MOST SENIORS FIND JOBS Says Placement Director

Outlook for jobs for the Class of '40 appears promising, says Herbert H. Williams '25, Director of the University Placement Bureau. His office in Willard Straight Hall is a central clearing house for employment of Seniors, along with its activities for alumni placement.

"Jobs for our 1940 graduates appear to be more prevalent than in some time past," Williams says. "The formal recruiting period, during which commercial and industrial representatives visit the Campus to select and offer employment to those who meet their standards, is over. Almost any week-day from the middle of last February through the end of April would find from one to a half-dozen recruiters busy at the task of interviewing Seniors, reviewing their records, and talking over their respective attributes with the personnel advisors of the various Colleges and Departments. Recruiting began during the fall, picked up momentum in January, and began to slack off about May 1.

"Probably 150 interviewers have visited us this spring, more than in any past year. Part of this increase is, of course, due to increased business and industrial activity in many fields. Another part is due to the ever growing list of companies which appreciate the advantages of careful selection of their new personnel and are learning that educational institutions are willing and eager to extend to them every aid possible in their efforts to select college seniors.

"It is too early to give any figures concerning the actual number or percentage of the Class of '40 which has accepted positions. Naturally, many Seniors are seeking work of a nature different from that offered by firms which come to the Campus. So the weeks after graduation, even in a year as good as this one, mean days of 'pounding the pavement' for a considerable group of graduates. All but a very few will be successfully started in their first jobs by the first of October.

"Some types of training are more in demand than others. Our electrical, mechanical, chemical, and administrative engineers are unusually fortunate in the number of jobs available to them. Civil engineers are not faring so well. Agricultural jobs in non-public fields have increased, but not enough to offset the drop in demand by Government agencies which have in the past few years taken many of our men. The demand for inexperienced teachers and extension workers seems to be slack. General business opportunities which are available to College graduates have increased in number and variety and our Hotel and Home Economics Seniors are having their usual success in finding work.

"All in all, it has been a good year so far, but the Senior placement work is never over until the last person has a job and by then there is some shifting about and another group of Seniors are ready to begin their preliminary campaigns."

Women Prefer Teaching

A survey made last February by the office of the Dean of Women, Miss R. Louise Fitch, showed that approximately half the 265 Senior women who answered a questionnaire planned to get further professional or technical training after graduation. About ten per cent indicated that they were not interested in obtaining employment.

Fifty-nine different kinds of jobs were indicated as vocational choices. Teaching was named as first choice by 70 and as second choice by 20. Next in popularity was merchandising, with 12 first choices, 16 second. Institution management was given as first choice of 12 students, the second choice of 4. Secretarial work had 24 first and second choices, combined, and social service, 22. Other popular professions were dietetics, journalism, and personnel work. Only 12 persons reported in February that they had obtained positions.

NEW YORK CLUB OFFICERS

Cornell Club of New York has re-elected Charles H. Blair '97 as president, John T. McGovern '00 and Jansen Noyes '10, vice-presidents, and Bertel W. Antell '28, secretary. Newly-elected vice-presidents are Frederick B. Hufnagel '00, Floyd L. Carlisle '03, and James J. Clark '03. Wallace B. Quail '19 is treasurer; Walter L. Pate '99 and George R. Pfann '24 were elected to the board of governors, and Paul M. Brister '36, to the committee on admissions.

LAWYERS FETE CROSBY '96

Dinner of the Cornell Law Association in honor of Judge Harley N. Crosby '96, recently appointed presiding justice of the Appellate Division, Fourth Department, brought 125 Law School alumni to the University Club in Rochester, May 16. They included Rochester alumni, Cornell lawyers from Ithaca and the territory between Utica and Buffalo.

Besides the guest of honor, speakers were Dean Robert S. Stevens of the Law School, Judge Clinton T. Horton '97 of Buffalo, Judge Benn Kenyon '07 of Auburn, and Edward Harris '00 of Rochester. Toastmaster was W. Clyde O'Brien '21. Chairman of arrangements was J. Webb L. Sheehy '26.

APPOINT DR. MOORE '23 To Head Medical Service

The Trustees have appointed Dr. Norman S. Moore '23 to be Clinical Director of the University, in charge of the enlarged medical service for students as announced in the ALUMNI NEWS May 16. He takes office July 1, as physician-in-chief to the University Clinic and Infirmary, to supervise the care of all ill students. Under the new plan, administered by a committee of the Administration, Trustees, Faculty, and students, the University will assume responsibility for adequate medical care of students at the Infirmary as well as giving advice and treatment of minor ailments at the Medical Office, as before.

The Infirmary will be organized to meet the standards set by the American College of Surgeons for hospital approval, and the Clinical Director will organize a staff of resident physicians, attending physicians, surgeons, and other specialists and consultants. Students in the Infirmary who prefer to be treated by members of the attending or courtesy staffs may receive such treatment at their own expense, but the Director will have responsibility of seeing that proper diagnoses and therapy are given, and he may call in consultants if he believes consultation desirable.

Dr. Moore has practiced internal medicine in Ithaca since 1929; will continue his consultation practice. He is a Fellow of the American College of Physicians, member of the American Medical Association, National Tuberculosis Association, American Heart Association, Harvey Society; is a past president of the Tompkins County Medical Society and for the last five years has been chairman of the County public health committee. He is the son of the late Dr. Veranus A. Moore '87, for many years Dean of the Veterinary College and a pioneer in public health. Norman Moore received the AB in 1923 and the MD in 1926 at the Medical College in New York. He interned at Bellevue Hospital, New York City, and was for a year resident physician in the hospital of Rockefeller Institute, specializing in cardio-vascular-renal diseases. He is a member of Phi Sigma Kappa, Nu Sigma Nu, Alpha Omega Alpha, and Sigma Xi.

STUDENT ENGINEERS' Council, undergraduate governing body of that College, will be headed by N. Travers Nelson '41 of Baltimore, Md. Other Senior members will be Edmund E. Friedrich of Holyoke, Mass., George A. Gentes of Buffalo, Henry W. Lansing of Cranford, N. J., and Robert C. Ross of Brighton.

FIFTY-THREE GET LAW DEGREES

At Commencement May 30

University Commencement activities began May 30, when President Day awarded the LLB to fifty-three graduates of the Law School, in the moot court room of Myron Taylor Hall. Thirty-three of this year's graduates had received the first degree at Cornell; the others are alumni of sixteen other colleges and universities. Three came from Dartmouth, two each from Hamilton and University of Rochester, and thirteen other institutions had one alumnus each.

The Commencement address was by Arthur T. Vanderbilt of Newark, N. J., former president of the American Bar Association. He said that the responsibility of lawyers is to contribute to enlightened public opinion in this country, which in the present world situation is "shot through with doubt, unrest, and discontent." Government, he said, has become "of necessity largely the work of experts," and continued, "No expert, and no group of experts, is wise enough to dictate the destinies of a people, no matter how great their expertness and no matter how altruistic their motives may be. Experts, by the very nature of their training and because of their expertness, stand in constant need of the correction of enlightened public opinion."

To Guide Public Opinion

"We little know, until we stop to analyze it," the speaker continued, "on how few men and women rests the ultimate responsibility for collective public judgment in individual communities. It is only in times of crisis that we realize just how thin is the picket line of civilization in even the most advanced countries. When emotions are aroused, when fear predominates, it is the well informed minds, trained to reason in the public interest, that alone can save the state. . . . Whether or not a lawyer holds public office, he can and should, through an intelligent study of public affairs in precisely the same manner as he has studied his cases in law school and in the very same manner in which he prepares cases for trial in actual practice, prepare himself to become part and parcel of the enlightened public opinion through which alone the work of our experts in government may be adapted to the needs of the community. Thus, and thus only, can a representative democratic system of government be made to work in a complicated industrial and social age of increasing complexity."

The speaker pointed out also that there is widespread public discontent with the work of our courts, and that "the growth of administrative law, which has been the outstanding legal development of the twentieth century, has proceeded apace without any thoroughgoing study of it as a system by the bar at large. . . . Here, then, in the wide field of judicial administration, covering both the work of our traditional courts and of our newer administrative tribunals, is an opportunity for the younger members of the bar to perform outstanding public service in the development of sound, progressive standards and procedures, for the adequate determination of public right and private duty."

Dean, President Speak

Dean Robert S. Stevens also referred to the present state of world conflict, saying that it is the peculiar opportunity of lawyers to foster public opinion that will bring substitution of legal processes instead of war for adjusting international disputes, just as respect for law and submission to judicial decision has become accepted within nations.

"We need to adopt a way of living together as nations, that is comparable to the way in which we now live together as individual citizens of a nation," he said. "We cannot obliterate individuality; we need not obliterate nationality. But it must become recognized that the rights of nations, as well as those of individuals, are not absolute but only relative. And it must be recognized that 'public policy,' which is the end and the directing influence of law, is not and cannot be a conception with merely local, state, or even national significance. 'Social well-being' and 'ultimate public good' are of international, world-wide scope. . . . In performing their ordinary professional functions of client caretaking, lawyers still have a duty to make opportunity for improving our system of domestic law. But in the face of the present appalling challenge to our civilization, it is critically imperative that they join with all others in exerting the whole of their influence, however insignificant it may seem, to persuade the citizenry of the world to live together as nations in the civilized way in which they live together as citizens within a nation."

President Day told the graduates that while he was not worried about defense against armed attack or invasion of this country, "I am fearful that a serious threat of war would do the same thing in our democracy as actual participation. . . . the only way you can conduct a total war today is through a dictatorship." He cited "the growth of fear, suspicion, mistrust, hate, and bitterness" as "the ingredients which make for breakdown of democracy." The President expressed his fear that "many injustices will be done innocent persons in the great zeal to show up spies and saboteurs," and warned of the danger of "self-appointed 'G-men' and witch hunters." As men and women trained in the ways of law and order, he called upon the graduates to maintain a sane and calm attitude and to play their roles as "custodians of our democratic institutions."

Carey Exhibition Prize for best performance in the comprehensive examination was awarded this year to Robert G. Miller of Elmira, who was graduated "With Distinction," as were Willis D. Curtiss, Jr., '38 of Sodus, Joseph H. Fink of Chicago, Ill., Earle B. Henley, Jr. '37 of Oakland, Cal., and Samuel H. Hirshman of Memphis, Tenn. Besides Curtiss and Henley, other recipients of the LLB who took their first degrees at Cornell are:

William G. Conable '36 of Warsaw, James D. Andrews '37 of Savannah, Clayton M. AxteLL, Jr. '37 of Deposit, Sidney W. Blackman '37 of Warren, Pa., John J. Conway, Jr. '37 of Albany, Joseph W. Cribb '37 of Canandaigua, Helen E. Fry '37 of Cooperstown, Richard C. Lounsberry '37 of Owego, James M. Pollock '37 of Towners, William G. Roundey '37 of Utica, Harvey R. Wellman '37 of Perry; and these members of the Class of '38: Wendell R. Brown of Utica, Thomas A. Burke of Canandaigua, John S. Conable of Warsaw, Lynn E. Dreyfus of Delhi, Edward Frisbee of Struysant Falls, Abbott Gould of White Plains, Arthur Hochheiser of Brooklyn, Robert O. Klausmeyer of Cincinnati, Ohio, Morris A. Lieberman of Ithaca, Robert S. Newman of Elmira, William W. Orr of Lewiston, Donald H. Perkins of Newark, Herbert P. Polk of New York City, Thomas F. Rogers of Syracuse, Herman Schechter of Smithtown Branch, John S. Stewart of Ithaca, John G. Tausig of Harrisburg, Pa., Edwin A. Williams of Kenmore, Judson C. Williams of Granville, William L. Wilson of Waverly.

SIGMA XI ELECTS

Cornell chapter of Sigma Xi has elected as its sole alumnus member this year James E. Gleason '90, president of the Gleason Works, Rochester. For his development of the hypoid gear, Gleason was recently awarded the medal of the ASME and honored as a Modern Pioneer by the National Association of Manufacturers.

Election to Sigma Xi is in recognition of original research in science. Besides its alumnus member, the Cornell chapter elected five members of the Faculty, seventy-three graduate students to membership and ten to associate membership, and three undergraduates to associate membership.

Of the graduate students elected, the following were undergraduates at Cornell: Dana G. Card '19, Alexander B. Credle '30, John L. Eaton '31, Edward A. Lutz '31, Charles P. Baker '32, Frederick D. Garrett '33, Charles J. Blanford '35, Earl F. Savage '35, Robert C. Vincent '35, Arthur E. Newkirk '36, Frank

J. Rudert '36, Tom S. Boon-Long '37, John Einset '37, Seymour Sherman '37, Robert P. Grant '37, Joseph D. Loconti '39.

Undergraduates elected to associate membership are Rebecca Gifford '40 of Pittsfield, Mass., Martin Goldstein '40 of Brooklyn, and Robert L. Sproull '40 of Morris, Ill.

STATEN ISLAND OFFICERS

Cornell Club of Staten Island has elected Stuart H. Richardson '25, president for the year beginning June 1. Vice-president is Alice H. Erskine '21; secretary, Mrs. Bernard G. Vigurs (Grace E. Eglinton) '27; treasurer, Harry A. Dicker '15.

CLEVELAND WOMEN

President of the Cornell Women's Club of Cleveland, Ohio, for 1940-41 is Mrs. Edward MacLennan (Rika M. Gillett) '25. Kathryn T. Taggart '35 is vice-president; Catherine R. Abbott '35, secretary; Mrs. John E. Venable (Anna A. Makarainen) '30, treasurer. Officers were elected at a tea May 22, at the Women's City Club in Cleveland. Mrs. Willard Beahan (Bessie B. DeWitt) '78 was elected the Club's delegate to the annual meeting of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs June 14. Miss Abbott was appointed chairman of a benefit bridge to be held in June for the Federation Scholarship Fund.

TRIP AROUND THE LAKES

(R. B. in "State and Tioga," Ithaca Journal)

All through these last twenty years our pleasure in jogging around the lovely countryside hereabouts has fallen just short of complete satisfaction. We've always wanted—and never had—the companionship of a small group of intelligent foreigners who, having experienced the other lovely things of this world, had never seen the country around the Finger Lakes. We've wanted to find out if people like that would respond in the same way to the south end of Canandaigua Lake, to Bluff Point, to the fine old houses of Geneva and Canandaigua, and the three sizes of courthouses that Ovid presents for one's selection.

They do! We've just come back from a two-day trip with such a group—architects, sculptors, and painters mostly—and you'll be relieved to learn that it's all right for us who live here to like our own country as much as we do.

They have seen how the glacier has formed the hills, the lakes, and the valleys with a smoothing touch here and a bold, rough cut with hammer and chisel there; they have seen the honest, loving handiwork of carpenters and master builders long dead, who took the pines and oaks about them and fashioned them into houses and churches of integrity and beauty. They find the glacier and the dead master-builders equally proficient, and were just as enthusiastic about our countryside as the most be-sorted native.

MEDICAL COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT

President Awards Seventy Degrees

President Day conferred the MD degree upon seventy graduates at the forty-second Commencement of the Medical College in New York, June 5 in the auditorium of the College. "No graduating class has ever moved out into a more critical world," he said. With "part of the world already gone mad," the President warned that everyone must ponder the question of how far this madness will spread, and must be prepared to do his part to increase the national defense against all perils, military, social, and intellectual. Even more difficult to guard against than armed aggression are those perils which endanger the national honor, idealism, and social and intellectual institutions which are the product of long years of effort, he pointed out.

Must Regain Confidence

Barklie Henry, president of The New York Hospital, said in his Commencement address that doctors today face an important task in regaining public confidence and reasserting the strong individual influence which they exerted on community life a generation ago. "Sometimes," he said, "faith in the doctor will make all the slender difference between life and death. . . . Urban people today are likely to have an innate confidence in medical science. But I fear that faith in individual doctors may not be as great as it was fifty years ago, when the leading doctor was as much a personal factor in all communities as the leading minister, banker, lawyer, and others. . . . As a result of wide popular publicity, people know more about medicine and their own health than ever before. The difficulty is that the public is not satisfied with scientific results which merely astound the specialists; they must have miracles or nothing." He declared that the public's confidence in the doctor would increase with improvement in the present financial relationship of patients and doctors, and with dissemination of more accurate medical knowledge, perhaps under the guidance of medical societies.

First Honors To Saphier '36

Dean William S. Ladd administered the Oath of Hippocrates and announced the award of prizes and honors. First honors went to Jacques C. Saphier '36, in the John Metcalfe Polk Prize for general efficiency. Saphier received the AB four years ago "with honors in animal biology and general studies." Member of Pi Lambda Phi, Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Kappa Phi, and Sphinx Head, he was assistant editorial director of the Sun, member of the Willard Straight Hall board of managers, and won the C in golf. Mrs. Saphier is the former Laura E. Weber '36.

Second Polk Prize went to Walter T. Sullivan, who also won first award for efficiency in gynecology and second in otology. William M. M. Kirby won the third Polk Prize and third award in gynecology. Second award in gynecology went to Kenneth G. MacDonald; first in otology to Suzanne A. L. Howe; in obstetrics first to James A. Dingwall, second to George A. Wolf, Jr.; award in general medicine to Lisgar B. Eckardt.

The Class of sixty-two men and eight women included twenty-four who had received first degrees at Cornell and others with degrees from thirty-one colleges and universities. Four were from Columbia, three each from Fordham and Princeton, two each from Barnard, Bucknell, Colgate, Dartmouth, Notre Dame, Trinity, Williams. Besides Saphier, this year's graduates who took first degrees at Cornell are:

Samuel A. Guttman '34, Edward T. Adelson '36, Frank L. Armstrong '36, Everett C. Bragg '36, Ezra V. Bridge '36, Alvin M. Cahan '36, John M. Chapman '36, George B. Davis '36, Herman I. Frank '36, John A. Grimshaw '36, John L. Messersmith '36, Robert M. Richman '36, Robert W. Shreve '36, Elizabeth E. Spaulding '36, Harry A. Bradley '37, William H. Burke '37, Robert P. Grant '37, William H. Gullledge '37, Kieth O. Guthrie, Jr. '37, William W. Manson '37, James B. Rooney '37, Donald E. Stokes '37, Walter C. Vail '37.

NEW HAVEN ELECTS

Annual meeting and smoker of the Cornell Club of New Haven, Conn., brought more than seventy to the Winchester Club May 17, the evening before the crews raced Yale and Princeton for the Carnegie Cup on the nearby Housatonic. Robert H. S. Booth '15, presiding, introduced Harold Woodcock, director of athletics at Yale, and Alumni Trustee Thomas I. S. Boak '14, who spoke briefly. Motion pictures of the Campus and last year's Pennsylvania football game were shown.

Alexander F. Stolz '18 was elected president of the Club, succeeding Robert F. Corley '13. Booth is vice-president; Walter R. Dann '22, secretary-treasurer; and Forrest P. Nelson '19, David W. Punzelt '25, and Howard C. Oppe '35 were elected directors.

THE CORNELLIAN APPEARS

1940 Cornellian was put on sale at the Library Arch June 5, the middle of finals week. This year's Annual has more than 500 pages, closely packed with pictures and information about the University.

The book is dedicated to President Edmund E. Day, "who has given us three years of able leadership and has become a true Cornellian . . ." It contains pictures of University officials and the Faculties; pictures and records of all Seniors, of fraternities, sororities, undergraduate societies and publications; and complete records of the year's intercollegiate sports, including rosters and records of Freshman teams. Senior Class history for the men is by Robert W. Storandt; for the women, by Lucy A. Rathbun. New feature this year is a Junior Class section, with many pictures, a history of the Class by Stanley E. Cohen '41, and a list of all members.

The Cornellian is attractively bound in dark red fabrikoid stamped in cream and brown. It is printed in black and red on ivory paper; contains several Campus photographs in color and many candid camera shots of undergraduates.

Editor-in-chief was William C. Baird of Rochester. Carl M. Fick of Bronxville was managing editor, Robert C. Bradley of Moberly, Mo., business manager.

About ATHLETICS

TRACK TEAM ELEVENTH

Six members of the Varsity track team scored 9½ points to place Cornell eleventh in the annual Intercollegiate at Harvard Stadium, May 31-June 1.

Best performance was the third place of Captain Walter W. Zittel, Jr. '40 in the 220-yard low hurdles. Zittel also ran on the one-mile relay team which finished fifth. Lester E. Murdock '41 took fourth place in the broad jump with 23 ft. 2⅞ in., and tied for fourth with Aertsen of Harvard for fourth place in the high jump at 6 ft. 1½ in. Robert C. Randall '41 placed fourth in the 220-yard dash. Running with Zittel on the relay team were George A. Knoerl '42, James T. Schmuck '41, and Kenneth I. Zeigler '42.

In the low hurdles preliminary trials, Knoerl won the fifth heat in 0:24.3 but was eliminated in the semi-finals. Frederick W. West '41 turned in his best performance of the season in the shot put—49 ft. 8¼ in.—but placed sixth, just out of the scoring circle.

The point score:

Pittsburgh 29½, Penn State 24, Yale 20, California 20, NYU 19, Tufts 13, Georgetown 13, Maine 12, Manhattan 12, Harvard 11½, Cornell 9½, Princeton 9, Michigan State 8½, Brown 7, Pennsylvania 7, Rhode Island State 6, Fordham 6, Boston College 5, Holy Cross 2, Temple 2, Syracuse 2.

CREWS ON THE HUDSON

Cornell's oarsmen arrived at Poughkeepsie last Sunday to start final training for the annual regatta of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association on June 18.

Because of its undefeated record, Cornell's Varsity is one of the favored crews in the four-mile race. The Freshman crew, which will row two miles on the Hudson, is likewise undefeated.

Coach Harrison Sanford made no change in the Varsity boating in the two weeks of home practice after the Spring Day regatta, but revamped the Junior Varsity considerably. The Varsity boating:

Bow, Richard G. Davis '41; 2, W. Nicholas Kruse '43; 3, William E. Fisher, Jr. '40; 4, John C. Perry '41; 5, Franklin P. Eggert '42; 6, Commodore James A. Young, Jr. '40; 7, John G. Aldworth '42; stroke, Richard K. Collins '40; coxswain, Charles E. Boak '41.

Most notable change in the Junior Varsity was the calling of Robert S. Chamberlain '42 from the 150-pound squad to stroke the boat. Chamberlain formerly stroked the Varsity, then, after an absence from the squad, resumed rowing with the lightweights.

The revised Junior Varsity boating:

Bow, Edmund F. Miller '41; 2, Peter C. Foote '41; 3, Robert O. Gundlach '42; 4, John W. Kruse '41; 5, Christian J. Haller '42; 6, DuBois L. Jenkins '43; 7, Philip C. Morse, Jr. '42; stroke, Chamberlain; coxswain, Fred H. Guterman '42.

Assistant Coach Norman Sonju has also made some changes in the Freshman eight. The new boating:

Bow, Frederick A. Schulte, Jr.; 2, George G. Holliday; 3, Carl D. Arnold; 4, Robert S. Wood; 5, Herbert H. Wallower, Jr.; 6, Donald E. Kastner; 7, Edward S. Flash, Jr.; stroke, Joseph T. Lanman; coxswain, Arthur R. Jones.

Substitutes for the Varsity and Junior Varsity boats are Rudolph L. Suhl, Jr. '42 and Philip Rosen '42; for the Freshman boat, Russell F. Waterbury and William W. Dickhart, III.

Last year, the Varsity finished fourth, the Junior Varsity third, and the Freshman third.

This year, the Varsity will row in the fourth lane (numbered from the west shore of the Hudson River), the Junior Varsity in the third, and the Freshman eight in the fourth.

Princeton crews, rowing at Poughkeepsie this year for the first time, have been invited to share the Cornell boat-house.

ALPHA PSI WINS CUP

Alpha Psi fraternity's all-around performance in eight sports won for it this year's intramural championship trophy with 41 points, Nicholas Bawlf, supervisor of intramurals, has announced.

Alpha Psi scored in soccer, cross country, boxing, crew, wrestling, relays, softball, and track. Runner-up was Sigma Pi with 36 points; Sigma Phi and Alpha Chi Rho tied for third with 21 points; and Phi Kappa Sigma finished fifth with 20 points.

"It was a fine season," Bawlf commented, at the same time saying there was a lack of indoor facilities and that outdoor fields were crowded. More than 2,800 individual students took part in the twenty-six activities offered by the department, and total registration, allowing for repeaters, was above 6,500 for the full year.

Biggest attraction of the spring season was softball, with fifty-five teams in the fraternity leagues and fifteen in the independent group. Alpha Zeta and the Future Farmers of America won the respective championships.

In baseball, Sigma Pi topped the fraternity entries of seventeen teams, with the Latins winning the independent title.

Other spring champions and the number of teams entered:

Track, Sigma Phi, 25 teams; tennis, Psi Upsilon, 53 teams; golf, Phi Kappa Sigma, 50 teams; four-oared crew, Phi Delta Theta, and eight-oared crew, Alpha Psi, 47 crews.

ELECT TWO CAPTAINS

Captains of two more sports have now been elected for next year.

The tennis squad re-elected Kennedy Randall '41 of Staten Island.

Fencers named Richard H. Paul '41 of Elmira and, at a meeting of the Fencers Club, elected Daniel F. Kelley, Jr. '41 of San Juan, Puerto Rico, one of this year's co-captains, president of that organization.

Edward D. Garber '40 of Brooklyn, the University saber champion, is captain of an intercollegiate team to give an exhibition at the New York World's Fair June 29. On the squad will be Donald S. Kent '42 of Brooklyn, the University epee champion.

ODDS AND ENDS

Robert D. Brennan '40 of Geneva has been chosen on the all-star North lacrosse team to play a South team at Baltimore, Md., June 14. Brennan set an intercollegiate record by scoring 10 goals against Pennsylvania on Alumni Field Spring Day and for two seasons has been chosen on the lacrosse all-American.

HELP WANTED

Current Job Bulletin of the University Placement Bureau reflects a predominant demand for engineers. Fourteen of the twenty-seven listed "Positions Open" are for persons with some form of engineering training and experience. Others include sales management, advertising, photographic printing, bacteriology, chemistry, proofreading, and teaching poise to young people in Maine.

Job Bulletins are mailed regularly to alumni who register with the University Placement Bureau, Willard Straight Hall, Ithaca. Placement of teachers is handled by the Bureau of Educational Service, Stone Hall.

OFFER CORNELL MUSIC

The Campus was startled one evening last week to hear the University Chimes in the Clock Tower ring out the familiar Jennie McGraw Rag at nine o'clock, and for an hour following the entire range of football songs, the Crew Song, Bustonian Chorus, Alumni Song, Alma Mater, Evening Song. When the great clock bell boomed six times, the switchboard at Willard Straight Hall was besieged with calls asking what was happening.

Callers were reassured it was merely to make phonograph records of the Chimes for Cornellians all over the world. Traffic on Central Avenue was stopped for an hour, and a microphone pointed at the Clock Tower from the window of Willard Straight Memorial Room picked up the music of the bells, to transmit it to the WESG studio near Bailey Hall, where it was recorded. At the levers high in the Tower was Bruce C. Netschert '41, head Chimemaster.

Those phonograph records, and others made this week by the Glee Club singing Cornell songs, will be played at the annual meeting of the Cornell Alumni Association in Bailey Hall June 15. Alumni who are here for Reunion may order the records, which will be distributed by the Alumni Association. Records will shortly be mailed by the Association from its office in Alumni House, 3 East Avenue, Ithaca.

FOR NEW STUDENTS

The University's General Information Number for 1940-41 is now available. It is the handbook needed by all prospective students and those who are interested in their entering the University. Complete general information is given about secondary school subjects and other requirements for entrance to the various Colleges; about student rules and requirements; health supervision; expenses; scholarships, loans, and other financial aid including prospects for employment.

Copies of the General Information Number may be obtained by writing the Secretary of the University, Morrill Hall, Ithaca.

CHICAGO CLUB TRAVELS

Cornell Club of Chicago at its regular Thursday luncheon June 6 enjoyed a new Pan-American Airways sound film, "Transpacific." The showing was arranged by James G. Dodge '37, traffic representative of Pan-American Airways in Chicago.

BRYANT '00 ON FOOTBALL

Arthur Sampson in the Boston Herald recently devoted most of his column to Arthur P. (Cully) Bryant '00 and his thoughts on the Big Red football team—its previous seasons and its prospects for next year. According to the columnist, Bryant was amazed at the size of some of the smaller players and was worried about what would happen when the present players graduate. Bryant's interest in sports varies from Cornell football to ping pong, but he "wouldn't walk across the street to see a track meet," writes Sampson.

NOW IN MY TIME!

By Romeyn Berry

The most significant fact about Cornell is its astonishing youth. Look about you. All this has come to pass within the memories of persons now living. The University seems to have made a comforting start.

It wasn't until after that other war that Cornell possessed a Class old enough to have a fifty-year Reunion. The year your reporter was graduated from the Old Armory it was the Class of 1869, the first one, that was making a nuisance of itself outside in celebrating its thirty-fifth and in trying to impress their old teachers with the realization that they were doing darn well in a business way and were pretty important fellows in their own communities—vestrymen, bank directors, members of the Republican county committee and of the League of American Wheelmen and things like that.

I suspect it must have been old grads trying to patronize their old professors (and not getting to first base) and telling them how well the plant was doing, that gave some professor the original idea of starting an Alumni Fund. He figured, no doubt, that some of that verbal prosperity might possibly be translated into the new microscope for his department that the University budget couldn't quite absorb this year. And even if that didn't eventualize, the mere existence of an Alumni Fund and the known presence of an Alumni Secretary—all ears and notebooks and fountain pens—hovering on the edge of all grandiose Reunion conversations, might serve to make returning graduates pipe down a little at Commencement time. Whichever way it worked out, the professor couldn't lose; and a first rate idea, too, if you ask us.

But this year I don't think there will be quite as much smug self-satisfaction radiating from the returning alumnus to the plodding professor. Recent events have served to shake the complacency of business men. First Lien and Refunding '4s don't seem to represent the eternal verities quite to the extent they did a while back.

It ought to be an unusually interesting and important Reunion this year. Most alumni come back in June to try one more ineffectual clutch at their vanishing youth; some of them remain long enough to be impressed with the vigor, the sanity, the serenity and the comforting permanence of a great educational foundation. This year the return to the Quadrangle should supply enough of the first and a good deal more of the second. Perhaps this June it may be borne in on the consciousness of some casual visitors as they look off over the hills that through the changing centuries universities have proved the most permanent of human institutions; that under present dubious conditions an investment in a university is about as sound a thing as one can have in his portfolio. Some of these professors have invested their whole lives in a university, and most of them can sleep nights even now.

ALUMNUS HEADS DUPONT

Walter S. Carpenter, Jr. '10, University Trustee, was elected May 20 president of E. I. duPont De Nemours & Co. Since he left Sibley College in 1909 he has been with duPont, for two years in Chile, then travelling abroad, and since 1919 has been vice-president, chairman of the finance committee, and a director. The directors of the company elected him president to succeed Lammont duPont, who resigned to become chairman of the board upon the retirement of Pierre S. duPont. The country's largest chemical concern thus has its first president in more than a century who has not come from the duPont family.

Carpenter is also a director of General Motors Corp. and a member of its policy committee, and vice-president and a director of General Motors Securities Co. He lives in Wilmington, Del., is a director of the Wilmington Trust Co., of the Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania and Diamond State Telephone Co., and a trustee of Wyoming Seminary, from which he entered the University.

Elected a Trustee by the Board last October to fill the unexpired term of the late J. DuPratt White '90, Carpenter was also immediately appointed to the finance committee of the Board. He has attended all meetings.

As an undergraduate, he was a member of the track team and of his Sophomore and Junior Class football teams. In June, 1935, he was elected a director of the Cornellian Council. He and Mrs. Carpenter have three sons, one a student at Princeton.

FROM FAR BELOW . . .

By Bob Bliss '30

The toughest assignment the Reuners have to take this June is getting used to the new name of Barton Hall. It's still going to be "the Drill Hall" to most of us that have stood in line during Freshman registration to get our well-fumigated khaki (since changed to sort of an Eleanor blue).

And for every alumnus that comes back with a complaint about getting lost on our rapidly developing Campus, there will be 78 that will raise hell because more people don't attend Senior singing (why one Senior was seen driving off the Campus toward Monkey Run during the sacred vesper hour!); 59 will complain that Mrs. Grace's Drill Hall buffers are too heavy for hot weather; 61 will yelp because we aren't winning as many debates as we used to; 14 will howl because a few well-meaning sensible students don't want to go to war, and had a little demonstration in front of Willard Straight; 96 will say that students have lost the feeling of Campus spirit because they're never in town on account there are too many automobiles; 115 will get mad about coeducation, because a girl student bummed a light or cigarette off a tired old '95 campaigner, right out in broad daylight; 8 will yell because they are politely and firmly asked to pay for the windows they break in Founders Hall; 77 will complain about service in general; 43 will say students drink too much.

And when they're all through and have aired their feelings, and you say, "You're right, Joe, all the way down the line. Don't you think you'd better cut out going back to Ithaca, you're getting too old"—then, and only then, you'll see the sorest Cornellian you've ever clapped your peepers on.

From where we sit, it's pretty pleasant to add baseball laurels to pigskin prominence, and then toy with this crew idea. Ten years ago this month, we spelled "Cornell Forever" in the Hudson River with the coaching launch as we helped Classmate Crew Manager Bud Sharood '30 collect the competition's shirts after Cornell swept the river in two out of three races, and settled for second place in the other.

We were talking to a Mr. Whitney yesterday, who did some rowing at Yale in his day, and is filling the 'berth as chairman of Yale's rowing committee. He told your reporter that the prettiest race he ever saw was the one this May when the Ezras trounced the Elis by a margin of two coats of varnish on the leading Pocock. He sagely advised your humble servant that all his dollars should go on Cornell at Poughkeepsie; that the Eastern hope in football was going to repeat the beat in rowing. We thanked him, and said we hoped so, although we'd always heard horrible parallels drawn between frozen Inlets and Seattle open water the year 'round.

We are going to watch and wait. We are reminded that the Battle of Waterloo was fought on the same day, June 18, and we hope it's prophetic for a too-dominant West. It's time we rounded out a bumper year!

Anybody got any folding dough for betting purposes? Present company excepted, of course.

MEET AT POUGHKEEPSIE

Again this year the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Intercollegiate Club of Poughkeepsie will maintain Boat Race Day headquarters for visiting alumni and other partisans, June 18, in the State Armory on Market Street. This will be a general meeting place and message center. Robert P. Stieglitz '31 is the Cornell representative.

Crews of eight universities will row this year on the Hudson: California, Columbia, Cornell, Navy, Princeton, Syracuse, Washington, and Wisconsin. Freshman race is scheduled to start at 3, Junior Varsity at 4, the Varsity race at 5, daylight saving time.

Tickets for the Cornell cars in the observation train may be purchased at the University Athletic Office, Schoellkopf Memorial, at five dollars. The train will leave Highland Station, across from Poughkeepsie.

ALBANY CLUBS ELECT

Men's and women's Cornell Clubs of Albany have elected new officers for the year ahead.

President of the Cornell Women's Club is Mrs. Arthur G. Pellman (Helen A. Weber) '23; vice-president, Caroline A. Lester '24; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Charles A. Clark, Jr. (Helen E. Harding) '36; recording secretary, Mrs. George C. Vroman (Marion A. Fitzpatrick) '07; treasurer, Barbara L. Colson '32. Forty-one attended the annual meeting, May 13, at the home of Mrs. William Streets (Ruth M. Luscher) '22. Professor Harold W. Thompson, shortly to join the English Faculty, told of gathering material for his recently-published book, Body, Boots and Britches, and others to follow. Miss Colson was honored as having attended all meetings of the Club since it was founded.

Edward C. Nichols '32 was elected president of the men's Cornell Club of Albany at the annual meeting May 9, with twenty-nine members present at the University Club. Vice-president is Howard E. Salisbury '22; secretary, Hugh W. Prytherch, Jr. '25; treasurer, Raymond A. Dewey '25. Arthur G. Pellman '21, retiring president, and W. Richard Morgan '27 were elected directors of the Club.

ROCHESTER ALUMNI SPEAK

Cornell Club of Rochester has had two Cornellians as recent Wednesday luncheon speakers, at the University Club. May 29, Henry L. Howe '10, city engineer and deputy commissioner of public works, described some of the activities of his office. June 12 the speaker was to be Garson Meyer '19, chief chemist of the camera works division, Eastman Kodak Co.

ALUMNI GIVE MACHINES

Laboratory equipment of the College of Engineering has recently been augmented with several notable gifts from alumni.

To further modernization of the foundry, two new machines have been given by the Herman Pneumatic Machine Co., of Zelienople, Pa., of which Thomas Kaveny '94 is owner and with which his two sons, Thomas Kaveny, Jr. '26 and Robert G. Kaveny '29, are also associated. One of these is a stationary jarring roll-over pattern-drawing machine which packs sand evenly around the pattern for casting and then inverts and drops the mold, leaving the pattern to be used again. The other is a portable "jar and squeeze" molding machine which serves the same purpose for smaller molds.

Another recent gift is complete teletypewriter equipment for both sending and receiving, installed in the Electrical Engineering laboratory. It was given by Bell Telephone Laboratories at the instance of Oliver E. Buckley, PhD '14, their executive vice-president and a member of the Engineering College Council, and Edward F. Watson '14, Bell teletypewriter engineer.

Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Co. through its general manager, J. Carlton Ward, Jr. '14, also a member of the Engineering College Council, has given a variable-pitch propeller, an engine assembly, and other parts for use in aeronautics training at the College.

"FRIENDS OF THE LAND"

At least three Cornellians are interested in "Friends of the Land," a non-partisan, non-profit society recently formed in Washington, D. C., "for the conservation of soil, rain, and man." Russell Lord '18 is to be editor of a magazine published by the society to exchange conservation information here and abroad and advance the study of conservation in colleges and schools. Peter Vischer '19, publisher of Country Life, and Professor P. Paul Kellogg '29, Ornithology, are among the sponsors.

CORNELLIANS GUESTS AT GENERAL MOTORS WORLD'S FAIR EXHIBIT

FRAUDULENT CORNELLIANs

Not for several years has the ALUMNI NEWS had occasion to warn its readers of the activities of apparently fraudulent Cornellians. But within the last fortnight we have had reports of two persons who represent themselves as Cornellians when calling upon alumni for ulterior purposes. Apparently the current nuisance is not confined to one University, as a warning from MIT of similar collegiate impostors appeared in the May issue of the American Alumni Council News.

A man about fifty years old, slight, nervous, with dark gray hair and a rye breath was reported in New York City last week calling on some members of Delta Upsilon and Cornellians who were in college during 1907-11. He presents a card of Norman L. MacLeod '11 from Los Angeles. Usually his story has not got him far enough so that his objective is ascertained, although he has attempted to borrow money. He insists that his nickname was "Pink" and that he has been very ill with the resulting change in his appearance.

Norman L. (Pink) MacLeod '11, on his retirement in 1931 as president of Southwestern Acceptance Corporation of Los Angeles, moved to a ranch near Chino, Calif., where he raises Thoroughbred and Arabian horses as a hobby. He has been in Ithaca within two years and has changed very little since his undergraduate days, being florid, tall, and with very light hair. A well known lawyer in New York City who was in the Delta Upsilon chapter for two years with MacLeod as an undergraduate says definitely that the man bears no resemblance to MacLeod.

The other case is no more plausible. A person using the name George Leonard Price '35 has been soliciting subscriptions for magazines for the "Associated Trade Press" and the "Periodical Sales Co." He uses the Cornell connection to gain entrance to the homes of alumni. Apparently his range has included Wilmington, Del., Petersburg, Va., Dayton, Ohio, Bradford, Pa., and probably Manhattan, Kan., and Summit, N. J. He has operated for three years, at least.

"Price" is somewhat indefinite about his given name, saying at various calls that it was Raymond, Charles R., George, and George Leonard. This last is the name of a man who received the AB at Cornell in 1935. On one occasion, "Price" said that the University records are in error in using the name George Leonard Price, which he had given merely as part of his address. He asserts connection with Cascadilla School and Ithaca College as well; says that he stammered badly when young but had taken speech correction work under Dr. Williams. It is reported that he has not been wholly successful and still stammers.

While neither of these persons has yet been reported as attempting anything beyond using names of Cornellians as introductions to discuss employment and loans, or to sell magazines, Cornellians are warned that they are not the persons they claim to be. Subscribers are asked to report to the ALUMNI NEWS any further episodes, with description of the person and his method of operation.

BOSTON WOMEN OFFICERS

Cornell Women's Club of Boston, Mass., has elected Mrs. Clarence S. Luitwieler (Sarah L. Holcomb) '27, president for the coming year. Mrs. Clyde J. Heath (Betty M. Lowndes) '33 is first vice-president; Mrs. James B. Palmer (Martha L. Kinne) '24, second vice-president; Margaret E. Gamble '30, secretary-treasurer. Dr. Georgia L. White '96 was elected the fifth member of the board of directors.

Annual meeting followed luncheon May 11 at the home of Mrs. Howard C. Weeks (Karin Hermanson) '28. Mrs. Samuel S. Evans, Jr. (Ella M. Behrer) '27, chairman, reported that fifty dollars been raised by the Club for the Federation Scholarship Fund.

CURW women's cabinet next year will be headed by M. Elizabeth Carpenter '41 of Salamanca, with Ruth Freile '42 of Maplewood, N. J., vice-chairman.

ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

SURE SIGN of the end of the University year is the replacement of regular telephones in fraternity houses with pay phones. Housemanagers have learned to be realistic about it; Seniors and returning alumni won't be around next year to have long distance tolls put on their house bills. It's much easier on the house budget to make all calls C.O.D. for the summer.

GOVERNMENT program to train 45,000 civilian airplane pilots within the next year includes summer training which the University and Ithaca Airport will offer free to about 100 qualified students from June 15 to September 15, under the Civil Aeronautics Authority. Local director is Professor William N. Barnard '97, Mechanical Engineering. Ground training will be given in Sibley College by Professor Cyrl W. Terry '26, Engineering, with flight instruction at the Airport. The course is open to citizens of the United States eighteen to twenty-six years old who have either attended a college during the last year or have had at least two earlier years in college. Thirty-nine student pilots completed a similar course here last month, and have received their pilot's licenses.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL president for next year is James E. Bennett, Jr., '41 of Poland, Ohio, member of Chi Phi. William D. Graham, Jr. '42 of Syracuse, Sigma Chi, is vice-president; John W. Wannop '42 of Kingston, Phi Kappa Psi, secretary-treasurer.

RICE HALL, known until now as the Poultry Building, will formally receive its new name June 29, in honor of Professor James E. Rice '90, Poultry Husbandry, Emeritus. He organized the Department here in 1903 and headed it for thirty-one years until his retirement. He is still an active poultryman; was an organizer and is president of the World's Poultry Science Association, and was general chairman of the mammoth World Poultry Congress in Cleveland, Ohio, last year. Ceremonies here will be a feature of the annual meeting of the Poultry Science Association, which Professor Rice helped to organize in Ithaca in 1908.

FISHERMEN who are sometimes disappointed with small catches in Cayuga Lake may find encouragement in studies being made by Professor Charles M. Mortley, Biology. He believes that with their large proportion of shoreline to water surface the Finger Lakes, properly stocked and managed, can produce more food and game fish than Lake Ontario. Scientifically handled, he says, the warm water near shore areas will grow plentiful bass, sunfish, perch, and bullheads; the deeper open water to depth of fifty feet, rainbow trout, pike, and pickerel; and the cold, dark deeps should harbor many lake trout.

CHIME RINGING which alumni will hear this year during Reunions may be, for the first time in the University's history, that of a woman. Phyllis F. Dittman '43 of Walden has won the Freshman competition for Chimemaster, the first of her sex to be allowed to enter. She is taking her major work in Music, is a member of the University Orchestra and the Women's String Ensemble and sings in the Lutheran Church choir, but had never played chimes until she learned by watching the University Chime-masters at work. Chimemasters are paid by the University. Head Chimemaster for next year is Richard H. Lee '41 of Washington, D. C.; his assistants, Bruce C. Netschert '41 of Trenton, N. J., J. William Sowerwine '42 of Westfield, N. J., and Miss Dittman.

BEST RECORD for four years among women majoring in French has brought the Juliette MacMonnies Courant Prize to Elizabeth F. Crane '40 of Mt. Kisco. The Prize was founded in 1921 by the late Margaret M. Courant in memory of her daughter, a member of the Class of '16.

YALE FORESTRY School students visited Ithaca May 30-June 1, and were taken to some of the University's experimental forests by Professor Joshua A. Cope. Most of their own New England forests were destroyed by the big hurricane of 1938.

END-OF-TERM celebrations were saddened by two tragic drownings at Taughannock Falls during the annual picnic of the Physics Department staff June 3. Mrs. Marshall G. Holloway, technologist in the Medical Office whose husband (PhD '38) is a research associate in Physics, and Henry S. Birnbaum, Grad, were swept to death beneath the falls when they attempted to rescue two women of the party who were in difficulty. The power of the falls set up such strong currents at the base, forty feet deep, that the bodies could not be found for two days.

COMMITTEE of undergraduates to foster good relations between the University and the City of Ithaca will next year consist of James E. Bennett, Jr. of Poland, Ohio, Stanley E. Cohen of Troy, and William W. Sorn of Albany, Seniors; and Richard L. Walter '43 of Woodmere. They were appointed by Jack C. Antrim '41, new president of the Student Council.

ONLY OBSERVANCE of Memorial Day at the University was the quiet placing of a wreath at the base of the flag staff at the War Memorial. It appeared in the morning, was removed at sundown. One or two interested alumni members of the University who remembered the World War days are said to have arranged for it with the Department of Floriculture.

BRONZE PLAQUE honoring the 1939 football team as the "Ivy League" champions has been presented by the Student Council. It contains the names of all members of the squad, of Coach Carl Snively and Manager Sidney Davis '40; will be permanently installed in Schoellkopf Memorial.

GENERAL MANAGER of the University's broadcasting station, WESG, is now Michael R. Hanna, formerly of Utica. Since June 3 run entirely by the University, the station will continue to broadcast CBS programs and will enlarge its schedule of educational and entertainment broadcasts.

WIDOW BOARD elections have made Noland Blass, Jr. '40 of Little Rock, Ark., president. Men's board has George T. Bogert '42 of Chicago, Ill., as editor; John R. Dowsnell '41 of White Plains, business manager; James M. Easter '41 of Owings Mills, Md., advertising manager; Morgan M. Wheeler '41 of Rutherford, N. J., circulation manager. Elizabeth M. Taylor '41 of Lexington, Ky., heads the women's board as editor; Janet E. Wilbor '41 of Williamson, business manager; Eddie Burgess '41 of Jersey City, N. J., advertising manager; Katherine A. Clark '41 of Utica, circulation manager.

PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL of Ithaca has elected as chairman Ruth C. Ellenwood '32, Delta Gamma. Mrs. Harold N. Bliss (Thyra M. Jeremiassen) '15, Alpha Phi, is vice-chairman; Mrs. Gordon H. Ellis (Olive C. Miller) '33, Kappa Delta, secretary-treasurer. The Council comprises two alumnae representatives from each sorority which is a member of the national Pan-Hellenic Congress.

GIFT to the University Music Department is a pipe organ made in Ithaca about 100 years ago. It has been sent to the University by Mrs. Clarence H. Esty (Rosamond A. Field), AM '90, of Brookline, Mass., whose late husband, Clarence H. Esty '75, inherited it from his father. Made by the Ithaca firm of Horton & Hollinshead, the organ was given as a birthday present to Edward Esty in 1845. Residents of Ithaca are still living who remember hearing him play it. The instrument will be reconditioned and placed on display in the University

NOTICE OF CHANGES

Cornell Alumni Association

Proposed Changes in Certificate of Incorporation

To All Members of the Cornell Alumni Association:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE, That at the meeting of this corporation to be held in Ithaca on June 15, 1940, a resolution will be presented to amend the Certificate of Incorporation of the Association so as to state the purposes of the corporation to be as follows:

"The purposes of this corporation are to promote in every proper way the interests of Cornell University and to foster among the graduates a sentiment of regard for each other and attachment to their Alma Mater; and as a means to this end to publish an alumni magazine or periodical for the alumni of Cornell University; to serve as the general alumni association of Cornell University; to provide for a continuity of alumni activity and interest in the university; and in so far as specialized alumni agencies authorize it to do so, to coordinate the activities of such agencies; and to do any and all proper things necessary or incidental to the realization of these stated purposes, including employment of help in the affairs of the corporation and the payment of their salaries and wages."

To further amend the certificate of incorporation to provide that the number of directors of the association shall be "not less than fifteen nor more than forty."

Respectfully yours,
EMMET J. MURPHY,
Secretary

Dated: May 23, 1940

Proposed Changes in By-Laws

To All Members of the Cornell Alumni Association:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE, That at the annual meeting of the Cornell Alumni Association Corporation to be held in Ithaca on June 15, 1940, proposals will be presented to change the by-laws of the association in the following respects:

ARTICLE III—DIRECTORS

SECTION 5. Board of Directors. It is proposed to eliminate the words "Cornellian Council" in the sixth line and substitute therefor the words "Cornell Alumni Fund Council" and to add immediately after those words "or its successor organization," and at the end of the clause containing those words again change the name "Cornellian Council" to "Cornell Alumni Fund Council" and add thereafter the words "its successor."

ARTICLE IV—OFFICERS

SECTION 18. Duties of Secretary. It is proposed to change the last sentence of this section to read as follows:

"The Alumni Secretary may be removed from office by the Board of Trustees of the University after consultation with the Cornell Alumni Association or its duly qualified officers concerning such removal."

ARTICLE V—COMMITTEES

SECTION 20. Executive Committee. It is proposed to change the words "Cornellian Council" to "Cornell Alumni Fund Council" and to add immediately after those words "or its successor organization."

SECTION 21. Alumni News Committee. It is proposed to eliminate the first paragraph of this section as being obsolete.

It is also proposed to change the first sentence of the second paragraph to read as follows:

"There shall be a committee on the publication of the Alumni News which shall consist of three members to be appointed by the Executive Committee."

It is proposed to amend the second sentence of the second paragraph to read as follows:

"In the first instance, one member of such committee shall be appointed for one year, one for two years and one for three years."

ARTICLE VII—FINANCES

It is proposed to add to this Article a new section as follows:

SECTION 32. Surpluses. Any surpluses of net income or other surplus funds of the corporation over and above operating expenses and the amount needed as reasonable reserves shall be applied to such educational, charitable or other proper undertakings of Cornell University as the Board of Directors of this corporation may from time to time select, either by this corporation or by grant to Cornell University for such purposes.

ARTICLE VIII—MEETINGS OF THE ASSOCIATION

Sections to be renumbered to be consecutive.

It is proposed to amend sub-division b of old section 32 to be new section 33 to read as follows:

"SECTION 33. Regular Meetings. The annual June meeting shall be held in Ithaca, New York at such time and place as the directors may fix. ARE YOU "TOO TIRED" TO HAVE ANY FUN?

Don't Lose Your "Old College Pep"!
Try Cutting Down Tiredness—
By Drinking KNOX GELATINE!

Thousands of men and women everywhere are building endurance, checking tiredness, simply by drinking Knox Gelatine regularly. You may be able to do it, too!

Group tests have been conducted among hundreds of people with especially tiring jobs. And for 9 out of 10 men and women who completed the 28-day Knox test, tiredness was definitely cut down.

"Big Red" Teams Train on KNOX!

During the past year, coaches and trainers of your college tested Knox Gelatine on their training tables. They said it noticeably cut down fatigue and muscle strains . . . gave almost complete freedom from colds. They

HOW TO DRINK KNOX

Empty 1 envelope ($\frac{1}{4}$ pkg.) Knox Gelatine into glass $\frac{3}{4}$ filled with water or fruit juice, not iced. Let liquid absorb gelatine. Stir briskly. Drink immediately after stirring. If it thickens, stir again. Knox is tasteless, easy to drink.

BE SURE IT'S KNOX

Knox U.S.P. — the same gelatine used for over 50 years for desserts and salads—was the gelatine used in the tests to prove increased endurance! Avoid substitutes. Insist on plain, unflavored Knox Gelatine which is 85%-87% body-building protein!

had a gelatine bar installed in the locker room for athletes' convenience.

Why don't you start the Knox Endurance Routine today? It's simple, easy to follow. Ask your grocer for Knox Gelatine in the familiar 4-envelope kitchen package or the money-saving 32-envelope package. For complete details, write for Bulletin E, Knox Gelatine, Dept. 89, Johnstown, N. Y.

Try Increasing YOUR Endurance

FIRST TWO WEEKS: Just drink 4 envelopes Knox Gelatine every day.
SECOND TWO WEEKS: Drink 2 envelopes every day. After that, as required.

The secret is to drink Knox Gelatine regularly. Keep a supply in the bathroom. Drink it every day!
