Storms that SAVE Lives

STORMS OF HAIL AND OF SAND . . . storms of rain and sleet, and fog. Temperatures of 60 degrees below zero Fahrenheit and 150 degrees above. Such combat conditions and low pressures of high altitudes can be produced in the weather chamber which you see here being used for testing Army Air Force equipment—equipment upon which the fighting effectiveness and the lives of men depend.

Stainless steel—large-scale production of which was made possible by the development of low-carbon ferro-chromium by ELECTRO METALLURGICAL COMPANY, a Unit of UCC—lines the interior of the weather chamber. For stainless steel has the necessary resistance to the tortures that beset this all-weather “test-tube” room for research in materiel.

Tough, durable, rustproof, stainless steels are also used in surgical instruments, operating tables, and other hospital equipment. And, because they are easy to keep clean and resist food acids, they are widely used in equipment necessary to the preparation, processing, and serving of foods. “After-the-war abundance” will make it possible for all of us in thousands of places in industry and the home to enjoy the luxury as well as the utility of stainless steels.

Units of UCC do not make steel of any kind, but they do make available to steelmakers many alloys which give new properties to and improve the quality of steel. The basic research of these Units means new, useful metallurgical information — and better metals for the needs of men.

Executives, architects, designers, teachers, and other professional men are invited to send for the booklet P-10 “Stainless Steels and their Uses.” There is no obligation.

When you cross this border

get this booklet

ARE you one of the million and a half men who have already crossed the border between military and civilian life—or, if still in the service, do you want to know what you're entitled to when you hang up your uniform?

We have a free 24-page booklet that was carefully prepared by our War Service Bureau just to help you. Called "Information for Demobilized Veterans," it explains the rights and privileges that you have earned by serving in the armed forces of your country.

Besides the G.I. Bill of Rights and other information listed in the right-hand column, the booklet has some tips to guide you in getting yourself reestablished, and a suggestion or two about a post-war career.

For more than 100 years, we have been helping folks like you to attain financial security. Our advice to you and the thousands more who are now being honorably discharged each month is—hold on to your National Service Life Insurance. This booklet tells you what to do to keep that protection and how to make the most of it.

Send for your copy of "Information for Demobilized Veterans" today. It is offered as our contribution to help you get your feet on the ground in what probably seems a very different world after military service. A penny postal will bring it to you free of charge, along with a handsome, rugged envelope to keep your discharge certificate and service papers fresh and clean.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Highlights of the G. I. Bill of Rights —

How to continue your education, guarantee of loans, unemployment benefits, etc.

When you go home —

Mustering-out pay, where to go for information on employment, hospitalization, vocational training, etc.

Your pension privileges and how to apply.

Your National Service Life Insurance —

How to keep it in force, how to convert with premium rates and illustrations.

Where do you go from here?

Some ideas on your post-war career.

“I Want to See the Boss”

These well known words have a significance beyond their normal customer usage. Their very existence is one of those frequently overlooked indices of private enterprise.

The Constitution does not say the customer is always right,—but what a valuable privilege it is to be a customer rather than a mere consumer. The difference is the option to pick and choose versus the obligation to take it and like it.

Under this American system of business for customers and by customers, this country has advanced and prospered. The alert and ambitious have found some reward for their industry and enterprise. Even the lazy and inefficient have enjoyed a continuous rise in the standard of living. The right to be a customer seems well worth defending.

Alumni Association Directors To Be Elected

BALLOTS for election of seven district directors of the Alumni Association are being mailed from the Alumni Office to approximately 67,000 Cornellians whose current addresses are known. This is the first election of directors under the revised by-laws of the Association, which now provide for election by mail vote by all alumni who reside in each of the seven districts, instead of only by those who attended the biennial conventions of the Association, now abolished.

Nominating committees were appointed in July for the several districts by President Larry E. Gubb '16, each committee to submit names of at least two candidates of whom one will represent that district on the board of directors.

Join Other Directors

Besides the district directors, the board also includes the president of the Alumni Fund Council, chairman of the ALUMNI NEWS committee, chairman and vice-chairman of the committee on secondary schools, president of the proposed Federation of Men's Cornell Clubs, president of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs, the president and one other representative chosen by the Association of Class Secretaries, president of each College or Department alumni organization, and two directors (a man and a woman) elected by the board. The directors meet regularly every fall and spring, and an executive committee of ten members meets bi-monthly to conduct the current business of the Association.

Ballots for district directors must be returned to the Alumni Office by November 1, and elected directors take office at the November meeting of the board, to serve until the fall meeting in 1946.

All Alumni Can Vote

Every person who has matriculated in the University and who has either received a degree or whose entering Class has been graduated is a member of the Alumni Association and thus entitled to vote for a director. If an official ballot is not received, they may be obtained from the secretary of the Association, Walter C. Heasley, Jr. '30, 3 East Avenue, Ithaca.

District nominating committees have presented the following slates of candidates for election:

District 1—Central & Western New York

THAD L. COLLUM, '20, '21 CE, Syracuse. Treasurer, Henderson-Johnson Co., Inc., engineers; past president, Cornell Club of Syracuse; lacrosse "C"; Quill and Dagger, Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Books

By Cornellians

Second Killer-Diller

Too Busy To Die. By Henry W. Roden '18. William Morrow & Co., New York City. 1944. 216 pages. $2.

"Tex" Roden has again found relief from his duties as president of American Home Foods, Inc. and Clapp's Baby Foods in continuing the adventures of his hero, John Knight, public relations counsel, and Knight's "private eye" friend, Sid Ames. These two worthies were introduced in Roden's first successful mystery-thriller, You Only Hang Once.

In this one, they solve the mystery of several more killings, with a cast of assorted characters that include both seductive and tough gun molls, a beautiful red-head, and a number of "queer ones" whose relationships and motives all come clear at the end of the racy and fast moving tale. Tired business men and other mystery addicts will get as much pleasant diversion from reading this second book of Roden's as the author must have had in writing it.

Entomology Text

Entomology for Introductory Courses. By Professor Robert Matheson '06, Entomology. Comstock Publishing Co., Inc., Ithaca. 1944. xiv+600 pages, 500 illustrations. $5.50.

"Probably never in history," says Professor Matheson in his Preface, "has a knowledge of insects been recognized as such an important factor in the conduct of great military campaigns. So it is reasonable to say that more people than ever before, in all walks of life, will have learned of the dominating role these small creatures play in our daily lives."

Anything you want to know about insects, whether it be the general contour of the bedbug or the sex life of the Japanese beetle, is probably in this text book.

Stories By Freund '29

The Young Greek and the Creole: And Other Stories. By Philip Freund '29. Pilgrim House, New York City. 1944. 271 pages. $2.50.

There's this sculptor, from an old Creole family in Louisiana, and he meets this "unprepossessing youth," the Young Greek. They get together. The youth has always wanted to go to South America. The sculptor tries to get this "adventurous obsession" into stone. He needles the youth about South America until he's "feverish with thoughts of his obsession." Worse, he translates "that fever of resolution . . . into something erotic, by speaking to the youth of the languorous women that awaited him in South America."

The youth sleeps on a couch in the studio. ("Friends" of the sculptor "had often used the couch. He had a mistress, wilful and extravagant, but she was away for a few days.") Finally the sculpture is done. The youth runs away, still headed for South America. The statue is sold to "a rich man, a patron of an art museum" in (where do you think?) Rio de Janeiro!

There are eleven other stories in this book.

New Borden Award

BORDEN Agricultural Scholarship Award of $300, to be given annually to the student in Agriculture who has studied two or more dairy subjects and enters his Senior year with the highest average in all preceeding college work, has been established by the Borden Co. at Cornell and several other universities.

Vice-President of the Borden Co. is Harry A. Ross, PhD '24, and many other Cornellians are employed by the company and its affiliates.

Auburn Elects

OFFICERS of the reorganized Cornell Women's Club of Auburn were elected September 11 at the home of Mrs. James S. Morse, '23-24 Grad. Mrs. Robert L. Wiggans (Dorothy Talbert) '41 is president; Mrs. Paul E. Newman (Julia Robb) '38, vice-president; Mrs. John C. Scholes (Mary Patterson) '34, recording secretary; Genevieve L. Haskell '32, corresponding secretary; and W. Beryl Ireland '42, treasurer.

Seventeen members at the September meeting planned for a fashion show in Auburn this winter, with Miss Ireland as chairman. Proceeds will go to the Federation Scholarship Fund.

Stories of Cornell

BY FRANK A. WRIGHT '79

Old Doc Wilder used to gather the Freshman Class each year and give the fundamental rules of health. They were very simple:

1. Keep your head cool;
 2. Keep your feet warm;
 3. Keep your bowels open;
- AND drink milk.

Letters

Subject to the usual restrictions of space and good taste, we shall print letters from subscribers on any side of any subject of interest to Cornellians. The ALUMNI NEWS often may not agree with the sentiments expressed, and disclaims any responsibility beyond that of fostering interest in the University.

V-Mail From Italy

TO THE EDITOR:

It is interesting to reflect on the coincidences that bring Cornellians together in far corners of the globe. Recently, while in Rome, I chanced into the Air Force rest camp and there was Lieutenant William Littlewood '43, looking resplendant in his pilot wings and getting set to calm ragged nerves in Rome. Bill is a fighter pilot and has quite a few missions to his credit.

A short time later, in Naples, Lieutenant Norman K. Brooks '42 came strolling into the Red Cross Club and practically fell over me. Norm was fully equipped with boots, canteen, pistol, helmet, and other items to wage complete war at once. He's working as an Artillery boy with the French, and is probably in France by now.

Being old supporters of the Dramatic Club in the lush pre-war years, you can imagine how many pleasant memories Bill and Norm recalled. They were especially grateful for the ALUMNI NEWS, which I have missed here in Sardinia.

First Lieutenant, Air Corps

Campus Etiquette

TO THE EDITOR:

While reading a recent issue of your interesting ALUMNI NEWS, I noted an article, "Apropos of Last Cover," and the comments of the editor. [Letter of N.D.B., August 15 —Ed.]

It seems to be appropriate to exclaim again "O tempora! O mores!" Perhaps the four L.Ls. were too surprised to rise to the occasion, a la Emily Post, while chatting on the Campus with one of the young lady students. The L.Ls. might have been previously coached in Cornell Campus etiquette by their fathers, mothers, grandfathers, or grandmothers of the Classes of the 1880's-1890's, when such an incident was an unheard-of episode. Then, in meeting an acquaintance in a group, a young lady student was not expected to recognize him, as the chivalrous gesture of a dozen or so hats being doffed at once was considered ludicrous and not the ultimate in good form.

Cornell Alumni News

There was a Freshman girl from my home town who once enthusiastically waved a handkerchief to a player during a baseball game. This met adverse criticism from the sorority girls who kindly vouched the information that dramatic exuberance was not to be displayed on the Campus.

Senior and Junior girls were the arbiters of social usage. A word from them in season was all that was required to keep things moving according to the accustomed regime.

—H.D.E.H. '89.

Hollister Goes West

DEAN S. C. Hollister, Engineering, will bring recent news of the Campus to a luncheon meeting of the Cornell Club of Northern California, October 4 at the Commercial Club in San Francisco. The following day, he will lunch with a group of Engineering alumni.

Eighteen members present at the last meeting of the Club, September 6, heard Tom Lane, assistant division manager in charge of sales training and consumer relations of Calvert Distillers Corp., tell about industrial and beverage alcohols in war time. Seibert L. Sefton '29, president of the Club, presided.

Elmira Club Organizes

FIRST president of a new Cornell Women's Club of Elmira is Mrs. Fred M. Hewitt (Mina Bellinger) '34, elected last May at a meeting held in her home. Other officers for 1944-45 are Mrs. Benjamin Novidor (Beatrice Carpenter) '37, vice-president; Mrs. William J. Wigsten (Mrs. Gladys Barkley) '23, secretary-treasurer.

The twenty-five members present at the meeting adopted a constitution for the Club, presented by Mrs. Clara Drath Munson '11 and M. Florence Callahan, AM '32.

For Employers

CURRENT Bulletin of the University Placement Service lists fourteen "Registrants Available," giving for each his experience, age, draft or family status, minimum salary, and preferred location.

If you are looking for a good "consultant-editor," an "engineer-lawyer," a "comptroller-office manager," or an "architect-engineer" (to name four of the registrants), the Placement Service may be able to solve your employment problem. Periodical Bulletins may be obtained by writing to either of the Placement Service offices: Willard Straight Hall in Ithaca, or the Cornell Club, 107 East Forty-eighth Street, New York City.

Now in My Time!

By Conyn Berry

WHAT the alumni resent most is change. That's as true of the ones who live within sound of the bells as it is of the dwellers in far places. The difference is that in ordinary times, the changes come so imperceptibly that the local resident is unaware of them. It takes the visit of a Classmate voicing his resentful astonishment, to make one realize the trolley cars have gone and that Davy Hoy and Teefy Crane have departed from our lives.

It's disturbing to have the first football game steal up on one unheralded by the successive, preliminary arrivals of the Student Laundry agents, the representatives of the Cornell Daily Sun, the athletic compets, the squad, and the professors back from Europe. On one September Saturday, one goes to the golf course, and on the next to Schoellkopf Field to sit among total strangers and vainly search the program for one familiar name. It's like Christmas in the tropics, with nothing about one to indicate it is indeed Christmas except a rather unconvincing calendar.

One goes to the first football game, of course, clutching at any fixed point to tie to. He will not find it on the field or in the stands about him. New faces appear in the Colonnade boxes. Farrand, Treman, Blood, Frank Lehigh, DuPratt White, Uncle Billy Morris, Mynderse Van Cleef, Colonel Sackett; you can call the long roll over and over without one single echo of response!

At this point it would be premature for the despondent alumnus to cut his throat or howl like a lost dog. Instead, let your eye shift away from the immediate scene and swing off to the blue, September haze in the Inlet Valley and the unchanging skyline of Connecticut Hill. Now the alumnal Rip Van Winkle is on firm ground again. The red mites down there on the field are Wyckoff, Beacham, Starbuck, Kaw. The Colonnade boxes are filled with familiar ghosts, and it's again possible to purchase imaginary Lucky Strikes from the peanut venders.

And there you have, I think, the peculiar genius of Cornell: the relation of the University to the place where someone was inspired to put it. At a dozen other foundations, the inquiring student may equally well glean the little knowledge that one needs in order to do his own thinking. But at what other university can he look up from his book when he is confused by changes—new interpretations of history, about-faces in economic theory, new names for old things—and instantly regain his sure footing in the contemplation of the eternal hills? Where else can one so quickly leave the lecture room to check his astronomy by the stars, his geology by the record written in the gorges and the hanging valleys, restore his faith in the life everlasting by the observation of the annual resurrection of hepatics and bloodroot along the coast of Beebe Lake?

Wars are bound to be disruptive things. They upset the orderly habits of scholars and university communities. They destroy the settled conclusions that it has taken a lifetime to come to. Newly-discovered evidence even removes one's comforting prejudices against foreign nations, individuals, and forms of government. Over the rubble of shattered academic traditions, the Ithaca Post of the American Legion moves up the Hill to occupy the Zeta Psi House!

But not all the wartime changes are in the direction of novelty. Some tend to restore wholesome customs of the past. The departure of undergraduate cars seems to have revived the Sunday afternoon walk to Turkey Hill and Buttermilk as a means of recreation and courtship. The fumble has been restored to football. Once more you can pick one up and run with it to a winning touchdown and eternal celebrity.

We dread the return of peace and the visiting alumnus. The latter will find so much to resent in the changes that a military occupation made inescapable. But he'll get along, I think, if he ties to the reassuring unchangeables. There's still the autumn haze in the Inlet Valley and Connecticut Hill behind it. And if he'll only close his eyes to what's underfoot, anybody who ever absorbed the true essence of Cornell can still hear the unchanging music of bells in his heart.

Slants on Sports

By Bill Haters '27

Cornell 39, Syracuse 6

CORNELL'S veteran football team outclassed Syracuse, 39-6, in a night game at Syracuse September 23, broke the Archbold Stadium jinx, and spoiled the Orange's return to the intercollegiate sport after a year's absence from the gridiron. It was strictly no contest from the outset as Cornell scored four touchdowns running and two passing against Syracuse's inexperienced "freshman" eleven and thereby won its first contest on the Syracuse field.

Cornell opened its season with co-captains elected the night before the game: Frank J. Accorsi, USNR, of Latrobe, Pa., fullback, and Grant R. Ellis, USMCR, of Kenilworth, Ill., left guard. Both won the "C" last year.

Robeson, sixteen-year-old Freshman, kicked off for Cornell and dropped the ball into Dolan's arms on the 5-yard line. Syracuse employed the T formation, for which Cornell was well prepared by special practice against a scrub team drilled in that style of play by Ensign John Petty, USNR, former Purdue and Chicago Bears player now stationed at the Naval Training School at the University.

Cornell yielded one first down, and Dekdebrun returned a quick kick to Cornell's 42. Employing reverses with Wingback Scherr carrying the ball behind deadly blocking in the line and devastating interference through the secondary, Cornell rolled to Syracuse's 13-yard line in five plays. Here Merkel of Syracuse recovered Accorsi's fumble. A kick and a penalty set Cornell back to its 22-yard line.

Four plays produced a touchdown. Accorsi spun through center for ten yards, Scherr reversed through left tackle for seventeen, Accorsi cracked the line for nineteen, and Robeson, on Cornell's famed end-around play, scored from the Syracuse 32-yard line, sweeping around the right flank. Robeson failed to placekick the point.

Cornell started another drive, employing reverses and straight off-tackle sweeps, that carried over into the second period. Once Dekdebrun took to the air, running wide to his right and leaping high as he threw to Scherr who slipped and fell on Syracuse's 10-yard line: a gain of twenty-three yards. Cornell smashed to the 1-yard-line, but was set back to the 6-yard mark for offside play. On fourth down Dekdebrun passed and missed, and Syracuse took the ball.

The teams traded punts, and Syracuse ran a play from its 12-yard line. Dolan was pushed back almost to the goal line, when he suddenly broke loose for forty yards. Then Henry R. Russell, USNR, in for Accorsi at fullback, intercepted Baysinger's pass at midfield. Cornell scored in four plays, Scherr racing across on a reverse through left tackle from the 37-yard line. Alex Drogin, USNR, in for Dekdebrun, missed the placekick for the point.

A fumble by Epstein of Syracuse on the kickoff was recovered by Scherr on the Syracuse 28. Scherr, Russell, and Drogin put the ball over in six plays, Drogin scoring from the 3-yard line. Robeson converted.

Another Syracuse fumble by Cohen, recovered by Hrtko on the Syracuse 10-yard line, set up Cornell's fourth touchdown. John W. Cullen, USNR, another reserve halfback in for Drogin, circled end twice, each time for five yards, to score. Drogin missed the extra point.

Syracuse played its best ball early in the third period and against Cornell's regulars who returned to the game. From its 29-yard line, Syracuse rolled to a score, with Baysinger and Acocella, an end, completing three passes, one good for forty-four yards, to score a touchdown. The score came from the 7-yard line, with Acocella taking a pass from Baysinger in the end zone. Baysinger's try for the point was blocked.

Cornell took the kickoff, moved to midfield, kicked, and gained another scoring opportunity on Baysinger's fumble. Williams recovered on the Syracuse 23. Two plays were enough. Dekdebrun ran to the 16, then passed to Scherr for the touchdown. Robeson converted.

Syracuse threatened twice early in the fourth period, with Cornell holding for downs on the 4- and 9-yard lines. From the 9-yard line, Cornell moved inexorably overland for its final touchdown with Drogin, Russell, and Frank N. McArthur, USMCR, halfback, carrying. Drogin, who turned in one twenty-six-yard dash through center, scored from the 2-yard line. Robeson converted.

The statistics backed up the superiority shown in the score, which was the widest margin since the 39-0 victory of 1894. Cornell made eighteen first downs to six for Syracuse, gained (net) 395 yards to 149, and completed four of seven passes as against six of twenty-two. Cornell intercepted three passes, Syracuse none. Only in punting did Syracuse have the edge.

Approximately 20,000 persons saw the game. It was Cornell's fifteenth victory in the twenty-one game series.

Soccer Wins Two

SOCCKER team won two September games without yielding a score. Playing home-and-home with the University of Rochester, Cornell won 6-0 at Rochester, September 16, and 2-0 on lower Alumni Field, September 23.

Ekegren topped the scorers in the first game with three goals, Rivero getting two and Bailey one.

Crews at Cambridge

CORNELL crews, in a fall regatta, lost to MIT and beat Harvard in two races on the Charles River at Cambridge, Mass., September 23. The Varsity trailed by three-quarters of a length, with Harvard another two and one-quarter lengths behind. The Junior Varsity lost by only a quarter-length, with Harvard three and three-quarters lengths in the rear.

The times for the Henley distance of a mile and five-sixteenths:

Varsity—MIT 7:07.3; Cornell 7:10.2; Harvard 7:25.

Junior Varsity—MIT 7:12.4; Cornell 7:13; Harvard 7:22.

The crews rowed with a wind blowing from the port side and with a light chop on the water. Cornell used shells and oars provided by the home crews.

The Cornell boatings:

Varsity—Bow, William Packard, USNR; 2, Paul R. McCormick, USNR; 3, John P. Fraser, USNR; 4, Donald R. Peirce '46, USNR; 5,

James P. Wiles, USNR; 6, Captain Pedro C. Towers '45; 7, Jerrold F. Finch '46, USNR; stroke, William B. Richardson, USNR; coxswain, William G. Papsco, USNR.

Junior Varsity—Bow, Joseph H. Butler, USNR; 2, Arthur W. Beale, Jr., '46, USNR; 3, Ralph T. Davis '44, USNR; 4, John H. Rasch, USNR; 5, George Fearn, USNR; 6, Robert Reitz, USNR; 7, Robert J. Miller, USNR; stroke, Richard Randolph '48; coxswain, Alan S. Markham '47.

Captain Towers, Richardson, Wiles, Fraser, McCormick, Packard, Papsco, Miller, Rasch, and Butler were on the spring squad.

Addenda

A dual meet with Sampson Naval Training Station has been added to the cross country schedule. The race will be held at Ithaca, October 14.

Add trials and tribulations of the Director of Athletics: Twice now, youngsters have been discovered prying the metal numbers from the wooden seats in the Crescent. They wanted to use them for "dog tags."

Bernays Lectures

CHAIRMAN James L. Fly of the Federal Communications Commission, speaking on "Freedom of Speech and the Press" in the third Edward L. Bernays Lecture on Civil Liberties September 20 in Olin Hall, called radio "the only practical mechanism of free speech," and warned against "monopolistic controls in the field of news-gathering and distribution."

"Restraints on competition in the market place of thought are grave and numerous," Fly declared. "The pipelines of thought are now controlled by a combination of chains: press associations and syndicates, magazine giants, Hollywood, and the radio, cutting down diversity of news control to a perilous degree." The speaker named "the guiding geniuses of these agencies: the Hearsts, the Howards, the McCormicks, the Gannetts, the Wallaces, the Luces, the Mayers, the Warners, the Grif-fises, the Sarnoffs, the Paleys, and the Nobles."

The FCC head declared that one-third of the radio stations in this country are owned by the various press interests. "Powerful advertisers select their own radio commentators and sometimes a single chain dominates the press and radio in a single city. "Diversity," he said, "is a better safeguard of a free speech and press than the vain hope of unbiased reporting." Fly described some of the steps taken by his Commission to alleviate this concentration of control, and said "freedom of speech is a duty rather than a right."

In the second lecture of the series, September 13, Max Lerner, editor of PM, speaking on "Freedom: Image and Reality," said that "the individual is the core of the whole problem of civil liberties. But while freedom exists for the individual alone, it can be achieved only by the machinery of community action."

Lerner spoke of "a three-pronged attack on freedom in America today:" discrimination against Negroes, Jews, and Japanese-Americans on the West Coast. He warned against the "police state" in America, saying that the Government's present "surveillance state" calls for "a dossier on every writer and commentator in the country, every teacher of prominence, every trade-union official."

Each lecturer spent a day in Ithaca, and was entertained by Professor Robert E. Cushman, Government, in charge of the series, President Day, and other members of the Faculty. Fly paid a visit to the studios of the University station WHCU. Both speakers were introduced by President Day to overflow crowds in Olin Hall.

The Cornell University Press will publish the five Bernays Lectures, probably in late December.

Talk Engineering

FORTY Cornellians active in the management and direction of large industrial enterprises met for dinner by invitation at the Cornell Club of New York September 19, with President Edmund E. Day, Maxwell M. Upson '99 of the University planning and development committee, and Dean S. C. Hollister of the College of Engineering. There was general discussion of the needs of the Engineering College, with special reference to the program for new buildings at the south end of the Campus, of which Olin Hall is the first. Similar dinner meetings are being planned in other cities.

Women Defy Storm

CORNELL Women's Club of West-ern Connecticut held a supper meeting September 15 in Westport, at the home of Mrs. Allan H. Mogensen (Adele Dean) '23, president of the Club.

The hurricane had cut off light, water, and cooling facilities, but the eight members present report "a fine time." Next meeting will be October 19 at the Darien home of Mrs. Richard Seipt (Virginia Barthel) '32.

University Establishes Office Of Veterans' Education

BY LOREN C. PETRY, DIRECTOR

TRUSTEES of the University June 26 established an Office of Veterans' Education on a temporary basis, and appointed a director for one year. For the present, the office is housed in Rooms 248 and 249 of the Plant Science Building, but about October 15 it will move to the University house at 13 East Avenue, formerly occupied by the late Professor Albert W. Smith '78 and his family.

July 15, President Day appointed Dean Cornelius Betten, PhD '06, and, Professor Walter L. Conwell '09, C. Douglas Darling, Frederick G. Marcham, PhD '36, Paul M. O'Leary, PhD '29, and Andrew L. Winsor, PhD '29, to act as an advisory committee on veterans' education with the director as chairman. September 1, the President appointed Professor G. Eric Peabody '18 to serve as acting director during the absence of the director from September 5-25. September 7, at request of the Veterans' Administration, the President authorized establishment of a Vocational Advisement and Guidance Center as part of the University Office of Veterans' Education and appointed Professor Winsor to direct it. In short, we are open for business.

And the business pours in! More than 300 letters have come in since July 1, nearly half from men still in service. University registration for the summer term includes 112 veterans—two women, one an ex-captain of the WAC, and 110 men, three of whom have had overseas service. Fifty applications for benefits under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944, commonly called the G. I. Bill of Rights, have been transmitted to the regional office of the Veterans' Administration in Batavia, and certification of eligibility has been received for ten of these, with more to come. Four veterans assigned to Cornell for rehabilitation training are registered this term.

Our letters from veterans recently discharged or still in service give the first real information about the problems which the Office of Veterans' Education is supposed to tackle. For the most part, the problems are those about which so much has been written in the last six months, but there are some unexpected ones.

The questions of former students who plan to return are usually two, both easy to answer. To re-enter the College from which they withdrew to go into service, they apply either to the University Director of Admissions, Dr. Eugene F. Bradford, or directly to the College office. To establish their eligibility for benefits under the G. I. Bill, they fill out and return a form which my office sends them; but only after they are discharged, for a copy of the discharge must accompany the form.

Men who had just graduated from high school, or were still in high school when called up, ask about admission to the University. These letters go to Dr. Bradford along with letters from men who were registered in another university and now wish to transfer to Cornell.

Many ask about the courses offered. These we answer with the appropriate College Announcements and a letter of explanation and an invitation to ask further questions if the answer is not sufficient. Secretary Edward K. Graham, PhD '38, has prepared a complete and detailed booklet of Information for Service Men which will be mailed shortly to all Cornellians known to have left the University for war service and put into the hands of others interested. Service men who write to this office will all be sent this booklet.

Alumni ask about the chances of employment. These letters go to Herbert H. Williams '25, Director of the University Placement Service.

Advise on G. I. Bill

Nearly all letters ask in one way or another about the provisions of the Servicemen's Readjustment Act. To answer this question, we send a two-page statement of the pertinent parts of the law, interpreting it for the particular case, but making it clear that all decisions on eligibility under the Act are made by the Veterans' Administration and not by the University. When the inquiry is from a discharged veteran, an application form is sent with the reply. Others are asked to write again immediately on discharge. If the provisions of the law do not seem to cover a case, a tentative ruling is obtained from the Batavia office of the Veterans' Administration and sent on to the inquirer.

So far, inquiries about refresher courses and other special courses are few. The correspondence to date is probably not a fair sample, but it indicates that the great majority of returning service men plan to fit into the usual college curriculum and schedule. They want the opportunity for continuous work offered by the present accelerated program, but by no means all of them expect to attend continuously.

Other Offices Aid

The Office of Veterans' Education is open for business, in cooperation with all the old established offices of the University. Send your questions about entrance credits, admission, credit for work done while in service, admission with advanced standing from another institution, and readmission of returning old students direct to Dr. E. F. Bradford, Director of Admissions, Morrill Hall. Send your questions about employment during the college course and after graduation to Director Herbert H. Williams '25 of the University Placement Service, Willard Straight Hall. And send all the rest of the questions about the returning serviceman's relations to the University to this office. Chances are that we may not know the answers, but we are being paid to find them.

Fund Reports By States

NEW YORK State, with 24,634 Cornellians of known addresses, leads all others in gifts to the 1943-44 Alumni Fund, with $69,757. from 3,451 contributors. A study of the geographical distribution of contributors to last year's Fund shows that New Jersey was second in amount with $18,021., followed by Pennsylvania with $17,173., the latter State having four more Cornellians than New Jersey. Fourth place with $10,331. was taken by Illinois, which ranks sixth in number of alumni, and Ohio was fifth in amount with $9,115., although fourth in number of resident Cornellians.

In number of contributors, the first five States were New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and California. In percentage of Cornell residents who contributed, those of smaller alumni population came into prominence, Delaware leading with 29.8 percent, followed by Nevada, 25 per cent; Alabama, 22.5; West Virginia, 21.6; Wisconsin, 21.2; and Michigan, 21.1 per cent.

To supplement the efforts of Class committees in States with relatively few Cornellians, and especially to increase the number of Alumni Fund contributors, Matthew Carey '15, now president of the Fund Council, last year organized a geographical coordinating committee with the following State chairmen thus far appointed: George H. Barnes '14, Andalusia, Ala.; Archibald B. Morrison '01, Miami, Fla.; Dr. Charles C. Rife '24, Atlanta, Ga.; Otho M. Clark '14, Louisville, Ky.; Albert F. Fritchie '15, Baton Rouge, La.; Maurice W. Howe '16, St. Louis, Mo.; J. Lawrence Cooke '34, Omaha, Nebr.; Howard E. Babcock, Jr. '36, Roswell, N. Mex.; Irving Perrine '07, Oklahoma City, Okla.; Henry W. Wessinger '10, Portland, Ore.; Tracy B. Augur '17, Norris, Tenn.; Charles C. Bintz '12, Salt Lake City, Utah; Julian J. Hast '15, Wheeling, W. Va.

In the following geographical tabulation for the 1943-44 Alumni Fund, the "Number of Alumni" column includes only those who were undergraduates at the University and for whom the Alumni Office has current addresses.

Time Was . . .

Twenty-five Years Ago

October, 1919—War honors: Professor Othon G. Guerlac, Romance Languages, private in the French Army, Legion of Honor for his work in the French Foreign Office . . . Major Charles F. Cook '06, Ordnance, Distinguished Service Medal (posthumous) for working out a plan adopted by the General Staff for its division of purchase, storage, and traffic; Major Cook died of influenza January 1, 1919 . . . First Lieutenant Lee S. Hultzen '18, Infantry, Distinguished Service Cross, Croix de Guerre, and Legion of Honor for holding his objective near St. Mihiel with three captured German machine guns and, although wounded, cleaning out an enemy pill box . . . First Lieutenant Edward E. Conroy '20, USMC, Croix de Guerre for repulsing with his rifle an enemy raid in Belleau Wood.

First Lieutenant Morris G. Bishop '14, Infantry, liaison officer on detached service in France and secretary of the American Relief Administration to Finland since last March, was discharged from the Army September 3.

Fifteen Years Ago

October, 1929—University Trustee Myron C. Taylor '94, recent donor of $1,500,000 for a new Law School building, has completed the financial reorganization of one of America's largest corporations, US Steel. He is also credited with engineering the consolidation of the Guarantee Trust Co. and National Bank of Commerce in New York City. Earlier achievements were reorganizing the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. and the heavy cotton fabric industry.

Hu Shih '14, founder of the literary renaissance in China, is charged by the Chinese Nationalist Party with "having publicly insulted the late leader of the party, Sun Yat Sen, and destructively criticized his ideals, which must be considered an act of treason against the government and the people." The party's executive committee "recommends Dr. Hu's arrest and severe punishment," apparently overlooking his criticism of living Chinese statesmen; Dr. Hu has recently pointed out that President Chiang Kai-shek, "after conquering all China, has not yet kept his promise to give Chinese citizens a Bill of Rights."

Campaign in Detroit

PRESIDENTIAL symposium on "Roosevelt or Dewey," conducted by "Logicians" Matthew Carey '15 and Henry E. Epley '03, was announced for the first fall luncheon of the Cornell Club of Michigan, September 14 at the Harmonie Society in Detroit.

It is reported that the Republican speaker "won the first round," but a "haymaker" from Opponent Carey was promised for the next weekly luncheon, September 21.

How Well Do You Know Cornell? CAN YOU IDENTIFY THIS PICTURE?

THIS is the second in our series of "Campus close-ups," designed to test your knowledge of the University today.

To the subscriber who submits the MOST COMPLETE AND POSITIVE IDENTIFICATION of this picture, not later than October 15, 1944, the Alumni News and University Press will send a free copy of Professor Carl Becker's absorbing account, Cornell University: Founders and the Founding. This book is being enjoyed by hundreds of Cornellians; it sells regularly at $2.75.

If you think you know where the accompanying picture was taken, send your description to the Alumni News, naming the object pictured, telling exactly where it is located, and giving briefly such other information as may aid your identification. Your letter must bear date and sender's name and address, and must be received by the News on or before October 15 to receive consideration. The Alumni News staff shall determine the winner, and its decision shall be final. In the event of a tie, winning identification will be determined by lot.

No person who lives within twenty-five miles of Ithaca is eligible to compete.

Winner's name and correct identification of this picture will appear in the Alumni News of November 1.

Opportunity for All

NOW for the first time in the long history of organized Cornell alumni activity, every alumnus has a voice in the operation of general alumni affairs. The ballot which will shortly come to you at home, under the revised by-laws of the Cornell Alumni Association, gives every Cornellian an opportunity to vote for his regional representative on the Association's directing board. The new procedure provides the first truly representative direction of alumni activities since the Associate Alumni of Cornell University was organized, in 1872.

It is true that vice-presidents of that first alumni organization were provided to be elected by each graduating Class. But active direction of the organization was vested in an executive committee composed of the principal officers and two other members, all of whom were elected at the annual Commencement meeting in Ithaca. Later, as the number of graduating Classes increased, provision was made that each succeeding group of five Classes should have a vice-president, and a board of directors of five was still elected at annual meetings, together with the president and treasurer. By 1914, it was provided that directors could be nominated by local Cornell Clubs or groups of alumni, with the number of directors increased and certain regional restrictions imposed. But the elected directors were still chosen by the relatively few Cornellians who could attend the annual alumni meetings, either as delegates from Clubs or Classes or as individual members of the organization.

When the Cornell Alumni Corporation succeeded the Associate Alumni in 1923, provision was specifically made for directors to represent geographical districts, but the election of these directors continued to be reserved to those alumni who should attend the business meetings of the Corporation, now transferred to fall conventions instead of at the Commencement meetings in June. The same provision for voting only by alumni who attended meetings was continued when the present Cornell Alumni Association was formed in 1939. Now all alumni may vote for district directors by mail.

Every person who has ever enrolled in Cornell University and whose entering Class has graduated, and all who have registered in the Graduate School, are members of the Cornell Alumni Association. and are thus entitled to vote. There are no membership fees or dues.

The seven district directors of the Association will take their places on the directing board along with the presidents of the Alumni Fund Council, the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs, a Federation of Men's Cornell Clubs when organized; presidents of the eight present alumni organizations of the separate Colleges and Departments; two representatives of the Association of Class Secretaries; the chairman of the ALUMNI NEWS committee; chairman and vice-chairman of the committee on secondary schools; and two other directors elected by the board. These directors elect the officers of the Association.

The district directors as a group constitute an important working committee of the Alumni Association with responsibility to "promote coordination between the districts and such organization, procedure, and developments within the several districts as may be found desirable in advancing alumni interest and activity." An early job of this committee it is hoped may be the organization of the proposed Federation of Men's Cornell Clubs. The chairman of the committee of district directors is a member of the executive committee of ten members which carries on the business of the Alumni Association between the semi-annual meetings of the directors.

The Cornell Alumni Association is organized "to promote a continuing alumni interest in the welfare of the University and to coordinate all alumni activities; to serve as the general alumni organization of Cornell University, embracing in its membership all alumni of the University; and to maintain the administrative agency and executive personnel needed to provide for a continuity of alumni activity and interest." It brings together all the separate specialized alumni organizations, and through its working committees of qualified alumni it directs publication of the ALUMNI NEWS, now owned by the Association; undertakes the nomination of suitable candidates for election as Alumni Trustees of the University; fosters the activities of College and Departmental alumni organizations; aids and encourages activities of local Cornell Clubs of both men and women; works with local alumni and with the University in developing cordial relations with secondary schools and attracting desirable students to Cornell; advises with the University Placement Service on alumni placement and job counselling; and serves as the general clearing house between alumni and the University.

Your ballot for election of your district director makes you a link in this important chain of University-alumni relationships. The candidates are proposed by representative nominating committees of Cornellians in your district, after careful canvasses to find persons fully qualified and willing to undertake the job for Cornell. It behooves all of us to exercise the important franchise we have this year for the first time.

On The Campus and Down the Hill

Student conduct committee has placed on probation for one year an unnamed fraternity chapter "because it had failed to live up to its responsibility in the conduct of a houseparty." The fraternity "may not conduct any social event in or outside the chapter house during that time." The official General Information Number cites as the University's "one rule governing the conduct of students, 'A student is expected to show, both within and without the University, unfailing respect for order, morality, personal honor, and the rights of others,'" and points out that "a student may at any time be removed from the University if, in the opinion of the Committee on Student Conduct, his presence is not conducive to the University's best interests."

Injured in an automobile accident on the way to Syracuse September 25, George F. Rogalsky '07, Treasurer of the University, was taken to University Hospital in Syracuse with a fractured knee. He drove off the road to avoid hitting a truck, and crashed into a telegraph pole.

Open House at Balch September 9 is discussed by two sailors in The Summer Bulletin column, "Aweigh and Ashore:" "Guests were allowed to be shown to the very hidden confines of the young ladies' quarters. The Open House meant just that—rooms were open to visitors. Girls had to clean up, things had to be shipshape, drawers (bureau) squared away. Of course, the guests weren't allowed to circulate at will—the VP's kept close tab on who went where."

Two bull barns, laboratory and office building to cost $80,000 are being built on the Judd Falls Road south of the University Fish Hatchery, where the New York State Artificial Breeders' Co-operative will move its headquarters from Syracuse. Harold L. Creal '19 of Homer is president of the Co-operative, founded in 1941, which plans to maintain some sixty Holstein and Guernsey bulls to be used for breeding dairy herds of the State. Three new Extension instructors in Animal Husbandry have been appointed, and a research instructor will aid the staff in artificial breeding of dairy cattle. Professor Glenn W. Salisbury, PhD '34, Animal Husbandry, directs research activities, and Professor Stanley J. Brownell, Animal Husbandry, is Extension project leader in the artificial breeding program. The new research laboratory, "unequalled anywhere in the world," is the subject of an article in the September Farm Journal and Farmer's Wife.

Willard Straight Hall board of managers has elected to the board Apprentice Seamen Wallace A. Knight '47 of Little Valley, R. Fitz Randolph '46 of Ithaca, and Jay L. Miller. Representatives of the USMA Preps and other Army and civilian groups will be added later. Randolph is also head of the six-man cheerleading squad which made its first appearance at the football game in Syracuse.

Johnny Parson Club on Beebe Lake, closed for a month while the help was on vacation, is now open for food and dancing from 7:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. every day but Monday. The 11 p.m. closing hour will be restored with the beginning of the fall term in November.

'47 Class president is Apprentice Seaman Robert J. Herm, USNR, of Elmhurst.

CURW student board has elected Mary E. Allen '45 of Proctor, Vt., president, succeeding Robert A. Lopez '45 of New York City. New secretary of the board is Adam P. Friederich '46 of Rochester.

Commencement address at the fourth graduating class of the Midshipman's School, September 20 in Bailey Hall, was delivered by Captain Arthur S. Adams, USN (Ret.), officer in charge, administrative section, training division, Bureau of Naval Personnel, and Provost-elect of the University. Captain and Mrs. Adams spent two days in Ithaca as guests of the University in Myron Taylor Hall Tower.

BIG WEEKEND this was to be! Eight fraternities planned houseparties; the "traditions committee" of the Student Council announced an old-time football pep rally on Schoellkopf Field September 29; the Navy's Seven Bells Club followed with a carnival in Bacon Cage; and you've already heard about "Boys 'N Ivy," the variety show in Bailey Hall, and Charlie Spivak in Barton Hall for the Autumn Formal (the traditions committee missed a bet on that one! In past years, when dances were called anything from Pigskin Prom and Pumpkin Prance to Green Glide and Harvard Hop, this one would never have been called Autumn Formal!)

City Hall siren will notify residents of Ithaca with five thirty-second blasts that Hitler has cried Uncle! The Mayor hopes, however, "that Ithacans will make that day one for work and worship." Thirteen local churches have announced plans for V-Day prayer and thanksgiving services. There is talk of closing bars for a twenty-four-hour period.

Radio Guild officers for the summer term are Apprentice Seaman Burt E. Nichols '45, USNR, of Wellesley Hills, Mass., president; Norbert W. Burlis '47 of St. Louis, Mo., vice-president and station manager; Mrs. Sophie Werman Saperstone '44 of Watkins Glen, secretary; and Muriel Salman '46 of New York City, treasurer.

Track athletes, coaches, and devotees met for a Spiked Shoe dinner at the Alhambra, September 9, to honor Professor Bristow Adams, Extension Service in Agriculture, Emeritus, who has been Faculty adviser for track some twenty-five years. Edward G. Ratkoski '35, assistant track coach, was toastmaster, and speakers included Coach John F. Moakley, Robert J. Kane '34, Director of Physical Education and Athletics, and Professor Paul M. O'Leary, PhD '29, Economics.

Paper salvage in Ithaca September 17 netted eighty tons. 125 volunteer harvesters, manning thirty loaned trucks, scoured the city and township, despite the protest advanced a second time by four local ministers, now joined by the WCTU, against another Sunday morning collection.

Poliomyelitis struck Dr. Frank J. McCormick '10 last month, when a "mild case" of the illness put him in Syracuse General Hospital.

The Faculty

President Edmund E. Day spoke on the importance of American liberties under the Bill of Rights and individual responsibilities under such rights, on the radio program "Victory F. O.B.," from Station WHCU, Ithaca, September 9, over the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Professor Robert E. Cushman, Government, is one of four educators named by the War Department and the Historical Service Board of the American Historical Association to select topics for "GI Roundtable Booklets." The Army will distribute about fifty such pamphlets on "subjects of interest to the American soldier" to promote discussion groups among soldiers and to aid the soldier in adjusting to his problems.

Professor Richard Bradfield, Agronomy, has leave of absence during September and October to help organize a program of agronomic research for Mexico. He is a member of a Mexican agricultural commission set up by the Rockefeller Foundation, following a report which he and three other scientists made to the Foundation three years ago. His present work deals with the maintenance of land in Mexico for crop production.

Mary E. Cornell, granddaughter of the Founder and a head resident at Balch Halls for fifteen years, retired July 1, but continued her duties for the first eight weeks of the Summer Session. Miss Cornell came to the University from the Virginia State Normal School, Harrisonburg, Va., where she was supervisor of practical teaching. She was head resident of Sage College during the Summer Session of 1929, and in September, when the Balch Halls were opened to undergraduate women, she became head resident in Unit I. August 19, before leaving Ithaca, Miss Cornell was given a dinner party by her students in Balch, attended by the girls in formal attire and by a few of her old friends. She is now visiting friends in Albany, and expects later to live with her sister, Mrs. Daniel O. Dechert, at 17 Gramercy Park South, New York City.

News of the Alumni

Personal items and newspaper clippings about all Cornellians are earnestly solicited

'91 BS—Henry H. Sanger, chairman of the board, Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit, Mich., writes that he was surprised to see his name mentioned in the News as one carved on the unexplained Class cane which has recently come to light at Alumni House and bears signatures of representatives from the Classes of '71 through '99. Recalling nothing about the cane, he can give no explanation of its existence.

'96 BS in Arch; '26 BS, '34 PhD—Samuel R. DeLong of Bergen has been noted by the College of Agriculture as one of the outstanding gardeners of the State. Completely paralyzed in his left side as the result of a stroke six years ago, he has worked six to eight hours daily in his garden; has dug three-fourths of it with a spading fork, planted and cared for it, and raised a very successful crop—all from a chair and using only his right hand. Having a special interest in disease and insect control, DeLong has observed and noted insect habits and characteristics and has corresponded concerning his observations with Professor William E. Blauvelt '26, Entomology, Extension.

future welfare of Mexico depends on the diffusion throughout the country of the principles and practices that have been so successful in this experiment.

'16 ME; '20; '19 AB—Cover picture on Time, September 11, is of Leroy R. Grumman and the issue runs an article comprehensively covering the development and activities of Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corp. at Bethpage, of which he is president. Leon A. Swirbul '20, vice-president and general manager, joined Grumman in 1929 in forming the aircraft repair shop which has "exploded" into the present huge plant turning out Hellcats, Avengers, and Wildcats for the Navy. Working in an off-hand and informal manner, ignoring red tape and big business appurtenances, Grumman and Swirbul have, Time reports, delivered more combat planes than any other single plant in the United States, and the Navy attributes much of its success against the Japanese to Grumman's design and production record. "If," says Time, "the Navy can afford to keep only one plane company in business [after the war], that company will be Grumman." Grumman and Mrs. Grumman, the former Rose M. Werther '19, have four children and live in Plandome.

'35 BS—Captain William C. Haynes, Army Medical Corps, is with a base hospital in New Guinea. He writes, "So far my life in New Guinea has been uneventful, in fact, rather monotonous. We are some distance from the actual combat area, so our greatest danger lies in getting stuck in the mud . . . The most ferocious animal I've seen so far is an eight-inch centipede. . . This being Australian territory we drive on the left side of the road, use pence, shillings, florins, and pounds, and say 'Austrylia.' I've spoken to only a few Aussies. They do not seem to understand us. They think we are too sentimental and some of our humor is beyond them . . . The temperature is very even and only uncomfortable if you work; I'm never uncomfortable." Haynes' home is at 422 West Main Street, Waterloo.

'36, '37 AB—Major Robert N. Denniston, Army Intelligence, is handling press censorship with the Seventh Army in Southern France. He went overseas in February and has had similar duty in North Africa, the Anzio beachhead, Naples, and Rome. His home is at 113 East Seneca Street, Ithaca; and the Ithaca Journal has printed excerpts from his letters from France telling of French patriots cleaning Nazi sympathizers out of liberated Marseilles, of the abandoned wreckage left all over the countryside by the Germans, and of his pleasant visit to the home of an eighty-two-year-old French woman who had remained at her home near Toulon throughout the German occupation.

'36, '37 BS—Technical Sergeant ★ Gordon L. Eckley of Mamaroneck is in the South Pacific Area "making life more bearable for lower ranking dog faces." He writes, "The purpose of our small group is to make known the methods of preparation of the foods available (dehydrated, canned, fresh, native) so that the American soldier in the SWPA is the best fed man in the world. I also inform the men of the forward areas how to make what they need from materials available, and what plants and animals can be useful to them."

He writes, "Working with the Germans and speaking with them, I am sometimes surprised by their belief in their ultimate victory, when it should seem obvious to them that Germany cannot possibly win the war. They are allowed to read American newspapers and listen to the radio, but they believe that it is all propaganda. . . . Prisoners who were captured in Cherbourg are not as strongly pro-Nazi and show signs of weakening, but those captured earlier, in the North African campaign and in Italy, are still as strongly behind Hitler as they were before the defeats in France. It is my belief that these are the ones who will give the most trouble when the war is over. They have been protected from the truth and therefore their disillusionment has not been complete. When they return to Germany they will form the nucleus for a new German army setting out to conquer the world."

WE'RE quite encouraged about the first Co-op Column which appeared here last month. We received a few orders and one fan letter from an old friend and Cornell alumnus who is fighting with the Navy in the battle of New Haven. The Cornell football team is going up there to help him out, October 7.

By the way, if you want a schedule of all the battles which have been arranged for the football and soccer teams, just drop a penny post card to The Co-op and we will mail one to you together with a lot of advertising which you can throw away. The schedule fits the pocket.

Quite a few Cornellians with shaky memories have sent in orders for the Cornell Songbook so they will know the words of the Cornell songs that they sing after football games. They're quite a help, words and music: $2 postpaid.

The most popular mail-order item seems to be those white T shirts with Cornell insignia processed on the chest. We've mailed them all over the country. They are 89c and the sizes are small, medium, or large. We suggest the small size for Junior, to get his mind off going to Princeton.

We had a few cold days last week so we got out the George Doll stock of Sweaters—you remember he was noted for his sweaters. How about a white baby shaker-knit pullover with long sleeves and crew neck? Two qualities, $6.50 and $5.00.

And that's all for this time, except a cordial invitation to visit The Co-op if you get back for a game this fall.

Friends are the salt of life . . . for hotels as well as for people . . . and the hotel that makes friends and keeps them is the hotel that goes on for generation after generation.

The Grosvenor is second home to many Cornellians. Members of their families have been coming in and out of its doors for a half century. They like its smart up-to-dateness and its old-fashioned courtesy; its attractive spacious rooms, air-conditioned dining-rooms and exclusive address. They say its cuisine and service are tops and they recommend it to their friends.

From our side of the fence we root for Cornell, cheer Cornellians, and make them right welcome. We, too, have long memories and pleasant ones.

A WELCOME HAND TO BELL SYSTEM WAR VETERANS

Some day we shall have the pleasure of welcoming back to the Bell System the men and women who are now in the armed forces. They number more than 55,000. Some 3500 released from service are already back with us. We shall have a warm welcome for the rest as they join us again. Not only shall we be glad to see them personally but we shall be glad of their skill and energy for the big tasks which face the Bell System in the future.
