Gari Melchers's "Communion Sunday in a Church in Holland," which has been hung in the corridor at the south end of Goldwin Smith Hall, has attracted much attention during the past week. The picture was hung under the direction of Professor Brauner. Care was taken in tinting the walls so that the picture would receive the most favorable light. The heavy brass railing which for years has offered support to many a nervous student in Mr. Hoy's office has been placed in front of the picture.

Concerts by the Cadet Band are to be given each week on the Campus, according to the present plans of the department of military science. The concerts will be given on Wednesday or Friday afternoons when the weather permits.

The Widow has announced the following elections for the ensuing year: John Calvin Barker '12, of Evanston, Ill., chairman of the board; Earl Simonson '12, of Port Richmond, N. Y., literary editor; Carl Victor Burger '12, of Maryville, Tenn., artistic editor; Robert Willard Walker '13, of Yonkers, N. Y., assistant business manager. Barker is a member of the Theta Delta Chi fraternity; Burger belongs to Phi Kappa Psi and Walker to Zeta Psi.

The oldest building on the University Campus is being removed this week. It is the frame house which has stood for many years across East avenue from Sibley College. In late years it has been used as a restaurant and has been known to students as the "Sibley Dog," because it was patronized largely by students of Sibley College, who got their lunches there, "dog" being student slang for a quick-lunch place. When Ezra Cornell gave his farm as the site of Cornell University, this building was standing where the eastern half of Sibley College is now. It was occupied as a dwelling house by the manager of Mr. Cornell's farm. Years afterward it was moved across East avenue to make room for the extension of Sibley College. The same college is crowding it out now. Room must be made for Rand Hall, the new shop building for which Mrs. Florence O. R. Lang gave $50,000 to the University, and the course of East avenue is to be changed so that the road and the street car tracks will run across the site of the old structure. The building will not be destroyed, but will be moved to the Slaterville road by a man who has bought it to use as a dwelling. For the present the "Dog" has been replaced by a temporary shelter close to Sibley in which lunches will be served until other arrangements can be made. The temporary restaurant has been nicknamed the "Sibley Pup."

A public lecture to demonstrate the value of laboratory methods in the diagnosis of germ diseases was held in the Veterinary College Monday night under the auspices of Sigma Xi. Professor V. A. Moore, director of the college, gave the lecture.

This year a new plan is being tried in "cheer leading." The candidates for the positions of cheer leaders next year, who made their first appearance at the Lehigh baseball game Saturday, are mostly football men. The plan is to have football men lead the cheers at the baseball games and baseball men as leaders at the football games. It is thought that men who are well known can get better cheers.

With Monday's issue the 1911-12 board of editors took charge of the publication of the Cornell Daily Sun. The board is made up as follows: Foster Meldrum Coffin '12, of Brooklyn, editor-in-chief; George Clinton Andrews, jr., '12, of Tarrytown, business manager; Leslie Herbert Groser '13, of Brooklyn, managing editor; George Boardman Bell, jr., '13, of Chicago, assistant business manager; associate editors: James Irving Clarke '12, of Saratoga Springs; Finis Ewing Yoakum, jr., '12, of Los Angeles; Percival Goan, '13, of New York City; Cedric Aylwin Major '13, of Brooklyn; Lynn Byron Timmerman '14, of Lima, O.

At an athletic rally held Friday night at the College of Agriculture, 52 medals were awarded to the men who have represented the college in the intercollege contests during the past year. Coach Moakley spoke on track athletics and Hugh C. Troy '95 on rowing.

"Success" is the subject which Frederick W. Taylor has chosen for his lecture in Sibley Dome next Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The lecture is given under the auspices of Tau Beta Pi, the honorary engineering fraternity, but the public is invited to attend. Mr. Taylor is well known as the originator of "scientific management."

To meet the deficit of $1,000 in the Minor Sports treasury there has been collected $662. In addition to this there is $188 in pledges not yet collected, bringing the total up to $850. The canvass for subscriptions has been closed.

The annual banquet of the College of Law will be held in the Ithaca Hotel Saturday night. Invitations have been extended to several prominent lawyers of the state to attend, but the committee has not yet made known who the guests of honor will be. Dean Irvine and Professor Alfred Hayes, jr., will deliver addresses. There is the usual large number of "stunts" and musical numbers.

The German colony of the Cosmopolitan Club furnished entertainment at the first informal smoker in the new home of the club Saturday night. The principal number on the program was a lecture by Professor A. B. Faust on "German Student Life." Professor Ernst J. Fluegel was toastmaster.

THE NEW CORNELL EMBLEM.

The University has now received from the designers, Messrs. Bailey, Banks & Biddle, of Philadelphia, copies of the new University emblem, which the President's office is glad to supply to architects, engravers, and others who may need to use it. It will, of course, not take the place of the University seal, which will still be used, as heretofore, to give validity to the University's documents and diplomas, but which will now be reserved for official business. The new emblem, like other coats of arms, will be used for ornament or identification—on stationery, in architecture and stained glass, in publications of the University or its students, wherever, in short, the name of the University is to be symbolized.

The arms consist of a shield, bearing on a golden field, or "chief" at its top, the shield of the United States and that of the State of New York in their proper colors, while beneath, on a field of the University colors (half white, half carnelian) rests an open book bearing the well known words of Ezra Cornell, "I would found an institution where any person may find instruction in any study."

When printed in black and white, without colors, the gold should, according to the conventions of heraldry, be represented by a dotted surface, the white, or argent (silver) by a plain one, the carnelian, or gules (red) by one perpendicularly lined, the blue of the state and national arms by one horizontally lined.

President Schurman at the University of Virginia.

The University of Virginia last Thursday celebrated the birthday of its founder, Thomas Jefferson, and President Schurman delivered the address on that occasion. The subject of his oration was "Jefferson and Public Policies of Today." He said in part:

"There was nothing in the mind and attitude of this eighteenth century statesman uncongenial with the latest results of science and criticism. Indeed, we cannot examine his ideas and reasoning without being impressed with the note of modernity. In the intensest centres of our latest intellectual life and thought Jefferson would have been thoroughly at home. Unmoved by the appeals of convention, tradition, and dogma he was the apostle of reason, and reason alone.

"And the university he set up bears the marks of this rationalizing spirit. It was a secular, not a denominational university. And in place of the one arts course, it offered parallel courses, in which, in the words of Ezra Cornell, "any person might find instruction in any study." Expert attainment in their several fields was to be the qualification of the professors; and Jefferson hoped "to draw from Europe the first characters in science by considerable temptations." Besides suitable emoluments, the teaching office was also to be dignified by the independence of the incumbents. The students were to be treated as citizens and men of honor, without espionage and without boyish restraints. And having provided for the members of his academic community Jefferson insisted that they should be domiciled in buildings worthy of Virginia and nobly reminiscent of the classic architecture which he so enthusiastically admired. . . .

"I venture to hazard the opinion that if Jefferson were living today, his love of liberty, his hatred of oppression, his noble humanitarianism, his fervent democracy, his devotion to the interest of the vast inarticulate mass of the American people would lead him to set statesmanship above political consistency, as he did when he stretched or ignored the constitution and authorized the purchase of Louisiana. Broad construction of the constitution was in Jefferson's day embodied in a rival party leader and it inured to the benefit of the aristocratic classes. Today parties do not divide on the doctrine of broad or strict construction, and the beneficiaries of anti-trust legislation are the consuming masses of our population. Hence Jefferson, the father of democracy and apostle of liberty, might today insist on a strong and active central government for the protection of the rights and interests of the general public against the aggressions of consolidated capital and united management. The welfare of the people is the supreme end, and government, whether weak or strong, is only a means for its accomplishment."

THE SUMMER SESSION.Some Interesting New Courses to Be Given This Year.

Several new names are found in the faculty of the twentieth Summer Session of the University which is to begin on July 6. Among them are Professor Edwin A. Kirkpatrick of the State Normal School at Fitchburg, Mass., the author of many books on child study and education; Professor Charles E. Bennett of Cornell, author of a successful series of Latin text books, who has not taught in the Summer Session for several years; Professor W. R. Orndorff of the Cornell department of chemistry, who was one of the organizers of the Summer Session but has not been on its faculty for many years; and Professor George E. Condra of the University of Nebraska, head of the Nebraska state conservation movement, who will teach geography.

While undergraduates are particularly interested in the Summer Session because of the opportunities which it offers for making up work and for anticipating courses, the scope of it has recently been broadened so that it also has an interest to graduates. The residence requirement for a master's degree, which is one academic year, may now be satisfied by study during five summer sessions.

One of the reasons why the Cornell Summer Session is increasing in popularity is the natural advantage of Cornell's location. It is possible here to combine a summer outing with educational work. Last year for the first time Dr. E. J. Bailey of the department of English conducted a series of walks about Ithaca. These were so popular that a notice of their continuance is included in the announcement of the Summer Session for 1911. Long and somewhat difficult excursions are to be taken on Friday afternoons; other shorter excursions will be arranged for Wednesday evenings and Sunday afternoons. Other excursions are a regular part of the instruction and give an excellent opportunity for observation of nature. These are primarily important for students interested in geography, geology and biology.

Among the new courses offered this year is one by Professor Kirkpatrick entitled "Genetic Psychology

AN OCCASIONAL WARM DAY NOW BRINGS THE LAWYERS OUT TO SUN THEMSELVES BETWEEN LECTURES.

Applied to Education." Miss Elsie Sameth is to give a new course in national and folk dancing. Professor Edward P. Morton of Wake Forest College, a former colleague of Professor Martin Sampson at the University of Indiana, is to give two courses in the department of English.

Teachers' courses in the various high school subjects are, for the most part, taught by men who have been successful high school teachers and who have first hand knowledge of the conditions under which secondary teaching is done. This is to meet the complaint so often heard that college professors have not known enough about the needs of high school teachers to handle the subjects adequately.

A special announcement has been issued for the work of the Department of Music, which has a faculty of six members. The instruction is to be given in Barnes Hall and Sage Chapel. The course trains for both grade teachers and supervisors of music. The complete course of three sessions entitles the student, upon the satisfactory passing of examinations, to a special supervisor's certificate. Fifteen courses are included in the announcement. Professor Hollis E. Dann of Cornell is assisted in the department by the University organizer, Edward F. Johnston, and supervisors and teachers from New York, Boston and other cities.

Agriculture is to be included in the Summer Session for the first time this year, but it is not yet certain how much money will be available. For that reason the announcement of courses will be made later. This instruction will be given in response to a demand occasioned by the introduction of the subject in the public schools of the state. The department of home economics offers summer courses for the first time this year.

The regular courses for students in the technical colleges will be given in mathematics, mechanics, hydraulics, bridge and structural engineering and shop work. Industrial education, as heretofore, will have much attention this summer.

The intercollegiate fencing trophy was received here last week.

Professor Brauner's Exhibition.

Professor Olaf M. Brauner's recent paintings, fifty-four in number, were put on exhibition in the college of architecture on Monday. The paintings will be displayed on the third floor of White Hall until April 28, and the exhibition is open to the public daily from 2 until 5 o'clock. The range of work which Professor Brauner has attempted and successfully executed is wide. The exhibition contains portraits, landscapes and marines. Especially beautiful are his pictures of the sea. An unfinished group of Professor Brauner's family attracts attention. Much more interest is attached to this painting when it is known that it represents only eight hours' work. Many of the pictures exhibited have been returned to Professor Brauner for the exhibition by their present owners.

Professor W. A. Stocking and H. E. Ross of the dairy department were the lecturers last week before the class in Sanitary Science and Public Health. They spoke on dairy hygiene.

PROGRAM OF MUSIC FESTIVAL.

Professor Hollis E. Dann, head of the department of music, has announced the program of the eighth annual Music Festival, to be held on May 4, 5, and 6. The sale of season tickets began this morning and will continue till Tuesday, April 25. The prices of season tickets are $3, $4.50 and $6, according to location of seats. The sale of single tickets will begin Wednesday morning, April 26. Out-of-town orders should be sent to J. H. Scott, 111 North Tioga street, Ithaca.

1911 and the Alumni Fund.

An active personal canvass has been started by the Senior Pledge Committee to raise the contribution of the Class of 1911 to the Alumni Fund. The plan this year is to have each member of the class subscribe $100 or more upon which sum he agrees to pay yearly interest at the rate of five per cent. until the principal is paid. Unless the class raises $25,000 none of the subscriptions is to be valid. The committee is to see every member of the class and make a personal appeal. Chairman A. W. Hawkes, jr., says that the committee hopes to have the total subscriptions reach $50,000. The first payment on the subscriptions is to be due on May 1, 1912. Several persons have been added to the committee, which is now as follows: A. W. Hawkes, jr., chairman, L. T. Wick, Thomas Bradlee, W. C. Butler, C. C. Cheyney, W. S. Dauenhauer, George S. Croston, A. W. Combs, S. O. Houser, R. F. Humphrey, G. O. Zeller, O. C. Torrey, Frederick Kuhne, F. J. Maldiner, N. L. MacLeod, W. P. Rose, H. G. Seipp, H. H. Miller and J. E. Bennett, ex-officio.

"He-Ada-Che," which might be contracted to headache, is the name which has been chosen for the senior stunt to be held on May 20.

Next Saturday the interclass handicap track meet will be held.

ATHLETICS.Baseball.

Baseball prospects look bright this season, although Coach Coogan is working with an almost entirely new team and has been handicapped all the spring by unfavorable weather. The team is still in the making and many shifts will probably be made before the final nine is chosen. The men this year show a lack of the polish that comes from long practice. They are also lacking in headwork. They have mastered the actual playing of baseball very well in the short time they have been playing, but the finer points of the game are not yet put to the use they should be by many members of the team. It is just this that is now causing Coogan a lot of hard work, but after a week or so of regular practice this defect will probably be less glaring.

The men are hitting well, but there is still that lack of confidence with men on bases which has lost a number of important games within the last few years. The men seem to be able to fill the bases but they have trouble in bringing in the scores.

There are several likely men in the pitching department. Carvajal, who pitched last year, has not been up to his mark. The other men on the staff, with the exception of Hightower, are sophomores. Considerable more work will be needed before the coach will be able to select pitchers for the season.

Cornell's schedule this year is a hard one. Princeton is to be played at Princeton on April 29 and the varsity will have lots of hard work during the next ten days in getting ready for the Tigers. Princeton has been practicing out of doors since the first of March.

CORNELL 5, LEHIGH 2.

The home baseball season opened on Percy Field last Saturday and Cornell defeated Lehigh by a score of 5 to 2. The weather was too cold and windy for good baseball, but the game was interesting because it afforded the first opportunity to see a practically new Cornell nine working on Percy Field. There were three new men following Captain Magner at the head of the batting list, and new batteries. The fielding was a little ragged at times, but the cold weather may have accounted for that. On the other hand there was an encouraging amount of hitting on Cornell's part. Carvajal pitched five innings, giving three hits and five passes. Then Nisbet took his place and for four innings kept Lehigh from getting a hit. Nisbet is a right-handed pitcher, with height and weight in his favor. He has a cross-fire that reminds one of Bob Caldwell. Abbott, one of last season's pitching staff, caught for six innings, and during the rest of the game Butler, the football quarterback, was behind the bat.

Cornell got three runs in the first inning. Magner took his base on balls, Clute sacrificed, and O'Connell, Mahoney and Dauenhauer each got a clean single. Two more runs were obtained in the fifth and seventh with the help of hits and stolen bases.

The score:

THE SOUTHERN TRIP.

Two of the games in the southern trip were covered in last week's issue, those with Georgetown and the Baltimore professional team, in which Cornell was defeated by scores of 8 to 1 and 7 to 2 respectively. In the second game with Georgetown at Washington on April 10 the score was 4 to 4 at the end of the tenth inning, when the game was called on account of darkness. The Georgetown team took the lead in the scoring, making two runs in the first inning. Howard made a single in the third and brought in Cornell's first run. Hits by Dauenhauer, Thompson and Howard in the next inning gave the Cornell team three runs, putting them two ahead of their opponents. Georgetown scored again in the fourth and in the eighth tied the score.

Geo'twn 2 0 0 1 0 0 0 1 0 0—4 8 5

Batteries—Cornell: Carvajal and McCormick; Georgetown: O'Connor, Feinle and Fury.

Nisbet's pitching and the timely hitting of the Cornell men in the Dartmouth game at Atlantic City on April 11 gave the varsity a victory, 3 to 1. Nisbet struck out seven Dartmouth men and gave only five hits. Morey, the Dartmouth pitcher, was almost as good, striking out six men and allowing only six hits. The hits which the Cornell team got were well bunched and meant runs. In the first inning Clute got a base on balls and went to second on O'Connell's single. Mahoney's two base hit scored both men. Clute scored again in the fifth. After reaching first on an error, he stole second and same home on Mahoney's two-base hit. It took three singles to score Dartmouth's only run. The game was marred by errors on the part of the varsity but only one of these had an effect on the score.

Score by innings:	R.H.E.
Dartmouth	0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0—1 5 1

Batteries—Cornell: Nisbet and Abbott; Dartmouth: Morey and Alden.

An aeroplane flight in the fifth inning cost Cornell the game with the South Orange Field Club at South Orange on April 12. The score was 7 to 3. Before the fifth inning the varsity had been showing excellent form and the New Jersey men seemed unable to solve Krogstad, who was pitching for Cornell. After the fifth inning the team showed up equally well but during the fifth inning the South Orange men had things about their own way. Four of them made hits and these, together with some bases on balls, brought in seven runs, the only ones which South Orange made during the game. Cornell scored three times, Krogstad and O'Connell making home runs.

Score by innings:	R.H.E.
S. O. F. C.	0 0 0 0 7 0 0 0 0—7 6 4

Batteries—Cornell: Krogstad, Hightower and McCormick; South Orange Field Club: Hogerty and Howarth.

Rowing.

High winds have interfered with rowing practice during the past week. The crews have gone as far as Crowbar Point only once this season. Work has been possible on the Inlet continuously since the Easter recess, but the men are still far from good form. The only recent shift is that of E. H. Dole, who stroked the freshman crew last season. Dole, who was rowing No. 4 in the varsity eight, has been transferred to the stroke seat in the varsity four. W. O. Kruse, who was in the junior varsity combination, is now rowing in Dole's former seat in the varsity eight.

The following are the varsity combinations:

First varsity: Bow, C. H. Elliott '13; 2, C. S. Bates '13; 3, B. A. Lum '13; 4, W. O. Kruse '12; 5, G. B. Wakeley '12; 6, W. G. Distler '12, 7, C. B. Ferguson '12; stroke, E. F. Bowen '12; coxswain, H. J. Kimball '11.

Junior varsity: Bow, S. N. Stimson '12; 2, G. P. McNear '13; 3, C. W. Brown '13; 4, R. C. Reeve '13; 5, J. H. Munn '13; 6, E. A. J. O'Connor '12; 7, W. R. Thatcher '13; stroke, F. A. Nicolls '13; coxswain, C. F. Merz '12.

Varsity four: Bow C. E. Carpenter '12; 2, J. H. Small '13; 3, H. R. Lafferty '11; stroke, E. H. Dole '13.

Varsity four: Bow, G. E. Bentley '12; 2, V. M. Torbert '12; 3, R. A. Dittmar '13; stroke, J. B. McCloskey '12.

Oliver Iselin, manager of the Harvard crews, was in Ithaca last week making preliminary arrangements for the accomodation of the men who will row against Cornell on May 27. Mr. Iselin and H. A. Lincoln, the Cornell navy manager, went to Shelldrake to engage accommodations for the Harvard varsity and freshman eights at the hotel there for about a week preceding the regatta.

As soon as a drawing suitable for reproduction can be obtained, we intend to publish a cut of the new University emblem. The impressions received at the President's office last week are on too small a scale to be reproduced properly. The new emblem is far more suitable than the University seal for use on stationery, in sculpture, etc.

There is no longer any doubt that Tuesday, June 20, and Wednesday, June 21, will be the alumni reunion days this year. Commencement Day is Thursday, June 22. In all probability the alumni-varsity baseball game will be played on Tuesday afternoon. Wednesday afternoon will be left free for the meetings which have generally been held on Tuesday. After some discussion about the advisability of changing its program radically, the senior class has decided to have Class Day and the other "senior week" events in Commencement Week, as usual. We hope soon to be able to announce the entire program for the week. Hours have not yet been set for the meetings of the Cornelian Council and the Association of Class Secretaries.

The decision of the Trustees to place Prudence Risley Hall, the new dormitory for women, on Cornell Heights seems to indicate a determination on the part of the University authorities to keep the neighborhood of the quadrangle free for future halls of instruction. There is apparently a great deal of room for expansion there now, but a great deal of room may be needed. Dormitories may be placed at some distance from lecture rooms, but students must be able to get from one lecture to another without loss of time. No matter how large the University may grow, its halls of instruction must all be centrally situated.

With the University Campus occupying ground on both sides of Fall Creek gorge, as now is the case, there will be an added incentive to make the gorge accessible and to keep it clean so that its natural beauties may be enjoyed. With the gorge as an accessory the grounds about the new women's dormitory can, with a little care, be made one of the most beautiful parts of the Campus.

OBITUARY.

F. J. SHUTTLEWORTH '10.

After an illness of three weeks and two operations for peritonitis, Frederick James Shuttleworth died on Thursday afternoon, April 13, at St. Peter's Hospital, Albany, N. Y. Shuttleworth was a graduate of the College of Civil Engineering in the class of 1910, and was twenty-five years old. He prepared for college at the Masten Park High School in Buffalo. After graduation last year he entered the United States Geological Survey as a junior engineer, and was employed at Albany up to the time of his death. Funeral services were held at the home of his mother in Fredonia, N. Y., on Monday morning. Shuttleworth was a member of the Tau Beta Pi honorary fraternity.

Will '96 be on hand in June for our fifteen-year reunion? Looks so now.
Horse Power Curtiss says you couldn't keep him and Woody Woodworth away. Other Boston boys are coming, too. Austin and Pond are planning to come and bring their wives—likewise Tomlinson with his wife—all the way from Chicago. Fred Davis says he'll round up the Truman boys.

GEORGE S. TOMPKINS, Secretary.

1908.

The 1908 Class Secretary is overjoyed at the unbounded enthusiasm that is bubbling over in Indianapolis at the thought of a reunion in June.
Even while these ardent spirits were preparing their epistle, a notice was in course of construction for reunion purposes. Just how soon this can be mailed to all the faithful will depend upon the length of time it will take for one pen to scratch off some few hundred names and addresses in "idle" moments.

The enthusiasm and impatience shown in Indianapolis is certainly typical of all the 1908 Immortals, and forecasts a very large and salubrious turnout in June.

From now on the cry should be
"Back to Ithaca on June 20."

SETH W. SHOEMAKER,
Class Secretary.

Lacrosse.

Lacrosse practice has been progressing under favorable weather conditions during the past week. The men are now preparing for the first home game of the season, which will be played at Percy Field Saturday with the Rochester Lacrosse Club. The results of the southern trip taken during the spring recess were not very encouraging, inasmuch as the team lost all four of the games. In the final contest with Lehigh University the Cornell men held their opponents to a tie during the first half but were finally defeated by a score of 5 to 2.

On the southern trip the team clearly showed the lack of outdoor work. Most of the teams which were played were weeks ahead of Cornell in this particular. Before the championship contests there is plenty of time to round the team into form and Coach Hunter still has hopes of making a favorable record for the season.

Initial Track Meet.

More than a hundred men took part in the first outdoor track meet of the season on Percy Field Saturday.
Berna had an easy time winning the mile and a half run. Chapman, a sophomore, beat Putnam in the 660-yard run. Time, 1:29 1-5. Bennett, Mac-Arthur, Ford and Curtis finished inches apart in the 70-yard dash. Mac-Arthur won the 350-yard dash and Ford the 150-yard dash. D'Autre-mont cleared 11 feet 4 inches in the pole vault, Wells 5 feet 9 inches in the high jump and Elsenbast 20 feet

Soccer.

At New Haven on April 10 the varsity soccer football team was defeated by Yale, 3 to 0. By this defeat Cornell lost all chance of winning the championship this season. Only one game remains on the Cornell schedule, the one to be played with Harvard on April 29. Harvard now leads the league.

Rifle Shooting.

With only one more match to be shot in the Intercollegiate Rifle Shooting League, Cornell is still tied for third place with Washington State College. Columbia has gone down to fifth place, losing last week to Minnesota. The Massachusetts Agricultural College and Iowa State University are still tied for first place with fourteen victories. Cornell's victory last week was over California and was won by default. The Cornell score was 1,752.

'81, A. B.—Science says: "Mr. Romeyn B. Hough has brought out a handy pocket manual which he calls a 'Leaf Key to the Trees of the Northern States and Canada.' The booklet is of such dimensions that it can be carried very easily in one's pocket, its dimensions being 4½ by 6 inches, and not over a quarter of an inch in thickness. In about thirty pages all of the common native trees from the Rocky Mountains eastward, and north of the latitude of North Carolina, are briefly characterized by means of keys which refer principally to their leaves. With this in hand the tyro ought to find no difficulty in finding the name of any native tree in the region named." Mr. Hough's address is Lowville, N. Y.

Just as the proper tools produce the best work, so does a responsive key action increase the efficiency of a stenographer. It saves her strength. Therefore, she has a better grip on her work, is more accurate, more rapid, gets a greater quantity of work done. There is no “three-o'clock fatigue” where the Monarch is used, and a few days' trial will convince you of this fact.
