AN interesting record of service in the war has been placed in the main lobby of the University Library: in a large standing frame are the names of those Cornellians, alumni, students, and members of the Faculty alike, who lost their lives in the great conflict. At the top is the University coat of arms; then the legend "Dulce et decorum est pro patria mori"; and below, in five columns, one hundred and seventy names. The whole is a simple but artistic and appropriate memorial to the honored dead.

ITHACA HAS A MURDER CASE: Edward Lee, colored, is under indictment for the murder of Napoleon Jackson, also colored. Jackson suddenly disappeared last June, and Lee was later arrested for theft of Jackson's automobile. While imprisoned in Washington, he made to his cellmate some remarks which aroused suspicion. Returned to Ithaca, he denied the charge; but later confessed, after a searching party had discovered Jackson's body buried on a farm in Danby, where Lee had worked. Jackson had been shot through the head. A large body of evidence has been brought together by the police. Lee had previously been under arrest for robbing a fraternity house.

TWO THOMAS-MORSE AIRPLANES, on exhibition at the New York aircraft show, returned by the air route on March 20. One, piloted by Paul Wilson, was forced by a shortage of oil to land in Binghamton; the other, piloted by "Tex" Marshall, made a continuous flight from the Hazelhurst field at Mineola to Ithaca in two hours and twenty-five minutes. A direct headwind all the way made flying difficult. With Wilson there rode a reporter of the New York Times and with Marshall a representative of the Sun. This flight, as Mr. Thomas points out, shows the adaptability of the airplane: the large cities of the country being scattered some three hundred miles apart, it seems clear that a scout plane carrying a pilot and a passenger can get from one city to its nearer neighbors in three hours or less.

THE SAGE CHAPEL preacher for Sunday, April 6, is the Rev. Dr. Clarence A. Barbour, president of Rochester Theological Seminary.

INITIAL STEPS are being taken toward a new form of city government for Ithaca. Proceeding under the provisions of a statute of 1914, interested citizens are urging the adoption of a plan therein outlined, of which the more significant features are these: an elected legislative council of five, of whom the mayor is one; the term of office four years; the salary $500; the creation of city departments, the appointment of departmental heads, and the fixing of compensation by the council; a city manager having executive control over and responsibility for all departments; the manager and his subordinates serving not for specified terms but during the pleasure of the council. Only the Board of Education and city members of the Board of Supervisors remain as at present. A petition will be circulated asking the Common Council to authorize a special election at which electors may express their wishes for or against the new form.

THREE CITY STREETS are to be paved this spring: South Aurora Street, Spencer Place, and University Avenue, ways much traveled to and from the business district. The material, though possibly brick, is likely to be bituminous asphalt.

AN ITEM of $100,000, for the Veterinary College is included in the annual appropriation bill now before the Legislature. Should the bill pass with this provision, the money will probably be used either for a new laboratory or for a new wing on the south side of the present building.

THE FIRST STORE on Cornell Heights will be built by Marcus N. Chacona, a confectioner on Eddy Street, who has bought of E. G. Wyckoff '89 a triangular plot at Thurston and Wait Avenues, opposite Prudence Risley Hall. It is Chacona's intention to erect this summer a small, attractive building in which to carry on a candy and ice cream business. Stipulations in the deed limit the kind of building and the uses to which it may be put, restrictions which seem sufficient to preserve the Heights as a residential section.

THE WORK of the Field Artillery as outlined for the Cornell unit will probably extend through three years, not as at some institutions through four. Two years of active drill in the battery will be supplemented by such physical training as may be deemed necessary for sound health and by carefully graduated special and intensive study at three summer camps. The academic requirements are readily met by existing courses. To these is to be added some instruction, perhaps three hours a week, in military science, which will be taught by Army officers and which will probably also be creditable toward the college degree. The interrelations of the military and academic curricula are such and the time to be spent in completing the artillery course is such that students so minded may meet the requirements with about as little difficulty as in the infantry, and may thereby qualify for commissions in the artillery reserve.

UNIVERSITY WORK for the present academic year will end on Tuesday, June 17. That date was determined by the committee on University policy, at a meeting held just before the spring recess, subject to approval by the University Faculty. The reason for ending work on June 17 is the necessity of having the student residence halls vacated and made ready for the alumni who are expected to begin coming on June 19 for the Semi-centennial Celebration. The celebration will be held on June 20, 21, and 22, and the Fifty-first Commencement will take place on Monday, June 23. There will be no block week, or period reserved for final examinations, at the end of the term. Examination in any subject will be given in the regular hours.

I. K. BERNSTEIN, for several years a merchant tailor on State Street, latterly in the real estate business, will soon become head of the construction department of a realty company in Gary, Indiana.

PROFESSOR HOLLIS E. DANN has returned to the University from four months of War Camp Community Service at Camp Taylor, Louisville, Kentucky. He takes up this term his regular work in the Department of Music.

THE ITHACA TRACTION CORPORATION has secured the services of Donald Stewart, M. E. '08, lately in engineering practice in New York, who has just come to Ithaca as superintendent.

Associate Alumni Directors Spring Meeting Held in Cleveland. Directors Travel Far to be Present.

The Board of Directors of the Associate Alumni met in Cleveland on March 22, the day of the annual dinner of the Cleveland club. The directors present were President N. H. Noyes, of Indianapolis, Secretary R. W. Sailor, of Ithaca, Treasurer W. W. Macon, of New York, and Directors Woodford Patterson, of Ithaca, Mrs. G. D. Crofts and J. L. Tiernon, of Buffalo, Miss Kate Gleason, of Rochester, W. R. Webster, of Bridgeport, Conn., J. P. Dodds and Erskine Wilder, of Chicago, J. P. Harris and C. L. Bradley, of Cleveland, and E. T. Foote, of Boston. Several visitors were present from time to time, including J. L. Senior, of Jackson, Mich., Major J. A. Meissner, of Brooklyn, and H. D. North, Dr. I. J. Kerr, and C. W. Whitehair of Cleveland.

In addition to routine business such as reports of committees, reading of the minutes, reports of officers, and reading of letters from absent directors, much business of various kinds was transacted.

Among other items of interest in the reports, the fact was disclosed that the American University Union would perhaps require more funds during the year to see it through the period of demobilization. The report of Treasurer Macon showed that half of the assessments of the local clubs had been paid into the treasury, including assessments from practically all of the women's clubs. Considerable time was used in hearing of various phases of University life, particularly academic work, athletics, and war records.

Resolutions that had been prepared and sent to Mrs. Andrew D. White and Mrs. Willard Straight were read and approved.

The business of arranging for Alumni Day, June 21, involved some discussions of value. Recommendation was made that in order to shorten the annual meeting of the association the reports of the retiring Trustees be published before the meeting. To the Athletic Association the suggestion was made that a boat race of some kind would be a most acceptable addition to the events of the afternoon.

A profitable discussion was held of the proposed Endowment Fund for the increasing of Faculty salaries.

A general discussion of the athletic situation included many of the present problems, such as the need of a graduate manager, the effect of the proposed Quadrangular League, alumni representation on the Athletic Council, and the probable successor to Dr. Sharpe.

Committees were appointed, in most cases with power, though some of the subjects obviously called for investigation and further report.

The board was entertained by the Cleveland alumni at a luncheon at noon, and nearly all the men remained for the annual dinner of the Cleveland club in the evening.

THE CLEVELAND BANQUET

The Cornell Club of Cleveland held its annual dinner at the University Club on Saturday, March 22. There were about a hundred and fifty present.

By arrangement, the Board of Directors of the Associate Alumni held a meeting in Cleveland that day so that those who could be were present. A considerable delegation from Akron came up for the festivities.

Professor Charles L. Durham, representing the University in the absence of President Schurman, was announced to speak on "The League of Nations." After mentioning the fact that a league of nations was under consideration, the professor gave a good account of conditions at the University during the past two years and gave some facts about compensation in the teaching profession which enlightened his hearers on some of the conditions. After a yell for "Bull," the audience demanded an encore on the League of Nations, and Professor Durham gave a historical outline of his subject from earliest times, linking it up with the present proposal and uttering a strong plea for support of the league as now offered.

Woodford Patterson '95, secretary of the University, who attended the Associate Alumni meeting, was called on for facts and figures in connection with Cornell's war record.

Nicholas H. Noyes '06, president of the Associate Alumni, talked of the Semi-centennial Celebration in June; urging the Cleveland Club to send a large delegation. Two rising votes were taken, the first indicating that about ninety would go to Ithaca, and the second that about one hundred would go in Joe Harris's automobile.

James A. Meissner, the Cornell ace, was the final speaker of the evening, telling some of his experiences and those of his associates while fighting the boche in the air. His talk was extremely interesting.

Greetings were sent to President Schurman, who was unable to be present because of an abdominal operation, undergone in New York City.

Of considerable interest to the visitors was the "jazz" put into the meeting by North '07 and Forbes '06. Whenever either a noise or silence was needed these floor leaders produced it. The toastmaster, Charles L. Bradley '08, dispatched the business of the office with speed and tact.

An interesting souvenir of the occasion, in addition to the program, was the 1919 directory of Cornell men resident in the territory of the club, about three hundred in all. It was compiled by the secretary, L. B. Timmerman '14, and was the gift of Karl B. Britton '06, of the Britton Printing Company. The book is three inches by five inches and about one-fourth inch thick, bound in pantasote. It contains, in addition to the list, historical matter connected with the club, and the club's constitution.

THE DETROIT BANQUET

The annual banquet of the Cornell University Association of Michigan known this year as the Victory Banquet and given in honor of the seventy Michigan Cornellians who were in the military service of our country, was held February 21 in the Henri II banquet room of the Hotel Stadler, Detroit.

Fifty Cornellians were present to do honor to their Alma Mater and to welcome as distinguished guests Professor Kimball from Ithaca and James Couzens, mayor of Detroit. Professor Kimball gave a most fascinating and instructive Cornell talk illustrated with stereopticon views showing Cornell's contribution towards the attainment of victory in the war.

Gleeson Murphy '01 acted as toastmaster. The officers of the Association are Clarence F. Harvey '02, president, Albert B. Hoffman '05, vice-president, M. A. Beltaire, jr., '02, secretary, Paul O. Reynau '13, treasurer, and Lieut. Col. Clarence F. Hirshfeld '05, industrial secretary.

SYRACUSE BANQUET

On March 15 the annual dinner of the Cornell Alumni of Central New York was held at Syracuse. About eighty Cornellians attended and, aided by a quartette from Ithaca, the singing had more of the enthusiasm if not all of the quality of a Glee Club concert.

President A. A. Costello '04 acted as toastmaster and introduced Judge C. W. Pound '87, of the Court of Appeals, and Louis Fuertes '97. Chief Judge F. H. Hiscock gave a glowing picture of the manner in which Cornell has met the educational and national need of our country.

A short business session was held at which E. L. Robertson '01 was elected president, E. A. Barnes '99, vice-president, and F. E. Norton, '13, secretary and treasurer. Nine new governors were elected for three years, W. K. Archbold '89, A. A. Costello '04, and George B. Hiscock '13, to serve with the following six appointed in two previous years: Dr. J. I. Greene, Wing R. Smith, L. S. Tracy, H. P. Baker, C. S. Estabrook, and L. M. Whitwell.

THE CHICAGO LUNCHEONS

The regular weekly luncheon held on March 20 was of unusual interest. The speaker was the Hon. Francis W. Parker, formerly an Illinois Senator and for nine months a divisional secretary for the Y. M. C. A. in France. Mr. Parker is the father of F. W. Parker, jr., '10.

The subject was "The League of Nations" and it was handled in a way that showed not only considerable study of the subject but also the careful analysis of a competent legal mind. Mr. Parker is opposed to the proposed League in its present form, not because of what it proposes to do but because there are too many points that are not covered as far as American interests are concerned. He compared the drafting of the proposed covenant with the steps that were taken in forming the Constitution of the United States, and by way of constructive criticism suggested a plan of action closely following that of the thirteen colonies in framing our present Constitution.

The interest in the subject was such that it is now the plan to have a speaker who is in favor of the proposed League and then to have a general discussion of the subject by the members. This will bring to the attention of many members information that they might not obtain otherwise and will help them to form an intelligent opinion on the most important document that has ever been considered for adoption by any nation.

The secretary, George M. Chapman '05, writes that it was a helpful meeting, and suggests that other Cornell clubs take the subject up in a similar way.

At the luncheon on March 27, the principal speaker was E. P. Farwell of the Babson Statistical Organization. His subject was "Up or Down and When?"—a discussion of the business outlook from a statistical point of view, which was followed by a discussion of the subject.

R. W. Sailor '07, who was secretary of the club from 1909 to 1916, and was visiting in Chicago, gave a short talk on the progress of the Associate Alumni in ten years, and an outline of conditions in Ithaca.

The attendance at both luncheons was about forty.

CIVIL ENGINEERS' MEETING

The spring meeting of the Cornell Society of Civil Engineers will be held in New York Monday evening, April 14. Professor C. R. Mann, of the University of Chicago, will speak on "Engineering Education." The Committee on Meetings, W. S. Edge '03, James N. Keenan '09, and Martin Stelges '15, will send out notices this week announcing the place of meeting.

It is expected that this will be a joint meeting of the recently organized Association of Sibley Men and the Cornell Society of Civil Engineers. The proposed combination of the two colleges at Ithaca will be discussed.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES

BOXING has been made a minor sport at Pennsylvania.

DARTMOUTH is to have a new swimming pool. It will be the gift of Governor Spaulding.

PERCY HAUGHTON is not expected to accept reappointment as Harvard football coach, on account of a business engagement which would conflict. He may be succeeded by Leo Leary, for several seasons his assistant, or by Reginald W. P. Brown.

THE MANAGEMENT of the Henley Regatta has decided not to admit any foreign entries this year. Consequently American crews will be eligible only for the inter-allied eight-oar race. For this event King George will present a cup, to become the property of the winning crew.

THE COLUMBIA CREWS went upon the water the week of March 17. Of the varsity men who rowed at Princeton and Annapolis last spring Columbia has only three left and only two of these have reported. Another man, Hawkins, was a substitute last season and rowed in one of the two races. The rest of the crew must be developed from last year's freshman squad. It will be impossible to find a crew averaging more than 160 pounds.

DEAN WILLIAM McCLELLAN, chairman of the University of Pennsylvania Council on Athletics, has proposed a novel plan for the elimination of many of the evils of college sports, particularly those which crop out in football. He would do away with the so-called "practice games" played with the small colleges, on the theory that they are a temptation to the small institutions to violate the ethics of college sports in order to be strong enough to beat the big colleges. He thinks that the seven leading universities in the East, Cornell, Columbia, Harvard, Dartmouth, Pennsylvania, Princeton, and Yale, should play one another as colleges possessing the same traditions and resources.

SALARIES AT YALE

At a meeting of the Yale Corporation on March 21 a very substantial increase in the salaries of the teaching staff was voted, to go into effect as of March 1. According to the new scale an instructor will start at $1,250 and will go automatically to $1,500 in his second year, $1,750 in his third year, and $2,000 in his fourth year. An assistant professor will receive $2,500 annually for the period of his first appointment, $3,000 for the period of the second appointment, and $3,500 for the period of the third appointment.

This represents a twenty-five per cent increase over the existing normal salaries for instructors and an increase of $500 over the normal scale of salaries of assistant professors of the different grades.

At its April meeting the Yale Corporation expects to take similar action respecting the salaries of full professors.

The Corporation adopted the following resolution recommended by its committee on education policy: "That nothing is of more fundamental importance for the welfare of the University and its future development than an immediate and substantial increase in salaries. That the increases in salaries already announced and those under consideration be regarded as only the initial steps in a general policy to bring about, as soon as additional income can be secured, further increase in the remuneration of those members of the Faculty who have consistently rendered the most efficient, intelligent, and inspiring service."

The Quadrangular League

Professor Diederichs Makes a Statement of its Objects and Present Status.

Considerable excitement has been created among certain interested alumni recently by some New York newspaper "dope" concerning an alleged Quadrangular League between the athletic organizations of Pennsylvania, Columbia, Dartmouth, and Cornell. Much of the excitement is due to the fact that no authoritative announcement has come from any of the four sources. Earlier newspaper reports of a Triangular League between Yale, Harvard, and Princeton have tended to increase the excitement because this league is supposed to be highly aristocratic and very exclusive. Known as the Big Three, it is responsible for the supposed formation of the Little Thirty, an organization that is said to be composed of most of the small colleges of the East, and to be a defensive alliance against the expected aggressions of the Big Three. The Big Four is commonly assumed, like the others, to have already been formed, and like the Little Thirty, to be a party of protest against the setting up of an athletic aristocracy.

Nothing definite has been given out officially by any of these organizations. It is known that the Student Council at Harvard has protested against making formal the alliance of the three colleges that has already effectively operated informally for years. Sounds have come from Columbia that show that all is not unanimous there in favor of the Big Four, while The Cornell Daily Sun has vigorously objected to the Triangular, Quadrilateral, Tridecagonal, and all other entangling alliances.

Professor Herman Diederichs, president of the Cornell University Athletic Association, has given us a statement of the objects and present status of the Quadrilateral League, under whatever title it may be known if consummated.

The proposed agreement is between the athletic authorities at Cornell, Columbia, Dartmouth, and Pennsylvania.

The constitution, dealing largely with matters of organization, has been ratified in principle by Cornell, at least, but has not yet been adopted. Cornell has sent in its eligibility rules, which, it is hoped, will be adopted by the other members.

The object of the league is positive, not negative. Any member may play with any other competitor it can. The covenant will provide, however, for football games between the teams in the league, two baseball games each, and an interchange in rowing, track athletics, and other sports, subject of course to the existence of teams, and not completely effective in football until Columbia's faculty rules to permit games with heavy opponents. Arrangements for home and home games, and for the use of the Columbia and Pennsylvania stadiums for Cornell-Dartmouth games will probably be included.

Practically then, in Professor Diederichs's view, there is nothing to prevent Cornell, for example, from scheduling a game with Harvard, except that Harvard is apparently committed formally, as she was previously committed informally, to games, usually stiff ones, with Yale and Princeton both in November, while Cornell will have an end-schedule much like next year's, with Dartmouth as a late-season opponent and Pennsylvania for Thanksgiving Day, and in several years will add Columbia as a third big game. Professor Diederichs, therefore, feels that the situation, as it relates to football with the Big Three, is not materially altered by the formation of the new alliance, while in rowing and other sports the arrangement cuts practically no figure at all. He points out, however, that financially the agreement will merely improve the present situation without preventing the forming of new ties, and without breaking any old ones, by supplying a nucleus for each schedule that is formed.

It is likely that the agreements, if consummated, will be completed and signed before summer.

SCIENCE FELLOWSHIPS

The National Research Council announces fifteen or twenty Research Fellowships in physics and chemistry, at $1,500 a year, open to those who have the doctor's degree or equivalent, the research to be carried on at educational institutions. Applications for the Fellowships should be made to the National Research Council, 1023 Sixteenth Street, Washington, D. C. Applications will be received up to September 1, 1919, for Fellowships available during the next academic year; but a limited number of appointments will be made on the basis of the applications received before April 20, 1919.

BY THE DISSOLUTION OF the partnership between the Causer brothers, James A. Causer becomes sole owner and proprietor of the Ithaca Hotel.

ARMY AND NAVY

Air Service Honor Roll

In the first number of U. S. Air Service, the official publication of the Air Service Clubs' Association, there appears the Honor Roll of the Air Service, containing the names of American airmen decorated for conspicuous bravery in action. The list, which includes both American and foreign awards, contains the names of a number of Cornell flyers, whose names and decorations follow:

Distinguished Service Cross (American)—Captain Maury Hill '17; First Lieut. Roger Wolcott Hitchcock '10 (deceased); Major James Armand Meissner '18; First Lieut. John Hanson Michener '16; First Lieut. William Wallace Waring '07 (deceased).

Distinguished Flying Cross (British)—Second Lieut. Jo'm Owen Wilson Donaldson '20.

Croix de Guerre (French)—Major James A. Meissner '18.

Italian Service Ribbon (Italian)—First Lieut. Linus Vere Windnagle '17; Second Lieut. Hugh J. Gaffney '11.

The military records of Captain Hill, Lieutenant Windnagle, and Lieutenant Gaffney, whose decorations have not been previously noted in the ALUMNI NEWS, are given below.

Hill entered the service in the spring of 1917, and received his preliminary training in Chicago, going abroad in November of that year as a first lieutenant in the Air Service. He spent some time as a pilot with an observation squadron at the front, and later was promoted to captain and placed in command of the 24th Aero Service Squadron. In the casualty list of October 7, he was reported as having died of injuries received in an airplane accident, but it was later proved that the report was in error, and that he had brought his machine to the ground successfully, with a broken engine crank shaft. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Walker Hill, of St. Louis, and a brother of Lockwood Hill '09 and Walker Hill, jr., '15; he is a member of Kappa Alpha. He has now been discharged from the service and is working in St. Louis.

Windnagle attended the First Officers' Training Camp at Madison Barracks. Later he entered the School of Military Aeronautics at Cornell, and went abroad in October, 1917, receiving his flying training in Italy. Then he was sent to schools in the British Isles and in France, but returned to Italy when he had finished the courses. Windnagle is a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Windnagle, of Portland, Oregon, and is a member of Delta Tau Delta, Aleph Samach, and Quill and Dagger. During his last three years in college, he was a member of the varsity track team and the varsity cross country team, becoming captain of the latter in his senior year. In his freshman year he was a member of the freshman track and cross country teams. He was one of Cornell's fastest half-milers, and was winner of the mile championship at the Intercollegiate Meet in 1916.

Gaffney enlisted on July 6, 1917, and was assigned to the Princeton Ground School, going overseas in September of that year. In the spring of 1918, he was sent to the Aviation Instruction Center at Foggia, Italy, and on May 18, 1918, was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Air Service (aeronautics), U. S. R. During July and August he received flying training at Tours, France, returning to Italy, where he served as a Caproni pilot. He returned to this country on February 19. Lieutenant Gaffney is a son of the late Hugh Gaffney, and lives at 96 Gifford Avenue, Jersey City, N. J.

Hellquist '17 Cited

Second Lieutenant Oscar Emil Hellquist '17 (deceased) is one of the sixty-six officers and men cited by Major-General John F. O'Ryan for valor in breaking the Hindenburg Line.

Hellquist had been in the service since May 1, 1917, when he enlisted in Company F, 7th Regiment, New York National Guard. This regiment was sent to Camp Wadsworth, S. C., as the 107th U. S. Infantry. Hellquist was one of the men selected to attend the Officers' Training School at Wadsworth, and after his arrival in France, was commissioned a second lieutenant. He was hit by a shell on October 17, and died the following day. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Hellquist, of Summit, N. J.

New Honors for Eggers

Sergeant Alan Louis Eggers '19, to whom has been awarded the Distinguished Service Cross and the Congressional Medal of Honor for heroism in action, has also been decorated with the Distinguished Conduct Medal (British). The official citation follows:

"Corporal Alan Louis Eggers, Machine Gun Company, 107th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Venduille on September 29. Corporal Eggers, with Sergeant John C. Latham, responded to a call for help from an American tank which was disabled in an open field swept by machine-gun and shell fire. With great gallantry and disregard for personal safety, they carried out a wounded officer and two soldiers to a shell hole near by, after which they returned to the tank, dismounted a Hotchkiss gun, and carried it with them to the shell hole, where they kept the enemy at bay until night, when they returned to our lines, bringing in three wounded men and the gun."

Eggers is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Eggers, of Summit, N. J., and is a member of Chi Phi. He left the Cornell Law School in April, 1917 to enter the service, and returned to this country with the 27th Division. He had been promoted to the rank of sergeant, and was mustered out of service at Camp Upton this week.

Record of a Cornell Ace

Lieut. Jesse O. Creech '20, who is one of the American aces, was a flight commander in the 148th Aero Squadron at the time the armistice was signed. While in college, Creech volunteered for the Ambulance Service, but when war was declared, having had no opportunity to serve in this branch, he entered the Officers' Training Camp at Fort Myer, Va. A few weeks before his course was finished, he was sent, with several others, to Toronto, to train for the Air Service with the Royal Flying Corps. His unit was sent to Texas in September for further training, and sailed for England in January, 1918. He went to France on July 4, and from that time until the armistice he was on duty with the Air Service on the western front. Until the last two weeks of the war, his unit was brigaded with the British Royal Flying Corps. He was in action at Dunkirk, Amiens, and Arras; his last flight with his unit took place over the town of Le Quesnoy, when six Hun planes were shot down. Lieutenant Creech has to his credit six German planes, and two balloons. His home address is 6614 Harlan Place, Tacoma Park, Md.

In Front of the Marines

Major Ovid E. Roberts, jr., '14, of the Chemical Warfare Service, writes as follows concerning Major Charles Parkinson Wood '04:

"Major C. P. Wood, Chemical Warfare Service, has been discharged from the service. He was abroad with the 30th Engineers, which, on reorganization, became the 1st Gas Regiment of the Chemical Warfare Service. As Army troops, they were extremely active, going from one front to another, and enjoy the distinction of having put up the smoke screen in front of the Marines at Chatcau-Thierry.

"Major Wood received the Croix de Guerre for his work in putting off an unusually difficult shoot from No Man's Land when the trenches in that particular sector were almost too hot to hold. After the shoot the boche shut up shop to take inventory.

"He was sent back to this country this fall, and while here had organized, equipped and trained two battalions, the 4th and 5th, which had received their orders to join the 1st Gas Regiment at the time the armistice was signed. He took an unusual interest in his work, and at the demobilization of these battalions he saw to it, personally, that each and every man in these battalions had a position in civil life to return to."

Wood is a graduate of Sibley College, class of 1904, and is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

A PHYSICS REUNION

The Department of Physics is planning to hold a Physics Reunion June 19-20. In addition to a Physics Conference on June 20, held in connection with the Semi-centennial Celebration of the University, there will be a meeting held under the auspices of the Physics Seminary on June 19th at which scientific papers will be presented and discussed, followed by a dinner to be given in honor of Professor E. L. Nichols by the Department and members of the University Faculty.

SOUTH ATLANTIC SUBCHAIRMAN

President Noyes has added Alfred Huger '03 of Charleston, South Carolina, to the committee on Local Clubs. Mr. Huger is subchairman for the South Atlantic Division, which includes everything south of the State of New York except the State of New Jersey.

ENTRANCE EXAMINATIONS were held, according to schedule, during five days of the spring recess, from March 24 to 28. Persons taking these tests were unexpectedly numerous, so that question-papers were set in nearly all entrance subjects. The number of answer books handed in was about 250. These figures, however, are no indication of the number of new students who will register for the spring term.

A BOAT RACE FOR JUNE 21

It was the opinion of the directors of the Associate Alumni at the Cleveland meeting that a varsity crew race, or failing that even an intercollegiate race, would be a happy addition to the events of Alumni Day on June 21. That the Semi-centennial Celebration would be interesting without a boat race was, of course, assumed from the preliminary announcements. The group present at the meeting, representatives of alumni associations from Boston to Chicago, were nevertheless unanimous in feeling that no one event was as characteristic of Cornell activity, nor as interesting a spectacle to the alumni, as a regatta, whether of rival universities, or between picked crews from Cornell.

Good news comes to us from Columbia and Pennsylvania that the crews of the former have taken to the water, and that the latter, which had expected to have its varsity in England this summer, was not eligible this year at the Henley Regatta. If there is doubt in the minds of the committee or the rowing authorities that the alumni want to see a crew race, it is hoped that the resolution of the Associate Alumni will dispel it. If the opponents that Fortune has apparently offered us prove to be unavailable, the average alumnus has always had a curious fetish that the first and second Cornell varsities are the toppers in the sport anyway. By all means let us have a boat race even if we have to defeat ourselves.

TOMLINSON STARTS THE BALL

Frank C. Tomlinson '74, of Ironton, Ohio, writes to the ALUMNI NEWS, under the date of March 17, as follows:

"Referring to the editorial 'The Endowment Fund,' in your March 13th (unlucky) number, in which you predict it will probably devolve on the Alumni to raise the Fund, I will not give $1,750—nor any other amount—to start it, with the indefinite hope that the Fund will be raised, but I will make this proposition.

"If you, or some one, will divide an amount to be raised—as large as it is thought the Alumni will stand—into classes, so many at $1,000, so many at $500, so many at $150, and so many at $100, I will give the last amount in each class when I can be assured that the class is filled up—with my part—with bona fide subscriptions that can be called on demand.

"Of course I would hope that all the classes would be filled but I will not make that a requirement before I pay the amount due from me in any one class.

"I would limit this offer to be open only until four months after the date of the Fifth Liberty Loan and I will pay my subscriptions in Fifth Liberty Loan Bonds.

"You are at liberty to give any publicity to this offer you care to—or not use it at all if you do not think it will work.

"Very truly yours,
F. C. TOMLINSON, '74."

Here is a definite offer and practical suggestion which we pass on to the Cornellian Council, which is now outlining a plan of campaign. The movement cannot be begun—or completed—too soon.

E. in 1906. He was a member of Delta Phi, and in his sophomore year was a member of his class football team.

For a year following his graduation, Curtis was associated with the General Electric Company, of Schenectady. When the Minnesota and Ontario Power Company began the construction of its immense newsprint mill at International Falls, Minn., he went West to direct the installation of the electrical equipment of the plant. In 1900 he returned to the East, became an electrical engineer with the International Paper Company, of New York, and in subsequent years performed numerous electrical engineering tasks in the various mills of the company.

In the fall of 1917, he secured a leave of absence, and went to Washington as adviser on electrical matters to the War Industries Board. He returned to his former position with the International Paper Company the first of this year, and a few weeks after his return was taken ill with influenza, from which pneumonia developed.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Warren Curtis, of Corinth, two sisters, Mrs. C. H. Yates, of White Plains, and Miss Marguerite Curtis, of Corinth, and two brothers, Warren Curtis, jr., manager of the Thorold, Ontario, mill of the Ontario Paper Company, Ltd., and Allen Curtis '00, manufacturing manager of the International Paper Company.

Y., High School, entering Cornell in February, 1915, and receiving the degree of B. S. in 1918. In her junior and senior years, she played on the women's baseball team. She had been visiting in Cleveland, Ohio, when she suffered an attack of influenza. On February 6, she returned to Salt Lake City with her mother, but suffered a relapse a few days later, which resulted in her death.

William C. Chisholm '22

William Cairns Chisholm died in the Delhi Hospital on March 11, following an operation for appendicitis.

Chisholm was born at Meredith, N. Y., on November 9, 1896, a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Chisholm. He prepared at the Delhi High School, and entered Sibley College in 1917, registering for a five-year course.

He will specialize in aeronautical engineering.

ATHLETICS

Regatta With Princeton

The Princeton varsity and freshman crews will be Cornell's opponents in the Spring Day regatta on May 24. After several weeks of negotiations the management succeeded in scheduling the Princeton eights, thereby insuring an interesting regatta for the big spring athletic festival. The high quality of the crews turned out by Princeton in the recent past makes it certain that the revival of the Cayuga Lake regatta will be one of the most important events of the Eastern rowing season.

The Cornell and Princeton crews met last on Carnegie Lake in 1918, when for the first time since the Tigers resumed rowing, their varsity eight beat a Cornell varsity crew. The Cornell freshmen, however, had little difficulty in defeating the Princeton youngsters in the same regatta.

The Spring Day regatta will be the first held on Cayuga Lake since 1916, when Cornell defeated Princeton and Yale in a triangular race, winning out over the Tigers in the last quarter of a mile after a stirring battle all the way down the course.

The Princeton race it is hoped will not constitute Cornell's whole rowing program. The crews will not leave Ithaca this year, it has been determined, but one more home engagement is likely to be arranged for the varsity crew. There is a strong sentiment for scheduling a varsity race for June 21, as a feature event of the athletic program of the Semi-centennial Celebration. Alumni hopes of bringing the Annapolis eight to Ithaca have been abandoned, but it is believed that Pennsylvania and Columbia could be induced to send their crews to Cayuga Lake for a triangular race.

Wrestlers in Third Place

The Cornell wrestling team finished third in the annual intercollegiate championship meet held last Friday and Saturday at State College, Pa., under the auspices of Penn State. For the second time in two years the Penn State team won the title, scoring 23 points to 20 for Lehigh and 16 for Cornell. Penn was fourth with eight points and Columbia last with seven.

Ackerley of Cornell won first place in the 115-pound class by throwing Gerson of Penn in 7 minutes 48 seconds, and Conroy of Cornell won the championship in the 135-pound class by throwing Ketterer of Penn in 9 minutes 58 seconds. These two were the only two from the Cornell team to get into the finals.

In the 125-pound class Howell of Cornell lost his match for second place to Lee of Columbia by a decision. Tuttle of Cornell won third place in the 145-pound class by throwing Loeser of Lehigh in one minute 44 seconds. Noonan of Cornell in the heavyweight class won third place by a decision over Rogers of Columbia.

Cornell Shield Candy

Before-the-war quality in candy means a change in quality of some candy. Whitman's quality has remained the same thru the war. The "Shield" box is one dollar and twenty-five cents a pound plus the postage on one pound.
