THE CLASS OF '88, for its Twenty-five Year Reunion on June 13 and 14, has obtained the use of Sage Cottage. This large building on the Campus will be the '88 class headquarters, and in it many if not all of those who attend the class reunion, with any members of their families who may come, can find accommodation while they are in Ithaca. The class of '78 has already announced that it will make its headquarters in the Rites house, formerly the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity house, at the head of University Avenue.

PRESIDENT ALBERT J. HIMES of the Associate Alumni has designated Dr. H. D. Schenck '82 as chairman of the nominating committee of the association. The other members are G. W. Harris '73, N. T. Horr '82, E. S. Shepherd '02, G. J. Tansey '88, R. T. Mickle '92, C. H. Hull '86, E. J. Savage '98, and J. C. Nelligar '98. It is the duty of this committee to prepare a ticket to be voted on at the June meeting of the association in Ithaca—officers and five members of the board of directors.

UNDERGRADUATES have been excited during the last week by incidents connected with the election which was held by the class of 1915 to choose three editors of the Cornellian. The 1914 Cornellian board, or the Cornell Annuals Board, as it is to be known, had conducted a competition, had submitted the names of five men from which the sophomore class was to choose three, and had recommended, in accordance with the new rule, the election of the three who had stood highest in the competition and whose names were placed first on the ballot. The election was held on Wednesday. Its result was not announced. Instead came the announcement that it had been declared void, "owing to a technical error in the balloting." Another election was held on Friday. In this election the successful men were W. W. Dodge, of Los Angeles; C. O. Benton, of Cleveland, and F. A. Gerould, of Evanston, Ill. What has excited the undergraduates all over the hill is the fact that the first election was protested by two members of the junior class who are presumed to have had personal reasons for being dissatisfied with the result and who had enough authority, by reason of offices which they hold, to overawe the sophomore election committee. The opinion is widely held that the "technical error" in the first election was a trifle, and that means which were used to obtain a different result in a second election amounted to a scandalous error.

A MEMORIAL to Professor Ralph S. Tarr is planned by some of his former pupils and colleagues. It is proposed that the memorial take the form of a seat, to be carved from a glacial boulder and marked with a bronze tablet. It is suggested that the seat stand between Morrill and McGraw Halls, facing the valley. Circulars were sent last spring to about 500 of Professor Tarr's former pupils by a committee of which Professor O. D. von Engeln is chairman. Thus far $200 has been subscribed. Professor von Engeln asks that anybody who may know of a glacial boulder suitable for the purpose communicate with him. It ought to measure about six by four feet, and should be not far from a railroad track, for the problem of transportation would be the most serious to be met. Details will be left to the subscribers, and before any decision is made a sketch of the proposed memorial will be submitted to them. The subscribers are sending their contributions to Professor Frank Carney '02, of the University of Michigan, at Ann Arbor. Other members of the committee are R. H. Whitbeck '01, and Lawrence Martin '04, of the University of Wisconsin; J. L. Rich '06, of the University of Illinois, and R. H. Shreve '02, of New York.

A LOCAL CONTEST to decide who should represent Cornell in the intercollegiate oratorical contest of the State Peace Society was held last week. Five men took part. W. D. Smith '15, of Schenectady, speaking on "International Peace and Public Opinion," was the successful contestant. He receives $25 to defray the expense of traveling to New York City and speaking in the state contest at the College of the City of New York on March 14. Representatives of Cornell, C. C. N. Y., Colgate, Columbia, and Hamilton will there compete for the first prize of $200 and the second of $100. The winner will in April take part in the Eastern States competition, and finally the recipient of the Eastern States prize will enter a contest against the winner of the Western States prize at the Lake Mohonk Peace Conference in May.

EVARISTO ENRIQUE MADERO, the young brother of the late ex-president of Mexico, left Ithaca Monday night for New York. He finished his work in the College of Agriculture in February and has received his diploma. Since the violent death of his two brothers, the former president and the former minister of finance, his plans had been uncertain. It was reported last week that he was going to Cuba, where the members of the Madero family were said to be taking refuge. Early this week he said he was planning to go to San Antonio, Texas, to meet his brother Alfonso. In Ithaca young Madero has made his home at the Spanish-American Club on Stewart Avenue.

PROFESSOR J. I. HUTCHINSON of the department of mathematics has been compelled by illness to give up his work for the present. Dr. S. E. Brasefield has been appointed acting professor of mathematics in his place. Dr. Brasefield is a graduate of Lafayette College. He resigned an assistant professorship there in 1910 to become a graduate student here. Last year he was a fellow and received the doctor's degree in June. This year he holds an honorary fellowship.

THE ANNUAL LAW SCHOOL SMOKER was held at the Dutch Kitchen last Saturday night. It is the custom to have a graduate of the college as a speaker at this smoker, and on the present occasion William D. Cunningham '00, district attorney of Ulster County, was the one chosen. He said he would advise every young lawyer to get experience in the actual trial of cases. Professor Nathaniel Schmidt told about Babylonian law. Walter G. Smith '85 described life and law in the Hawaiian islands.

Report of the March Meeting of the Board of Directors

The regular March meeting of the Board of Directors of the Associate Alumni of Cornell University was held on Saturday, March 1, at the Hotel Iroquois in Buffalo. The meeting began at 10 o'clock and continued till late in the afternoon, with an intermission of an hour and a half for luncheon.

Those present were Albert J. Himes '87, of Cleveland, Ohio, president of the Associate Alumni; Harry L. Taylor '88, of Buffalo; William M. Irish '90, of Philadelphia; Roger Lewis '95, of New York; L. L. Tatum '97, of Milwaukee; Frank S. Porter '00, of Chicago; J. H. Agaté '03, of Rochester, and W. W. Rowlee '88, the secretary of the Associate Alumni.

Letters were read which had been addressed to the board by W. C. Geer, of Akron, Ohio, and several other members who were not present. Telegrams were received from several of the absent members. Most of the day was spent in a discussion of topics raised by these letters and of other matters coming within the province of the board.

The Board of Directors of the Associate Alumni was recently reorganized under the new constitution and by-laws adopted by the association in June, 1911. It is required by the by-laws to hold two meetings a year, in November and March, in addition to the annual meeting at Ithaca in June. Only two of these meetings have been held since the board was reorganized, the first of them in New York last November. Many of the members were found to be unacquainted with other members. The board at the start had little idea of what was expected of it or of what ways it could find to make itself useful. Its meetings thus far have been devoted in large part to the discussion of its powers and of suggestions intended to point out avenues of usefulness for it. The discussion in Buffalo last Saturday was of that character. It seemed to indicate that the board was progressing toward an understanding of itself and of its powers and opportunities. An inclination was shown to give the most careful consideration to critical suggestions from alumni associations and others and to mark out a course of thoroughly constructive usefulness for the Associate Alumni.

One of the matters which came to the attention of the board was an invitation to Cornell University to join a new organization known as the National Intercollegiate Association of Alumni Secretaries. The first meeting of that association was held at Columbus, Ohio, on February 21 and 22. It was attended by F. M. Kendall '78, of Columbus, who was designated by the board, on the invitation of the association, to be present and report its proceedings. The board decided after discussion not to join the association at present, feeling that it had enough to do at home.

Another matter which was considered was that of preparing official biographical sketches of candidates for alumni trustee. It was decided that a committee should be appointed whose duty it should be to obtain the material and write sketches of all candidates, these sketches to be printed and sent out with the official ballot. For the last few years such biographical sketches have been prepared by the corresponding secretary of the Associate Alumni. The president appointed as such committee Messrs. Porter, Rowlee and Lewis.

A committee consisting of Messrs.

Rowlee, Walter and Edwards was appointed to make out a budget for the year. This budget is intended to cover all necessary expenses of the Associate Alumni, such as stationery, postage, etc. The Cornellian Council has already recommended, on the motion of the Associate Alumni, that appropriations be made from the Alumni Fund, on deposit with the Treasurer of the University, to meet such expenses after the bills have been audited and approved by the proper officers of the Associate Alumni.

W. W. ROWLEE,
Secretary.

For the Cornell Cup in Hawaii

Cross-Country Run Held by Schools for the Alumni Club's Trophy

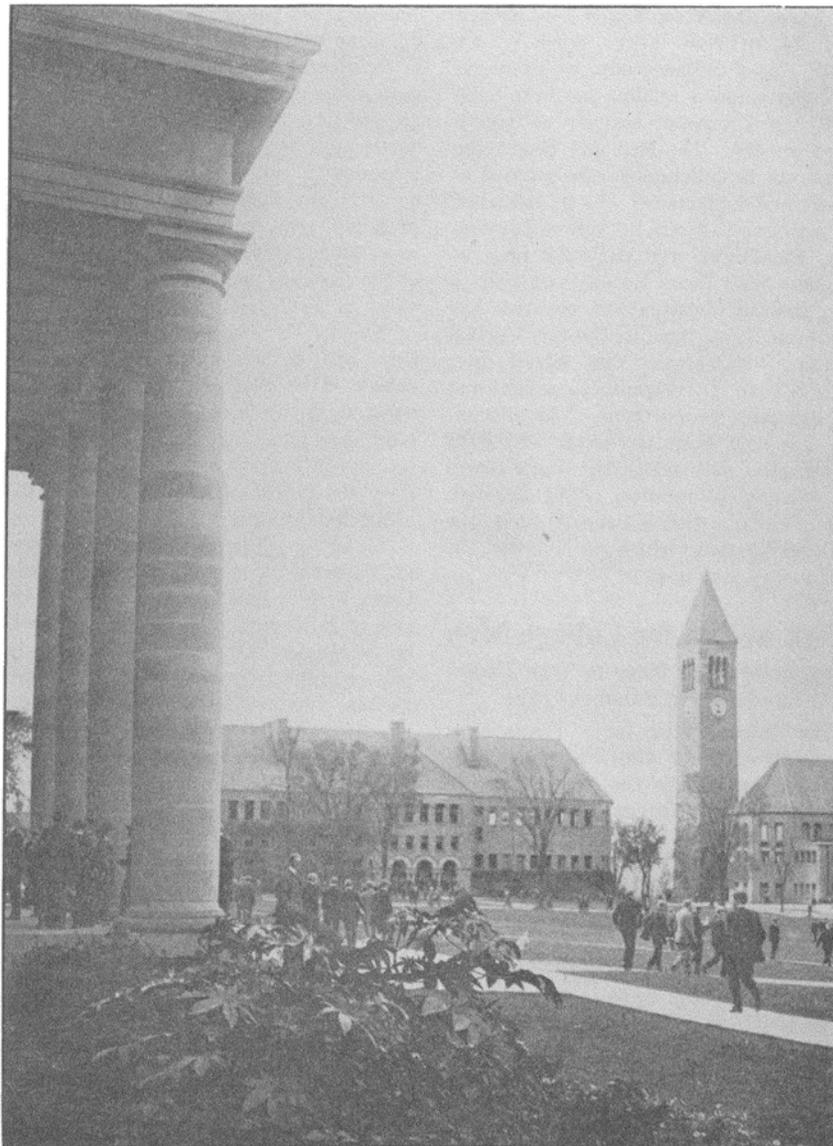

An interscholastic cross-country run was held in Honolulu on a recent Saturday afternoon under the auspices of the Cornell Club of Hawaii. Four schools took part—Kamehameha, Punahou, McKinley High School and Mills Institute. This was the first event of a series for a trophy offered by the Cornell Club. It will count as a part of the annual interscholastic track and field meet to be held on March 15. The club's offer to give a trophy and to take charge of arrangements for these meets has been received with enthusiasm. The trophy is to become the property of the school that wins the annual meet for the fourth time.

This trophy is in the form of a silver loving cup. It is now being made on the coast. On one side will be an etching of J. P. Jones winning the mile run in the intercollegiate two years ago and breaking the world's amateur record for the distance. On the other side will be the inscription: "Cornell Cup, presented by the Cornell Club of Hawaii."

The cross-country meet was won by the Kamehameha school. The course measured three miles and was partly on the grounds of Oahu College. The winner's time was 16 minutes 10 3-5 seconds.

Arthur L. Andrews '93, of the faculty of the College of Hawaii, was the referee. Chester J. Hunn '08 was the starter. President John W. Gilmore '98, of the College of Hawaii, and W. J. MacNeil '91 were judges at the finish.

WILLIAM H. TOURISON '13, of Philadelphia, has been elected manager of baseball to succeed B. S. Page '13, who was compelled to resign on account of his University work. Tourison is a member of Phi Delta Theta.

Big Debate This Week

Triangular League Contests to Take Place Friday Night

Forensic disputation will reach its climax at Cornell when the triangular league debates settle the question of recall of judicial decisions next Friday evening. Cornell's affirmative speakers will defend the thesis in the Armory against the Pennsylvania trio, while the negative team will oppose Columbia in New York; at the same time, the New York negative debaters will argue the proposition with the Penn defenders in Philadelphia.

The question is: "Resolved, That when a statute passed under the police power is held unconstitutional by the courts under the state constitution, the people, after an ample interval for deliberation, shall be given an opportunity to vote on the question whether they desire the act to become law notwithstanding such decision."

For the affirmative, Remington Rogers '14, of Brooklyn, will be the leader, with M. A. Munoz '13, of San Juan, Porto Rico, and L. Y. Gaberman '15, of Hartford, Conn., for supporters, and P. R. Goldstein '13, of Brooklyn, as substitute. The negative speakers are: H. G. Wilson '14, of Ithaca, leader; A. H. Henderson '14, of New York, and Harold Riegelman '14, of New York; with W. D. Smith '15, of Schenectady, as alternate.

Pennsylvania is sending her best team to Ithaca, composed entirely of experienced seniors. The Red and Blue team which will face Columbia is composed of juniors and sophomores. Little is known of the Columbia team, but one of its members, McMahon, won the $200 prize of the New York Peace Society last year.

In practice debates, the negative has won from Union, making the first Cornell debating victory over that school; and lost, 2-1, to St. Lawrence, which had an unusually strong team. The affirmative has won from Rochester and from Washington and Jefferson. Both teams are weakest in rebuttal. The negative side of the question is believed to be the stronger by those who have followed the preliminary contests.

Work at Sea for College Men Navy Department Plans to Take Undergraduates on Summer Cruise

The United States Navy Department has submitted to the University and through the Sun to the students a plan which it has worked out, with the assistance of a number of college presidents, for providing battleship training for college students during the summer months. The plan is to take upperclassmen from various colleges and put twenty in a ship, keeping the men of the same college together. They will have to do the work of midshipmen but their work will be arranged to fit in as well as possible with their college course and give them the highest possible benefit. As yet no appropriation has been secured, so that each student will have to meet the expenses of his equipment and living, which will not be great.

Copies of the general order to be issued by the Secretary of the Navy, and of supplementary information, were sent to the President's office and the Sun. They conclude with this significant paragraph:

"It must be understood that this is no yachting trip or summer excursion. It will involve hard work without regard to the hours of the day or night. For such is the custom on board ship. It is believed that the result to the individual and to the country will more than compensate for the work done and the money expended."

Increase of the number of men trained for the Navy and constituting an emergency reserve is the object of the scheme.

The nature of the work is explained in the following extract from the general order:

"Students recommended by the proper authorities of the institutions where they are pursuing courses will be embarked in battleships and armored cruisers in full commission, not more than twenty students to one vessel, for a training period of about two months' duration. They must have completed two years or more of their courses and be not under eighteen years of age.

"One of the senior line officers of the ship will be designated in immediate charge of the students. They will not be enlisted, but each one will be required to bind himself to observe the laws and regulations of the Navy and of the ship, and to obey the orders of all persons placed in authority over him.

"Training will be given in the engineering department, gunnery, navigation and boats, besides general regulations and routine of shipboard life. The training is to be thoroughly practical, embracing every opportunity for actual experience, with the aim to ground each student well in one line of duties rather than to give him a smattering of several, so that subsequent training in a specialty may be readily developed. As far as practicable, the choice of specialty shall be in line with the students' educational course."

The students will mess together at a cost of forty cents a day each and will furnish uniforms, mattress, etc. Extra expenses will be met by the students. They will be allowed to wear civilian clothes when on shore and off duty. Each group will have a first and a second leader designated by the collegiate authorities or elected by itself.

What the fleet will do is thus outlined:

"The whole fleet, including destroyers, submarines and auxiliaries, will rendezvous somewhere on the New England coast, probably in Narragansett Bay. It is, in general, the custom for the fleet to spend one week in port and one week in fleet manoeuvres. The week in port, however, is not an idle week. During that week, there are carried on all exercises of the character which can best be carried on by ships at anchor. This involves boat work, signals, minelaying, overhaul of machinery, trying out of torpedoes, and much else."

MISS GERTRUDE NYE has been appointed house mistress and social director of Prudence Risley Hall for such part of the college year as her services may be needed, the appointment to take effect when Prudence Risley Hall is put to use.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATIONS

The Cornell Colony at the Golden Gate Welcomes New Members

The annual banquet of the Cornell University Club of Northern California, held at the University Club, San Francisco, on February 21, was the occasion of a welcome to the Cornell men who have recently joined the faculty of the University of California. Fifty men were present. Harold L. Leupp '02, the president of the club, was toastmaster.

The address of welcome to Dean Hunt of the college of agriculture of the University of California and his colleagues was made by President Benjamin Ide Wheeler. President Wheeler spoke especially of former days at Cornell University, of the work of the department of agriculture there under Professor Roberts, and of the wonderful impetus which that department felt immediately upon the coming of its present head, Professor Bailey. "Within three weeks the entire university had begun to respond to the enthusiasm of that great teacher," he said. President Wheeler then outlined briefly the opportunities which lay before Dean Hunt and his colleagues, welcoming them to the state and the University of California as "men who know how to make use of an opportunity."

Dean Hunt expressed his pleasure at being a Californian, and spoke briefly of the work and aims of the college of agriculture of the University of California. He was followed by Professor H. J. Webber and Professor Charles F. Shaw. After a number of Cornell songs had been sung, the toastmaster called on Professor Henry Morse Stephens, who responded with a witty address. He was followed by John M. Chase '72, a former president of the club, with reminiscences of early student life at Cornell.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Harold L. Leupp '02; vice-president, C. Willard Evans '05; secretary and treasurer, Leroy R. Goodrich '08.

The evening was closed with an excellent series of moving pictures, giving views of the campus, football teams, and the intercollegiate regatta last June. A rousing Cornell yell sent each Cornell crew across the line ahead of its opponents, and the appearance of Mr. Courtney was greeted with a cheer which "the Old Man" must have heard across the continent. The singing of the "Evening Song" brought the banquet to an end.

Cornell Night in Boston

Good Speeches and Moving Pictures Entertain a Hundred Men

About a hundred Cornell men met at the Boston City Club last Friday night for the annual banquet of the Cornell Club of New England. They represented classes ranging from that of the former Lieutenant-Governor of Rhode Island, F. H. Jackson '73, to the class of 1912.

At a business meeting the following officers were elected for the year: President, Barrett Smith '04; vice-president, Thomas F. Cassidy '96; secretary, L. E. Palmer '05; treasurer, Sidney G. Koon '02; athletic councillor, T. A. Baldwin '08; chairman of the board of governors, C. W. Hunter '05, with C. B. Wigton '07, C. E. Burr '03, H. S. Brown '04, Ralph W. Curtis '02, and Henry Hale, jr., '09, comprising the board.

At 7 o'clock the doings started. At the head table were such notables as Eddie Savage, president; Lieutenant-Governor Jackson, Dean Charles H. Hull, Tom Cassidy, Dr. Al Sharpe, Reggie Brown of Harvard, and Professor Courtney Langdon of Brown. With smaller tables grouped about it, down the center of the hall was the long so-called "Glee Club" table, occupied by more or less hungry individuals who maybe thought they could sing, and who proved their lung power right through the evening.

Tom Cassidy was an excellent toastmaster. Dean Hull warmed old hearts with news from the "Hill"; Professor Langdon of Brown kept "funny bones" rattling with a few Cornell jokes, as he expressed it, and other interesting matters. Reggie Brown very unselfishly told what it is that has made the recent successes in Harvard football. Dr. Sharpe made all sit up and take notice with the interesting things he told about Cornell activities on the field of sport. It was decided that not only was Dr. Sharpe some coach, but also some speaker and humorist. Lieutenant Governor Jackson was supposed to be the last speaker until the new president, Barrett Smith, also said a few things.

The hit of the evening was the "movies" in which were shown scenes of Cornell and one of the football games, followed by films showing events at the Olympic games in Sweden.

103 Bust Notices Sent Out

One hundred and three "bust" notices were sent out after the first term's reckonings were in; and 134 persons were placed on probation. A table showing the number of midwinter "busts" for the past six years and the distribution among colleges of this year's probations follows:

A REPORT of the March meeting of the Board of Directors of the Associate Alumni is published on another page. This body of men, as it now is, has not been in existence very long. Two years ago the body known as the Associate Alumni was reorganized for the purpose of making it a means of unifying all the alumni associations about the country. Because the Associate Alumni meet but once a year, it seemed necessary to have a board of directors or executive committee which should meet more often. This board now consists of fifteen men, five of whom are elected each year for a term of three years. It has two meetings a year in addition to the annual meeting at Ithaca in June. The method of rotation in office seems to insure that a majority of the board will always be men who have had at least a year of experience in its affairs. And it is important that such a body as this should have some stability, considerable acquaintance with the University's affairs, and the habit of deliberation. One of the functions of the board, as expressed by a member of it, is "to give the University authorities the official sentiment of Cornellians regarding the policy and conduct of Cornell." To determine what this so-called official sentiment is, from time to time, will call for nice judgment, careful deliberation, and some courage on the part of this body of men. There is always plenty of opinion on any question of public importance, and some of it is worth a good deal more than the rest because it happens to be based on knowledge. The report of the Buffalo meeting seems to indicate that the Board of Directors of the Associate Alumni is showing an inclination to ascertain facts and to deliberate before passing along criticism or offering advice.

ONE OF THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATIONS in an eastern state undertook not long ago to make out a list of Cornell men in its province, but it found that the work was handicapped by the fact that the Ten Year Book, the official list of Cornellians, has practically no information about any member of a class later than 1908, and that the passage of time has made a great deal of the information in that book worthless. This trouble will be remedied before long, to a considerable extent. The Secretary of the University has been at work on the address list of former students and has brought it, in large part, down to date. It would much increase the value of this list, to those who have occasion to use it, if the University could print it oftener than once in ten years.

Cornell Club of Washington

Following are the names of the newly elected officers of the Cornell Club of Washington, formerly called the Cornell Alumni Association of Washington: President, Lewis P. Clephane '90; first vice-president, Dr. Joseph A. Holmes '81; second vice-president, Professor L. C. Corbett '90; third vice-president, E. J. Glasson '03; secretary and treasurer, Herbert R. Cox '05, Bureau of Plant Industry.

A smoker was held at the new University Club on February 6, with about sixty-five men present. Hugh Jennings '04 gave an enthusiastic talk. E. S. Shepherd '02, of the Carnegie Institution, who had recently returned from the Hawaiian Islands, where he had been feeling the pulse of the big volcano, described his experiences there.

A beefsteak dinner will be held at the University Club on March 11, at 8 p. m. This will be an informal, "stag" affair at $2 a plate. Dr. L. O. Howard, chief of the Bureau of Entomology, will preside. All Cornell men in the vicinity will be welcome and can obtain tickets by addressing the secretary at the University Club.

Commissions in Island Constabulary

The professor of military science and tactics has received a notice from the bureau of insular affairs of the War Department to the effect that a number of third lieutenants are to be appointed in the Philippines Constabulary, at $1,200 per annum, to reach Manila before June 15 next. The letter says:

"These places will be filled only by the appointment of unmarried men between the ages of 21 and 33 years, who are graduates of regularly organized colleges or universities having an Army officer in charge of military instruction and who have completed the military course. They must be men of good physical strength and activity, of good moral character and habits, and possessed of ability and tact.

"These positions might appeal to some of your graduates; they afford an opportunity for travel and a broad experience which could be gained in relatively few positions. The opportunities for advancement are excellent."

Further particulars may be obtained from Lieutenant Henry T. Bull, at Ithaca, or from the Bureau of Insular Affairs, at Washington.

Intercollege basketball.—Veterinary defeated Arts Saturday in the intercollege basketball series and thereby formed a triple tie for the championship with Agriculture and C. E. The civil engineers have a game with the Law five this week, and Agriculture and Veterinary must play off a protested game. Should C. E. defeat the lawyers, therefore, the championship would lie between the former and the winners of the protested match.

Rifle shooting.—Cornell was defeated last week by the Massachusetts Tech marksmen. The score was 946 to 919. Harvard and the Massachusetts "Aggies" both won and are still tied for first place.

A hard-won victory, score 27 to 25, over the Dartmouth five in Hanover Saturday night closed the most successful basketball season in Cornell's history. Pennsylvania lost to Columbia the same night, leaving Princeton second in the final reckoning. Dartmouth, Pennsylvania and Columbia are tied for third place. The season is now over.

Cornell's game with Dartmouth seemed to be lost till the last three minutes of play, when a rally by Dederick and Haeberle outstripped the Dartmouth lead. The first period belonged to the Hanover team, and the score was 19-8 against the Cornell players at the end of the half. The Dartmouth men made many long shots. Their team play worked well, and the visitors were unable to guard closely enough to stop the scoring. Single baskets by Lunden, Dederick and H. C. Halsted, with a couple of foul goals, were the only Cornell tallies.

Half the second period passed with little change. Dartmouth secured a foul goal and finally Lunden scored a basket, leaving the Hanoverians ten points ahead with only ten minutes to play. Captain Halsted then inspired a rally by a difficult goal from far in the field. Cornell rallied. Scoring began. Although Dartmouth raised her points to 24, and the Red and White had but 21 points when the whistle was three minutes off, the final effort by Lunden, Dederick and H. C. Halsted saved the day, and Cornell finished two points in the lead.

The summary:

Cornell	Dartmouth
Lunden.....l. f.....	Sisson
Dederick.....r. f.....	Snow
Haeberle.....c.....	Margeson
H. C. Halsted.....l. g.....	Grant
G. C. Halsted.....r. g.....	Loudon

Rowing

Mr. Courtney Drops 125 Men from the Squad—Plenty of Good Men Left

The prospect of an extraordinary difficulty in the instruction of the oarsmen this spring has caused Mr. Courtney to adopt an unc customary measure. He has dropped from the squad about 125 men who, under ordinary circumstances, would, most of them, have been kept on till much later in the season. The primary cause of this step is the barge canal work in the Cayuga Inlet. This work made it necessary to move the university boat house, and the moving was completed so late that the house cannot be put in its usual condition this spring. Mr. Courtney had foreseen the difficulty and knew that only a few of the men could be quartered in the boathouse. So he instructed a large number of the squad to report for the intercollege crews, so that they might row from the intercollege boathouse on the Inlet and still be under his observation. These instructions of the coach, which were meant in the kindest spirit, were misinterpreted by some of the men. There was some grumbling, which came to Mr. Courtney's ears. He promptly cut the squad down to twenty-two varsity and twenty-four freshman candidates.

The difficulties at the boathouse are several. Where the building stands now, it is some distance from the water. The dredge is to cut away the bank between, but until that work is done there will be a carry of about a hundred feet from the door of the building to the float, and it is said that the cutting at that point cannot be done till late in the summer. Besides that, the moving necessarily caused a good deal of disarrangement in the interior and new water connections will have to be made for the baths.

Last week Tuesday Mr. Courtney caused a notice to be put in the Sun to the effect that about twenty varsity oarsmen, whose names were given, were to practice at the university boathouse, and that all other candidates were to register for the intercollege crews. The difficulties at the boathouse were explained. The arrangement proposed was not a radical departure from custom. For several years Mr. Courtney has sent a number of men up the Inlet to the intercollege boathouse as he reduced his own squad. For this season it was proposed to make the upper house a sort of varsity annex. All the men rowing there would still be under Mr. Courtney's eye. At the Gymnasium, until the weather permitted the oarsmen to work on the Inlet, there would be virtually no change. Most of the men, while registered for the collegiate crews, would still be using the machines in one of the crew rooms and would be under Mr. Courtney's observation.

On the day the order was published the collegiate crew registration was swelled to 190, larger than ever before. Now, every candidate for a college crew is required by the intercollege rowing association to pay a registry fee of one dollar. Money has to be found somewhere to pay the cost of maintaining the boathouse, and the association several years ago imposed this fee. It has been regarded by the oarsmen as a voluntary contribution by them for keeping up their association.

When he issued the order sending the greater part of his squad to report to the intercollege association, Mr. Courtney said: "This change in the arrangements is not a cut in the squad, but is the most adequate method of handling the present enrollment under the existing circumstances at the boathouse, which is not in condition to care for more men."

The next day he heard that some of the men who were affected by his order were complaining. Some of them, it was reported, had even said they thought the arrangement was a scheme to get their dollar. Mr. Courtney promptly called the entire squad together and told them what he had heard. He said that he could not have his work handicapped by the presence of men who were expressing dissatisfaction with his instructions. The only way he could see to maintain discipline was to dismiss from the squad all the men who had been affected by the former order, even though the innocent had to suffer with the guilty.

The Sun quoted the coach as saying: "With the twenty men that I have selected for the varsity eights and one four-oar, and any other such men as I deem valuable material and may choose later from among those I have dismissed, I can readily make up the crews for this year." He said that any man who had been dropped from the squad and was still ambitious to make the varsity eight next year could try for his college crew this year. But he was not worrying about next year's crew, because there was a greater wealth of rowing material in the present freshman class than he had seen in years. He said it hurt him more to make this cut than it could hurt the men he had dropped, but there was no room at the university boathouse for any more than the men he had selected.

As a matter of fact, Mr. Courtney is now in a better position to develop a first-class set of crews than he was with so many candidates. His unwillingness to discourage any ambitious oarsman, however little promise the man might show, caused the crew rooms to be overcrowded, divided the coach's attention, and made the work of the really promising men harder because it compelled them to wait for their turns at the machines, sometimes till late in the afternoon.

Following are the names of the men composing the two eights and the four who are retained for practice:

Bow, Lawrence Eddy '14; 2, E. S. Bates '13; 3, J. H. Munn '13; 4, W. W. Butts '15; 5, B. A. Lum '13; 6, B. C. Spransy '14; 7, Leslie Chapman '13; stroke E. H. Dole '13; coxswain, M. L. Adler '15.

Bow, E. L. Pollard '15; 2, L. F. Craver '15; 3, T. E. O'Brien '15; 4, R. C. Reeve '13; 5, W. F. Thatcher '13; G. P. MacNear '13; 6, W. V. Ellms '15; stroke, S. V. Hiscox '15; coxswain, C. B. Murray '13

Bow, C. W. Brown '13; 2, H. D. Hyland '14; 3, M. A. Munoz '13; stroke, E. S. Bird '14.

Wrestling

Penn State Wins Five Bouts out of the Seven in Dual Meet

The Pennsylvania State wrestlers defeated the Cornell team at Ithaca Saturday in a dual meet marked by fast, hard work on both sides. The score was five bouts to two. Captain Bame in the 175-pound class, secured falls for the home team; three of the visitors' points were on decisions and two on falls. In two bouts extra time was necessary.

The feature of the event, which was interesting throughout, was the set-to between Very, of Penn State, and Ryder, of Cornell. Ryder is a new man on the Cornell team, but has shown excellent form this winter. Very is now wrestling his fourth year. Ryder withstood onslaught after onslaught while Very tried to rush him off his feet. It was nip and tuck who should secure the fall. After nine minutes of exhausting work, it was still undecided and the referee allowed three more minutes. Because at the end of the time Very had a slight advantage, he received the decision.

The summary:

115-pound—Jones, Penn State, won a fall by a bodylock from H. A. Tassinari '14, of New York. Time, 4:39.

125-pound—T. I. S. Boak '14, of Jamestown, won a fall by a half nelson and hammerlock from Brown, Penn State. Time, 7:22.

135-pound—Folkman, Penn State, won a decision from S. R. Lewis '14, of Hancock. Time, 9:00.

145-pound—Schollenburger, Penn State, won a decision from W. R. Culbertson '14, of Mount Vernon, O. Time, 12:00.

158-pound—Very, Penn State, won decision from Ambrose Ryder '13, of Carmel. Time, 12:00.

175-pound—Clyde Bame '13, of Auburn, won a fall by a hammerlock and wristlock, from Sayre, Penn State. Time, 1:25.

Heavyweight—Lamb, Penn State, won a fall by a scissors and crotch from W. H. Davisdon '14, of Ithaca. Time, 8:22.

Referee—Funkhouser, Ithaca High School.

Baseball

Catchers and Pitchers from Last Year's Squads Now at Work

Battery candidates from last year's varsity and freshman squads were called out the first of last week by Dr. Sharpe; and such was the ease with which the practicing squad was being handled, that instead of waiting until March 3 to call out the rest of the old men, he had them in the Armory, with their suits on, Thursday afternoon. There are a few men of known strength who have not yet been asked to report.

In real earnest has begun the search for men to fill the mound positions left vacant by Hightower and Nisbet. As yet, of course, the throwing of all the candidates is more or less wild, endangering the personal safety of the batters, and it is hard to tell where the material lies. E. D. Burkart '13, of Albany, and S. W. Edlund '14, of Brooklyn, from last year's substitutes, are making bids for the place. E. R. Bowden '15, of Ithaca, a southpaw, and G. L. Kraft '15, of Washington, D. C., are recruits from the freshmen of last spring. The latter shows unusual promise. He was the second pitcher on the youngsters' aggregation. One of the best 1915 pitchers is now on probation.

In a pinch, it might be that Captain L. D. Clute '13, of Elmira, who now occupies the first sack, would pitch. He could do it all right, but it is difficult to find a man to replace him in his present position. Candidates are C. R. McBroom '15, of Spokane, Wash., and A. T. Hobson '15, of Flushing, O.

One of the varsity men has shifted. E. W. Butler '13, of Brooklyn, who last year played in left field, is now trying for catcher. J. H. Smith '13, of Barnesville, Ga., who was catcher on the second team, is again out; and H. E. Schirick '14, of Kingston, is a candidate for his old position, although he has not yet been asked to report. D. F. Taber '15, of Brooklyn, the substitute quarterback on the football team, is trying for shortstop, and F. X. Jones, Sp., of St. Louis, Mo., and J. R. Donovan '15, of New York, are looking for the second sack.

Dr. Sharpe's plan of twelve-minute practice periods, arranged in schedules, is working out to perfection, and enables him to handle his large squad with ease and to scrutinize the work of every man. As the squad limbers up, the need of a better practicing place than the cramped and dark Armory is more keenly felt. As there is no possibility of the cage being finished in time, much depends upon an early spring.

Fencing

The Team Defeats the Navy after Losing to Columbia

The fencers atoned for a defeat by Columbia on Friday by winning from the Navy on Saturday. In the event at New York Cornell won three bouts and lost nine. At Annapolis Cornell won five of the bouts and lost four. The latter event was witnessed by 2,000 persons. The summary of the Columbia meet:

First round—Clough, Columbia, defeated F. B. O'Connor, Cornell; Mouquin, Columbia, defeated H. W. Sibert, Cornell; Northrup, Columbia, defeated H. A. Wadman, Cornell. Second round—O'Connor defeated Mouquin, Northrup defeated Sibert, Clough defeated Wadman. Third round—O'Connor defeated Northrup, Clough defeated Sibert. Wadman defeated Culver.

The several bouts in the Annapolis meet resulted as follows:

First round—O'Connor, Cornell, defeated Gray, Navy; Dunn, Navy, defeated Sibert, Cornell; Wadman, Cornell, defeated Hans, Navy. Second round—Hans, Navy, defeated O'Connor; Sibert defeated Lingo, Wadman defeated Gray. Third round—Dunn defeated O'Connor, Hans defeated Sibert, Wadman defeated Dunn.

ALUMNI NOTES

'74, B.S.—James Harvey Peirce, of Chicago, has given up business for several months on account of ill health. He is traveling in the South and is taking this occasion to visit several of his classmates.

'88, C.E.—Charles N. Green is an engineer with the Public Service Commission in New York City.

'88, B.S.—Julia W. Snow is professor of botany in Smith College, Northampton, Mass.

'94, Ph.B.; '95, LL.B.—G. W. Rulison has won the position of librarian of the city court of New York City in a competitive civil service examination against ninety-nine competitors. The salary is $3,000.

'96—William Reuben Wood, of Baltimore, has been having the first exhibition of his pictures in New York at the Arlington Galleries in Madison Avenue. The New York Sun, in noting the exhibition, said that after Mr. Wood left Cornell he became a naval architect and practiced that profession until his growing desire for art forced him to give the profession up in 1903. Since then he has traveled abroad and worked in the famous ateliers. In Baltimore he is president of the Watercolor Club and a director in the Charcoal Club.

'00—I. Brooks Clarke has acquired an interest in the tailoring establishment of Shackleton, 431 Fifth Avenue, between Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth Streets, New York. Clarke played on the varsity football team in 1896. He volunteered at the outbreak of the war with Spain and rose to the rank of first lieutenant of volunteers.

'01, A.B.—A son, Charles Irvin Westheimer, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Irvin F. Westheimer, of Cincinnati, on November 29, 1912.

'02, A.B.; '04, M.D.—A despatch to the New York Tribune last Sunday from Fishkill Landing, N. Y., said it was thought that Dr. Raymond F. C. Kieb, for six years an assistant physician at the Matteawan State Hospital, had an excellent chance of being appointed superintendent of the hospital to succeed Dr. Russell, resigned. For the last two years Dr. Kieb has been at the Dannemora State Hospital and he stands at the head of the civil service eligible list.

PROFESSOR ORTH'S NEW BOOK

Professor Samuel P. Orth, of the department of economics, has just published a 400-page book entitled "Socialism and Democracy in Europe," in which he gives the results of studies he has made, during several trips to Europe, of the social democratic parties in England, Germany, Belgium and France. The book deals with the milder form of socialism, what in this country is called progressivism.

Of the German social democratic party he says: "It is the most perfect party machine in the world. The only approach to it is the faultless, silently moving, highly polished mechanism devised by the English gentry to control the political destinies of the British Empire. Our American parties are crude compared with the noiseless efficacy of the English machine, or the remorseless, yet enthusiastic and entirely effective operation of the German Social Democracy."

In his concluding chapter he asserts: "The Socialist party wherever it exists is a labor party, with a labor program that is based on conditions that need to be remedied. Their practical demands as a rule are of such a nature that all society would benefit from their enactment into law. The mystery has gone out of the movement. It is not necromancy but plain parliamentary humdrum which you see. The threatened necromancy is all words; the doing is intensely human, of the earth earthy."
