WITH an annual sum of more than $2,000 already pledged to the Alumni Fund, the Alumni Pledge Committee of the class of 1914 is progressing in its work. Chairman A. T. Hayes expects to have the work finished in two or three weeks. Already several of the members of the committee have seen nearly all the forty seniors assigned to each of them. The sum usually pledged this year is $15. That is the minimum amount which the committee is trying to secure from each member of the class. Several pledges of $20 and $25 have been made and more are expected. The sum pledged is to be paid annually for twenty years. Since the minimum amount suggested on the blanks is $5 higher this year than it was last year, the committee is confident of its ability to collect more than the record gift of the class of 1913, which was $6,753.50. The first payment on most of the 1914 pledges will be made on April 1, 1915.

BUILDING OPERATIONS in progress on State Street have removed an old Ithaca landmark—the Wilgus Opera House. No man who attended Cornell down to the middle nineties needs to be told what the Wilgus Opera House was. It was on an upper floor of the Wilgus Block, at the corner of State and Tioga Streets. The building is now owned by Rothschild Brothers, who are rebuilding it and will use all the four stories for their department store. The rebuilding is being done without moving the store. This week the whole of the old brick wall on the Tioga Street side is down and is being replaced with steel and glass. The Wilgus was the only theatre in Ithaca until the Lyceum was opened, about 1892. Many famous actors played there.

EDITORS of many college newspapers of the East had a conference at Columbia University last Saturday. It was the second annual convention of the Association of Eastern College Newspapers. This association was formed for the purpose of bringing about co-operation among the various publications, particularly in the field of advertising. Editorial problems were also discussed. The convention was brought to an end with a dinner at the Hotel Martinique. Among those whom the association invited to speak at the banquet were Dr. Talcott Williams, head of the Columbia School of Journalism; William L. McLean, proprietor of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin; Herbert Reed ("Right Wing"), and Leslie H. Groser '13, one of the founders of the association.

PASSENGER TRAFFIC on the railroads leading out of Ithaca was very heavy last week. The passenger agents of the Lackawanna and the Lehigh Valley have to plan weeks ahead for the exodus of students at vacation time. The big rush to get out of town was on Wednesday, particularly at noon of that day. Between 12:15 and 12:30 the Lackawanna dispatched two big trains in addition to the regular passenger train for Owego. Both the extra trains were scheduled to run through to Hoboken. The first one out was an all-Pullman train of eight coaches. The second was the Lackawanna's "wireless train," and consisted of seven coaches. Both were filled with students. Each student on the two trains was invited by the management of the road to write a message to his home, to be sent by wireless. The messages written on the Pullman train were collected by a man who dropped off at Owego and boarded the wireless train, from which all the messages were then sent to one of the several wireless stations of the Lackawanna, to be relayed from there to the students' homes.

CORNELL'S CHINESE STUDENTS held a novice track meet at Percy Field last Saturday for the purpose of discovering the new material needed to win the intercollegiate track meet to be held at the next summer conference of Chinese students. Having won the meet for the last two years, the Chinese undergraduates are hoping to score a third victory this summer in order to gain permanent possession of the trophy cup. The most creditable mark made by the new men Saturday was in the 100-dash, which was won in 11 2-5 seconds, according to the student timers.

AN HONORARY UPPERCLASS SOCIETY has been formed in the College of Law. The society is composed of eighteen seniors and eighteen juniors who will hold mock court sessions for the purpose of giving the members practice in procedure. The men will meet soon to draw up a constitution and to choose a name for the organization. The membership list follows: seniors: H. O. Babcock, T. J. Chamberlain, D. Cohen, E. J. Daly, A. E. Disinger, C. A. Dutcher, S. G. Gordon, J. F. Greaney, H. E. Griffith, H. Z. Harris, B. W. Hendrickson, C. C. Lemnitzer, N. O. Lester, W. B. J. Mitchell, R. B. Ostrander, J. B. Putnam, R. Rogers, B. L. Swan; juniors: A. E. Binks, J. M. Cashin, B. H. Coiner, E. F. Colie, C. M. Colyer, W. W. Dodge, L. Y. Gaberman, W. G. Haeberle, W. N. Hoffman, R. A. Hutchinson, G. G. Inglehart, J. D. McCredie, D. B. Munsick, L. G. Nightingale, H. E. Ray, D. F. Taber, L. F. Utter, F. Weisbrod.

EASTER RECESS this year came at a most opportune time, in the opinion of the medical advisers, because it will probably put a stop to an epidemic of German measles which had kept the Infirmary full for about ten days. About forty undergraduates had had the disease. The great difficulty in checking it lay in the fact that the infection could be communicated before the infected person knew he had contracted it. As the ailment lasts only a few days, the week of vacation will probably give all those who had it a chance for thorough recovery.

A FARM TRAIN is running on the Erie Railroad in the western part of the state this week. It is in charge of men from the College of Agriculture here and from Alfred University, the two institutions working in co-operation. One of the men from Cornell is Clinton D. Smith '73, of Trumansburg, formerly president of the agricultural college of Brazil.

Observations from the Hill

Address of Professor H. A. Sill at the Dinner of the Cornell Association of Indiana, April 4.

When I left the Campus last evening, the chimes were playing the Eton rowing song at the close of the first day that had seemed like spring. My feelings when I start from the Campus for the train are very much like those described to me by the Ephor of the Athenian Acropolis. He told me that, though he spent part of every day up there, he never came down without a feeling of sadness, as if he might not see it again. Our Campus is an American Acropolis, one of the high places in the life of the nation.

It has been an interesting week for the members of the Faculty. On Tuesday night there was a dinner at the Telluride House in honor of Professor Elster, who has just completed his duties as Schiff lecturer for this year. Dean Crane and Mr. White were there and made most characteristic and delightful speeches. On Wednesday night there was a long and exciting meeting of the University Faculty. On Thursday at noon Professor Elster gave his last lecture on Heine, which seemed to me just about the best single lecture I had ever heard. On Thursday night at the Phi Gamma Delta house I had the pleasure of interesting conversation with Mr. Hoy and Dr. L. H. Bailey, and later on, at the Chi Phi House, equally interesting talk with Judge Irvine. These gatherings of students and professors at fraternity houses are always very enjoyable affairs. On Friday I had a talk with President Schurman, who asked me to give you all his warmest regards. Later in the afternoon, there was an important meeting of the Faculty of the Graduate School. If we had been in Ithaca this afternoon, we should have witnessed the freshman-sophomore rush, and to-night we could have heard John McCormack sing in our splendid new auditorium—but only if we had got around to the Co-op very early on the day when the house was sold out in about two hours. The auditorium seats about 2,200 people.

On the train for Buffalo were the members of the track team, going to Ann Arbor; the swimming team, bound for Cincinnati, and Jack Moakley. When I told one of the boys where I was going, he said, "Tell 'em to give us some money to finish Alumni Field." Mr. Moakley said nothing could help him more in his work than the completion of the field, for it would bring out likely men in numbers. As you all know, the baseball cage has been in use all this year, but you may not know that when it is lighted up in the evening it is one of the prettiest sights on the Campus. The training house is approaching completion.

The question of the proper place of athletics in the life of a great university is one that deeply interests many members of the Faculty. As Professor Kimball said at the Junior Smoker, it is still unsolved. Mr. Courtney has recently made a notable contribution to the discussion. There are those who maintain that athletes generally do better in their studies than men who go in for other "activities." Some of us feel more concern about the effect on the academic atmosphere of football hysteria and newspaper "dope." We don't like to see the "main tent" overshadowed by the "sideshows." We don't like to see sport made subservient to money. We know very well that study does not compete in emotional interest with athletics. We want not less but more athletics, we want athletics for all. More and more, the University is recognizing its obligation to provide physical as well as intellectual education. Why wouldn't it be a good idea to give each of the head coaches a seat on the Faculty? It might be a good thing for the Faculty and a good thing for the coaches, too.

When we get right down to hardpan, the crucial question that we all ask about any university is not where it stands in athletics, but whether it is doing the right sort of work as an educational institution. This is what the public is really most anxious to know. Nothing is more gratifying in the present attitude of Cornell alumni than their interest in this fundamental question. The University will benefit from its discussion, provided the discussion is carried on frankly, in good faith, and with an honest and earnest determination to get real information. We cannot deal with vague mutterings or loose talk. If you are to have any influence on the policy of the University, you will have to deserve it by making a real study of educational questions.

If there is today any crisis in the scholastic affairs of the University, it is a permanent crisis, a crisis which exists and will always exist in every university which tries to stand in the front rank. It is the same crisis that exists at Columbia, Harvard, and Princeton, even at Berlin, and conspicuously at Oxford—the permanent problem of finding sufficient resources and the proper methods for first-class work. Every college and every department at Cornell of which I know anything by observation or by hearsay is trying to do its work right; but it is hard to make one dollar do the work of two. I think we are actually making one dollar do the work of about a dollar and a half.

We feel that we are doing rather important work for the nation. One great department is, in the last analysis, trying to get more food for a hundred million souls. Others are trying to find new ways of using power or new sources of power. Others are trying to cope with great social problems. All are doing something in one way or another, to develop in youthful minds something like a true and comprehensive philosophy of life.

This winter has been made interesting by a number of spontaneous efforts to provide for certain general human interests. The lectures on the history of civilization have met a demand for general knowledge. The lectures on citizenship were arranged for by a group of alumni engaged in social work. The lectures on eugenics have responded to a demand for information on a very vital problem. The department of music has found enthusiastic support for all the concerts and recitals that it can provide. Every spring we have an exhibition of painting, made possible by small subscriptions from a large number of art lovers. The Cayuga Bird Club is a kind of emanation of Louis Fuertes.

The University expects more from its alumni than money. It expects them, for one thing, to carry its influence into every department of practical life. We expect you to be foremost in transforming the government of our cities. We expect you to be foremost in the movement for the regeneration of country life. We expect you to promote the rational discussion of all political and social questions. We expect you to help every good cause, to welcome every first-class play, every good book, every enterprise of science. We expect your emotions to be stirred not only by athletic victories but by every victory of human intelligence.

You belong to a university, which, from its inception, has been in the very front rank among American universities. It will not be easy to keep it there, for we cannot command the resources of a great city and only partially those of a great State; but we can do it, if we have not only the financial but also the moral backing of the alumni. We can do it, with a strong pull, a long pull, and a pull all together.

Asks for Alumni Suggestions Trustee Committee on Revision Invites Delegates to Its Next Meeting

The committee of the Board of Trustees which is making a study of university business organization will have a meeting in New York City on Saturday, April 18, and it has invited the alumni associations to send delegates to New York to meet with it and to make any suggestions they may wish to make regarding the questions before the committee.

The letter of invitation says:

"The Board of Trustees at the meeting held on October 18th, 1913, adopted this resolution:

"That a committee be appointed to inquire into the desirability of a general revision of the University's business organization and methods, and if, after due examination, the committee is in favor of such revision, that it then prepare and present to the Board a plan for such revision in accordance with the resolution and the result of the investigation."

"The Trustees Committee feels that this is a matter in which the alumni are deeply interested and wishes to avail itself of any suggestions the alumni as individuals or organized bodies have to suggest, and therefore a cordial invitation is extended to you to send a delegate to meet with the Committee, or to communicate to them any suggestions that might assist in working out an efficient and satisfactory scheme of business management and administration for the University.

"The meeting will be held in New York City at the Waldorf-Astoria, 2 p. m., Saturday, April 18th, 1914."

The members of the committee are J. H. Edwards, J. H. Barr, H. H. Westinghouse, G. C. Boldt, F. H. Hiscock, Mynderse VanCleaf, the President, and the Treasurer. The secretary of the committee is Eads Johnson, 30 Church Street, New York.

Only Two Trustee Candidates Place '81 and Tansey '88 Assured of Election to the Board

Only two men have been nominated for election as Alumni Trustees of the University this year. They are Ira A. Place '81, of New York (renominate), and George J. Tansey '88, of St. Louis. As there are two trusteeships to be filled at the election in June, the nomination of Messrs. Place and Tansey is equivalent to their election for the five-year term.

INTER-LEAGUE CHESS

CORNELL AND PENNSYLVANIA, representing the Triangular Chess League, defeated Columbia, Harvard, Yale and Princeton, comprising the Quadrangular Chess League, at the Brooklyn Chess Club, yesterday. The score was 5 points to 1. Cornell made a clean sweep on all three boards occupied by her players, and Pennsylvania contributed two more points, the net result of one game won and two games drawn. N. S. Perkins, A. C. Ehrlich and W. Grafman were the members of the invincible Cornell team. For Pennsylvania T. C. Hill scored at the fifth board, while his team mates, Rudolph Sze, the famous Chinese player, and M. J. Teitelbaum, drew their games. R. Beach, of Yale, and B. Winkleman, of Harvard, saved the Quadrangular team from complete annihilation. The four defeated players were H. E. Leede, Columbia; D. E. Ehrlich, Columbia; D. A. Quarles, Yale; and G. W. Jarman, Princeton.—Sunday's New York Tribune.

THE CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION held its annual election of officers last week. The new president is L. M. Blancke '15, of Essex Falls, N. J. He is a member of the Psi Upsilon fraternity and is assistant manager of the wrestling team. Other officers are : vice-president, D. S. Hatch '15, Greenwich, N. Y.; corresponding secretary, J. G. Hermance Fund Reduced Widow Takes Half of Estate—May Be No Scholarship Fund for Many Years

Events affecting the estate of Albert D. Hermance, of Williamsport, Pa., make it likely that there will be a smaller sum for the support of "The Albert D. Hermance Cornell University Scholarships" than was generally estimated and also that many years may pass before any of the estate will become available for the scholarships. As was related in the NEWS last week, Mr. Hermance provided in a codicil to his will that his residuary estate, comprising the greater part of his property, should become a trust fund, to be enjoyed by his widow and by various relatives during the term of their lives and then to be used to provide annual scholarships of $500 to as many approved graduates of the Williamsport High School as possible. The scholarships were to be good for four years in Cornell University. The value of Mr. Hermance's estate was estimated at more than $500,000.

Mrs. Agnes L. Hermance, the widow of the testator, last week filed with the register of wills of Lycoming County her refusal to accept the bequests made her by her husband in his will and her election to take as his widow under the intestate laws of the state. The intestate laws provide that in the case of the death of a man without issue his widow shall receive one-half of his personal property absolutely and a life interest in one-half of the real estate. These laws may be invoked by a widow even though her husband left a will. This notice from Mrs. Hermance makes a material difference in the amount of money which will be available for the scholarships. There is no way at present to ascertain the amount available, the appraisers not having completed their inventory. A Williamsport newspaper estimates that the amount still available for the scholarships is about $200,000. The income from that would be enough for four or five scholarships every year.

One of the provisions of the Hermance will indicates that the income of the residuary estate is not applicable to a scholarship fund until after the death of the testator's three nephews and of their children after them. This clause of the will reads as follows :

"That as trustees the said Susquehanna Trust & Safe Deposit Company

IRA A. PLACE '81

GEORGE J. TANSEY '88

JOHN A. DIX '83

THREE MEN WHO WILL SERVE ON THE UNIVERSITY BOARD OF TRUSTEES FOR FIVE YEARS BEGINNING NEXT JUNE. FORMER GOVERNOR DIX HAS BEEN APPOINTED TO THE BOARD BY GOVERNOR GLYNN. MR. PLACE AND MR. TANSEY ARE THE ONLY NOMINEES FOR THE TWO ALUMNI TRUSTEESHIPS TO BE FILLED AND WILL BE ELECTED WITHOUT OPPOSITION.

shall retain the balance of the said residuary estate, and keep the same invested as hereinbefore provided, and shall pay over the net income therefrom (after deducting all proper costs and charges by way of taxes, commissions or otherwise) to my nephews, Dr. William Oakly Hermance (son of my brother Theodore L. Hermance) and Claude Lasher and Frank Lasher (sons of my sister Mrs. Almira J. Lasher) equally for and during the term of the natural lives of my said nephews, and upon the death of any one of my said nephews leaving a child or children him surviving, the said trustee shall pay said child or children of my said nephew, or the proper guardian of said child or children, the one-third of the net income which would have gone to said nephew had he lived. But should one or more of said nephews die without leaving a child or children him surviving, then and in that case the net income which was payable to him or them shall be paid to the surviving nephews for and during the term of the natural lives of them or the survivor of them."

The Williamsport Sun of last Friday quotes this clause and says :

"As this is a part of the main will, it has precedence over the provisions of the codicil, in which is contained the scholarship bequest, and under it apparently the proceeds of the estate are not to go to the main public use until the testator's immediate family, to the second generation, is amply provided for. Claude Lasher, one of the nephews named in the clause above quoted, has a son Albert Hermance Lasher, at this time about seven years of age.

"When the will was filed it was believed that the provisions of the codicil, written nearly two years after the original will, indicated plainly that the bequest establishing the Albert D. Hermance Cornell university scholarships would become available at the death of Mrs. Hermance. After Mrs. Hermance exercised her right under the act of assembly of 1911 to 'take against the will' it was believed yesterday that one-half of the residuary estate would become available within a very short time for the purposes of the benefaction. The will when closely scrutinized today showed apparently a different state of affairs, the trust constituted for the benefit of the nephews of Mr. Hermance not being revoked in the codicil."

WOMEN'S CLUB OF NEW YORK

The Cornell Women's Club of New York held a meeting at the home of the president, Miss Alice H. Bruere, 400 Riverside Drive, on Saturday afternoon, March 28. Dr. Frederick C. Howe, director of the People's Institute, gave a very interesting address on "The Workless Worker: What Germany Is Doing to Meet this Problem." An important business meeting preceded this address and a pleasant social gathering followed it.

The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Miss Cornelia B. Trowbridge, Forest Hills, Long Island, on Saturday afternoon, May 16.

MARY SULLIVAN, Recording Secretary, 292 Clermont Avenue, Brooklyn.

PROFESSOR GEORGE F. ATKINSON of the department of botany will read a paper at a meeting of the American Philosophical Society in Philadelphia late this month.

BLEECKER MARQUETTE '15, of Schenectady, won second prize in the Prohibition state oratorical contest, held in Syracuse last week. The first prize was won by a Syracuse University student.

AN interesting experiment is to be made in Yale College, and also at Princeton. Something like the English university system of "honor" and "pass" examinations is to be adopted for college upperclassmen in those two American universities. In Yale College, students who have reached the end of their sophomore year with a standing sufficiently high may enroll as candidates for honors. Separate instruction (by special courses, divisions, personal direction, etc.) may be given for students pursuing honors work where, in the judgment of the department, such separate instruction will be of advantage for honors students and will not seriously limit the opportunities of other students. Honors will be granted at the end of junior and of senior year to candidates who maintain a sufficiently high average and pass with distinction a special examination designed to test the student's mastery of principles and his powers of thought. It is proposed to put the system into effect in the fall of 1915. The chairman of the faculty committee which devised the system has made a statement about it, from which we quote a small part: "The method of teaching at Yale and at other American colleges which have adopted largely the elective system has involved the putting together of all students in a subject into one class. If the class was large, divisions were based upon the choices of hours by the student or on an alphabetic basis. Exceptional students, average students, and poor students were all put through the same mill, with excellent results for the majority of the class, who undoubtedly gained something from contact with their more brilliant fellows. But this system works at the expense of the exceptional men. These do not have to exert their minds, and lose something of the stimulus and much of the mental training which they could get if working in a group of their own kind and with whatever speed of accomplishment they were capable. This present system grew up largely as a matter of expediency in connection with that expansion of the schedule which accompanied the growth of the elective system. The mixing of scholarship of all grades and the freedom of election of all courses by all men finally became accepted as a matter of course, and by some became regarded as an ideal system, embodying, they thought, a principle of college democracy. It is this ideal which is now definitely abandoned in favor of a policy which shall give opportunity for the highest grade men to pursue certain lines of work, unhampered in so far as it is possible by the crowd of average men."

ALUMNI IN CANADA ORGANIZE

The first annual dinner of the Cornell Association of Eastern Canada was held at the Windsor Hotel, in Montreal, on Tuesday night, March 31. Lieut.-Col. H. R. Lordly, C.E. '93, presided. The association was formed recently and has about 240 members. There were more than fifty present at the banquet, the majority of them being from Montreal.

Responding to the toast "Our Alma Mater," Julian C. Smith, M.E. '00, traced the growth of the University from 1868 to the present. Mr. Sergeant

P. Stearns, president of the University Club, responded to the toast of sister universities, pointing out the duty of university men to take up the duties of citizenship in whatever place they live. Mr. Stearns is a Princeton man of the class of '64, a classmate of Professor T. F. Crane. Professor D. A. Murray of McGill University spoke briefly. Lantern views of Cornell were shown.

Before the banquet the following officers were elected at a meeting of the association: President, H. R. Lordly '93; vice-president, J. C. Smith '00; secretary, Franklin E. Holland '12; treasurer, John E. Armstrong '08; executive committee, W. H. Wardwell '97, B. T. McCormick '03, and H. B. Foote '04. The address of the secretary, F. E. Holland, is Room 900, Windsor Station, C. P. R., Montreal, Canada.

CORNELL CLUB OF WASHINGTON

The monthly luncheon of the Cornell Club of Washington was held on Saturday, April 4, in the Dutch Room of the Ebbitt House. About sixty men attended, among them Professor W. W. Rowlee, who was spending a few days in the city during the spring vacation. Professor Rowlee gave a short talk on the subject of recent happenings at Ithaca. After lunch a large number of the men went out to see the Georgetown-Cornell baseball game. A section had been reserved for the Cornell contingent and several short ones as well as one or two long ones were given for the team.

THE TEN YEAR REUNION

In just a little over two months 1904 will Reune. Within a week or ten days the members of the class will receive a confidential communication conveying all the details. Suffice it in this writing that all arrangements have been made that were necessary to produce the most gladsome and most comfortable reunion ever held in Ithaca.

The one thing vitally important is to get everybody back. The committee, as such, is limited to circularization as a means of moving on the inert minority. This method to be worth anything must be supplemented by everything from personal appeals to assault and battery. Please supplement. Pick out two whom you want to see and whom you suspect of inertia—and make yourself responsible for their appearance in Ithaca on June 12th. Harass 'em.

THE COMMITTEE.

BIG SMOKER IN NEW YORK

Cornell Men to Get Together on April 18

There's going to be a big Cornell Smoker in New York on Saturday night, April 18. It will be held at the Aldine Club, on the top floor of the Fifth Avenue Building, Fifth Avenue and Twenty-third Street. President Schurman will be present and will make an address.

The Aldine Club will give up all its rooms for that evening. They will accommodate twelve hundred. Thirty-two hundred notices of the smoker have been mailed to Cornell men in New York City. The Cornell Association of Brooklyn and the Cornell Club of Northern New Jersey have been asked to cooperate. It will not, however, be a club affair. It will be simply a big gathering of Cornell men.

There will be an orchestra, and a large number of old Glee Club men will be on hand. Two or three vaudeville stunts may be run in. There will be things to eat and drink, and cigars and cigarettes will be furnished.

A charge of a dollar a head will be made. There will be no other charge for refreshments, smokes, or anything else.

BRIEFS

THE PRINCETON AND YALE CREWS, when they come here for the Navy Day regatta on May 23, will be entertained at the Phi Delta Theta house, and the Delta Kappa Epsilon house will be turned over to the Princeton men. Both squads are expected to arrive in Ithaca on the Thursday before the race. Their shells will be housed at the university boathouse.

S. S. LAWLER '14, of Minneapolis, football manager, has been elected chairman of the Spring Day committee.

D. P. MORSE, JR., '15, of Northport, has been elected to fill a vacancy in the assistant managership of fencing. He is a member of Psi Upsilon.

THE DEBATE with George Washington University has been postponed to April 11th.

CAYUGA LAKE is so high that some of the docks on the west shore are under water.

THE CAMP of the civil engineers next summer will be at Myers Point, on the east side of Cayuga Lake. Work will begin there on June 9.

Track Squad Inexperienced

The Team May Not Have a Single One of Last Year's Point Winners

With but two of last year's point winners at the intercollegiates now in college, and with serious doubt as to whether they will be available, Coach Moakley faces the most crucial track season in years, in that either Cornell or Pennsylvania may gain permanent possession of the intercollegiate track cup by winning the meet this year. A large proportion of the team this spring will be made up of sophomores, most of whom have had very little experience in high class competition. This fact makes it very hard to forecast the strength of the team until after the dual meets.

The two men who scored in the intercollegiates last year are O. A. Reller '15, who finished second in the 100 yard dash, and H. H. VanKennen '15, who tied for fourth place in the pole vault, these men scoring a total of 3½ points. Reller is now in St. Louis recovering from an operation for mastoiditis. He is reported to be in an anemic condition, and his return to college after the Easter recess, though probable, is uncertain. VanKennen has not yet reported for track because of stress of university work, nor has he thus far signified to Moakley an intention of reporting later on.

The men who are at present available in the separate events, and from whom the team will probably be picked, sophomores being indicated by italics, are :

440 yard dash : Caldwell, Cornwell, Lewis, Mehaffey, Osler, Starr.

Half mile : Beckwith, Caldwell, Irish, McGolrick, Souder, Speiden.

Mile : Brown, Irish, McGolrick, Souder, Speiden.

Two mile : Cadiz, Eldred, Frederiksen, Hoffmire, Jaqua, Potter.

High hurdles : Captain Shelton, Beebe, Brodt, Lukens, Millard, McLaren.

Low hurdles : Captain Shelton, Ingercoll, Lukens, Millard, Starr.

High jump : Cady, Morrison, Warner.

Broad jump : Brodt, Fritz, Lynch, Merrill, Morrison, Priestler.

Shot-put : Lahr, McCutcheon.

Hammer throw : Carnal, Munns, McCutcheon.

The sprinters would be greatly strengthened by the return of Reller, as Ingersoll is the only man who has had experience in intercollegiate meets. He finished fifth in the 100-yard dash last year.

In the 440, Caldwell is the only man of first class ability. He is a senior who is eligible for the first time this year. He runs the quarter regularly under 50 seconds. Moakley may enter him in either the 220 or the half mile besides the 440.

Speiden, the junior who finished fifth in the two mile at the intercollegiates last spring, will run the middle distances this year. He is probably the best of the half milers. McGolrick was a member of the championship cross-country team last fall. Irish and Souder, the two sophomores, are showing considerable promise, the former having won the half mile in the Michigan indoor meet in the fast time of 1:59 3-5. Practically the same men will run the mile, with the addition of Brown, a junior who ran in the dual meets last year.

In the two-mile Potter and Hoffmire are easily the best men. Both have done better than 4:30. Hoffmire finished second in the intercollegiate cross-country race last fall. Potter was prevented from running because of an injured ankle but is in good shape now. Cadiz and Frederiksen have started spring training after resting up from the cross-country season. Both show promise in the two mile. Jaqua and Eldred have made a good showing during winter practice.

The high jumpers are only of fair ability, Morrison, Warner, and Cady having done 5 ft. 11 in., 5 ft. 10 in., and 5 ft. 9 in., respectively. Hanrahan, who did 5 ft. 9½ in. last year, is now on probation with a slight chance to get off in the near future.

Morrison, in the broad jump, has a record of 22 ft. 7 in., a mark which ordinarily place at the intercollegiates. Brodt, Fritz, and Lynch are also performing creditably in this event.

The hurdlers are in the main inexperienced men. Captain Shelton and Beebe are the only men who were tried in this event last year. Brodt, a broad jumper, has been hurdling recently. He won the hurdles in the Michigan indoor meet, showing considerable speed but crude form in the short race. Ingersoll, the sprinter, is also working out for the low hurdles. Millard, the sophomore who finished second in the Michigan meet, together with Starr, a member of the indoor mile relay team, are the best of the sophomores. Philippi, who won his "C" in the low hurdles last year, is not competing at present because of parental objections inspired by recent publicity as to alleged low standing of athletes in their university work. Coffey, the best of the shot putters, is also out for the same reason.

Because of the severe winter, which has kept the weight men indoors, nothing definite can be predicted as to their ability. The hammer throwers have had almost no practice. Judging from last year's meets, Munns and McCutcheon, both of whom have done better than 140 feet, are the best in this event. Carnal is the best of the new men, Buckbee and McDonald following closely. In the shotput McCutcheon leads at about 43 feet. Lahr is a fairly close second.

The pole vaulters are greatly strengthened by the return of Fritz, who tied for fourth place at the intercollegiate meet in 1912. He has done 12 ft. 4 1-2 in., but was kept out of athletics last spring by faculty ruling. Halsted, the basketball captain, did 11 ft. 11 1-2 in. last year in the outdoor meet with Michigan, and should be in the running this spring. Milton has cleared 11 ft. 9 in., and VanKennen, if he comes out for the team, is good for 12 feet. Clark, Cheney, and McCredie have all done better than 11 feet.

Provided the sale of spring season tickets nets a sufficient sum, a team of twenty men will be sent to the Pennsylvania Relay Carnival on April 20. Besides sending a four-mile and a one-mile relay team, Cornell will compete in most of the other events. The four mile team, which will run against the Oxford quartet, will be made up of four of the following milers : Speiden, Irish, Souden, Potter, Hoffmire, and Brown. The first five named can all do a mile in 4:30, and should give the Englishmen a stiff race. The one mile team will be chosen from Caldwell, Cornwell, Irish, Lewis, Mehaffey, Newman, Osler, Starr, and VanWinkle.

Dual meets with Harvard, Michigan, and Pennsylvania will give the untried men a chance to show their real worth, as about 45 men will be entered in each of these meets. Five men are allowed in each event except the hurdles and the 440. Harvard and Pennsylvania will be met in Ithaca and Michigan in Ann Arbor.

The recent ruling allowing for fifth place to count in the scoring at the inter-collegiates makes the scoring five, four, three, two, and one, for the first five places. This innovation, Moakley thinks, will work to Cornell's advantage eventually if not this year, for it will induce more men to come out for track. With the greater facilities for track athletics soon to be available, the cage, the Schoellkopf Memorial Training House, and the completion of Alumni Field, Cornell should have a track squad at least equal to those of Harvard and Pennsylvania.

Already several alumni have signified their intention to return to Ithaca and help in coaching the men for the important season now at hand. Gordon Dukes '10 will assist in the instruction of the pole vaulters. Tell Berna '12 will coach the distance men. Sam Nixon '11 and E. G. MacArthur '11 will also help out. Captain Shelton is expecting to hear from several other track men of past fame whom he has invited to assist in the coaching. Coach Moakley will be very glad to have any other alumni return who can find the time.

Baseball

Games with Virginia and Georgetown

The varsity nine, which went south without having had any outdoor practice, played its first game with the University of Virginia on April 2. Virginia won by a score of 7 to 1. Cornell was held to five hits and made five errors, the latter accounting for three of the opposing team's scores. Cornell's battery was Russell and Schirick; Virginia's was Neff and Green.

The second game with Virginia, on the next day, went to ten innings and resulted in a Cornell victory by a score of 5 to 3. Cornell had eight hits and three errors. Virginia had six hits and four errors. Traub pitched for Cornell and Schirick caught. The Virginia battery was Flannagan and Green. "Shorty" Taber won the game with a three-bagger in the tenth inning.

Another ten-inning game was played with Georgetown at Washington on Saturday. Georgetown won, 3 to 2. The winning run was scored on a wild pitch by Regan. Although Regan lost the game he fielded well. He handled nine chances with only one error, proving himself particularly clever at catching men napping off the bases. He held Georgetown to five hits and struck out eight men. Cornell got four hits off Fienle and one off Tyson. Cornell had six errors and Georgetown two. The Cornell batting order was: Schirick, c.; Donovan, 2b.; Bills, ss.; Grossman, rf.; Taber, lf.; Sutterby, 1b.; Baugher, cf.; Adair, 3b.; S. Regan, p.

In the second game with Georgetown, on Monday of this week, the Cornell team made up for its defeat of Saturday by winning a hard-fought contest by a score of 5 to 4. Each team made nine hits. Only one error was charged against Cornell, as compared with four for Georgetown. The batteries were: Georgetown, Tyson and Lynch; Cornell, Acheson, Regan, and Schirick.

Ninth Music Festival

To Be Held in the New Auditorium on April 30 and May 1 and 2

The program has been completed for the ninth annual Music Festival to be held under the auspices of the University's department of music. The festival will take place in the new auditorium of the College of Agriculture on April 30 and May 1 and 2. The Chicago Symphony Orchestra of sixty men, Frederick Stock, conductor, has been engaged. Professor Hollis Dann is training a chorus of 220 voices. Mr. James T. Quarles, the University organist, will play the new auditorium organ. The soloists will be Mrs. Grace Bonner Williams, soprano; Mrs. Florence Mulford, mezzo-soprano; Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, contralto; Mr. Lambert Murphy, tenor; Mr. Gwilym Miles, baritone; Mr. Willard Flint, bass, and Mr. Harry Weisbach, violinist.

The auditorium has proved itself to be an almost ideal concert room. Because of its large seating capacity (2,200) the University may now hear the very best music. Although this festival will cost double the amount of any previous festival, the best season tickets are placed at $4.50 instead of $6 as heretofore.

The season ticket sale will open at 7:30 a. m. on Tuesday, April 14, at the Co-op and the Corner Bookstore. A season ticket consists of a separate, transferable reserved seat for each concert. A season ticket restricted to certain designated sections of the auditorium may be bought for $3. Tickets for single concerts will be placed on sale April 20. Prices are 75 cents, $1, and $1.50, except for the Schumann-Heink concert, when they are $1, $1.50, and $2. All seats are reserved; no standing room will be sold. The official souvenir program book will be placed on sale April 14. Price, 25 cents; by mail, 30 cents.

Out-of-town orders for season tickets, single concert tickets and the official souvenir program book should be addressed to the Corner Bookstore. Best season tickets available on April 18 after the opening sales, and the best single concert tickets remaining after the opening sales on April 20, will be selected and forwarded in the order in which the mail orders are received. Remittance must accompany each order. Practically all seats in the auditorium are desirable.

ALUMNI NOTES

'91, A.B.—Captain E. L. Phillips, 13th Cavalry, U. S. A., is now stationed at Columbus, New Mexico.

'93, Ph.B.—Emory M. Wilson is principal of the Central High School of Washington, D. C. Recently work was begun on the construction of a new building for the school, to cost $1,500,000, at Thirteenth and Clifton Streets, N. W. Ceremonies were held to mark the breaking of ground on the new site. Principal Wilson turned the first spadeful of earth in the presence of the entire school body, the teachers, alumni, and officers of the board of education.

'97, B.Arch.—A son, Lawrence Ellsworth, was born on March 27 to Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Whitlock, of 607 Chenango Street, Binghamton, N. Y.

'99, LL.B.—Walter L. Pate has become a member of the firm of Noble & Camp, counselors at law, 2 Wall Street, New York. The other members of the firm are Charles Martin Camp and Francis L. Noble.

'99, B.S.—J. E. Ward is vice-president and sales manager of the Centaur Motor Company, 2246 Michigan Avenue, Chicago, distributors of Jeffery automobiles and trucks.

'00, A.B.—Charles B. Smallwood is county treasurer of Wyoming County, N. Y. His home is at Warsaw. He was married on August 19, 1913, to Miss Esther Sheridan (A.B., Rochester University, '09).

'01, C.E.—Ezra B. Whitman, Water Engineer and president of the Water Board of the City of Baltimore, has tendered his resignation, to take effect about the middle of April. Whitman resigns in order to associate himself with John E. Greiner, a well known consulting engineer, under the firm name of Greiner & Whitman, with offices in the Fidelity Building, Baltimore. Mayor Preston issued a statement in which he said: "Mr. Whitman tells me that he would be willing to remain with the city for the rest of the term if I so insisted. The proposed employment of Mr. Whitman in his new field is so remunerative, however, that I do not feel disposed to stand in the way of his future advancement. Mr. Whitman has acted very well in offering to remain, but in justice to him I feel that I should not stand in his light or interfere with his future. I think highly of him, and feel that he has done good work for the city." Whitman was appointed to his present office in the fall of 1911, and was engaged in municipal work in Baltimore for several years before that. As one of the division engineers of the sewerage system, he drew the specifications and designed a large sewage disposal plant, and the plant, which is the main part of the sewerage system, was built under his personal superintendence. He also designed and prepared the specifications for sanitary sewers in Walbrook, the first section of the town to be sewered; a testing station at Walbrook, and a laboratory building there. His big task as Water Engineer has been the building of a great dam at Loch Raven, where the city is to have an impounding reservoir, and a filtration plant at Lake Montebello. The dam is completed and the filtration plant will be completed in the spring of 1915. The Mayor expressed the hope that he might be able to devise some plan by which Mr. Whitman's services as consulting engineer in charge of the construction might be retained until the filtration plant was completed. The Baltimore Sun said of Whitman: "He is one of those public servants who have done things that will last and which will contribute indefinitely to the general health and comfort. And he has done them quietly and without blowing his own trumpet." The Star said: "His work in Baltimore, beginning as a division engineer of the sewerage system and later as chief engineer and head of the city water department, has been notable both for the correctness of judgment in planning and for the efficiency displayed in carrying plans to execution." The News said: "He has been a most competent engineer, in small things and big." The City Council adopted resolutions of regret at Whitman's resignation, saying that the city would lose "the services of a faithful, conscientious and efficient public servant." The city has since made arrangements to retain Whitman as consulting engineer on the construction of the filtration plant. He has also been retained by the city of Cleveland as consulting engineer in filtration work.

'01, M.E.—Arthur H. Sherwood was married to Miss Grace Douglas Buchanan on March 24 at Hudson Falls, N. Y. They will make their home at 96 Franklin Court, Garden City, N. Y.

'06, M.E.—On April 1st Edward T. Foote was transferred from Milwaukee to the New York office of the Cutler-Hammer Mfg. Co., 50 Church Street, New York City.

'07, A.B.—Mrs. F. G. Platt announces the engagement of her daughter, Helen Rockwell, to William S. Rowland. Rowland's address is New Britain Club, New Britain, Conn.

'07, LL.B.—William Winthrop Taylor, of 63 Wall Street, New York, as attorney for the Brooklyn Bank, has just obtained a verdict of $105,250 for that bank in its suit against the Borough Bank. The case was tried before Supreme Court Justice Kelly. The state banking department, which is liquidating the assets of the Borough Bank, defended the suit. Justice Kelly took the case out of the jury's hands and directed the verdict for the plaintiff. It was claimed that the Borough Bank got $100,000 from the Brooklyn Bank four years ago. In return the plaintiff was to get one hundred $1,000 bonds at 5 per cent on condition that the Borough Bank would purchase from the Brooklyn Bank bonds of the Island Cities Real Estate Company at par. The plaintiff asserted that the banking department refused to take the Island Cities bonds.
