TO CORPORATE OFFICERS:

Quality, a word too often built up, is built into both the Gulfstream and its Rolls-Royce Dart engines. This modern aircraft, with fail-safe construction, typifies the reliability inherent in Grumman products for 29 years; while the engines have already been proved by millions of hours of airline operation. The achievements by these two leaders in their respective fields assure you of quality and safety in a true sense of the word.

The new Grumman Gulfstream, the optimum in executive transportation, features high air speed, pressurization and short field characteristics designed specifically to meet your corporate flying requirements.

EXPANDING THE FRONTIERS OF SPACE TECHNOLOGY

Lockheed Missile Systems Division is engaged in all areas of scientific activity — from concept to operation — in missile and space technology.

Important basic research and development work is being conducted in such fields as advanced systems research; nucleonics; physics; chemistry; mathematics; metallurgy; design; test; electronics; aerothermodynamics; gas dynamics; structures; and astrodynamics. Programs under investigation at Lockheed include: man in space; space communications; space physics; re-entry; ionic and nuclear propulsion; cryogenics; magnetohydrodynamics; oceanography; computer development; noise suppression and damage; materials and processes; boundary layer control; electromagnetic wave propagation and radiation; and operations research and analysis.

The Division is systems manager for such major, long-term projects as the Navy Polaris IRBM; Discoverer Satellite; Army Kingfisher; Air Force Q-5 and X-7 and other important research and development programs.

Headquarters for the Division are at Sunnyvale, California, on the San Francisco Peninsula, and research and development facilities are in the Stanford Industrial Park in Palo Alto and at Van Nuys in the San Fernando Valley. Facilities are new and modern and include the latest in technical equipment. A 4,000 acre Division-owned static test base in the Ben Lomond mountains near Santa Cruz provides for all phases of static field test. In addition, flight test facilities are provided at Cape Canaveral, Florida and Vandenberg AFB, Santa Maria, California.

Scientists and engineers of outstanding talent and inquiring mind are invited to join us in the nation's most interesting and challenging basic research and development programs.

Bennett Cerf, President of Random House, Inc., world-famous publishers of fine books including The Modern Library and The American College Dictionary; Henry Moyer, Jr., of New England Life.

Bennett Cerf and Henry Moyer, Jr. collaborate on a Profit Sharing Plan for Random House

Meeting and working with interesting men like Bennett Cerf is one of the most satisfying things about his career with New England Life, according to Henry Moyer, Jr. (Dartmouth '51).

Recently, he presented to Mr. Cerf his proposal for a revised Profit Sharing Plan for the staff of Random House. They went over the details together and developed a program which will benefit employees in every salary bracket — providing more life insurance protection for less money than was previously possible.

Henry will, of course, work closely with company officials in servicing this plan through the years. And he'll continue the personal programming for a number of the executives at Random House. This one report of Henry's activity is just a part of the outstanding job he's been doing for New England Life, ever since he joined us in 1952.

If a career of this sort appeals to you, investigate the opportunities with New England Life. You get a regular income from the start. You can work anywhere in the U. S. A. Your future is full of substantial rewards.

JOYCE IN LOVE

By RICHARD ELLMANN

THE FASCINATING STORY of James Joyce and his wife Nora, based in part on unpublished manuscripts in the Cornell Joyce Collection, is here told, with learning and wit, for the first time. This handsome pamphlet was written especially for Cornell by the distinguished Joyce scholar, Professor Richard Ellmann of Northwestern.

JOYCE IN LOVE is privately printed for distribution by the Cornell University Library Associates, members of which receive free copies of all publications of the Associates. No copies of Joyce in Love are for sale.

THE LIBRARY ASSOCIATES, a group interested in maintaining the front-rank position of the Library, have since 1942 obtained by purchase or gift hundreds of fine manuscripts and rare books for Cornell.

YOU CAN BELONG by contributing annually to the Library Associates five dollars or more, either through the Cornell Fund or (see below) directly to the Secretary of the Library Associates.

For Transferring Radioactive Process Wastes

... DESIGNED IN STAINLESS

Ever since work on atomic reactors began, Graver has been building stainless tanks for transferring radioactive process effluents. Filled by remote control and cooled to remove heat from radioactive decay, tanks of the design shown above have been in service long enough to now be regarded as a standard for this use.

Stainless is useful for its ability to withstand either basic or acidic liquid wastes for a long time without serious corrosion. For mixed radioactive wastes with many "half-lives", such tanks may be required to hold dangerous isotopes for a very long time. The craftsmanship must be of the highest, which is never a question with Graver's hundred-year reputation for quality fabrication. For atomic energy use or for industrial wastes, stainless and alloy fabrication by Graver provides the complete answer for long-lived installations.

University To Build Research Library More Gifts Assure Construction

BOARD OF TRUSTEES, meeting in New York City January 24, authorized construction of the new Research Library on the site of Boardman Hall at cost of $5,700,000.

The building is planned as the result of studies to meet the need for more Library facilities that go back to 1925, in which many other solutions were considered. It will be primarily for the use of graduate students and Faculty members and will house more than 200,000 volumes with all modern facilities for their use. When the Research Library is completed, it is planned to remodel the present Library building for undergraduate use and expand the reading rooms from the present 425 seats to more than 1000.

The Research Library will connect with the present building by a terraced walk and tunnel, and Central Avenue will be re-routed from just north of Willard Straight Hall to go around the Library to the west.

Trustee John M. Olin '13 gave the University $3,000,000 for the Research Library in December, 1956, and some $600,000 of additional gifts were announced. A committee of Trustees and other alumni, headed by William Littlewood '20, has been assisting Vice President James L. Zwingle, PhD '42, to raise the needed funds to start the work. When the Board approved the letting of contracts, it was reported that gifts and pledges had been received to within about $1,000,000 of the $5,700,00 required. These include $250,000 from Trustee Arthur H. Dean '19 for a special section devoted to the history and development of New York State as a memorial to his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. William C. Dean; $235,000 from Trustee Emeritus Nicholas H. Noyes '06 and the Nicholas H. Noyes, Jr. Memorial Foundation for the rare book section; and substantial contributions also from Willard A. Kiggins, Jr. '21, former president of Bull Steamship University to Build Research Library—Boardman Hall will be torn down to make room for this new building between the present Library, at right, and Stimson Hall, at left. This plan was decided upon after years of consideration, and construction has awaited gifts to complete the cost of $5,700,000, most of which is now received or pledged. The building will be about the height of Stimson Hall to the east. An open terrace above the ground floor faces the Quadrangle and connects at grade with the present Library; Central Avenue to be relocated around it to the west. The main floor will have the central catalog, general reading rooms with stacks below, Library services, and some special collections. Above will be six floors of other volumes for research with Faculty studies, student carrels, lounges, and conference rooms. Architects are the firm of Warner, Burns, Toan, Lunde, of New York City.

Lines, and from Robert W. Purcell '32, chairman of the Basic Economy Corp.

Vacate Boardman Hall

Members of the Departments of History and Government have moved their offices to West Sibley and Boardman Hall classrooms are vacated in preparation for demolishing the building to clear the site for the Research Library. When they were given notice to move, Professors Clinton L. Rossiter III '39, Government, and Frederick G. Marcham, PhD '26, History, asked their colleagues in the building to give unwanted books to be sent to the library of Delaware State College where Jerome H. Holland '39 is president. More than 500 volumes were contributed. A group of graduate students announced that they would conduct guided tours of the building before it disappeared, and listed among its attractions "the Boardman High Romanesque porch with Viennese lanterns, intersecting barrel vaults, Siense inlaid floor, Later Roman capitals, and gold inscriptions; gargoyles, demonic angel and Presbyterian wolf; one of the last remaining 'true' foyers on Campus, with memorial entablatures and Jacobean great staircase. . . ."

Since the plan to put the Research Library on the Boardman Hall site was approved in 1955, Gilmore D. Clarke '13, former Dean of Architecture and chairman of the former Architectural Advisory Council of the University, has been protesting to the Trustees and others the removal of Boardman Hall. It was designed by William H. Miller '72, architect of the University Library, and completed in 1892; named for Judge Douglas Boardman, first Dean of the Law School. Gustav J. Requardt '09 was another who protested, but he withdrew his objections after learning the reasons why this site had been selected after long and careful investigations. Clarke mailed a letter, January 6, to the presidents and secretaries of all Cornell Clubs setting forth his objections to the building on the Boardman Hall site and saying that the present Library could be extended westward down the slope. The New York Times printed a letter from him on the same subject, January 24, the day the Trustees authorized contracts to be let for its construction.

Class Leaders Discuss Their Work

MORE THAN 300 men and women Class officers and workers for the Cornell Fund spent much of Saturday, January 17, at the Biltmore Hotel in New York City, planning their volunteer work for the University. The Class officers and Fund workers had separate sessions with staff members from Ithaca, morning and afternoon, and all gathered for luncheon, where 342 were served.

Men's Reunion chairmen met in the morning with Alumni Secretary Hunt Bradley '26 and Field Secretary James R. West '58 to talk over plans for the 1959 Reunions, while thirty Class correspondents and treasurers exchanged experiences and suggestions about their work in a session led by H. A. Stevenson '19, managing editor of the ALUMNI NEWS. Women's Reunion chairmen worked out their plans for this year's Reunions with Alumnae Secretary Pauline J. Schmid '25. Later, all women's Class officers met to talk over the specific jobs they do, as outlined in their Manual; and the men considered a new Manual for Class Officers that is being compiled by a committee headed by John A. Krieger '49. A first draft was outlined by John C. Cole '23, president of the Association of Class Secretaries. This will be mailed to the presidents and secretaries of all Classes for their suggestions, so the complete Manual will be most useful for all Class officers.

More than 100 men and women attended the annual meeting of the Association of Class Secretaries, with Cole presiding. Foster M. Coffin '12 for the Reunion committee reported the results of a survey of 400 alumni who attended Class Reunions last year, with their suggestions. West outlined plans for the 1959 Reunions, June 12 & 13, and Bradley said that Faculty Forums, popular at Reunions last year, would be expanded this year. He announced that Alumni Homecoming next fall will be for the Yale football game, October 17, and a Homecoming committee will be comprised of the Reunion chairmen of the Classes holding Reunions in 1960. The president was authorized to appoint a committee to compile information on the fiscal operations of all Classes and report its findings to the Association and to Class officers.

Re-elect Association Officers

Cole was re-elected president of the Association of Class Secretaries for this year, as were Henry J. Benisch '20, vice-president; Bradley, secretary; and Dorothy C. Chase '29, treasurer. Mrs. Louis A. Winkelman (Helen Kinney) '22 was re-elected to the Association executive committee and Robert L. Bartholomew '41 and Mrs. John Church (Caroline Norfleet) '43 are new members. Mrs. Winkelman is appointed a director of the Alumni Association, with President Cole.

Seventy-five men and ninety-seven women workers for the Cornell Fund spent the morning planning Class campaigns for the Fund that start this month and continue to June 15. The goal for this year is $1,065,000 in unrestricted gifts for the eight divisions of the Fund from 20,000 contributors. A new Cornell Fund "Action Manual" for this year's campaign was distributed and discussed. Women's Class representatives and regional chairmen for the New York area met with William V. Nixon, Director of Development; the discussion led by Marjorie MacBain '27, Mrs. Kennedy Randall, Jr. (Katherine Rogers) '43, and Mrs. Keith M. Seegmiller (Nancy Russell) '51. Men's Class representatives had as discussion leader Norman R. Steinmetz '26, chairman of the Cornell Fund, with Joseph D. Minogue '45, Director of Alumni Annual Giving. Regional chairmen for the New York City area met with Alfred M. Saperston '19, vice-chairman of the Fund, and W. Barlow Ware '47 of the Annual Giving staff; and New Jersey regional chairmen, with William R. Robertson '34, vice-chairman of the Fund in charge of Annual Giving, and Frank R. Clifford '50 of the staff.

All the Fund workers gathered after lunch to hear Professors Michell J. Sienko '43, Chemistry, and J Milton Cowan, Modern Languages, talk about their work at the University. Steinmetz presented certificates to the Class representatives whose committees had made the best records in the 1957-58 Alumni Annual Giving campaign that brought $800,253 for the Cornell Fund. Saperston presided at this meeting.

The ballroom of the Biltmore was filled for the luncheon of all Class officers and workers for the Fund. Steinmetz presided and introduced Trustee John P. Syme '26, former chairman of the Fund and of the University Council. Syme presented to Harold T. Edwards '10 a citation "for loyal service to his Alma Mater." He noted that among many other services to his Class and the University, Edwards was successively president of the Alumni Fund Council, 1946-48, and chairman of the Greater Cornell Fund committee, 1948-50, and in 1941 he started the present organization of Class committees to solicit unrestricted gifts to the University.

J. Carlton Ward, Jr. '14, president of Vitro Corporation of America and former Alumni Trustee, now chairman of the Engineering College Council, spoke of the importance of the work that alumni volunteers do to help maintain Cornell's educational and scientific leadership. He noted that "Russia has used education as an important tool to attain its present competitive economic status with respect to the United States" and said this country must extend its efforts by improving the education of its citi-

Tuition to Increase

TUITION AND FEES for undergraduates in the endowed divisions of the University will be raised to $1425 a year beginning next July 1. The increase from $1250 for these students was approved by the Board of Trustees at its meeting in New York City, January 24. Students affected are those in the Colleges of Architecture, Arts & Sciences, Engineering, School of Hotel Administration, and Unclassified Division. Tuition and fees are unchanged for the Graduate School, Law School, Graduate School of Business & Public Administration, Medical College and Nursing School in New York, and for the State-supported divisions in Ithaca: Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics, Veterinary College, and School of Industrial & Labor Relations. A plan is being worked out for students to pay tuition and fees in installments.

Estimated additional income from tuition and fees next year is $985,000. Most of this will be used for increases in Faculty salaries and fringe benefits and for other purposes that will benefit students, including scholarships and grants.

President Malott said: "We must continue to provide the very best instruction for our students. Any lessening of our efforts in this direction will result in lessening the quality of Cornell education. At the heart of the effort are the teachers. Their economic status must be further improved if we are to retain and attract outstanding people to our Faculty. The funds the University will receive as a result of the tuition increase will enable us better to provide for our excellent and loyal Faculty. They will further help the University to provide improved student medical service and strengthen the University's ability to extend scholarship aid to superior students."

The present rate of $1250 a year for all students in the endowed divisions and increase of fees for those in the State divisions went into effect last July 1, following an increase from $1000 a year to $1100 for the fall term, 1957. The increase for next year compares with those announced for undergraduates in other universities and colleges, including Yale from $1250 to $1400; Princeton from $1200 to $1450; Dartmouth from $1170 to $1400. Others are considering increases.

Add Alumni Children

ANOTHER Freshman son of a Cornellian is discovered, to bring the total of alumni children who entered in 1958 to 300 and the number with one Cornell parent to 222. The latest addition is Franklin J. Homan '62, son of Matthias O. Homan '30 of Arlington, Va.

Every year, some new students do not name their Cornell relatives, as all are asked to when they register. The list of Cornell children for 1958 appeared in the December 1 ALUMNI NEWS and some additions in the January issue. Any other additions are welcome for publication and the University records.

Drama Club Invites Alumni

THE DRAMATIC CLUB will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of its founding with a special luncheon and program, March 7. The luncheon, in Willard Straight Hall at 1:30, will feature talks by Dr. Smiley Blanton '14, noted author and psychiatrist and director of the first Dramatic Club production in 1909, who will speak on "The Educational Value of the Drama in College;" and by Sidney Kingsley '28, Pulitzer Prize winning playwright, whose topic, "The Professor and the Critic," concerns the late Professor Alexander M. Drummond, Speech & Drama, and the late Broadway theater critic, George Jean Nathan '04. Dramatic Club alumni in a wide range of Classes and including some of the cast of the first Club play, Ibsen's "An Enemy of the People," will attend the luncheon. Professor Damon Boynton '31, Pomology, who was president of the Dramatic Club as a Senior, will be toastmaster. That evening, Club alumni will attend a performance of Ibsen's "Ghosts," in the Willard Straight Theater. The play, under direction of Professor H. Darkes Albright, PhD '36, Speech & Drama, will run March 5-8.

Alumni may get tickets for the luncheon and play by sending payment to Cornell Dramatic Club, 127 Goldwin Smith Hall, Ithaca. Tickets cost $2.75 for the luncheon and $1.25 for the play.

New York Alumni Organizations Give Award to Myron C. Taylor '94

TO THE general theme that a university is judged by the quality of its end-product, its alumni, Myron C. Taylor '94, one of the most distinguished examples of the Cornell variety of that species, was honored January 22 at a very pleasant dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria. The occasion was the second annual award dinner of the Cornell Alumni Association of New York City and the Cornell Club of New York, with Trustee Maxwell M. Upson '99, recipient of the first award last year and president of the Association, as master of ceremonies. Taylor, nursing a broken hip at his Palm Beach home, had to send regrets, but delegated Trustee Chairman John L. Collyer '17 to receive the award citation from President Deane W. Malott.

Upson allowed everyone on the dais to say a few words, starting with Alumni Secretary Hunt Bradley '26, Max F. Schmitt '24, president of the Cornell Club, and Dean Gray Thoron of the Law School. Haig Shiroyan '24, secretary and sparkplug of the Association, refused to be tied down in time and had the assemblage in stitches. University Vice President James L. Zwingle, PhD '42 with difficulty restrained himself from talking about the University Library. Dr. Preston A. Wade '22 was presented as the new president of the Association. J. Carlton Ward '14, chairman of the Engineering College Council, who had just come from Washington with Collyer, remarked on the high percentage of Cornellians on a certain nationwide advisory council.

Generous Donor to University

President Malott read the framed citation and mentioned that Taylor's gifts to the University total more than $4,500,000, including Myron Taylor Hall for the Law School, Anabel Taylor Hall, interfaith center named for Mrs. Taylor, and $1,000,000 toward a new residence hall for the Law School to be named for the late Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes. He noted that Taylor was for twenty-five years an active Trustee of the University, becoming in 1953 Trustee Emeritus; that he was outstanding in business and diplomacy; and that he had given distinguished service to the nation and Cornell. Collyer read a letter from Taylor to Upson in which he expressed his appreciation that the new Law School dormitory will be named for Justice Hughes who was professor of Law when Taylor was a student in the Law School; said that the idea had been in his mind since 1931 when it was conceived by the late Dean Charles K. Burdick, and that it will help the traditionally close relationship of Faculty and students in the Law School. Taylor expressed his "warm appreciation and obligation for this signal honor" and praised Upson and the two alumni organizations in New York City for their service to the University. A telegram to him in Palm Beach was read.

All Trustees and former Trustees were called to their feet, and a standing ovation was given the oldest alumnus present, George F. Myers '94. Officers of the Cornell Alumni Association of New York City for 1959, besides Dr. Wade, were announced: vice-presidents, Joseph Diamant '20, Thomas J. McFadden '22, and Max F. Schmitt '24; secretary, Haig K. Shiroyan '24; assistant secretary, John A. Watson '49; treasurer, Richard J. Keegan '49.

The address of the evening—earnest, thoughtful, and well delivered—was by Harold Riegelman '14, Republican candidate for mayor of New York in 1956 and the first president of the Association. He spoke of the importance of the University to its alumni and the importance of alumni to the University and proposed an adequate Cornell University Center be established in New York City, where there are some 20,000 alumni in the metropolitan area. This, he said, should be "an accessible place where the University may have its New York office and Faculty and alumni conference space; alumni dining, auditorium, gymnasium, social and sleeping facilities; organization with a broad democratic membership base and a representative management and administration. Both the Club and this Association could with advantage merge into such a project, and indeed form a strong nucleus. . . ."

Apples Win Prizes

AGRICULTURAL EXPERIMENT STATION at Geneva won three awards last fall at the Massachusetts Horticultural Society show in Boston. A Red McIntosh apple developed at the Station received the Award of Merit, the highest award given by the Society, and silver medals were given for an exhibit of apples originated at the Station and for an exhibit of apple breeding.

Washington Alumni Gather

FOUR ALUMNI GROUPS in Washington, D.C. joined forces to stage a most successful Founder's Day banquet, January 22. More than 180 people attended, including some twenty-five prospective students and their parents. Co-sponsors were the men's and women's Cornell Clubs of Washington, assisted by the Cornell Lawyers Club of Washington and the Washington Chapter of the Cornell Society of Hotelmen.

John Summerskill, University Vice-president for Student Affairs, performed a double role. Not only was he the speaker of the evening, but he presented to John Marshall, Jr. '26, who headed the men's Club in 1957 and 1958, the Cornell banner awarded by the Federation of Cornell Men's Clubs to the outstanding Cornell Club of 1958.

At the head table were US Attorney General William P. Rogers, LLB '37, and Mrs. Rogers (Adele Langston) '34, LLB '36. Serving as a deft toastmaster was Austin H. Kiplinger '39. Jerome C. Leonard '34 was banquet committee chairman. Current president of the men's Club is Nathaniel E. Kossack '34. The women's Club is headed by Mrs. Donald W. Geerhart (Constance Soelle) '52, a new mother and therefore necessarily absent. The Law group is led by Harold D. Rhynedance, Jr. '43. James P. Duchsherer '36, vice-president of the Hotel group, led a considerable delegation from that field.

The traditional "Call of the Classes" brought responses covering sixty years, starting with David A. Williston '98. Bill Rogers got a laugh when he failed to stand with his 1937 Classmates. Later he rose and remarked that he did not want anybody to get the idea that he did not have a Law degree, and that he was LLB '37.—A.P.M. '36

Basketball Team Loses Three

PACE of the intercollegiate sports program eased off markedly in preparation for mid-year examinations and nothing was scheduled from January 24-February 6, during finals. The Varsity basketball team had time to lose three more games before the hiatus, and there was much mental travail over this team's lack of success. All others performed about as well as predicted, although Varsity track and squash teams performed commendably but lost to Army and Dartmouth, respectively.

Pennsylvania 63, Cornell 57

In a series of below-par basketball performances lately, none was quite so bad as that against Penn, January 16 in Barton Hall. The Quakers gave the Red team a 63-57 beating, but it was not that Penn was good. Cornell appeared to have more talent, more height, more shooting ability. But Penn had more zest, speed, and aggressiveness and that was enough to win. There were about 1500 quiet spectators at the game, a low modern record for this normally popular contest. Penn won its sixty-ninth game to forty-two for Cornell.

Allen Schwait was high for Penn with 23 points. He made nine of nineteen field-goal attempts; five of seven from the foul line. His two free throws with 53 seconds to go sewed it up for Penn. It was a close game, but thoroughly unexciting. Cornell led by 6 points late in the first half and it was 38-34 for the Red at intermission. The score was tied ten times and there were eight lead changes. Once Cornell rallied from a 9-point deficit to make it 53-50, and it bounced back from a 10-point deficit to trail only 60-57 with 2½ minutes to go. But the Varsity seemed able to perform only in short spurts and then had to refuel its wind supply. Louis R. Jordan '59, although not his usual alert, aggressive self, was the Red's high man with 16. David H. Zornow '60, rugged 6-foot-5 pivot-man, stayed out of this and the other two pre-exam games to concentrate on his pre-med course finals.

Play Well Against Princeton

Against a better-equipped Princeton team the next night in Barton, the Red put on a fiery and praiseworthy performance. Princeton won, 66-52, but it was not that easy. It was 35-31 at the half, and only Princeton's superbly accurate shooting-average of .469 won the game.

Lou Jordan had a glorious night, scoring 33 points in vigorous play. He made nine of thirteen foul-attempts and twelve field-goals. He had some help from his teammates in all departments except scoring. Next high-scorer was William E. Sullivan '59, with 5 points; Malcolm R. Beasley '61 had 4 and Franklin B. Mead '59 and Jay S. Harris '60 had 3. Early-season star George A. Farley '60 scored one lone foul-shot. This was not enough to cope with hot-shooting Princetonians Carl Belz with 32, Joe Burns with 16. Princeton used only one substitute.

Creighton 64, Cornell 63

Final first-term blow was a 64-63 defeat by Creighton University from Omaha, Nebr. in Barton Hall, January 23. The benighted Red players lost their fifth straight game with this one. The losing streak started with a 67-66 loss to Harvard, January 9; and Creighton's winning shot was in the air as this game ended. The fifth loss came on two foul-shots made by a Creighton substitute, John Green, ostensibly after the game was over. But the officials decided there was another second remaining and the game was resumed. Thinking the game was over when the buzzer sounded, both teams left the floor while Green made his game-winning throw. The officials did not enter their demurrer until after the shots were made, and then it was decided the foul had been called a second before the final buzzer sounded. If the first foul had been missed, there would have been no players to scramble for the ball except Green, himself. But Green probably thought the game was over, too. Well, the Cornell team is losing in many novel ways this year!

It was a prosaic contest, in which Cornell led, until the final minute. The lead varied from 2 to 10 points. There was more action in the last minute than in all the preceding thirty-nine. Cornell led at the half, 27-22. During that last minute, Creighton went ahead for the first time, 58-57. Thereafter: a Sullivan field-goal, 59-58 for the Red with 0:50 left; Green made it 60-59 for Creighton at 0:36; Sullivan's two free throws brought it back to 61-60 for Cornell; Creighton's Berry made two foul throws to put his team ahead, 62-61, with 14 seconds to go; George Farley hooked one in and Cornell was ahead 63-62 at 10 seconds; John C. Petry '61 bumped Green for his 1-and-1 situation at the game's end. There were 700 spectators to see Green carried off on the shoulders of his teammates twice: first, when all except the two officials thought the game was over; and second, after play was resumed and Cornell threw the ball in and it was intercepted. Then it was over for sure.

Freshmen Win & Lose

The Freshman basketball team defeated Manlius, 72-60, in Barton Hall, January 23, to finish first-term competition with a 4-5 record. January 14, Syracuse avenged an earlier 76-51 defeat by beating the Red Freshmen at Syracuse, 80-63. A game with Colgate booked for January 24 was cancelled.

Wrestlers Down Penn

PENNSYLVANIA was a one-sided, 23-5, victim of the strong Varsity wrestling team, January 17 at Barton Hall. An explosive performance by undefeated David C. Auble '60 and a capable showing by the rest of the team were just too much for the Quakers.

It took Auble just 2 minutes and 14 seconds to pin Charles Murray in the 130-pound bout. The 123-pound bout was forfeited when Auble decided to move up a class and this gave Penn its only points. It was Auble's third pin in six bouts this year and the Eastern champion has compiled a 16-0-0 record in his collegiate dual-meet competition. All other Cornellians won by decision: 137 pounds, George S. Willis '59, 11-10; 147 pounds, John R. Shafer '61, 2-0; 157 pounds, Allen T. Rose '61, 11-5; 167 pounds, Allan R. Marion '61, 7-0; 177 pounds, Stephen Friedman '59, 6-0; heavyweight, David R. Dunlop '59, 4-1.

Other Sports

FIRST COMPETITION of the year for the Varsity track team resulted in a 67½-41½ loss to Army in Barton Hall, January 24.

There were many satisfying things for Cornell fans. Sophomores did real well: John S. Murray won the pole vault with a 13-foot-6-inch leap; Murray B. Moulding won the 600 in 1:14.6 and ran a strong anchor leg on the winning mile-relay team; and George A. Ekstrom won the 60 in 0:06.6. Sophomores also figured in four second places. John E. Winter was second in the hurdles and tied for second in the high jump. Peter W. Brandeis was second in the 1000; Frank E. Brockman, in the two-mile; and Robert D. Shappee tied for second in the high jump. Murray almost made 14 feet in the vault. He nicked the bar, but it did not fall until he had landed in the pit and was sitting there watching it teeter. Cornell indoor record is 13: 10¼ held by Everett L. Colyer '31.

Three meet records and one Barton

Hall record were broken by Army. New meet marks were a 4:21 mile by Dick Healy, 2:15.8 for 1000 yards by Bill Hanne, and a 50:5¼ shot-put by Keith Nance. The Barton Hall record was a 9:29.2 two-mile by Dick Greene. In the eight-meet series, Army leads 4-3-1. The summary:

35-pound weight throw—1, Ed Bagdonas, Army, 57 feet, 9 inches; 2, Al Dorris, Army, 52 feet, 4 inches; 3, Jerry Greenawalt, Army, 49 feet, 6 inches.

Broad jump—1, Jim Humphreys, Army, 22 feet ¾ inches; 2, Phil Chappell, Army, 21 feet 7 inches; 3, David Heasley, Cornell, 21 feet, 4 inches.

Mile—1, Dick Healy, Army; 2, Charles Hill, Cornell; 3, Nathaniel Cravener, Cornell. 4:21 (new meet record, old record, 4:22.2, Richard Shea, Army, 1951).

600—1, Murray Moulding, Cornell; 2, Dave Gray, Army; 3, Ron Salter, Army. 1:14.6.

60-yard high hurdles—1, Gil Roesler, Army; 2, John Winter, Cornell; 3, Jim Johnson, Army. 0:07.9.

60-yard dash—1, George Ekstrom, Cornell; 2, Phil Chappell, Army; 3, Steve Waldrop, Army. 0:06.0.

1000—1, Bill Hanne, Army; 2, Peter Brandeis, Cornell; 3, Charles Hill, Cornell. 2:15.8 (new meet record, old record, 2:16.2, Charles Brown, Army, 1952).

Two-mile—1, Dick Greene, Army; 2, Frank Brockman, Cornell; 3, Lynn Bender, Army. 9:29.2 (new Barton Hall record, old record, 9:30.6, Robert Day, Army, 1953).

High jump—Gene LaBorne, Army, 6 feet; 2, tie among Jim Fero, Army; John Winter, Cornell, and Robert Chappée, Cornell, 5 feet 10 inches.

Pole vault—1, John Murray, Cornell, 13 feet, 6 inches; 2, Robert Bevan, Cornell, 13 feet; 3, John Young, Army, 12 feet, 6 inches.

Shot put—1, Keith Nance, Army, 50 feet, 5¼ inches; 2, Jerry Clements, Army, 48 feet; 3, Albert Kaneb, Cornell, 45 feet, 9½ inches (new meet record, old record 50 feet, 5¼ inches, David Patton, Army, 1954).

Mile relay—1, Cornell (Bernard Dannov, Harvey Weissbard, Theodore Voigt, Murray Moulding). 3:21.1.

Two-mile relay—1, Army (Jim Adams, Dave Gray, Dick Healy, Bill Hanne). 8:04.3.

In a triangular freshman meet at West Point, January 24, the Army plebes won over Cornell and Albright, 77-42-18. Eric P. Groon won the mile in 4:23.7 and the 1000 in 2:19.7 and ran anchor on the two-mile relay team that was second to Army. James J. McSweeney, Jr. did 1:15 in taking second in the 600. Joel K. Heine was second in the two-mile. Three Red men tied at 5 feet 10 to win the high jump: Thomas W. Mikulina, Michael G. O'Mara, and Robert L. Gloor. Henry T. Betts, Jr. won the broad jump with 21 feet ¾ inches and Richard Stanton was second.

Hockey Team Goes Along

January 16, Penn played an unusual role: a defeated foe of the Cornell hockey team. In a game at Philadelphia, Cornell won, 9-3. Senior Paul C. Marcus made 3 goals for the winners. Joseph A. Kelsey '60 made 2 and M. Mead Montgomery '60 and Robert J. Kolker '61 each made 1 and had two assists.

Lest there be too much gloating, a

Yale sextet induced proper humility by giving the Red team a 11-0 beating at New Haven the next day. Goalie John T. Detwiler '61 had fifty-five saves against Yale. The Yale goalie had only to stop three.

Dartmouth was compassionate, January 24, when it gave the Red a chance to score at Lynah Rink. Score was 11-3 for the Green. Montgomery, Morgan N. Holmes, Jr. '61, and John S. Coppage, Jr. '60 made the Cornell tallies.

A combined Cornell Freshman-Junior Varsity team tied the Princeton freshman team, 2-2, at Princeton, January 17. James H. Lytle '62 and David G. Forman, Jr. '59 made the Cornell goals.

Fencers Beat Penn

In a tight competition at Teagle Hall, January 17, the Varsity fencers defeated Pennsylvania, 14-13. The Red team won when John H. Wiley '59 beat Dave Mecahvik in the next-to-last bout in a fence-off. Cornell won the foil, 6-3, and the saber, 5-4, but Penn took the epee, 6-3. Triple winners for Cornell were Raoul A. Sudre '60 of Casablanca, Morocco, and Roger J. Haloua '59 of Buenos Aires, Argentina.

Squash Team Does Well

The Red racquet wielders scored their first point in three years of competition with the Big Three when they met Princeton at Princeton, January 17, and lost 8-1. They also did well against Dartmouth on the Grumman Courts, January 24, when they lost, 6-3.

Captain Nelson T. Joyner, Jr. '59 topped Princeton's No. 3 man, Tom Kehler, 8-15, 15-11, 15-13, 8-15, 17-14. Robert C. Lawrence '60, Peter H. Moeller '61, and Jon C. Minikes '60 won their matches over Dartmouth.

Swimmers Win Two

Varsity swimmers defeated Princeton, 65-21, at Princeton, January 16, and beat Penn the next day at Philadelphia, 63-23. Two Cornell records were broken in the Princeton meet: Captain Charles W. Carpenter '59 had 2:29.1 in the 200-yard butterfly and John C. Waterfall '60 had 2:17.5 in the 220-yard freestyle. Cornell swept eight of the ten events against Penn.

Colgate humbled the Cornellians, January 24, by a close 44-42 in Teagle Hall. Wolk of Colgate won three events: 220, 440, and butterfly.

The Princeton meet summary:

400—Medley Relay (4:06.1)—1, Cornell (Bob Coifman, Dave Stiller, Gerritt White, Gerald Nalewaik); 2, Princeton. Time 4:06.1.

220 Freestyle (2:17.5)—1, Bruce Waterfall, Cornell; 2, George Brakely, Princeton; 3, John Waterbury, Princeton. Time 2:17.5. (Cornell varsity record 2:17.7).

50-yard freestyle (0:24.2)—1, Lawlor Reck, Cornell; 2, Al Dybvig, Cornell; 3, Howard Bellows, Princeton. Time 0:24.2.

Diving (79.48 points)—1, Al Snyder, Cornell; 2, Al Routh, Princeton; 3, Andy Steffan, Princeton. 79:48 points.

200-yard Butterfly (2:29.1)—1, Charles Carpenter, Cornell; 2, John Motycka, Cornell; 3, Steve Kurtin, Princeton. Time 2:29.1. (Cornell varsity record, old record 2:29.9).

100-yard Freestyle (0:55.1)—1, Nalewalk, Cornell; 2, John Sherrod, Cornell; 3, Bill Lynne, Princeton. Time 0:55.1.

200-yard Backstroke (2:19.0)—1, White, Cornell; 2, Coifman, Cornell; 3, Bill McMillen, Princeton. Time 2:19.0.

440-yard Freestyle (5:03.5)—1, Brakely, Princeton; 2, Waterfall, Cornell; 3, Bill McMillen, Princeton. Time 5:03.5.

200-yard Breaststroke (2:28.8)—1, Stiller, Cornell; 2, Jim Beattie, Princeton; 3, Dybvig, Cornell. Time 2:28.8 (Dillon pool record, old record 2:29.3).

400-yard Freestyle Relay (3:43.9)—1, Cornell (Gerry Lilly, Sheldon Rieley, Reck, Sherrod); 2, Princeton. Time 3:43.9.

In its only competition of the first term, the Freshman swimming team was defeated by Colgate, 42-37, in Teagle Hall. Best was the stellar performance of the Red yearling medley relay team of George E. Pittinos, Rodney B. Smith, Jay L. Lacksen, and Henry J. Postel, which set a new Cornell record of 1:51.3. Old record was 1:51.7.

Polo Players Win Ninth Game

The undefeated polo team won its ninth game by beating Bedford Hills Polo Club, 17-11, in the Riding Hall, January 17. Captain Peter D. Baldwin '59 made 8 goals to lead his team to victory.

Set Party for Snavely

CARL G. SNAVELY, head coach of football from 1936-45, will be guest of honor at a "testimonial week end," April 3 & 4, that is being planned by the Cornell Club of Ithaca. Snavely has retired from coaching at Washington University and, by coincidence, so have William H. "Red" Friesell, who refereed the famous "fifth-down" Cornell-Dartmouth game in 1940, and Earl H. Blaik, coach at West Point who was the Dartmouth coach then. Both are expected to be here for the Snavely testimonial celebration, with many Cornell players under Snavely, his former assistant coaches, and coaches of teams that Snavely's teams met during his nine years at Cornell, and other friends.

All alumni are invited to attend. The festivities will start Friday afternoon, April 3, with registration and an informal gathering in the Big Red Barn, extending through the evening. Saturday, April 4, there will be a luncheon and afternoon movies and general get-together at Moakley House, followed by a banquet in Statler Hall, with Friesell as toastmaster. General chairman of the arrangements committee is R. Selden Brewer '40, former Alumni Secretary. Director of Athletics Robert J. Kane '34 and Coach George K. James, who played under Snavely at Bellefonte and Bucknell and came to Cornell as his assistant, are honorary chairmen. Reservations at $15 for the Saturday program may be sent to Brewer at 130 Forest Home Drive, Ithaca.

To Hear Faculty Speakers

FACULTY FORUMS are planned as an expanded feature of Class Reunions in Ithaca next June, after an experiment with Faculty speakers at last year's Reunions proved so popular with alumni.

A special committee of the Alumni Association met in New York City, January 23, with Alumni Secretary Hunt Bradley '26, to plan for this year's Faculty Forums at Reunion time. Four "lecture-seminars" given by Faculty members on Friday of Reunions last year drew overflow audiences and high praise from alumni who attended. This year, the committee will ask selected members of the Faculty to discuss both their own work at the University and questions of public interest in sessions for alumni beginning Thursday evening, June 11, and running through Friday, June 12, as part of the Reunion offerings. The speakers and their topics will soon be announced and it is hoped that this greater opportunity to "sample the intellectual life of the University," as President Malott termed it last year, will become increasingly popular in the Reunion activities. Many Faculty members have indicated their interest in co-operating.

Trustee John P. Syme '26 is chairman of the committee arranging the Faculty Forums, as he was for the lecture-seminars last year. Other members are Alumni Trustees Leslie R. Severinghaus '21 and Mrs. Thomas T. Mackie (Helen Holme) '29 and Professors George H. Healey, PhD '47, English & Curator of Rare Books, and Franklin A. Long, Chemistry.

University Gets Grants

GRANT of $58,700 has come from the US Public Health Service to the Sloan Institute of Hospital Administration in the Graduate School of Business & Public Administration. It will support a three-year study of twenty-one upstate New York hospitals and the communities they serve, to discover what main factors determine public support of hospitals. Dr. Milton I. Roemer '36, Director of Research for the Institute, and Professor Rodney F. White, Administration, will conduct the study.

The Graduate School has received a grant of $50,000 from the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation. It is to help "strengthen the graduate program and assist beyond their first year of graduate work students genuinely interested in a teaching career."

Library Acquires Two-millionth Volume—President Deane W. Malott (right) and Director of the University Library Stephen A. McCarthy show the Library's two-millionth acquisition, Animadversionum in Athenaei Dipnosophistas. The work by Athenaeus, Greek rhetorician and grammarian who lived in Naucratis, Egypt, early in the third century, was revised by Isaac Casaubon, famous French scholar, and printed in Lyon, France, in 1600. The book professes to be an account given by Athenaeus to his friend, Timocrates, of a banquet held at the home of a wealthy patron of the arts. It contains much information about Greece as Athenaeus knew it. More than 800 writers and 2500 plays are mentioned, with many references to songs, dancers, games, and table manners. The volume was once part of the personal library of Jacques Auguste de Thou, France's most famous book collector during the reign of Henry IV. It is inscribed with de Thou's monogram on the spine and his coat of arms in gold on the cover, is bound in red morocco, and bears the initials and shield of his first wife, Marie de Barbarcon. The book was purchased from a dealer in England and will be kept in the Library's Rare Book Collection. The Library acquired its one-millionth book during 1937-38 and, at its present rate of expansion (about 70,000 volumes a year) will get its three-millionth volume in 1972-73. A survey made by the Princeton University Library in 1956-57 showed Cornell eighth in number of volumes among approximately 1800 American college and university libraries.

C. Hadley Smith

Dean John W. McConnell of the Graduate School says that $37,500 of the grant will be used to assist graduate students in their second or third year of advanced studies; $1000 will be used to develop programs to aid graduate students in the improvement of their teaching abilities; $2000 will be used by the Faculty research committee for research awards to graduate students and Faculty members; and from $6000 to $9000 will be used for teaching fellowships for graduate assistants. The Foundation awards $2000 for each Woodrow Wilson Fellow, selected in national competition. This year there are twenty-five Fellows at Cornell, including Robert J. Perrault '54 of Ansonia, Conn., Theodore M. Hofmann '58 of Evanston, Ill., and Louis W. Falk III, son of Louis W. Falk II '33 of Milwaukee, Wis., all candidates for Master's degrees.

E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. has given the University about $42,500 as part of its annual program of aid to education, in which nearly $1,200,000 was distributed to 139 universities throughout the country for 1959-60. The Department of Chemistry has received $15,000 to be used for fundamental research and at least $2900 for a postgraduate teaching assistantship. $12,000 will be used for six new fellowships for prospective science and mathematics teachers in secondary schools. $4000 will be used to strengthen undergraduate courses in scientific and engineering education. School of Chemical & Metallurgical Engineering receives $5000 for fundamental research and the Medical College in New York, $3000 to strengthen its teaching of Biochemistry.

Grants of $925 and $3700 have been awarded the University by the Creole Foundation and Creole Petroleum Corp., an American oil producing company operating in Venezuela. The grants will supplement the tuition fees of students from Venezuela who hold Creole Scholarships. Creole Petroleum Corp. has maintained scholarships in this country and Venezuela for the last twenty years. The Creole Foundation was established in 1956 to support educational, scientific, and cultural activities in Venezuela.

New York Schools Get News

CORNELL ALUMNI Association of New York City is sending the ALUMNI NEWS for a year to fourteen schools in and near New York. The schools were selected by the secondary school committee of the Association, of which Arnold G. Landres '16 is chairman. "They are gifts from our Association to the schools, to create interest for Cornell among the students," writes Secretary Haig Shiroyan '24.

The ALUMNI NEWS offers a special rate of $4 a year to Cornell Clubs for subscriptions to be sent to schools in their areas. Announcement of the gift is sent to the schools by the NEWS.

To Assist Plantations

A GROUP of Sponsors of the Cornell Plantations has been formed under chairmanship of George H. Rockwell '13 of Wolfeboro, N.H. Their purpose, Rockwell says, is "to tell others about the objectives and long-range plans of the Plantations. It is being developed as a vast outdoor laboratory of 1500 acres of gorges, woodlands, gardens, and trails on and around the University Campus, beautiful and invaluable for the study of the natural environment."

Members of the Sponsors group are Alex W. Dann '07, Walter L. Todd '09, Roy Taylor '10, H. Warren Arnold '13, W. Burnham Ball '13, Olaf Hoff, Jr. '13, Neill Houston '13, Russell T. Kerby '13, Theodore V. Meyer '13, Rowan D. Spraker '13, Joseph A. W. Iglehart '14, Larry E. Gubb '16, Robert B. Willson '17, William C. White '18, Harry E. Buck '21, James B. Palmer '21, Ruth F. Irish '22, Clement G. Bowers '23, Theodore P. Wright, University Vice President for Research, and Arno H. Nehrling, former professor of Floriculture.

Rockwell notes that alumni who wish to receive The Cornell Plantations quarterly may communicate with the Director of the Plantations, George T. Swanson '36, at Department of Floriculture, Plant Science Building, Ithaca.

A University committee administers the Cornell Plantations. Its executive chairman is Professor Gustav A. Swanson, Conservation, and the other members are Professors Charles E. Palm, PhD '35, Entomology and Dean-elect of Agriculture; Daniel G. Clark '29, Botany; John F. Cornman '36, Floricul-ture; J. George Matthyse, PhD '43, Entomology; Donald S. Welch, PhD '25, Plant Pathology; and Bowers, who is a research associate in Floriculture.

An Undergraduate Observes

By James Langdon III '59

Paintings by contemporary American artists have been hung in "strategic," places in Willard Straight Hall where students will see them daily. The idea came from Michael W. Straight, son of the late Willard D. Straight '01, for whom the building is named. Straight believes that daily contact with works of art is helpful in developing art appreciation. The project was made possible by a grant of $25,000 from the William C. Whitney Foundation, the anonymous gift of a Ben Shahn original, and several paintings from Straight's own collection, including some by his father. Among the paintings that students found hanging in the most used parts of the Hall on their return from Christmas vacation are Shahn's "Nocturn," a painting by Rico Lebrun entitled "The Shell of Mary," a gouache and a painting by Joe Jones, and "Ritual," an abstraction by Professor Kenneth Evett, Architecture. The Whitney Foundation grant will be used to purchase additional pictures through the next four years, for display in areas most used by students in the University's "social hub." An official of the Hall said, "We are bringing good pictures to people who ordinarily might not come into contact with original works of art. The initial reaction has been very favorable."

Redecoration of the Music Room in Willard Straight Hall has won praise from several quarters. Edgar A. Whiting '29, Director of the Straight, says that "We're certainly pleased and gratified with the response" to the room's new appearance. Tables and chairs for studying and couches for lounging are provided in the "new look." The Music Room (formerly the West Lounge) has neutral walls and carpeting, white drapes, and new hanging lights. With the anticipated arrival of new speakers, the refurbishing and redecoration of the room will be completed.

Bright feature at the 66-52 Princeton romp over Cornell's cagers, January 17 in Barton Hall, was a halftime baton-twirling exhibition by Karis R. Ricketts '61 of Denver, Colo. "Miss Majorette of Colorado" for three years before she came to Cornell, Miss Ricketts formerly operated a baton-twirling school in Denver. Her sister, Cheryl, now runs the school. Miss Ricketts, nineteen, is listed in Who's Who in Baton Twirling in USA, a book by the National Baton Twirling Association, and in Parade of Champions, a book by the Drum Major-ettes of America. She was a semi-finalist in the 1955 "Young Miss America" contest.

Borden Award in Home Economics was won this year by Martha A. Wennerberg '59 of Flushing. The $300 Award goes annually to the top-ranking member of the Senior Class in the College. Miss Wennerberg is a member of Omicron Nu, national home economics honor society.

Arts College Review Day, featuring a display of exhibits and lectures on liberal arts values by Professors Steven Muller, PhD '58, Government, and Robert B. MacLeod, Psychology, was arranged by the Arts College Council, January 13. The exhibits, entered from most departments in the Arts College, were displayed in the Willard Straight Memorial Room. Professor Muller discussed the purposes of a liberal arts education, described it as a "liberating" experience that frees minds from ignorance, superstition, and prejudice. Professor MacLeod spoke on "What the Liberal Arts Graduate Can Offer the Professional School." He pointed out that the proper preparation for graduate school was not to be achieved in compiling specialized skills, but by obtaining the broadest kind of education. Arts College Council president is Jonathan B. Pasternack '59 of Passaic, N.J. Chairman of the Arts Day committee was Melvyn Lieberman '59 of Brooklyn.

Lindsley E. Webster, candidate for the PhD majoring in American History, won the Guilford Essay Prize of $120 for his paper on "The German Threat to the Concert of Europe." The Prize is awarded annually to the graduate student, who, in the judgment of the Graduate School Faculty, writes the best English prose. Webster is the son of Robert L. Webster '30 and Mrs. Webster (Alice Schade) '31 of Ithaca and the grandson of Charles H. Webster '04.

Hospitality of members of Delta Phi fraternity was praised by a stranded Ithaca motorist. January 9, Mrs. Louis Herman and five-year-old passenger Mary Simmons found themselves maroomed in the driveway of Llenroc at the height of a snow storm, unable to combat the poor driving conditions. Mrs. Herman wrote to The Sun: "We were received [by the Delta Phi] with courtness and hospitality to rival the most famous hosts . . . [For] Mary, a visit to the kitchen, where she snared French fries and cookies; for me, the use of the telephone, the use of a warm parka, and most wonderful of all, a car with expert driver and snow tires to see Mary and me home." Mrs. Herman concluded that "There have been so many articles about the negative characteristics of University students. I take this occasion to talk about the other, and I'm sure, more prevalent qualities of Cornell's student body."

James B. Comly '58 of Bayside, a fifth-year student in Electrical Engineering, received the $250 Blonder-Tongue Foundation Scholarship Award for high scholastic attainment and demonstration of outstanding potential in the field of electronics. Sheldon Williams, managing director of the Foundation, presented the award to Comly. The Foundation is supported by Blonder-Tongue Laboratories, Inc., Newark, N.J.

Dance Club presented a "dance workshop" in the Risley Hall recreation room, January 15. Among the leading performers was Esther M. Schiller '59 of Brooklyn, president of the Club. Miss Schiller won a scholarship to attend the Christmas course at the Martha Graham Dance Studio in New York City. Other members of the Dance Club participated in a dance workshop conference at the Steffi Nossen Studio in Larchmont during Christmas vacation.

Student Council Human Relations Commission leaders Mark J. Kesselman '59 of Peekskill and Judy A. Rojas '61 of Malverne have written a pamphlet, "Fair Play in Housing," which explains the situation in Ithaca with respect to discrimination tendencies in housing. Members of the Council Commission will soon begin a personal campaign to curb discrimination by discussing housing problems with Collegetown and other Ithaca landlords.

Antti J. Koivuniemi, Grad, of Vaasa, Finland, is one of 126 outstanding graduate students from thirty-five countries awarded Rotary Foundation Fellowships for this year. Koivuniemi, who graduated from Finland Institute of Technology in Helsinki in 1956, is studying Electrical Engineering at Cornell. Another Rotary Fellowship winner is Nelson A. Borelli of San Nicolas, Buenos Aires, Argentina, who is studying hospital organization for the mentally ill at the Cornell Medical College division of Bellevue Hospital in New York City.

THE FACULTY

One of 256 trees planted in a major land conservation program at the Thor Research Center for Better Farm Living near Marengo, Ill., has been dedicated to President Deane W. Malott. Trees were dedicated also to President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, governors and US senators of all States, and other prominent figures. Thor Research Center was founded two years ago by Neil C. Hurley, Jr.

Controlling interest in the eighty-three-year-old Chicago Daily News, of which Trustee John S. Knight '18 has been editor and publisher since 1944, was sold January 5 to Field Enterprises, Inc. Knight Newspapers, members of the Knight family, and employees held more than 75 per cent of the 481,293 shares outstanding. Knight Newspapers owns The Akron Beacon Journal, The Detroit Free Press, The Miami Herald, and The Charlotte Observer.

Dean William A. Hagan, MS '17, of the Veterinary College, who will retire from the University June 30, has been appointed to take over next January as director of the new National Animal Disease Laboratory of the US Department of Agriculture at Ames, Iowa. He has been for many years a consultant to the Government on animal diseases and other veterinary medical problems. The $20,000,000 laboratory is scheduled to be completed early in 1960.

Trustee Walker L. Cisler '22 has been elected president of the Thomas Alva Edison Foundation. He succeeds the late Charles F. Kettering, who was president since the Foundation started in 1946. Edison Foundation carries on activities for improvement of science education. President of Detroit Edison Co. since 1951, Cisler has been a consultant on electric power to government agencies since the beginning of the Marshall Plan in 1948. Last August, he organized and led a group of ten officials of American utilities on a 5000-mile tour of electric power development in Russia. He told of this tour at a dinner meeting of the Cornell Club of Michigan in Detroit, January 5. Cisler has also been elected a director of Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States.

Sketch of Dr. Joseph C. Hinsey, Director of the New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center, appeared in the January issue of Fourfront, monthly publication by and for those who serve the Memorial Center for Cancer & Allied Diseases, New York City. It was the first in a series of introductions of Memorial Center managers and Sloan-Kettering Institute trustees.

Ira G. Ross, Director of the Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory in Buffalo, is chairman of the new research division of the American Ordnance Association. This is one of thirteen technical divisions organized to advise US defense forces on technical problems related to weapons research, engineering, and production techniques.

Professor J. Barkley Rosser, Mathematics, discussed "Results on the Completeness of Infinite Valued Logics" at the annual meeting of the Association for Symbolic Logic in Philadelphia, Pa., January 22, in conjunction with the American Mathematical Society meeting.

"Reappraisal: James Thurber, The Primitive, the Innocent, and the Individual," by Professor Robert H. Elias, English, appeared in the summer issue of The American Scholar.

President John C. Adams '26 of Hofstra College, former professor of English, received an honorary degree at the fall convocation of Long Island University, November 24. He was named recently to a new fifteen-member Council on Higher Education to the State Education Department, along with President Cornelis W. de Kiewiet of University of Rochester, former Acting President of Cornell, and Chancellor Clifford C. Furnas of University of Buffalo, former Director of the Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory.

Professor W. Donald Cooke, Chemistry, has been named to represent the division of analytical chemistry on the American Chemical Society council.

The Rev. Allen C. Best, Methodist chaplain here for the last sixteen years, became this fall director of the Alfred University Christian Association. He is also teaching in the State Agricultural & Technical School at Alfred and the graduate school of theology of Alfred University. The Rev. Hollis E. Hayward, formerly of Louisiana State University, is now Methodist chaplain.

Professor Jean T. McKelvey, Industrial & Labor Relations, has been reappointed for three years to the New York State Mediation Board.

Mrs. Marie Roberts, wife of Professor John M. Roberts, Sociology & Anthropology, died December 13, 1958.

Walter G. Bruska '50, Assistant Director of University Development, is 1959 chairman of the Cayuga District Boy Scouts of America.

Genetic Resistance to Disease in Domestic Animals, by Professor Frederick B. Hutt, Animal Genetics, has been published by Comstock Publishing Associates, a division of the Cornell University Press. The book, priced at $3.50, has 210 pages and thirty illustrations.

Maxine A. Vogely, MA '47, former graduate assistant in Psychology, has been named dean of women at Hiram College, Hiram, Ohio.

Mohamed M. Tewfik, PhD '53, has come back to the University for this year as visiting assistant professor of Soils Engineering in the School of Civil Engineering. He has been teaching at Cairo University in Egypt.

In his presidential address at the fifty-fifth annual meeting of the American Philosophical Association, Eastern Division, at University of Vermont in Burlington, December 27-29, Professor Max Black, Philosophy, discussed "Language and Reality." He also presided at a symposium on "Science Versus Humanities in the School Curriculum: A Philosophical Analysis of the Present Crisis." Professor David Sachs participated in a discussion of "Ordinary Language and Ordinary Terms" and Professor Norman Malcolm, in a symposium on "Knowledge of Other Minds."

Professor Carl W. Gartlein, PhD '29, Physics, Director of the International Geophysical Year Auroral Data Center at the University, delivered a Sigma Xi lecture, January 15, in Baker Laboratory. He discussed "Cornell's Part in the IGY."

DEXTER PERKINS (above) retires this February as the first John L. Senior Professor of American Civilization, leaving a profound impression on the Cornell community as the result of his five and a half years here. One legacy is that his overflow crowds, and the recent jam to hear former Prime Minister Clement Atlee, have called down Safety Patrol rules limiting attendance in University buildings strictly to seating capacity only. In a way, this is somewhat of a pity, as it was rather appealing to see students (and older people) packing the aisles and entrances and "adoring the master."

Dexter Perkins Retires

University lectures usually draw disappointingly, but Professor Perkins captured Campus fancy from the beginning with his delightful style, ease of delivery, manifest extraordinary knowledge of history in general and American foreign and domestic relations in particular, and his ability to bring things into sharp focus, to make history breathe. Olin Hall lecture room M was the regular location for his evening talks. It became a Campus problem whether to arrive a half-hour ahead or stay home. With the accession of Alice Statler Auditorium and its 920 seats, the dilemma seemed solved. False hope.

ernell Alumni News

His last three lectures, on the latest three American Presidents, were scheduled there and I went serenely to the first and just barely squeezed in; hundreds didn't. For the second, the restriction was in effect; I got into the balcony at 7:42, doors were shut at 7:54, and the lecture started twelve minutes ahead of its scheduled time of 8:15. A public-address system piped his words to a big lounge below. The third lecture was shifted to Bailey Hall, with its 2047 seats, and it was packed. Mrs. Senior, who endowed the chair in memory of her late husband, John L. Senior '01, was present and was thanked by Provost Sanford S. Atwood, presiding.

I don't need to go into detail about the lectures. F.D.R. took up all of the first and part of the second. Perkins said F. D.R. was one of our most loved and hated Presidents. I was not one of his idolators, though I recognize his stature. I was living in Paris when he blithely pulled the plug on the dollar. I still think it was a shameful thing to do; that international monetary honesty took a death blow when we, who didn't have to, demonetized. Perkins excused it. He was fair in reminding young listeners that the New Deal did not end unemployment and the depression; that took World War II. He pointed out that much of the New Deal remains and is accepted as a great social movement. He said that F.D.R. was a great political leader and a great war leader, though with some wrong judgments, such as being too optimistic on the Russians and the Chinese.

Perkins thought Truman "one of our more successful Presidents," saying that the "Pendergast product" rose to the greatness of his office. He did not spare H.S.T. in his weaknesses, but stressed the many tremendous foreign policy decisions he was called upon to make.

I was in New York and missed the lecture on Eisenhower, but heard it broadcast later by the Radio Guild station, WVBR. Professor Perkins approached Ike with trepidation, due to lack of perspective, and urged his audience not to overestimate the influence of an individual President in the presence of great social forces. He called Ike a great soldier, a great American, and said he expressed the country's mood of moderation in 1952. He thinks Ike overdelegates authority. He has not been a great party leader. As a national leader, he has not "the gift of tongues" and has not been able to project an effective image of himself. Perhaps his most important contribution has been his build-up of the office of Vice President. He could have handled desegregation better. In foreign affairs, our relations with our allies are now better than at any time in his administration. Perkins admitted to ma-laise as regards fiscal orthodoxy versus national defense, but he had cautionary words for some "starry-eyed friends" in their advocacy of indiscriminate grants to some countries in Latin America, for instance.

In closing, Professor Perkins said:

I now come to the end of my last public lecture as the John L. Senior Professor of

Addresses
Students

American Civilization. I want to address my closing words to that part of the undergraduate body which is here this evening; the undergraduate body which ought to be, and I am certain often is, the inspiration of the teacher and the best hope of his teaching.

A college education may mean technical excellence, a vocational skill of one kind or another, but it surely means something else and I should like to say, just for a few moments, what it seems to me to mean and what residuum I should like to leave, beyond some fugitive knowledge of the facts of American foreign policy, from the years that I have taught at Cornell.

The first thing it means, ladies and gentlemen of the undergraduate body, is respect for the data. How incredibly shallow, how incredibly thin, our judgments are! Let us see to it that, within the limits of the possible, we make them more informed, more profound, more cognizant of the facts. This is the first duty of the educated man and nothing has primacy over it.

The second obligation of the educated man or woman, as I see it, is that he or she will think disinterestedly. We are all, again, very limited human beings. We are the products of our own special environments, we echo the clichés of our class, of our own particular group. We ought to be better than that! We ought to think of the public interest in terms that liberate us from our private egotisms and our private aspirations. This is not an easy thing to do, but it is an essential thing to do.

We talk of socialism: socialism is on the decline in Europe and it never has exercised, literally described, a great influence in the United States. We do not want it here in the terms in which I would literally define it. What we want is a social spirit: a spirit that puts the pleasures of the individual in a lower scale of values than the needs of society, which is ready to make the sacrifices called upon to make America a greater and a happier and a finer land. And this again is central to the life of the educated man.

And thirdly, what we want is courage. We shall be living in a dangerous age. There will be many problems to face. There will be many dangers ahead. We must rally our will and our resolution to confront them. If we are weak and fat and contented, we shall not succeed. We are confronted with a competition greater than any that has ever come before, and we must, of course, if we are to win that competition, show courage as well as learning and as well as generous social spirit.

These are the things I would say to you in my closing words to a public audience at Cornell University. To you the undergraduates of this University: I salute you and wish you well!

The audience rose and applauded as the speaker concluded his remarks and remained standing and applauding until he left the platform. Dexter Perkins has been named University Professor Emeritus, the first with this title. It is doubly remarkable because of his short residence here. He has been president of the Salzburg Seminars for many years and will attend again this year, along with travel in Europe, meeting speech-making engagements and completing a book. He has certainly been a stimulating influence as the first University Professor!

Concerts Fill Bailey Hall

MUSIC LOVERS were treated to outstanding recitals by Nathan Milstein, violinist, and Claudio Arrau, pianist, in the final two University concerts of 1958. For both, audiences braved high winds and below-freezing weather to fill Bailey Hall nearly to capacity.

Making his second appearance in Ithaca in the last sixteen years, November 21, Milstein presented a program that fully demonstrated his sensitive musicianship and great technical virtuosity. Particularly notable were Handel's "Sonata in D Major"; Brahms' "Sonata in D Minor"; and the brilliant and demanding "Caprices Nos. 11 and 5" by Paganini. Also featured were Mozart's "Adagio in E Major" and "Rondo in C Major"; Bloch's "Nigun" (from "Baal Shem"); Wieniawski's "Scherzo-tarantella"; and Milstein's transcription of Chopin's "Nocturne in C Sharp Minor." Leon Pommers was the accompanist.

Arrau's concert, December 9, proved him to be not only a pianist of first-class artistic ability but also one who is competent to deal with all "types" of music. Opening his recital with a clear and precise rendition of Mozart's "Sonata in D Major, K. 576," he followed with Schönberg's modern, twelve-tone, frequently discordant "Drei Klavierstücke, Opus 11" and Beethoven's "Sonata in C Minor, Opus 111," a work demanding a wide range of dynamics and a powerful technique. The second half of the concert was the playing of all twenty-four of Chopin's Preludes. Here, Arrau displayed all the sensitivity, delicacy, and attention to lyrical beauty that has earned him his reputation as one of the world's foremost interpreters of romantic music.

Represent University

CORNELL DELEGATE at the inauguration of Ralph W. Steen as president of Stephen F. Austin State College in Nacogdoches, Tex., February 7, was Willis C. Royall, Jr., MS '54, of Nacogdoches.

Lewis E. Fitch '22 of West Monroe, La., will represent the University at the inauguration of George T. Walker as president of Northeast Louisiana State College in Monroe, February 20 & 21.

News of the Alumni

Addresses are in New York State unless otherwise noted. Personal items, newspaper clippings, or other notes about Cornellians are welcomed for publication. Class columns are written by correspondents whose names appear. Names & addresses in column headings are for Classes with group subscriptions or those in which at least half the members are News subscribers.

'94 CE—Class Secretary Thomas S. Clark, 29-03 214th Street, Bayside, was honored by his community on his eighty-seventh birthday, November 20, with an exhibit of 200 of his water colors at Bayside Federal Savings & Loan Association. His picture and a biographical sketch appeared in the November 13 Bayside Times. Clark retired in 1938 as president of Custodis Chimney Construction Co., New York City. The former star of the TV program "Life Begins at Eighty" began to paint in 1951 and has since researched and painted 300 historic American homesteads.

'01 LLB—Herbert D. Cohen is "semi-retired." He moved from Jackson Heights to Croton Falls (Box 27) in November. He still practices law in New York City. He has four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

'05 ME—William J. Miskella had as guests at a Cleveland Rotary Club dinner, December 30, Arthur D. Camp '05 of Rye, James C. F. Shafer '05 (Kiwanian) of Cleveland, and Frederick W. Scheidenhelm '05 of Chagrin Falls, Ohio. Mrs. Shafer and Mrs. Miskella were also there. Miskella's firm is The Miskella Infra-Red Co., manufacturers of infra-red ovens, appliances, sectional units, machines, and conveyors, with main office and laboratory at East Seventy-third & Grand Avenue, Cleveland 4, Ohio.

'06 AB, '07 MA—Rev. Frank B. Crandall of 29 Winter Island Road, Salem, Mass., ritualist of Phi Gamma Delta, has an article, "The Drama of Our Academic Ancestry," illustrated with pictures of Oxford University and Harvard buildings, in the current number of the interfraternity journal, Banta's Greek Exchange.

'07 DVM—Dr. Ralph F. Knight of Little Valley is retired and right now at 2060 Thirty-second Avenue, Vero Beach, Fla.

I quote some of the jottings recently received. W. F. "Pete" Peterson, ME, 210 Ridgewood Rd., Baltimore 10, Md., writes: "Marj (my secretary of war) and I have just returned from a ten-week trip to Alaska, Japan, Taiwan, Hong Kong, Thailand, Cambodia, Philippines, and Hawaii, the purpose of which was to observe the people's attitude to world affairs and geopolitical developments with special emphasis on Quemoy. The trip was a great success, perfect in all respects but two. First, it showed up my age; I just can't take it as I used to. Secondly, my conclusion is that we are doing more to lose the Far East and making much more progress in that direction than the Reds are in winning the campaign from the northern tip of Japan to the western end of Thailand; the people there despise the Reds, but won't put up with our semantics, vacillations, and damn foolishness."

A letter to Frank Aime from Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Aston, Transportation Consultants, Inc., PO Box 1136, Bangkok, Thailand, reads: "Dear People, Jean and I are enjoying this spot in the tropics as an interesting stop-over on our way around the world. I am running a survey (economic) of the transportation system of the country while we are here. It gives point to our trip, even if it does cause some headaches. Hope everything is fine with you. Sincerely, Herb."

Will Hallet, Pawling, writes: "We leave December 29 for a four-month trip. January in Palm Springs, Cal., then Honolulu, Manila, Bangkok, Ceylon, several places in India, Singapore, three-week boat trip around Indonesia, Saigon, Hong Kong, then Japan. Expect to see great changes after thirty-six years. Best regards, W. H." "There is no excuse for George's not attending his 50th Reunion as he retired from active business as of December 15. Attention of Mr. H. A. Lincoln, please."—J. A. Z. (George H. Zouck), 605 Upland Road, Pikesville 8, Md.)

Merritt Harrison, architect, 1001 Architects Building, Indianapolis 4, Ind.: "Five grandchildren. Actively participate in a yearly oratorical coaching program for boys under sixteen. Educational scholarship sponsored by the Optimist Club International, Local, recreation, swimming. Recently moved into the Essex House, apartment building designed and built by me and located across the street from my office. George S. Hendrickson, 1555 Half Day Rd., Bannockburn, Deerfield, Ill., "August 1 gave up the general manager job of Republic Flow Meters Co., but remain as vice-president in a consulting capacity working part-time. Held the job for twelve years and have been with the same company for forty years."

'12 Men—Friday the Thirteenth has always been a day of good omen for '12 men. It's the logical selection, March 13, as the time for the annual gathering in New York, at the Cornell Club. Most of the diners, naturally enough, will live in the New York City area, but all Classmates are welcome, naturally enough. The Blizzard of '88 will be celebrated, as is our curious and sentimental wont, and plans will be laid for another "off-year" Reunion in June. Men who can make the March party will help in its planning by sending a note to Walter Kuhn at 115 Broadway, New York 6. Beyond the memory of man, Dale Carson has been president of this Metropolitan area group, but he retired last fall and took off with Mrs. Dale on a junket into the West.

F. William (Bill) Barrett wound up forty-four years of service in December, when he retired as Farm Superintendent at the College of Agriculture. One hundred and sixty friends hailed him at a dinner and Dean William I. Myers '14 cited Bill for "many services and deeds performed beyond the call of duty." His stretch of years was notable for steady work on one location. Considered an expert on farm equipment, Bill started at Cornell in 1914 as Assistant Farm Superintendent and became head man three years later.

A few weeks ago, we singled out for special acclaim Fritz Krebs, long a Cornell leader in Cleveland. Our notation referred to his record as a Chi Phi. We noted the special party at the chapter house to do honor to an unbroken record of attendance at initiation ceremonies, starting with his own, when Fritz was a Freshman back in 1908. Jack Magoun is another '12 man to establish a string without a break in it. Last Thanksgiving Day found him at Franklin Field for his fiftieth consecutive Pennsylvania game. As a Freshman in 1908 Jack saw his first, and he hasn't ever missed. There was no game in 1918. In his latest "confidential letter" Bob Kane '34, Director of Athletics, devoted his concluding paragraph to the Magoun story.

Fred Murphy is primarily a generous Cornell man. He is also a member of the council of the State University Agricultural & Technical Institute at Delhi where he recently made a handsome gift: the provision of funds for twenty-five $300 scholarships at the Institute. Fred has long been associated with the Grolier Society, publishers of the Book of Knowledge and the Encyclopedia Americana; he is now chairman of the board.

Austin Dunbar, Ithaca resident whose talents include a tenor voice that has lost nothing in the aging, was a feature of a traditional concert, Thanksgiving Day. Alumni of the Ithaca High School Glee Club present their annual program that morning, and this year marked the end of fifty years. Austin is the oldest member in the lot and has performed every year. This Thanksgiving he sang the verse of the "Alumni Song."

pital laid up with a badly-broken leg. Of all times, it happened Christmas day. A heluva Christmas present! Leg broken in two places. He is back at home now, but really is immobilized, as he is in a plaster cast, almost from head to toe. As you know, Freddie has been our perennial Five-Year-Reunion Class chairman, serving in that capacity time after time, including our 45th last June. Also, he is secretary of the Syracuse Chamber of Commerce and has held the position for so many years that he holds the record for the longest term of office in one city of any C of C secretary in the country. Write him at his home, 416 Douglas Street, Syracuse 3, and cheer him up.

Opie (Charles H.) Newman, 311 Savings Bank Bldg., Ithaca, resigned the first of this year as county attorney after serving twenty-five years in that capacity, and will now devote full time to his private practice. He was appointed to the county post in 1934 as the first county attorney and had been re-appointed twelve times continuously ever since by as many boards of supervisors. Opie has always been active in civic affairs. He founded a troop of Boy Scouts in 1916 and served as its scoutmaster for ten years, and became a member of the executive board, and served as president of the Council for three years. He also served as president of the Ithaca YMCA, the Tompkins County Bar Association, and the Union Free School District. He is a member of the Rotary Club and the New York State Bar Association. He has two children, both married.

Louis (Louis R.) Gons, 421 Grant Avenue, Highland Park, N.J., became a grandfather for the first time last year. The grandchild's name is Richard Gons Comell and Louis says he is scheduled for the Class of Cornell '75. As both the young gentleman's parents also attended Cornell, I would call that a true Cornell family—grandfather, parents and grandson.

Eddie (Edward M.) Urband, 16 Holland Terrace, Montclair, N.J., retired last March. He was back at our 45th last June and if I remember aright, had a family trip planned after the Reunion to Yellowstone. Hope you made it, Eddie.

Then here are a couple of more retirements, and the first announcement seems to be considerably behind the times. Walter E. Wanner, Happy Hollow Road, RD 1, Olean, retired in 1954 after thirty-eight years with Socony Mobil Oil Co. in refinery operation in Olean and abroad. Hank (Frank) Henry, 100 Gibbs St., Rochester 5, is also retired, date unknown. When Hank was in school, his hobby was photography. Now his hobby is oil and water color painting. Just shows how, as time marches on, one becomes dissatisfied with nature as is, photography, and goes in for nature as one thinks it should be, painting. His other hobby is golf, where he may look for other kinds of birdies than those shown in his paintings.

Nuff ced. S'long!

'13 Women—Ethel Vernon Patterson of Wilmington, Del. attended the meeting of the Alumni Annual Giving representatives which was held in New York City, January 17. Ethel Fogg Clift and Irene Spindler Urban, both of New York City, also were at the meeting.

Dorothy Bustard's address is 641 San Marino Place, Bryn Mawr, Pa., not 649 as previously stated.

Annetta Nicoll Platt now lives in Madison, N.J. (PO Box 603). Her husband, Phillip Platt, retired from business in October.

Christmas cards keep popping up from where I secrete them for future reference; some I've probably secreted so thoroughly they'll show up about July 4. Chuck Bassett's (always topical) showed him bidding farewell to his Buffalo Meter Co. Ramsay Spillman resurrected his of 1933 showing the "Spillman Portage" of four on a bike, adding "A quarter-century later it still applies." Ben Weisbrod showed Santa in an auto of still earlier vintage. Harold Riegelman demonstrated his hand had not lost its Widow cartoon training by drawing a family tree with profiles of its twelve members. Lou Zagoren sent postcard aloha greetings from Royal Hawaiian Hotel, Honolulu; was there with his wife; had seen Bob Houdry, "who seems to be in charge of everything abuilding here." I remember others from Warren Scott, the Doc Peters, and Lint Harts. I didn't know that Dick Ainsworth was an artist, but he sent a pencilled sketch of a cat: "This is Cheetah 'Our Blessed Event'." George Barnes, with son George E. Barnes '51 as co-signer, even remembered my birthday. Is. Asen sent greetings from East Orange after a nightmarish recovery from what had promised to be an ordinary repair job in the hospital the end of October. All right now, and expecting to "play ball or sumpthin' come June 12." Is. has been reappointed for three years on the New Jersey Board of Medical Examiners; his angle, the examination of bio-analysts for licenses and the inspection of clinical laboratories. He was intrigued that his daughter, Betty '41, whom I remember pleasantly from Spanish class, reads these Notes.

From another Buffalonian, Truman H. (Toot) Griswold: "I lost my beloved wife after forty-one years of happy life together. I am living alone until I can find a housekeeper without matrimonial aspirations. (Do they exist?) I am retiring from National Aniline Division of Allied Chemical, December 31, after thirty-five years at the Buffalo plant. For the last fifteen years, since the passing of the strong back and weak mind idea of labor, I have been on the mechanization of material handling. I hope to get back for Reunion this June if by that time I think I may survive the pace. My plans to come in 1954 were thwarted at the last moment by my wife's critical illness."

Bill Upson tipped me off that Frank Sullivan has the lead story in the newly-published Saturday Evening Post Carnival of Humor, called "The Ugly Mollusk." Bill has one, too. Bill added: "Polly still remembers the night you translated the jokes for us at that night club in Buenos Aires. When a man can translate a joke that was probably not much good in the first place from Spanish into English and have it come out funny enough so my daughter can laugh about it five years later, the man must be good."

Re the younger generation in this auto age, today's Cornell Sun editorializes about allowing a student "as free a reign as his talents merit. . . ." I suppose they think we used to steer a horse with a wheel.

G. Gilson (Terry) Terribery, 230 Park Avenue, New York 17, represented our Class at the Cornell activities meetings in New York, January 17. More on this later.

Arthur A. Raymond, 5521 Olive Street, Kansas City 30, Mo. writes: "District sales manager, Republic Steel Corp., Truscon Division, Kansas City, Mo. Active in Masonic fraternity, grand commander of Knights Templar of Missouri last year. Worthy grand patron of the Order of Eastern Star of Missouri this year. In favor of Class directory."

Braton R. Gardner, 7400 SW 70th Terrace, Miami 43, Fla., although living in Florida, is not just sitting around sunning himself. He is contract manager for General Development Corp., selling lots and homes in Florida on the installment plan at the rate of about 1000 sales a week, with around 70,000 active accounts on their books. Brate favors our getting out a Class directory. He invites Classmates to come in and see him.

A card of greeting from Raymond M. Kennedy, 1343 Highland Ave., Glendale 2, Cal. He plans to attend the American Institute of Architects in Hawaii next October and hopes to see some Cornell architects. Winthrop Kent, 250 Middlesex Road, Buffalo 16, sends greetings and says he favors our getting out a Class directory prior to our 1960 Reunion. He asks for Samuel H. (Bunny) Worrell's address. I don't have it in my '15 card file.

Wilbur J. Barnes, 106 North Adams Street, Rockville, Md., writes: "Still in practice as consulting engineer and attorney at law with office in Washington, D.C. Hope a directory will be published prior to 1960 Reunion."

Bentley M. McMullin, 200 Dayton St., Denver 8 (Aurora), Colo., reports: "Have practiced law in Denver since 1915, principally general civil practice. Served in WW I nine months in AEF and in WW II, four and a half years in Navy, three years overseas. Now commander, USNR, ret., past-president of Aurora Rotary Club (1957-8). May not be able to attend Reunion, hence express no strong preference on Class directory, but think it's a good idea."

Charles H. Reader, 181 Lenox Road, Brooklyn 26, writes: "Two grandchildren, Jeffrey and Janet. Their father, Arthur M. Reader '52, Phi Beta Kappa, is now a graduate student in chemistry at University of Texas, in Austin. A Class directory would be a great asset to our Class."

Charles P. Heidt, Lombardy Hotel, 111 East 56th Street, New York, returned recently from Paris where arrangements were made for the production of his musical, "Janine," in French. It will be presented there in June.

A. G. May, East Woods Road, RD 2, Pound Ridge, retired from Vacuum Oil Co. and other interests about a year ago. He had been president of the board of education in Pound Ridge and now is fire commissioner and president and trustee of the public library.

Donald McMaster (above) was recently made chairman of the newly-formed executive committee of Eastman Kodak Co. of Rochester. He has been a director and vice-president and general manager of the company for some time. The other members of this newly-formed executive committee are Albert K. Chapman, president of the company, and Thomas J. Hargrave, chairman of the board of directors. The executive committee will function as a committee of the board of directors and will act for the board when necessary in interim periods between board meetings.

Donald joined Eastman Kodak as a chemist in 1917 and gained increasing responsibilities in the company's film manufacturing operations. In 1933, he became assistant to the production manager at Rochester headquarters. He went abroad in 1935 as assistant manager of the Harrow, England factory of Kodak Ltd. He was appointed factory manager in 1939, was elected a director of the British company in 1940, and in 1945 became assistant deputy of the board and joint general manager for operations in European countries. He became deputy chairman of Kodak Ltd. board in 1946. The following year, he returned to Kodak headquarters in Rochester and was elected vice-president and assistant general manager. He became general manager of the company in 1952.

Donald was born in Great Britain, received his early education in Europe and Maine, USA. He later studied at Cornell and University of Buffalo, where he received his degree in chemistry. He has been a long-time enthusiast of photography and has received numerous awards and honors for his work in the field. He was, for example, the first non-British person to be president of the Royal Photographic Society of Great Britain.

Word was received from Dr. Henry Kessler, recently in Australia, where he attended the Pan Pacific Conference on Rehabilitation with Dr. Howard Rusk. He advises that their welcome in Australia was outstanding and their contributions in the field of rehabilitation were deeply appreciated.

'17 Men—Many of our Classmates are "on the loose" again! Ben Potar wrote that he and Mrs. Potar expected to leave the latter part of January for a motor trip through the South, returning early in April for our annual '17 dinner at the Cornell Club of New York Tuesday, April 21. Glen Acheson and Mrs. Acheson are taking several weeks to cruise in the sunshine of the West Indies, but he, too, will be back for our Class dinner. George Hecht wrote that he and Mrs. Hecht expected to leave January 20 for an extensive trip through East and South Africa, going by way of Paris, where George will be honored at a luncheon given by the International Federation of the Periodical Press of which he is vice-president for North America. They will then visit Uganda, Kenya, Rhodesia, Union of South Africa, Mozambique, The Belgian Congo, and French Equatorial Africa. Hope you get back, George, for our New York dinner!

Conversely, Charles (Tommy) Thompson and Mrs. Thompson have returned home after three and one half years in Israel, Ethiopia, and other areas in the Near (or is it "Middle") East. Tommy had retired, then, deciding to make his life as unselfishly useful as possible, he offered his services to the Government and was sent to Israel to teach improved agricultural methods. And Gabe Lund writes from Guayaquil, Ecuador: "Happy New Year! Our contract terminates February 15, so I shall soon be on my way home. My address after that date will be 2412 NE Ocean Blvd., Fort Lauderdale, Fla. I hear from our Classmate Aquiles Armas Mendez in Trujillo, Peru, every once in a while. He is a good Cornelian and a good friend. I hope he will be able to attend our Class Reunion in 1962." Gabe has been in Ecuador for several years, engineering road and bridge construction. He mailed us a picture of their biggest bridge, now completed. Gabe sends best wishes to all his Classmates and Cornell friends.

Ted Townsend, well-known farm columnist and agricultural writer, retired from active work December 31 and he and Mrs. Townsend are now basking in the Florida sunshine. His "Town and City" column in the Utica Daily Press was known throughout the northeastern States. He expects to return for the summer to his twelve acres at "Towns End," RD 2, Waterville, where he will continue work on his flowers and vegetables and also to serve as justice of the peace. John Collyer is taking a well-deserved rest in Florida, too, but will return for our annual '17 Class dinner in New York. Remember the date for our "Baby Reunion" is Tuesday, April 21!

We Southerners have problems, and so it was nice the other day to have a long talk about them with a leading Southerner who, in addition to being Class president is also a Judge of the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals. Tut Tuttle was in Washington briefly on his way up from Atlanta, Ga. to attend a Cornell Board of Trustees meeting in New York City, which gave us a splendid opportunity to hash over the problems presented in our respective communities by the segregation-integration fight.

Tut never seems to lose his energy. Not only does he have a job which keeps him moving between Atlanta, New Orleans, Houston, Montgomery, and Jacksonville, and sitting up nights to write opinions, but he also lives a fabulous life as a college and university trustee. First, of course, there is the Cornell Board on which he has long served, but he is also a trustee of Spelman College (Negro women's college), Morehouse (Negro men's college), and Atlanta University (another Negro university in his own city). But even that isn't all. He will likewise serve as a trustee of the new International Theological Center which will be opened in Atlanta next fall to take over theological education now being carried on by four separate Negro divinity schools. Partly, I am sure, in recognition of all these activities, Tut was given an honorary LLD degree last June (just before he took off for Ithaca to attend our own 40th Reunion) by Atlanta's famous Emory University. Well, for a man whose activities must obviously be restricted by the fact of his being a high Federal Judge, Tut certainly seems to have found an outlet for his energies by making a hobby of his interest in education.

And speaking of education reminds me that another Classmate has just received recognition in that field. Hugh Cosline, editor of American Agriculturist, has just been named to the Agricultural Education Council of the New York State Board of Regents, a branch of the State Education Department, for five years.

The annual meeting of various Cornell alumni groups, held in New York at the Biltmore Hotel, January 17, was attended by these members of our Class: Stevenson, Saperston, Christie, James, Colonel Brown, Beakes, Measday, Bemis, Beggs, and Chilton Wright. All, of course, participated in the various meetings concerned with Reunions, ALUMNI NEWS, Class treasurers and Class secretaries, and the Fund raising groups, but we had a Class get-together during lunch when we were all able to sit together at one table. It was a fine opportunity to compare notes on progress in our efforts to make our 40th Reunion outstanding.

You will be hearing from Colonel Brown, chairman of our Reunion committee on attendance, and he will keep you posted on the constantly growing number of your old friends who will be in Ithaca, June 12 & 13. Better get on the band-wagon if you haven't already said you're coming!

John W. de Forest, 528 Warren Road, Ithaca, reports that he is coming to Reunion and comments further as follows: "These old coots boasting of their grandchildren make me smile. Our older daughter is a Sophomore at Cornell, our younger a junior at Ithaca High. Recommend that others retire to Ithaca and stay young. I wear a red plaid (Ivy) cap like other members of the younger set on the Hill! Had Ross Preston and wife Helen as week-end guests recently, also a visit from Morg Kendall and his wife Happy Parsons '19 along in the summer. Tried to get Chud Gillespie up for the Dartmouth game, but he settled for the 40th in June. Jimmy Wilson did get up for the Dartmouth game, however. This is a fine place to see old friends." Many thanks, Jack, for the news and good advice!

Rudolph H. Deetjen, 28 Clearman Place, Belleville, N.J., can always be counted on for valuable help in Class activities, and in addition to assisting Jimmy Janes in his important Cornell Fund project, is helping Ed Carples in Reunion committee work. In responding to Lloyd Bemis, Rudy says he's "still a member of the New York Stock Exchange and doing my best to keep it successful." In view of Rudy's success with the Dow Jones averages, is it any wonder that Ed Carples and Jimmy Janes have persuaded him to lend a hand! See you on the Hill in June, Rudy!

G. Ruhland Rebmann, Jr., 10 W. Old Gulph Rd., Gladwyne, Pa., reports that "Dick Dyckman, after retiring from business, entered politics and in November was elected mayor of Plainfield, N.J., Republican, of course." He says further, "I spent two weeks in Alaska last summer and if this were 1919 I probably would go there to live and no doubt become a Senator from that great State." That sounds like a great idea; maybe it isn't too late to look into the political situation along the Main Line, Ruhland! Let's discuss this in Ithaca next June.

Dick (Richard P. Dyckman, 910 Belvidere Avenue, Plainfield, N.J.) confirms those political rumors that he "was elected mayor of Plainfield, November 4, on the Republican ticket. It's a two-year job." However, as a good politician, Dick, we are counting on you to plan a junket to Ithaca next June 12 & 13. By the way, when is the next election of a governor in New Jersey?

Where's the guy who said we don't have old-fashioned winters any more? Probably lying under a palm tree fanning himself! We recognize the variety; as soon as the first flake flutters down from a leaden sky and their "blood turns from red to blue," they high-tail it outta here by train or plane to get away from it all. S'funny the more calendar leaves we tear off, the less glamorous becomes the soft, sparkling snow, the ski slide, the ice pond. Somehow they gradually lose their appeal. With tons of the stuff dumped on us and when 15° seems like a heat wave, it's time to take a look at the travel folders. And Ole Brer Ground Hog, like the Jack Parr show, says there's more to come.

One who is not worrying, though, is Beneficent Ben Reuther, still searching the Virgin Islands (dunt esk for vat). Writing under the pseudonym of Reuther Investment Associates, Ben reports that his agricultural project is progressing apace, and providing they get fair rainfall, and providing their insecticides are effective, and providing the rats don't beat them to the corn, and providing the natives don't go on strike, and providing they can keep the wild deer and animules out, he'll have a harvesting crop come spring. Ben's starving though, for company, and you'll get a great welcome if you stop off at Christiansted, St. Croix, and say hello.

The latest adventure of Marco (Coon-skin Jeff Kilborne, who likes every sport but polo, took him to South Carolina before Thanksgiving to shoot himself a wild turkey, or ducks or geese. Jeff says his daily diet has been trout for breakfast, quail for lunch, wild duck and venison for dinner, having shot an 8-point buck, and stayed until he ate it up. He's resting up in Florida now and by March he and boon companion Gordon MacKenzie sail on the S.S. Brazil for a South American cruise. You can bet it'll be a warm day in April when they get back North, Oh, for the life of a Moravian!

We're hopeful the recent Cuban upheaval didn't give the heave-ho to Miguel Chinchilla "Mike" Varona, who is consulting engineer to the sugar industry, supervising thirty-six mills. Among other things Mike is happy that his daughter Carimba has given him two grandchildren, that his son-in-law from Georgia Tech works with him, and that his youngest son, Antonio, will enter Cornell next fall. Mike sends special greetings to Don Leith, John Pujol, also in Havana, can't stop designing structures; he likes it so well, but not nearly as much as he does his new granddaughter.

Big Cornell doings in Paris, too, in December when Graham "Spike" Livingston's daughter, Nancy R. Livingston '55, and Robert H. Hopkins '57 were married, each to the other. Bob is serving a stretch as a lieutenant in the Army. Tough assignment with a Paris honeymoon. Imagine! So far no "post cards" from Spike. Ralph D. Huszagh of Winnetka, Ill. has forsaken his Boul. Mich. address after thirty years and opened an architectural office at 604 Green Bay Road, Kenilworth. Son Ralph "Fritz" Huszagh '51 is associated with him. We've drawn some nice new neighbors we hadn't planned on.

We're a little late, folks, so good-night. We'll be back with the lion in March.

'21 L. Wainwright Voigt
7423 Richland Manor Dr.

A well-deserved honor has come to Freeman S. Howlett, 1224 N. Palmer St., Wooster, Ohio. At the annual meeting of the American Society for Horticultural Science at Indiana University several months ago, Freeman was elected president of that organization. He is also a member of the governing board of the American Institute of Biological Sciences.

John Knight Holbrook of 1158 5th Avenue, New York City, spends his spare time, but good, as chairman of the Manhattan Leadership Gifts program. Holy, you always were a smooth conversationalist. I'm sure the contributions to Cornell are being raised after a short pep talk by you!

Albert L. Lentz, after living in Pittsburgh for many years, now hangs his hat at 39 Union Ave., SE, Grand Rapids 6, Mich. Bert is still in the machine tool business and says he does his bending exercises every morning to get in shape for our 40th. Bert bending? Ha! His elbow maybe, with a baton in his hand!

William M. Cooper, 385 Tremont Place, Orange, N.J., has a good excuse to go to Oklahoma City, just for the ride, to visit with his two grandsons living there. Bill also took time off last fall to tour England, Scotland, and Wales in an English Ford.

Also, Dr. Warren M. Sperry, 722 W.

168th St., New York City, spent nearly three months in Europe last year. While over there, he attended a couple of international conferences dealing with neurochemistry and biochemistry.

You just can't keep a good man from going places! We have such a good treasurer of our Class that George Munsick has been elected president of two outstanding banking institutions in a recent merger of Morristown Trust Co. and the First Bank & Trust Co. of Madison, N.J. As you know, George has been president of Morristown Trust Co. for some time. The new bank, The Trust Co. of Morris County, will have eight officers and resources of more than $64,000,000. Personally, I think the Class of '21 should start a President's Club!

By the way, I'm running out of material. Have enough for the next two issues (March). I'll print anything that will get by the censors! Let's have a good story, travel, an honor received, or just a note on how to retire and enjoy it.

'22 Men—When a man moves from one place to another, there must be a reason. Therefore, when he merely sends in a card asking that his address be changed from where he lived to where he lives, he is withholding interesting information. For example, at our age, the most frequent changes we get are from where the climate is cold to Florida. When that happens, it is a pretty safe bet to assume that the writer of the postcard had recently retired after thirty-five years with "Acme Corp." and is now living in Florida. He and his wife have spruced up on their bridge and Bill is playing golf more regularly. Now and then, he will catch a marlin, but mostly he likes to relax under the palms holding a tall cool glass of orange juice or something. Such a story could be a standard pattern about all movers to Florida. Ray L. Hahn of Niantic, Conn. and Cortez, Fla. is the latest to come under that category.

The other angle is about the PhD who had recently moved into the Washington area. All we have to say here is that Dr. So and So, director of research for "Acme Corp." the last several years, has accepted a post as a consultant on rockets and missiles in Washington, D.C., with headquarters in the Pentagon. That might possibly apply to Roy C. Spencer who recently moved from Lexington, Mass., where he was director of research at Waltham Laboratories of Sylvania, to 109 Springview Court, Timonium, Md.

The other category is a simple move from the lower end of town to the top of the hill like, for example, Valley View Drive. When that happens, we will announce that he had recently been elected vice-president of "Acme Corp."

Speaking of moving, Frank Lake's address is still the same, Midland Tower, Midland, Tex., where he is supposed to be running an oil company, but, instead, has been running all over the globe. Not so long ago, he checked in from Europe, then from Florida, and later it was heard he had scooted the rapids of the San Juan River in a rubber boat. The latest has been a trip to New Zealand and Australia with stop-offs at some of those spiggotty South Sea islands, probably to study the gyrations of the grass skirt. Next, we can expect to see his name on the roster of the first commercial space flight. We can say one thing about Shorty, though; he checks in with the mob fairly regularly.—JOE MOTYCKA

'23 Dr. George J. Young
Box 324
West Harwich, Mass.

"Now I don't want to bore you with statistics, my friends," says Johnnie Cole (above), your secretary, "but the sad fact remains that not enough of you fellahs pay your Class dues. Believe it or not, the Class of '23 is just about low man on the Class dues totem pole. About March 1, bills will be mailed, so let's have a good response this year. We need checks from at least an additional 100 Classmates. So push that ball-point pen across the dotted line and keep that New Year's resolution that Yap Young spoke about in last month's column."

When Johnnie isn't travelling around the world for Sanderson & Porter, leading consulting engineers, inspecting and analyzing various manufacturing companies and making appropriate recommendations, he devotes a lot of time to '23 Class work, so let's all pay our Class dues this year.

Had a card from Stan Lomax post-marked Martinique. Stan touched this port while on a sunshine cruise. He also said there were several Cornellians on board. I don't know any better place than a cruise ship for a rip-roarin' Cornell get-together.

Charlie Brayton writes that the great tennis match between Eddie Gouinlock, Brayton, and George Pfann '24 wasn't played in 1958, as Pfann got scared and washed out (so say Brayton and Gouinlock). Donald McDougall is now with National State Bank, Elizabeth, N.J., as a result of a merger, and working harder than ever. (Thanks for the Xmas card, Don.) Ave Bullen is selling his business (let's see now, isn't that Defiance Asphalt Corp. of Fort Edward?) and hopes to take it easy from now on. (And thanks, too, Ave, for that wonderful and unique Xmas card.)

We were grieved to read in the December 15 ALUMNI NEWS of the death, November 7, 1958, of Kenneth Baldwin Timm.

Eddie Gouinlock writes that George Holbrook is working hard on the Class Fund Drive and is doing an excellent job, with his youth and vigor restored by a grandson. "Heinz" Meyer of Cornell golf fame has accepted the job of Fund Drive chairman in the New York area. A rising vote of thanks to Alex Craven whose hard working footsteps "Heinz" must follow.

It is said that often when we taste a remembered pleasure, it is found to have gained flavor in the storage. Just think of those wonderful years on the Hill, and you should be more than willing to pay your Class dues.

'24 Silas W. Pickering II
30 E. 42d Street
New York 17, N.Y.

Rog Egeberg writes: "Meg and I just returned from a month in Portugal and Spain. I had to give a paper at a Congress in Lisbon and we decided to make a holiday of it. It was a wonderful trip and Meg looks better than she has in years. I have changed jobs lately. I left VA in January, 1956 and became medical director of the Los Angeles County Department of Charities with about 12,000 beds to worry about, if not to sleep in. I am continuing teaching, but now it is in all three medical schools, and Meg has joined me in our research work, which resulted in our trip to Lisbon."

We are proud to report that A. Arnold Karan is president-elect of the Greater New York Hospital Association. Ed Kirby writes that his "present-day life has many facets." This is pretty clear since he is director of research & development for New York Trap Rock Corp. He is vice-president of the New Jersey Society of Professional Engineers, deputy coordinator of Civil Defense of Essex County, member of the local Cornell Club, and, in addition, somehow or the other finds time to play golf. He closes by saying that he is looking forward to the June Reunion and a visit "with my curly-headed Classmates." There won't be many curls left!

Jack Todd writes from Chicago from a background clearly indicating the nature of changes which have taken place since 1924. He writes from his own airplane flying over Iowa on the way to present pension studies to a client there. Besides operating as a consultant in this field, he has been for more than twenty years with The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co. and last year had the "good luck and pleasure of being the volume leader of all agents of that fine company." Obviously, a busy, fast-moving, progressive member of the Class.

Leonard Davis reports from Cleveland that, since getting the LLB, he has been in general practice with Hauxhurst, Inglis, Sharp & Cull and, January 1, became general counsel and member of the executive committee of Gabriel Co., Cleveland, Ohio.

Pinky Felske was heard from in Michigan where he "is living about seven miles from Kalamazoo in a twelve-room farmstead and four barns." He goes on to anticipate this year and says, "Glad to note that big things are in the making for June and I expect to be on hand. Roll out the barrels; I'm getting thirsty!"

Dick Yates reports that, his wife having died in November, 1953, he married the widow of a Classmate, Frederick H. Bassett, September 12. They moved to Denver late in September. He has a magnificent family, in this combination, of eight children.

The Thirty-five-year Reunion of the Class of '24 will take place Friday & Saturday, June 12 & 13. You will hear more about it from Shorty Davis, Reunion chairman.

Herbert J. Muller, AB, MA, PhD, 610 South Hawthorne, Bloomington, Ind., author and professor of English and government at Indiana University, is distinguished visiting professor at NYU's division of general education during 1958-59. His NYU course is on the social and intellectual backgrounds of modern literature.

Henry M. Goodkind, AB, 137 East 94th Street, New York City 28, according to a recent clipping from the New York Times, is the person most intimately associated with the background and history of the twenty-four-cent invert, one of the world's most cherished air-mail items. It took him forty years to learn the whereabouts of all but fifteen of the eighty-one surviving copies. He has published a very interesting booklet on this particular stamp which he says has sold very well. Another handbook is on the way. Copies of Henry's works are valued presentations to the University Library.

Milford C. Howard retired September 1 after thirty-one years with the US Forest Service. During his career he had charge of national forests in Arkansas, Virginia, and Florida; also worked in many eastern, central, and southern States. His most recent position was as assistant chief of the division of recreation, lands, wildlife, and water management in the north central region with headquarters in Milwaukee. He is now beating the bushes to develop a consulting business with woodland estates, camps, and shooting preserves in the east, central, and southern States. Mail addressed to 24 Evelyn Road, Port Washington, will reach him at his mobile office in Florida for the winter.

Donald S. MacDonald, who is executive vice-president and partner of the real estate firm of Douglas Gibbons-Hollyday & Ives, Inc., New York City, was recently elected a trustee of the East River Savings Bank. Steve reports two more grandchildren, David D. Sterling, born September 3, and Linda D. MacDonald, born October 28. Congratulations, grandpa! Steve and his wife Dolly live at 23 Highland Place, Maplewood, N.J.

Albert L. Mason, RFD 1, Albion, informs us that his vocation is "fruit grower in Western New York" and that his avocation is "versifier." Writes Monty: "The American Fruit Growers, a national magazine, recently published a book of verse, Song of an Orchardist, consisting of rhymes foolish and otherwise that I had contributed to their magazine over a period of about ten years. So, any way you look at it, apple-sauce is the end product of most of my endeavors."

Cutler Brown advises: "Recently transferred to operating staff-commercial by New York Telephone Co. in New York City. See Cornellians every day as our company has 'hundreds' in its employ. Looking forward to the greatest 35th Class Reunion ever staged, in 1961!" Cut lives at 157 Durie Ave., Englewood, N.J.

Meade Summers, 1885 Oakdell Drive, Menlo Park, Cal., writes: "Still on the Coast, selling Checkerboard Chows. Am sales manager with 50 men working out of 6 mills. Son in Michigan law; couldn't sell him Cornell, am a poor salesman."

Richard H. Wile practices law at 815 Liberty Bank Building, Buffalo. Dick pens: "Made three trips to Ithaca this fall and particularly enjoyed the meeting of Federated Cornell Clubs; acting as vice-president of Buffalo Cornell Club. Just finished work as chairman of committee of Council of Social Agencies to recommend revision in New York Adoption Law."

Nat P. Turner writes: "I am a partner in the consulting engineering firm of Freese Nichols & Turner of Houston and Fort Worth, and operate in Texas and Mexico. I have a son, Nat, who is a Junior in Arts & Sciences at Cornell. Have very active Cornell Club in Houston with more than 100 members." Nat's address is 3746 Del Monte, Houston 19, Tex.

Norman S. Odell of 8 David Terrace, White Plains, is past-president of Westchester County chapter, New York State Society of Professional Engineers; commander in the US Naval Reserve; engineer in the Consolidated Edison Co. of New York, Inc.; past-chairman of Westchester chapter, International Association of Electrical Inspectors.

Richard F. Pietsch and family live at Bonnie Brook Farm, Crozet, Va. On his Christmas card, he sent word that his son, Ricky, is a freshman at Williams although accepted by Cornell and Yale as well; his daughter, Bonnie, is a junior at University of North Carolina. Dick is looking forward to attending our 35th in 1961.

'27, '28 AB, '29 LLB—Millard Bartels, chairman of the insurance executive committee of Travelers Insurance Companies, has been appointed a member of the board of regents of the new University of Hartford which will be constructed soon in West Hartford, Conn. and will merge Hillyer College, the Hartford Art School, and Hartt College of Music. His address is 700 Main Street, Hartford 3, Conn.

'27 BS—Mrs. Joseph T. Mirtl (Ruth Bohnet) lives at 119 East Hartsdale Avenue, Hartsdale. She is the mother of Jean B. Keller '55 and Robert W. Keller, NYU '58, children of her late husband, F. Wilson Keller.

Roger W. Jones has been nominated by President Eisenhower as new Chief of the US Civil Service Commission, effective February 28. Our sincere congratulations. Rog is a dues paying member of the Cornell Club of Washington and active in other Cornell affairs.

Foster T. Rhodes (above), executive vice-president since 1956 of Onondaga Pottery Co., producers of Syracuse China and ceramic electronic components, was elected president of the company in November. Congratulations! Foster has been with Onondaga Pottery, largest US manufacturers of china tableware, since 1928. He became a director in 1946 and was named vice-president in charge of production in 1949. Foster served as president of the US Potters Association in 1957 and has been a director of Pass & Seymour, Inc. since 1957. He is a member of the board of directors of Syracuse Museum of Fine Arts. Foster is married to the former Josephine Williams of Glens Falls. They have two children: Ellen, who was graduated from Vassar College in June, 1957; and Stanley, a student at Amherst.

Dr. Leo A. Lieberman writes that, after coming out of the Army in August, 1946, he set up a private medical practice in Brooklyn and became ophthalmological consultant for the City of New York. Leo retired from the Army with the rank of colonel, Medical Corps, and has been commanding officer of the 344th General Hospital (Reserve) at Fort Hamilton, Brooklyn, for the last eleven years. He spent the last eighteen months of his war service in China as medical liaison officer to the 13th Chinese Army and received a decoration from the Chinese government. Leo has three children and the oldest one, David, is a Freshman at Cornell. Let's hope that his two younger children, Richard, 12, and Barbara, 8, will also attend Cornell.

Another ophthalmologist in the New York area is Dr. August J. Podboy, a member of the American College of Surgeons and attending ophthalmologist at York (Pa.) Hospital. August has three children and lives at 257 East Market Street in York. He reports that the Cornell Club of York was recently revived with approximately twenty-five members.

'29 Men — Appropriately, my first column reveals news of our Class president, John F. Macomber, who is in Philadelphia with Goldman, Sachs & Co. (National Bank Bldg.) as a bond salesman. He is the daddy of three: John, Jr., 19, now a Cornell Sophomore in pursuit of a ChemE degree; Alan B., 17, who graduates from high school in June; and Carol, 13. John passed along news of Fred Eaton, who is legal counsel in Reading, Pa. for Vanity Fair, one of the bigger textile firms, and of Jack Wright, now in charge of the main line division for Bell Telephone Co. in Philadelphia.

Ferris P. Kneen, Hillsdale, Mich., our Fund representative, combined Fund and Class business, while here for the annual Fund meeting, January 16, and played luncheon host at the Cornell Club to Mike Bender, Bob Lyon, and your correspondent. Frank Clifford '50, Fund executive, sat in.

Lawrence P. Gould, 608 Cumberland Ave., Syracuse, moved up recently in Allied Chemical's Solvay Division research and development program. Lawrence received the BChem in 1929 and the PhD in Chemistry in 1933. Russell, Marcia, and Janet are the Gould children.

Kenneth Caster, AB '29, MS '31, PhD '33, renowned, globe-circling paleontologist and professor of geology at University of Cincinnati, has been honored by the International Paleontological Union. Dr. Caster has been elected US representative on the Union's executive board.

Arthur O'Shea, 620 33d Ave., NW, Seattle, Wash., past-president of the Cornell Club of Western Washington, would like to hear from Class members. Same request from Harry Sverdlik, still teaching school and living at 54 Cloverfield Road, Valley Stream. Mike Bender, 115 Broadway, New York City, announces the engagement of his son Stephen '58 to Maxine Posnack of Brooklyn.

Attention '29ers! Thirty-year Reunion, June 12 & 13. And please send in all personal or business news notes about you and yours to me at Paramount Pictures Corp., New York City 36.—ZAC FREEDMAN

Ralph E. Carpenter, Jr. (above) has been admitted to general partnership in the firm of Reynolds & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange and principal exchanges. Since 1932 he has specialized in the administration of pension plans. In between times, Ralph has authored two books we know about, The Arts and Crafts of Newport, R.I., 1640-1820, and The Fifty Best Historic American Houses. If he has authored others, he is hiding his light from us. Ralph lives at 55 Morris Lane, Scarsdale.

Russell I. Boyce last fall was elected State Senator from the 12th District, Connecticut, the first Democrat from the district in the State's history. He is chief engineer for Boyce Engineering Associates, with offices in Groton and Wallingford, Conn. Russ has five children and one grandchild, the son of his daughter Maxine and Arnold Buckman '54. The Boyce family home is on Mapleview Road, Wallingford, Conn.

In the course of news gathering, we receive short notes, or just an envelope with a name to let us know a Classmate is around and interested in Cornell and the Class of '31. Included among these are William J. Bunnell, 243-49 Ryerson Street, Brooklyn 5, who operates Bunnell Radio & Television Service in Brooklyn; Maurice Woolverton, 154 South Street, Pittsfield, Mass., who is with The Taconic Corp. in Pittsfield; Harold S. Rosenfeld, 35 Herrick Drive, Lawrence, whose wife Phyllis was recently elected to the Board of Education, District 15, Nassau County; Edwin A. Courtney, 505 N. Spruce Street, Hammond, La., a petroleum geologist and consultant; and Dr. A. J. Mirkin, 223 Schley Street, Cumberland, Md., re-elected president of American Association of Automotive Medicine. To all, thanks for the response to our notes.

Robert W. Purcell, our Class prexy, has been elected chairman of International Basic Economy Corp., international financing and investment concern. He succeeds Nelson A. Rockefeller, who has taken office as Governor of New York. Purcell has been a director of the company since 1956, when he became associated with the Rockefeller brothers as a business adviser. He was previously chairman of Investors Diversified Services, Inc., Minneapolis, Minn.

John H. Williams, Jr. reports that he is quite busy traveling about in four States, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, and Tennessee, supervising twenty-five Sears retail stores. His job is retail zone manager for Sears with headquarters in Greensboro, N.C. He still lives in Winston-Salem, N.C., twenty-nine miles away, where he was store manager for Sears from December, 1942 until appointed to this new job in May, 1957. He has daughters aged 19 and 11, and a son, 16.

Dr. Clarence B. Frankel practices dentistry in Brooklyn. His wife Ruth (Rutes), Smith BA, Columbia MA, NYU PhD, is a professor at Brooklyn College. His son, Kenneth, is '61 Arts at Cornell and he has two other sons, Eric, 15, and Paul, 10. He lives with his family in Brooklyn.

Gordon P. Hagberg is stationed in Mair-obi, Kenya, British East Africa, with his wife and two children. He is public affairs officer in charge of US Information Service for East Africa, taking in Kenya, Uganda, Tanganyika, and Zanzibar. He recently visited the Island of Lamu, north of Mombasa, where his parents were married and served as missionaries sixty years ago. They previously were stationed in India where he was born, not quite sixty years ago.

Cuthbert C. Snowdon, Hotel Administration, has been appointed director of development for Slater Food Service Management. He was president of Frigidinner, Inc., Philadelphia, before joining Slater. Prior to that, he was passenger service manager, Pan-American World Airways, Atlantic Division, LaGuardia Field. He resides at 46-29 Douglaston Parkway, Douglaston.

Charles D. Curran's daughter, Elizabeth W., is a Freshman in Arts & Sciences. Her mother, Virginia Wray, was '34 enroute until sidetracked. As for himself, he got volunteered to raise (?) funds for Engineering College.

Colonel Curtis W. Betzold, VC, USA,

October 6, moved with his wife and son, Curtis W. Jr., 9, to Heidelberg, Germany, where he has been assigned to Chief of the Veterinary Branch, Medical Division Headquarters, US Army, Europe, succeeding his fraternity brother (OTS) and good friend Colonel William E. Jennings '31. Colonel Jennings returned to the United States and has been reassigned to the Medical Division, Headquarters US Fifth Army, Chicago, Ill., where he and Mrs. Jennings will make their home. Prior to Betzold's assignment in Heidelberg, he was assigned to the Medical Division, Headquarters, US Army Communications Zone, at Orleans, France, where he resided with his family since July, 1957.

'35 BS—Colonel James P. Schwartz, president of Tom Sawyer Motor Inns of New York State and Florida, was recently elected a director of the New York State Hotel Association and the Florida State Hotel Association. He also was elected president of St. Petersburg Chapter, Association of the US Army, and recently completed a short tour of active duty for training with the 18th Airborne Corps Artillery, the combat-ready "Fire Brigade" force of the US Army, at Fort Bragg, N.C. His address is 1500 Brightwaters Boulevard, St. Petersburg 4, Fla.

'35 BS—Phillips B. Street is assistant vice-president of First Boston Corp. in the Philadelphia office. He lives on a farm on Route 1, Chester Springs, Pa., and is vice-president of Wilson Ornithological Society ("see a lot of Cornell folks at various bird meetings"). His son, Fletcher Street, is a senior at Pomfret School and hopes to enter Cornell next fall.

Last month all of you received a letter from John MacManus, our Class secretary, which contained an enclosure designating your subscription to the ALUMNI NEWS for 1959 and a statement for the payment of your Class dues. You can make Stan Shephardson's life a great deal easier as our Class treasurer by promptly sending in your check.

You can insure greater representation for the Class of '36 in the ALUMNI NEWS if you will fill in some news items about yourself in the space provided for this purpose. Died Willers, in charge of Class fund raising, is another fellow who could use a helping hand. He has been doing a fine job and we could make it a good deal more gratifying for him by increasing the number of donors as well as increasing the size of our gifts.

Sun Oil Co. recently announced a new promotion for David H. Durham. Dave, who has been with Sun Oil since 1938, has been named sales manager in the Chicago district.

Henry Untermeyer (left above), who had been with the Columbia Broadcasting System for twenty-one years, has resigned from the company. Hank had been in charge of CBS Radio on the West Coast for several years, but elected to leave the company when they asked him to come back to New York City. He has been appointed vice-president in charge of West Coast sales by Bandelier Films, 750 Sutter Street, San Francisco, Cal. This firm specializes in the production and sale of animated commercials to West Coast television advertisers. The picture shows Hank and San Francisco's mayor, George Christopher, at the opening of his new office.

'36 AB—Lucile Backus, chief psychiatric social worker for the Alcoholic Rehabilitation Division, Washington, D.C. Department of Health, left November 19 to attend the International Conference of Social Work meeting in Tokyo, November 30-December 6. Then she planned to go around the world via Hong Kong, Manila, Bangkok, India, the Holy Land; Jerusalem for Christmas; Cairo and the pyramids, Christmas week; Athens, New Year's Eve; Rome and ten days in Spain, arriving home January 16. She was to visit health and welfare agencies and officials concerned with the problem of alcoholism in various cities throughout the trip.

At a special meeting of Class officers, January 17, in New York, were Class President Dick Graham, Life Secretary Bill Rossiter, Class Dues Chairman Jim Reid, Treasurer Pete Cantline, and Reunion Chairman Ted Acton. The meeting was the first of what is hoped to be a series designed to promote Class interest and enthusiasm and to plan better cooperation and integration regarding fund drives, dues problems, and Class Reunions.

Your correspondent met with Bill Rossiter not long after this meeting. Bill advised that efforts are to be made to strengthen the Class's regional organization and that the official campaign for $10 annual dues will be commenced shortly by Chairman Jim Reid. It is hoped to obtain a nucleus of at least 200 regular dues-paying members to contribute $10 each year. The money so raised will not only pay for the subscription to the News, but also for regular recurring Class expenses, including printing, mailing, and certain fixed Reunion charges, and the like. You will be hearing more about this.

Bill, who is director of merchandising for Thom McAn Shoes, also told us his son William W. Rossiter '61 is an Ecology major at Cornell and he wonders if any other members of the Class of '37 have children in Cornell. If you top the Rossiter record, drop a note to this column.

Informal plans are afoot for a meeting of Class officers in Ithaca during Reunion Week, June 12 & 13. Those who met in

W.E. DEFENSE PROJECTS ENGINEERS are often faced with challenging assignments such as systems testing for the SAGE continental air defense network.

ENGINEERS explore defense frontiers at Western Electric

If guided missiles, tropospheric radio defense communications and airborne radar sound like exciting fields to you, a career at Western Electric may be just what you're after.

Defense projects like these are among our most important assignments . . . and engineers are right in the thick of it. There are the Nike and Terrier guided missile systems . . . advanced air, sea and land radar . . . anti-aircraft gun-control equipment . . . the SAGE continental air defense system . . . DEW Line and White Alice in the Arctic. These and other defense jobs offer wide-ranging opportunities for all kinds of engineers.

Western Electric engineers also discover plenty of made-to-order opportunity in our work as manufacturing and supply unit of the Bell System. Here they flourish in such new and growing fields as electronic switching, microwave radio relay, miniaturization. They engineer the installation of telephone central offices, plan the distribution of equipment and supplies . . . and enjoy, with their defense teammates, the rewards that spring from an engineering career with Western Electric.

Western Electric technical fields include mechanical, electrical, chemical, civil and industrial engineering, plus the physical sciences. For more detailed information pick up a copy of "Consider a Career at Western Electric" from your Placement Officer. Or write College Relations, Room 200C, Western Electric Company, 195 Broadway, New York 7, N. Y. And sign up for a Western Electric interview when the Bell System Interviewing Team visits your campus.

TELEPHONES OF THE FUTURE—Making telephone products for the Bell System calls for first-rate technical know-how. Tomorrow's telephone system will demand even more imaginative engineering.

Principal manufacturing locations at Chicago, Ill.; Kearny, N. J.; Baltimore, Md.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Allentown and Laureldale, Pa.; Burlington, Greensboro and Winston-Salem, N. C.; Buffalo, N. Y.; North Andover, Mass.; Lincoln and Omaha, Neb.; Kansas City, Mo.; Columbus, Ohio; Oklahoma City, Okla.; Teletype Corporation, Chicago, Ill. and Little Rock, Ark. Also Western Electric Distribution Centers in 32 cities and Installation headquarters in 16 cities. General headquarters: 195 Broadway, New York 7, N. Y.

New York in January hope to be in Ithaca at this time with their wives and some of their families.

'37 Women—Class President Esther Dillenbeck Prudden wrote on her Christmas card: "See you are on on the warpath for news and am almost afraid to write . . . The Funeral Home has been enlarged and redecorated; now we hope we can do some work on our home. Bill and I went to Dartmouth reunion in June. Ann went to summer school to learn to type. Doug and Gary went to camp. Doug had arm in cast almost the entire time; didn't bother him a bit. Rest of summer we spent in the sun and the club pool and in Adirondacks. Ann now 14, 9th grade, elected to Honor Society and co-editor of school paper. Rest of us in many activities."

Joan Slutzker Sharp reported from Minneapolis on her two sons: "Jeff is a delightful teenager and David is a doll, but at that 8-year stage where you love them but can't wait till bedtime." Ruth Rich Coleman sent from South Carolina a photo of her three handsome sons, James, Bill, and John. "Bobby" Leighton Doughty's photo of her four children, from Long Island, noted that Lloyd, Jr. played football for his high school this year ("made all-star for his division in Nassau, honorable mention in all-scholastic; we went to all the games and had a wild time"), Michael is 8, Liz is in first grade, Elaine is 3 years old.

Marian Bean Parnell's card this year pictured only the three youngest of the five daughters. "Beany" wrote that Norm is with Cities Service Co.'s new radiation lab in Cranbury, N.J., and consulting in photography on the side for another company. Norm's the only one in the family not a student at present since "Beany" is currently enrolled in the school of education at Rutgers.

Carolyn Jaros Hersch wrote that Arthur is with Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York (they still live in Columbus, Ohio) and that Betty Ann has been quite ill with ulcerative colitis. (Last year, I recall, Carolyn listed her many activities (room mother, den mother, shots and dentist for Billy, study groups, teaching make-up for Players Club, etc.) and concluded with the understatement of the year: "It takes more time and energy to be middle-aged than it did to be young.")

From Mary Schuster Jaffe: "All about the same here except children ever huger. I have been moved to a fancy new lab building at GE (first time I have worked with up-to-date furniture equipment since Cornell; alas, I suppose it is now very old hat, but it was the most in them days). Mother is well, no real news . . ." ("Schutsy's" mother is Dr. Molly Crawford Schuster '04, former Alumni Trustee, you'll recall.)

Alice Walker Imrie (Mrs. Robert M.) died in Needham, Mass., August 8, 1958. Although she had been fighting a lingering illness, Alice came to our 15th Reunion in 1952, you will recall, and she wrote me afterward how much it meant to her to spend that week end with us and especially to be with her '37 Alpha Phi sorority sisters again.—CAROL CLINE

'38 Men—Well, here we are again for another short stand. Let's see what's new. Well, a fine new job for Burt Baton, for one thing. Burt has just been made manager of DuPont's Montague, Mich. Works. Since 1956 he has been assistant manager of DuPont's Louisville Neoprene Works. No new address for him yet.

Also good news about Frank Bowen (above). Frank's just been made assistant to the vice-president in charge of manufacturing for Sun Oil Co. Should be moving day for the Bowens soon, too.

Al Fry is currently manager of the Bohemian Club in San Francisco. His address is 2172 Pacific Avenue, San Francisco 15, Cal. Coach Scotty Little reports that Spike Spicer not too long ago won a sports-car race at Lakeville, Conn., whizzing by the field in his red Maserati. Spike recently left General Electric to run a garage, manufacture parts for sports cars, and sell the darn things. His address: Lakeville, Conn.

More recognition of the top-drawer calibre of '38ers: Whitey Nelson was recently appointed vice-president in charge of sales of Enjay Co., Inc., chemical marketing affiliate of Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey). Bruce Rogers was appointed general manager of John Bartram Hotel in Philadelphia, December 1. The hotel, Bruce notes, is "noted for unexcelled food and fine accommodations."

Neil Handy has been named to the Syracuse staff of the Mutual Federation of Independent Co-operatives. Formerly executive secretary of Milk for Health, Inc., he'll be associate director of Mutual's education activities.

In the Rochester Review for November, Sol Linowitz had an article, "A Liberal Arts College is Not a Railroad." Main point of his article: "If the colleges want to make ends meet, they will just have to get on a sound, business-like, efficient operating basis precisely as in the case of any other organization which is having financial problems." Sol is a trustee of University of Rochester and president of the Rochester Chamber of Commerce.

Well, that's the nub of the news for this time. Let's keep hearing from you (keep? let's hear from you), so we can have another go at it in the next issue.—STEVE DEBAUN

Twenty-year Reunion

I wonder how many of us almost forgot that this is our Twenty-year Reunion year. Well, anyway, it is, whether we like it or not! From now on, there will be Reunion news here as well as the regular news. There will also be a newsletter put out by the Reunion committee. The first and obvious news is that the Reunion will be held June 12 & 13 in Ithaca. The next news is that Bill Lynch is the Reunion chairman. He has done a lot already and made a lot of plans with a fine committee. If any of you want to help and have some good idea that would help make the Reunion more enjoyable, please get in touch with Bill at PO Box 517, Rosemont, Pa. What we need most at this Reunion is people.

John Tammen lives at 870 North Village Drive in Newark, Ohio, where he is vice-president of W. J. Camlin Co., general contractors and engineers. They do design and construction of industrial, commercial, and institutional buildings and are now finishing a job for Turner Construction Co. at the new Western Electric plant in Columbus, Ohio, where John has been working with H. P. Reed '36 and A. W. Folsom '36, chief engineer and purchasing agent, respectively, for Turner. John has two children.

Brud Holland was guest speaker at the Cornell football team awards dinner at the Ithaca Hotel in December. In his spare time, he is president of Delaware State College, Dover, Del. Harry Johns writes that he is now in Aspen, Colo., where he seems to be doing some skiing with his family and has seen Joe Coors. He sent a newspaper picture of Mr. and Mrs. Coors attending the Russian hockey matches in Colorado Springs. Joe is graciously supplying Coor's famous beer for the Reunion. Keep thinking about getting back for the Reunion and be on the lookout for the Reunion committee's newsletter.

General manager of Stanley Hotel, Estes Park, Colo., is Robert W. Dean. A son, Matthew Glen, has joined Steven, 6, in the household of Charlotte and Seymour L. Mischel at 673 Byron Avenue, Franklin Square. George R. Malby, 706 Wisner Avenue, Park Ridge, Ill., sends this short message: "Sorry, nothing new." Another in the "not much new" category is Robert T. Gilchrist, 740 S. Garfield, Hinsdale, Ill.

James B. Lyon, 25 Berkele Pl., Savannah, Ga., retired from the Army as a major in December, 1957. He now lives in Savannah, his wife's home, where he is employed by the Georgia Ports Authority. He says, "Son James, 14, and daughter Caroline, 11, may be ready for college in a few years if the wild ones don't succeed in closing our local schools."

Another dues-paying member is Charles T. Stewart, 151 West 34th Street, New York City 1. Apparently he and Larry Lilienthal get together once in awhile. The Ithaca Journal recently carried a story that Lyman H. Smith, district attorney of Yates County, was to be guest speaker at a laymen's day service at the Danby Federated Church. The news clipping pointed out that during World War II he served in the 9th Armored Division and is now in his fourth term as district attorney.

Joseph C. Brownell, 63 Miles Avenue, Fairport, has completed a sabbatical leave from his position as 4-H Club agent in Monroe County. His studies resulted in the MS for him. There are three boys, ages 12, 11, and 9, in the Brownell household.

Dick Brown, 1710 N. Oleander, Daytona Beach, Fla., writes that he saw Bill O'Brien about eighteen months ago. "He is converting Ford station wagons into small ambulances. His trade name is 'AMBLE Wagon'. Looks like a good thing and wish him luck." Thanks for the news, Dick. Wish more of the Class would send along word about some of the fellows that they see from time to time.

Louis L. Baudry writes that he recently changed positions and is now "director of standards, Fred Harvey, 80 E. Jackson St., Chicago." He adds that Lee Schoenbrunn is recuperating from recent surgery in Florida. Louis's address is 2105 Cambridge Lane, Lincolnshire, Ill., c/o Deerfield Post Office.

Charles B. Love (above), 39 Dartmouth Road, Mountain Lakes, N.J., has been elected vice-president of Chemical Corn Exchange Bank, New York City. Chuck has been with Chemical's international division since 1951. He is responsible for business in the Far East and South Asia and makes an annual visit to that part of the globe. Mrs. Love is the former Elizabeth Sprague '41, Kappa Alpha Theta. Libby and Chuck have three children. His father is Professor Harry H. Love, PhD '09, Plant Breeding, Emeritus.

Another world traveler is Peter C. Foote, 4875 North Newhall Street, Milwaukee 17, Wis., president of Cutler-Hammer International, a subsidiary of Cutler-Hammer, Inc. In addition to the Cornell Club, Pete lists the Milwaukee World Trade Club, Institute of World Affairs, Inc., National Electrical Manufacturers Association, and a string of other interests. His father is Edward T. Foote '06 and his brother is Robert T. Foote '39.

The correct address for Henry G. Martinez is Porto Rico Iron Works Inc., PO Box 1589, Ponce, Puerto Rico. Last year, Hank became vice-president and general manager of the machinery & equipment division of the company, one of the Ferré Enterprises. Cornellians in the Martinez family include Frank '06, Dr. Arturo '16, Carlos '40, and Hector '47.

'44, '47 AB, '49 LLB—Samuel R. Pierce, Jr. was given a temporary appointment by Governor Rockefeller, January 15, as a General Sessions judge in New York County. He is the first Negro Republican to be named to the criminal bench. His appointment runs to next December 31. Pierce has been in private law practice since 1957 and is a former Federal and New York County assistant prosecutor. In 1941, he was named as a potential All-America right halfback at Cornell. He received the AB "with distinction" and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. In World War II, he was in Europe in the Army's Criminal Investigation Division. Pierce is married to Dr. Barbara Wright Pierce. They and their daughter, Victoria, nine, live at 2225 Fifth Avenue, New York City 37.

'47 Men—All the way from California! Quite frankly, I thought we had lost our boys out there. Fred Matthies managed to fire a letter East with some vital statistics. The letterhead reads "Daniel, Mann, Johnson, & Mendenhall & Associates, A Joint Venture, 2706 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles 57, Cal." Fred writes he is chief of the civil engineering section. Evidently this "Joint Venture" is employed by Leo A. Daly Co., and they have been transferred from Seattle to Los Angeles. Fred lives in Buena Park, "ideally situated for family fun at Disneyland, Knott's Berry Farm, and the beaches." Home address is 8738 Harrison Way. Maybe the group is rebuilding the city.

Jack Hutter pulled himself north from Missouri to Illinois within recent months. He switched jobs, going from Director of Traffic Engineering Department, City of Kansas City, to an association with George W. Barton & Associates, Inc., consulting engineers of Evanston, Ill. He has a new mailing address, 1739 Washington Ave., Wilmette, Ill.

Way back November 24, Bill Lawrence dropped down from Homer and stayed overnight at my apartment. He's still quite busy with Quality Bakers of America, making occasional trips into the North Country to run through business conversations with some of the local bakers. Of course, Bill had to pick an evening when the snow was flying here; however, he did manage to find the road at every turn and arrived on time. Pleasant dinner, pleasant conversation, and I trust that he finally arrived back at his home base in Montclair, N.J.

One more strong man goes to Pittsburgh: Stu LaDow writes: "The last two and one half years in the New York area have been pleasant, although extremely busy ones. Now it's on to the ex-Smoky City, where I'll be manager of General Electric Credit Corp.'s Pittsburgh district. My new area includes Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and several counties in northern Virginia and Kentucky. I will have an opportunity to renew old acquaintances in the area, including Charles Cox and Dick Quasey, both of whom toil for Dravq Corp. However, the move means a "so long" for now to Floyd Kenyon '46, Don Berens, Dick Brown '49, and Ole Olson (editors note: who is he?) and others we enjoyed seeing while living around New York. I take it you are now a confirmed 'confirmed' bachelor. Well, by being available to womanhood at large, all the gals may profit, rather than only one when an 'exclusive franchise' is signed. Gayle (Mrs. La Dow, that is) and I have one child, a son, Paul Stuart, now 16 months old. I shudder to think of planning his schooling if we continue to move around as much as we have in the last 1½ years with General Electric." Stu's recent move really packs Pittsburgh with '47 strength. Aside from Charlie Cox and Dick Quasey, we have Bill Davies, Dick Young, Tom Berry, Pete Papanou, and Malcolm Rankin, to name just a few. Would that every other area had such a team.—BARLOW WARE

'47 Women—We had news of two new births to members of our Class. Mrs. D. R. Hirschberg (Jean Sullivan) writes their son Kerry was born November 5 to join Mike, 7, and Tex, 5. Jean lives at 21 Plainfield Road, Albertson. Mrs. Morton I. Cohen (Ruth Thieberger) had a daughter November 2, Roberta. Ruth is immediate past-president of the Cornell Women's Club of Brooklyn. She is presently living at 715 St. Marks Ave., Brooklyn 16.

Don't forget to send me news of what you are doing and any new additions to the family, at 249 Highland Ave., Rochester 20.

—URSULA HOLAHAN

'48 Women—Dr. Joyce Bauer Brothers of television quiz show fame made the newspapers again back in October. The Wall Street Journal quoted her comments on the hoop fad. Isn't it fun to have such a famous Classmate? Dr. Ramona Riccio was married to Commander Ralph Byard, USN, October 25. Ramona was practicing medicine in Bridgeport, Conn. and was on the staff of St. Vincent's Hospital. Her husband is on duty with NATO and stationed in Norfolk, Va. Ruth Rotholz Jeddiss and her husband Clifford announce the birth of their first child, a son, Gregory, October 4. They live at 240 East 76th St., New York City 21.

Mary Utting has been promoted to assistant women's editor in charge of production and makeup for the Charlotte (N.C.) Observer. Joan Holden reports on her exciting job as a secretary in the Foreign Service in Brussels, Belgium. She spends her week ends and leaves traveling all over Europe. What a wonderful opportunity! Margaret Labash Young and her new husband were at Reunion last June. Now she reports they live at 1604 Northwood Apts., Ann Arbor, Mich.

They are both working on the Master's degrees in the graduate school of library science at University of Michigan.

'49 Men—We're back in print after several issues absence. Jack Rupert, our Class correspondent, has had to resign because of increased business responsibilities. He is vice-president of Broadview Savings & Loan Co., Cleveland, and has a new address, 18125 West Clifton Road, Lakewood 7, Ohio. (Thanks for a fine news job, Jack!) So, unless some kind character walks forward, I will try to keep our column filled until Reunion time when my term as Class president expires and I retire to be an elder statesman. You can help by sending in news about yourself or Classmates.

John N. Penn has been appointed chairman of the Distinguished Hotel Operators of the United States and is general manager of Carleton House Hotel, Pittsburgh, Pa. Robert I. Williamson has been appointed county attorney by the Tompkins County board of supervisors and lives at 205 Fairmount Ave., Ithaca. Ralph I. Coryell was elected vice-president of West Shell, Inc., a realtor firm in Cincinnati. He reports he has a daughter, Nancy, and that the Coryell address is 6703 Sampson Lane, Cincinnati 36, Ohio.

William A. Koch lives on Oleander Drive, RD 2, Box 944, Northport, L.I., and is engineering manager of the Queens division of The New York Telephone Co. John Bregstein tells us that he had a family addition August 10, a daughter named Susan Ellen. John is buyer of men's sportswear at Abraham & Straus in Brooklyn and lives at 114 Hanson Lane, New Rochelle. E. Gordon Woeller, RD 2, Stapley Road, Geneseo, is now a field sales representative for the plant food division of Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp.

John Dodd is a marine underwriter with the Minneapolis office of Aetna Casualty & Surety Co. John lives at 9233 West St., St. Louis Park 26, Minn., and has a daughter, Louise Anne, born 3 plus years ago, and a son, John, Jr., born January 26. Chester L. Staley, Jr. has moved from Marion, Ind. to 2317 Castlewood Drive, Nashville 14, Tenn. He and his wife, Marion Button '52, are most happy in their new home as is their daughter Leigh, who is four years old and custodian of their dog, Cinderella.

Paul E. Sundheim and his wife, Jean Hamke '48, are now bouncing Carl David, born June 20, on their respective knees. Paul is a design engineer in the food business at Islip and lives at 20 Woodland Drive, Bayport, L.I. Dr. Peter Swerling, son of the former Florence Manson '21, married Judith Ann Butler, July 11, in Encino, Cal.

That is about all the news I can fit in now. The Class reunion executive committee has had several meetings and things are rolling. You will be getting the scoop in the Class mailing soon. A fantastic number of '49ers have already stated they will be in Ithaca for Reunion. How about you?

SPACE TECHNOLOGY

During the past year members of our staff have published a number of significant papers in the following fields:

Electrodynamics
Nuclear Physics
Thermo-Nuclear Power
Magnetohydrodynamics
Solid State Physics
Communication Theory

A brochure listing these reprints may be obtained by directing your inquiries to Dr. Charles T. Morrow.

Space Technology Laboratories' role in the fields of Ballistic Missiles and Space Vehicles provides a medium through which scientists and engineers are able to direct their interests and abilities toward the solution of complex space age problems.

Inquiries regarding staff openings are invited. Write to Mr. James Benning.

is librarian at the San Pedro Branch of the Los Angeles Public Library in California. He received the MS in library science at Western Reserve last June. Samuel Goetz recently moved to West Sayville. He is now comptroller of Bayliss Fuel Oil Co., Lake Ronkonkoma. Douglas Higgins is director of guidance at Pawling public schools.

Dick Loynd, merchandise sales manager of The Emerson Electric Manufacturing Co., St. Louis, Mo., was recently given considerable space and attention in an article in Sales Management magazine concerning "Account Penetration." Joining Emerson in February, 1956, after having been with Lincoln Electric Co. for several years in sales and engineering, Dick was at first assistant to the vice-president of sales at Emerson. As such, he was given prime responsibility for developing an account penetration program, the goal of which was to establish closer customer relations all the way from the salesman's level to top management. As Dick himself is quoted in the article: "We realized that future growth required a solid organization. It was a question of building ourselves and entrenching ourselves firmly as part of the customer's organization, not only in sales but also on the engineering and manufacturing levels." The fact that the program did result in the old axiom "Familiarity breeds business" is reflected in Emerson's sales figures since the start of the program. Sales were just over 40 million in 1954, but by the end of 1956, they had reached an annual volume of 56½ million and then went to over 65 million in 1957. Despite the business downturn in 1958, Emerson was expecting a 12 per cent increase in sales for that year.

Austin Weston, 623 North Street, Racine, Wis., and his wife had their second daughter last September. Austin has been appointed to the newly-created position of manager-engineering department at Western Printing & Lithographing Co., Racine. This is a staff department responsible for service in the industrial and mechanical engineering areas. The ALUMNI NEWS is enjoyed by Austin and his wife, especially during football season when Ivy League news is hard to find in Midwest papers. Clarence C. ("Bud") Larkin, 315 Dryden Rd., Ithaca, has taken over the Emmet E. Lynn Insurance Agency at 143 E. State St., concentrating on fire and all casualty insurance. Bud was previously with Prudential. Harold A. Hammonds married recently Jean Keeley in Bronxville. George B. Camman, 2500 Lakeview, Chicago, Ill., has a new baby boy born last August. George remains as sales representative with Pan American in the Chicago area. Gerald J. Bayern, 443 Dorchester Rd., Ridgewood, N.J., is manager of market research with the research & development division of W. R. Grace & Co. He and his wife announce the birth of a daughter last June joining their son Larry who is two. George M. ("Mike") McHugh, 16 Orchard Rd., Florham Park, N.J., and his wife announce the birth of their second child, also; it's a boy. Mike, assistant accountant with Marsh & McLennan, was recently awarded the designation of chartered property casualty underwriter. This is a very high honor in the field of underwriting for which Mike took five separate examinations on highly involved subjects. Of 2502 examinees, he was one of 256 who was successful.—JOHN MALONEY

'51 Men — Willys DeVoll (above) has good reason to be smiling. Diamond Gardner Corp. has promoted him to director, personnel, for its foodtainer division. Will received the LLB in June, 1957 at Chase College of Law, Cincinnati, Ohio. The DeVolls live in Hartsdale.

Ernest C. Softis is district sales manager for McCormick & Co. Ernie married Mary Ann Kremonas in September, in Salem, Mass. Paul Frick, Jr. was an usher. Ernie and his bride may be found at 722 Wisteria Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa. Also in Pittsburgh, at 371 Pierina Drive, is Gerald C. Burdick. He is director of personnel for Mesta Machine Co. and has a third daughter, Nancy Louise, born in October. The November ILR Alumni News reports a third '51er in Pittsburgh, Harold Ammond, director of the Pittsburgh area for the Retail Clerks International Association. The Ammonds' second daughter was born in June. Seymour Horowitz is a staff member on community health study at Albert Einstein College of Medicine, New York City. William Kovack is with Electro Metallurgical Co., Niagara Falls.

Married last April, Edward M. Keto lives at 422 Church St. in Poughkeepsie, where he works for IBM. Living at 40 Doris Place, Malverne, and with the New York law firm of Dublirer & Haydon is Robert Tischler. Bob passed the bar exam in June. Another Long Islander, Sam Hochberger, moved his family in October to their new home at 9 Evergreen Drive, Old Oaks, Syosset. Sam is a construction engineer project manager with a Long Island construction firm.

One of our Classmates making the service a career is Navy Lieutenant B. A. Carlson, 99-101 Waipao Pl., Aiea, Oahu, T.H. He flies a WV-2, a Super Constellation with Radomes, out of Barbers Point and Midway on the Early Warning Barrier north to Alaska. Bob Feuchtbaum recently moved his family from New York to California, courtesy of Hughes Aircraft Co., where he is with the components & materials section of the airborne systems laboratory. The Feuchtbaums live at 16520 Sunset Blvd., Pacific Palisades, Los Angeles, Cal., which Bob maintains is the only smog-free area around L.A.

Keith Seegmiller reports 123 Class dues payers.

I send out a quick plea for news. I had intended to get a couple of issues ahead on my typing, but discovered this column used up all my backlog. Help! Write to me care of the ALUMNI NEWS or to 68 Kingsbury Lane, Tonawanda.—JACK OSTROM

'52 Men: Philip A. Fleming

Jack Dorrance (above) recently joined SI Handling Systems, Inc., Easton, Pa., as vice-president, after having been with Lamson Corp. for several years in the design, application, and sales of "materials handling" equipment and systems. Jack is married to Rita Simen '54 and has two children. Jack's new responsibilities include the engineering design, development, and application of SI's products into materials handling systems used in manufacturing, freight handling, and warehousing operations throughout the country. The company is a new one, staffed by a large number of Cornellians. Jack Bradt is president and the board of directors includes Professor Andrew Schultz, Jr. '36, Industrial & Engineering Administration, Jack Boehringer, and Don S. Follett.

Ed Crocco, 4 Putnam Hill, Greenwich, Conn., reports that he is manager of the PM Instrument Motor Section of Reflectone Corp., Stamford, and is kept busy supervising engineering, production, and sales. Ed married Jeanne Miller of Mt. Washington, Pa., in July, 1957, and formerly was with Crocker-Wheeler Division of Elliot Co., in Ampere, N.J., and with the Voice-writer Division of T. A. Edison Industries in West Orange, N.J.

Charles A. Pfretzchner, 5106 W. Marloma Drive, Rolling Hills Estates, Los Angeles, Cal., is on the technical staff of Thompson-Ramo-Wooldridge Products Co. After leaving the University, Charles was with Union Carbide Chemicals Co., Charleston, W.Va., and later received the MSinME at University of Southern California. Richard E. Seifert has been named sales planning manager for the semiconductor division of Raytheon Manufacturing Co., after having been with Philco Corp. as midwestern regional sales supervisor for Lansdale Tube Co. division. Dick now lives in Boston. Procter & Gamble's Cornellian population increased recently when Erlend R. Lowrey joined the development department of P&G food division.

'52 Women: Alison Bliss Graham 2211 The Plaza, Schenectady, N.Y.

First of all, in behalf of Class Treasurer Barbara Galvin Rittenhouse, I shall beat the drum for all you forgetful types (and Barb says that's the majority of the Class!) to send in your $2 dues. Class functions are pretty well strapped without funds, and this includes the newsletter project, too; so if you want to share in Class activities, you'd better contribute to the funds.

Barbara also wrote that daughter Gretchen joined her and husband O. William Rittenhouse '52 July 30. Barb and Bill saw June Williamson Turgeon and husband Ralph '51 at the Princeton game. The Turgeons are busy operating two Howard Johnson's restaurants in the Buffalo area and building a new house. Barbara had word from Carol Whitney Harrington that she, husband Roby, and two sons were transferred by N. W. Ayer Advertising Agency from Philadelphia to California, where their new address is 720 Vine St., Menlo Park.

Maybe you saw the article in the October American Home about the new Mt. Vernon home of D. Anne Bezer Lombardo, at 40 Rockridge Rd. D. Anne's husband Daniel is merchandising manager of the magazine. The Lombardos also report a new son, James Frederick, who became little brother to three sisters December 16. Joining the new-old house owners are Konrad '55 and Dell Tauscher Bald, who are relishing living in the woods in a 160-year-old house on Cheshire Rd., Prospect, Waterbury 12, Conn.

Babies, as usual, crowd the scene. The Herbert Lessells of 75 E. 21st St., Brooklyn, (Elaine Ross) received double bounty December 2, with the arrival of twin sons, Jeffrey Scott and Paul Harlan. And Polly Prime Herman writes, "Peter Prime Herman was born April 15 and is (of course) absolutely the apple of our eyes. Paul '52 was discharged from the Army in August, and we moved up from Texas (stopped off at Janet Rudolph Towart and Jim Towart's '51 in Dallas and saw their darling two children and nice home) to University of Connecticut, where Paul is finishing the PhD. We have a little house in the country (it's all country here!) and love it. Our address: Cross St., RFD 2, Coventry, Conn."

Katherine M. Johnson was married to Donald W. Graves '56 in Washington, December 20. Kathy is with the Central Intelligence Service and Don works in the US Patent Office while he finishes law school at George Washington University.

'53 Men: W. Fletcher Hock Jr. 57 Wendell Street Cambridge 38, Mass.

Dr. Jack Peretz is a resident in ophthalmology at St. Louis City Hospital, St. Louis 4, Mo. Jack interned at Philadelphia General Hospital. Elliott Solomon, LLB '55, and spouse Barbara Abrash '56 live at 30 Eastchester Road, New Rochelle. Elliott is with the New York law firm of Garfield, Salomon & Mainzer; Barbie is society editor of the weekly Scarsdale Inquirer. Joel Field, 325 King Street, Portchester, married Harriet Levin in December, 1957. A barrister, he is with Hall, Casey & Robinson in New York City. Richard J. Cummins, LLB '55, married Eleanor Patricia Goldberg June 15. Cornellians at the wedding included best man Herb Cummins '59; ushers Marvin Weissglass, Dr. H. Bruce Denson, and Joseph Dunn; bridesmaid Sandra Ellis Lomker '58; and Werner Lomker '55, Gail Queller '61, Allan Weissglass '56, and Roberta Lewin Weissglass '56. The Cummins' address is 79 Plymouth Road, Hillsdale, N.J. Dick works in the New York law office of Thomas F. Keane.

Franklin W. Ufford of Pitcher has a son, Dwight Franklin, born July 30. Frank is a dairy farmer. Ed L. Engelhard of RD 1, Appalachin, has three children. Frederick G. Buhendorf, Jr., 933 South Avenue West, Westfield, N.J., is a department manager with Procter & Gamble, Staten Island; has a fourteen-month-old son, Craig Frederick. Roy F. Hudson, PhD '53, teaches at Modesto Junior College. Address: 2116 Blue Gum Avenue, Modesto, Cal.

Paul Hans Schneider, 120 Manns Avenue, Newark, Del., is a partner in the Swiss Inn restaurant in Elkton, Md. The Schneiders have two children, Parry C. "Buzz" Benton is manager of David Mead Inn, Meadville, Pa. Lieutenant James A. Hole has taken a regular commission in the Army Quartermaster Corps. At last writing, he was in Germany. Address: c/o Stanley Hole, Buckley Road, North Syracuse 12. Lieutenant Robert C. Kormondy, 583 Wolcott Avenue, Beacon, intends to make the Air Force his career. He was stationed in Bermuda at last report.

Robert Stuckelman, 4424 Marietta Avenue, Sherman Oaks, Cal., is a systems engineer on military data processing systems at Litton Industries, Beverly Hills. Bill McConnell is associate pastor of Westminster Presbyterian Church, West Hartford, Conn.; lives at 37 Argyle Avenue, West Hartford 7. Henry D. McCullough lives at 103 Edgehill Road, Bala Cynwyd, Pa., and is in sales engineering with Philadelphia Gear Works, Inc.

'53 Women: Dorothy Clark 2440 Jackson Street San Francisco 15, Cal.

When the papers report floods and blizzards, I think of our Classmate Mrs. Forrest Liberty (Margot Pringle) who with her husband "Tim" lives up in the "snow-and-blow" country of Birney, Mont. Her annual Christmas newsletter was so interesting, I want very much to share parts of it with you. "Our heads are spinning with a succession of two complete moves in six weeks. . . . We find ourselves not at the Indian school this year, but in Birney town itself . . . occupying one of its ten-odd houses and feeling like city slickers. At this time last year, I was working for the Government in its adult education program; this year I am busy with historical research on a grant to work among the Cheyennes . . ." As part of this work, Margot is tape recording the recollection and stories of "an outstanding old Cheyenne named John Stands-in-Timber" who with his wife lives next to the Libertys in a small trailerhouse. An article on teaching grade-school children about "Our American Indians," written by Margot, was published in The Instructor.

Speaking of Classmates who have "been in print," if you happen to be in your public library, look up the August issue of McCall's Magazine and you will see a feature article on Jane Crouse, pictures and all!

The James E. Cobbs (GINNY WENZ), 4262 Genoa Ave., Jacksonville, Fla., announce the birth of Nancy Cobb. Joyce Shaver wrote of her plans to spend some time after Christmas in Garmisch, Germany skiing with Jim '53 and Ruth (Morse) Allen, who are in Heidelberg with their two sons while Jim does research in international law at the Max Planck Institute. Their address is: Drei Kreuzweg 20, Neckargemund, (this is near Heidelberg) Germany.

Three days after Christmas, a third son was born into the family of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Haynes, Grad '51, (Ellen Swingle). Ellie's note described her trip East this summer which centered around Reunion. I'm not sure, but I think that she must have traveled the greatest distance of any of us '53ers to get to the "5th." Dick teaches in the Grossmont High School District.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Cudlipp '53 (Jane Heitkamp) had a wonderful Christmas card showing their two young ones, Chris, 3, and Carol, 1½, ready to launch off on a piano duet. Pete has been with Alcoa for two years now and they expect to be in Grand Rapids for several more. Address: 682 Edgeworth St., Jenison, Mich. Janie also writes that as far as she knows Greta Rystedt is still flying with Pan American Air Lines. Last I saw of her was a stop-over in San Francisco on her way to the Hawaiian Islands two years ago!

Mrs. Thor S. Johnson '50 (Blanche Anderson) of 116 S. Woodlawn, Wheaton, Ill., lists the family roster as follows: Thor, Jr., almost 6; Mark was 4 recently; Kristen Anne, 5 months. I know how busy she has been, for they moved to this new address and had the last child all at about the same time.

'55 Men: Frederick W. Rose
Cornell Univ. Hall #2
Ithaca, N.Y.

Being caught in the middle of the "old exam grind," I will have to limit the length of this letter. Actually, that is just an excuse; for the fact is that I am starting to run out of news. I imagine everyone feels pretty much the same way about these columns; they like to read them and hear how everyone is doing, but the thought never occurs to them to sit down and let us know about themselves and their friends. The result of all this is that I have to end up calling the same people and adding their knowledge of the Class activities to my own to make up a column. Let's stop this "mickey-mousing around" (new college term) and all of you take a minute and drop us a postcard. Enough said.

We have been leading off with the military, but that approach may be going out of style as everyone seems to be getting out of the service. A few recent departees include Bob Keyes who gave up his position as one of the outstanding young Naval strategists to take up his civilian calling with Stone & Webster Engineering Corp., Boston, ever retaining his blissful bachelorhood. Also to be in Boston is Dick Pew after his discharge this fall from the Air Force. Al Trostel should be married by the time you read this as his wedding is planned for January 31. Al just finished his Army tour and will probably be working in Milwaukee. A postcard from Dick Mathewson indicated his change of address to 2280 Tayer Road, Adrian, Mich., which is probably indicative of his discharge from the Army after having put in some service time in Ft. Niagara. Still in the service is Tim Wright, stationed at Ft. Belvoir, Va.

Among "us" perennial students we have Ed Weinthal, in business school at Michigan; Jim Weaver, in the Cornell Business School; and Mike Mage, in his third year at the Columbia dental school where his wife, Rose Goldman '56, is studying for the PhD in microbiology.

Of course, the men who really make you feel guilty are those who come back to Ithaca to "work." Max Mattes is going great guns with his (and Al Spindler's) Alcor, Inc. in Collegetown where they have recently expanded in the acquisition of a new location. Bill Schmidt is a marketing specialist in Agricultural Economics.

There is an ever-increasing number of

'55ers in the New York City area where word comes of Pete von Storch and Ken Hunt, both working for IBM; Dick Schraeder, enjoying his first year of the banking business at Chase Manhattan Bank, and his first year of married life, by the way. We would like to hear from the doctors at Cornell Med Jim Van Buren and Jack Morris if they get a chance. Also heard that Herb Fisher is with a New York law firm.

From the outside world comes word of coast-to-coast coverage by the Class. Starting with Rush Marshall selling in Connecticut after his fall release from the Army we head for Pennsylvania where Len Oniskey is general manager of a motel at the Valley Forge interchange on the Turnpike; on to Jim Brown in Cleveland where he is selling for Union Carbide and recently became engaged; a stop in Minneapolis to see Bill Boyle, with Pillsbury there; after a nice dry spell, we eventually get to see Don Crane in Nevada; and finish up with Jim Chandler, managing a specialty room for Western Hotels in Seattle, Wash.

The mail always brings news of babies. Perhaps the cleverest announcement that I have seen was sent by Lillian Akel Ambrosino and hubby, Michael. The cover advertised TV channel WGBH, the one with which Mike is associated, and the inside announced a change in the program schedule, the title being Julie Renee. All congratulations can be sent to 45 Waverly St., Belmont, Mass. Henry and Phoebe (Angell) Doerge '57 of 155 Grand View Court, Ithaca, had a son November 25. October 18, Mary Lu De Puy Whitlock and husband Dick '53 had a son, Jeff. The Whitlocks spent the summer in Toledo, Ohio where Dick worked on a refinery job. Now they are back in Euclid, Ohio, at 268 235th St.

Another couple who has done quite a bit of traveling are Margot (Oppenheim) and Jack Robinson '54. After a wonderful sixteen months in Germany, including side trips all over Europe and to Israel, they have settled at 4499 Henry Hudson Parkway, Riverdale 71. Jack is with the tax department of Prentice-Hall and Margot is with the membership department of Museum of Modern Art. They'd be delighted to hear from any Cornellians. And speaking of foreign ports, I received a card from Sue Spooner Olson and husband Harry '48. They are still in Spain and their address is ROICC, Area III, APO 284, New York City. Another couple covering a lot of territory is Pat (Van Mater) and Bill Wheeler. As Pat writes from their home at 38 Elm Terrace, Burlington, Vt., "it's a busy time now with a new skiing season."

It's a busy season for Jan Kahn, but for a different reason. Working for Henry Holt & Co., Inc. can keep one going at a hectic pace. One of her greatest feats is editing a book on cost accounting. And incidentally, if you have not yet paid your Class dues of $2, please send them to Jan at 58 East 83d St., New York City 28. Make checks payable to Cornell University, Class of 1955 Women.

You may have seen in the November 30 magazine section of the New York Times the article "Students in Search of Faith." Shirley Sanford Dudley and her husband, Carl '54, are among those mentioned for their work in connection with Union Theological Seminary. "Mr. Dudley and his wife spent the summer trying—without much success—to organize interracial work camps in Little Rock, Ark. They went knowing their chances were slim, knowing the job might be hazardous, having no formal staff or elaborate plans but simply a mandate from a Quaker group, and pitched in to do what they could." For further information on what happened this summer, Shirley can be reached at 600 W. 122d St., New York City 27.

At a recent meeting of alumni officers of all Classes in New York, Executive Secretary Midge Lowenthal Glazer, President Sidney Brandon Spillman, Reunion Chairman Judy Frankel, and I discussed plans for what could be one of greatest Reunions in Cornell history, our Third-year Reunion coming up this June. Judy, who inherited the job of Reunion chairman from Nancy Kohler Dean because the Deans are expecting an addition shortly after Reunion time, will be sending you more detailed information soon. But, let me say that if you can possibly be there, it's a week end you won't want to miss.

A note about Judy. She's back in New York as an assistant producer for Gotham Recording Co. after a very wonderful nine months as a guide at the World's Fair. She shares an apartment at 330 East Fifty-first Street with Gail Gifford, assistant to an account executive at Hazard Advertising Co.

Last column I got through about one page of a four-page letter filled with news notes from Gwenn Grohmann desCognets. I now take up where I left off. Betty Lou (Carson) and Fred Ward '58 are now settled in Canton where Fred is studying at a seminary, and Betty is teaching home ec. In Lockport, Shirley (Baker) and Roger Coulter '57 have built a new home. The address is just Rt. 1, Lockport. Also in Lockport are Carol (Beverly) and Douglas MacIntosh and son, Robert. Gwenn sends along an address for Aubra (Chadwick) and Tracy Storer '54. It's 22 Coleman Place, Menlo Park, Cal.

Back in Ithaca are Anne (Markley) and Ty Frank '59 and Bud and Barbara Post '56. Anne's working in the Registrar's Office and Ty is due to graduate this month. Bud is finishing up his final year in the Business School.

Not far behind me in leaving Rochester was Bonnie Smith, now a writer-editor with the Department of Agriculture. She shares an apartment with Mary Malleson at 2800 Connecticut Ave., NW, Washington 8, D.C. Mary teaches chemistry and biology at High Point High School in Maryland. Claudia Gabel is at 114 Jefferson Heights, Catskill, where she's "pouring general science, hygiene, and earth science into the heads of eighth and ninth graders at Catskill High School."

Alayne (Lucky) Czurles also joined the exodus from Rochester, but only to Buffalo. She's at 605-A Allenhurst Rd., Eggertsville 26, and teaches homemaking at a junior high. Lucky also writes of an addition to the family of Janet (McGinnis) and Roy Hayter, March 29. His name: Paul Graham. The Hayters are in the ranks of our more far-flung members and their address is 10 Elmoor Avenue, Welwyn, Herts, England. Janis Pulsifer and husband, Herbert Fishman, are living at 2201 University Avenue, Middleton, Wis., while Herb is studying for the PhD in mathematics at University of Wisconsin. Janis works right on campus doing computing for the Navy. She writes that Barbara Grove Kuhn is in nearby Madison, but sends no further address. Joan Burgess is somewhere in the vicinity of Canton, home of St. Lawrence University, where she is director of physical education for women.

A note from Mary Amatruda Wheeler asks me to correct an error in an earlier column. "Help," she writes, "you have amputated my poor husband's first name." Okay. It's Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Wheeler '56 due to become Dr. and Mrs. Wheeler when Howard finishes Cornell Medical College next year. Their address: 512 Eighty-Third Street, Apartment 5C, New York 28.

'57 Men: David S. Nye

 Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

After attending an interesting and informative Cornell Fund meeting at the Biltmore, I am now filled with 101 logical reasons why you should give, or give more, to the Fund when you are contacted during the next four months. Tony Cashen, Tom Iitin, Rod Beckwith, and Jim Wright also represented '57.

Murray Joel Belman and Stephen Skrainka have been elected to the legal aid bureau at Harvard law school. There are forty-two members in the bureau, all chosen for their scholastic merit. Stephen Pollock is attending the graduate school of physics at MIT, and is married to Cyd Gold '58 "who will be attending Brandeis University to obtain a Doctorate in History of Ideas."

Don Matheson is in the Army, and as of September is the father of a son, Craig Morris. While at Armor School, Don placed second in a class of 118. Lawrence Abelman was last heard of at 72-31 Park Drive East, Flushing 67, and G. Willis Daygel is at 234 Fairmont Ave., Liverpool, "with the US Government."

Lee Poole, 114 Hodge Hall, Princeton, N.J., is a second-year student at Princeton Theological Seminary in preparation for some form of the Presbyterian ministry. Next summer he expects to work in Alaska with the Presbyterian Board of National Missions. Roger Dohn is an engineering trainee with the Pittsburgh DesMoines Steel Co. and lives at 607 Hill St., Sewickley, Pa. Edward Neuwirth was married in 1957 to Taffy Kropf, University of Bridgeport graduate, has finished his second year at the NYU college of dentistry, is in the dental fraternity Alpha Omega, and lives at 135-25 Hoover Ave., Kew Gardens 35.

David Loysen and Carol Bitner were married in the chapel of the Colgate-Rochester Divinity School, January 3. Melvin Fein is a private in the US Army and is stationed at Fort Dix. Howard Shambarger attained the position of 2 in a class of 93 at the Army Ordnance School. As usual, the Army failed to mention where Howard is, was, or will be stationed. Bill Saurer, 651 Roberts Avenue, Glenside, Pa., has been promoted to ice cream manufacturing supervisor by the Sealtest Superlee Division, National Dairy Products Corp., and Francis C. Thesier has qualified for a commission in the Marine Corps.

Kenneth Gillett and Mary Gordon Kniffin, Wells College graduate, were married in Pelham Manor in September. Bill Brown, 19 Ferncliff Ter., Short Hills, N.J., is a manufacturing trainee with Rowe Manufacturing Co. in Whippany. His engagement to Skidmore graduate Ann Talbot was announced January 17. Peter Eckstein combines business with business. He has been and still is with Dun & Bradstreet, but late last year he and a friend formed a corporation known as Omega Enterprises. January 17, New York's Town Hall resounded to a successful Omega Enterprises-sponsored jazz concert.

Andy Schroder is Intelligence officer with the Am. Trac Battalion of the Third Marine Division at White Beach, Okinawa. He was promoted to first lieutenant and has been accepted for fall, 1959 admission to the Cornell Law School.

'57 Women: Diane Heasley 3911 Koko Drive Honolulu, T. H.

Linda (Wellman) and Jim Stansfield '57 have an addition to their already growing family. Son Scott Taylor arrived November 8 and is keeping Linda busy with the help of her already active twins, Leslie & Greg. The Stansfields live at 322 Belmore Drive, North Syracuse. Jackie Milligan McDonald and husband Jim, MA '54, LLB '58 have a young son, Mark Douglas, born August 3. Jackie's comment was "we are putting oars on his bassinette in hopes that he will some day row on Lake Cayuga." Jane Lueck Talmadge writes that she and husband Nat '54 have an addition to their active lives. Bruce David arrived September 18. The Talmadges live on the family farm at 36 Sound Ave., Riverhead.

Edwin '57 and Sarah Elbert Kartman have a new address, 2123 Wesley, Evanston, Ill. Also in the area is our Class president, Jane Mitchell. Jane wrote a note on a Christmas card. She lives at 711 Roslyn, Evanston. She writes that she is "happily struggling toward the MA in political science, and a side interest in African studies." It all sounds quite fascinating. Joan Spielberger sent a note that she is at 1560 S. Albion Street, Denver 22, Colo., but not a mention of what she was doing. Cynthia Mandelstam teaches in Roseberg, Ore. and her address is 764 Corey.

Ellen Stekert has been appointed assistant editor for the Journal of American Folklore. She is a graduate student in folklore at Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind. Jeanne H. Waters is at 39 Coral Drive, Claymont, Del. She is a chemist with American Viscose Corp. and working towards the Master's at night school at U of Del. Susan Breslow teaches third grade in Brooklyn. She lives at 1455 E. 24th Street, Brooklyn. Jo Eastburn Cyprus and husband Bob are still in El Paso, Tex. and live at 1604 Winslow Road. Also in the West are Phillis and Bill Adam at 645 "B" Street Coronado, California.

Jackie Crawford is now at Harvard law school and lives at Wyeth Hall, Room 306, 1595 Mass. Ave., Cambridge 38. Kiki Finn is now back in the States and has headed West and is at 2115 Broderick Street, San Francisco, Cal. She should look up Nancy Galusha and Sandy Taylor who are also there. They both journeyed over here in November for a week of sunshine.

'58 Men: James R. Harper 1024 Old Gulph Road Rosemont, Pa.

Bob Lathrop is manager of the Dryden Stockyards. He invites any Cornellians in the area (Dryden is ten miles from Ithaca) to drop in and see him during one of the Empire Livestock Marketing Cooperative auctions which take place every Monday. "Hear the bidding continue," writes Bob, "until you almost want to bid yourself."

We have two July weddings to report. Norman Hill married Mildred N. Parker in Wolfeboro, N.H. Hill is a lieutenant in the Marine Corps. In Bronxville, Buena B. Wickham '60 was married to Tyler R. Proskine. They now live in Oxford. Elizabeth Kuttich became the bride of Robert B. Schlotzhauer, August 9, in Flint, Mich. Schlotzhauer, a graduate of the General Motors Institute in Flint, works for Heinrich Motors in Rochester.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Eva J. Wagman, South Norwalk, Conn., to David R. Remnek, now with Ohrbach's in Manhattan. He hopes to become a buyer for the department store. Private Paul Fowler, NG 21250028, 1st. TNG. RGT. Co. M, Fort Dix, N.J., writes to inform us of the marriage of Linda Holler, North Tonawanda, a graduate of Cazanovia Junior College, to Jay Huber.

We received a Christmas card from Dick Metzgar, the Cornell Fund representative. He is with Kroger Co., Cincinnati, Ohio. "I'll spend January as the assistant personnel manager in the Atlantic Division and then be in Cincinnati until the Army grabs me in May," he writes.

We found a note from Joe Taylor, now signing himself "J. Russell Taylor," in our box the other day. He is doing graduate work in English at Columbia. "I have grown a Van Dyke beard," he informed us, "and

ENGINEERS PHYSICISTS MATHEMATICIANS

Investigate the outstanding promotion opportunities at Douglas.

It stands to reason that the biggest field for advancement lies where the biggest programs involving advanced technology are under way.

At Douglas, massive missile, space and transport projects in both military and commercial areas have created a continuous demand for engineers and scientists with backgrounds outside as well as in the avionics, aircraft and missile fields.

As these projects grow in scope, the multiplying supervisory and executive openings are filled by Douglas engineers from within the company. This promotion policy has made Douglas a prime organization for the engineer who wishes to advance in his profession.

Unlocking the secrets of the universe

Amazing textile fibers spun out of natural gas . . . wonder drugs squeezed from coal . . . shining stainless steel forged from drab, brownish earth. These man-made marvels were born in the minds and hands of research scientists.

Never satisfied with things as they are, the research scientist takes apart the raw materials of nature to capture the basic "building blocks" of the universe. Then he rearranges and combines the pieces into new and better things that help improve our lives.

Research is a living thing to the people of Union Carbide—for it is the foundation upon which their work is built. They have created hundreds of useful products from such basic substances as oil, natural gas, ores, air, and water. And the wonders yet to come, the completely new things of tomorrow, are being sought and found in Union Carbide's laboratories today.

Learn about the exciting work going on now in alloys, carbons, chemicals, gases, plastics, and nuclear energy. Write for "Products and Processes" Booklet A, Union Carbide Corporation, 30 East 42nd St., New York 17, N.Y. In Canada, Union Carbide Canada Limited, Toronto.

"Now"... is always the hardest time to invest

Has there ever been a single day when all of the major factors—business, labor, politics, money rates, Federal budget, international relations—were so predictable that the investor could go about his work with assurance?

Investment decisions are always difficult, but always necessary.

To meet that necessity, investment judgment must be combined with imagination, as well as understanding of individual requirements.

With these essentials, our Trust Company's specialized work—managing investments—adds immensely to the investor's peace of mind and financial well-being.
