FOR AQUATIC SPORTS.

Proposal to Incorporate Club and Build a Commodious Boathouse.

The Aquatic Club, an organization composed of students and members of the Faculty, is at work on a plan for providing a commodious boathouse on the shore of Cayuga lake. It is proposed to form a stock company, and subscriptions for the stock are now being obtained. The boathouse will contain accommodations for rowboats, canoes, racing shells, sailboats and motor boats. It will be situated at the southeast corner of the lake, about three hundred yards from the terminus of the Tioga street trolley line at Renwick park.

At this place there is now a boathouse, containing slips which are rented to owners of motor boats. The proprietor has agreed to turn the property over to the Aquatic Club, taking stock in the proposed corporation as his compensation. Messrs. Jared T. Newman and Charles H. Blood, who own property on the lake front adjoining this boathouse, have consented to transfer it to the club for a like consideration. A similar arrangement has been made with a contractor and a firm of architects to cover the cost of greatly enlarging the present boathouse. At the start there will be racks for forty small boats, slips for twelve motor boats and provision for craft of other kind. It is hoped that the club will be such a success that further enlargement will be necessary. The capital stock of the corporation is to be $10,000, issued in shares of $25 each. Sufficient rental will be charged to make the boathouse self-supporting and to pay a reasonable dividend to stockholders. The Ithaca Motor Boat Club is interested in the project and will be merged in the proposed corporation. The plan appeals to the members of this club because most of them now have to keep their boats in the inlet and they would prefer to have docking facilities on the lake itself. The site chosen appears to be the best that could be had. A breakwater will be constructed, running out toward the end of the Renwick park pier and providing mooring places for sailboats. If the plan succeeds it will doubtless much increase the interest in aquatic sports at the University.

1905 Night in New York.

More than twenty members of the class of 1905 living in New York and vicinity met at the Cornell Club, New York, on October 17 for dinner and for a smoker. The 1905 men in New York have a regular organization, and at this meeting it was voted to have meetings for dinner at the Cornell Club the first Wednesday of each month the coming winter. The third Wednesday of each month will be what the men call a "drop in" night, that is, when 1905 men will likely find more than the usual number of their classmates at the club.

Members of the class living in or near New York who did not receive by mail notice of the last meeting should send their addresses to the secretary, Neal D. Becker, 27 William street, New York city. Changes of address should also be reported.

At this winter's meetings the 1905 men will make plans for the first reunion of the class in Ithaca next June.

Elmer J. McCaustland, '95, assistant professor of mining engineering and surveying, has retired from the Faculty to accept a professorship in the University of Alabama, and has left Ithaca for Tuscaloosa to begin his new work.

Charles Burns, of Brooklyn, has been elected head cheer leader.

BION J. ARNOLD APPOINTED.

Expert on Traction Matters for New York Public Service Commission.

Bion J. Arnold, of Chicago, has been selected by the New York State Public Service Commission to act as its consulting engineer upon transportation matters. This is one of the most important appointments yet made by this commission, which is now endeavoring to solve the knotty problem of street traction in New York city. Mr. Arnold is a former student in Sibley College, where he studied electrical engineering under the late Dr. Thurston in 1888 and 1889. He is now the president of the Cornell Association of Chicago. For the past five years he has been the adviser of the city of Chicago and has worked out a transportation plan for that city involving the expenditure of more than forty millions of dollars. This expenditure is to be under the direction of a commission of which Mr. Arnold is the chairman and chief engineer. For this service he is reported to receive a salary of $30,000 per year. In New York his abilities may find an even wider field than in Chicago.

Mr. Arnold was born in Michigan in 1861, and when he was an infant his family emigrated to Nebraska. As a boy he was greatly interested in mechanics, and he built, with crude facilities, many pieces of mechanism which indicated what his future work was to be. Before he was fifteen years old he made several small steam engines, and at seventeen he constructed the first bicycle seen in Nebraska. During his seventeenth and eighteenth years he built a complete locomotive about three feet long, modeled after the standard locomotive of the Burlington system at that time. This machine ran successfully by steam. It now stands in a glass case in his office. In 1884 Mr. Arnold was graduated from Hillsdale College in Michigan with the degree of Bachelor of Science. The next four years he spent in working for various engine companies. In 1888 he resigned the position of mechanical engineer with the Chicago & Great Western Railway to take a course in electrical engineering in Cornell University, as he then foresaw a much wider application of the use of electricity to traction. He was employed in various capacities as an electrical engineer until 1893, when he opened an office of his own in Chicago. He has been consulted in many large engineering enterprises, including the reorganization of Chicago's street railway system and the electrification of the New York Central Railway's lines in New York city, and he has invented a number of valuable devices relating to electric railway work. In 1903-04 Mr. Arnold was president of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

New Language Teachers.

The addition of a native Spaniard to the instructing staff of the Department of Romance Languages is indicative of the increasing prominence which the study of the Spanish language and literature is assuming in the University curriculum. In Mr. Miguel Ventura, of Barcelona, the department has obtained an efficient specialist whose experience and preliminary studies make him well qualified for his work. After graduation from the University of Barcelona, Mr. Ventura took up advanced work at the Universidad Central of Madrid, where, in 1897, he won a traveling fellowship enabling him to continue his studies for three years in Paris. On his return he was appointed to a professorship in French at the Escuela Normal Central in Madrid. In 1903 he was commissioned by the Spanish government to study Provençal at Montpellier, and in the succeeding year was sent to Paris for investigations in French etymology and philology. In 1905 he resumed his work at Madrid, where he remained up to the time of his appointment at Cornell. His publications include translations into the Catalan tongue of Seneca's Tragedies and Byron's "Manfred." Mr. Ventura will teach both Spanish and French.

The Department of Germanic Languages has engaged for the ensuing year Dr. Hermann Davidson to succeed Dr. Fritz Pauls, who has returned to Prussia. Dr. Davidson is here on leave of absence from the Oberrealschule in Hamburg, where he has been teaching French and English. His work there was decidedly successful and he comes here with the highest recommendations. Dr. Davidson is a graduate of the University of Marburg. On completing his course he spent short periods at the Universities of Berlin, Paris and London, engaged in study and research. Subsequently he entered the University of Kiel, from which he received the degree of Ph. D. in 1902. After completing the required period of military service at Leipsic, he was appointed to his present position at Hamburg. Dr. Davidson has specialized in English, French and the Scandinavian languages and in Germanic philology.

A new fire house in Huestis street, a three-story brick and stucco building, for which an appropriation was voted by the city of Ithaca last spring, is now virtually completed and equipped, affording long needed facilities for the adequate protection of life and property on East hill. In this building are stationed a combination chemical engine and hose cart, and a hook and ladder truck equipped with life nets. On the first floor are stalls for the horses. There will be a crew of eight men to man the apparatus and all of them will live in the house. The second story contains a large assembly room, a bunk room and a study room for the student members of the company. On the third floor is a flat for the use of the drivers.

SENIOR CLASS ELECTION.

Leroy R. Goodrich, of Buffalo, Chosen as Class President.

The senior class election was held last Wednesday, and resulted in the election of Leroy R. Goodrich, of Buffalo, as president of the class. Goodrich received a majority of ninety-seven votes over his only opponent, Dean L. Kelsey, of North Tonawanda. Goodrich is a student in the College of Arts and Sciences. Outside his studies, his principal interest since he entered college has been in debating. For two years past he has been a leader of a 'varsity debate team, and he has also been a competitor for the '94 memorial prize. This year he is president of the Triangular Debate League. He is a member of Quill and Dagger.

Thomas M. Jackson, of Kennett Square, Pa., was elected first vice-president. The following Class Day officers were chosen: class orator, Henry T. Kent, jr., Clifton Heights, Pa.; ivy orator, Clarence E. Baer, New Castle, Pa.; historian, T. J. Durkan, Watertown; essayist, Ethel S. Hamilton, Ben Avon, Pa.; poet, Frances Hickman, Buffalo; memorial orator, Robert E. Samuels, Brooklyn.

Improved Telephone System.

A new telephone system, which was installed on the campus during the summer, has been put into operation during the past week. It is a branch of the Ithaca Telephone Company, and consists of a complete exchange, with all the University buildings connected with a central switchboard in Morrill hall. Twenty trunk lines lead to this switchboard from the telephone company's headquarters downtown, and an operator is in attendance throughout the day. The new system makes it much easier for a person downtown, for instance, to get into communication with a person on the campus. After calling up the downtown central, he need merely ask for Cornell University and then give the name of the person with whom he wishes to talk. Communication between points on the campus is also made much simpler, it being no longer necessary to ring up the downtown office of the telephone company. A special arrangement has been made providing for conferences among several professors at the same time. All the wires connected with the new system are run under ground instead of on poles. The switchboard which is in use at Morrill hall was on exhibition last June at the telephone convention in Chicago.

In Brooklyn Politics.

Several Cornellians are taking active part in the politics of Brooklyn. Congressman George E. Waldo, '73, is prominent in the contest within the Republican organization over the question of direct nominations. He is working for the adoption of the new system. The most conspicuous feature of the recent primary elections was the effort of followers of Timothy L. Woodruff, the county leader, to oust a hostile leader from the control of the Fifth Assembly District. Jesse Fuller, jr., '98, who is a Deputy State Superintendent of Elections, was made leader of this movement. He was unsuccessful, though the vote was close. Had he been elected to the position of leader he would have been the second Cornellian in the Republican Executive Committee, for Reuben L. Haskell, '98, was chosen leader of the Twenty-third Assembly District a few months ago. The nomination of a Republican candidate for Municipal Court Justice in the Sixth Judicial District caused an exciting rivalry between Assemblymen Edward C. Dowling, '91, and Thomas J. Surpless, '00. The older man won, and the younger was afterward renominated for Assemblyman in the Sixth Assembly District.

Andrew C. Troy, '03, has been nominated for Assemblyman by the Democrats of the Fourth Assembly District. A similar nomination was offered to Evarts L. Prentiss, '83, in NEWCOMERS IN THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY.

ALFRED HAYES, JR., newly appointed professor of law, has been practising his profession for several years in New York city and has also been a lecturer in the Columbia Law School, from which he was graduated with the degree of LL. B. in 1898, after studying at Bucknell and Princeton. From Princeton he received an A. B. in 1895 and an A. M. in 1898.

ALBERT ROSS HILL, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and director of the new School of Education, is a graduate of Dalhousie College in the class of 1892, and received the degree of Ph. D. at Cornell in 1895. He has been, for four years past, professor of educational psychology and dean of the Teachers' College at the University of Missouri.

the Eleventh Assembly District, but was declined. Richardson Webster, '02, is secretary of the Democratic organization of the latter district, and is a member of the Press Committee of the Kings County Democratic Club. Thomas Downs, '02, is active in the club as a member of the Entertainment Committee.

This Year's Concert Series.

The Department of Music of the University has made a preliminary announcement of its plans for a series of chamber concerts this year, such as have been given under its auspices for many years past. Professor Dann has already arranged the dates of the first two concerts.

David Bispham will appear in a song recital on Tuesday evening, October 29, in the opening concert of the series. Emil Paur and the Pittsburg Orchestra, who have given a concert in these series for the past two years, will be heard on Friday evening, November 22. Other artists who have been engaged to appear are Richard Buhlig, pianist; Emilio Gogorza, baritone, and the Kneisel String Quartette. The dates on which they will be heard have not yet been announced. Gogorza was prevented by illness from taking part in the Music Festival last spring, and the Department of Music considers itself fortunate in obtaining him this year. Other concerts may be added to those already promised.

PENN STATE 8, CORNELL 6.

Varsity Defeated—Quarterback Kicks Two Field Goals for Visitors.

The 'varsity eleven was played to a standstill and finally beaten on Percy Field last Saturday by the Pennsylvania State College team. One touchdown was obtained by Cornell, while Vorhis, the visitors' quarterback, kicked two goals from the field, making the final score 8 to 6. Cornell's failure to make a better showing was due principally to poor generalship on the field. Fumbling accounted for the loss of at least one touchdown, and there was a weakness somewhere in the right wing which cost us many yards both on offense and defence; two of Walder's punts were blocked; ninety yards were lost through penalties for failure of the forward pass. Vorhis was the star of the game. In addition to making the two field goals, he ran his team with good judgment and himself reeled off nearly half the aggregate distance gained by State College.

Cornell had a new halfback in the game—E. L. McCallie, of Chattanooga, Tenn., a member of the junior class in civil engineering. McCallie entered Cornell a year ago from Davidson College, where he had played football for two years. He had been declared ineligible to play this fall under the rule relating to entrance from another institution of collegiate standing. Early last week, however, the faculty committee came into possession of further facts regarding his college record which made it appear that he was being treated unjustly, and the committee forthwith removed the ban against him. He reported at the field, and in practice during the week showed himself to be a halfback of the first class—just such a man as the coaches had been seeking as a mate for Earle. His work was the feature of the scrimmages between 'varsity and scrubs, but he had little chance to show what he could do in actual contest. In the first half of Saturday's game he was removed from the field with a fractured rib, and will probably not play again for a fortnight. Gardner was also injured in the game, being taken to the infirmary suffering from a concussion of the brain. He has recovered.

STORY OF THE GAME.

Lynch appeared at left tackle in Captain Cook's place, and Earle was acting captain. Walder's kick-off was followed by an exchange of punts and then Cornell got the ball in midfield. On a forward pass McCallie gained twenty-five yards and added five more around the end. Walder carried the ball to the 8-yard line. A forward pass failed, and Cornell was penalized fifteen yards. Another forward pass was uncompleted, and Penn State got the ball. McCallie broke up the first play for a loss of eight yards, and McCleary punted. Cornell resumed the attack, and Earle, McCallie, Walder and O'Rourke advanced the ball steadily until Walder was sent over the goal line. As he crossed the line, however, he dropped the ball and Penn State got it. McCleary punted to midfield, and again Cornell took the offensive, carrying the ball to the 15-yard line, whence two successive failures of the forward pass returned it to the 45-yard line. Three times Cornell had been driven back from the goal line.

Walder punted, and then for several minutes the ball changed hands frequently, McCallie twice getting it on fumbles by Penn State. A punt by Walder was caught in midfield by Vorhis, who ran the ball back twenty yards and then travelled to the 15-yard line on a quarterback run. A few moments afterward he kicked a field goal from the 12-yard line. McCallie had been injured, and Shearer took his place. Soon after play was resumed Gardner was carried off the field and Caldwell went in to run the team. For the rest of the period Cornell made desperate efforts which were nullified by fumbles. The half ended with the score State 4, Cornell 0.

Just before time was called O'Rourke was ruled off the field for what one of the officials called unnecessary roughness in tackling. Brinton was in his place when the second half began, and Cosgrove was at right guard. The early part of this half was a kicking game. Walder tried for a goal from placement on the 20-yard line, but the kick was blocked. Caldwell recovered the ball and punted to the visitors' 10-yard line. Watson was down the field fast enough to get the ball for Cornell. The Red and White was within reach of a score, but State College held for downs a foot from the goal. McCleary's punt, however, went out of bounds at the 5-yard line, and on the next play Walder was sent through for a touchdown. Caldwell kicked goal. Score, Cornell 6, Penn State 4.

Cornell braced up and played with more ginger, but soon lost the ball on a forward pass. Vorhis scored a drop kick from the 40-yard line, giving Penn State 8 points to Cornell's 6. In the few minutes time which was left Caldwell and Walder each failed in trying to kick a field goal. The game ended with the ball in the visitors' possession to midfield.

The line-up follows:

Cornell.	Penn State.
Watson.....l. e.....	Burns
Lynch.....l. t.....	Richie
Thompson.....l. g.....	Kunkel
May.....c.....	Weaver
Brinton.....r. g.....	Cyphers
O'Rourke.....r. t.....	Smith
Van Orman.....r. e.....	Campbell
Gardner.....q. b.....	Vorhis
Earle.....l. h. b.....	Hirshman
McCallie.....r. h. b.....	McCleary
Walder.....f. b.....	Zink

Touchdown, Walder. Goal from touchdown, Caldwell. Field goals, Vorhis 2. Referee, Mr. Southworth. Umpire, Mr. Godchild. Time of halves, 25 minutes. Cosgrove for Brinton, Brinton for Substitutes, Sutherland for Watson, O'Rourke, Harris for Van Orman, Caldwell for Gardner, Shearer for McCallie, Maxwell for Campbell, Coulson for Hirshman.

A statistical study of the game made by the Sun shows that Cornell rushed the ball 400 yards to the visitors' 340. Punts netted Cornell 415 yards and State 413, two of Cornell's kicks being blocked. Cornell was penalized ninety yards to State's five. For the first time this season Earle failed to shine in comparison with the right halfback, this being clearly due to weakness in the right half of the line, which permitted Earle's interference to be broken up, especially after O'Rourke's retirement. Their respective gains were: first half, Earle, 73; McCallie, 52; Shearer, 6; second half, Earle, 45; Shearer, 75. Vorhis and McCleary were more than half the visitors' team. May, Thompson, Lynch and Watson more than held their own.

The State College team has been coached by T. F. Fennell, '96, who is spending the present week on Percy Field, assisting Schoellkopf, Halliday, Lueder and Beacham to prepare the 'varsity for the Princeton game. Head Coach Roper of Princeton was a witness of Cornell's defeat.

The Football Season.

(Cornell's score given first.)

- Oct. 2, Hamilton, 23-0.
- Oct. 5, Oberlin, 22-5.
- Oct. 9, Niagara, 47-0.
- Oct. 12, Colgate, 18-0.
- Oct. 19, Penn State, 6-8.
- Oct. 26, Princeton at Ithaca.
- Nov. 2, W. U. P. at Ithaca.
- Nov. 9, West Point at West Point.
- Nov. 16, Swarthmore at Ithaca.
- Nov. 23, U. of P. at Philadelphia.

Only three members of last year's championship lacrosse team are left in the University. They are Lucker, Boardman and Schultheis. However, about forty men have reported for preliminary practice, and there seems to be no lack of good material.

Syracuse University has been admitted to the Intercollegiate 'Cross-Country Association, and New York University has been dropped. The meet will be held at Princeton on November 27.

The Cornell Congress has reorganized for the year.

INTEREST IN PRINCETON GAME.

Large Attendance Promised—Joint Concert of the Musical Clubs.

Everything points to a very large attendance at the Princeton-Cornell football game on Percy Field next Saturday. There has been a heavy demand for tickets from out-of-town alumni, and it is likely that the seating capacity of the stands will be more than taxed. Large parties are coming from Binghamton, Elmira, Syracuse, Rochester and Buffalo, and a special train is to be run from Cleveland for alumni of that city. The local call for seats is large. Although the sale was not to open until Tuesday morning, a line began to form outside the office of the Athletic Association on Saturday afternoon.

The Princeton eleven will be accompanied to Ithaca by the Princeton musical clubs, which will give a joint concert with the Cornell clubs in the Lyceum theater on Friday evening. About fifty musicians are coming from Princeton, and a large number of undergraduates is expected to accompany them. The Tiger eleven will spend Friday night at Owego and will arrive in Ithaca on the morning of the game.

The officials for the game were appointed at a meeting of the central board of the football rules committee in New York city last week. They are: M. J. Thompson, Georgetown, referee; Dave Fultz, Brown, umpire; J. F. Okeson, Lehigh, field judge; Rhinehart, Lafayette, linesman.

Dr. Schurman at Jamestown.

President Schurman delivered one of the principal addresses at the celebration of "New York Day" at the Jamestown Exposition on October 10. His address was entitled "Individualism."

Professor G. P. Bristol has been reappointed director of the Summer Session for next year.

John R. Mott, '88, occupied the pulpit of Sage Chapel last Sunday.

EXPLORATION ON THE CAMPUS.

The University Board of Trustees will meet in Ithaca this week. So far as can be learned, nothing has been done by the undergraduates to provide entertainment for the members of the Board while they are in town. The facilities offered by the University gymnasium for instruction in medieval history, bacteriology and other subjects are well known, and it is suggested that a profitable afternoon might be spent by the Board, under the guidance of experienced students, in exploring its subterranean caverns. There need be no fear of ill effects if the visitors are provided with noseguards and rubber boots. Some curious examples of the architecture of semi-civilized peoples are here afforded, and careful observers have even obtained interesting side lights on the habits of the common mole. After a tour through this storehouse of relics, the party might assemble in the locker room and be entertained by the following program:

Paper—"The Public Architecture of the Huns," by the Director of Physical Culture.

Thesis—"The Effects of Light when Filtered through Atmospheres of Varying Density," by a member of the senior class.

Paper—"The Black Hole of Calcutta," by the Commandant of Cadets.

Essay—"Perspiration at Cornell in 1883," by a member of the sophomore class.

All the papers should be made as short as possible, on account of the noxious gases which fill these chambers toward nightfall.

Phi Beta Kappa Council.

The ninth triennial council of the Phi Beta Kappa Society was held at Williamsburg, Va., on September 11 and 12. It was at the Raleigh Tavern (burned in 1859) in Williamsburg that the society was founded in 1776. The Cornell chapter was represented by Captain Erwin L. Phillips, A. B., '91, now of the Thirteenth United States Cavalry, stationed at Fort Myer, Va., who wrote a history of the Society for his baccalaureate thesis. Other Cornellians in attendance were Miss Katharine M. Edwards, '88, representing the Wellesley chapter, and Miss Abby M. Hall, '93, representing the Swarthmore chapter. The address of welcome was delivered by President Lyon G. Tyler, of William and Mary College, a son of President John Tyler. Then followed a historical address on "Our Phi Beta Kappa Fathers in Fraternity and Public Life" by the Rev. Oscar M. Voorhees, secretary of the Society; a poem on "Motherland" by Professor Lesslie Hall of William and Mary College, and an oration on "Philosophy the Guide of Life" by Professor Edwin A. Grosvenor of Amherst, Mass., in which the Society was shown to have been one of the first patriotic societies of the country. The following officers were elected: president, Professor Grosvenor; vice-president, John J. McCook of New York; secretary and treasurer, Mr. Voorhees. Charters were granted to the following institutions: the University of Illinois, Tulane University, the University of Virginia, Iowa College, Franklin and Marshall College, Oberlin College, Ohio Wesleyan University and the University of Michigan.

The underclass track meet was held on Percy Field last Saturday and was won by the sophomores, who scored 88 points to the freshmen's 54. E. T. Cook, '10, of Chillicothe, O., took four first places for the sophomores, winning the 100-yard dash, the low hurdles, the high jump and the broad jump. L. J. Talbott, jr., '11, of Kansas City, established a new University record by throwing the hammer 160 feet 1 inch. He also won the shot put.

The University chimes will remain in the tower of the Library till late in December. The bells are to be recast, and the founders were expected to remove them before this. In fact it was announced last spring that the chimes would be silent throughout the present college year. The new chimes will have thirteen bells, three more than at present, and their range will be a great deal wider. They are to be installed some time next spring.

The Cornell Alumni Association of Seattle held an informal dinner at the Butler Grill on September 28. The president of the association is F. B. Cooper, superintendent of schools, and the secretary is State Representative Albert H. Beebe. There are about seventy-five Cornellians in Seattle.

OBITUARY.

DR. E. J. MORGAN.

Dr. Edward J. Morgan, who was one of the leaders of the medical profession in Ithaca, died at his home in West Buffalo street on October 3, at the age of fifty-eight. From 1873 to 1875 he was a student in the University, taking a special course in natural history under Professor Wilder as a preparation for his medical studies. He was graduated from the New York Homeopathic College in 1878, and at once commenced practice in Ithaca. For ten years he published the Homeopathic Expositor. At the time of his death he was serving his eleventh year of office on the Ithaca board of health and had twice been coroner of Tompkins county. He was a member of the Psi Upsilon fraternity. His wife, his mother and a sister, Mrs. Henry A. St. John, survive him.

T. A. ARMSTRONG, '07.

Thomas Andrew Armstrong, of Hamilton, Ont., died at his home in Canada on August 2, as the result of a third operation which he had undergone for an abscess of the lungs due to protracted pneumonia. He would have graduated from the College of Civil Engineering last June but for his illness. Last February he was removed from Ithaca to Saranac Lake for treatment, and was taken from there to his home in June. Armstrong was a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity and of Rod and Bob. He was manager of the basketball team last year.

University Scholarships.

Eighteen university scholarships—the full number—were awarded by the Faculty this month to members of the freshman class. This fact in itself indicates that the standard of the entering class is above the average, for it is not always that the entire number of scholarships is awarded. The Boys' High School of Brooklyn, as for several years past, won first place in the competi-
