seek War Dead

RECORDS of Cornellians who lost their lives in the armed forces are being compiled by the University for the permanent listing which will be a part of the World War II Memorial in Anabel Taylor Hall. Names of some 450 war dead are known and others are being sought to complete the record.

Blanks for the use of next of kin may be obtained by writing to CURW, Barnes Hall, Ithaca, N.Y.

1915 Joins Class Plan

CLASS OF 1915 men with this issue join the growing number of Classes having their own regular columns in "News of the Alumni," with the NEWS going to all men of the Class and payment of annual Class dues. The first of their regular columns, by Charles M. Colyer, Class secretary-treasurer, starts on page 14.

The 1915 Class Group Subscription to the NEWS will aid in reorganization of the Class which was perfected at its successful Thirty-five-year Reunion in Ithaca last June. At that time, the Class president, Matthew Carey, Alumni Trustee of the University, appointed an organizing committee to carry it through, consisting of Walter A. Priester and Charles Shuler, Jr. of Davenport, Iowa, and H. Follet Hodgkins of Syracuse. This committee has worked valiantly, with Carey and Colyer, and all '15 men are now receiving letters explaining the plan and suggesting that the first year's Class dues of $5 be mailed promptly to the secretary-treasurer. With the letter goes a blank for personal news items to supply material so that all members may be kept informed about their Classmates in Colyer's regular column. At the same time, steps are being taken to obtain underwriters to assure the financial success of the Class undertaking for the usual three-year period.

This plan of Class organization follows the pattern set three years ago by the Class of '19, and which it has renewed this fall for a second three years. 1913 followed, and last September, 1910 began its own plan.

Other Classes are considering similar organization and subscription to the NEWS for all members at special group rate. More will be welcomed. Will yours be the next?

Carrier '01 Dies

WILLIS HAVILAND CARRIER '01, Alumni Trustee of the University from 1940

until his second term expired last June, died of a heart ailment at the Cornell Medical Center in New York City, October 7. He was chairman emeritus of the board and a founder of Carrier Corp. in Syracuse, pioneers in air conditioning.

Carrier entered Sibley College from Buffalo Central High School in 1897 with a State Scholarship, winning also a University Scholarship. At the end of his Junior year, he and William E. Chase '00 bought a laundry concession on the Campus and combined the services of two laundries, beginning the Student Laundry Agencies. He kept his interest in this, was president of the corporation, and instrumental in acquiring the present building on College Avenue.

After receiving the ME in 1901, he joined the Buffalo Forge Co. as a research engineer and became chief engineer in 1906. He founded Carrier Engineering Corp. in 1915, was president of the firm from 1915 to 1931, when he became chairman of the board, and retired in 1948..

Carrier's many inventions have been the basis of the modern air conditioning industry. His most recent development was an air-conditioning system for skyscrapers: to force conditioned air through the tall buildings under pressure and at high velocity. The forty-story Secretariat Building of the United Nations in New York City has the system, with each of its 4000 windows carrying an individual Carrier weathermaster unit.

He was awarded the John Scott

Medal for his inventions of processes and apparatus for air conditioning and refrigeration, the F. Paul Anderson Gold Medal for distinguished scientific achievements in the same field, the 1934 Medal of the ASME, and the Brown Medal of the Franklin Institute in 1941. He received the honorary Doctor of Engineering at Lehigh University in 1935 and the DSc at Alfred in 1942. The National Association of Manufacturers named him "modern pioneer of American invention" in 1940. Carrier edited The Engineers Handbook, Fan Engineering, and wrote extensively for engineering journals and several papers on technical education. He was a past president of the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers and the American Society of Refrigerating Engineers and represented these two organizations at a World Engineering Congress in Japan in 1929-30. In 1940, he was elected an honorary member of the ASME.

Carrier had been a member of the Trustee-Faculty committee on research, of the audit and Board membership committees, and of the University Board on Student Health and Hygiene. He was president of the Cornell Society of Engineers in 1940 and vice-president of the Cornell Alumni Fund Council from 1938-41. He was a member of Sigma XI, Tau Beta Pi, and Phi Kappa Phi, and of the Cornell Clubs of Syracuse and New York.

Start of Soccer

EDITOR: I was glad to peruse the October 1 ALUMNI NEWS as there is plenty to interest the grad. Sorry to hear of the passing of the old Cornell Ithacans, W. H. Smith '73 and Floyd Darling. Time marches on!

Noting your schedule of coming Varsity sports, I am glad the soccer game has survived. This is a healthy outdoor pastime, requires but little equipment, and is probably the most popular outdoor game of the world.

The first Cornell teams had difficulty in arousing any interest. We were a cosmopolitan group and practiced on the open Campus near the old Gymnasium. Looking over my scrap-book recalls to mind our first intercollegiate game, in 1906. One complaint against Association (soccer) football was that it was a "sis-sy's" game. Before we met and defeated Columbia on the unfinished Alumni Field, in a bid for popularity, it was decided to "rough" the game a little, which can easily be done if the players play "the man" instead of the ball. Each time a player was led or carried from the field when the game was in full swing, a roar went up from the bloodthirsty spectators.

A good laugh was given an unlucky spectator before the game started. He was standing close behind the goalpost wearing a black derby hat. The ball, kicked hard on a practice shot, went through the goalposts and struck the man's head and hat so violently that the hat fairly disintegrated into numerous pieces.

After the triumph against Columbia, our manager received a challenge from Brazil and other foreign countries which caused humorous comments in the papers. One was a large cartoon in the Chicago Tribune.

Much water has gone over the dam since those days. The ALUMNI NEWS brings back the days of our youth.

Is Your Paper Late?

WE GET an increasing number of complaints from subscribers of late delivery of the ALUMNI NEWS, which is mailed from Ithaca regularly the 14th and 30th of each month. The present situation gives point to the following letter written to The Ithaca Journal by Professor Morris Bishop '14, Romance Languages.

I cannot say of my own knowledge that the US Postal Service is the worst in the world; I can say only that it is worse than that of any country in which I have lived.

The single daily delivery at any hour up to 4 p.m.; the delivery [in Ithaca] of magazines which leave New York on a Wednesday the following Tuesday; the closing of the Post Office windows at the only hours at which many working people can visit them—such abuses would not be tolerated by the people of France, England, Luxembourg or Finland. And here one has only to compare the service rendered by the Post Office with that of the telephone company to recognize the difference between public and private service.

In the circumstances, I should be glad to see the US Post Office abolished and its functions let by contract to the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., or another of our great corporations with a tradition of efficient and economical service. Would the A. T. & T. like to submit a bid?

Outing Handbook

STUDENT'S HANDBOOK of the Region about Ithaca has been republished for the Outing Club by Professor Charles V. P. Young '99, who has long been the advocate of outdoor pleasures here. The booklet of twenty-four pages is attractively illustrated with drawings made by Steve Barker '41 for a similar enterprise some years ago. It is a complete guide to the many nearby places for outdoor enjoyment: for picnics, hikes, swimming, hunting, fishing, skiing, or just to enjoy the view. Complete with topographical map of the region, it costs twenty-five cents and may be obtained from Cornell Outing Club, Willard Straight Hall.

Now In My Time!

By Romeyn Berry

IT'S THE ITHACA of Indian summer and the Ithaca of June that real Old Timers most frequently recall when some associative sight or sound momentarily restores the picture of their undergraduate surroundings. For a younger group there is doubtless added a third. That's the Ithaca of winter days, all white and blue and gold, with the adventurous breaking new trails in the snow through the hills of Caroline and Virgil.

That last picture is unknown, of course, to the true ancients. We didn't have the right clothes, or the means of transportation. Without them, there was nothing to do but hole up in the intelligent manner of the bear and the raccoon. We missed something, of course, but were unaware of any lack. And there was some recompense in the unscheduled song services that came along pretty frequently at Theodore's and Martin Gibbons's. In my time, the winter was something to sing about in a warm room, and nothing to come to grips with in the hills of Caroline and Virgil. You couldn't have done it anyway. It would have taken all day even to get there in a hired rig from the Cornell Livery & Boarding Stables. Singing was cheaper.

But memories of Indian summer at Ithaca are the common property of all generations, and it takes no more than the smell of burning leaves in the twilight, the half-heard warning of the wild geese overhead, to restore them to all the freshness of their original colors.

It is one of the peculiar attractions of a football game played below the Cornell Crescent that any time the proceedings on the field are not going along in accordance with the agenda, and it begins to look as if one's bright hopes for the afternoon were not about to be realized, one can always lift up his eyes unto the hills and from the beauty of the Inlet Valley salvage $2.75 perhaps, from the original purchase price of his otherwise wasted ticket. Even on happier afternoons when deceptive plays deceive, and pass-receivers in the clear seem to have glue on their finger tips, and all goes well, the spectator is in constant danger of having his attention diverted from the play and the plot to the loveliness of the stage-set.

We recall one late October Saturday, one of the rare occasions on which your correspondent watched the game from the Crescent side and not from the press box, when he missed entirely what was said to have been the most spectacular play of the contest and its turning point because, at the moment, his gaze was riveted upon a low-hanging rain cloud floating out of the notch to the left of Connecticut Hill, and evidently deluging a limited area around Trumbull's Corners, while sun-dogs breaking through higher clouds that flanked it spotted Newfield and brought out the last of the autumn colors in the upper reaches of Enfield Glen. We've forgotten the score of that game and the identity of the opponent, but the memory remains indelible of the shower over Trumbull's Corners and its escort of sun-dogs.

Football is not to be regarded, I think, as any serious menace to the tranquility of The Higher Life at Ithaca. We rejoice, of course, in our little periods of prosperity and know from our vast experience with the other thing what anodynes to take to deaden the pains of defeat. We're more exposed, perhaps, to the dangers of over-emphasis on scenery.

In the haze of Indian summer, with some warmth still to be extracted from the declining sun and the dark pines and hemlocks along the coast of Beebe Lake still picked out with the remnants of color in the maples, how can you expect the Sophomore Class to concentrate on mechanics, the profundities of Plato and the Stagirate, or the life everlasting. It just can't be done. The combination of overwhelming beauty all about them, and the promptings of maladjusted glands within, utterly prevent long-continued contemplation of the cosmos and the individual's place within it.

Wherein, then, lies our hope of better things? It is to be found, we venture to suggest, in the brevity of Indian summer hereabouts and of everything else, for that matter, including the football season and even youth itself. One quick flip of the wheel and all will be amended. When the goal posts go and the rubber ice forms on Beebe, there'll come a moment of calm in which to dwell with The Higher Life before we concentrate upon examinations.

By "Sideliner"

Beat Syracuse, Harvard

THE FOOTBALL TEAM learned that it will have to stop drawing costly penalties and hold on to the ball, in defeating Syracuse, 26-7, in Archbold Stadium, October 7, and Harvard, 28-7, October 14 at Cambridge. In these two games, Cornell lost the ball eleven times by fumbles and its penalties totaled 240 yards. Such miscues become disastrous against an offense that can take advantage of them.

Before 30,000 persons at Syracuse, Jeffrey R. Fleischmann '51 scored three times in the first half, all on line bucks. Victor A. Pujo '52 tallied the fourth one when he received a pass from Frank M. Miller '51, who had taken a pitch-out from Rocco J. Calvo '52. The play was good for thirty-two yards. Three other scores were called back because of penalties. Lyndon C. Hull '51 contributed the longest run of the day, a fifty-two-yard jaunt in the second period. Robert J. Gaige '51 was the defensive star of the game. Time and again, this 160-pound line-backer was where he was needed to make the tackle or knock down a pass.

Syracuse scored only in the first period, when Custis went over from the 8 on a bootleg play. The aggressive Syracuse defensive line frequently outcharged Cornell's offense. This was the fourth consecutive victory over Syracuse, and brought Cornell to twenty games won and seven lost.

Sixteen thousand persons only partly filled the Harvard Stadium to see the home team make a real game of it until late in the final period. Scoring first in the second quarter on a pass, Harvard held Cornell to a 7-7 tie in the first half. Fleischmann put the Varsity ahead in the third quarter with his second touchdown. Robert G. Engel '53 went off tackle for seventeen yards to rack up the third touchdown in the last quarter, and Stuart O. Merz '52 completed the scoring with a three-yard plunge late in the game. William T. Kirk '52 kicked all the extra points. Although Cornell gained 321 yards by rushing to Harvard's twenty-five, constant fumbles and penalties were costly. Richard T. Cliggott '53 shone defensively. Cornell has now won five straight games against Harvard, which leads in the series, dating back to 1890, eleven games to five.

The following played for the Varsity in the two games:

LE —Sampson, Cliggott, Giarrusso
LT —Metzler, D. Taylor, Jerome, Kramer, Casey
LG —Vitale, McCarthy, DiGrande
C —J. Pierik, Kostas, Leo, Renzi, Chipouras, Dorrance

Officiating Incident

A rather spirited criticism of some of the officials' decisions against Cornell, made by Coach James to a New York City sports writer just after the Harvard game, received widespread attention in the press. Director Robert J. Kane '34 explained later that some of the plays Cornell uses call for split-second timing and that, both this year and last, he thinks some unjustified penalties for "backfield in motion" have been called. "We believe," he said, "that the officials are watching the players as they move with reference to other players rather than as they move with reference to the ball. We feel that in some cases we have been called illegally in motion when one of our backs moves past his teammates and/or the opposing players, but actually is not in forward motion before the ball is snapped. Such penalties, we feel, have been, in effect, for speed and alertness rather than for illegal play."

Both Kane and James expressed their regret to the Eastern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference office, which assigns officials, that the hasty criticism was aired in the newspapers.

More on Penn Game Tickets

Announcement in our last issue from Kane about sale of tickets for the Pennsylvania football game was slightly misquoted, making it confusing as to distribution of the 8,000 tickets between the goal lines which were allotted to Cornell. Kane explains that half of these will be given to students, so only 4,000 of them will be available for distribution to alumni.

J-V, Freshmen Start

THE JUNIOR VARSITY football team was defeated by the US Military Academy junior varsity, 15-7, at West Point, October 13. Falling 2 points behind early in the game when Army gained a safety, Cornell scored its only touchdown in the same period. The score was made by Arthur F. Harre, Jr. '53 and was set up by several good gains by Paul K. Clymer '51, the 150-pound scatback who also sees action with the Varsity defensive squad. Although the passing combination of Robert Malm '51 and Thurman M. Boddie '52 was a constant threat, Cornell was not able to score again.

Frosh Lose First in Three Years

The Freshman football team opened its season, October 5, in Cortland, defeating the Cortland State Teachers frosh, 26-0. After a scoreless first period, Cornell tallied twice in the second on touchdowns by Marvin H. Anderson of Troy and John A. Sebald of Middletown, Ohio. Anderson's score came on a thirty-five-yard run, and Sebald plunged over from the 10 after a forty-two-yard pass from Anthony N. D'Agostino of North Tonawanda to Donald K. Miller of Akron, Ohio. A thirty-six-yard punt return by Herbert J. Bool of Pheonix, Ariz., made it possible for Lloyd R. Walters of Newark to score from the 4 in the third period. George W. Bogar of Carlisle, Pa., passed twelve yards to Howard S. Willard of Quincy, Mass, in the fourth quarter for the last touchdown.

Wyoming Seminary handed the Frosh a 26-13 licking on lower Alumni Field, October 14, thereby inflicting the first defeat suffered by a Freshman football team in three years. Cornell scored two quick touchdowns in the first quarter, both by Walters. Wyoming fought back to score twice in the second period. The visitors added two decisive tallies in the second half and prevented further scoring by the Frosh. A high-spirited underdog aggregation beat an over-confident team that was slowed down by penalties and fumbles.

Soccer Team Ties Two

THE SOCCER TEAM staged a spirited last-period rally at West Point, October 6, to tie Army, 4-4, in an Eastern Intercollegiate League match. Behind 4-1 with seven minutes to play, the Varsity put on an offensive that netted 3 quick goals and sent the game into overtime. Two extra periods failed to produce further scoring. Leonidas C. Stylianopoulos '52 opened the rally. His counter was followed by one by Captain Derl I. Derr '51. George A. Boateng '53 then booted in the goal that tied the score.

Against Yale in Ithaca, October 14, it was the same, except in reverse. With five minutes left in the game, Cornell was enjoying a 2-0 advantage. Yale then put on a drive that tied the score at 2-2. The teams played two overtime periods but neither was able to score. Cornell's scoring in this League game was by Captain Derr and Leonard R. Fahs '51.

Freshmen Take All

The Freshman soccer team started its season by winning its first four games. Ithaca College frosh were defeated, 7-1, on Alumni Field, October 7; Manlius was defeated by the same score October 11; and Cortland State Teachers freshmen fell, 3-0, in Ithaca, October 14. A return match was played with Ithaca College on Titus Flats, October 17, and again Cornell was victorious, 5-1. For Cortland, it was the first defeat of a freshman soccer team in two years. Jaime Ginard, Jr. is the leading Cornell scorer, with 7 goals. Other scorers are John E. McLain, Teo Valentiner, Idwal W. Hughes, and Russell O. Smith. The play of Lucien Wepper in the forward wall has been consistently good. Goalie Donald M. Hertton has permitted the opposition but one goal from scrimmage in the four contests. The other two scores against Cornell came as a result of penalty kicks.

Cross Country

THE CROSS COUNTRY team was shut out by powerful Army runners, 15-50, over the five-mile West Point course, October 6. Captain William L. Killian '51, finishing in eighth place, was the first Varsity runner to cross the line. Robert L. Robertson '52 and Leslie W. Knapp '52 finished tenth and eleventh, respectively.

The Freshman cross country team ran up a perfect score, 15-40, in defeating Buffalo State Teachers College junior varsity at Ithaca, October 14. Charles Trayford, David Pratt, and David L. Willig crossed the finish in a dead heat. They were followed by James J. Klein and Allen A. Smith. The first Buffalo runner to finish was in sixth place.

Sports Shorts

The Cornell football squad is showing real musical ability as well as football. Its band, supported by its glee club, entertains itself and anyone else who cares to listen. This musical unit has as its president Vincent DiGrande '51. The leader is "Doc" Frank (Rudy Vallee?) Kavanagh. Financial advisor is Robert J. Kane '34. The lineup of the band is:

Ukuleles (real)—Jeffrey R. Fleischmann '51, Frank M. Miller '51, Rocco J. Calvo '52, and James B. Casey '51
Flute (toy)—William T. Kirk '52
Trombones (toy)—Robert J. Haley '51 and Frank N. Vitale '52
Drums (toy)—Harvey E. Sampson '51.

On the train returning from the Harvard game, this group was entertaining in the lounge car. Their music invoked the interest of a Michigan alumnus, one C. M. Boutell of Detroit, to such an extent that he gave the boys a check for $200. This money has been intrusted to Advisor Kane for safekeeping until the season is over. And, our Michigan friend is now planning to attend the Penn game to see his favorites play football, and hear their instruments. As a token of appreciation, the team autographed Sampson's drum and presented it to Boutell.

Word has been received from Syracuse that the Cornell-Pennsylvania game will be televised over station WHEN, channel 8, Syracuse. Station WHCA, Chambersburg, Pa., will broadcast a play-by-play description of the Penn game. This is in addition to the stations listed in the October 15 NEWS.

Robert T. Dean '49 and Lynn P. Dorset '50 are playing semi-professional football in the Ithaca area. Dean, who works for Arthur C. Stallman '29, is quarterback for the Corning All-Highs. Dorset, a Law School student, is playing the same position for the Elmira Iroquois Chiefs. Hillary A. Chollet '50 played an instrumental part in the upset win of the College All-Stars over the champion Philadelphia Eagles in Chicago, late in the summer. Bernard Babula '50, after signing a contract to play with the Baltimore Colts, decided to quit the sport. Frank Wydo '50 is playing his third season with the Pittsburgh Steelers. Wydo is completing his education at Cornell during the spring terms. Louis Bufalino '41, former Varsity back, is coaching at English High School, Lynn, Mass.

Freshman sailors of the Corinthian Yacht Club qualified for the Freshman Cup Regatta at Annapolis, Md., November 3 and 4, by sweeping aside upstate competition in an elimination regatta on Cayuga Lake, October 14 and 15. At the same time, in New London, Conn., Cornell's Star boat sailors were in fourth place in the finals of the Intercollegiate Star Class Regatta when the race had to be postponed indefinitely because of poor sailing conditions.

The polo team opened its season, October 14, with a 12-11 win over an alumni team. Captain Fred G. Palmer '51 and Peter J. Depuy '52 led the Varsity, scoring 3 goals each.

Kingsbury '89 Honored

KINGSBURY HALL, named for the late Albert Kingsbury '89, was dedicated, October 14, at University of New Hampshire as the principal engineering building of its college of technology. The largest structure on the campus, it was built by the State at cost of $1,000,000 and is named for the first professor of mechanical engineering at New Hampshire. Professor Kingsbury developed there the famous thrust bearing and a torsion compression machine, which he took with him to Worcester Polytechnic Institute in 1899, and which are now returned for display in the building named for him.

Much of the planning of the complete and modern three-story engineering building was directed by President Arthur S. Adams of the University of New Hampshire, formerly Provost at Cornell. A dedicatory plaque in the building was designed by Kingsbury's daughter, who is the wife of Professor Morris Bishop '14, Romance Languages and Literature.

Dedication of the building was preceded, October 13, by a symposium on "Technology in the Service of Mankind." Speakers were James Phinney Baxter III, president of Williams; Ralph D. Paine, Jr., managing editor of Fortune; Spofford English of the scientific staff, Atomic Energy Commission; and Ralph E. Flanders, US Senator from Vermont. At the dedication ceremony, Governor Sherman Adams of New Hampshire spoke, and Admiral Wat T. Cluverius, president of Worcester Polytechnic Institute, presented the Kingsbury test apparatus.

Professor Bishop officially represented Cornell University at the ceremonies; Mrs. Bishop was also a guest; and Professor Arthur H. Burr, head of the Department of Machine Design, represented the College of Engineering.

Kingsbury, who died in 1943, received many scientific honors for his inventions and contributions to engineering, including the Elliott Cresson Medal of Franklin Institute, gold medal and honorary membership, ASME, John Scott Medal of the City of Philadelphia, and honorary degrees of Worcester Polytechnic Institute and University of New Hampshire. He entered Sibley College in 1887, having previously studied at what is now the University of Akron and at Ohio State University, and received the ME in 1889. At the recommendation of Director Robert H. Thurston, he went to New Hampshire that year, but resigned at its close, returning as the first professor of mechanical engineering in 1891. Later, he wrote that his first work on the lubrication of bearings was done while he was a student at Cornell.

Violinist Pleases

THE COMBINATION of technical skill with emotional depth for which Zino Franciscatti is known was fully demonstrated in his program in Bailey Hall, October 17, opening this year's University concert series.

Each selection, from Tartini's "Concerto in D minor" to the familiar "Rondo Capriccioso" by Saint-Saens, displayed his masterful control and understanding of the violin's potentialities. The beauty of the performance was augmented by the sympathetic and accurate accompaniment of David Stimer.

Outstanding were the presto movement of Beethoven's "Kreutzer" sonata and the three sections from Bach's "Partita in D minor" for unaccompanied violin. Especially the latter illustrated a marvelous range of tone and feeling.

The artist graciously rewarded the enthusiasm of the large audience by playing two encores, the Friedemann Bach "Grave" and Kreisler's "Praeludium and Allegro."

Hurd Directs State Budget

PROFESSOR T. NORMAN HURD, PhD '36, Land Economics, became New York State Budget Director, October 2, filling the post held until last May by John E. Burton, now University Vice-president for Business.

Appointed by Governor Thomas E. Dewey, Professor Hurd has previously handled several special assignments for the Governor. He was State farm manpower director from February 9, 1943, to October 2, 1945, and secretary of the State Food Commission in 1947-48. During World War II, he also was secretary of the State Agricultural Defense Committee, a unit of the State War Council, and secretary of the State farm labor advisory committee on farm and food processing labor. He is chairman of the East Coast Interstate Migrant Labor Committee, which is sponsored by the Council of State Governments.

A graduate of Michigan State College, he came to the Graduate School in 1931. From 1935 on, he was successively Extension instructor in Farm Management and Marketing, instructor in Business Management, Extension assistant professor of Marketing, and Extension assistant professor of Land Economics. In 1947, he was promoted to Extension associate professor to professor of Land Economics. Mrs. Hurd is the former Anne Wolstenholme '38.

Intimate Recitals

CHAMBER MUSIC concerts in Willard Straight Theater this year will bring two groups to the Campus for the first time and three others for return engagements.

The newcomers will appear first: the piano-violin duo of Jacqueline Blancard and Andre deRibaupierre, November 7, and the Hungarian String Quartet, December 5. The Budapest String Quartet will perform January 8; the New York Woodwind Quartet, February 13; and the Walden String Quartet, formerly in residence at the University, April 17.

ITHACA ART ASSOCIATION is headed by Donald W. Moore '33. Mrs. Olive Northup Snyder '22, Assistant Alumni Secretary, is a vice-president.

Coming Events

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 3

Ithaca: Dramatic Club presents one-act plays by Cornellians: "A Man's Duty" by Anthony G. Dower '52; "Three Cheers for Woody" by Munroe Scott, AM '50; and "(Unnamed)" by Brice H. Howard, Jr., Grad, Willard Straight Theater, 7:30 & 9:30

ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

"PREPARATION FOR MARRIAGE" lecture series, sponsored by the men's and women's activities committees of Willard Straight Hall, is being attended by nearly 800 men and women students, with a ratio of  $3\frac{1}{2}$  men to 1 woman. Last year's series was open to men only. Each lecture is being given twice to accommodate audiences in the Willard Straight Memorial Room. Dr. Norman S. Moore '23, Clinical and Preventive Medicine, gave the first lecture October 18 and 19. Dr. F. Alexander Magoun, author of the book Love and Marriage, gave the second lecture October 23 and 24 and the third October 30 and 31, and will give the last November 7 and 8. Tickets for the series were sold this year at \$1.20.

FALL WEEK END formal in Barton Hall November 10, before the Colgate game, will feature the music of the orchestras of Blue Barron and Tommy Tucker and have the theme "Highland Fling or The Moor, the Merrier." Savage Club will present its annual show, this year called "Supmac no Segavas," in Bailey Hall Friday and Saturday nights.

MILITARY SERVICE NEWS, a mimeographed digest "to provide official information to Cornell students," is being posted periodically on Campus bulletin boards by the University Committee on Military Service. It is compiled, as new directives come out, by Donald H. Moyer, assistant secretary of the Committee and Director of Veterans Education.

CAVE STUDY enthusiasts have been organized as the Cornell Grotto of the National Speleological Association by Bassett Maguire, Jr. '53. Equipped with carbide lamps, flashlights, and special climbing shoes, the eleven "speelunker" members make weekly excursions to caves in Central New York State and northern Pennsylvania.

DRAMATIC CLUB officers for this year are Richard J. Glavin '51, president; Richard C. Morris '52, vice-president; Adele R. Morgan '51, secretary; Joanne Holloway '52, treasurer; and Betty J. Goldsmith '51, librarian.

NORMANDIE Restaurant on State Street, run by John P. Floros '36 and Nicholas P. Floros '36 and their mother, reopened September 29 after a complete metamorphosis. Behind its glass front, the restaurant has chartreuse and lavender booths indirectly lighted from a deep green and lavender ceiling of spun fibre and asbestos. In the rear a combination cocktail lounge and restaurant, named the Burgundy Room, accommodates 160 guests.

FIRE STATIONS in Ithaca now have five undergraduate "bunkers" who in return for being on call during their free hours live in the fire stations. The practice of student bunking in the Ithaca fire stations started about fifty years ago.

DELTA DELTA DELTA Scholarships of $100 each have been awarded to Carolyn M. Niles '51 and to Juniors Mina F. Brown, Marian E. Schott, and Margaret J. Smart.

ANNUAL CONVOCATION of students and faculty at the opening of the School of Industrial and Labor Relations was in Myron Taylor Hall, September 26. Dean Martin P. Catherwood, PhD '30, discussed the impact of the international situation on the School and its relevance to the School's activities.

SIX MEMBERS of the Harvard Business School faculty toured Willard Straight Hall and Statler Hall, October 6, to get ideas for a new student union being planned for their school. Their guides were University Vice-president George F. Rogalsky '07 and Professor Howard B. Meek, Director of the School of Hotel Administration.

TAU BETA PI, Engineering honor society, has elected Robert C. Schutt, Jr. '50, president; Loren F. Kahle '51, vice-president; Robert H. Caplan III '51, corresponding secretary; Albert B. Bishop '51, recording secretary; Norman F. Kirchner '51, treasurer; and Alton R. Pope '51, cataloger.

MILK PRODUCTION records of more than 100,000 pounds each have just been completed by two Holstein cows owned by the University. In eight yearly milking periods, Cornell Lonsdale Sylvia gave 111,648 pounds of milk and 3,755 pounds of butterfat. Cornell Pledge Tulip is credited with 105,166 pounds of 4.2 per cent milk and 4,440 pounds of butterfat in seven yearly milking periods.

SUMMER TEMPERATURES in October found students slowing down their pace to and from classes and lolling coatless on steps and benches around Campus. By the middle of the month, most of the trees on the Hill and surrounding heights across the Lake were turned yellow, orange, and flaming red.

STUDENT VANDALISM at Cornell, Colgate, and Syracuse was discussed by representatives from the three schools on neutral ground at Cazenovia, October 19, two weeks after several Cornell students smeared paint about the Syracuse campus and numerous orange S's appeared here before the Cornell-Syracuse game. Attending the meeting from Cornell were Dean of Men Frank C. Baldwin '22, Student Council president Jack R. Vinson '51, Interfraternity Council president Donald T. Grady '51, and Cornell Daily Sun editor Charles D. Graham, Jr. '51.

FIRST WOMAN Sage Chapel Preacher is Mrs. Harper Sibley of Rochester, president of the National Council of Church Women, who gave the sermon Sunday, October 15. Her husband, a former Trustee of the University, is the son of Hiram W. Sibley and a grandson of Hiram Sibley, friend of Ezra Cornell and original donor of Sibley College building.

PANHELLENIC COUNCIL cup, presented annually to the sorority with the highest academic standing, went to Alpha Epsilon Phi for the fourth year in a row. Alpha Omicron Pi won the Council plaque for the sorority with the greatest improvement in academic standing.

SECOND ANNUAL Student Council Fall Workshop on Campus Affairs at Hidden Valley, October 28-29, was attended by some 100 students representing the various Campus organizations and twenty Faculty and staff members. Professor Frederick H. Stutz '35, Education, Director of the Summer Session, gave the principal address. Topics discussed included deferred rushing, participation in the National Student Association, and Student Council representation and functions.

CUSTOM SHOPPING SERVICE, a new business to help Ithaca shoppers, was opened, September 8, by four alumni: Clyde D. Tomboulion '51, owner of Custom Electronics; Mrs. Tomboulion (Norma Lamb) '51, freelance artist; Graham L. Waldo '47, freelance writer and a founder of the Cornell Rhythm Club; and Mrs. Waldo (Betty McGrew) '49, freelance writer, a former WAVE and secretary. The company offers to plan parties, coordinating the services of caterers, decorators, and others. In its shopping service, the customer may name the specific article or service and/or merchant; he may get advice on his purchase; or he may just tell his problem and leave its solution to the Service.

THE FACULTY

Election of Trustee Horace C. Flanigan '12 to the board of Excess Insurance Co., the excess carrier for the Kemper group of insurance companies, was announced October 2. He was elected chairman of the board of Manufacturers Trust Co., New York City, September 18.

Alumni Trustee Elbert P. Tuttle '18 (above) has been assigned as commanding general of the 108th Airborne Division (Reserve) with headquarters in Atlanta, Ga., and covering five Southeastern States. He served five years in World War II, entering as a National Guard major and leaving active duty as a brigadier general. Commanding a Field Artillery battalion of the Seventy-seventh Infantry Division, he was wounded in action in the Okinawa campaign and participated in the invasion of Guam and Leyte. He received the Legion of Merit, Bronze Star, Purple Heart with Oak Leaf, and Bronze Arrowhead. A member of the law firm of Sutherland, Tuttle & Brennan, he was president of the Alumni Association from 1946-48 and served two terms as president of the Cornell Club of Atlanta.

Former University Trustee Edward R. Eastman, a Regent of the University of the State of New York, presided at an elementary and secondary education meeting during the University's eighty-fourth annual convocation, October 20, in Albany. Speakers were Monsignor Fulton J. Sheen and Charles F. Kettering of General Motors Co.

American universities should train specialists for the government, President Emeritus Edmund E. Day told a conference of 600 college presidents in Washington, D.C., October 6. He suggested a national manpower utilization program, to include university training, so the United States could lead militarily, socially, and politically. President Day was keynote speaker at the meeting called by the American Council on Education. Also on the program was Theodore P. Wright, Vice-president in charge of research. Dean S. C. Hollister, Engineering, was the third Cornell delegate. Wright also gave a paper at the national aeronautic meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers, September 28-30, in Los Angeles, Cal., on "Research and Development to Promote Safety in Aviation."

Professor John McConnell, Industrial & Labor Relations, is in Washington, D.C., this year as co-director of a Twentieth Century Fund study of the economic problems of the aged. He and his family live at 4601 Maple Avenue, Bethesda, Md.

Philosophical Analysis, essays by seventeen American and British scholars, was published September 25 by Cornell University Press. Edited by Professor Max Black, the book has contributions by Professors Norman Malcolm, Philosophy, and Frederick L. Will, PhD '37, of University of Illinois.

German cattle breeders are accepting the idea of artificial insemination centers, says Professor Stanley J. Brownell, Animal Husbandry, returned from a six-month ECA assignment in North Germany. Since 1945, the only artificial insemination practiced had been by individual farmers, he said, but the next five years should show more widespread improvement in their stock because of cooperation.

Safety Award for 1950 of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers' committee on farm safety went to Professor Carlton M. Edwards '36, Agricultural Engineering. Professor Edwards had an exhibit on bicycle safety at the ASAE meeting in Washington, D.C.

Research of Professor John MacLeod, PhD '41, Anatomy, Medical College, on the male sperm is described by Albert Q. Maisel in Collier's for September 2. Because 40 per cent of infertility is the male's, he says, a way to increase sperm vigor would greatly benefit humanity. The writer tells of Dr. MacLeod's early work under Dean Joseph C. Hinsey and Dr. Cornelius P. Rhoads at the Medical College.

New York State Science Teachers Association award for meritorious service went to Philip G. Johnson, PhD '33, assistant professor of Rural Education until 1946, now a specialist in science with the US Office of Education in Washington, D.C.

Professor Zoltan I. Kertesz, Chemistry, at the Geneva Experiment Station, is editor-in-chief of Food Research and of Food Technology, journals of the Institute of Food Technologists.

Professor Henry G. Booker, Electrical Engineering, is co-winner with P. C. Clemmow, University of London, of the Kelvin Premium for 1950 of the Institution of Electrical Engineers in London. The award was for papers on wave propagation.

Alice Geer Kelsey, wife of Professor Lincoln D. Kelsey, Extension, is the author of The Teakwood Pulpit and Other Stories for Junior Worship, published September 5 by Abingdon-Cokesbury Press. She also wrote Stories for Junior Worship and More Stories for Junior Worship. She is the mother of Paul M. Kelsey '43 and Mrs. Norman F. Lewis (Edith Kelsey) '44.

Professor George B. Lyon, Civil Engineering, and Betty C. Taylor were married, August 25, in Buffalo. Mrs. Lyon is executive director of the Ithaca Council and Tiomoca Area Girl Scouts.

Master Brewers Association of America, meeting in Philadelphia, Pa., October 6, heard a talk on "Materials Handling" by Acting Director Harry J. Loberg '29, Mechanical Engineering.

"Out of Work: A Guide through Unemployment in New York State" by Professor John N. Thurber, Industrial & Labor Relations, has been published by the School. The bulletin has two sections, "Finding Work" and "Making Ends Meet." Professor Thurber, as Tompkins County delegate to the State convention of the Liberal Party, September 5-6 in New York City, seconded the nomination of Herbert D. Lehman for US Senator.

Colonel George S. Smith (above left), Field Artillery, USA, will become ROTC Commandant and professor of Military Science and Tactics, February 1, replacing Colonel Ralph A. Hospital (center) who retires from active duty. The two Army men are shown watching drill on Alumni Field with Captain Frederic S. Habecker, new professor of Naval Science and commanding officer of the Naval ROTC. Colonel Smith, a West Point graduate and an intelligence officer during and after World War II, has been chief of the Eurasian branch of the Intelligence Division with the War Department general staff in Washington, D.C. Other Army officers newly assigned to the ROTC are Major Donald B. Gordon '38, Artillery; Captains Frank A. Dwyer and Daniel T. Delaney, Quartermaster Corps; and Captain Myron H. Dakin, Signal Corps.

The application of physics to astronomy was discussed by Professor Samuel L. Boothroyd, Grad '04-'08, Astronomy, Emeritus, at an American Physical Society meeting, September 30, at Clarkson College of Technology. Professor Lloyd P. Smith, PhD

'30, Engineering Physics, took part in a symposium on the best way to educate a physics student.

Professor William R. Sears was cited by the University of Minnesota "in recognition of noted professional attainment" as "teacher, university administrator, aerodynamicist, and director of the Graduate School of Aeronautical Engineering at Cornell University," October 5 at the university's centennial. He was one of seventeen alumni of its Institute of Technology to receive outstanding achievement medals. A graduate of Minnesota in 1934, Professor Sears received the PhD at California Institute of Technology, where he taught from 1938-41. Before coming to the University in 1946, he was for five years chief aerodynamicist of Northrop Aircraft Co., Los Angeles, Cal. October 6, he discussed modern aeronautical engineering at a luncheon meeting sponsored by the Minnesota Federation of Engineering Societies and the Institute of Technology. He had spoken on "An Engineer Looks at Aeronautics," October 2, to the Chicago Society of Engineers.

Professor Walfred A. Anderson, PhD '29, Rural Sociology, is in Formosa this semester as consultant on rural reconstruction problems for the ECA. He and Mrs. Anderson drove to the West Coast and visited their daughter, Mrs. R. Scott Marshall (Ruth Anderson) '42 in Port Angeles, Wash.

The Council of Jewish Federations and Welfare Funds of the United States has appointed Professor Milton R. Konvitz, PhD '33, Industrial & Labor Relations, to its technical advisory committee. The group of thirteen experts in social sciences are to advise the Council in a survey of American Jewish communal life.

Professor Joseph G. Tarboux '23, Electrical Engineering, represented the American Institute of Electrical Engineers at a convocation at St. Bonaventure University, October 4, marking the presentation of the school's charter as a university.

A film, "Developing Friendships," for use in schools, churches, and clubs, has been produced by Coronet Films with the cooperation of Professor Lemo D. Rockwood, PhD '31, Family Relationships.

Professor M. Gardner Clark, Industrial & Labor Relations, spent the summer in Europe on a traveling fellowship from the School. He gathered information on teaching possibilities and research in comparative labor relations and attended the International Labor Office convention in Geneva, Switzerland.

Curt Berger, resident doctor, 1939-42, and teaching associate in Physics, 1943-45, is research associate in the Eye Hospital of the University of Copenhagen, Denmark.

A textbook, Fundamentals of the Calculus, by Donald E. Richmond, PhD '26, has been published by McGraw-Hill Book Co. Richmond, now mathematics department chairman at Williams College, taught Physics and Mathematics here from 1918-26.

Fraternities Pledge New Members Following Freshman Rushing

TWO WEEKS of formal rushing ended September 30 with 590 Freshmen and others pledged to fraternities: a few more than last year's initial total of 579. Additional pledge cards since turned in to the Interfraternity Council have brought the number of pledges to almost 800.

The day bids were handed out, the Cornell Daily Sun published a joint letter from President Donald T. Grady '51 of the Interfraternity Council and President Robert A. Wolbach '51 of the Independent Council, describing the opportunities available to fraternity members and to non-fraternity men. Editorially, the Sun urged students to read the letter, saying that not only does it contain good advice "but it stands as impressive evidence of the goodwill which exists between fraternity men and independents here."

The list of pledges to mid-October follows. All are Freshmen unless otherwise designated by Class numerals.

NEWS OF THE ALUMNI

Personal items and newspaper clippings about Cornellians are earnestly solicited

'86 BS—Dr. Charles B. Story has moved from Clinton Corners to 42-40 208th Street, Bayside.

'02 AB, '05 PhD—Part 2 of "A Study of Trends of Expenses and Taxes of Some of Our Local Governments" has been published by the William C. Geer Laboratory. Part 1, published in May, points out the upward trend of expenses in six Tompkins County units; Part 2 forecasts 1960 tax rates and recommends a consolidated County government. The booklet was published serially in The Ithaca Journal. Geer, research chemist and former vice-president of Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., lives at 630 Highland Road, Ithaca.

'03-'04 Grad—Abner S. Pope, 1515 Hampton Boulevard, Norfolk, Va., has been president of Seaboard Citizens National Bank since 1932.

'07 ME—William G. Taylor retired March 1, 1949, after forty-one years as industrial application engineer with General Electric Co. at Schenectady. He pioneered in electrical oil well drilling and pumping and worked on many oil pipe line projects, including the "Big Inch" and "Little Big Inch." He lives at 1181 Ardsley Road, Schenectady 8.

'08 AB—Robert L. Coe has been elected chairman of Chase Copper & Brass Co., fabricating affiliate of Kennecott Copper Corp. President of the New York company since January 1, Coe will continue as chief executive officer. He lives in Woodbury, Conn.

'08 BS—A synopsis of his life, prepared primarily for his family, has been printed by Vaughn MacCaughy, 726 Cragmont Avenue, Berkeley 8, Cal. The sketch records his activities since his first job as church sexton in Greenville, Ohio, at the age of eleven, to his present work as editor of the Sierra Educational News, journal of California Teachers Association, and lists his six children and fifteen grandchildren.

'09 AB—Leon D. Rothschild, president of Rothschild Bros. store in Ithaca, has been re-elected a director of the New York State Council of Retail Merchants, Inc.

In terms of baseball, Stanton Griffis always plays the "hot corner." If a base is hot, Griffis is the man they get to play it; if it weren't hot to start with, it's apt to heat up after he gets there. Poland, Egypt, and the Argentine: all regarded as reasonably warm in diplomatic circles! Griffis is now playing the last named as United States Ambassador after playing the other two in like capacity.

The early months of our participation in World War II presented some warm features. Griffis spent six of those months in England, Sweden, Finland, Spain, and Portugal performing "hush" jobs for the government. In 1944, he was disclosed to have been the American special representative who got into Sweden through the coal chute and succeeded in shutting off the export of ball bearings from Sweden to Germany.

Stanton's entry into Cornell involved only a short stroll to Morrill Hall from the Buffalo Street home of his father, the late William Elliot Griffis, clergyman, historian, author, and for many years a colorful and important figure in the life of Ithaca. The son's undergraduate career was striking, varied, and, at times, turbulent. His long list of college honors and accomplishments included the chief editorship of The Cornell Daily Sun and winning the Woodford Prize in Oratory.

After graduation and a brief experience with fruit growing in Oregon, Stanton Griffis reversed his field to become, after a short apprenticeship in the bond business, a partner in the New York investment banking firm of Hemphill, Noyes & Co. He's been that ever since, but not apparently the type of banker who sits in the shop and advises clients. He goes out and does it for them. Trustee of Cornell and chairman of its Finance Committee, chairman of the board of Paramount Pictures, Madison Square Garden, Brentano's, and on and on; all hot corners at times, but all played with important assists and no errors.

That gives you the rough idea. For the detailed list of medals, citations, honorary degrees, and hard jobs without pay, you are referred to Who's Who.

Home: New Canaan, Conn. Office: 15 Broad Street, New York City. But the man is seldom at either place. Too busy, useful, and ubiquitous!

Stanley W. Allen lives at 840 Springfield Pike, Glendale, Ohio. He's president of Kempner-Thomas Co., manufacturers of advertising specialties. His three boys all served as pilots in the Army Air Force and all got back safely.

Norman Hughes is superintendent of the welfare department for Currituck County, N.C.; lives at Powell Point in that county. That's a nice spot, but a little too far off the main routes to let him run across Cornell people very often.

Big- and small-time finance are handled by Don Beardsley, our efficient Class treasurer, with equal aplomb. Don keeps the books on the pennies and dollars of the '13 funds so well that George Rockwell never knows how much to tell Vic Underwood and Freddy Norton they may have to budget for the Class Reunions. As a result, the Class has always been solvent.

This experience has stood Don in good stead in helping to finance various enterprises of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, such as the $211,000,000 Pennsylvania Turnpike and the $375,000,000 Pennsylvania GI bonus bonds. Your editor has a picture of Governor Duff turning over to the State Treasurer a check for $7,500,000 from a nation-wide syndicate of 400 banks as evidence of good faith for the purchase of the $375,000,000 worth of veterans' bonus bonds. Present as representative of Drexel & Co. of Philadelphia, one of the group heading the financial syndicate, was our own Don. A daughter is a graduate of Smith, and a son has graduated from Penn! Don is called "Gramp" by three grandsons and one granddaughter, the latest. He has been president of the Cornell Club of Philadelphia, '13 representative for the Alumni Fund, and chairman of the regional committee for interviewing candidates for the McMullen Scholarship. From time to time he sees something of Bill Townson who is a neighbor in Germantown. Don is not one to shift loyalties. He has kept the same wife for thirty-five years and lived in the same house for thirty years.

Our field correspondent reports this one a trifle tardily, but it fits in with the football season: Several years ago on Thanksgiving Day two couples were guests at a home in Lyme, N.H. One couple were neighbors who lived a mile away at Riverbridge Farm; the other were old friends of the hosts, on a visit from Puerto Rico. "We were formally introduced to the visiting couple from Puerto Rico, the name missing us completely. Suddenly the guy gets up before dinner is served and says, 'The only liberty I want in this home today is to listen to the Cornell-Penn game.' Then we both exploded"; thus the long arm of coincidence brought together Classmates Squire Sessler and Charley Hartzel who comes to the mainland each winter to get some ice in his veins. Charlie practices law in San Juan and does about everything else in the town. He is a trustee of the local Presbyterian Hospital and the Polytechnic Institute; he was on the alien enemy hearing board; he was commander in the Coast Guard and US prize commissioner in World War II.

Another mainlander whom Charley also sees quite a bit is Andy McCown, the shining legal light of Philadelphia with music in his heart and a song on his lips.

'14 AB—A New York Times editorial, September 24, saying that Communist countries are denied "freedom of silence" as well as "freedom of speech," is based on the denunciation of Hu Shih by his son, who has been indoctrinated by the Chinese Communists. Hu Shih's "work in modernizing the use of the Chinese language has been cited as one of the finest contributions to contemporary scholarship," The Times writes. "His impact on the philosophic thinking of our time, and especially upon that thinking in China, has often been termed 'revolutionary.'" He was Ambassador to the United States and president of Peiping University; is now at Princeton.

'14—Frater Bede Reynolds, formerly Kenyon Reynolds, scientist and business executive, made solemn perpetual vows as a Benedictine monk, September 12, and was to be ordained to the sub-deaconate. Chief chemist of Wallace Refineries in Taft, Cal., by the age of twenty-six, he became in 1925 vice-president and general manager of Pacific Gasoline Co. in Los Angeles, Cal. During World War II, he directed the natural gas and gasoline division of the US Petroleum Administration at Los Angeles. Converted to Catholicism in 1933, he began preparation for the priesthood five years ago.

'14 AB—The latest New Yorker article by Frank Sullivan, in the September 23 issue, is "Grid Gander," a satire on football predictions and predictors. Foremost player in the Ivy League, he believes, will be Yale's Azenbrodt Teele, who has three arms and prepped with Ringling. League officials, doubtful whether he is eligible, have been reminded that a two-headed boy from the medical museum played quite successfully for Harvard in 1871.

1915 Men

By C. M. Colyer, Secretary-Treasurer
123 West Prospect Ave., Cleveland 1, Ohio

The finger has been put on the above to report in the columns of the ALUMNI NEWS on the doings in the Class of 1915. We (kindly note the editorial "we" same like used by Bill Kleitz and other editors of the Cornell Sun away back there when there were no co-eds on the board) wish that we could assure our readers (if any) that these dispatches will be filled with spicy and racy stories of the private lives of our membership. But let's face the facts. You can't expect guys approaching sixty to be involved en le affaires de l'amour, save in a very minor role. (How do you like that AEF French, circa 1917-18?)

So we must all be content to read here of the day-to-day activities and performances of men who graduated (or busted) from college thirty-five years ago. Now don't be bashful. Send me at the address above any bits of news about yourselves, your business and families—children, marriage of same, and grandchildren, trips to Ithaca and elsewhere. No obituaries will appear here. Remember soon after we graduated news items concerning the Class were almost on the

Behind the Ivy: FIFTY YEARS IN ONE UNIVERSITY WITH VISITS TO SUNDRY OTHERS

By ROMEYN BERRY, formerly Graduate Manager of the Cornell University Athletic Association, columnist and commentator

Recollections of Cornell's early days, anecdotes of departed characters and customs, pungent comment on the passing academic scene—all will be found in these witty and warm-hearted sketches. Originally appearing in the Cornell Alumni News under the column "Now, in My Time!" the one hundred and sixty-five sketches here collected in one volume comprise one of the happiest memoirs of an American university ever published.

"Even a reader who has never climbed the Hill comes, by the end of the book, to have a warm feeling for Cascadilla Place, Henry W. Sage, the Ostrander Elms, Theodore Zinck, Cayuga Lake, and George Pfann '24.'"—The New York Times 348 pages, $3.50

UNIVERSITY PRESS

124 ROBERTS PLACE
ITHACA, NEW YORK

Cornell University: FOUNDERS AND THE FOUNDING

By CARL L. BECKER, Late Professor of History, Cornell University

The story of Cornell University and the personalities of its founders and leaders come to life under Carl Becker's skillful pen.

"The author's thorough investigation has brought to light new and valuable material on the history of Cornell, but perhaps the greatest merit of the book lies in the penetrating judgment with which events and persons are appraised."—American Historical Review 246 pages, $2.75

The Modern University

Edited by MARGARET CLAPP, President of Wellesley College

These four essays on the recent past and the present of the university in the western world should command the interest of educators and teachers. It is shown how the heritage of nineteenth-century universities in England, Europe, and the United States has borne fruit in the modern, liberal American university. The challenges that face these universities today are outlined—the widening educational opportunity, their responsibility for the advancement as well as the preservation of knowledge, the increased demand for vocational training. 122 pages, $2.50

Freedom and the University: THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE UNIVERSITY FOR THE MAINTENANCE OF FREEDOM IN THE AMERICAN WAY OF LIFE

By EDGAR N. JOHNSON, ROBERT D. CALKINS, EUGENE V. ROSTOW, JOSEPH L. LILIENTHAL, Jr., J. ROBERT OPPENHEIMER, EDWARD C. KIRKLAND

Six distinguished authorities in higher education discuss the development of the liberal university, its role in training for graduate professional study, the relation of scientific research to the university, the meaning of academic freedom. This fully-rounded sextet of essays is of value to educators and teachers. 138 pages, $2.00 back page of the ALUMNI NEWS? Today we are crowding the masthead. The old boy with the scythe is narrowing the bracket on us every year!

Speaking of children calls to mind the custom of awarding a prize for the first infant born to a member of any graduating class (above eighth grade). Later on in the year, we propose to open a contest for the purpose of determining which member of the Class of 1915 has the youngest child. Such a contest should produce some interesting (and possibly startling) data. Rules (they will have to be rather well defined, you know) will be published later. This department will welcome suggestions both as to regulations and prizes.

The following (addressed to the "editor") from Lester Marks, PO Box 497, Honolulu, Hawaii, has been referred to Matt Carey for appropriate action:

"I did not have an opportunity to see you before departing from our Thirty-fifth Reunion in June and, therefore, was not able to ascertain what I can do for the committee to which I was appointed at our banquet at the Dutch Kitchen. Please let me know if there is anything I can do from this distance and, if any of the boys are heading my way, tell them to be sure to look me up."

Lester took the prize at the Reunion for the member of the Class travelling the greatest distance.

Re the Reunion, we forgot to mention Floyd DeGolyer and Jay Scofield—they are sure-fire in attendance at all '15 gatherings.

Suppose you have all noted in the public prints the swell job that Sam Leibowitz, Judge, Kings County Court (Brooklyn), is doing in cleaning up the rackets in his bailiwick. Sam led the Class (information and belief) in Boardman Hall.

'16 PhD—The French Government has honored Joseph V. DePorte of New Lebanon Center, director of New York State Office of Vital Statistics for twenty-five years, for his work in vital statistics and population studies. He was made a Commander of the National French Order of Public Health and received a scroll and gold medallion.

'16 AB—John M. Van Horson has joined The Biow Co., 9 Rockefeller Plaza, New York City, as vice-president and account supervisor working with the Procter & Gamble brand group. Van Horson is an ALUMNI NEWS advisory board member.

'17 AB—The first "Children's Day," celebrated October 15, was the brainchild of George J. Hecht, chairman of the national committee for the observation of Mother's Day and publisher of Parents and six other magazines. The newest is Children's Digest, patterned after Reader's Digest, which reprints stories, comics, and features from children's magazines and books. Hecht was the subject of the column "New York Close-up" by Tex McCrary and Jinx Falkenburg in the New York Herald Tribune for September 29 and was written up in Time for October 9. The latter article says, "Hecht got his first taste of publishing as manager of the Cornell Era in 1917." He is a member of the ALUMNI NEWS advisory board. His office is at 52 Vanderbilt Avenue, New York City 17.

1945 Men

By William D. Knauss, Actg. Class Sec'y.
409 East Cedar St., Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

"The Leonard Baby Factory," By Leonard, president, reports a net capital gain as of July 1 of Cheryl Norman Leonard. The report has this additional comment: "Mother doing fine, father conceded." One step behind the Class's former perennial bachelor is Bob Wilson, who marched down the aisle in Mamaroneck in August. They're settled down in Hicksville now, and he's brewing up business for the coffee house of W. Wirt Wickes & Son, Inc. in New York.

Had a letter from Dan Hrtko a short while back telling of his impending marriage, November 7, to Phyl Gage in Roselle, N.J. The next word I had was a wedding invite with November 7 crossed out and October 14 written in and Lt. replacing the Mr. As far as I know, Danny is the first of our Class to be recalled to service, a possibility a goodly number of us face. The best wishes of your correspondent and the Class go with you, Danny! Ken Vogel and his wife are at 186 Hillside Road, Oak Ridge, Tenn., where he's on loan from Westinghouse to work on atomic power. Will Gundlach is settled in Rochester at 556 Falstaff Road with his wife, son, and two daughters. He's developing an incentive system for Eastman's indirect labor, and quips that he doesn't care where the kids go to college as long as it's Cornell. (Tell us Will, are they ready already?)

Out in Neenah, Wis., Walt Clist, Jr. and wife, Mary Pollard Clist '44, are at home at 619 Winnebago Heights. Kimberly-Clark Corp. has given him a big hunk to chew on: he's director of their cafeteria, club, and hotel activities. Irwin Spear has fled the States for England with his wife, where he's busy at a year's study of biology at the Imperial College of Science and Technology, South Kensington, London SW 7; expects to spend some of his time at the world-famous Rothamsted Agricultural Experiment Station. From Cincinnati at 3650 Saybrook Ave. comes word from Bill and Liz Woodson ('47) Pearson that their second offspring, Elizabeth Louise, arrived early this year. Bill, Jr. is an old man of two. Practically every time I get news of somebody in the Class, I dread reading it for invariably at least one more of our ranks has become forever entwined in the grip of (sic) marital bliss. John Muller, Jr. took the big step a few months back and has settled down in West Orange, N.J. Our informant neglected to send his occupation and street address.

A reader writes the author . . .

"A Brilliant Idea . . ."

"The book OUR CORNELL is one of the most fascinating publications I have ever received. It was a brilliant idea to take the published writings of such people as Ken Roberts and Dana Burnet and put them into a single volume where everybody can enjoy them. My copy will probably have a circulation of about fifty people before it gets back to my bookshelf."

Thanksgiving is a state of mind

Thanksgiving is the smell of turkey browning in the oven. Thanksgiving is a barrel of apples in the basement, a row of pickle jars on the pantry shelf. Thanksgiving is all the garden vegetables and all the orchard fruits stored away against a long, cold Winter.

Come to think of it . . . Thanksgiving is the warm sense of happiness you have Today when Tomorrow is secure. That's why every day can be a Thanksgiving Day—and a better day—when Prudential protects your future.
