Cornellian Council Elects

Jervis Langdon '97 Re-elected President—Almost a Million dollars in Gifts Recorded

Jervis Langdon '97 was re-elected president of the Cornellian Council at the annual meeting held in Ithaca June fifteenth. Mr. Langdon is serving as president of the Council for the third consecutive year.

The following members of the Executive Committee were re-elected:

Paul Schoellkopf '06, Vice President
J. DuPratt White '90
Robert T. Mickle '92
Maxwell M. Upson '99
Floyd L. Carlisle '03
Neal D. Becker '05
Robert E. Treman '09
Andrew J. Whinery '10
Harold Flack '12, Executive Secretary

It was reported by the Executive Committee of the Council to the annual meeting that the total amount in gifts of cash and securities which would be transmitted to the University for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth would be very nearly $1,000,000.

The Executive Committee reported that the Cornellian Council Committee on Bequests of which Neal D. Becker '05, is chairman, had functioned very actively during the year and that it was conservatively estimated that at least $2,000,000 had been included in wills which had been drawn during the year and in which Cornell had been named the beneficiary.

The Executive Committee reported that the number of givers of $1,000 annually to the Alumni Fund had been increased to nearly sixty, and that the number of contributors of $100 annually had been increased to approximately three hundred.

A gift of $2,000 was announced from Mr. William F. E. Gurley of the class of '77 to serve as the endowment in perpetuity of his annual subscription of $100 covering his membership in the Cornellian Council and in the First Legion, which is made up of $100 annual subscribers to the Alumni Fund. In transmitting this gift, Mr. Gurley recommended to the Council that a new class of memberships be established, namely memberships in perpetuity in the First Legion. The Cornellian Council accept this gift with sincere thanks and appreciation to Mr. Gurley, and the recommendation covering endowment of memberships in the Cornellian Council, was adopted.

The By-Laws of the Cornellian Council were amended at this meeting to provide for the election of four vice-presidents of the Council; one to be elected from the East, one from the Middle West, one from the South and one from the Pacific Coast.

The following at-large representatives on the Cornellian Council were re-elected:

E. S. Sanderson '94
A. S. Downey '96
Henry M. Robinson '90
John W. Towle '94
Archie C. Burnett '90
Gustav J. Requardt '09
Paul Lesh '06
Walter H. McNeil '10

and the following new at-large representatives were elected:

Bernard Hoffman '95
C. H. Thurber '86
R. H. Shreve '02

The year just concluded has been the most successful one in the history of the Cornellian Council. There is every indication that the alumni gifts to the University will increase annually as the years go on. It is a rather significant fact that the last ten years have brought total gifts to the University aggregating nearly $25,000,000 and the next ten years should yield an amount vastly exceeding those figures.

The Cornellian Council is planning to carry forward its work according to a broader plan during the coming year.

Professor Chamberlain Dies

Teacher of Drawing Leaves Fine Record as Illustrator and Artist—
Ill since 1927

George R. Chamberlain '91, assistant professor of freehand drawing in the College of Architecture since 1915, died July 15, after an illness following a stroke of paralysis in April, 1927.

Professor Chamberlain was born in East Corinth, Vt., October 10, 1865. He prepared for college at Bradford and St. Johnsbury academies and entered Dartmouth in 1885. He transferred to Cornell the following year and received his M.E. degree in 1891.

Ill health prevented his continuance in the profession of engineering, and in 1892 he studied art at the Art Students' League in New York. From 1896 to 1901 he worked as an illustrator, doing considerable work during that period for Liberty Hyde Bailey, now emeritus dean of the College of Agriculture.

In 1902, Professor Chamberlain became instructor in industrial drawing and art in the College of Engineering. In 1906 he was appointed instructor in freehand drawing, and in 1915 he became assistant professor. He also continued work at the Art Students' League.

He was a life member of the League and served for a time as a member of its Board of Control.

He leaves many fine paintings and sketches. He studied at various times with such artists as Birge Harrison, John Carlson, Jonas Lie, and Robert Henri.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Grace Caldwell Chamberlain '92.

RADIO STATION READY

Broadcasting from Station WEAI at Cornell is expected to begin about August 1, according to Professor William C. Ballard '10. Installation of electrical equipment, the completion of the towers, and the conclusion of construction work were effected early this month.

A thorough testing of the station over its fifty-mile radius by engineers of the General Electric Company, which donated the equipment for the station, was scheduled before broadcasting is started.

A FOUR-DAY tour of the Great Lakes was taken by President Farrand, J. Du Pratt White '90, Trustee, Foster M. Coffin '12, alumni representative, and a group of Rochester alumni July 12 to 16.

ATHLETICS

Cornell-Princeton Team Wins

The combined Cornell and Princeton track team defeated athletes of the English universities, Oxford and Cambridge, in an international meet at Travers Island, New York, on July 20, nine first places to three. It was the first victory for the American college track and field team since the series was inaugurated eight years ago.

The Englishmen won the 100-yard dash, the 440-yard dash, and the 880-yard run. Of the twelve events Cornell performers won four, Tiger athletes five, Cambridge men two, and an Oxford runner one.

The Cornellians who registered victories were Levy, who defeated Captain Anderson in the 16-pound shot put; Beaman, who set a new meet record of 9.33  $\frac{1}{2}$  in capturing the two-mile run; Colyer in the pole vault; and Woodruff in the running broad jump.

Hedges of Princeton was the individual star of the meet. The Princeton performer won the high jump and 120-yard high hurdle event, took second place in the pole vault, and placed third in the broad jump.

The summaries:

120-yard high hurdles: won by Ben Hedges, Jr., Princeton; second, R. St. G. Harper, Oxford; third, G. H. Clark, Cornell; fourth, I. R. Mann, Cambridge. Time: 15  $\frac{3}{5}$  seconds.

16-pound shot put: won by L. H. Levy, Cornell, 46 feet 4 inches; second, J. F. Anderson, Cornell, 46 feet,  $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch; third, S. M. N. Tisdall, Cambridge, 41 feet 9 inches; fourth, C. F. Gates, Oxford, 41 feet 2  $\frac{1}{4}$  inches.

100-yard dash: won by Gorth Wilkinson, Cambridge; second, B. H. Hand, Princeton; third, K. H. Yocom, Cornell; fourth, Bayes Norton, Oxford. Time: 10  $\frac{1}{5}$  seconds.

One-mile run: won by John E. Gore, Princeton; second, C. E. G. Green, Cambridge; third, H. P. Dawson, Princeton; fourth, W. C. Wentworth, Oxford. Time: 4 minutes, 23 seconds (New meet record).

220-yard dash: won by Ben H. Hand, Princeton; second, R. Leigh-Wood, Oxford; third, C. H. Meinig, Cornell; fourth, Gorth Wilkinson, Cambridge. Time: 22  $\frac{3}{5}$  seconds.

220-yard low hurdles: won by John Lincoln, Princeton; second, F. K. Beyer, Cornell; third, R. St. G. Harper, Oxford. R. M. Tisdall, Cambridge, fell and failed to finish. Time: 25  $\frac{3}{5}$  seconds.

Two-mile run: won by O. C. Beaman, Cornell; second, J. M. Pumphrey, Oxford; third, Sam R. Levering, Cornell; fourth, D. M. Wilson, Cambridge. Time: 9.33  $\frac{1}{2}$  (new meet record).

440-yard run: won by F. W. Tchitcherine, Cambridge; second, R. Leigh-Wood, Oxford; third, C. E. Baker, Cornell; fourth, A. B. Keown, Princeton. Time: 49  $\frac{1}{5}$  seconds.

Pole vault: won by E. L. Colyer, Cornell, 12 feet; second, Ben Hedges, Princeton, 11 feet; third, S. R. Fairburn-McFee, Cambridge, 10 feet.

880-yard run: won by Thomas Sampson, Oxford; second, R. L. Garland, Princeton; third, S. L. Elmer, Cornell; fourth, J. N. Mason, Cambridge. Time: one minute, 56 seconds. (New meet record).

Running broad jump: won by A. E. Woodruff, Cornell, 22 feet, six inches; second, R. W. Evans, Cambridge, 22 feet 5  $\frac{1}{8}$  inches; third, Ben Hedges, Jr., Princeton, 22 feet, five inches; fourth, W. T. Sartain, Cambridge, 19 feet, six inches.

OBITUARIES

BOOKS

New York History

The Rochester Historical Society, Publication Fund Series. Vol. VII. Compiled and Edited by Edward R. Foreman. Rochester. Published by the Society. 1928. 24.3 cm., pp. xvi, 485. Front. post., 35 illustrations.

The Rochester Historical Society, organized in 1860 by Lewis H. Morgan and reorganized in 1888, has had a continuous existence of more than forty years. The present volume is evidence that it is still very much alive.

Three publications by Cornellians appear. Elon H. Hooker '94 describes "American Economic and Diplomatic Frontiers of the Future." Increasing traffic he believes, will compel the construction of the Nicaragua Canal. Trade with Europe is relatively dwindling; hence the futility of spending large sums on the St. Lawrence route. But inland water transportation must increase. Our future markets lie in the South, South America, and the Far East. Professor Emeritus Herman L. Fairchild '74 of the University of Rochester prints his striking address to "The Ancient Sentinel Boulder of Indian Landing." The most impressive paper, however, is by Professor Albert H. Wright on "Old Northampton in Western New York," which fills 190 pages. President William P. White of the Oneida County Historical Society pronounces it "the most important contribution to New York State history since 1849, when O'Callaghan's Documentary History of the State of New York was published."

The first part of the study, having to do with the early history of many of the counties of New York, is of interest to all students of the general history of the State.

Old Northampton in April, 1797, was a town comprising all the territory between the Genesee River and Lake Erie. In 1802 Southampton, Leicester, and Batavia were set off. In 1808 Parma, Murray, and Riga were set off and the name of what was left was changed to Gates, in which township part of Rochester continues to be. In 1822 the town of Greece was set off.

A tax roll of 1800 gives the total real and personal property as valued at $4,785,368, taxed $8,387.11. In this list are 127 names; of these persons 48 paid each a tax of twenty cents or less. Three men paid a tax of two cents each. Those were the days!

The paper concludes with a transcript of the Northampton Town Records from 1797 to 1809. From the above it will be evident that this is a part of the history of all Western New York.

In these pages there are interesting entries. The bounty on wolves in 1801 was $3; the next year it was increased to $5. In 1805 the bounty on rattlesnakes was 3 shillings a dozen killed in or within a half mile of the town; in 1806 it was raised to a dollar a dozen. In 1808 it was "voted that hogs be under the Same restrictions as other cattle"; this raises an interesting question: did cattle include swine?

American Universities

The Trend of the American University. By David Starr Jordan '72. Stanford University, Calif. Stanford University Press, 1929. 23.5 cm., pp. x, 126. Front. post. 250 copies printed.

This highly interesting volume includes two addresses and an essay on the progress of the American College and University curriculum. From Dr. Jordan's numerous addresses and writings on this subject these three papers were chosen by the Stanford University Press "as having a historical connection and as indicating the gradual evolution of liberal ideas in university training."

The first, "The Evolution of the College Curriculum," was Dr. Jordan's inaugural address as first president of the College Association of Indiana in 1887. The traditional college curriculum was the lineal descendant of the English tripos of Greek, Latin, and mathematics. But other modern studies—history, philology, philosophy, and psychology, science—have demanded recognition. The result has been a patchwork compromise. A third stage, into which the country was passing forty years ago, was marked by the advent of the elective system. The speaker prophesied the possible abandonment of the bachelor's degree and with it the disappearance of the College as a separate factor in our system.

The second address, "An Apology for the American University," was the Stanford Commencement Address of 1898. It is a fine defence of college education, which had now come to be related to life, and the ideal of which was constructive individuality. "The college of the past dealt chiefly with record and tradition"; the university of 1898 was "alert to all the problems of social and political development." It intensified individual force and effort; through the contagion of high thought, of noble purpose, it struck "the heart of youth in flame."

The final paper was completed in 1927. On "The American University System, Past and Present" Dr. Jordan is optimistic. Strictly our institutions do not form a system; and in this very fact lies their hope. The author still stands for freedom of choice of studies and the early choice of a specialty or major. He believes the universities begin too low down and enroll too many students; this involves resorting to the lecture as a short-cut for mass production, whereas the policy of an enlightened university must be an "intensified and vivified individualism."

Since 1918 the American university has been "deluged with mediocrity." The remedy is the development of junior and lower-division colleges. Restrict membership in the real university to those who can profit by it and encourage these to develop naturally and in freedom. Shoot the Pharisee, the Philistine, and the charlatan. To quote from William James, the first unit of the university's spiritual superstructure "must be a faculty of great men, at whatever cost, from every part of the world. If you have the geniuses, you can dispense with the organization."

A notable volume; a worthy tribute to a wise teacher.

Good Verse

The Lady is Cold. Poems by E. B. W. New York. Harper. 1929. 21 cm., pp. xii, 95. Price, $2.

The author of this unusually excellent collection of verse is Elwyn B. White '21. Some of these verses have appeared in The New Yorker and in F. P. A.'s Conning Tower in The World. The reviewer has read this book through with growing enthusiasm. It is the real thing. These verses are not merely good; many of them are exquisite and there is much real poetry between these covers. There is of course the light touch, but the serious turn is not lacking. The author is sensitive to the various impressions of urban life which crowd upon him and records them with what we believe to be accuracy and truthfulness. But the country also has its appeal: witness "Shenandoah Road."

An Outline of Art

An Outline for the Study of the History of the Fine Arts in Western Civilization from the Earliest Times to the End of the Seventeenth Century. Arranged for Students of the History of the Fine Arts at the Ohio State University. By Ralph S. Fanning '12. Columbus. Ohio State University Press. 1928. 22 cm., pp. xvi, 164. Price, $2.50.

Professor Fanning has compiled what may be made into a very useful book. He has gathered much information of use to the student of art, history, and literature and has arranged it in systematic order. Unfortunately he has printed it too soon, and has allowed numerous frightful and unpardonable misprints to stand. The volume ought to be recalled and thoroughly revised. In its present form it is distinctly discreditable both to the author and to the press which issues it.

Books and Magazine Articles

In The New York Times for June 23, Professor Edward E. Free '06 of New York University has an article entitled "Relics of Ancient Man Revise Our Prehistory." In the issue for July 14 he discusses "The Need of More Radium."

In The American Journal of Sociology for May "Readings in Public Opinion" edited by Professor W. Brooke Graves '21 is reviewed by Robert E. Park.

In The Political Science Quarterly for June W. Y. Elliott's "The Pragmatic Revolt in Politics" is reviewed by Professor George E. G. Catlin, Ph.D. '24. "The American Party Battle" by Dr. Charles A. Beard, '99-'00 Grad, is reviewed by Schuyler C. Wallace.

In Science for June 14 Barbara McClintock '23, A.M. '25, Ph.D. '27, writes on "Chromosome Morphology in Zea Mays." In the issue for July 12 Professor Benjamin R. Andrews '01 of Teachers College prints his address before the A. A. A. S. on December 28 on "The Economic Status of Scientific Men and Women: Budget Needs of College Teachers."

In The American Journal of Philology for April-June Professor Lane Cooper writes on "Aristotle, Rhetoric 3.16. 1417 b. 16-20."

In The Nation for June 12 Hermann Keyserling's "Creative Understanding and the Recovery of Truth" is reviewed by Professor George E. G. Catlin, Ph.D. '24. In the issue for July 3 Catlin reviews "America and Europe and Other Essays" by Alfred Zimmern. In the issue for July 10 "The Rain-Makers" by Mary Roberts Coolidge '80 is reviewed by Thomas Hornsby Ferril.

In The New Republic for May 22 "Gestalt Psychology" by Professor Wolfgang Kohler is reviewed by Augustus Alpert. In the issue for June 26 Professor Catlin has a note entitled "Words Across the Sea."

In The Southern Medical Journal for December last Dr. Hugo Muench, Jr., '15, discussed "Age of Mother and Sex Ratio of Children."

In The Vanderbilt Alumnus for February-April, just issued, Professor Edwin Minns, Ph.D. '00, presents "Information for Critics of Vanderbilt," chiefly relating to alleged lowering of standards. There is a portrait of the author.

The Georgia Alumni Record for June includes a portrait of Dr. Charles A. Beard, '99-'00 Grad., who spoke before the University of Georgia on July 8 on "Danger Spots in Europe."

In The American Journal of Psychology for July George Kreezer and Professor Karl M. Dallenbach, Ph.D. '13, write on "Learning the Relation of Opposition." William B. Gritman, 2d, '29, and Professor Dallenbach discuss "The Formula for the Intensive Gradation of Heat." Dr. Cora L. Friedline '18 and Professor Dallenbach write on "Distance from Point of Fixation vs. Intensity as a Determinant of Attention." Professor Forrest L. Dimmick, Ph.D. '15, of Hobart, describes "A Further Modification of the Sanford Chronoscope." Professor Harry P. Weld's "Psychology as Science" is reviewed by Carroll C. Pratt. Professor Christian A. Ruckmick, Ph.D. '13, of the University of Iowa, describes "The Fourth Annual Meeting of the Midwestern Psychological Association." Professor Paul T. Young, Ph.D. '18, of the University of Illinois, has a note on "The Trained Observer in Affective Psychology."

In The Journal of Physical Chemistry for July Eugene L. Jewett '22 writes on "Cataphoresis of Lead Sulphate." Professor Thomas R. Briggs '09, Roy O. McDuffie '20, and Laverne H. Willisford, Grad., discuss "Alloys of Germanium: Silver-Germanium." Professor W. D. Bancroft reviews volume ix of "A Comprehensive Treatise on Inorganic and Theoretical Chemistry" by J. W. Mellor, "The Pyrolysis of Carbon Compounds" by Charles Dewitt Hurd, and "Theoretical and Experimental Chemistry" by J. C. Crocker and Frank Matthews.

In The University of California Chronicle for July "The Rain Makers" by Mary Roberts Coolidge '80 is reviewed by Hartley B. Alexander. "The Balkan Pivot: Yugoslavia" by Charles A. Beard and George Radin is reviewed by A. K.

In The Cornell Law Quarterly for June Professor Herbert D. Laube discusses "The Revision of the New York Law of Estates." There are forty-two pages of Notes and Comment. Professor Robert S. Stevens reviews "Corporate Advantages Without Incorporation" by Edward H. Warren. Dean Charles K. Burdick reviews "The Drafting of the Covenant" by David Hunter Miller. Professor George G. Bogert '06, of the University of Chicago reviews "Aviation Law" by Henry G. Hotchkiss. Professor Lyman P. Wilson reviews "Fundamentals of the Law of Proof in Judicial Proceedings." Professor George J. Thompson reviews "Handbook of Federal Jurisdiction and Procedure" by Armistead M. Dobie.

In The Technology Review for July "Modern English in the Making" by Professor George H. McKnight '92 and Bert Emsley of Ohio State University is reviewed by J. R. K., Jr.

In School and Society for June 15 Professor Frank S. Freeman discusses "Elusive Factors Tending to Reduce Correlations Between Intelligence Tests and College Grades."

ON JUNE 16 ground was broken for the new buildings of the New York Hospital—Cornell Medical College Association's new buildings at York Avenue and East Sixty-ninth Street. The site includes the space from Sixty-eighth to Seventy-first Streets between York Avenue and Exterior Street.

BENJAMIN E. COPP '29 of Albuquerque, N. M., is in Paris on a scholarship awarded by the Ahrens Publishing Company for the quality of his writings for publication.

JUNIOR FIELD DAYS HELD

The eighth annual Junior Field Days, in which 2,146 boys and girls belonging to agricultural clubs throughout New York State participated, were held at the University June 27 to 29. The boys and girls were members of 4-H clubs, devoted to studies in agriculture and home economics. There were 1,346 girls and 800 boys, the largest attendance of any year.

One of the speakers was Dean Albert R. Mann '04 of the College of Home Economics. In his talk, he referred to the importance of continued growth in knowledge and ability, pointing out that the things which the boys and girls are now doing and which interest them are but the first steps in agricultural knowledge. There are broad areas ahead of them into which they should progressively grow.

Dean Mann urged the boys and girls to acquire the habit of continually living at their best in accordance with the 4-H Club program.

Professor William J. Wright, extension professor of rural education and state leader of junior extension work, was in charge of the program.

During the three days at Ithaca, numerous contests were held, and there were exhibits of the work of the club members, for which prizes were awarded.

DORMITORIES NEAR COMPLETION

When the University opens for the fall term, it is expected that the new women's dormitories on Wait Avenue will be ready. Rapid progress in construction has been made, and the task of landscaping the grounds has already been started.

Terraces will be graded in front of the dormitory group. An ornamental wall is to be built to a height of ten feet.

Construction has progressed on the two new fraternity lodges on University Avenue, Theta Delta Chi and Alpha Chi Rho.

The University has also started construction of a building near the East Ithaca railroad station for laundry purposes.

SWIMMING SAFEGUARDED

The Athletic Association is now supervising swimming in Upper Beebe Lake instead of in the power house pool in Fall Creek gorge. The association has complete charge of the pool. Life guards are on duty, and floating markers warn swimmers of currents.

The old power house pool was managed on the minor sport basis, similar to the winter sports on Beebe Lake. This plan could not be utilized this year because of dredging operations in the lake and because the Johnny Parsons Club cannot be used for swimming headquarters.

The life guards at the pool are Leo I. Solavitch '30 of New York and Jerry J. Welch '31 of Ithaca. Walter C. O'Connell '11, wrestling coach, is in charge of swimming activities.

CONCERNING BROADCASTING

THE brief announcement is made that Cornell will be ready, August 1, to broadcast from Station WEAI. Alumni will probably be unable to reach unanimity of opinion on the subject. Locally it will raise hob with the fanatics who might wish to be hearing the Greenhouse Coffee Hour or the Kelly Tires Half Hour while WEAI is on the ether.

Universities have found various uses for broadcasting, many of them quite valuable. One of the state universities out in the great open spaces recently substituted it for a decadent alumni publication, with beneficial results. It is now proposed, however, be it said in favor of alumni magazines, to reorganize the defunct publication to augment the news service provided by the broadcasting stations.

It is obvious that a university which owes the people of its state service in line with modern thought on adult education, can use broadcasting with excellent results, increasing in that manner its value to the state through its published bulletins.

It is also apparent that many events in the University calendar, while of added interest to the alumni of the institution, might justly claim a portion of "the air" along with almost anything that one picks up. Addresses of importance, concerts, athletic events, and special university events of various sorts come in this category.

For the alumnus principally, and yet not devoid of general interest, many regular as well as special events could be provided. The ringing of the chimes, the undergraduate musical and dramatic performances, brief addresses by well known professors, and special stunts can all be utilized to feed the interest of the alumnus who is within range.

There is nothing much to steer by that is tried and sound. The work must be largely experimental. If it is to become a field of endeavor of which Cornellians are to be proud, close cooperation must be secured between the alumni audience and the management of Station WEAI. The items that arouse favorable comment as well as those that produce the reverse must be faithfully reported. Otherwise Station WEAI might as well confine its efforts to educating the yeomanry of up-state New York on the production of more butterfat and better and cheaper straw hats.

BRUCE WILLIAMS DIES

Bruce Williams, professor of political science at Cornell for the academic year 1928-9, shot and fatally wounded himself in a Baltimore Hotel June 13. He died the next day. Ill health was assigned as the reason for his act.

Professor Williams came to Cornell from the University of Virginia, where he graduated in 1912. He studied at Johns Hopkins University, receiving his Ph.D. degree there in 1920. He became assistant professor of political science there in 1922.

Professor Williams had resigned from the Cornell Faculty to return to the University of Virginia.

He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Gamma Delta, the American Political Science Association, and the American Society of International Law.

CORNELLIANS ON BENCH

Cornellians in the profession of law have been honored during the past month.

David N. Heller '88 of Elmira was named by Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt to succeed Justice George McCann '86, also of Elmira, to the Supreme Court bench of the Sixth Judicial District, New York State. Justice McCann resigned because of ill health.

Justice Heller entered public life soon after his graduation. He was Mayor of Elmira at the time of his appointment.

Justice Rowland L. Davis '97 of Cortland has been recommended for re-election this year to the bench of the Appellate Division, Third Department.

Ely W. Personius '98 of Elmira is expected to be nominated for the Supreme Court bench to Justice McCann's term. The appointment of Heller is for the rest of the year.

Summer Session Starts

Program Includes Many Concerts, Lectures, and Dramatic Activities

The thirty-eighth Summer Session began July 6 with registration. Regular classes began July 8, to continue until August 16. Although restricted enrollment prevailed in many departments for the second year, the registration did not fall off greatly. Registration figures announced were 1,524 for the regular session, and 111 for the Summer School of Biology.

Approval of the selective system which requires that an applicant be in good standing in his own institution was expressed by Professor Riverda H. Jordan, head of the session.

This year's enrollment also includes a greater number of advanced students working for master's and doctor's degrees.

The Summer School of Law began on June 24.

Regular activities of the session include organ recitals by Professor Harold D. Smith, a series of lectures by Professor Walter King Stone, plays by the Summer Theatre group, and concerts in Bailey Hall. The first concert was given by Noah Swayne, bass baritone, July 19.

An exhibition of paintings by the American artist, Gerrit Beneker, was held in the Morse Hall galleries during the first two weeks of the session.

CORNELLIAN ON FARM BOARD

Charles S. Wilson '04, former New York State commissioner of agriculture, was appointed July 12 by President Herbert Hoover to a place on the Federal Farm Board, which will administer funds provided by Congress for agricultural relief throughout the United States.

Mr. Wilson is the son of the late New York State Senator Thomas B. Wilson, for many years a Trustee.

After his graduation, Mr. Wilson served for ten years as instructor and later professor of fruit growing in the College of Agriculture. He then served for five years as commissioner of agriculture for New York under the governorship of Charles S. Whitman.

He is a former president of the New York State Horticultural Society, a member of the New York State Agricultural Society, and a former member of the New York State Fair Commission. Since 1920 he has been actively identified with the solution of fruit grower's problems in New York State. He was for a time secretary of the Western New York Co-operative.

"CORNELL DAYS" in R.O.T.C. camps at Plattsburg and Madison Barracks were observed early this month. Major General Hanson E. Ely, commanding the Second Corps Area, invited President Farrand and members of the Faculty to attend the camps on these occasions.

THE CLUBS

Paris

Myron L. Taylor '94, donor of the new law school building, was the guest of honor at the annual luncheon of the Cornell Club of Paris, held at the Union Interallié on June 10. Other speakers at the luncheon were Edward G. MacArthur '11, who told of the practical results of Mr. Taylor's gift, and M. Firmin Roz, co-director of the French National Office for Universities and a director of the Canadian House of the Cité Universitaire.

Mr. Taylor spoke briefly of his reasons for making his gift to Cornell, saying in part, "I am particularly interested that the Cornell College of Law will be developed and will embody in its courses those pertaining to international law as well as to diplomacy. It is my hope that this fund may permit students to equip themselves especially for the United States foreign service, and that, at the same time, it will raise the standard of the Cornell Law School even higher."

Among the guests at the luncheon were P. Lepaulle, international lawyer, Elmer Roberts, president of the American Club and representative in Paris of the Associated Press, Alphonse D. Weil '86, chairman, Jesse A. Fitzpatrick '03, Howell S.

Cresswell '06, Albert B. Cudebec '08, Kinsley W. Slauson '08, Charles A. Carroll '10, Ralph Knapp '13, Hubert J. Roemer '22, William A. Kingery '27, Harold L. Ruland '27, and Wilbur S. Howell '28.

The Philippines

Cornellians in the Philippines, members of the Cornell University Alumni Association, met in May for the annual Cornell "Wash," at which Samuel Garmezzy '13, chief engineer of the Atlantic Gulf and Pacific Company, was elected president. Dr. Victor Buencamino '11 was named secretary-treasurer.

The Cornell group is the largest American university alumni group in the Islands, having one hundred members, most of them living in Manila.

New England

The Cornell Club of New England will celebrate its annual "Wash" at the Quinsigamond Boat Club in Worcester on Saturday, July 27. The program will follow the general order of the successful parties of the last few years. A day of land and water sports will be followed by dinner in the Cliff House. Guests from Ithaca will include Professor Charles L. Durham '99, Coach James Wray, and Foster M. Coffin '12.

Cuba

At the last meeting of the Cornell Club of Cuba the following officers were elected:

President, Francisco Landa '06; vice-president, Eduardo P. Gaston '07; secretary, Laurence H. Daniel '24; treasurer, Jose R. Perez '14. The Board of Directors is as follows: Tomlinson C. Ulbricht '08; Luis de Sena '02; and Frank L. Getman '99.

The address of the secretary, Mr. Daniel, is Metropolitana 814. He urges that visiting Cornellians get in touch with him on arrival.

WEATHER BUREAU APPOINTMENT

John C. Fisher '09, a member of the staff of the United States Weather Bureau at Cornell for the past 10 years, was appointed last month to succeed the late Morgan R. Sanford as director of the Syracuse Weather Bureau.

Mr. Fisher has been second in charge at Cornell to Professor Wilfred M. Wilson.

The spray and harvest services formerly part of the service at Cornell were transferred to Syracuse when Mr. Fisher began his duties there July 1.

JUDGE MC CANN '86 RESIGNS

Justice George McCann '86 of Elmira has resigned as associate justice of the Appellate Division, Third Department, New York. Ill health caused him to leave his work on the bench. Justice James P. Hill of Norwich was designated by Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt to fill out the term expiring in 1937.

Reunion Reports from the Classes

Notwithstanding the fact that the class had a reunion under the Dix Plan in 1927, the Class of 1904 came back to its 25-year reunion in unprecedented numbers for this class. The total registration was 121 men and women. The record for attendance at the 25-year reunion is 130, held by the Class of 1903. The 1904 attendance brings this class to second place. The men were housed in Boldt Hall and the women in Sage, and all class events were held together as a unit. The class band, in white suits with green sashes and class numerals, was on the job from Friday morning to the close of the rally Saturday night. In addition to dispensing music on all appropriate occasions, it lent much strength to the class marching song, "Old 1904 Is Just What She Used To Be." The class picture was taken on Saturday noon and is being distributed to those in attendance with the names affixed.

The class dinner in Prudence Risley Dining Hall stood out, naturally, as the best single event. There were short reports and speeches by the class officers: Finlay, reunion chairman; Bryde, treasurer; Lake, transportation manager; Vincent, costumes; Mollie Crawford, secretary for women; and Mann, class secretary. Talks were also given by Harold E. Santee, senior class president, Judge Francis W. Bleakley, and a number of others. At the close of the dinner Romeyn Berry, on behalf of the class, presented the Class Secretary with a silver loving cup in recognition of his service in developing the 25-year reunion. Throughout the dinner the familiar airs of 1904 were sung with Grace Seely at the piano, and letters were read from many classmates unable to be present.

Some years ago this class adopted the policy of electing officers for five-year periods. At the class dinner the following officers were elected for the next period: Harry F. Vincent, reunion chairman; Edward D. Bryde, class secretary; Howard C. Lake, class treasurer. Doctor Mary M. Crawford is life secretary for the women.

The reunion was run on a fifty-fifty basis, each one in attendance paying $50 to cover all common expenses. Out of this was provided transportation to and from Ithaca, costumes, band, housing in Ithaca, the class dinner and certain other meals at Ithaca, attendance at the two ball games, and all other general reunion expenses. The plan proved highly satisfactory and left a small balance in the treasury. A number returned from the Pacific coast and the far South. Everyone in attendance agreed that the reunion was by all odds the most satisfactory one that the class has ever held in addition to being the largest since the class graduated.

A number were back who had not attended a reunion since graduation.

The class costumes consisting of apple green blazers with white trim, white hats, white trousers and skirts, made a particularly effective combination, and won a good bit of favorable comment.

Looking back upon the Fifteen-Year Reunion of the Class of '14 at short range, it is hard to tell just how the reunion will rate in the minds of the members of the class who attended, as their memory grows dimmer. In point of numbers back, it was the most successful yet. 146 men and 32 women returned. It seemed that everyone had a good time. No great stress has been laid in the pre-reunion publications toward getting a record number back. The Committee in charge of the men's reunion aimed rather to get back a crowd that wanted to come and meet with the best friends they ever had, rather than to bring out a record number, some of whom might have come back feeling that they owed Cornell or the class the obligation of returning. The committee stressed the point that returning at reunion time, was owed only to one's self.

The presence of twenty of the best musicians of the Cadet Corps band, whose services we were able to obtain through the generosity of our classmate, Robert Plaut, did a great deal in stirring things up. This band participated in all the functions of the class. It helped greatly in the parades in the Drill Hall Friday and Saturday, and assisted in creating a lively tone to the ball games.

A feature new to reunions at Cornell was introduced by the shore dinner held Friday evening in the Baker Mess Hall. After participating in Senior and Alumni sining, the class adjourned in a body to the Mess Hall, where a fine shore dinner had been prepared. Everyone apparently had all they desired to eat, and a large amount of extemporaneous entertainment. The party did not break up until after midnight.

Saturday morning a large share of the class listened to President Farrand's confidential address, while others spent the morning wandering around the campus visiting old friends, and marveling at the changes which Cornell has seen during the past fifteen years.

On Saturday evening the class banquet was held in the cafeteria of Willard Straight Hall, at which time the first showing of the moving pictures taken during the reunion was staged. A. H. Mogensen '23 was authorized to take 400 feet of 16 millimeter film, covering the high spots of the events of the two days.

A great many of the members of the class left early Sunday morning, but many stayed over for Commencement on Monday. One distinctive characteristic of this reunion was the great number of men returning who had not been back to Ithaca since graduation. It is not likely that these old grads will let another fifteen years pass before again returning to the campus.

THE ALUMNI

'83—George Bullock is president of the International Burners Corporation of New York. The company from 1922 to 1928 was known as the Caloroil Burner Corporation, of which Mr. Bullock was president. He was also for some years until 1925 president of the United Gas and Electric Corporation of New York. He is serving his second term as vice-president of the American Lil Burner Association.

'87 BS—Robert T. Hill, one of the country's outstanding geologists, received the degree of doctor of science from the Southern Methodist University this June. In 1920 he received from Baylor University the degree of LL.D. Since 1922 Dr. Hill has been working in California. In 1927 he was employed by the Building Owners' Association of Los Angeles to examine the earthquake conditions of that part of California, and later was a member of the engineering commission which determined the cause of the San Francisco Dam failure. Dr. Hill's knowledge of the geological conditions at Panama was an important factor in the final decision of the United States to build the canal there. At the eruption of Mount Pélée, he was sent to Martinique by the National Geographic Society.

'89—Seishichi Iwasaki is distributor for Nash cars in Tokyo, Japan, with the Aoi Motor Car Company. He is also president of the Tokyo Gas Company and vice-president of the Tokyo Chamber of Commerce.

'91 ME—Harold B. Smith, director of the electrical engineering department at Worcester Polytechnic Institute, is president-elect of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

'96 ME—Richard G. Dukes, since 1909 head of the department of applied mechanics at Purdue University, has been made dean of the newly created graduate school there. Since 1925 he has been chairman of the graduate committee.

'98 BSA—David A. Williston is a landscape architect at the Tennessee State Agricultural College, at Nashville.

'99 PhB, '01 AM, '05 PhD—Edmund H. Hollands, professor of philosophy at the University of Kansas since 1913, will be visiting professor at the School of Philosophy at the University of Southern California next year.

'99 LLB—Robert H. Ripley has been elected senior vice-president of the American Steel Foundries in Chicago. He has been a vice-president of the company since 1905.

'01 AB—Joseph P. Harris has been elected a director of the Insurance Shares Corporation of Delaware, of the Insurance Shares Corporation of New York, and of the Insurance Management Corporation, and also of the Clark Lighter Company, Inc., of New York. As president of the Western Ohio Railway and Power Corporation he rehabilitated the property which recently was sold to other interests.

'01 LLB—James S. Dougherty is manager of the Nashville office of the Southern Adjustment Bureau, at 706 Nashville Trust Building.

'10 AB—Anna E. Biddle received her doctor's degree in psychology from Pennsylvania last June.

'02 AB—Elizabeth G. Peabody '02 was married on June 25 to Anton Friedrich Eberhard. After September 15 they will live at 1560 Selwyn Avenue, Bronx, New York.

'03 ME—H. Albert Rogers is selling supplies to the oilfield interests with offices at 706 Tulsa Loan Building, Tulsa, Okla. He lives at 1720 South Madison Street.

'05 AM—Walter E. King has been appointed assistant director of the research laboratories and of the biological farm of Parke, Davis and Company, with which he has been connected since 1905. He is a graduate of the Detroit College of Medicine and Surgery.

'05 AB—Arthur D. Camp is sales engineer in the carbon sales division of the National Carbon Company, Inc., and is specializing in the application of carbon products as materials of construction in chemical plants where corrosive conditions are severe. His address is care of the company in Cleveland.

'06 AB—Mrs. Joseph W. Bingham (Florence M. Cornell) is giving a course in Parent-Teacher work at Stanford University this summer.

'07 ME—Earl W. Zimmerman is plant engineer in the Brown Life Chapin Division of the General Motors Corporation. His address is 704 Belevue Avenue, Syracuse, N. Y.

'08 ME—Frank W. Hoyt, for the past several years employed by Nat. D. Stevens in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., as a sales engineer handling power plant specialties, has purchased Mr. Stevens' interest in power plant accounts and is now a sales engineer with the Coxie Stoker Engineering Company at the Markle Bank Building, Hazleton, Pa.

'09 AB—Charles Previn, recently on the musical conduction staff at the Roxy Theatre in New York, is guest conductor of the symphony orchestra at the Warner Theatre in Atlantic City, N. J. He was formerly with Klaw and Erlanger as a conductor, at that time being the youngest conductor on Broadway, and later as general musical director.

'10 CE—W. Brooks Clift, for the past five years with Ames, Emerich and Company, has been elected executive vice-president of the Greenebaum Sons Investment Company and the Greenebaum Sons Securities Corporation. He was formerly first vice-president of the Omaha Trust Company.

'10 LLB—Edward G. Griffin, formerly counsel to Governor Smith and Governor Roosevelt of New York, on May 15 resumed the general practice of law as counsel to the firm of Sherman, Solomon, Ribman and Goldring, at 51 Madison Avenue, New York.

'10 LLB—William H. Kennedy has for two years been resident vice-president and manager in Buffalo of the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company, with which he has been associated since graduation. For many years he was resident secretary in Buffalo. Kennedy lives at 847 West Delavan Avenue. He has two young sons.

'10 MD—Earl V. Sweet has been appointed assistant medical director of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company. He has been professor on internal medicine and clinical medicine at Syracuse.

'10 MSA—Clarence C. Vincent is head of the Horticultural department at the Idaho Agricultural College.

SOLVING FUEL PROBLEMS

Steam power station work of the Stone & Webster Engineering Corporation includes industrial and utility plants operating with record economy on all kinds of fuels. In many instances, coal, oil and gas burning stations are so designed that they can be changed at any time to pulverized coal. Some stations operate on either oil or pulverized coal or both as occasion demands. Some burn oil or gas or both. This flexibility of design enables owners to profit by changes in the local fuel market. Our wide experience in solving fuel problems is offered to manufacturers and others who plan to build new plants or revamp old ones to meet new requirements.

What Part of My Income Can I Lay Aside for Life Insurance?

CONCRETE FACTS
speak louder than words.

Here is the actual program of a young man, 28, married, with two children. His income is $5,000 a year.

The annual premiums amount to about $600, leaving a balance of $4,400 for the support of his family, an easy proposition for ambitious young parents looking to the future.

What does he get for his $600?

An estate of $30,000, $5,000 to be paid in cash at his death, the rest held in trust to pay $100 a month to his widow during her lifetime, the remaining principal to go to the children after her death.

If you are interested in arranging an estate for yourself, let us help you make your plans to suit your own needs.

When You are in Ithaca Make the Co-op Your Headquarters

We Mail Your Purchases for You

When one is hurrying from a luncheon to a ball game or another group meeting it is an easy matter to lay down a package and forget to pick it up. To save you the trouble the Co-op mails your packages for you. Spend a little time at the Co-op and buy Cornell things.

Postcards of the Campus

Visitors to the campus wish to send a description to their friends. Postcards can now be mailed with one cent stamps. More postcards are being used. Viewbooks cost a little more but the description is better. The "Book of Views" leads when a good description of the campus is wanted.

The Campus Map $1.50

The campus map was the biggest item at Christmas time. Some did not buy because they had not seen one. Here is your opportunity while you are in Ithaca. The Co-op is conveniently located on the campus.
