CORNELL ALUMNI NEWS

VOL. XVIII., No. 17

ITHACA, N. Y., JANUARY 27, 1916

PRICE 10 CENTS

A GIFT of $2,000 has been made to the University by Professor Simon H. Gage '77 and his son, Henry Phelps Gage '08, to provide for the construction of a room in a new dormitory for women students. The gift was made as a memorial to Susanna Phelps Gage '80. It was accepted for the University by the Trustees on January 15. A third dormitory, in addition to Sage Hall and Risley Hall, is needed even now on account of the growth in the number of the women students since Risley was completed. It may be that an effort will be made to obtain gifts similar to the Gage donation to meet the cost of a building. Fifty gifts of $2,000 each would be enough for a hall to house fifty women students, and each room in the building might then be a memorial. Such a method of obtaining the funds had been suggested at a meeting of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs.

AN ARCHITECTURAL STUDY of the problem of housing the women students has been undertaken by a committee of the Federation. As an introductory step, in order to obtain suggestions, the problem has been assigned to the senior class in design in the College of Architecture for one of next term's projets. Miss Kate Gleason '88, of Rochester, has offered a prize of $100 for the best design that is submitted. The Federation inclines toward the choice of land north of Beebe lake for the site of future women's dormitories. About forty acres of land there has been purchased by the University within the last few years. In his latest annual report President Schurman strongly advocated the setting apart of that tract for the development of a new and greater Sage College for Women.

DEBATE TEAMS for the intercollegiate contests have been selected. They are: Affirmative team: H. A. Wichelns '16, leader; R. H. Blanchard '17, J. G. Schurman, jr., '17, and G. A. Newbury '17, alternate; negative team: C. N. Whitman '16, leader; L. H. Jayne '16, W. H. Farnham '18, and H. Klauber '17, alternate. These teams will represent Cornell in the annual triangular contest to be held on March 3. The affirmative team will meet Columbia in Ithaca, and the negative team will argue against Pennsylvania at Philadelphia. The proposition to be debated is: "Resolved, that the proposed Administration policy of armament increase is demanded by the best interests of the United States." The affirmative team will get some practice in a debate on this proposition with Syracuse on February 26. The Debate Council is negotiating with the University of Virginia for a debate to be held on the same question during the Easter vacation. The freshmen, on the affirmative side of the above proposition, won the underclass debating contest last week.

DR. H. W. VAN LOON '05 has been appointed lecturer in modern European history for the second term. This appointment is an extension of a course of lectures which he is giving this term. Dr. van Loon is the author of "The Fall of the Dutch Republic." In the present war he has served as a newspaper correspondent in Europe and some of the fruits of his observations are appearing in the form of articles in the Century magazine. His lectures next term will relate to the history of Europe since 1870.

MR. JACOB H. SCHIFF came to Ithaca from New York this week to speak on the occasion of Dr. Moritz J. Bonn's final lecture on the Schiff Foundation, Tuesday. The subject of Mr. Schiff's talk was "Business." The lecture was given in Sibley Dome. Dr. Bonn, having concluded his semester here, is going to the middle west to fill several lecture engagements and will then go to New York City.

THE HONOR SYSTEM of holding examinations in the College of Agriculture is under investigation by students and faculty. Dissatisfaction with the system had been expressed by a large proportion of the students. A member of the Faculty sought the opinions of the members of the senior class on the subject, and the answers he received to his questions indicated that fault was found in the administration of the plan rather than in the plan itself. About three-fourths of the seniors said that they preferred the honor system, even as now operated, to the proctor system or any other with which they were acquainted. Members of the undergraduate committee of the college which acts on infractions of rules believe that the scheme does not get enough publicity. Last month the committee petitioned the Faculty to set aside an hour at the beginning of the term for a mass meeting at which the details of the college's honor system might be explained fully to new students. The Faculty did not grant the petition, but referred the matter to the educational committee for a special report to the Faculty of the college on February 2.

A FRATERNITY was penalized last week by the Second Term Rushing Association for an infraction of the rule forbidding communication between fraternity men and freshmen. The offense was technical, if not accidental. The punishment inflicted was the publication of the offending fraternity's name in the Sun and a fine of one day in the sending out of its invitations to freshmen at the beginning of the rushing period in February. This was the only case on which the executive committee of the association had acted this year. A good many fraternity men are said to feel that the rule excommunicating freshmen for the whole of the first term is too strict, and the prediction is made that after the rushing has been done for this year the rule will be modified. The plan of postponing the rushing to the second term does not seem to have lost favor. On the contrary, gratification is expressed by a good many fraternity men at the peace and unity which have resulted from the new rule. To have a whole term without rushing parties and without freshman members in the house has been found to promote fraternal feeling. The rushing will begin in the last week of February.

THE RHODES SCHOLARSHIP from New York State has been awarded to Joseph Bartlett Armstrong, who graduated with honors from Columbia College last June and is now registered in the Columbia Law School. Hugh Mackenzie was appointed alternate. Mackenzie is a member of the senior class in the College of Arts and Sciences of Cornell. He comes from Millbrook, N. Y.

University Registration

A Comparison of Enrollment Figures of Thirty Institutions

The current number of Science contains a tabulation by Professor John C. Burg, of Northwestern University, of the registration returns for November 1, 1915, of thirty of the universities of the country.

Not counting summer session enrollment, the universities in the table rank in size as follows: Columbia (7,042), Pennsylvania (6,655), California (5,977), New York University (5,853), Michigan (5,821), Illinois (5,511), Harvard (5,435), Cornell (5,392), Ohio State (4,897), Wisconsin (4,868), Minnesota (4,679), Chicago (4,324), Northwestern (4,153), Syracuse (3,830), Pittsburgh (3,569), Yale (3,303), Nebraska (3,067), Missouri (3,043), Iowa State (2,704), Texas (2,611), Cincinnati (2,524), Kansas (2,470), Stanford (2,048), Indiana (1,771), Princeton (1,615), Western Reserve (1,469), Tulane (1,321), Washington University (1,264), Johns Hopkins (1,173), Virginia (1,008). Cornell's relative place in the list is the same as it was last year although this university's enrollment has increased by 314 students. With summer sessions included Cornell's place is still ninth, with 6,351 students. The leaders in size are Columbia (11,888), California (10,555), Chicago (7,968), Pennsylvania (7,404), Wisconsin (6,810), Michigan (6,684), New York University (6,656), and Harvard (6,351, the same as Cornell).

Cornell, which for years had the largest enrollment of students in engineering, is now second in size with 1,347; Michigan leads with 1,498. The non-professional graduate school of Columbia with 2,065 students is by far the largest school of that sort. Chicago follows with 617; then Harvard with 587, California with 560, Pennsylvania with 548, Illinois with 403, Cornell with 395, New York University and Yale with 348 each, and Wisconsin with 322. The largest college of agriculture is at Cornell, with 1,608 students; Illinois has the next largest with 1,067. It is interesting to note, the report says, that of the 1,608 students of agriculture at Cornell, 290 are women. There are seven women enrolled in the law school of this university, twenty-one in medicine, three in architecture, and one in mechanical engineering.

Cornell Engineers Dine

A Prize Founded by Alumni in Honor of Professor Charles L. Crandall

The eleventh annual banquet of the Cornell Society of Civil Engineers was held at the Hotel Breslin in New York on January 21. Two hundred and sixty-three sat down to dinner at half-past seven o'clock. The dinner was given as a testimonial to Professor Charles Lee Crandall, who retired last June from the Faculty of the College of Civil Engineering after a service of more than forty years. The latter part of the program was given over to a celebration of the football victories of last fall.

Before the dinner, Professor Crandall held a reception in the parlors of the Breslin and greeted many of his former students. One hundred and ninety-eight of those in attendance were civil engineers and former students of Professor Crandall. The remainder were Sibley men and guests.

A fund of three thousand dollars, the interest of which is to be given as a prize for the most meritorious paper or thesis in the College of Civil Engineering and to be known as the Charles Lee Crandall Prize, was given to the University by Willard Beahan, representing the Crandall Committee, and was accepted in behalf of the University by President Schurman, both gentlemen making extended speeches in the course of the evening.

Dean Haskell, who was the first speaker, outlined Professor Crandall's long service with the college.

Motion pictures of various scenes in and about the Campus were shown. These included the dedication of Schoellkopf Field and a part of the Williams game. The Cornell-Pennsylvania game on Franklin Field last Thanksgiving Day was shown amid much enthusiasm. These reels had been obtained from Philadelphia with much difficulty.

After the films were shown, Dr. A. H. Sharpe described the training and development of the championship team. He also explained many of the fine points in the games played last fall, including particularly the Michigan and Harvard games. He made a strong appeal for the aid of the alumni in arranging for one of the big games to be played in Ithaca.

The program of speaking was concluded with a fine address by Herbert Daley, formerly of the Tribune and now a writer on sports on the staff of the World. He paid a glowing tribute to Dr. Sharpe and Coaches Reed and Van Orman and said that Cornell had reached the very top in college athletics.

The usual college songs were sung in the course of the evening and the program was closed with the "Evening Song." A quartet arranged by L. J. Sieling sang at intervals during the banquet. The attendance exceeded that of any previous banquet of the society by more than a hundred. President John C. Wait was the toastmaster.

Among those present from a distance were Professor C. D. Marx '78, of Stanford University; Edwin Duryea '83, of San Francisco; Professor F. E. Turneure '89, of the University of Wisconsin; Gardner S. Williams, of Chicago; Professor W. K. Hatt '91, of Purdue; Professor Turner, of Cornell; Jeremiah Sullivan, of Chicago; A. J. Himes '87, of Cleveland, and Shirley C. Hulse '02, of Pittsburgh.

The banquet was arranged by a committee consisting of Clyde Potts '01, chairman; W. D. Kelley '80, H. G. Balcom '97, L. J. Sieling '07, E. A. Fraser '10, C. H. Davidson '11, Wesley Gavett '11, and Arturo Rodriguez '91. The members of the Class of 1872 who were present were C. L. Crandall, Alson Rogers, S. P. Thomas and Gram Curtis.

MR. WHITE IS BETTER

President White is recovering from his attack of the grip. In the mild weather of this week he was able to leave the house and walk about the Campus.

New York Club Booming

Some of the Things that Have Kept the House Lively This Month

This January has been about the busiest month in the history of the Cornell Club of New York. Not even the Old Guard of Forty-fifth Street can remember a month when there has been so much going on. Here is a list showing what the last few Club Nights have been:

December 23. Bouck White spoke on "The Diameter of the Dollar."

January 7. Dr. Andrew James Gilmour, of the Cornell University Medical College, gave an illustrated talk on "Mountaineering in the Canadian Alps." Dr. Gilmour, as a pedestrian and mountain climber, is familiar with the eastern Alps and the mountains of Germany. He spent the last two summers exploring in the Canadian Rockies, and he made the first ascent of Mount Geikie.

January 14. Auction bridge tournament. This was very well attended.

January 21. Cross Roads Dinner.

On January 22, Saturday, Lieutenant Cosmo Hamilton, of the British royal naval air service, in active command of the anti-aircraft defenses of London, was the guest of the club for luncheon. After the luncheon he was introduced by his friend, Kinsley W. Slauson '08, and talked informally of his experiences in defending London against Zeppelin raids.

The guest at the Club Night on January 28 will be Professor Hugo Münsterberg, of Harvard University, who will speak on "The psychology of the photoplay."

The Cross Roads Dinner on January 21 was a decided success, and the entertainment committee (George L. Fielder, chairman), was universally congratulated by those who were present for starting something so original. The affair got its name from the circular announcement, which said:

"Do you remember the Cross-Roads? Of course you do! Well then, which road did you take? Did you follow Easy Street to Troublatown, or did you hit the long rough trail to Luckyland? Or maybe you are still thinking it over. On Club Night, January 21st, a number of Cornelliens, successful in various activities, have been persuaded to discuss their Cross-Roads decisions. They will tell of their vital roadside adventures and confess the wisdom and error of their ways."

Dr. Robert T. Morris '80, the genial "father confessor," set the pace in his scholarly way. His talk sparkled with bits of wisdom. According to him, "Love, oratory and propinquity are the most important things in life, and the greatest of these is propinquity." Luck he defined as "satisfaction in life." Short talks dealing with early professional experiences were given by Dr. L. L. Seaman '72, Ira A. Place '81, Dr. Henry P. de Forest '84, Bert Hanson '93, John C. Westervelt '94, and Roger Lewis '95.

During the month the following dinners have taken place at the club: January 4, Long Island Club; January 7, Class of 1901; January 8, Class of 1911; January 11, All Cornell Night; January 13, Class of 1908; January 14, Class of 1912; January 15, Class of 1911; January 18, Class of 1915. These dinners were all well attended. Class dinners at the club usually bring out about forty men.

On January 17 the board of governors elected twenty-five new members to the club.

The Club Nights are to continue through the winter and spring. Every Friday night is a Club Night, when any Cornell man is welcome to attend the entertainment which is provided.

BENJAMIN S. HUBBELL '93, of Cleveland, will lecture on January 28 before the students of the College of Architecture.

RABBI LOUIS J. KOPALD, of Temple Beth Zion, Buffalo, will preach in Sage Chapel on January 30.

MIDYEAR EXAMINATIONS will begin next Monday, January 31.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATIONS CHICAGO

More than a hundred and twenty-five men turned out on All Cornell Night at Chicago. The celebration was held at the University Club. It began with a chicken dinner.

The program included a number of three-minute talks. The first was by W. H. French '73, who spoke reminiscently of the early days of Cornell and of the life and character of the Founder. Ralph Turner '06, J. S. Whyte '13, and S. S. Lawler '14 gave interesting talks on athletic conditions at the University at the present time. R. Warren Sailor '07 was the toastmaster.

After the speeches there was a minstrel show. Lute Emmert '11 was the inter-locutor. The end men were Bob Hodgson (Bowdoin '07), Jack Walker (Brown '13), Bill McCaully '08, and Bunny Ourand '09. The chorus consisted of Ralph Turner '06, Malcolm Vail '12, Bill Hawke '11 (just dropped in from Boston), Bill Bell '13, Chris Cox '08, and Freddy Bird '11. The orchestra included Bill Purdy, Frank Gerould '15, Bunny Dawson '14, Gus Hallberg '10, and Charlie Sailor '14.

SPOKANE

The Cornell Club of Spokane celebrated All Cornell Night on Founder's Day at the University Club. Festoons of red and white lights and red and white carnations formed the decorations, while old Cornell posters and some photographs of recent campus developments sent out by the Secretary of the University were hung on the walls. Telegrams of greeting were received from President Schurman and President Benjamin Ide Wheeler of the University of California, and letters were received from Professors Crane, Burr, Hull and Kimball and from Coaches Courtney, Sharpe and Moakley. A number of toasts were responded to honoring the Founder, recalling events of former days, reviewing the recent splendid athletic records and renewing the old Cornell spirit.

The former officers were re-elected for the ensuing year: President, Henry M. Hart; secretary-treasurer, Ernest V. Price. It was decided to hold the weekly luncheon at the University Club on Wednesdays instead of Mondays.

Those in attendance were: W. V. Kelley '93, W. C. Stone '95, Henry M. Hart '96, W. E. Chase '00, Glen B. Harrington '00, Newton C. Fassett '04, Ernest V. Price '04, Howard G. Harrison '06, Emanuel Fritz '08, Victor E. Piollet '08, C. B. Curtis '09, B. L. Sivyver '11,

J. P. Maider '12, Harold C. Whitehouse '13, Fred Insinger '14, Horace A. Weber '15, Clyde Johnson '15, C. K. McBroom '15, R. A. Huestis '16.

ROCHESTER

The Cornell alumni of Rochester observed All Cornell Night with a dinner at the Rochester Club. Professor Samuel P. Orth, of the department of economics, spoke on "American colleges and American life." He discussed the democracy of the United States and its spirit of independence with relation to the development of its systems of education. Coach John F. Moakley spoke of athletic relations between the undergraduates and the alumni. Dr. A. H. Sharpe related some incidents of the recent football season. He said that Cornell wished to develop not merely football players but manly men and that it was more devoted to their development than to athletics.

SOUTHERN OHIO

The Cornell Association of Southern Ohio met at the University Club of Cincinnati on January 18 and elected the following officers for the year: President, H. M. Morris '91; vice-president, W. H. Schmidlapp '05; secretary, Julian A. Pollak '07; deputy secretary, Max Thurnauer '13; treasurer, Frederick von Steinwehr '06; directors, two years, Clyde P. Johnson '93 and Robert Sohngen '08; directors, one year, R. K. Caldwell '09 and Newman Ebersole '10.

BROOKLYN

The annual smoker of the Brooklyn association was held on January 18 at the University Club. Officers for the year were elected, as follows: President, John J. Kuhn '98; vice-president, H. R. Cobleigh '01; secretary, Alan H. Colcord '12; treasurer, Walter M. Keenan '11. The retiring president, William A. Moss crop '88, received a vote of thanks.

CLEVELAND

A Cleveland-Cornell Foundation has been established by Cleveland alumni of Cornell University for furnishing help to undergraduates of the Ithaca (N. Y.) institution. The foundation will not only provide scholarships but assistance of varied character to worthy students who are in need.

On the board of directors of the foundation are C. W. Wason, chairman; Willard Beahan, H. W. Strong and Dr. I. J. Kerr, secretary-treasurer. Money will be obtained through voluntary contributions.

At a special meeting of the North-eastern Ohio Cornell Alumni Association Thursday noon in the Hollenden members of the organization will vote to change the name to the Cornell Club of Cleveland. Provision also will be made for a sliding scale of dues.—Cleveland Plain Dealer, January 18.

THE WEEK IN CHICAGO

This is the week of the automobile show in Chicago and the Chicago alumni association wrote to the associations in neighboring cities to remind any Cornell visitors that there were a few Cornell men in Chicago and to give the strangers a list of the Cornell hangouts.

The speaker at this week's luncheon on Thursday at the Hotel Morrison was Mr. John P. Dods '08, who was to talk on the interesting subject of how automobile route maps are made for the Blue Book.

The big event of the week in Chicago will be the thirty-ninth annual Cornell banquet. This will be held in the main dining room of the University Club on Saturday night, beginning at 6:30 o'clock.

FLACK'S WESTERN TRIP

Harold Flack '12, the secretary of the Cornellian Council, is now on a trip through the middle states in the interest of the Alumni Fund. He was in Ithaca last Saturday on his way west. He was planning to visit Rochester, Buffalo, Detroit, Milwaukee, Madison, Minnesota, St. Paul, Omaha, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Chicago, Cincinnati, Columbus, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Syracuse, Albany, Troy, and Schenectady.

He expected to be in Milwaukee at the time of the annual Cornell banquet on January 28, and to reach Chicago for the second week in February. The entire trip was expected to take about two months. In the towns which he planned to visit the campaigns for the Alumni Fund are in the hands of local organization committees, and in some of them the work is well advanced.

While he is in Detroit Flack expects to study the methods by which the University of Michigan is raising a fund of a million dollars for the Michigan Union.

PROFESSOR CHARLES H. TUCK of the College of Agriculture left Ithaca this week on a sabbatic leave of absence which will extend to next September. He is on his way to Manchuria, where he is to make some agricultural investigations on a large plantation owned by a syndicate in which some Cornell men are interested. This is Professor Tuck's second visit to Manchuria.

The 1916 Forestry Camp

Summer Laboratory to Be on the South Shore of Saratoga Lake

For ten weeks during the summer of 1916 a party of students and professors from the department of forestry of the New York State College of Agriculture at Cornell University will be in camp on the forest tract belonging to Mr. T. C. Luther at the south end of Saratoga Lake.

The forestry camp forms a regular part of the work in the third or summer term at Cornell, the transfer of faculty and students from Ithaca to some forest area being made for the purpose of giving first hand instruction in those phases of forest work that can be taught satisfactorily only in the forest. The summer term is equivalent in length and character of work required to the autumn and spring terms. It differs from them only in the fact that part of the work is carried on out of doors.

Three professors will be in charge and will conduct courses in forest mensuration, forest utilization, silviculture or care of the forest, and forest management. The work will consist in large part of exercises in the forest, but there will also be lectures and recitations, with examinations at stated intervals.

Last year the Cornell forestry department was in camp on a forest tract in the Northern Adirondacks, on which an estimate of the standing timber was made and a general plan for management was drawn up. A similar study will be made on Mr. Luther's tract, except that in 1916, owing to the proximity of this tract to numerous wood-using mills, greater attention can be paid to the problems of forest utilization.

The third term in camp forms a required part of the professional forestry course at Cornell. The party is limited to seniors and graduate students who are regularly enrolled as candidates for the forestry degree. In 1915 there were twenty students at camp. This coming summer the number will probably be a little larger. The men will live in tents and will meet for their lectures and recitations in a camp building put up for the use of the party by Mr. Luther. The camp will open in the third week of July and will run until the end of September.

PROFESSOR FRANK THILLY, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, leaves Ithaca this week for Chicago, Milwaukee, and St. Louis, where he will speak at meetings of the Cornell alumni.

MAIN ENTRANCE TO RESIDENCE HALLS

This is the archway in Baker Tower which affords the main entrance to the dormitory group. Many of the rooms in the tower building are now occupied by students.

OBITUARY

William B. Ruggles '83

William Barker Ruggles, a graduate of Sibley College in the Class of 1883, died on January 23 of pneumonia at his home, 91 West Fifth Street, Bergen Point, N. J., in his fifty-fifth year. He was the head of the Ruggles-Coles Engineering Company of 50 Church Street, New York, which he founded.

Mr. Ruggles was born in Bath, N. Y., and was a son of the late William B. Ruggles, formerly state superintendent of public instruction. He was a member of the Psi Upsilon fraternity. In his senior year at Cornell he was president of the Mechanical Engineering Association, and also of the Athletic Association. When he graduated he held the Cornell records for the 440-yard run and the standing broad jump. He began the practice of his profession in New York soon after his graduation.

"About a year ago," the New York Times said, "the Russian Government sent for him, and he went to Petrograd and visited the great wheat growing provinces, where he designed plans for the storage and handling of wheat which called for the expenditure of more than $100,000,000. Mr. Ruggles had been engaged by that Government to carry out these plans after the war. He was the inventor of an iron ore dryer extensively used on the Mesaba Range, and was interested in other corporations, being president of the Novella Cement Company and a director of the Buffalo Potash & Cement Corporation."

Mr. Ruggles was a member of the Engineers' Club, the Cornell University Club of New York and the New York Athletic Club and of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. His wife and a daughter survive him.

H. W. Unckles '10

Henry Weir Unckles, a graduate of Sibley College of the Class of 1910, died of pneumonia at Buffalo on January 5. He had been employed as a draftsman by the Thomas Aeroplane Company in Ithaca and had recently gone from here to Buffalo to accept a similar position with the Curtiss Motor Company. His home was in Brooklyn.

Albert B. Long '11

Albert Buchanan Long, a member of the Class of 1911 of the College of Law, died of pneumonia on January 23 at his home in Lewistown, Pa. He was twenty-seven years old. Long prepared for college at Lawrenceville, and he brought his school nickname "Bubbles" to Cornell with him. He had a fund of good nature which made him many warm friends. He was a member of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity and of Phi Delta Phi. After he graduated, Long was employed for a while by the Standard Oil Company in New York City. Last year he returned to his home in Lewistown and engaged in the manufacture of a newly patented fuel oil burner.

IT is quite human for alumni of a university to regard with interest the figures of student enrollment at their institution and to take some pride in the mere bigness of it. We know that such a comparison of attendance at the larger universities as we reprint this week from Science is read with interest. But our alumni, when they note that Cornell is further down the list of big institutions than it was a few years ago, should remember at the same time that bigness is not a virtue in itself. Cornell is growing fast enough to strain her resources. If some other institutions have been growing faster, we may be sure that their growth is creating problems for them, perhaps greater in degree than our own. Bigness may be a measure of the value of what a university offers, but it may, on the other hand, be due in large part to purely local conditions. Not all the larger universities compete with Cornell or draw the bulk of their students from the same territory. One of the institutions which has grown larger than Cornell within the last few years is the University of California. We can take pride in the fact that California, in augmenting her faculty to meet the increased demand for instruction, has drawn many men from among our own graduates. Few of us can remember where Cornell ranked in relative size ten years ago. But the character of the instruction that was given in Cornell's class rooms ten years ago is helping to determine her present rank in public service. The increase in the number of Cornell students in the last decade is 2,480, and in the last year more than 300. In these figures, and not in a comparison with those of other universities, is found the measure of Cornell's need for a greater endowment.

INDIANA

The annual banquet of the Cornell University Association of Indiana will be held on Saturday evening, February 5, at the University Club, Indianapolis, at 7 p. m. Tickets are three dollars.

Dr. A. H. Sharpe will be the guest of honor, and a representative from the Faculty is expected to be present also. The entertainment committee is planning to make this the largest and best banquet the association has ever held, and it wants every alumnus in Indiana to be there, as well as any visiting Cornell men. The election of officers and directors for the ensuing year will take place.

NEW ENGLAND

The annual business meeting of the Cornell Club of New England was held at the Hotel Lenox, Boston, on January 11. These officers were elected for the year 1916: President, R. O. Walter '01, 47 Equitable Building, Boston, Mass.; vice-president, W. H. Marland '01, Reading, Mass.; treasurer, H. S. Brown '04, 50 Congress Street, Boston; secretary, A. C. Blunt, jr., '07, 354 Congress Street, Boston; athletic councillor, C. W. Fulton '09, 58 Pearl Street, Boston; vice-presidents, F. Ellis Jackson '00, Turks Head Building, Providence, R. I.; Douglas Wesson '06, Springfield, Mass.; Chester Reed '03, Worcester, Mass.

During the last year the club has had 197 paying members, an increase of forty per cent over the year before.

The secretary reported that the expansion of the club and the large territory which it endeavors to cover had brought up many new problems, foremost among them being: How to interest the man at a distance from Boston. A committee had prepared a plan for the selection of vice-presidents in various local Cornell centers away from metropolitan Boston, such as Worcester, Providence, and Fall River. This plan contemplated the formation of several strong local organizations in New England, perhaps coming together once each year for a banquet and reunion. A plan of redistribution of territory remote from Boston has also been agreed to; the New England club will probably give up Western Massachusetts to the Eastern New York association, and Vermont to the Northeastern New York association.

1915 CLASS DIRECTORY

A Directory of the Class of 1915, compiled by the class secretary, R. W. White, with the assistance of the Secretary of the University, has been mailed to members of the class. It is in the form of a small booklet of sixty-five pages, a very handy form.

With the booklet was sent the first annual letter from the secretary to his classmates. This contained some business information, including a financial report, and several pages of live personal news.

The secretary says that the directory and the letter were mailed to every member of the class at the address on record at the office of the Secretary of the University. They were sent as first-class mail in order to permit forwarding. If any member of the class did not get a copy he should notify the class secretary, R. W. White, at 102 Waverly Place, New York.

1915 CLASS DINNER

Members of the Class of 1915 living in or near New York City had a reunion dinner at the Cornell Club on January 18. Thirty-four men were present. It was a real party and everybody voted for another one soon. Those present were O. Bauer, F. H. Bills, L. M. Blancke, R. S. Brainerd, M. L. Carey, R. L. Cullum, H. C. Edmiston, jr., Henry Gund, jr., Manville Johnson, Edmund L. Judson, jr., Slocum Kingsbury, W. L. Kleitz, R. B. Lea, Edward C. Leib, Sloan E. Miller, William Moeckel, D. P. Morse, jr., D. B. ATHLETICS

Basketball

With ten of the thirty league games played Cornell was tied with Dartmouth for fourth place in the league standing. Pennsylvania still kept the leadership by virtue of defeating Dartmouth, but spoiled a perfect standing by losing to Yale last week. Princeton and Yale defeated Columbia last week. Cornell has not played a league game since defeating Yale, and does not play another until after midyear exams. On February 19 the team goes to New Haven for the return game with Yale. The contest for the championship this year is unusual in that all the teams have been defeated although the schedule is only one-third completed. The standing:

	Won	Lost	Grade
Pennsylvania.....	3	1	.750
Princeton.....	2	1	.667
Yale.....	2	1	.667
Cornell.....	1	2	.333
Dartmouth.....	1	2	.333
Columbia.....	1	3	.250

Cornell 39, Rochester 20

The team defeated the University of Rochester in a non-league game by the score of 39 to 20 in the Armory last Saturday. The Rochester five was faster and lighter than the home team and played a swift short-passing game that held Cornell practically even during the first half. The score at the end of the period stood 12 to 11, with Cornell ahead. The stamina and weight of the Cornell men began to count during the second half, and the visitors were snowed under.

Luck played an important part in the contest. Throughout the first half an evil genius seemed to direct the Cornell attempts for goals. Three times the ball was dropped squarely into the basket only to pop out again. It was a different story in the second half, however. Sutterby and Shelton seemed to score at will, throwing several marvelous goals. The work of Shelton was spectacular. He scored six field goals from his guard position, largely by reason of his ability to break loose from his man and get into shooting range unguarded. The game was hard and rough throughout, and an unusual amount of fouling was done by both teams. Brown was in poor form at shooting from the foul line, and Ashmead took over that function early in the game. He missed only one out of eight attempts. The summary:

Cornell	Rochester
Brown.....right forward.....	Woodams
Lunden.....left forward.....	Harper
Sutterby.....center.....	Whitney

Goals from the field—Shelton 6, Sutterby 4, Brown 2, Lunden 2, Ashmead 1; Harper 4, Hale 2, Woodams 1. Goals from fouls—Brown 1 out of 5, Ashmead 7 out of 8, Roth 1 out of 1; Hale 1 out of 3, Harper 5 out of 10. Substitutions—Flock for Brown, Winship for Lunden, Austin for Sutterby, Roth for Ashmead, Greenwald for Shelton; Anderson for Woodams. Referee—Mr. O'Shea of Brooklyn.

The Track Schedule

A Large Cornell Squad to Go to the Intercollegiate Indoor Meet

The schedule of the track team has been announced as follows:

Indoors: February 5, Boston Athletic games; February 12, Baltimore Athletic Club meet; March 4, I. C. A. A. A. A. meet at New York; March 11, Meadowbrook Athletic Club games at Philadelphia; March 25, St. Louis Athletic Club meet.

Outdoors: April 28-9, Pennsylvania Relay Carnival at Philadelphia; May 6, Harvard at Ithaca; May 13, Pennsylvania at Philadelphia; May 27-8, Intercollegiates. (Place undetermined.)

At the Boston A. A. games a Cornell mile relay team will race against Harvard and A. W. Richards '17 will compete in the field events. At the Meadowbrook A. C. meet Cornell will enter one and two-mile relay teams, and several men will be entered in the field events. At the meets in St. Louis and Baltimore it is not certain what events will be entered. It is possible that financial considerations will prevent the entrance of any Cornell men in either meet but the Committee on Student Affairs has ratified the schedule so that Cornell will be able to compete in case the expenditure is possible.

Just now Coach Moakley is planning his program largely in preparation for the second annual indoor intercollegiate meet to be held at Madison Square Garden on March 4. A large squad will be taken to New York, as the experience to be gained is considered invaluable. The I. C. A. A. A. has added to the list of events this year a short sprint, a high hurdle race, and the broad jump. The field events will be contested by 5-men teams, as was done last year, the team with the highest average winning the event.

Hockey.—The game with Colgate was canceled because of a thaw on Beebe Lake last Saturday. Two more home games are scheduled, the first with the University of Rochester on January 29, the second with Columbia on February 9. The management is negotiating with Yale and Princeton for games to be played on neutral rinks, but no rinks are yet available.

Ten Years More of Moakley Cornell's Successful Track Coach Signs A New Contract

The Cornell University Athletic Association has concluded a contract with John F. Moakley under which Mr. Moakley is to remain ten years more as coach of track athletics. The new contract will take effect on September 1, 1916, when his present contract with the association will expire. It will then be seventeen years since Mr. Moakley came to Ithaca from Boston to coach the track and cross-country teams.

In his young manhood Moakley was a successful runner at all distances from the hundred-yard dash to six miles across country, and he showed an aptitude for detecting athletic ability in others and for training and conditioning runners. His coaching talent was known throughout New England and had earned the respect of the late Mike Murphy, who recommended Moakley for the Cornell job. It is not necessary to say that Moakley has increased his reputation since he came to Cornell. He is to be credited with fourteen intercollegiate cross-country victories and six intercollegiate track victories in his seventeen years here. He has made himself something more than a mere track coach at Cornell, too. Many students who have had no idea of making a team have profited by his advice about the character and amount of the outdoor exercise they needed. He sets no limit to the number of men who are allowed to come out for the track team or the cross-country team and claim his attention in the spring or the fall. Last spring there were about three hundred and fifty men in his squad.

During the football season he has had oversight of the physical condition of the players. He has supervision of the training tables and regimen not only of the track and cross-country men but also of the baseball and football men.

Mr. Gelas Resigns

Fencing Instructor Here for Ten Years
—Will Go to West Point

Jean Marius Gelas, who has been instructor in fencing at Cornell since 1905, has resigned to accept an instructorship in the U. S. Military Academy, West Point. He will leave Ithaca as soon as his successor has been appointed. It is probable that he will be succeeded by R. B. Miller, who is now assistant to the coach of the Columbia University fencing team. Mr. Miller is expected to arrive in Ithaca within a week.

Under Mr. Gelas's coaching the Cornell intercollegiate fencing teams have taken high rank. In 1912 Cornell won the championship of the intercollegiate league which included teams representing the U. S. military and naval academies. It was the first time that a fencing championship had rested outside one or the other of those academies. Last spring there was no team from West Point in the tournament and Cornell finished second to the Navy, ahead of Pennsylvania, Harvard, Columbia and Yale.

The Lung Mow Trophy

Cross-Country Prize Awarded to P. O. Hall for Keeping it

The Cross-Country Club has awarded the Lung Mow trophy for the year to Perry Oliver Hall '18, of Ridgway, Pa. This prize is awarded every year to the cross-country runner who, in the judgment of the club's executive committee, has shown the greatest improvement during the year. Last year Hall did not make the freshman team, and he failed to make the varsity squad this fall, but his improvement was marked and considered worthy of encouragement. The Lung Mow trophy was given by F. W. Poate '05, formerly of Shanghai, China, and now an officer in the British army.

The freshman cross-country cup has been awarded to T. C. McDermott, of Stoneham, Mass., winner of all five of the freshman cup races last fall.

Swimming.—The Columbia swimming team defeated Cornell by the score of 42 to 11 in New York on January 21. Columbia won every first place and broke the intercollegiate record in the 200-yard relay race. Captain Eisele, of Cornell, finished second in the 220-yard swim, Jones finished third in the 100-yard swim, Fielding won second place in the diving contest, and Laidlow finished third in the plunge for distance.

Wrestling.—The university championships will be held on January 28. The winners in each of the seven classes will probably make up the team that will compete in the first dual meet, that with Princeton on February 19.

The annual track "get-together" was held in Barnes Hall on January 19. A record number of track candidates were present. A talk by Mr. Moakley, illustrated by lantern slides, was the feature of the evening. Speeches were given by Dr. Munford, Lieutenant Thompson, A. M. Shelton '14, captain of the track team in 1914, Captain J. S. Hoffmire '16, D. F. Potter, jr., '16, and L. V. Windnagle '17.

PRICE LAST QUOTED

It is said that Cornell has turned down Yale's offer of the $22,500, three professors and the choice of five ancient Egyptian tablets for the release of Coach Al Sharpe.—St. Louis Times.

C., which, when completed, will be by fourteen hundred feet the longest railroad tunnel in America. J. G. Sullivan, the Canadian Pacific's chief engineer, is in charge of the work. Mrs. Sullivan accompanied him to the mountain recently on the occasion of the breaking of the heading of the tunnel. She was one of the first persons to go through the tunnel, being accompanied by Mr. Marpole, the oldest official of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company on Western Lines.

Heretofore several months, in some cases more than twelve months, have passed before lienors or owners could procure an adjudication of rights and the establishment or overthrow of the asserted lien.
