A PETITION asking for the extension of the Thanksgiving recess to three days was denied by the University Faculty at a special meeting last week. The petition came from students and was said to bear sixteen hundred signatures. It had been submitted to the Trustees and by them referred to the Faculty with power. It was in effect a protest against the Faculty's withdrawal of the Friday holiday after Thanksgiving; it asked for the Friday and Saturday both, and proposed that two compensating days be subtracted from the Christmas vacation. The Faculty held that the petitioners had not advanced sufficient reason for such a change in the calendar.

THE REASONS for the proposed change, as set forth by the Sun, were "that the one-day rule will cause the existence of a state of chronic irritation and discontent between the Faculty and the student body, that no substantial academic gain will be made, that it will work a hardship on the many hundred undergraduates and their families who will be prevented from spending Thanksgiving together—one of the two distinctly family holidays of the year—and lastly, that all other representative institutions, similarly situated, make such provision for the benefit of their students." On the day after the Faculty acted the Sun did what it could to prevent any irritation from becoming chronic by counseling the students to obey the Faculty and be in Ithaca for their Friday morning classes, while looking forward hopefully to another year in which the rule might be changed.

THE MEASURES TAKEN by the Faculty recently for enforcing the attendance rule therefore remain in effect. Instructors are to record the attendance at the last class period before the recess and the first class period after it and within twenty-four hours report the names of all absentees to the college dean or secretary. The penalty for absence from such classes is to be determined and inflicted by the faculty of each college for its own students. This uncertainty on the part of the University Faculty about the fit punishment is not overlooked by the Sun, which says "it is manifestly unfair to impose varying penalties for identical violations of a University rule merely because men are registered in different colleges" and "respectfully suggests that if the various Faculties decide to take action before the Thanksgiving recess in regard to absenteeism that it be taken only after a general committee, composed preferably of the several Deans, shall have agreed upon a uniform rule." The University Faculty, it is understood, is not prepared to fix a uniform penalty until it knows to what extent the University's work is hurt by absences.

APPOINTMENTS for the day after Thanksgiving with oculists or dentists in Philadelphia or New York may be kept only under certain conditions, according to the following notice to which the Sun gave a first-page, top-of-column display: "Students absent from classes before and after holidays will not be granted leave of absence because of dental work, eye examination, treatment of nose and similar conditions, without securing in advance of the holidays permission for such absence from the deans of their colleges upon recommendation of the medical adviser. The medical adviser will issue excuses only when absolutely necessary."

THE RAILROADS are preparing to transport large numbers of persons from Ithaca to Philadelphia and back, despite the shortening of the recess. The Lackawanna has added a train called "The Big Red Special" to its schedule. The train will leave Ithaca at 11 o'clock Wednesday night and reach Philadelphia at 7:35 a. m. Thursday. It will return Thursday night. The Lehigh will have two new specials, called respectively "The Bear" and "The Barrett", leaving Ithaca soon after noon Wednesday, and the "Royal Cornell Limited" will thunder out of Ithaca on Wednesday night.

THE MEMBERSHIP of the Student Council was completed last week by the election of L. E. Bretz '19, of Dobbs Ferry. He is the freshman football captain. The Council is now composed of seven seniors, five juniors, two sophomores, and one freshman, besides an eighth senior, the treasurer and ex officio life secretary of his class, who was elected by a general ballot of the senior class. Charles Barrett, of Pittsburgh, captain of the football team, is the president of the Council and ex officio president of the senior class. Weyland Pfeiffer, of Scarsdale, is the treasurer.

THE CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION determined its budget for the ensuing year to be $5,000, and began a campaign to raise that amount by popular subscription. Twenty-one teams composed of eight men each canvassed the Hill last Sunday and Monday evenings. The territory had been divided into twenty-one districts. The first canvass was successful in raising subscriptions to the amount of $3,534.25. One more night, Monday, brought the total up to $5,100. Last year only $3,900 was raised in the entire canvass. About 160 men were out soliciting on the two nights. These men pledged $920 themselves before starting out.

THE VACANCY in the University Board of Trustees caused by the death of Henry B. Lord has been filled by the election of Charles M. Schwab, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation.

THE ENROLLMENT of students in the winter courses of the College of Agriculture is smaller than it was last year. In the first week 400 students had registered. Last year the total enrollment was 549. One explanation of the diminished attendance is crop shortage in this State last season.

THE FIRST CONCERT of the year given by the Musical Clubs took place at the Lyceum last Friday night. The program was new, except of course for the traditional songs which the Glee Club always sings. A. F. Griesedieck, of Kirkwood, Mo., sang the solo in "Alma Mater" and "Cornell." The quartet is composed of W. J. Snively, Chicago; L. F. Hicks, New York; J. A. Fay, Washington, D. C., and J. A. Knight, jr., Williamsport, Pa. S. Hibbard Ayer '14 sang his new song, "Cornell Victorious."

THE COSMOPOLITAN CLUB kept its annual Faculty Night last Saturday.

Student Social and Athletic Organizations

Report of the Committee on Student Affairs—A New System in Student Discipline Proposed—Suggestions for the Shaping of Athletic Policy

IN its report to the University Faculty for the year 1914-15, the Committee on Student Affairs dealt with three general subjects which are within its jurisdiction, namely, student organizations in general, student conduct, and athletics.

Student Self-Government

Within the last week the Committee has taken steps to carry out a suggestion, made in the first part of its report, looking to a more direct control by the students themselves in the matter of student discipline. It has asked the Student Council, the new undergraduate governing body, to appoint the Conference Committee. The members of the Conference Committee have been selected heretofore by the Committee on Student Affairs itself. The Conference Committee is composed of seven seniors and five juniors. It deals with all student disciplinary matters other than fraud in examinations. Charges of student misconduct come first before the Conference, and many cases are tried and judgments are rendered by the Conference before the Committee on Student Affairs has even been acquainted with the charges. The judgments of the Conference are of course subject to ratification by the Committee. What the Committee has proposed is that the Conference be made the official disciplinary body of the Student Council. The report says:

General Student Organizations

"In the report presented last year attention was called to the influence of student organizations, other than those devoted to athletics, on the general scholarship of the University. The Committee would again call the attention of the Faculty to this phase of University life. There is no doubt whatsoever that a large number of academic failures can be traced directly to over-participation in student activities. The Committee has formulated a uniform definition of the meaning of probation as applied to these activities and the Faculty has ratified the same; but it would seem that these regulations might be extended to advantage especially in the case of Freshmen, who are most likely to suffer because of over-indulgence in competitions. The Committee feels that consideration of this matter by the several faculties might result in the extension of regulative principles covering these many activities that would be very salutary for all concerned.

Social Activities

"The Committee has also given attention to the social activities of the students. This is one of the most important and at the same time one of the most difficult of all University problems. Progressive reforms in this field are most difficult to accomplish by legislation and edict. True, the Committee can punish flagrant breaches of social conduct, but this will not reach the cause of the trouble, which can be reached only by every man in the University community doing all he can to influence student sentiment against social excesses and toward a more balanced view of the aims and objects of University life. At the suggestion of the President, the Committee is endeavoring to obtain a more rational program for the Junior Week and similar festivities, but, as has been noted, this problem requires the active assistance of students, faculty and alumni.

The Student Conference

"It is believed by the Committee that the means of communication between the Faculty and the students can be greatly improved. At present the student body has no central organization, each class having its own independent officers and committees, the only controlling influence being the so-called General Committee of upperclassmen supplemented by the upper class societies which have always been of great aid in student affairs. The General Committee is appointed by the president of the senior class. Many of the members of the present senior class have recognized the need of better methods and a movement is now under way to effect a more logical and more effective organization.

"The Committee believes that if such an organization can be made that it can be used in a very effective way for molding student sentiment especially with regard to general student conduct. There is no doubt but that such a body can work in close harmony with the Committee on Student Affairs through the medium of the Student Conference. If this Conference can be made the official disciplinary organization of the new student organization it would seem that both the new organization and the Student Conference would be strengthened. The Committee on Student Affairs must, of course, retain the same relation to the Conference as exists at present."

Student Conduct

The Committee says it believes that the conduct of Cornell students is perhaps better than is to be found in most large universities, and that the standards of student behavior here are steadily rising. It continues:

"The past year, so far [the report was prepared before the end of the college year], has been singularly free from misconduct on the part of the student body. The Student Conference has had very few cases reported to it for consideration and none of these has been of a serious character. The Proctor and the Chairman on Student Affairs have adjusted a number of minor cases but this promises to be a record year so far as student misconduct is concerned.

"The Proctor has continued his good work and it can safely be claimed that his presence has aided materially in reducing some of the undesirable features of student life. The Student Conference Committee has had comparatively little to do but such cases as have come before it have been handled with skill and dispatch."

Athletics

Under the head of Athletics, the Committee reported that it had sent to the Athletic Council, last year, a list of several points on which criticism of athletic customs had been heard in faculty discussions, thinking that a record of these criticisms might be useful in the shaping of athletic policies, and had made certain recommendations to the Athletic Council designed to meet the objections. Since this list of recommendations was published with the President's Report, some newspaper correspondents in Ithaca have sent out stories which misrepresented the Committee's purpose, exaggerated its suggestions, and falsely reported that "a storm of indignation" had been "aroused among the students." This is what the Committee reported:

"Last year the Committee made a careful record of the important criticisms that developed during the several discussions of the Faculty regarding this important subject [of athletics]. In order to make a record of the trend of Faculty opinion on the matter and also to formulate these criticisms so that they may be useful as a guide in shaping future athletic policies, the following recommendations were compiled and a copy sent to the Athletic Council :

“The Committee would recommend :

“First, the most rigid enforcement of our eligibility rules, particularly those pertaining to Summer baseball.

“Second, the abolition of all minor sports contests that have any appearance of hippodroming, and the abolition of such minor sports as are clearly not suited to our conditions, or which are kept alive by an unusual amount of effort. This refers especially to those sports where we are compelled to play teams of a questionable make-up, simply because contests cannot be obtained with teams that are in accordance with our approved standards.

“Third, the reduction to a minimum of the time required for out of town contests, especially where extra days are taken to give the team diversion, as is illustrated by the annual journey to Atlantic City, which is, and always will be, the cause of much unfavorable comment.

“Fourth, the reduction of the expenses of carrying on athletics. The Committee is well aware that this is a difficult problem, but nevertheless, it is also one of the features of our athletic system which is most strongly criticised.

“Fifth, a careful investigation into the effect of athletics upon the health of students. This refers particularly to long crew races, cross-country running and all sports where a strenuous and protracted effort is required of the student.

“Sixth, the abolition of games with educational institutions whose eligibility rules and the methods for enforcing them are not up to our standard.

“Seventh, holding, so far as possible, all athletic contests on the grounds of educational institutions.

“Eighth, the discontinuance of scheduling athletic events before one o'clock where these events are held on any portion of the Campus. For some time past cross-country and similar events have been run on the Campus, starting before one o'clock and finishing about one o'clock some place on the Campus. It is impossible to so hold these events without interfering with academic work and without annoying members of the Faculty, and hence causing criticism and ill-feeling, and the Committee feel that no events should be started on the Campus before 1:15, at least, which would give time for students to get from classes to the starting point.

“Ninth, the regulation of athletic events held at home so that no adverse criticism can be made such as has been made with reference to the alumni affairs at Percy Field. In this connection also we would ask the Athletic Council to do everything in their power to minimize the evils such as drinking and carousing that sometimes follow athletic events.

Attitude of the Athletic Council

“In justice to the Athletic Council it should be added that it is in accord with the spirit of these recommendations and this is very well shown by the independent action of the manager of Freshman Football, who recommended to the Major Sports Council that, so far as this sport is concerned,

“(1) the number of games played be restricted to five;

“(2) at least four of these games be played with good preparatory schools, the fifth, if desired, with another freshman team, as for example, the Pennsylvania Freshmen;

“(3) the finances for the department be concentrated on these five games so that the class of game may be improved from year to year.

“Those recommendations were accepted by the Major Sports Council.”

Conclusion

“In conclusion, the Committee would express the opinion that progress is being made along nearly all lines of student conduct. This may not be so evident by comparison with the record of last year or of the year before, but certainly by comparison with conditions as they were ten or even five years ago there is no reason for being discouraged. The Committee realizes, however, that still greater improvement is needed and it will be grateful for any suggestions that will assist it in its work.”

STUDENTS IN CHEMISTRY

There are 200 students enrolled in the four year course leading to the degree of Bachelor of Chemistry. They are classified as follows: 1916, 35; 1917, 46; 1918, 59; 1919, 60. They include one woman student, who is in the class of 1918. The enrollment of students in this course has increased from 108 since it was established in 1910. Last year it was 184.

THE MASQUE COUNCIL has elected Professor Martin Sampson a member of the council to succeed Professor C. F. Hirshfeld, whose place had not been filled since his present leave of absence began.

To Study New York Resources College of Agriculture Plans an Inventory of the State's Natural Wealth

Announcement is made by the New York State College of Agriculture of new work which the college authorities feel will be of great value to the State. It will consist of an inventory or survey of the natural resources of the State, with particular reference to the development of a permanent agriculture.

Dean Galloway has appointed a committee to outline the work to be done and has announced that it will in no sense duplicate that of various other State agencies, but will be in accord with them and make its findings known for their benefit.

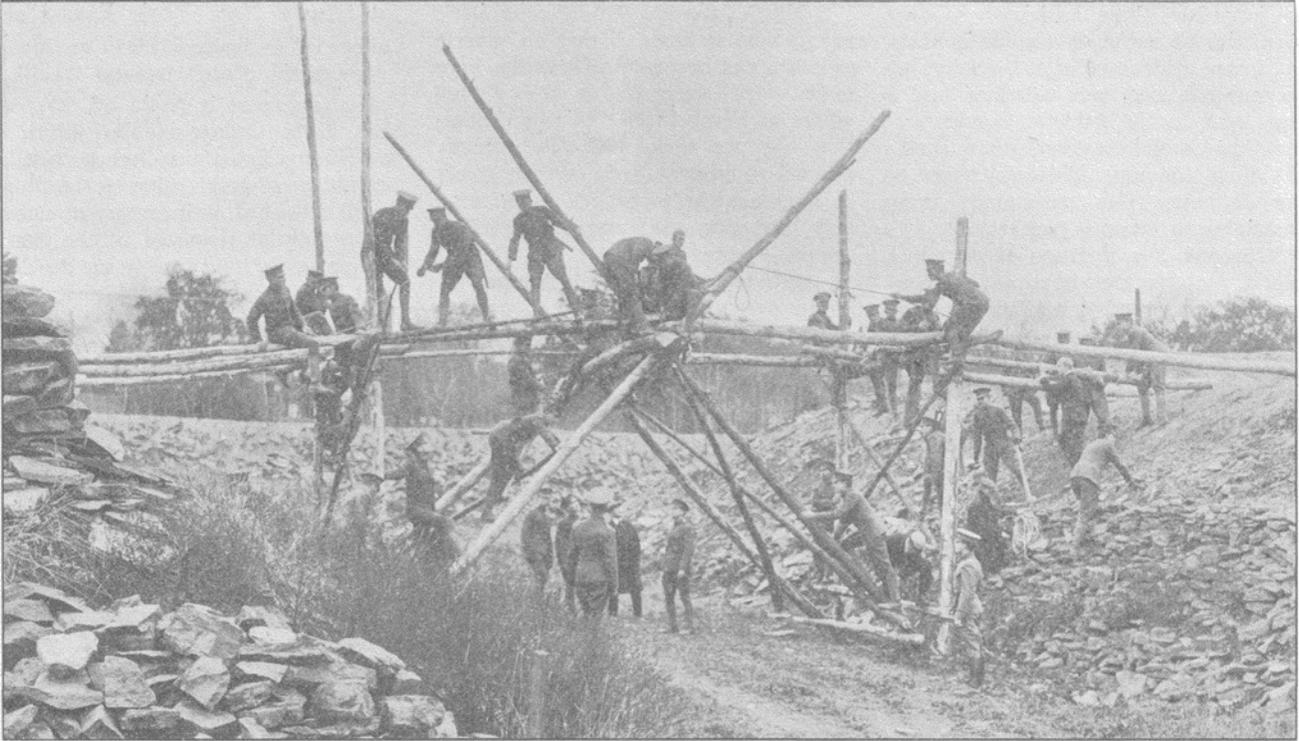

The scope of the organization at Cornell University, with its experiment station, includes agencies for all phases of conservation, such as soils, waters, forests and other plant life, animal and bird life, and fish in farm ponds and streams. All of these derive their chief importance, however, from their relation to the conservation, progress, and development of human life. Through the college's organization for the study of community organization and betterment, this most important feature of the conservation program can be reached, particularly in co-operation with the various State agencies, such as farm bureaus, now working with the State College of Agriculture.

The study to be undertaken looks toward the unification and co-operation of all the available forces and agencies within the State to secure joint action in developing and preserving the State's resources.

Dr. Galloway feels that a large proportion of the people of the State look upon the subject of conservation as referring only to forests and game. A part of the proposed plan therefore will have for its object the gathering and giving out of knowledge on the conservation and usefulness of all of the natural wealth of the State, together with recommendations for the prolongation of their benefits through wise use.

A number of surveys have already been made. Some of the results have been published, and others are in process of publication at this time. As soon as possible, a compilation of all existing data on the State's resources will be presented as a basis for future studies.

THE ENGINEER COMPANY OF THE CADET CORPS BUILDING A BRIDGE ON THE CAMPUS

The place is on the dormitory site below West Avenue. The earth and stone which were used in building these mounds were obtained in excavating for existing residence halls. The terraces are future courtyards and the hollow between them is where a building will stand.

Cornell's Cadet Engineer Corps An Outline of the Work Planned for This New Military Branch

Perhaps the most striking revelation to the graduate of several years, on his return to Ithaca, is the spectacle of twelve hundred well groomed and energetic embryo soldiers in the place of a handful of disgruntled tin cadets of bygone fame. The opening of the present school year found the Cadet Corps not only keeping pace with the times but getting ahead of them. Not only is the Signal Corps on a better footing than ever and the Hospital Corps again active (in drills), but another volunteer company—a twin brother to Company I—a machine gun platoon and an Engineer Corps have been established.

This newest feature, the Engineer Corps, was at first open only to members of the three upper classes, from which about thirty men were recruited. Then a limited number of freshmen were admitted, preference being given to those registered in one of the engineering colleges. The total enlisted strength now is about seventy men, including an instructor in the College of Civil Engineering, a student pursuing a postgraduate course in engineering and several seniors and juniors. It was thought advisable to keep the company at its present size of seven squads, owing to the difficulties in the way of instruction in such a subject. In the future, however, owing to the fact that drill will be required in the second year, the company will probably be made a sophomore company of eight to ten squads.

During the fall, instruction is being given in the construction of military bridges, first by means of models and then the real thing, as the picture indicates. This bridge was put up merely for purposes of instruction, the site, south of the new dormitories, being selected chiefly because of its proximity to the Armory.

During the winter months, part of the time will be devoted to military map reading and sketching, part to planning field works and obstacles by means of a sand table and a model intrenching outfit, and the remainder to lectures with a few company drills. The subject of field fortifications which has proved so important in the trench warfare in Europe will be given especial consideration.

Then next spring, as soon as the ground is thawed out, actual trenches of various types will be constructed and these occupied by the infantry companies in their field problems. Other military engineering subjects, as road construction, railroads, steel bridges, demolitions, etc., will be covered by inspection trips and by lectures by members of the instructing staff of the College of Civil Engineering.

The officers for this year are Capt. W. L. Saunders, 1st Lieut. C. B. Benson and 1st Lieut. W. W. Lehrbach, all members of the junior class in the C. E. College. These officers have derived their knowledge of the subject both by their experience at the Plattsburg Camp last summer and by individual study. Under the régime of the new Commandant, Lieut. C. F. Thompson, it is expected that the progress which has characterized the work of the Cadet Corps during the past three years will be continued and what was in previous years loathsome drudgery will become an undergraduate activity second to none in popularity.

W. L. SAUNDERS '17,
Commanding D Company,
Cadet Corps, Cornell University.

Lectures on Citizenship

Outline of the Course to Be Given in the Second Term

The Course in Citizenship will be given again during the second term of this year. The course will consist, as for the past two years, of lectures every Monday by a non-resident lecturer and each Wednesday by a member of the department of political science. The course is again under the direction of Professor W. F. Willcox. The non-resident lecturers, each of whom is engaged in some sort of civic or social work, have been obtained largely through the efforts of the Cornell Civic and Social Committee, an organization of alumni. Of the fourteen speakers this year, five will be Cornell alumni. The schedule is complete except for the lecture on March 6. A speaker has not yet been engaged for that date. The subjects, dates, and speakers are as follows:

February 21, "The citizen and community organization;" Dr. John L. Elliott '92, Head Worker, Hudson Guild, New York City.

February 28, "The citizen and the recreation needs of the community;" Rowland Haynes, New York.

March 6, "The citizen and the schools."

March 13, "The citizen and poverty;" Eugene T. Lies '00, general superintendent of the United Charities, Chicago.

March 20, "The citizen and industry;" John A. Fitch, member of the editorial staff of The Survey, New York.

March 27, "The citizen and public health;" Professor S. M. Gunn, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston, secretary of the American Public Health Association.

April 3, "The citizen and crime;" Dr. Katherine B. Davis, Commissioner of Corrections, New York City.

April 17, "The citizen and the homes of the community;" Elmer S. Forbes, Boston.

April 24, "The citizen and immigration;" Miss Frances A. Kellor '97, New York, vice-chairman of the Committee for Immigrants in America.

May 1, "The citizen and the public development of his community;" Robert S. Binkerd, New York, secretary of the American Social Science Association.

May 8, "The citizen and public service;" Professor Charles A. Beard, Columbia University.

May 15, "The Church and citizenship;" Rev. F. M. Crouch '01, New York, field secretary of the Episcopal Social Service Commission.

May 22, "The citizen and the press;" Edward A. Moree ['05], New York, assistant secretary of the State Charities Aid Association.

May 29, "The newer ideals of citizenship;" President Schurman.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Norma Wood Simonds ['75]

The following announcement of the death of Mrs. Norma Wood Simonds, wife of Dr. Frederic W. Simonds '75, Professor of Geology in the University of Texas, is taken from the Austin Statesman and Tribune of November 5, 1915:

"At noon today the sad message was received on the campus from the home of Dr. Frederic W. Simonds announcing the death of his wife, Mrs. Norma Wood Simonds. She was regarded as one of the most cultured women, not only in University circles, but also in the City of Austin. She was a niece of the late Mrs. Ezra Cornell and a cousin of the late Governor Cornell of New York State. She was born in Syracuse, New York, sixty-one years ago and was one of the pioneer women students of Cornell University. In 1877 she was married to Dr. Simonds, and went with him to Chapel Hill, N. C., where he had recently accepted a professorship in the University of that State.

"For over twenty-five years Mrs. Simonds has been a resident of Austin, winning for herself a warm and affectionate place in the hearts of the many with whom she was brought into contact. She is survived by her husband and daughter, Anna Wood, son Warren and two grandsons, children of her elder son, Fred H. Simonds, deceased. Mrs. Simonds was a woman of lovable traits of character, a true Christian in the fullest sense of the word. She will be sadly missed from all the circles in which she moved with such rare charm and grace of manner.

"Funeral services, as now arranged, will occur Sunday at All Saints' Chapel."

James F. De Voy [1888-89]

James Francis De Voy, who was a special student in Sibley College in 1888-89, died at his home in Milwaukee on November 5 after an illness of eight months. He was assistant superintendent of motive power of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway, and was a member of the Master Mechanics' and Master Car Builders' associations. He was an active and helpful member of the Cornell Alumni Association of Milwaukee. Mr. De Voy was born in Ithaca in 1866. He leaves a wife and three daughters and four sisters. One of the sisters is the wife of Edward J. Mone '95, of Albany.

Mrs. J. L. Strahan '12

Bessie Edwards Strahan, A.B. '12, the wife of James Lewis Strahan, B.S.A. '12, instructor in rural engineering in the College of Agriculture, died on September 9 at her home in Ithaca. An infant daughter survives her.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATIONS

MINNESOTA

A reorganization of the Cornell alumni in Minnesota has been effected. The old Northwestern Cornell Club was succeeded some time ago by the Upper Mississippi Valley Cornell Alumni Association and now that has given place to the Minnesota Cornell Alumni Association.

A difficulty encountered in the reorganization is the fact that the greater part of the membership is divided among three cities, namely, Duluth, Minneapolis, and Saint Paul. In order to obtain the best efficiency the Minnesota Cornell Alumni Association has been divided into three active sub-divisions, known as the Duluth, Minneapolis, and Saint Paul Cornell Clubs. Reports from these clubs are to be turned in to the officers of the association and by them transmitted to and used in conjunction with the Associate Alumni and other alumni associations. The membership is not confined to Minnesota but takes in the upper part of Wisconsin and also North and South Dakota—about 125 men in all.

The acting secretary of the new association is C. R. Vincent, 1405 Pioneer Building, Saint Paul.

DELAWARE

About thirty Cornell men met at the Hotel Du Pont in Wilmington on November 11 for a beefsteak supper and the annual meeting of the alumni of Delaware. Officers were elected as follows: President, George R. Thompson '75; vice-president, Joseph S. Wilson '09; secretary, Alfred D. Warner, jr., '00; treasurer, Charles W. Smith '89; chairman of entertainment committee, Alexander Laird '12; chairman of membership committee, Craig Adair '02; chairman of missionary committee, Floyd P. Johnson '00. William M. Irish, president of the Associate Alumni, was the guest of the members and spoke about the work undertaken by the Associate Alumni.

WHEN the Committee on Student Affairs sent some recommendations to the Athletic Association last year it was not proposing any change of athletic policy or any radical departure from existing athletic customs. Probably nobody was more surprised than members of the Athletic Council were when, a few days ago, those suggestions, which the Council had received as a matter of course, were printed in several newspapers of large circulation as a "program which, if adopted, would put Cornell back in the minor college class." We are assured that that hideous fear is not felt by members of the Council, a majority of whom are undergraduates.

ADMIRERS OF OUR TEAMS may reassure themselves that the Faculty is not conspiring to push Cornell from its pinnacle if they will merely read the text of the Committee's letter to the Council, printed on another page. They may get further reassurance by reviewing the relation of the Committee on Student Affairs to athletics. At Cornell intercollegiate athletic sport is under the control of the University Faculty. The Faculty has delegated its powers in this respect to the Committee on Student Affairs. The Athletic Association recognizes the authority of the Committee to pass on its schedules and to determine leaves of absence for men playing on athletic teams. Anybody familiar with Cornell customs must know as a matter of fact that all athletic schedules are submitted for ratification to the Committee on Student Affairs. That committee and the members of the Athletic Council meet frequently in conference to discuss questions of policy. There never has arisen and there does not now exist any lack of harmony between the two bodies.

STUDENT LEAVES OF ABSENCE

The Committee on Student Affairs reports that it "has rigorously enforced the rules of the Faculty regarding leaves of absence from the University because of athletic and other student activities."

The following table gives the statistics concerning the leaves of absence issued for the year 1914-15:

Activity	No. of men	Total leaves	Total days	Average per man
Association Football.	15	15	7½	.5
Varsity Baseball.	24	88	133½	5.6
Freshman Baseball.	21	30	23	1.1
Basketball.	16	40	55	3.4
Debate.	9	12	13½	1.5
Fencing.	8	18	11	1.4
Varsity Football.	35	80	150½	4.3
Freshman Football.	21	37	34½	1.1
Fraternities.	76	76	148½	1.9
Golf.	7	7	10½	1.5
Hockey.	18	37	10	.6
Lacrosse.	23	56	32	1.4
Musical Clubs.	60	60	30	.5
Rowing.	24	24	36	1.5
Swimming.	11	11	33	3.0
Tennis.	6	15	20½	3.4
Track.	93	259	268½	2.9
Wrestling.	9	20	29	3.2
Miscellaneous.	31	31	41	1.3
	507	916	1087.5

In explanation of the foregoing table the report says: "The average number of days leave of absence per man in each activity is given in the last column of the table. The average number of days leave of absence per man for all men participating in out-of-town games is 2.14, while the average duration of all leaves of absence issued is 1.18 days against 1.23 for the year 1913-14 and 2.2 for the year 1912-13. The statutes of the University Faculty limit the time that any freshman may be absent because of these activities to two days in each term and in the case of other students to seven days in each term."

OPINION AND COMMENT

Inspiring Names to Choose From

[The University Trustees last year asked the Cornellian Council to suggest a name for the residence hall for which they had appropriated a part of the Alumni Fund. The Council responded with a suggestion that a general plan for the naming of the halls be adopted first. It is likely that many future halls will be named for their donors, as in the case of the buildings given by Mr. George F. Baker. But doubtless there will be other halls provided by a general fund, and a general plan may be adopted for naming them. Mr. Berry's letter on that subject was inspired by a communication which was published in the NEWS of November 4.—EDITOR.]

Editor, Cornell Alumni News:

It is the hope of this University to have more—still more—teachers who can give to their students that inspiration which comes from inspiring leadership and example; to have more students who, while living joyous, active lives under its walls and learning the pleasure and the rich rewards that are to be found in intellectual pursuits, will see clearly to grasp and possess those high ideals of thought and conduct which are the rock foundation upon which character is built; to have more graduates to justify the creation and continued existence of Cornell University by the righteousness and usefulness of their lives.

That hope should be kept very much in mind when there is an opportunity to choose names for new dormitories, that to the subtle influence in character building of beautiful and suitable surroundings may be added the constant association of names which perpetuate the memory of inspiring lives.

Because the University is young most of the graduates whose lives have thus far most strikingly justified its existence are happily still with us and the buildings are yet to be made which will help to perpetuate the memory of their usefulness. Then let us give to student residence halls the names of great teachers who taught here and who here lived out lives which richly influenced the students whom they taught and which, when commemorated in stone, will continue to influence and inspire boys who have not yet been born.

What names? There are the names of the little group whose mere presence here in the beginning made a single building on a naked hill a University in the fullest and the truest sense. There are the names of great men who later came to teach—Moses Coit Tyler and Francis Miles Finch and Robert Thurston. There are the names of such men as Tarr and Huffcut and Catterall—men who were here such a little time ago that grief over their loss is still fresh.

We may have many opportunities to choose names uninfluenced by the desirability of acknowledging an obligation. Let us then give to halls where young men are to live during the period of their lives when they are most responsive to the influences of their surroundings the names of men who here nobly inspired past generations of students and whose memory can not fail in some degree to mould the characters and fix the ideals of the generations that will follow.

November 25, Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

Cornell 40, Washington and Lee 21

Washington and Lee University is at Lexington, Virginia. It was founded in 1782. Last year it reported an enrollment of 488 students. The Washington and Lee football team came to Ithaca last week with the boast that it had not been defeated in two seasons and that it expected to defeat Cornell. It did collect twenty-one points in the first half while Cornell was getting seven points. Then the Cornell team stopped the visitors' scoring and ran its own total up to forty.

The visiting team had been well coached and it included several excellent individual players. It started the game with a jump, took advantage of a number of "breaks" in its favor, profited by some bad fumbles on the Cornell side, and had the Cornell team on the defensive for a good part of the first half. Two of the touchdowns gathered by Washington and Lee were made possible by Collins's fumbling of punts. Their third touchdown was made by John Barrett, of Chicago, the Washington and Lee left halfback, who caught the ball on his own goal line from a kickoff and ran down one of the sidelines for a touchdown. Washington and Lee would have scored a fourth touchdown after Collins's third fumble if a forward pass over the goal line had been caught.

Cornell increased its own score to twenty points in the first half, and got the upper hand early in the second half, by turning loose its rushing offense. As soon as they were behind, the visitors made little effort to gain by rushing the ball and resorted to forward passing. Not one of these passes was completed. Physical condition also told in the latter part of the game. Cornell played with increasing power, while some of the opposing players became unsteady.

The Cornell team had been warned to look out for a forward pass if the visitors got within scoring distance, but Washington and Lee's first touchdown was made in that way. Another touchdown was, however, made by an end run of about seven yards. Collins did much to redeem his temporary weakness in defence by carrying the ball for good gains around the flanks. Shiverick, Barrett, and Mueller took turns with him in the offensive work and made consistent gains. Cornell gained 397 yards by rushing and Washington and Lee 129, not including the 100-yard run for a touchdown.

Cornell suffered by penalties imposed for various infractions of rules, including one of forty-two yards for rough play.

In the latter part of the fourth period almost all the Cornell men on the field were substitutes, and one touchdown was made by this second team.

The Game in Detail

After receiving the kickoff Barrett punted to midfield. After advancing twenty yards J. Barrett punted and it was Cornell's ball on her 12-yard line. Barrett's punt rolled to W. and L.'s 26-yard line, and Shelton threw Bagley in his tracks. On third down J. Barrett punted to Collins. He fumbled and Harrison recovered the ball on Cornell's 25-yard line. A penalty of five yards for offside play put the ball on the 20-yard line. Failing to gain through the line, the visitors formed for a drop kick. The play turned out to be a forward pass and it put the ball on Cornell's 5-yard line. Three line plays failed to gain an inch, but on the fourth down Bagley threw a forward pass to J. Barrett and he went over for a touchdown. Bagley kicked goal. Score: W. and L., 7; Cornell, 0.

Cornell evened the score soon afterward. Barrett returned J. Barrett's punt to midfield. Collins, Shiverick, and Barrett made fifteen yards in three plays. Then Barrett broke through right tackle, and ran thirty-five yards for a touchdown. He kicked the goal. Score: W. and L., 7; Cornell, 7.

Barrett kicked off to J. Barrett, who ran from his own goal line to Cornell's. Bagley kicked the goal. Score: W. and L., 14; Cornell, 7.

Barrett's kickoff was run back twenty-five yards by Sweetland to his 30-yard line. W. and L. was penalized fifteen yards for holding and J. Barrett punted out of bounds at midfield. Cornell incurred a similar penalty and Barrett punted over the opponents' goal line. After failing to make first down in three plays J. Barrett punted out of bounds at Cornell's 41-yard line. The first period ended after Cornell had advanced to midfield. Barrett broke through the line for thirty yards, but fumbled when tackled, and Izard recovered the ball, returning it to his 43-yard line. J. Barrett punted to Collins, who fumbled. The ball rolled out of bounds, where it was recovered by Bagley. A five-yard penalty and a run around left end by Sweetland made the touchdown. Bagley kicked the goal. Score: W. and L., 21; Cornell, 7.

Cornell kicked off and the visitors were forced to punt immediately. Here Cornell began a steady advance of sixty-five yards for a touchdown. Ten plays did the trick, Barrett plunging four yards through right tackle for the score. He kicked the goal. Score: W. and L., 21; Cornell, 14.

Collins returned the kickoff twenty-five yards to Cornell's 35-yard line. A march down the field scored the next touchdown in this way: Collins four yards, Shiverick five, Barrett twenty, Shiverick one, Barrett five, Shiverick ten, Collins five, Shiverick three, Barrett two, Barrett five, Collins two, Collins two, Barrett one. The kickoff was fumbled and Barrett lost his chance to try for the goal. Score: W. and L., 21; Cornell, 20. The half ended without further scoring.

After receiving the kickoff the visitors began a swift attack which netted two first downs. Three forward passes were grounded, however, and J. Barrett punted to Charles Barrett. He returned twenty yards to Cornell's 40-yard line. From this point another steady attack began, which resulted in another touchdown, made by Barrett. He kicked the goal and the score stood: Cornell, 27; W. and L., 21.

With Cornell ahead for the first time during the game and outplaying the visitors in every way, Collins fumbled his third punt on Cornell's 31-yard line. Forward passes by Washington and Lee were unsuccessful and Cornell got the ball on downs. Barrett punted to midfield. Here W. and L. began a fierce attack which won them three first downs and put the ball on Cornell's 10-yard line, first down. Two line plunges were repulsed, but a short forward pass gained five yards. Another pass over the goal line was barely missed, and Cornell obtained the ball on her own 20-yard line.

This crisis past, Cornell rushed the visitors off their feet for the rest of the game, scoring two more touchdowns by straight rushing. The next one came on a straight advance of 95 yards after a penalty for holding had put the ball back to Cornell's 5-yard line. The last score was made after Collins had returned one of J. Barrett's punts twenty yards to W. and L.'s 43-yard line. Seven plays took the ball over, Barrett scoring his fifth touchdown. He kicked the goal, and the game was called a minute later. The summary:

Cross-Country Team Wins

Defeats Pennsylvania's Runners Over the New Ithaca Course

The cross-country team scored an easy victory over Pennsylvania last Saturday, by the score of 36 to 78. The crack trio, Windnagle, Hoffmire, and Potter, took the first three places, as they did in the Harvard race. The Cornell team finished in exactly the same order as against Harvard except that Burke moved up to fourth place and crowded Eldred out of the scoring. Burke did not finish among the first seven at Cambridge. The race was run over the new course which begins on Alumni Field, includes a turn around the track in Schoellkopf Field, and finishes in front of Roberts Hall.

Windnagle, Hoffmire, and Potter appeared on the track in the oval, about the half-way mark, running all abreast, far ahead of the first Pennsylvania runners. They finished about a minute ahead of the leading opponent, Colton. He was followed by his teammate McMichael, and then four Cornell men finished in a bunch, completing Cornell's scoring. The last two Pennsylvania runners to score finished behind the entire Cornell squad of thirteen men.

The first seven of each team counted. It was agreed before the race that only ten men of either team should figure in the scoring, so that Brooks and Mitchell, who finished nineteenth and twentieth, counted as sixteenth and seventeenth in the total score, although beaten by the eleventh, twelfth, and thirteenth Cornell runners. The summary:

1. Windnagle, Cornell.....	30.40
2. Hoffmire, Cornell.....	30.43
3. Potter, Cornell.....	30.48
4. Colton, Pennsylvania.....	31.33
5. McMichael, Pennsylvania.....	31.34
6. Burke, Cornell.....	31.43
7. Corwith, Cornell.....	31.56
8. Tinkham, Cornell.....	32.07
9. Beckwith, Cornell.....	32.13
10. Eisele, Pennsylvania.....	32.15
11. Humphries, Pennsylvania.....	32.21
12. Campbell, Cornell.....	32.22
13. Eldred, Cornell.....	32.24
14. Frey, Cornell.....	32.27
15. Lieberman, Pennsylvania.....	32.43
16. Boynton, Cornell.....	33.09
17. Main, Cornell.....	33.14
18. Maynard, Cornell.....	33.20
19. Brooks, Pennsylvania.....	33.30
20. Mitchell, Pennsylvania.....	33.32

Rowing.—Yale and Princeton will row Cornell on Spring Day, May 27, on Cayuga Lake. Negotiations with Harvard, not yet completed, point to a race on the Charles a week before the triangular regatta. The junior varsity crew will row only one race, that at Poughkeepsie. A freshman crew will be entered in all three races.

Freshman Football.—The team defeated Cushing Academy on Schoellkopf Field last Saturday by the score of 20 to 0. The game was played immediately after the varsity game and darkness made it necessary to cut down the third and fourth periods to five minutes each. The freshmen appeared to be well drilled and played good straight football. The Pennsylvania freshmen will be their opponents next Saturday.

The collegiate soccer title has been won by the team of the College of Arts and Sciences, which won six games and tied one. Agriculture, Chemistry, C.E., M.E., Veterinary, Architecture, and Law finished in that order. Very little interest was shown by the colleges in the sport this fall.

Tennis.—F. T. Hunter '16 won the fall tennis championship last week by defeating W. M. Blair '17 in the finals. Hunter is the captain and Blair is a member of the tennis team. The doubles championship was won by Hunter and R. T. Guilbert '17.

A hockey rink for the varsity squad will be constructed on Alumni Field this winter. Ground near the board track, west of Schoellkopf Field, will be flooded inside a low board fence, on what will eventually be the baseball diamond.

ALUMNI NOTES

'77—William F. E. Gurley is associate in paleontology in the Walker Museum, University of Chicago.

'82, A.B.—George H. Wright, M.D., proprietor of the Carroll Springs Sanitarium, Forest Glen, Maryland, has a son now enrolled in Sibley College.

'86, B.S.—H. C. Chatfield-Taylor has been elected president of the Society of Midland Authors, of which organization James Whitcomb Riley is honorary president and Brand Whitlock, William Allen White, George Ade and Hamlin Garland are the vice-presidents. Its membership is composed of authors living in the states lying between the Alleghany and Rocky Mountains.

'91, LL.B.—Leon L. Fancher was on November 2 elected to the Assembly from the first Chautauqua district, New York.

'92, G.—A newspaper dispatch from Berlin on November 13 said that Professor Vernon L. Kellogg, of Stanford University, who is associated with the Belgian Relief Commission, had arrived in the German capital after a trip through Poland, taken at the instance of the German government to study the relief problem. He was about to leave Berlin for Brussels.

'96—Robert P. Tobin is chief engineer of the technical department of the Vacuum Oil Company, 61 Broadway, New York.

'00, A.B.—K. L. Thompson took the degree of Ph. D. at New York University last June. He is principal of Public School No. 11, Jersey City, N. J.

'01, F.E.—A daughter was born on November 4 to Mr. and Mrs. Clifford R. Pettis, who have named her Nathalie Elizabeth. Pettis is superintendent of state forests, with headquarters in Albany.

'03, Sp. Arch.—S. Eugene Osgood is practicing architecture in the Herald Building, Grand Rapids, Mich. Last week he paid his first visit to Cornell in over ten years.

'07, A.B.—H. S. Putnam is superintendent of the American Can Company's factory at Geneva, N. Y.

'07, M.E.—A daughter, Olive McNair Douglass, was born July 13, 1915, to Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Douglass, 457 Morris Street, Albany, N. Y.

'07, C.E.—T. T. Wright, recently with the division of valuation of the Interstate Commerce Commission, is now constructing about thirty-five miles of railroad in Western Pennsylvania.

'07, A.B.; '10, Ph.D.; '13, LL.B.—Frederic A. Peek formed a partnership on October 1st with Warren D. Abbott (University of Nebraska, 1902) for the practice of law. The firm name is Abbott & Peek and its offices are at 203-205 Central National Bank Building, Tulsa, Oklahoma.

'07, G.—George E. Housser is a member of the firm of Williams, Walsh, McKim & Housser, barristers, solicitors, etc., 432 Richards Street, Vancouver, B. C.

'08, A.B.—Edward A. Jesser, who has been teaching at the Riverview Academy, Poughkeepsie, for several years, is now the head of the department of history at the Tome School, Port Deposit, Md.

The Dalton keyboard is the index of Dalton simplicity. Every key in an adding machine must have its full complement of connecting parts down in the machine. There are but ten figure keys on the Dalton, as against eighty or a hundred on other machines, and a corresponding simplicity extends throughout the machine, making the Dalton by far the simplest adding and listing machine ever manufactured.

The mechanical simplicity of the Dalton is surpassed only by its ease and simplicity of operation. To introduce a number into the machine, it is necessary only to strike in their natural order keys corresponding to the figures composing the number. No attention whatever is paid to decimal order, the Dalton taking care of this automatically and always placing the figures in their proper columns—units under units, tens under tens, etc.—without the operator giving it the least concern.

The Dalton machine has just been awarded the gold medal for both simplicity and speed at the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco.

From the small capacity Dalton at $125 up to the fully equipped models of larger capacity costing several times the amount named, each and every machine with a Dalton name plate is covered by the same unconditional guaranty. Let us bring a machine to your office and show you just what it can do on your own work. Write or telephone NOW and say the word.

SOLVE THE CHRISTMAS PROBLEM WITH SOME of OUR PERSONAL GREETING CARDS

For dozens of your friends, they are really better than costly gifts.

These will be used extensively this year and we have prepared ready for delivery with or without your name added, a large quantity to meet this demand. They are designed and made in our own shop; are simple, handsome and inexpensive. The texts used have been carefully chosen and the decorative designs, small and dainty.

The time is short now for special work and we urge the early anticipation of your order.

If we have your card plate this can be used on the cards.
