Fraternities Plan to Entertain Their
Alumni at Semi-Centennial

Published for the Associate Alumni of Cornell University by the Cornell Alumni News Publishing Company, Incorporated.

Published weekly during the college year and monthly during the summer; forty issues annually. Issue No. 1 is published the last Thursday of September. Weekly publication (numbered consecutively) continues through Commencement Week. The number of monthly issues and of double numbers will depend somewhat on the University calendar, which is likely to be irregular for the period of the war. Issue No. 40 is published in August and is followed by an index of the entire volume, which will be mailed on request.

Subscription price $3.00 a year, payable in advance. Foreign postage 40 cents a year extra. Domestic rates apply to addresses in the American Expeditionary Forces. Single copies twelve cents each. Double numbers twenty-four cents a copy.

Should a subscriber desire to discontinue his subscription, notice to that effect should be sent in before its expiration. Otherwise it is assumed that a continuance of the subscription is desired.

Checks, drafts, and orders should be made payable to Cornell Alumni News.

Correspondence should be addressed—

THIRTY fraternities, reporting at a meeting of the Interfraternity Council last Thursday, announced their intention of having house parties on Spring Day, Saturday, May 24. It is also proposed that a dance comparable with the Junior Ball be given on Friday evening, the rules being so modified that freshmen may attend. Fraternity teas and dances will then fall on May 22 and 24. These plans, if carried out, will provide ample social diversion for all in advance of the Semi-centennial Celebration.

THE FRESHMEN had their banquet in the Old Armory last Saturday evening. Members of the class attended in numbers gratifyingly large. The toastmaster was D. W. Brown of Punxsutawney, Pa.; and responses were made by Lieut. Theodore H. Twesten, University professor; Professor Arthur W. Browne, of the Department of Chemistry; Col. Frank A. Barton, commandant; Dr. Albert H. Sharpe, University coach; and William M. Kendall, president of the Student Council. The banquet was preceded, in the afternoon, by the usual mud rush in which each class claimed victory.

THE FACULTY of the Graduate School has appointed Seichiro Noda honorary fellow in physics. Mr. Noda is assistant professor of electrical engineering in the Imperial University, Kyoto, Japan, now on two years' leave of absence for study in America, the present year at Cornell. His researches have already borne fruit in a monograph on "The Matrix Method of Treating Alternating Current Phenomena."

THE RED CROSS collection of used clothing amounted in Ithaca and the immediate vicinity to 16,200 pounds, of which about one ton is made up of shoes. Though there was no assigned quota, the collection is double the quota of four tons set in the campaign last autumn.

THE ELECTION of four new members to the staff of The Widow is announced: to the art department, Albert S. Duncan '22 of Brooklyn and Ralph D. Huszach '20 of Jeffersonville, N. Y.; and to the editorial department, Ralph A. McClelland '21 of Brooklyn and H. J. Roemer '22 of Toledo, Ohio.

THE SECOND NATIONAL Milk and Dairy Exposition will be held in the Seventy-first Regiment Armory, New York City, during the week beginning April 21. Funds for this exhibition come mainly from a State appropriation, in less measure from contributions by the Dairymen's League and interested organizations in neighboring states; and all are administered by the State Department of Agriculture. The College of Agriculture is cooperating, especially on the educational side. The show has also its commercial aspects. President Schurman is chairman of the committee on exhibits; and with him as representatives of the College of Agriculture are Dean Mann and Professors Babcock, Burritt, and Rose. Professor Bristow Adams is in New York this week as director of advertising for the exposition.

THE AWARDING of eight Cs in minor sports is announced by the Athletic Council: in basketball to Howard B. Ortner '19, captain, Buffalo; Joaquin Molinet, jr., '21, captain-elect, Chaporra, Cuba; William M. Kendall '19, Buffalo; Irving N. Sidman '21, Brooklyn; and Chauncey J. Stewart '19, Plainfield, N. J.; and in wrestling to Clarence P. Zepp '19, captain, Troy, N. Y.; Charles E. Ackerly '20, Cuba, N. Y.; and Edward F. Conroy '20, Ogden, Utah.

FRED C. BARR, of Barr Brothers Hardware Company, well known in business circles for some thirty-five years, died on April 8. He was a member of the Board of Education, an elder in the Congregational Church, and a director of the Board of Commerce, the Savings and Loan Association, and the Y. M. C. A. He was the father of David P. Barr, A. B. '11, M. D. '11, and of Joseph S. Barr '18. The stores of the city were closed during the funeral on Friday.

TWO ADDITIONAL OFFICERS have been detailed by the War Department as instructors in the R. O. T. C. Captain Joseph J. Weinhandler comes from Camp Taylor, Kentucky, and First Lieutenant Earl G. Wagner from Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

AMONG LECTURES this week we note "Spring Birds" by Louis A. Fuertes '97 before the Agassiz Club and "Timber Cruising in the Tropics" (illustrated) by Professor W. W. Rowlee.

THE UNIVERSITY MUSICAL CLUBS are once more getting under way. The Glee Club last week and the Mandolin Club this week have effected partial reorganization. Of the Glee Club more than twenty former members are now in residence. Last year, owing to the war, the clubs were more or less inactive, not attempting the usual vacation trips, and appearing at Ithaca only on Founder's Day and in May and at Binghamton in March. Something like the old-time itinerary is probable next year. Professor Dann, lately returned from Camp Taylor, will again direct the work of the Glee Club. Though no trip is planned for this year, a concert seems assured for the Semi-centennial in June.

SEVERAL CASES OF FRAUD in examinations came before the Committee on Student Affairs last week. After deliberation the committee removed from the University twelve students for impersonating other students in examinations or for securing other students to represent them in examinations. The applications and credits of six prospective freshmen were cancelled and they were debarred from entrance to the University because of fraudulent impersonation at the entrance examinations in March.

THE MAYOR'S COMMITTEE has set May 1 as the probable date of welcome to the city's returning soldiers and sailors. Athletic sports, a reception, and a dance are planned in addition to other forms of entertainment.

HAMLIN GARLAND, the novelist and dramatist, has accepted an invitation to lecture at the University on Tuesday, April 22. His subject will be "Personal Recollections of Famous Modern Writers." The lecture will be given in Goldwin Smith Hall at 8 o'clock in the evening.

THE CORNELL WOMEN'S DRAMATIC CLUB will give "The Yellow Jacket," a Chinese comedy, at the Lyceum Theater, on Saturday evening, April 26.

THE SAGE CHAPEL PREACHER for Sunday, April 20, is the Rev. Charles R. Brown, Dean of the School of Religion, Yale University.

DEAN THILLY will deliver the commencement address at Haverford College on June 13.

New York Club's New House Cornell Club Unites with Delta Kappa Epsilon Club on West 44th Street.

On May 1st, after ten years' occupancy of 65 Park Avenue, the Cornell Club in New York City will remove to 30 West 44th Street. The change is made as a result of an invitation extended by the Delta Kappa Epsilon Club, that the two clubs should occupy jointly the building which has housed the fraternity organization since 1916. It is the building that was formerly occupied by the Yale Club.

The friendly tender of the D. K. E. Club has been accepted by the New York club after serious consideration. Realizing that the lease of the house at Park Avenue and 38th Street would expire on April 30th, the Cornell Club Board of Governors for several months has been actively investigating the problems of the future. In their deliberations the Governors and the members of the club at large have had it very keenly in mind that the type of club which Cornell maintains in New York is of vital importance, not merely to a few hundred New Yorkers, but to the University in Ithaca and to Cornell alumni throughout the country. Looking two or three years hence, when it is confidently expected plans will be laid for the greater Cornell club, the New York membership has decided with an overwhelmingly favorable vote to accept the generous offer of the fraternity. So far as negotiations have progressed there is little doubt but that Cornell men will feel thoroughly at home in their new quarters, and that college and fraternity will unite in fullest harmony. The D. K. E. Club is disposed to meet Cornell in a spirit of generous cooperation in the matter of details.

The D. K. E. clubhouse is a large and attractive structure. It contains over seventy bedrooms, a large dining room, a grill room, private dining room, a gymnasium, a squash court, a barber shop, a billiard room, card rooms, a library, and a general lounging room—all on a scale fairly comparable with the leading college clubs. The location is excellent, in the "club district," near the Harvard, Columbia, City, New York Yacht, and other clubs.

As a direct and immediate result of the move to Forty-fourth Street, the men who are charged with the administration of the Cornell Club are laying their plans with confidence for a greatly increased membership. It is not only that the building will be more attractive to the four thousand Cornellians in the metropolitan district who have never allied themselves with the club; it is that the greater facilities will prove distinctly appealing to the many thousands of non-residents, who, largely because of lack of rooming accommodations, have failed in the past to see why they should support the New York club. Incidentally, the club at 30 West 44th Street will make money, recouping to a large degree the losses sustained at 65 Park Avenue—a consideration of no little importance in planning for the future.

The president of the Cornell Club in New York is Edwin N. Sanderson '87, and it is largely the result of his personal efforts that the new arrangements have been effected.

FRATERNITY REUNIONS

The fraternities of the University are making a great effort to secure the return of as many of their alumni as possible for the Semi-centennial Celebration on June 20-23. At a meeting of the Inter-fraternity Association held last Thursday evening, it was ascertained that a very considerable number of those there represented had already sent out their first notice concerning the celebration and the other members of the Association indicated their intention of communicating with their alumni within a few days. A general plan has been adopted of enclosing in the first notice a return postal card, upon which information will be furnished by the alumnus in order that proper reservations may be made. Each fraternity will endeavor to house its own members and extra accommodations, if necessary, will be obtained, with the aid of the Committee on Guests of the General Semi-Centennial Committee. Most of the fraternities are planning to serve such meals as seem desirable in connection with the general programme of the Celebration.

The undergraduates realize that this will be perhaps the only opportunity the older fraternity members will have to meet the men of other class delegations who were in college with them. An alumnus who attends the celebration in June will meet many of the fraternity members who were in all the seven classes that composed the chapter during his undergraduate days. It is an opportunity for the renewal of friendships which should be seized by all fraternity men. Some chapters are requesting their former members who expect to be in Ithaca for the celebration to write other members urging them to also be present for the Semi-centennial.

A NEW DORMITORY

The will of John Lyon, '83, former controller of Nassau County, filed for probate at Mineola, N. Y., on April 10, leaves a fund of $50,000 to the University for the erection of a dormitory for the use of students, to be known as Lyon Hall. The sum of $10,000 goes to the town of Clifton, Dutchess County, for building a town hall or town house as a memorial to the decedent's parents and his brother, Martin Lyon. The rest of the will, estimated at $200,000 or $300,000, is divided among three sisters.

SECRETARY ENDOWMENT FUND

Lieut. William VanKirk, A. B. '13, has been appointed secretary of the Endowment Fund and will have his headquarters for the rest of the term in the Hart Memorial Library, 32 Morrill Hall.

VanKirk was born in Pittsburgh on January 11 (Founder's Day), 1891, the son of W. L. VanKirk, Yale '82; he is a cousin of Christopher Dravo '04. In college he was a member of Chi Psi, Quill and Dagger, Aleph Samach, Majura, Cimex, and the Sunday Night Club. He was also manager of the Navy and chairman of the freshman Spring Day Committee, the Sophomore Cotillion Committee, and the Junior Ball Committee.

After leaving the University he was manager of the Aluminum Castings Company, of Fairfield, Conn., for five years.

He was commissioned first lieutenant in the Air Service directly from civilian life on January 24, 1918. After spending some time at Camp Hancock, Augusta, Georgia, and Camp Green, Charlotte, N. C., he sailed on June 21 for overseas. He served until the end of the war as an executive officer of the Production and Maintenance Division of the Air Service, Zone of Advance, with headquarters at Colombey-Belles. Returning to America in January, he arrived at Hoboken on February 1, and received his discharge papers on February 3.

His extensive business experience and wide acquaintance among Cornellians make him an ideal man for the important task.

ARMY AND NAVY

D. S. M. for Willard Straight

Major Willard D. Straight '01 (deceased) is one of the 167 officers to whom the Distinguished Service Medal has been awarded by General Pershing. Major Straight is the only officer in the list under the rank of lieutenant colonel, except Chaplain C. H. Brent. Three of the officers are deceased. His citation reads as follows:

"Major Willard D. Straight (deceased)—For exceptionally meritorious and distinguished services. In the service of the organization, development, and administration of the War Risk Bureau his efforts resulted in marked efficiency in the handling of the large volume of insurance, as well as the numerous applications for allotments and allowances, which covered almost the entire personnel of the American Expeditionary Forces. As an assistant in the First Section of the General Staff of the First Army he rendered particularly valuable services to the Government by his great energy and high ability."

Major Straight was one of the leaders in the Plattsburg manoeuvres in 1915, and in 1917 was made commanding major in the Adjutant General's Department, U. S. R. He was made adjutant general in charge of soldiers' war insurance in Washington, and at his own request was transferred to France as supervisor of the overseas branch. He died of pneumonia in Paris on December 1. The War Department has been requested to make presentation of the award to his next of kin, Mrs. Dorothy Whitney Straight.

Two Honors for General Bell

The War Department has authorized the publication of a communication from General Pershing, announcing the award of the Distinguished Service Medal to one hundred and sixty-seven officers. The list is headed by Major General George Bell, jr., '94; his citation follows:

"Major Gen. George Bell, jr.—For exceptionally meritorious and distinguished services. He led his command, with distinction, in the offensive operations with the British which resulted in the capture of Hamel and Hamel Woods, and in the fighting on the Meuse that gained the villages of Marcheville, St. Hilaire, and a portion of Bois Harville. He displayed a high order of leadership in the Argonne-Meuse offensive, when his division attacked and captured the strongly fortified Bois de Forges. The successful operations of the division which he trained and commanded in combat were greatly influenced by his energy and abilities as a commander."

General Bell is a graduate of West Point, in the class of 1880. In 1892, while he was a first lieutenant in the 3d Infantry, U. S. A., he was detailed to Cornell as commandant, remaining until 1896. During the Spanish-American War, he was a captain in the 1st Infantry, and was in action at El Caney and before Santiago, where he won the brevet of major. In 1913 he became a colonel, and in 1914 he was made a brigadier-general. During the Mexican trouble, he was in command of one of the brigades on the border. Before going abroad, General Bell was in command of the Prairie Division of the National Army, stationed at Camp Logan, Texas. In France, he was commander of the 33d (Illinois) Division, which was in action on the British front in Flanders, and at the time of the armistice was at Troyon and St. Dizier.

General Bell was recently honored by having the Order of the Knight Commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George conferred upon him by the British Government.

British Cross for Ray

The Military Cross which was awarded by the British Government to Captain John E. Ray '12 (deceased) has just been received by his mother, Mrs. John E. Ray, of Raleigh, N. C. It is a silver decoration in the shape of a Maltese cross, adorned with four crowns and the monogram of the King of Great Britain, G. R. L. Captain Ray was also decorated with the Distinguished Service Cross.

Ray was commissioned in the Medical Corps; he had been attached to the 119th Infantry, and was wounded while serving with the British on October 2, and died in a base hospital on October 6.

Cornellians in Rhineland

Lieutenant Herbert Snyder '16 writes as follows from Bendorf, Germany: The Editor, CORNELL ALUMNI NEWS:

I have seen a number of Cornell men in my wanderings in the Rhineland and in France in the last week or so, and thought I would let you know about them.

"Doc" [Floyd C.] Sager '17 is veterinarian of the 15th Field Artillery—he has wrestled in several matches, but in the heavyweight class. He has grown a bit since he was middleweight champion. George [B.] Woodle '16 is a lieutenant in the 2d Engineers—he succeeded [Allsed A.] Dederer '06 as division engineer just a week or so ago. Dederer is a captain and is quite bald. Those three are all in the 2d Division, which is just now resting easy on the Rhine below Coblenz—on the far side.

I came across Armin [C.] Frank '17 very recently; he is a lieutenant in the 107th Engineers, 32d Division, which is also in the bridgehead. [George L.] Erwin '17, after leading a fine life, being a night bomber, attached to the British R. A. F., is now in Trier [Treves].

Two days ago I was in Paris on leave, and saw "Shorty" [Alma W.] Richards '17, who is thinking of competing for the A. E. F. Olympic team, and [William S.] McCormick '17 who was there for the same reason. They are both lieutenants.

"Joe" [Joseph C.] Carry '18 has a "cushy" place on the Shipping Board or some organization like that with offices in Paris: he is a lieutenant, formerly in an artillery regiment of the 3d Division. "Eddie" [Edward E.] Anderson '17 was in Paris too, but only on leave; he is still a lieutenant in the artillery of the 79th Division. I saw a football game while in Paris—I had heard that "Fritz" [Francis T.] Shiverick '18, who is an A. D. C. to some general at G. H. Q., would play for the G. H. Q. team, but he didn't appear. I also saw "Bill" [William A.] McCandless '16, who is a lieutenant, but I have forgotten in what branch. Colonel Thompson, the former commandant, stayed at the same hotel I did.

Several of those I have mentioned hope to be back for the big reunion in June, but none of us in the regular divisions will be back in time, I'm afraid.

Sincerely yours,

HERBERT SNYDER '16,

1st Lieut., 9th Infantry.

Reunion Crossing Channel

One of the Cornell men selected to attend the spring term at different British universities, in speaking of his trip across the English Channel, says that at dinner out of ten men at one table, five were Cornell men, and that only two of them knew each other. The five were Captain Willard I. Emerson '19, 311th Infantry; Lieut. N. Herbert Long

'18, Air Service; Lieut. George A. Benton, jr., '19, 12th Aero Squadron; Lieut. Charles S. Beck '17, 26th Engineers; and Lieut. George H. Hewett '16.

The Rhodes Scholarships Several Changes in Method of Selection Caused by the War.

The election of Rhodes scholars, postponed during the war, will be resumed next October; it is hoped that by fall demobilization will be so far advanced that men now in service may compete if they desire.

Owing to the inability of the Oxford colleges to receive more than a limited number of Rhodes scholars at a time, the accumulation of postponed scholarships raises some difficulties. In order to meet these obstacles it is proposed to fill this October only the 1918 and 1919 postponed scholarships. The scholars then elected for 1918 will then go into residence, so far as possible, in January, 1920; those elected for 1920 will enter in October, 1920. Similarly, the scholars for 1920 and 1921 will be elected in October, 1920. The 1920 men will go into residence in January, 1921, and the 1921 men in October, 1921. After 1920 the elections will be held as formerly.

The following states will elect for 1918-19: Alabama, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Georgia, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, Oregon, Texas, Washington, Wisconsin. The following will elect for 1918 only: Arizona, Delaware, Florida, Idaho, Louisiana, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Carolina, South Dakota, Utah, West Virginia, Wyoming. The following will elect for 1919 only: Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Vermont, Virginia.

As a result of the exhaustive study made by Dr. G. R. Parkin, C. M. G., of the system hitherto pursued in the selection of scholars since the foundation, some changes have been made in the methods of selection. The qualifying examinations hitherto required of all candidates will no longer be held, and scholars will be chosen on the basis of their college or university record, supplemented, when necessary, by any further tests that the committee of selection may in its discretion impose.

Other conditions of eligibility will remain as before.

As a temporary war measure Oxford University will exempt from the responsiveness examinations all men who have been in military service for at least six months. Candidates not otherwise qualified who come under this category will be allowed to compete without examination. This exemption chiefly concerns candidates from colonies like Bermuda and Jamaica, who have hitherto qualified by passing responses or its equivalent.

The will of Cecil Rhodes provides for two scholars constantly at Oxford from each state. Each scholar stays three years and receives $1500 a year. Candidates must be nominated between nineteen and twenty-five years of age, and must have completed at least four years in college. Cornell men interested should make further inquiries at the office of the Secretary of the University.

THE TRUSTEE ELECTION

The Treasurer has sent out the ballots for the election of Alumni Trustees. The nominating period closes with four men in the field, Sanderson '87, Seaman '72, Tansey '88, and Williams '95. Three Trustees are to be elected. The University is fortunate in the prospect of adding any three of these men to its Board of Trustees. Mr. Sanderson is an engineer and corporation president, Dr. Seaman is a sanitary expert. Mr. Tansey is a lawyer and business man, Mr. Williams is a lawyer and financier. All are men high in their respective professions and widely known among Cornellians. All of them are concerned with the educational as well as the business interests of the University.

Since there are every year several irregular and defective ballots, a word of caution is in order.

1. Cross out all names except those you wish to vote for.
2. Do not sign your ballot.
3. Do not fail to write on the ballot envelope your name (if a married woman, your maiden name also), class, address, and the date.
4. If you spoil your ballot or lose it, ask for another. Only the ballot sent by the Treasurer will be counted. You may vote as many times as you like; only the last ballot will be counted.
5. Vote promptly. The ballots must be in the Treasurer's hands by noon on June 16. The mails are irregular.

THE WASHINGTON DINNER

Sixty Cornell men in Washington gathered at the University Club on April 5, to hear Prof. Dexter Kimball tell of the University and to partake of an impromptu annual dinner. It would not be correct to say that the Washington club held its annual banquet, for the club was practically disorganized by the war, and banquets in Washington are a thing of the past. Considering that all of the speeches were quite extemporaneous, the quality of the evening's entertainment was high, even though Dr. William A. White '89 insisted that after-dinner speakers hereafter should wear buttons inscribed "Near-beer, near-work." Preceding Dr. White, Capt. W. W. Burns '06, recently returned from France, so vividly described the sensation of being bombed that when a waiter dropped a glass the crowd thought they had been hit. Dr. L. O. Howard '77 presided as toastmaster of the evening and performed the duties of the office with his usual skill and grace.

Prof. Kimball's talk was listened to with much interest by those who have not been in Ithaca recently. His carefully guarded but proud admission that the Cornell Ground School was one of the best two in the country was especially appreciated. He spoke of the coming Semi-centennial and his words were so effective that a committee was at once appointed to see that Washington is represented.

Preceding the dinner a short business meeting was held at which the following officers were elected: H. W. Peaslee '10, president; George Burt '11, secretary-treasurer; Raymond S. Washburn '12, assistant secretary; and Earl D. Strait '13, assistant treasurer.

PITTSBURGH'S DINNER

The secretary of the Pittsburgh club has sent us the following account of the recent Pittsburgh dinner, which we noticed briefly last week:

The Cornell University Association of Western Pennsylvania held its annual banquet April 5 at the William Penn Hotel, Pittsburgh. The attendance, while not large, was very select. About sixty loyal sons were on hand to greet Prof. "Bull" Durham and Maj. Jimmie Meissner, who were the out-of-town guests of honor. Lieut. Commander Geo. T. Ladd '95, of Pittsburgh, was also entertained as a speaker.

Capt. "Brick" Metcalf '01, recently returned from service abroad in the Quartermaster's Department, acted as toastmaster. During spare moments between regular speeches "Brick" regaled the party with reminiscences of life in the Army as he saw it. He avers that in the next war he will go as a private and avoid the complications and responsibilities of officialdom. It was reported on good authority that his real objection to being a captain in the Army was the necessity of saluting so many majors, particularly one named Wyckoff ('94).

Commander Ladd designed and supervised the construction and transportation to the front of the great Navy guns which created such havoc with the enemy and were considered to have had an important effect in destroying the Hun morale during the latter part of the war. These guns threw tons of steel many miles back of the enemy lines and were so mounted on railroad trucks as to be readily moved from place to place, thus creating the impression on both sides of the line that there were many more of them in action than was really the case. Mr. Ladd's talk was illustrated with moving pictures and stereopticons of the guns under construction and in action. It was all intensely interesting and met with an enthusiastic reception.

Prof. Durham impressed his audience with the crying need of money for increased salaries of the teaching staff at the University if gradual deterioration in that vitally essential body is to be avoided. As a result of the seriousness of the situation apparent from his remarks a movement is already on foot to transfer at least temporarily the annual scholarship given to deserving students by the Western Pennsylvania Association into a fund for increasing Faculty salaries.

Major Jimmie Meissner endeared himself to the alumni of Western Pennsylvania by his charming and modest recital of his experiences as an arman in various sectors of the Western front during two years of bitter warfare. The self-effacement of the real heroes of the war was emphasized by his story. The hair-breadth escapes and exciting battles above the clouds through which this young man lived sounds like a modern Arabian Nights. His praise, however, was all for his comrades in arms who, like Eddie Rick-enbacher, more than once in tight places saved him from certain destruction.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES

AT YALE, according to the reconstructed program recently adopted, the degrees of A.B. and Ph.B. will both be granted by Yale College, the latter to those candidates who pass the necessary courses without taking the Latin required of the candidates for the A.B. degree. The Ph.B. degree was formerly conferred by the Sheffield Scientific School, which will hereafter give only the degree of B.S., and this only for a four-year course of study.

YALE'S ROWING EQUIPMENT this year will consist of two English shells. None of American make has been ordered, the boats which will be used in the Yale races having been purchased before America entered the world war. Dr. Abbott, the Yale crew coach, recently put them into working condition. Both were made by Rough, the Oxford boatbuilder.

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY will have next fall a weekly assembly hour, on Tuesday.

THE HARVARD RADIO SCHOOL has been transferred to the Navy's Great Lakes training station. Beginning with fifteen students at the outbreak of the war, the school now has nearly four thousand students.

AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES and colleges are to be asked by the Department of Labor to include factory training among their courses in economics.

636th ORGAN RECITAL

Sage Chapel, Wednesday, April 16.

PROFESSOR JAMES T. QUARLES, Organist

This being "Holy Week" a programme of special Passion music has been prepared. The assisting artist will be Mrs. Gertrude D. Quarles, contralto, who will sing two appropriate numbers. These recitals are now being given on Wednesdays in response to a very general request, in order that students having military work may attend. The complete programme is as follows:

- Marche Funébre -----Chopin
- O Sacred Head now Wounded----Bach
- Gethsemane } from "The Death and
- Golgotha } Resurrection of Christ",
- Opus 54-----Malling
- For Contralto
- (a) A Ballad of the Trees and the

THE LYON BEQUEST

Another laudable example has been set by the late John Lyon '83 in bequeathing money to the University for a dormitory. It is virtually an addition to the endowment, since the dormitory will doubtless yield a fair return on the investment.

The building will serve a double purpose: it will directly benefit the University, and it will furnish a worthy memorial to the donor. The University is glad to have it and needs many more like it. And they will be forthcoming.

It is a curious thing that the University benefactors generally prefer this type of memorial. For if they would consider the whole matter, they would find, we think, that bricks and mortar are not much more durable than are wooden fences. Every building sooner or later ages and goes out of fashion, and presently a group of trustees want to tear it down; and very often they carry their point.

Is there, then, any better way of perpetuating the name of a university benefactor?

The most permanent thing at Cornell University to-day is its endowment fund. In the hands of wise and conservative investors of Emmons L. Williams's type, riches do not easily take to themselves wings. In our judgment, the best thing a man can do for Cornell and for himself to-day is to endow new or existing chairs in the Faculty—preferably existing chairs, so that the money thus released can be used for the increase of other salaries in the same or a kindred department.

The Goldwin Smith Professors of Cornell will still be lecturing in their class rooms after the whole group of dormitories has been torn down to make way for new and up-to-date halls of residence for future Cornell students.

One hundred thousand dollars will endow a professorship with a salary of five thousand dollars. Is there any better way of making money utter the right sort of speech. Is there any better or more certain way of providing for the steady and continuous expression of a vital message of truth to all who will come to receive it?

Though Cornell alumni as a group may not be wealthy, there are many who can afford to endow a professorship. We beg leave to suggest to them that there is no better time to do this than the present.

LITERARY REVIEW

The Story of Our Pensions

Federal Military Pensions in the United States. By William H. Glasson '96, Ph. D., Columbia. Edited by David Kinley. New York. Oxford University Press. 1918. Large 8vo, pp. xiv, 305. Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, Division of Economics and History.

Professor Glasson is already well and favorably known as an expert in the field of pension legislation. His Columbia dissertation, published in 1900, was a pioneer work on this subject, and really forms the nucleus of the present far more elaborate work. An inspection of the volume leads one to concur fully in the opinion of Dean Kinley, who says that Glasson's book "will take its place among the important contributions to the history of our country. His survey of the subject, from the beginning of our history until a recent date, is thorough, full and impartial. He not only furnishes us with a complete account of the pension system, but also enables us to judge of the effects of such a system as we have hitherto employed on the civil and political life of a democracy."

This chapter in the annals of the Republic is most interesting. There is, one might say, a great deal of human nature involved. The fundamental motive involved, of course, is the desire to do the right and generous thing by those who risked their lives in the military service of the nation in time of war—a lofty and patriotic desire, reflecting most favorably on all who promoted the system on this ground. On the other side there is the sordid story of the rise of the pension claim gang, some of whom, alas, disgraced the G. A. R. by their membership in that body; and of the deliberate movement to educate the soldiers to take the most liberal views of what the Government owed them and their widows, some of whom were not even born till many years after the Civil War. All this has resulted in the expenditure by the Government since 1865 of more than five and a quarter billions of dollars for the military pension system. Nearly five billions went for Civil War pensions; and of this almost half was paid out "under laws which required no proof that disability or death was due to causes originating in the military service." The maximum number of pensioners was reached in 1902, when there were practically a million, or one out of every seventy-six persons.

In the following words Professor Glasson touches on one of the great evils of our system. These words deserve to be pondered by every citizen. "If federal taxation for pensions had been direct and personal, if the average head of a family had been required to pay out eight or ten dollars annually as a tax for this specific purpose, it is very doubtful whether the pension system could have reached its present proportions. But when increased pension expenditures appeared in the guise of a distribution among the war veterans of unneeded and embarrassing millions of surplus raised by a system of taxation comparatively invisible and painless, the average citizen was not greatly concerned."

Books and Magazine Articles

Professor Clark S. Northup '93 contributes to The Nation for April 12 a review of the Charlotte Brontë Centenary Memorial Volume (Dutton), edited by Butler Wood.

In The Nation for April 5 Hendrik W. Van Loon '05 writes on "Napoleon as Propagandist."

In The Dial for April 5 Thorstein Veblen, '91-2 Grad., writes "On the Nature and Uses of Sabotage."

Modern Philology for March includes a review of Dr. Ray Bowen's work on "The Novels of Ferdinand Fabre," by Professor E. P. Dargan, of the University of Chicago.

"The Fifty-fifth Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry, Colored, June 1863-September 1865," an address delivered by Dr. Burt G. Wilder before the Brookline, Mass., Historical Society on May 28, 1914, has been published by the Riverdale Press, Brookline, in a pamphlet which has now reached its third edition. This edition is printed in simplified spelling. It contains eight pages. There are about thirty footnotes in which the author, with characteristic incisiveness, discusses such topics as drinking intoxicants and smoking by soldiers, the military value of the negro, the former Kaiser's assumptions as to Divine purposes, Oken's laudation of war, war as an invention of the devil, Sherman's phrase, "War is hell," and whether prayer influences the Deity. Of the second edition, a four-page folio dated August 17, 1917, Dr. Wilder has distributed some three thousand copies.

Chemical and Metallurgical Engineering for April 1 includes an article on "Practical Considerations in Ammonia Leaching of Copper-Bearing Ores," by Lawrence Eddy '14, formerly mill superintendent of the Kennecott Copper Corporation, Kennecott, Alaska.

The Christian Register for April 10 comments with editorial approval on a recent editorial in the Sun entitled "What Are We Here For?"

In The Historical Outlook for April Samuel B. Harding, '90-1 Grad., writes on "What the War Should Do for Our History Methods."

The National Economic League Quarterly for March prints an address on "Russia" delivered before the League by Jerome B. Landfield '94 on December 30.

"The Higher Learning in America," by Thornstein Veblen, '91-2 Grad., is favorably reviewed in School and Society for March 29 by C. C. Church. The review fills about seven pages.

THE CORNELL MASQUE, like the musical clubs, is reorganizing. Trials have already been held with a view to increase of membership; and a competition is in progress for the assistant managership, a position leading to the business managership in the senior year. The present manager is John P. Corrigan, of Pittsburgh, and the president Leslie I. Nichols '18, of Evanston, Illinois. The Masque will give a vaudeville show on the evening of Friday, May 23, in connection with the observance of Spring Day.

DIED IN THE SERVICE

Harold A. Pulliam '18

Ensign Harold Arthur Pulliam, who was injured in a seaplane accident at Fortress Monroe on April 12, died the following day, following an operation for internal injuries.

Pulliam was born on November 18, 1896, and was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Keeling G. Pulliam, of Lexington, Ky. He entered Cornell from the University of Kentucky in 1916, in the course in arts, but left in the spring of 1917 to enter the Naval Aviation Service. He was a member of Sigma Nu. He served in Europe and after his return from abroad, was appointed an instructor in the Naval Aviation School at Pensacola, Fla. He was regarded as one of the most expert pilots in the service, and had been selected as one of the pilots to make the trip overseas in the coming trans-Atlantic flight.

Ensign Pulliam is survived by his parents and a brother, Captain K. G. Pulliam, jr.

OBITUARY

Albert C. Almy '72

Albert Curtis Almy died at the Fordham Home for Incurables, New York on March 28.

Almy was born at Interlaken, N. Y., on February 11, 1848. He entered Cornell in 1868, in the course in arts, and as there were no railroads then, he often made the trip on foot, between Interlaken (then Farmer Village) and Ithaca. He was prominent in athletics, and was captain of one of Cornell's first baseball teams. In his junior year he was a member of the Cornell Era Board.

His home was at Port Jefferson, L. I., and he was one of the forty-two members of the class of '73 present at the reunion last May.

Yataro Mishima '90

Viscount Yataro Mishima died on March 7 at his home in Sendagaya, a suburb of Tokyo, Japan. Death was due to influenza which he contracted during the latter part of the year.

Mishima was born at Kagoshima in 1867. He graduated from the University of Tokyo, and in 1884 came to America, returning to Japan in 1888; the following year he returned to America and spent a year at Cornell, receiving the degree of M. S. in 1890. In 1892, he entered the service of the Japanese Government, as an agricultural expert in Hokkaido. Five years later, he was elected one of the directors of the Yokohama Specie Bank. He held this position for ten years, serving as president during part of the time. In 1913, he was made governor of the Bank of Japan, which position he held until the time of his death. In 1897, he was elected a member of the House of Peers, holding such membership for over twenty years. He was regarded as the leader of the Kenkyukai, the most influential faction of the Upper House. During the past ten years he had often been put forward as a candidate for the office of Minister of Finance, but each time declined the offer.

Mrs. Evelyn Thomas Putnam '10

Mrs. Henry S. Putnam died at Geneva, N. Y., on March 18, of pneumonia. Her third child, Marian, was born some ten days before, and having already had influenza in the fall, she was unable to resist the inroads of lung trouble.

Mrs. Putnam, before her marriage, was Miss Frances Evelyn Thomas. She was born on June 7, 1888, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lloyd Thomas, of New York, and entered Cornell in 1906, receiving the degree of A. B. in 1910. She was a member of Alpha Phi, and sang in Sage Chapel and in the Festival Chorus. She had been food administrator for Geneva, and was prominent in social work.

She was married on September 24, 1912, to Henry Sibley Putnam '07, who survives her, with their three daughters.

Edward Tree

Edward Tree, who was for a number of years chief engineer at the Veterinary College at Cornell, died suddenly on April 1, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George Goodwin, of Chicago.

Mr. Tree was seventy-four years old, and had made his home in Ithaca until about four years ago. He leaves, besides his daughter, two brothers, Thomas Tree '80 and J. Will Tree, of Ithaca, three sisters, Miss Mary Tree, Mrs. Harrison Benjamin, and Mrs. George Mowry, and a son, William Tree.

ATHLETICS

Four-Mile Team Chosen

Cornell will be represented in the Pennsylvania Relay Carnival at Philadelphia on April 26 by a four-mile relay team, which will be made up of Captain Dresser, McDermott, O'Leary, and Seelbach, the fastest mile runners in the University.

Trials for places on the team that will enter the relays are being held this week. It is probable that a dozen men will be entered in all. Cornell will not enter either the mile or two-mile relay races, but some of the leaders of the team will take part in open events. Among the men who will be entered are Shackleton, in the sprints, Smith, in the hurdles, and Grigson, in the pole vault.

The four-mile team should be well balanced and ought to make a good showing. All four of the men are capable of turning a fast mile, especially Dresser and McDermott.

The Junior Smoker

Fifty varsity Cs were formally awarded to Cornell athletes at the annual Junior Smoker held last Friday night in Bailey Hall. The auditorium was filled, and old time "pep" was in evidence. One of the features of the program was an address by Dr. Albert H. Sharpe, in the nature of a farewell talk, it being the last time he will address such a representative gathering of undergraduates before he leaves for New Haven to take up his duties at Yale.

Dr. Sharpe discussed athletic conditions here, and emphasized the financial problems. University athletics need more money, he said. Conditions are such, he said, that if he were a freshman interested in athletics he should hesitate to come here. Some sort of tax to support athletic activities is essential.

Dr. Sharpe paid high tribute to Mr. Courtney and Mr. Moakley, saying that they had given to Cornell the highest traditions for crew and track ever held by any American university. In their fields they were supreme. The thing which makes for Cornell spirit of the right sort, he said, is the victorious team. "You have supported me well," he concluded; "I shall miss the familiar faces of the boys I know when I go to New Haven; but I hope that I shall be able to come back with a Yale team and that the event of my going will strengthen the bonds between Yale and Cornell."

John Paul Jones '13, famous Cornell distance runner and in his college days amateur champion in the mile run, asked for a revival of Cornell spirit, which he defined as "the intangible something which tells the Cornell man to play the game straight, win if he can in a fair way, and if not, take his defeat like a man." He opposed changes in intercollegiate sports, saying that to substitute intercollege and interclass events for intercollegiate athletics would be to kill interest in athletics.

Professor Bristow Adams was master of ceremonies. Speeches were also made by Major James A. Meissner '19, Cornell ace, and by Morse G. Dial '19, manager of the Navy. Among the speeches were interspersed songs and varied "stunts." At the close Col. F. A. Barton '91, making a presentation address, formally awarded the varsity Cs. Of these fifty men some have graduated, some are still in the Government service, and one, Everett Norton Pratt '19, has died in the service.

A Box of Candy for an Easter Gift

At Ithaca many use the "Shield" chocolates as gift boxes. The quality is such that you can safely give a box to your best friend. The price is one dollar and seventy-five cents plus postage.

Or a Book

A good book costs a little more than candy or greeting cards but your friend retains the book. You will want a worth while book. Try a copy of "Concerning Cornell." Cloth binding, $2.60. Leather binding, $3.60. Postage paid.
