CORNELL ALUMNI NEWS

VOL. XVIII., No. 11

ITHACA, N. Y., DECEMBER 9, 1915

PRICE 10 CENTS

A MEETING will be held in New York City on December 18 by the Trustee and Faculty committees on the plan and scope of the University's semi-centennial celebration to be held in 1918. The members of the committees will meet at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel at 10:30 o'clock in the morning. The names of the members of the two committees were printed in the NEWS last week.

ANOTHER POSTPONEMENT has been made of the lectures to be given by Professor Artur Weese, of the University of Berne, on the Jacob H. Schiff Foundation at Cornell University. Professor Weese was to have given a course of lectures on the history of German art last winter, but the war prevented his coming. Other courses were substituted by the department of German. This year his place was taken by Dr. Moritz J. Bonn, professor of economics in the University of Munich, who was in this country when the war began. If it is possible for him to do so Professor Weese will come here next year.

A LEAVE OF ABSENCE from the University has been granted to Professor R. C. Carpenter of Sibley College to enable him to take part in a special service to the Government. He has been appointed a member of a committee of twelve scientists who are to go to the Panama Canal for the purpose of considering the possibility of controlling the slides which are now interfering with the use of the canal. The committee was appointed, at the request of the President of the United States, by the acting president of the National Academy of Sciences. It is estimated that the trip will take three or four weeks. Professor Carpenter may leave Ithaca before Christmas. The chairman of the committee is President Van Hise of the University of Wisconsin, and other members are Dr. J. C. Branner '74, of Stanford University, and Dr. J. L. Hayford '89, of Northwestern University.

THE RUSHING by the twenty-five or more "second-term" fraternities will not begin until February 27, and "bids" are not to be extended until March 16. The latter date is four weeks after the beginning of the second term. At a recent meeting of delegates these houses adopted rules which are substantially the same as those which have applied to first-term rushing. They will be just as strict in forbidding communication between fraternity men and freshmen, despite the long wait through the first term. Very few violations of this rule have been reported to the executive committee this term. Those few have been due to misunderstanding or ignorance of the rule and have not been punished. The penalties proposed are two in number—publication of the name of the offending fraternity in the Sun, or expulsion from the association.

ONE CHANGE in the rushing rules from last year is in the length of the first period—February 27 to March 11 inclusive. Twelve "dates" are available instead of ten. Another amendment, which will make a readjustment of engagements possible without direct communication between fraternity and freshman, is a clause providing that "at any time during the first period a fraternity is allowed to mail a regulation card asking a freshman for enough dates to complete the maximum number allowed each fraternity [three], or to mail a form letter cancelling the remainder of the dates which the freshman has already made with the fraternity."

DR. J. G. NEEDHAM, head of the department of entomology, delivered two addresses at the University of Kansas in the third week of November: one before the entomological club of the university on "The ecology of certain aquatic larvae," and the other before the students of the university on "The common ground of poet and naturalist."

CLASS COMMITTEES were appointed last week by the Student Council. Three committees were abolished, the Council deeming them useless in function. The three were the senior and junior general committees and the crew celebration committee. The first two were dropped because the Council itself performs their duties, and the crew celebration, instead of being under the management of a junior class committee, will be delegated to the manager of cheerleaders. The chairmen of the various committees were appointed as follows: Senior ball, G. M. Stevens, Rome; class day, Hamilton Vose, jr., Milwaukee, Wis.; senior banquet, S. E. Hunkin, Cleveland; convocation hour, M. W. Howe, Fitchburg, Mass.; senior pledges, F. H. Scheetz, Morristown, Pa.; junior promenade, H. G. Place, New York; junior smoker, J. C. C. Gardiner, New York; junior spring day, W. C. Kreuzer, Syracuse; sophomore cotillion, A. R. Hickman, St. Louis; sophomore smoker, A. L. Hoffman, Elmira; sophomore spring day, R. P. Mathiesson, Chicago; sophomore pipe, R. E. Ryerson, Middletown; freshman banquet, H. L. Scales, Houston, Texas; freshman tax, G. A. Bronder, jr., Brooklyn; freshman cap burning, E. F. O'Connor, Watertown; freshman spring day, W. H. Clemminshaw, jr., Cleveland.

THE COSMOPOLITAN CLUB held its annual international banquet at the clubhouse last Saturday night. About one hundred persons were present. The speakers were Professor Lane Cooper, Professor W. W. Rowlee, and Professor Moritz Bonn. Professor C. H. Tuck was the toastmaster. The menu, which was selected to suit the taste of each of the "colonies" which make up the club, included the following items: Anchovies (Mexico), olives (Philippines), Baou-Yu soup (China), spaghetti (Italy), roast duck (U. S.), potatoes (England), petit pois (France), apfel strudel (Germany), coffee (Cuba), and cigars (Porto Rico).

THE CARPENTERS have finished their work on the roof of North Baker Hall and have South Baker Hall almost all under cover. The slaters are following up the carpenters. Both buildings will be enclosed before winter. An inch or so of snow last week did not retard the work much. Students have moved into many of the rooms in Baker Tower and their lights now shine from the windows of the tower in the early twilight.

SIXTY-EIGHT STUDENTS of the College of Agriculture entered the first competition for the Eastman Prize in public speaking.

Unique Tribute to a Teacher
Gift Fund of $1,000 to Be Administered by Professor Gilbert D. Harris

A check for one thousand dollars, the gift of an anonymous donor to the University, was received at a meeting of the general administration committee of the Trustees last Saturday. The check came from a former student, who sent with it a letter stipulating how the money is to be used. His instructions make the gift a unique tribute of admiration for Professor Gilbert Dennison Harris, of the department of geology. The donor stipulates that the money is to constitute a fund,

"Which fund shall be available as to principal and interest for any purpose or purposes which in the sole discretion of Professor Gilbert D. Harris shall be of assistance to students of geology.

"Payments shall be made from the fund to Professor Harris as and when he requests and no accounts shall be required beyond simple receipts from Professor Harris saying that the sum or sums he may request from time to time have been received and that they are to be expended for purposes which in his opinion will be of assistance to a student or students of geology, as the case may be.

"I may perhaps explain that it has been my privilege to attend courses at three Universities—the University of ———, Cornell University, and the University of ———, and at none of these have I known of any man who so fully as Professor Harris had the real training and development of his students at heart or who to so extreme a degree of unselfishness lived only for their good and the advancement of Science."

The donor tells of some important geological work in which he has engaged since he left college, and says:

"I have had many men through my hands coming from all the larger institutions in the United States as well as a number from Europe, and I can unhesitatingly say that no one is so able to train real field geologists and investigators, as opposed to mere lecturers on geology, as he, because the real university atmosphere, in contradistinction to that characterizing a college or high school, is more fully realized and more thoroughly pervades Professor Harris's laboratory than any other geological laboratory of which I have any knowledge."

Professor Harris entered Cornell University in 1883, at the age of nineteen, and graduated in 1886 with the degree of Ph.B. From 1887 till 1893 he was on the U. S., Texas, and Arkansas geological surveys. In 1893 he returned to Cornell to become assistant professor of paleontology and stratigraphic geology. He was promoted to the grade of professor in 1909. During ten years of his assistant professorship he was state geologist of Louisiana. He is a brother of Rollin Arthur Harris, Ph.B. '85, of the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey.

1905 Memorial Fund

with a Vote of Appreciation

The memorial fund of the Class of 1905, consisting of $7,500, was received by the Trustees' committee on general administration at a regular meeting last Saturday. This fund was given by the class to the University through the Cornellian Council to be used toward the increasing of professors' salaries.

In accepting the gift, the committee adopted a resolution expressing the Trustees' appreciation of the generosity and public spirit of Erskine Wilder and his associates on the 1905 committee and the Trustees' sense of the value and timeliness of the gift which the class had made to the University.

Cornell Studies in English

Announcement of a Series to Be Published Here

The publication of a series to be called "The Cornell Studies in English" was authorized last spring and an appropriation for the purpose was voted by the Board of Trustees. The committee in charge of the publication has met recently and has now made a statement of the plans. This committee is composed of Professor Joseph Quincy Adams, jr.; Professor C. S. Northup, and Professor Lane Cooper.

It is intended to publish each year several numbers—original contributions to scholarship by the members of the Cornell department of English and by graduate students. The first number will be "A Bibliography of Thomas Gray," by Professor Clark S. Northup. The second number will be "The Influence of Horace on the Chief English Poets of the Nineteenth Century," by Miss Mary Rebecca Thayer, Ph.D. (Cornell) '13, now instructor in English at Vassar. A third number will be provided for later in the year.

The agent for the series will be the Oxford Press.

BISHOP McDOWELL of Chicago will preach in Sage Chapel on December 12.

Talk by H. Morse Stephens
Former Cornell Teacher a Guest of the Cleveland Alumni

Professor H. Morse Stephens was a guest of the Northeastern Ohio Cornell Association at its weekly luncheon in Cleveland on December 2 and gave an entertaining talk. He spoke of his experiences and observations at Cornell, which he had seen against the background of his Oxford memories, and at the University of California, to which he had gone from Cornell.

He characterized Cornell as essentially a western university. "It is the most eastern of western universities. I wish Cornell would stop thinking itself the most western of eastern universities." He said Cornell gave him the education that fitted him for California. He began by saying that there was no such thing as "education" in any American university. They merely "expose their students to education." This was inevitable because of the large numbers of students and the small staffs of instruction. Professor Stephens spoke of the groups of students that used to meet in his rooms in Cascadilla. Two men who had been in one of those groups, T. B. Little and H. H. Kendall, were present. Professor Stephens was Little's guest in Cleveland.

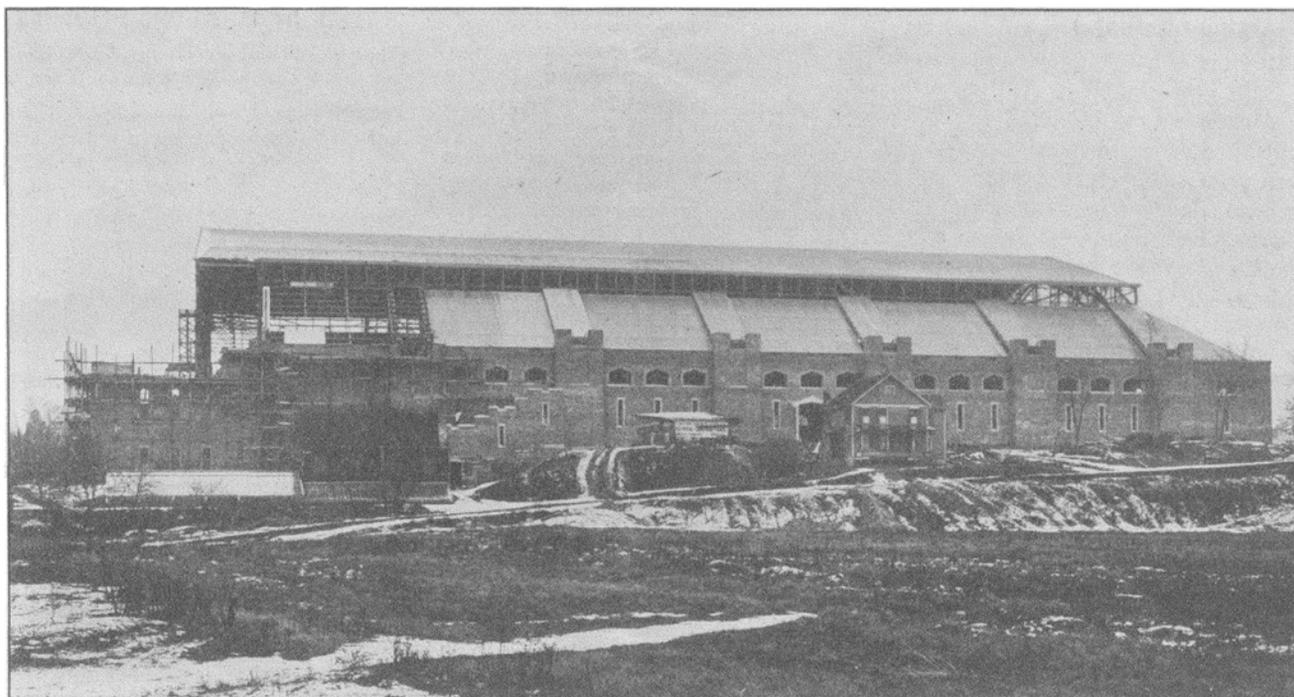

Professor Stephens then turned to a more serious thought. Describing European civilization as dying—"certainly dying as a result of the millions of the best lives being snuffed out"—he said that it now remained for America and America alone to carry on the torch of civilization. Therefore, he said, the burden of responsibility resting on the shoulders of the college and university men of America was tremendous.

Lecturers in Agriculture

A Series of Talks to Be Given by Speakers from Washington

During a recent trip to Washington, Dean Beverly T. Galloway arranged for a number of lecturers of national reputation to deliver a series of talks before the students of the College of Agriculture on the agricultural opportunities in the United States.

These men have been engaged to speak and to take part in the plan of presenting to the students of the agricultural college the opportunities offered in the government and state services and in agricultural colleges and experiment stations in practical agriculture, in intensive agriculture and horticulture, and in the field of marketing and distribution.

A VIEW OF THE NEW DRILL HALL FROM THE SOUTH

The photograph was taken on December 1st. The foreground of the picture is the site of the future baseball stadium on Alumni Field, and the incline in the middle ground is the wide avenue leading up to Schoellkopf Memorial Hall and the entrance of Schoellkopf Field. The two-story frame cottage gives an index of the size of the drill hall. The tower at the left will rise above the peak of the roof. The stone of the walls was quarried on the Campus.

The speakers are: Frederick W. Brown, U. S. civil service commission; Dr. A. C. True, chief of the states relation service, U. S. Department of Agriculture; Carl Vrooman, assistant secretary of agriculture; Professor L. C. Corbett '90, in charge of horticultural and pomological investigations in the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and Charles J. Brand, chief of the office of markets, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The dates of the lectures have not yet been announced, but they will probably start soon after the Christmas vacation.

The Musical Club Tour

A Concert to Be Given at Binghamton on January 5

Approximately sixty men will take the annual Christmas trip of the musical clubs, about thirty-five on the glee club and twenty-five on the mandolin club. The itinerary and concert arrangements have been practically completed. Dances, luncheons, or smokers will be given for the undergraduates in all of the ten cities visited. The men will leave Ithaca for Buffalo on Thursday morning, December 23, and a concert will be given there that night. Most of the men will then leave for their homes to spend Christmas, gathering again at New York on Monday, December 27. A concert at Binghamton, the last stop on the tour, has been added since the itinerary was first announced, making the complete list as follows:

- Thursday, December 23, Buffalo.
- Monday, December 27, New York.
- Tuesday, December 28, Baltimore.
- Wednesday, December 29, Pittsburgh.
- Thursday, December 30, Wheeling.
- Friday, December 31, Cincinnati.
- Saturday, January 1, Detroit.
- Monday, January 3, Cleveland.
- Tuesday, January 4, Albany.
- Wednesday, January 5, Binghamton.

THE FORD PEACE MISSION

One Cornell man sailed with the Ford party on the steamship Oscar II last Saturday. He is Edward F. Graham '14, of New York. He was in the passenger list as a representative of Leslie's Weekly.

The name of Hendrik W. van Loon '05 was on the passenger list, but he did not sail. He had been invited and had declined the invitation. He is in Ithaca this winter as a lecturer in the department of history.

President Schurman received a telegram last week from Louis P. Lochner, secretary to Henry Ford, asking him to select a student to join the representatives of fifteen other prominent universities and accompany Mr. Ford on his peace mission as his guest. The President replied: "I have submitted your telegram, November 28th, to a conference of Deans of Cornell University. We are unanimously of the opinion that no student in Cornell University could be absent for six weeks without endangering his scholastic standing, and thus running the risk of losing a year in his university course."

A COMMON TABLE has been provided for ten of the university basketball players, for one meal a day. The men will get their dinners at 1 Central Avenue at 5:30 o'clock so as to have plenty of time to dine before the beginning of their practice at 7 o'clock.

A COLLECTION of Japanese prints is on exhibition at the College of Architecture this week.

PROFESSOR H. MORSE STEPHENS arrived in Ithaca this week to be the guest of Professor Burr for several days.

Meeting of Alumni Directors "All-Cornell Night" on January 11— Alumni Ready to Help in Semi- Centennial

A meeting of the Board of Directors of the Associate Alumni of Cornell University was held at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia on November 26 and 27. Among those present were William M. Irish '90, of Philadelphia, president; John C. Westervelt '94, of New York, and Miss Alice Bruere '95, of New York, vice-presidents; William J. Dugan '07, of Buffalo, secretary; H. Wallace Peters '14, of Ithaca, Secretary of the University and Alumni Recorder; and the following members of the board of directors: A. D. Warner, jr., '00, Wilmington; J. H. Crawford, jr., '07, Cleveland; Warren G. Ogden '01, Boston; J. H. Edwards '88, New York; W. W. Macon '98, New York; S. L. Adler '89, Rochester; Nicholas H. Noyes '06, Indianapolis; Charles M. Thorp '84, Pittsburgh; and W. H. H. Hutton, jr., '92, Detroit.

One of the matters which was discussed at the meeting was that of alumni participation in the celebration of the University's semi-centennial in 1918. A committee of the directors, consisting of N. H. Noyes, chairman; E. B. Whitman and W. H. H. Hutton, jr., had been appointed at a previous meeting of the board in anticipation of the need of a committee to act in this matter in behalf of the alumni. No further action was taken pending the meeting and organization of the committees which have been appointed from the Board of Trustees and Faculty, when the committee from the Alumni is instructed to tender its cooperation. One point which was noted in the discussion about the proposed commemoration was President Schurman's statement in his annual report that "the augmentation of the Endowment Fund of the University by some millions of dollars is the pressing practical problem which, in connection with the semi-centennial celebration, should be brought to the attention of the alumni and friends of the University."

The committee on relations with preparatory schools, consisting of Mr. Warner, Miss Bruere, and Mr. Crawford, reported that it was planning for cooperation with local alumni associations. Mention was made of the meeting of Cleveland high school students that was held under the auspices of the Northeastern Ohio Cornell Association last year and of similar meetings held in one or two other places. The committee was in favor of extending that form of activity.

A report was received from the committee on local association scholarships—W. W. Macon, chairman; J. H. Edwards and E. B. Whitman. The committee recommended that such scholarships should be made adequate rather than numerous. Its work would be to take up with the larger associations the subject of establishing such scholarships.

The committee on Cornell publicity—W. J. Dugan, W. W. Macon and N. H. Noyes—reported that it was considering methods of bringing alumni activities to the attention of the alumni generally.

The committee on the establishing and developing of local clubs reported that it was to have a meeting in Cleveland early in December. The chairman of this committee is W. C. Geer of Akron. It was stated to be the intention of the committee to make an active start this year in the work of establishing clubs. The work hitherto had consisted in the preparation of necessary data, such as geographical lists, model constitutions, etc.

The Annual Forum of the Alumni will be held in March, in accordance with the by-laws of the Associate Alumni. President Irish is to appoint a committee to make the arrangements. This committee will start with instructions to hold the forum in some city west of Buffalo. It was resolved that the committee take up the matter of inviting Alumni Trustees to attend the forum for the purpose of acquainting the alumni with the work the Board of Trustees is doing.

It was resolved that Founder's Day this year—January 11—be made the occasion of an All-Cornell Night, and it was recommended that as many meetings as possible of local alumni bodies be held throughout the country on that night.

Cornellian Council Succeeding

Alumni Fund Receipts Growing Fast— Gratifying Success of Local Campaigns

The work of the Cornellian Council is making rapid strides. New subscriptions to the Alumni Fund are coming in from all parts of the country, and checks are being received in gratifying numbers. The receipts for the month of November were nearly fifty per cent larger than for November of last year, and from present indications the receipts for December will be more than double those of last December. Many old subscribers who have not been heard from since the early days of the Council are sending in contributions with a renewal of their subscriptions and with expressions of great interest in the work of the Council.

The results of the campaigns in Elmira and Binghamton have been most gratifying. From twelve or fifteen per cent of the Cornellians in those cities on the subscription list of the Alumni Fund before the campaigns, the committees in charge have increased the number of subscribers to over fifty per cent of the total Cornell population. A. L. Gilmore '08, the chairman of the committee in Binghamton, reports that by January 1st he expects to have more than eighty-five per cent of the Binghamton Cornellians on the list.

Campaigns are now being organized in Cleveland, Akron, Detroit, and Syracuse. One is being planned for Buffalo in January and another for Chicago in February. From the interest and enthusiasm with which the alumni in all these cities are taking up the idea of campaigning through local committees, it appears as though the results would be very large. A letter just received from Frank H. Teagle '02, president of the Northeastern Ohio Cornell Association, says:

"At the smoker [on November 27] the matter of solicitation for the Cornellian Council was thoroughly discussed, and it was the unanimous sentiment of the men present that this represented the largest work and the greatest good that our association could do for Cornell at the present time. We are going into this matter very thoroughly and you can most certainly count upon the heartiest co-operation from the Northeastern Ohio Cornell Association."

In addition to campaigning by cities, a number of the class representatives on the Council have started campaigns in their own classes for new subscriptions. A telegram was received from Erskine Wilder on November 27 asking for four hundred subscription cards, and the signed cards began to come in at the Cornellian Council office on December 3.

During the latter part of this month the first issue of the "Cornellian Council Quarterly" will appear. It is to be issued by the University on behalf of the Cornellian Council. Its purpose will be to keep the entire body in closer touch with the progress of the work of the Cornellian Council. And the hope is entertained that it may inspire many who cannot be reached in any other way to join in this work for the University.

It has been insisted by many who do not understand the exact situation at the Cornellian Council office that a larger percentage of the Alumni Fund subscriptions should be collectible. There is no question that a larger proportion will be collected during the current year with business conditions so much improved. A larger number of the younger classes even are meeting their annual pledges, but in justice to the younger graduates the Council does not feel that it ought to ask them to meet their pledges unless they are able to do so.

From the classes of 1911, 1912, 1913, and 1914, who pledged $17,256 annually to the Alumni Fund, $4,358 was received during the last fiscal year. This may not appear to be a large sum in itself, but it is gratifying to see how great is the increase in the payment of subscriptions each succeeding year. The class of 1914 paid 19 per cent of its total pledges. The receipts from 1913 amounted to 24 per cent of the total pledged annually. The receipts from 1912 were 29 per cent, and the receipts from 1911 were 48 per cent. The average receipts from the older classes were nearly 75 per cent of the total amount pledged, and with a return to prosperous business conditions it is reasonable to expect that the paid subscriptions from the older classes will amount to ninety per cent of the total amount subscribed this fiscal year.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATIONS

LUZERNE COUNTY

The second annual meeting of the Luzerne County Cornell Club was held at The Dresden in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., on December 4. At a short business meeting preceding the supper the following officers were elected: President, Dr. H. L. Whitney '81; vice-president, F. B. Davis '94; secretary, E. B. Wagner '06; treasurer, L. S. Rhodes '11. The Hon. John M. Garman, one of the judges of the Luzerne county court, presided as toastmaster at the supper, the feature of which was an interesting talk about the University by Professor H. A. Sill, with lantern slide illustrations. Others who spoke were A. B. Lueder '99, Hugh Jennings '04, and George Sanderson '11.

Among those present were B. D. Beyea '10, G. M. Carpenter '82, R. B. Carr '12, B. W. Davis '93, J. H. Doughty '99, E. J. C. Fischer '11, W. I. Galland '11, E. L. Hartman '11, R. B. Howland '72, W. H. Mainwaring '05, J. F. Mears '06, W. F. Moxley '04, D. E. Newell, A. H. Partridge, Norman Ratchford '05, L. S. Rhodes '11, D. M. Rosser '95, J. G. Sanderson '97, J. B. Smith '03, J. L. Stern '12, J. F. Storz '06, G. M. Taylor '05, J. S. Williams '08, and S. V. Wood '10.

WASHINGTON WOMEN'S CLUB

The officers of the Cornell Women of Washington are: President, Mrs. Frederick V. Coville; treasurer, Anna E. Jenkins; secretary, Margaret Connor, 3149 Mount Pleasant Street, N. W.

The last meeting, held on November 30 at the home of Mrs. Coville, was attended by about thirty of the members. Mrs. Gertrude Martin was the guest of honor. She spoke of present conditions at Cornell and of the accomplishments and needs of the women, in particular. During her four days in Washington Mrs. Martin found time to speak to the students of the several high schools on the vocational outlook for women and the training offered by Cornell in fitting women for professions. Many of the Washington girls who plan to attend Cornell had an opportunity to speak with her.

NORTHEASTERN OHIO

The room was filled with Cornell men at last week's luncheon in Cleveland. Professor H. Morse Stephens was their guest, and his talk is given elsewhere in the NEWS. A member of the association writes that Frank Teagle is doing splendid work as president, looking after the work of all committees.

ITHACA, NEW YORK, DECEMBER 9, 1915

ATENTION is called to the action of the directors of the Associate Alumni in designating Founder's Day, Tuesday, January 11, 1916, for All-Cornell Night. This designation carries with it the recommendation that local Cornell clubs and associations, as many of them as possible, observe that day by meeting and holding such exercises as they may deem appropriate to the day. Interest should be added to such gatherings by the knowledge that Cornellians throughout the world are meeting at the same time.

NEWSPAPER REPORTS of the transactions of the Associate Alumni directors at their Philadelphia meeting were incorrect in several particulars. For an authoritative account of what was done, readers are referred to another page of this issue of the NEWS. Some newspapers printed reports intimating that the alumni association was making plans of its own for the celebration of the University's semi-centennial, without consultation with the Trustees and Faculty. The true report does not show that the association is endeavoring to usurp any function of the Trustees or Faculty. Its own semi-centennial committee had been appointed before the matter was taken up by the Trustees and that committee is awaiting action by the official bodies, with the purpose of offering its co-operation.

SECRETARIES OF LOCAL CLUBS and other persons who send announcements of future events for publication in the NEWS are requested to give as early notice as possible. The paper is mailed on Thursday. It is necessary to close the forms on Tuesday. An event which is to take place on a Saturday cannot receive the most effective advertisement unless the announcement is published in the issue of the preceding week. When possible, therefore, those announcements should be sent at least two weeks in advance of the event.

COMMENTING on the steps taken by the athletic association to increase the sale of season, or membership, tickets this fall, a member of the Class of 1910 writes: "It is my opinion, based on my experience as a self-maintaining student and my knowledge of others, that the season ticket proposition would be solved much more satisfactorily by a substantial reduction in the present price, insuring not only a larger sale and cash return but a greater attendance and interest in athletics. In this opinion other alumni, with whom I have talked, concur."

DR. MORRIS'S REPORT

The report which was made by Robert T. Morris, M.D., of the Class of '80, when he retired last June from the office of Alumni Trustee of the University, has been republished in the November 25 issue of the Journal of Education, under the title "A University President."

Three volumes by Dr. Morris are announced by Doubleday, Page & Company in their "To-morrow's Topics Series." BINGHAMTON

The Cornell Club of Binghamton is making preparations for a big reception to the Musical Clubs, which will give a concert in the new auditorium of the Binghamton Central High School on January 5. That hall, the largest and most beautiful in the city, will seat sixteen hundred persons. It is nineteen years since Binghamton has heard the Cornell clubs. After the concert a reception and dance will be held in the new gymnasium of the school building. The Cornell concert has been chosen by the school authorities as the occasion for the formal opening of the auditorium and gymnasium for the students.

Various committees have been appointed. President Robert B. Sears '03, of the Cornell Club, has appointed Dr. Charles G. Wagner '80 chairman of the general committee and G. Meade Wilsey '13, Howard A. Swartwood '12, and A. L. Gilmore '08 chairmen of the finance, entertainment and reception committees. They will co-operate with two committees from the high school students and the Binghamton boys now attending the University, who will act as ushers at the reception and dance. Twenty-four high school students will act as ushers at the concert.

The reception committees from the Cornell Club and High School bodies will meet the musical clubs upon their arrival by special train from Albany and will escort them in automobiles to the new Central High School building for an inspection of the building. There will also be inspection tours to several of the manufacturing plants of Binghamton and its suburbs, including the Endicott-Johnson Company, the AnSCO Company, Titchener Iron Works, Fairbanks Valve Company, Kilmer & Co., Sharpe Linen Mills, and Binghamton Lounge Company.

MANY FROM CORNELL attended a student volunteer convention in Rochester last week.

PROFESSOR SCHMIDT addressed the Cornell Club of Northern New Jersey at Newark last week.

Basketball

Home Team Wins First Practice Game —Has Four Veterans

The basketball team won the first game of the season against Clarkson Tech last Friday by the score of 36 to 25. Cornell secured a lead of fourteen points in the first half, and was outplayed during the second half. The team appears to be as strong as the fives of recent years, four of the players being veterans of considerable experience. Captain Brown and last year's captain, Lunden, are playing forward, and Sutterby has his old place at center. Ashmead is playing right guard, his position for the past two years. The other guard position is at present held by Austin, a senior who has played often as a substitute. A fairly large squad of candidates is still practicing, but few of them appear to be of varsity calibre. The first game of the league season will be played at Princeton, on December 17. The next home game is with Niagara on December 10.

Football Losses by Graduation

Three Brilliant Players to Go—Some Good Men Among the Substitutes

The football team will lose by graduation next June a smaller number than usual from the first and second elevens. Of the thirteen men who played against Pennsylvania only four will graduate. They are Captain Barrett, quarterback; Shelton, end; Cool, center, and Collins, halfback. Jameson, another senior, played throughout the season but was kept out of the Pennsylvania game by an injured knee. The loss is greater in quality, however, than in quantity. Barrett, Cool, and Shelton are probably the finest trio of players in the East this year, and Collins and Jameson were not far behind them. A feature which partly compensates for their loss is the fact that three of the season's regulars, Shiverick, Gillies, and Miller, are sophomores.

Of the second eleven, the team of first substitutes which was almost as strong as the varsity, six men will be lost. They are Schock and Schlichter in the backfield, Welles and Bailey, tackles, and Snyder and McKeage, guards.

Dr. Sharpe is fortunate in that a man from the substitute eleven remains to fill every position left open by the graduation in the ranks of the varsity, with the exception of quarterback. Schock, Barrett's understudy this fall, is a senior. Speed, who ran the third team this fall, is a sophomore, and has shown ability. To fill Cool's place, Dan Reed has Brown and Carry, two men of more than the average competence. Tilley, who took Jameson's place in the Pennsylvania game, will also be available next year. Zander and Ryerson, both of whom took part in several games, will compete for Shelton's post at left end.

A large number of second and third string players will be available next year to make these men fight for positions. Jewett, a tackle who played against Pennsylvania, should be heard from next year. Benedict and Hoffman in the backfield had some valuable experience in the easy games this fall. Fischer, Dixon, and McCormick are tackles who showed promise, and Bard, Masson, and Miles are guards in the same class. Rebmann and Quinn, the third-string ends, will both return next year, and Hill, Roehrs and VanHorn are all sophomores trying for a backfield position.

In addition to these men the class of 1919 is expected to supply a number of excellent players, as the freshman team this fall was the best in three years.

Tennis Ranking

Five Cornell Men Are Among the First Hundred Players

Five Cornell men are placed among the first hundred tennis players in the United States according to the official ranking recently made public by the United States Lawn Tennis Association. F. T. Hunter '16, captain-elect of the varsity tennis team, was ranked in class three, which includes the ten men from 31 to 40. C. A. Major '12 was also placed in this class. Abram Bassford, jr., '98, was placed in class four (41-50), W. L. Pate '99 in class five, and W. M. Blair '17 in class nine. Major and A. H. Man, a former Yale captain, were ranked in class one (11-20) in the doubles teams of the country. Pate was a member of the ranking body.

Awards of the C

Awards of the C have been made for football and cross-country. Eighteen men received the football letter, and five men, those who scored for Cornell in the intercollegiate run, received the cross-country C. The C 2nd in football was awarded to eleven men, and sixteen freshman football players received the numerals of the class of 1919. The awards follow:

A Challenge from Pittsburgh Declined.

A telegram was received by Graduate Manager Kent last week from Joseph H. Thompson, chairman of the football committee of the University of Pittsburgh, proposing a game between the two football teams, to be played on neutral grounds, the proceeds to go to charity. Mr. Kent replied that the challenge could not be accepted. He said that the Cornell schedule was built for the Pennsylvania game and that the Cornell season was ended. The Faculty here had never sanctioned a game on non-college grounds except when such a game was urged as a necessity for the development of the schedule. No member of the Athletic Council, Mr. Kent said, had been found to favor the proposed game.

The walking race to Turkey Hill and back last Saturday attracted only about fifty men, a third as many as competed last year. The weather was unpleasant and the roads were bad. E. L. Malone '17, of Pittsburgh, won the race. J. C. Corwith '16, of Water Mill, who won last year, was second.

Swimming.—Thirty-four candidates are out for the team. The schedule of meets has not been announced.

Wrestling.—About 100 men are registered for instruction during the winter term in wrestling, and hence are candidates for the wrestling team. Four members of last year's team are still in college. They are Captain F. C. Sager '16, Hugh MacKenzie '16, J. A. McKeage '16, and E. W. Kleinert '16. The schedule of dual meets has not been announced, but the intercollegiate meet will be held at Princeton on March 17 and 18.

Rowing on the Inlet ceased last Saturday. The work on the machines in the gymnasium will begin after the holidays.

Hockey.—The artificial rink under construction on Alumni Field will be completed this week. Cold weather is making early ice probable. Thirty-four candidates for the team are practicing shooting in the Armory. Among them are four of last year's seven, Captain J. S. Babbitt '16, F. T. Hunter '16, F. Spiegelberg, jr., '16, and W. G. Harding '17.

The Sun has announced the election of two sophomores to its editorial staff. They are Crewell MacMurray Micou, of Washington, and Thomas Rowan Wagner, of Philadelphia. Micou is a member of Alpha Delta Phi and is a brother of H. H. Micou '15 and B. H. Micou '16. Wagner is a member of Psi Upsilon.

A RECITAL, the second of the University concert series, will be given in Bailey Hall to-morrow night by Mme. Louise Homer.

WILL YOU BUY A CORNELL CALENDAR
THIS YEAR?

There are three good calendars in our collection this year. Most people are familiar with the Troy calendar, which this year seems better than it has been in two or three years. With it also goes a picture of the football team. The Student Supply Store calendar is made entirely of colored views and the Athletic calendar of the athletic teams and events. Write us which you prefer. The price is one dollar each and postage.

Andrew D. White

AN ETCHED PORTRAIT
BY JACQUES REICH

This portrait is approved by Dr. White, who has pronounced it the best he ever had and has autographed a limited number of proofs.

Professor George L. Burr, in speaking of the etching, says: "It is an admirable likeness—the best I know of Dr. White. No Cornellian could wish a more satisfactory picture of him."

Prices on application.
