WILLARD BEAHAN.

Statement of His Qualifications for the Office of Alumnus Trustee.

[The following statement gives an outline of the career of Willard Beahan, who has been nominated for election by the alumni next June as a member of the University Board of Trustees. The statement was prepared by Mr. Beahan's nominators.]

Willard Beahan, B. C. E., Cornell, '78, was born in Watkins, N. Y., January 15, 1854. He prepared for college at Starkey Seminary, from which he graduated in 1873. He then studied civil engineering at Cornell University and graduated with the degree of B. C. E. in 1878. In his senior year at Cornell he was chosen class historian and chief engineer.

In 1892 he married Miss Bessie B. DeWitt, A. B., Cornell, '78.

Upon leaving college, he entered the service of the U. S. Corps of Engineers as computer and while so engaged acquired many ideas of discipline and organization which, together with a natural fitness to command, have made him pre-eminently a leader of men. He later filled the following important positions:

Resident Engineer, Texas & Pacific Railway.

Division Engineer, Missouri Pacific Railway.

Chief of Construction, North and South American Construction Co.

President, Anderson & Barr Clay Co.

Superintendent of Construction, Cascade Tunnel, Great Northern Railway.

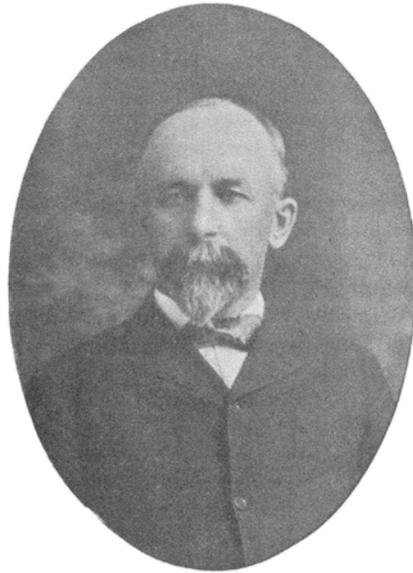

Division Engineer, Lehigh Valley Railroad.

Division Engineer, Chicago & Northwestern Railway.

In his early work upon Gould lines, he won distinction as a locating engineer and has since written a book upon the subject entitled "The Field Practice of Railway Location." This book is now in its second edition and is widely used in the various engineering colleges, and by chiefs of locating parties.

With the North and South American Construction Co. he undertook the construction of railroads for the Chilean Government. The work was interrupted, however, by a rebellion and the relations of Chili with the United States became so strained that he was obliged to return home. He did not return directly, however, but crossed the Andes to Buenos Aires, whence he sailed to Boulogne. He then spent some time traveling in Europe.

As President of The Anderson & Barr Clay Co. he developed a large and important business in the manufacture of clay products.

During the year 1891 he was General Superintendent of Streets in the city of St. Louis.

Mr. Beahan has always been deeply interested in public affairs and is a member of many learned and technical societies. Among them may be mentioned:

The American Society of Civil Engineers.

The Cornell Society of Civil Engineers of New York.

The Cleveland Engineering Society.

The American Railway Engineering and Maintenance of Way Association.

The Association of Superintendents of Bridges and Buildings.

The American Association for the Advancement of Science.

He is now President of The Cleveland Engineering Society and is a member of the Board of Managers of the Cleveland Y. M. C. A. In 1906 he was the leading spirit in the organization of The Northeastern Ohio Cornell Association, of which he is now Vice-President, and he is also a member of The Cornell University Association of Chicago.

In addition to the book above mentioned his literary work includes many contributions to the technical journals and he has lectured at Cornell and Stanford Universities.

A man of such abounding energy and versatility could hardly fail to take a deep interest in athletics, and although his devotion to his parents, who feared the influence of college athletics, kept him from trying for any of the Cornell teams, he played guard on his class football team during his whole course and has always shown the greatest enthusiasm in college athletics. During the recent heated discussion of college football he gave strong evidence of his belief in the benefits of the sport and the cleanness of Cornell athletics by becoming the donor of the Beahan Cup, a football trophy for intercollegiate games.

Mr. Beahan is now in the service of the New York Central Lines as an expert railway engineer with headquarters at Cleveland, O. He still controls his father's estate at Watkins and this with occasional visits to the early home of Mrs. Beahan at Owego would make it convenient for him not only to attend trustee meetings but also make other visits to the University that would enable him to keep in close touch with Cornell affairs. He has already served one term as trustee, and is therefore well versed in the duties of the office.

PENNSYLVANIA WINS.

Final Score 17 to 4—The Contest Fairly Close Until the Middle of the Second Half —Walder's Great Punting and Wood's Good Work as Quarterback.

By all-around superiority Pennsylvania won another football victory over Cornell on Franklin Field last Thursday. The final score was 17 to 4, but during the entire first half and a large part of the second period the contest was much more nearly even than the final score would indicate. Two of Pennsylvania's three touchdowns were made near the end of the game and both of them were the result of alertness in taking advantage of Cornell blunders. Until well along in the second half the score stood 6-4 and Cornell was playing a creditable game. Then came a misjudged punt which gave Pennsylvania the ball on Cornell's 2-yard line, whence a touchdown was easy. Miller made a third touchdown for Pennsylvania by remarkably quick thought and action, converting an attempted forward pass into a quarterback run and dodging from the 50-yard line to the goal. This was not a "star play," for his team mates divined Miller's plan in an instant and gave him splendid interference. It was the perfection of team play. The eleven that defended the Red and White goal in the last twenty minutes was not the same unified eleven that fought off Pennsylvania's varied attack in the earlier period.

It was in rudiments such as tackling, blocking and following the ball that the superiority of Captain Hollenback's men was most noticeable. It was not so much the brilliancy of their plays as the smoothness and decision with which they were executed that told. Cornell's tackling was uncertain and the slowness of some of our men in getting after a rolling ball cost the Red and White many yards.

Cornell's line from tackle to tackle was quite as strong as Pennsylvania's. This Pennsylvania soon found out and they sent their fast backs around the ends for long gains, their interference driving in the Cornell flanks. Our ends played well, but they were not the equal of Scarlett and Braddock in getting down under punts or in smashing interference. O'Rourke more than held his own with the veteran Draper, some of Cornell's longest gains being made through his station.

Captain Walder's punting was the greatest part of Cornell's strength. He had the advantage of Hollenback in this respect, and his long spirals often neutralized Pennsylvania's hard-earned gains. Time after time he punted over the heads of the Pennsylvania backfield.

Wood at quarterback played an admirable game until Gardner was sent in to take his place in the second half. His running of the team was marked by good judgment and decision, and on the defence he was just where he was needed. He is a sophomore and was playing his second game on the 'Varsity, having been "discovered" only five days earlier, when his work in the Trinity game showed his qualities. Mowe, Hutchinson, Shearer and Tydeman all played up to their best in the backfield. Hoffman was sent in so late that he had little opportunity to show what he could do.

At least 25,000 persons saw the game, including a delegation of several thousand Cornell undergraduates and alumni. The day was warm and sultry.

The teams lined up as follows:

Time of halves—35 minutes.

CORNELL SCORES FIRST.

Cornell won the toss and chose to defend the east goal, taking advantage of a light wind. Cosgrove kicked off to Hollenback, who caught the ball back of the goal line and carried it in twenty-five yards. Pennsylvania tried the Cornell line once without gain and Hollenback sent an onside kick which Mowe recovered in midfield. Walder punted to Keinath on Pennsylvania's 5-yard line and he came back twelve yards. Hollenback made a poor punt and Wood recovered the ball on Pennsylvania's 42-yard line. Walder gained a yard through the line, and Cornell tried an onside kick, but the ball was recovered by Keinath on Pennsylvania's 18-yard line. Hurlburt tackled Hollenback for a loss and Manier gained only three yards through center. Hollenback punted badly and Mowe got the ball for Cornell on Pennsylvania's 25-yard line. Pennsylvania lost five yards for off-side play. Hutchinson was sent at the line twice for little gain, and Mowe dropped back for a try at goal. Wood placed the ball and Mowe sent it at an angle fairly between the posts. Score: Cornell, 4; Pennsylvania, 0.

The teams changed goals and Hollenback kicked off. Walder caught the ball on the 15-yard line and came back fifteen yards. Walder punted and Hollenback regained twenty yards to Cornell's 45-yard line. The Pennsylvania fullback tried twice to get around the end, but O'Rourke nailed him to the ground on the first attempt and Cosgrove got him on the second attempt. Hollenback then punted, and Scarlett was down the field so fast that Hutchinson was downed in his tracks on Cornell's 5-yard line. O'Rourke made a hole through which Hutchinson shot for a gain of twenty-five yards. Walder went around left end for twenty-five more, but there had been holding in the Cornell line and the ball was brought back to Cornell's 25-yard mark. On the second down Walder punted out of bounds on Pennsylvania's 45-yard line. Hollenback went around left end for seventeen yards. Means was stopped short by O'Rourke. Then Pennsylvania gained twenty yards with a beautifully executed double pass, including a forward pass, Hollenback to Keinath to Braddock, and the ball was on Cornell's 25-yard line. On the third down, after no gain, Wood got an onside kick on the 10-yard line.

WALDER'S LONG PUNT.

Then Captain Walder, standing on Cornell's goal line, made one of the longest punts on record. He booted the ball so far that it went over the heads of the Pennsylvania backs, struck the ground on their 45-yard line and rolled to the 20-yard line before it was recovered by Keinath. The kick was good for a gain of eighty-five yards. Keinath was hurt in the play and Miller took his place at quarterback. Pennsylvania lost two yards on a line play and Hollenback punted to Hutchinson, who was downed in his tracks at midfield by Scarlett. Cornell's onside kick was recovered by Miller at Pennsylvania's 15-yard line and he sifted back fifteen yards. Hollenback went around end for ten yards. Cornell lost five for offside play. Means's rush was stopped and Hollenback punted. Wood caught the ball on Cornell's 5-yard line and was downed where he stood by Braddock.

PENN GETS A TOUCHDOWN.

Walder punted ineffectively, the ball going out of bounds on Cornell's 25-yard line. A forward pass, Miller to Draper, put the ball on Cornell's 5-yard line and on the next play Hollenback went around Cornell's left end for a touchdown. Scarlett kicked goal. Score: Pennsylvania, 6; Cornell, 4.

Cosgrove kicked off and Hollenback came back thirteen yards to the 23-yard line. Miller gained twelve yards. A double pass failed, but Hollenback got around the end for six yards, being tackled by Mowe. Hollenback punted and Wood caught the ball on Cornell's 30-yard line. Walder punted fifty-five yards, but Manier came back over two chalk marks before he was thrown. Hollenback tore through for twenty yards to midfield, Means gained five yards more and then Hollenback got loose again for a long run, but the ball was brought back and a penalty of fifteen yards was imposed on Pennsylvania for holding. An uncompleted forward pass cost fifteen more and Hollenback punted from his 30-yard line. Hutchinson caught the ball and was downed on Cornell's 47-yard line. Walder attempted a fake kick, but a poor pass delayed his start and he gained only three yards. Offside play cost Pennsylvania five yards at this point. After a failure to gain through the line, Walder punted. Hollenback caught the ball on the 25-yard mark and regained ten yards. He punted to Wood, who came back fifteen yards to midfield. Walder punted on the first down. Tackles by Wight and Mowe kept the ball inside Penn's 25-yard line, and Miller's onside kick was gathered in by Wood at midfield. After an exchange of punts the half ended with the ball near midfield. Just before the whistle blew Bayer took Hurlburt's place at left end. Score, end of first half: Pennsylvania, 6; Cornell, 4.

SECOND HALF.

Mowe started the second half by catching the kickoff on the 5-yard line and coming back twenty yards. Walder went through Pennsylvania's right wing for twenty more. Hutchinson got two yards and Mowe six, and Walder made it first down at midfield. The defence braced and Walder punted out of bounds on Pennsylvania's 20-yard line. Means slipped through the Cornell team for a run of twenty-five yards. Hollenback and Manier added six, and then Hollenback punted, the ball going out of bounds on Cornell's 15-yard line. Tydeman replaced Hutchinson. Walder got off another long punt and Bayer downed Miller on Penn's 40-yard mark. Hollenback returned the punt to Wood, who came back ten yards to Cornell's 30-yard line. Shearer took the place of Mowe. A penalty for holding set Cornell back fifteen yards and Walder punted. Bayer was down so fast that Hollenback ran the punt only five yards, to Pennsylvania's 45-yard mark. Scarlett gained four yards, but Bayer spilt Hollenback for no gain.

WOOD OUT OF THE GAME.

Hollenback punted. Wood was hurt by a tackle on Cornell's 30-yard line. He was not disabled, but, after a conference among the coaches on the side line, he was taken out and Gardner was substituted for him. Tydeman gained twelve yards around Draper. Manier was hurt in tackling him, but resumed play. Walder punted from near midfield to Penn's 15-yard line. Their agile quarterback got the ball on the bound, doubled, got away from tacklers, put on speed and zigzagged through the whole Cornell team for a run of ninety yards. Tydeman pulled him down on Cornell's 5-yard line. However, a too eager interfeerer had been guilty of holding, and a penalty of fifteen yards from the point where the offense had been committed was imposed, the ball being brought back and put in play on Cornell's 45-yard line. In three rushes Hollenback made fifteen yards and then Means tried to kick a goal from placement but failed.

Walder kicked out from the 25-yard line and the ball rolled to Penn's 25-yard line before Means got it. Tydeman tackled him. Pennsylvania rushed without effect, and then punted. Gardner caught the ball on Cornell's 35-yard line and came back fifteen yards. Tydeman and Walder could gain but five yards between them.

COSTLY MISJUDGMENT.

Walder's punt went out of bounds at Pennsylvania's 30-yard line. Hollenback returned the punt. Gardner misjudged the flight of the ball and it hit the ground and rolled toward the Cornell goal. Scarlett and Marks were at his heels as he followed the ball and Marks fell on it on the 2-yard line. Cornell held on the first down, but on the second Manier was shoved over for Pennsylvania's second touchdown. Miller punted out for the try at goal, but Shearer blocked the ball. Score: Pennsylvania, 11; Cornell, 4.

NO GAIN BY FORWARD PASS.

McCollum, Crosby and Franke took the places of Bell, MacArthur and Bayer. Pike had replaced Lambertson and Crooks took Braddock's place. There had been coaching from the Cornell side line and as a penalty Cosgrove was compelled to kick off from the 40-yard mark. A punt returned it to the same place, and Cornell then tried a forward pass, but it was good for only two yards. Shearer went around left end for six. Walder punted out of bounds at Pennsylvania's 40-yard line. Hollenback and Means lost two yards in two tries and Hollenback punted high. Gardner muffed the ball, but Shearer got it and came back six yards to midfield. Cornell failed to complete a forward pass and lost fifteen yards. Walder's punt was caught by Hollenback, who was downed in his tracks on Pennsylvania's 20-yard line. Miller, Means and Hollenback gained fifteen yards in three rushes. Hoffman was substituted for Shearer. Hollenback punted to Cornell's 50-yard line. Hoffman was sent at left tackle, but he slipped and did not gain. Again Cornell tried the forward pass only to be penalized fifteen yards for failure. Walder punted out of bounds at Cornell's 47-yard line.

THE AGILE MILLER AGAIN.

When the ball was put in play Miller gave the signal for a forward pass and ran toward the right end of the line. Seeing, however, just as he poised the ball for the throw, that the defense was alert to prevent this play, he abruptly changed his plan, tucked the ball under his arm and darted among the scattered defenders of Cornell's goal. An interference formed quickly. Aided by this, Miller raced from one side of the field to the other, dodging all tacklers, and crossed the goal line for Pennsylvania's third touchdown. Scarlett kicked goal. Score: Pennsylvania, 17; Cornell, 4.

Caldwell took Gardner's place, and Townsend, a Pennsylvania player who had broken his leg early in the season, was sent hobbling on the field to earn his letter in the moment of time remaining. Tydeman ran the kick-off back twenty yards from the 5-yard line, and Walder had gone through tackle for five yards when the referee's whistle ended the game.

Cheers for Beacham.

Captain J. W. Beacham, U. S. A., Cornell '97, who coached the West Point eleven this fall, underwent an operation for appendicitis about ten days ago and so was unable to be present on Franklin Field last Saturday, when the Army defeated the Navy by a score of 6 to 4. The victorious eleven had a big reception when they returned to the Point on Sunday afternoon. In its account of the celebration the New York Sun says:

"Captain Beacham, the assistant coach, who was unable to visit the game on account of an operation for appendicitis, was visited, the cadets dragging the team and dancing the snake dance the entire mile to the hospital, where the team went up and was congratulated by Captain Beacham, while the cadets outside cheered the sick man till they were hoarse."

Cornell Doings in St. Louis.

Twenty-five Cornell men attended a luncheon given by the Cornell Club of St. Louis at the Missouri Athletic Club on November 25 in honor of Glenn S. Warner, '94, formerly football coach at Cornell and now coach of the Carlisle Indian team. "Pop" made a few remarks, and George J. Tansey, '88, spoke for the Cornell Club of St. Louis. The following men were in charge of the reception: Alden H. Little, George J. Tansey, Kelton E. White, Henry T. Ferriss, Martin A. Seward, F. W. Meysenburg, R. S. Colnon, E. C. Zeller, H. W. Blodgett, W. H. Rozier, P. P. Taylor, W. R. Bright and G. F. A. Brueggeman.

The Cornell Club of St. Louis will give an informal dinner in honor of President Schurman at the St. Louis Club on Wednesday evening, December 9, at 6:30 o'clock. Besides the president there will be several other speakers. On the next day, December 10, Dr. A. Ross Hill, a graduate of Cornell and an active member of the Cornell Club of St. Louis, will be formally inaugurated president of the Missouri State University of Columbia, Mo. President Schurman is going west for the event, and the Cornell Club will act as an escort of honor and accompany him from St. Louis to Columbia in a private car. The car will leave St. Louis on Wednesday evening, December 9, at 11:30 p. m., reaching Columbia the next morning. Returning, the party will leave Columbia on the evening of December 11. While in Columbia the party will live in the car. The price of the dinner in St. Louis is $1.50 and the estimated rate for the car both ways, exclusive of railway fare, is $5. Both undertakings are in charge of Kelton E. White, secretary of the club, 303 North Fourth street, St. Louis.

Stagg Succeeds Colson.

Charles Tracey Stagg, LL. B., '02, has been selected to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Frederick D. Colson, instructor in procedure, who recently accepted an appointment as the librarian of the New York State law library at Albany.

Mr. Stagg came to the College of Law as a student from the office of Diven & Redfield, of Elmira, and immediately after graduation was appointed clerk to Justice Walter Lloyd Smith, one of the judges of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court. Later he was associated in law practice at Elmira with Justice Gibson, and a few years ago returned to Ithaca, where he became a member of the firm of Newman & Stagg, the senior member being Jared T. Newman, '75, at present mayor of the city. While a student in the Law School Mr. Stagg won the Boardman Senior Scholarship.

The duties of Mr. Stagg will include but a part of the work of his predecessor and will consist of five lectures a week. He will give the courses on commercial paper, surrogate's practice, procedural papers, and conveyancing. Meantime he will continue in practice in association with Mr. Newman.

Huffcut Memorial.

During the present autumn a movement was started to place in Boardman Hall some suitable memorial in recognition of the services of the late Dean Huffcut of the College of Law. The committee that has undertaken to carry out the project consists of the following graduates of the law school: Professor E. H. Woodruff, '88; Judge Charles H. Blood, '90, and Stanley D. Brown, '08. A statement of the plan, with an invitation to contribute, was sent to every student who at any time had received instruction in law at Cornell from Professor Huffcut. Those to whom the invitation was sent, who have not yet contributed and who desire to do so, are reminded that they should send their contributions before January 1, as at that time the committee, with the funds then in hand, will proceed to secure the memorial. Remittances may be made by check or otherwise to the chairman of the committee, Professor E. H. Woodruff of the College of Law.

OBITUARY.

T. J. VAN ALSTYNE, '03.

Thomas Jefferson Van Alstyne died on October 8 at Hanley, Canada. His death was caused by an accident which occurred in the course of his work as an electrical engineer for the Westinghouse Company. He was born at Calistoga, Cal., on February 9, 1880, attended Hartwick Seminary at Hartwick, N. Y., and entered Sibley College with the class of 1903. He was a member of the Chi Psi fraternity and of Quill and Dagger. He rowed No. 3 on the varsity crew which established the present record for the Poughkeepsie course in 1901. Since he left college he had been employed by the Westinghouse Company. His funeral was held on October 21 in Albany.

E. G. EBERHARDT, '04.

Elmer Gould Eberhardt died of heart disease at his home in Newark, N. J., on November 21. He was twenty-seven years old. Young as he was, he had established a reputation as a mathematical and inventive genius. He was vice-president of the Newark Gear Cutting Machine Company, of which his father is president and three of his brothers are members. Eberhardt was a member of the class of 1904 at Cornell. As a student he was distinguished for scholarship. He had been fond of books ever since childhood and at the age of seven he was a mathematical prodigy. He graduated from grammar school at the age of ten. He immediately went to the high school, but because of his age the school authorities advised that he be kept from study for a year. This was done, and at the age of eleven years he began his four-year course. He was graduated at the head of his class when fifteen. The boy pleaded with his father to give him permission to enter Stevens Institute at Hoboken if he could pass the entrance examinations. After careful consideration, the elder Eberhardt consented, but it was found that French and German were essential. During the three months' vacation the boy mastered both languages, which he had never before studied, and passed the examination. He found that stenography would be useful in taking lectures, and out of a book from the Newark Library he mastered shorthand in less than one month's time. After a year Eberhardt left school, went into his father's shop and served his time at the machinist trade. Then he went to Cornell. He was president of the Cornell Society of Electrical Engineers and vice-president of the Society of Mechanical Engineers. Because of his leadership in both branches of engineering he was called "The General," a name that stuck to him through college. When he re-entered his father's employ he began at once to devise improvements for the great gear cutting machines manufactured by the firm. Numerous inventions of his were patented and attached to the machines. Some of his attachments have revolutionized the manufacture of cut glass. He was unmarried and lived with his parents. He is survived by his father and mother and four brothers.

M. S. SHEPARD, '07.

Myron S. Shepard, a graduate of the College of Civil Engineering in the class of 1907, died of appendicitis on Saturday, November 21, at the Sanitarium in Greenville, Miss. Mr. Shepard was taken ill at Vaucluse, Ark., on the preceding Monday and was taken to Greenville, where his case was soon pronounced hopeless. An operation was performed on Wednesday, but he continued to fail and died on Saturday afternoon. At the time of his death Mr. Shepard was in the employment of the United States Government on Mississippi River improvement work and held a position of large responsibility.

LUIS GASTON, JR., '08.

Word has been received in Ithaca of the death, in Havana, Cuba, on November 26, of Luis Gaston y Herrera, a graduate of the College of Civil Engineering in the class of 1908. He had been ill for several weeks, first as the result of a cold contracted while traveling in Cuba in the course of his duties as assistant in the Cuban government engineering service. Mr. Gaston was a son of Judge Luis Gaston, of Havana, and was twenty-four years old. He had been recently married to Miss Genevieve Dresser, of Ithaca.

THE TRUSTEE ELECTION.

Last year this paper printed at several times lists of alumni who had signed their names as indorsers of the candidacy of one or another nominee for alumnus trustee. We have determined not to print such lists hereafter. They take up space out of proportion to their interest to the reader, and it is doubtful if they help the intelligent voter to make up his mind whom to vote for. The ALUMNI NEWS will of course welcome the opportunity to print information about candidates, such as is given this week in the case of Mr. Beahan, and this will be done as fully and as fairly as possible. There will be two vacancies in the Board to be filled by the alumni next June. Mr. Sackett and Miss Putnam, whose terms will expire at that time, have announced that they will not be candidates again.

University Preachers.

President Schurman has announced the following list of University preachers for December:

Dec. 6. The Rev. William Fraser McDowell, D. D. Methodist. Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Chicago, Ill.

Dec. 13. The Rev. Charles E. Jefferson, D. D. Congregationalist. Broadway Tabernacle Church, New York city.

Dec. 20. The Rev. Stephen Fish Sherman, jr. Episcopalian. Saint John's Church, St. Louis, Mo.

Bishop McDowell was to have preached in Sage Chapel last Sunday, but he was prevented from doing so by illness. His place was taken by the Rev. Newman Smyth, pastor of the First Congregational Church of New Haven, Conn.

Roster of the Class of 1893.

Professor Clark S. Northup, secretary of the class, has just published "The Second Roster of the Class of 1893." It is a pamphlet of 84 pages and contains an alphabetical list of all persons who were at any time members of the class, giving in most cases a large amount of information concerning their occupation and whereabouts since graduation. The book contains also a geographical list of the class. The compilation of the book has evidently been a very careful work on Professor Northup's part and the result is a valuable record.

Smoker in Schenectady.

A Cornell Smoker will be held in Schenectady on Saturday evening, December 5. Time, 8 p. m. Place, Red Men's Hall, corner of Ferry and Liberty streets. The committee says it will be a Big Red Night, with good fellowship, good things to eat and drink, and old songs by the old crowd.

A successful concert was given jointly by the Cornell and the University of Pennsylvania musical clubs at the Bellevue-Stratford in Philadelphia on Wednesday evening, November 25, the night before the football game.

Professor Bailey, as chairman, announces that the National Commission on Country Life will hold a meeting in Ithaca on December 16.

CORNELL ALUMNI NOTES.

'72, B. S.—Russel Headley is legal counsel to the New York State Excise Department. He is the author of a work on "Assignments for the Benefit of Creditors" and one on the "Competency of Witnesses," and has recently published a "History of Orange county, N. Y."

'74, Ph. B.—E. O. Randall, aside from his office as official Reporter of the Ohio Supreme Court and professor of law at the Ohio State University, is doing prominent work along historical lines. For ten years he has been the secretary of the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society and the editor of its Quarterly. He has written many monographs and two or three volumes pertaining to the archæology and early history of Ohio. This year he is president of the Ohio Valley Historical Association, which held its annual meeting at Marietta, O., on November 27 and 28. This association consists of the historical societies of the States bordering on the Ohio river from Pittsburg to St. Louis and includes the professors of the universities of those States and other persons interested in the collection of manuscripts and the preservation of materials of early history. In doing this work, Mr. Randall is carrying out his early college bent, as he was the historian of his class.

'88, Ph. B.—The Christian World of London, under the heading "Mr. John R. Mott's Visit; the World's Student Movement," said recently: "Rev. G. A. Johnston Ross, of Cambridge, writes to explain the significance of the forthcoming visit to England of Mr. John R. Mott, M. A., F. R. G. S., general secretary of the World's Student Christian Federation. Mr. Mott proposes to visit the Universities of Oxford (November 13-20), London (November 21-26), Glasgow (November 27-December 3) and Cambridge (December 3-8). The primary object of the visit, Mr. Ross writes, is to put before every student the claim of the Christian Gospel to be an adequate solution of life's problems and a means of deliverance from the power of evil, and to summon men to serve Christ. Mr. John R. Mott is peculiarly fitted for the task of bearing this summons. A graduate of Cornell and Yale Universities and from his undergraduate days a leader in student life, he has traveled for seventeen years in the interest of students' Christianhood and has visited all the chief universities and colleges of the world."

A New Publication.

A beautiful publication has appeared this week, for the first time, in the form of the "1909 Cornell Calendar De Luxe."* It contains thirty handsome illustrations, showing nearly all the University buildings. The natural beauties of the campus form an important part of each picture. An unique feature in the printing makes each reproduction appear as if it were mounted on a double mat. Six pages are printed in gray and six in brown. The cover is a soft, rich brown photogelatin print on linen bristol board. The pages are of heavy paper, egg-shell finished. The calendar is distinctively artistic thruout and makes a handsome Christmas gift.

Size: $7\frac{1}{2} \times 10\frac{3}{4}$ inches. Each copy packed in a safety mailer.

Upon request the publisher will mail copies on approval if writer will agree to remit price or return copies within two days of receipt.
