DEBATING with Dartmouth that the Sherman Anti-Trust Law should be repealed, Cornell won a unanimous decision, upholding the negative. Cornell was represented by R. H. Smith '21, and V. O. Wehle '24; Professor E. L. Hunt presided; the judges were Laurence B. Packard and Jonathan F. Scott of the University of Rochester, and Edwin P. Tanner of Syracuse University. The size of the audience indicated a greater interest in debating than has been manifested in preceding years. If interest and enthusiasm grow, Room B, Goldwin Smith Hall, will not be large enough, for it was crowded on November 19.

PHI BETA KAPPA has re-elected the following officers for the current year: president, Professor Ralph H. Keniston; vice-president, Dean Frank Thilly; secretary and treasurer, Leon W. Hausman '14; registrar, Librarian Elias R. B. Willis, A. M. '14; additional members of the Executive Committee, Miss Rebecca Harris '13 and Professor Paul R. Pope.

A CORNELL Scout Club has been formed by undergraduates interested in scouting and in stimulating such interest nationally. Membership is for those who have previously been connected with the scout movement.

THE WRESTLING squad now numbers a hundred and forty men, who are practicing every afternoon under the direction of the coach, Walter C. O'Connell, instructor in physical education. The schedule for the varsity wrestling team is not yet arranged; but meets are expected with some of the best of Eastern teams. The intercollegiate matches will be held at Princeton on March 25 and 26. The championship which Cornell will try to capture is now held by Penn State.

A MERGER of the Cornell sections of the American Societies of Mechanical, Civil, and Electrical Engineers has given rise to a joint organization known as the Cornell University Engineering Societies.

CORONER SMITH, commenting on the Ithaca street car accident of September 16, in which two persons were killed, recommends auxiliary brakes for all cars, pointing out that hills and weather combine to make dangers peculiar to Ithaca. Air-brakes for these cars have long been advocated, but it seems unlikely that they will be installed unless ordered by the State Public Service Commission.

THE LECTURES for the week included Dr. Silberstein's third lecture on the theory of relativity and Professor Nathaniel Schmidt's lecture on "The Prophets of Israel" in the series on the history of civilization.

THE R. O. T. C. VOLUNTEERED enough money to send the band to the Penn game. A collection taken at the Columbia game was not large enough to insure the attendance of the second varsity and the band; so the cadets made up the deficit, about $750.

FOUR STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS, the Student Council, Sphinx Head, Quill and Dagger, and Aleph Samach, have petitioned the Trustees to appoint Albert W. Smith '78 as President of Cornell University. It was the intent of the group to have this resolution acted upon at the meeting of the Trustees on November 13; through an oversight, it was not presented until after the Trustees had adjourned their meeting on that day.

COMMENTING ON the establishment of a school of journalism at Northwestern University, The Cornell Sun advocates the establishment of such a school at Cornell, saying that "at Cornell there are, by actual count, at least one hundred and fifty students desiring to enter journalistic fields."

PROFESSOR BRISTOW ADAMS has accepted invitations to give the principal address at the Newspaper Week conferences at Kansas State College in February, and at Minnesota in May.

DR. LIBERTY HYDE BAILEY, formerly dean of the College of Agriculture, plans a botanical exploration trip through Venezuela to the headwaters of the Orinoco River. He leaves in December and will be gone all winter.

BECAUSE IT CANNOT INSURE good playing conditions for home practice, or for visiting teams, it is unlikely that Cornell will enter the proposed six-team Intercollegiate Hockey League. The other institutions interested are Dartmouth, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton, and Yale.

THE FORESTRY DEPARTMENT at Cornell will have an exhibit at the big State forestry dinner to be held at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York City, December 20. This exhibit will deal with the care and utilization of the farm woodlot. Professors Ralph S. Hosmer, Bristow Adams, and G. Harris Collingwood will represent Cornell at the dinner, which will be attended by at least one thousand persons.

YELLOW PERCH, large-mouth bass, blue-gill sunfish, and steel-head salmon have recently been planted in the Ithaca end of Cayuga Lake. More than five million fingerlings have been placed in its waters during the year just closing, and more than one hundred thousand trout have been placed in neighboring streams.

BY THE WILL of Lawrence E. Sexton a $1,000 cup is offered for an annual triangular race between crews of Yale, Harvard, and Cornell, if such a race should be scheduled.

PROFESSORS HOSMER AND SPRING will represent Cornell at a conference on forestry education to be held at New Haven on December 18 and 19.

THE EDITORIAL STAFF of the Sun has been increased by the addition of George Eugene Swezey '23, of Lockport, N. Y., and Casper Hill Billip '23, of Rye, N. Y., as associate editors.

PROFESSOR DAVID LUMSDEN, of the Department of Floriculture, College of Agriculture, has resigned to take up work at Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D. C., where he will teach convalescent soldiers, and will have charge of the grounds.

THE EDITORIAL BOARD of The Widow announces the election of O. L. Clarkson '23, of Edgewater Park, N. J., and C. A. Yeatman '23, of Lagrange, Ill.

SIX INDIAN NATIONS, the Onondaga, Tuscarora, Tonawanda, Seneca, Alleghany, and Cattaraugus tribes, are included in the eleven Indian students, two of whom are women, that are taking the short winter course in Agriculture.

A COLLECTION taken at the stadium during the Columbia game provided the expenses of twenty-seven members of the second varsity squad to the Penn game.

THE ART EXHIBIT put on by the Faculty of the College of Architecture closed Saturday, after two weeks during which some really notable paintings were on view. It would be advantageous if all the Faculties were able to display such tangible evidence of achievement.

High Engineering Honor

Dean Kimball Elected a Vice-President of National Federation—Hoover President

Dean Kimball has just returned from Washington where he has been attending the first meeting of the Council of the Federated American Engineering Societies as a representative of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. Herbert Hoover was elected president of the newly organized Federation, Dean Kimball making the nominating address. Dean Kimball was elected one of the vice-presidents. Mr. Hoover graduated from Stanford University in 1895 and Dean Kimball in 1896, and the latter had not seen Mr. Hoover since 1895. The other vice-presidents are Calvert Townley, vice-president of the Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing Company. J. Parke Channing, president of the Miami Copper Company, and William E. Rolfe, president of the Associated Engineering Society of St. Louis. Twenty-four engineering societies representing about seventy thousand engineers sent delegates to the Council and it is expected that this number will be more than doubled in the near future. The meeting was the most important affair of its kind ever called in this country, the open session being attended by many eminent engineers from all parts of the United States—several of the national engineering societies held their monthly meetings in Washington at this time so as to make attendance upon the convention more feasible.

The temporary secretary of the Council is L. P. Alford, vice-president-elect of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. The headquarters will be in the Engineering Societies Building, 29 West 38th Street, New York.

The Federation is non-technical in character and it is in no sense a labor union or a political movement. It is intended to provide means to enable engineers to serve the state and nation in economic and industrial problems wherever they can be of such service. During the war all the great engineering societies put their services at the disposal of the nation, and it is hoped that some of the economic results thus made possible may be duplicated in the times of peace. There is no doubt but that such an association has a great opportunity for usefulness and under Mr. Hoover's leadership it should be of great national service.

DR. NELLIS B. FOSTER, of the Medical College in New York, was scheduled to deliver on Saturday evening, before the New York Academy of Medicine, the third Harvey Lecture, on the subject of "Uraemia."

THE MEMORIAL PROFESSORSHIPS

In our report of the meeting of the University Trustees last week, page 94, we announced the assignment of eight professors to professorships commemorating the service of Cornellians in the war. Through inadvertance, but seven were given in the list. Professor George G. Bogert in the College of Law should have been included in the list, bringing the total to eight.

OLDER BOYS' CONFERENCE

A conference of older boys, juniors and seniors in the high schools of the State, will be held in Ithaca on November 26, 27, and 28. Similar conferences have been held in the large cities, the last one in Rochester in 1916; now for the first time a college town is the meeting place. The C. U. C. A., with the approval of the University, is acting as host, working in conjunction with the city Y. M. C. A. and local churches. Many fraternities have already offered accommodations. It is expected that there will be, besides several smaller group-meetings, five principal sessions of the conference in Bailey Hall. The central theme for discussion is "The Christian Program in Community Life." One afternoon will be given over to sight-seeing and to mass athletics in which most of the visitors may take part. The estimated attendance of boys is two thousand.

The boys will be welcomed by President Smith, and one of the principal addresses will be delivered by Dr. Charles Reynolds Brown, dean of the Yale School of Religion, who was a recent preacher at Sage Chapel.

CLEVELAND LUNCHEONS

Starting off the season on October 25, the Cleveland Club has held its weekly luncheons every Thursday, starting at high noon, at the Hotel Statler. The attendance grows apace. At the meeting on November 18, when Col. Hayden Eames, a graduate of Annapolis in 1882, discussed "Radicalism," seventy-six Cornellians were present.

Visiting Cornellians are urged to come to the parties on any Thursday they can be in Cleveland. The committee in charge comprises K. B. Britton '06, H. D. North '07, and H. N. Putnam '12.

THE FIRST of the University concerts brought Alberto Salvi, harpist, and Renato Zanelli, barytone, to Bailey Hall last Saturday night. All seats were sold, as well as chairs for as many as could be accommodated on the platform. Salvi is an Italian, and Zanelli a native of Chile; both gave excellent performances.

The N. Y. State Campaign

Preliminary Reports Look Promising—
Ithaca Aims at 100%—Rochester
Increases Substantially

In spite of the absence of official reports as to the progress of the New York State Endowment campaign, it is apparent that the intensive drive has met with more or less immediate success in all parts of New York State. Owing to the local conditions in several of the towns and cities upstate, it was not possible to start all the local efforts simultaneously, and the result will be that it will require two weeks to complete the State drive satisfactorily.

The executive committee in charge of the state endowment campaign is enthusiastic over the prospects, and anticipates that the goal of a million dollars in new subscriptions will be passed before the close of the national campaign on January 1. One of the most favorable early reports came from Rochester to the effect that the committee in that city, which already had the highest percentage of Cornellians signed up, had raised over $22,000 additional as the result of the first few days of the new drive.

The Ithaca committee, under the chairmanship of Mynderse Van Cleef and with Sherman Peer as Secretary, has undertaken to make Ithaca the first 100 per cent city. To this end every Cornellian has been notified that a subscription is expected from him immediately and that canvassers will call upon all who have not subscribed within a week. For the first time, the committee has undertaken to solicit subscriptions from the members of the University community in order to place Cornell's home community at the head of the list in respect of the percentage of Cornellians subscribing.

Chairman Garmezzy of the Philippine Endowment committee visited the endowment headquarters the other day and stated that efforts were under way in the Philippine Islands to raise their total substantially before the official close of the campaign. There will be an effort in Manila to duplicate the record set by Honolulu of placing 61 per cent of the Cornellians in Hawaii on the subscription list.

Endowment activity in Michigan is on the increase again. Fifteen Cornellians met at luncheon in Detroit last week and after an enthusiastic meeting with no other inspiration than home talent the fifteen former students raised $6,350 which Carroll Trego, the secretary of the Detroit committee, has already sent to Ithaca in the form of signed subscriptions.

What may well be considered one of the most beneficial results of the entire

THE CAMPUS CLUB'S FACULTY RECEPTION

Photograph by J. P. Troy

This flash-light of the Campus Club's reception to members of the University community shows the affair after the dinner was just about over and as the guests were moving to the west end of the room toward the seats in front of the improvised theatre where the entertainment was provided.

Endowment Drive is the reaction resulting from the visits of the Cornell Faculty members and officers of the administrative staff to the cities and towns of New York State in connection with the Cornell Week held last week. Without a single exception the reports submitted indicated that the representatives of the University were tremendously well pleased with the enthusiasm and demonstration of loyalty shown by the men and women who attended the Cornell meetings. On the other side, those who were responsible for the get-togethers are enthusiastic about the interest in the alumni shown by the Faculty members.

SPHINX HEAD MEETING

Reports of another Sphinx Head meeting, held in honor of the thirtieth anniversary of the birth of the society, tell of a gathering of Cornellians at the Davenport Outing Club in Davenport, Iowa. The meeting was held on the well known "second Tuesday in October." The plans were to have a bowling contest after dinner, but the group became so much absorbed in discussions of Cornell affairs that bowling was forgotten, and the meeting did not break up until midnight. Among those present were Herbert R. Lafferty '07; W. O. Kruse '12; M. W. Howe '16; Oscar F. Priester '17; and John D. Shuler '20.

Campus Club Entertains

Fifteen Hundred Members of University Community, Including the Children, Enjoy Hospitality

The Campus Club staged a remarkable party in the Drill Hall last Friday for the members of the instructing staff and their families. In all approximately fifteen hundred were present, and to these about two thousand dinners were served. The discrepancy may be accounted for in several ways, either by the excellent menu and gracious hostesses, or by the presence of an army of about one hundred and fifty small boys and girls, the offspring of the older guests.

The younger generation were parked on the north half of the floor and amused itself with footballs, basketballs, teeter-tawtlers, and other appropriate paraphernalia. Those of extreme youth were checked in the Tower Room in charge of a nurse. An interesting sidelight was a view of President Smith walking hand in hand with a small two-year-old who was looking for his parents.

President and Mrs. Smith welcomed the crowd to the hall, where a buffet dinner was served, and entertainment for the evening was provided by members of the Savage Club, who gave songs and dances, and of the Cornell Dramatic Club, who played "Lonesomelike." Mass singing was led by Eric Dudley. With the exception of the dinner the entertainment was given at the west end of the hall, the audience being seated on bleachers and seats provided by Graduate Manager Berry and Professor C. V. P. Young. Colonel Barton was master of ceremonies.

Credit for the idea of the function is due to Mrs. Albert W. Smith, president of the Campus Club, an organization of the women of the Campus, particularly of wives of members of the Faculty. Mrs. S. P. Orth was in charge of the dinner and Mrs. C. K. Burdick of the entertainment.

An important, though laborious and unheralded part of the performance was the orgy of dishwashing indulged in by the women of the Campus, lasting well into the next afternoon.

The physical arrangements of the affair were well carried out, but beyond the mere providing of a pleasant evening, a good dinner, and an entertaining show, was the greater service rendered, of bringing together in social intercourse the hundreds of workers whose common interest in education has rarely, and in many cases never, placed them in closer communion than that of a Faculty meeting or of merely passing one another on the campus.

NORTHERN N. J. REVIVES

After lying dormant since a luncheon held last spring, the Northern New Jersey Club followed its informal gathering at the Dartmouth game with the first of a series of luncheon meetings on November 10. At the Dartmouth game there was a block of over two hundred seats occupied by members of the club and their friends.

Newark has a number of Cornellians, of whom about twenty-five gathered at the Downtown Club. This is to be the regular "hang out" once a month on the second Wednesday at 12.30 p. m. sharp. To all Northern New Jerseyites who have not been reached by postcard or otherwise, the club takes this method of giving notice that they will be more than welcome at the Downtown Club in the Kinney Building, Newark, each second Wednesday. The next pow-wow will be December 8. Word should be sent to one of the committee, who are W. R. Landmesser '17, Shanley Avenue, Newark; A. L. Stern '17, 87 Johnson Avenue, Newark; and D. M. Freudenthal '16, P. O. Box 198, Newark.

Among those present at the last luncheon were A. J. Whimery '10, D. B. Munsick '15, C. F. Landmesser '06, H. E. Eberhardt '08, W. G. Mennen '08, R. A. Russell '10, R. K. Mackenzie '14, H. E. Carver '07, H. H. Kessler '13, H. A. Schwedes '12, H. A. Goertz '17, L. G. Aierstok '17, F. S. Crum '93, W. B. Hulsey '09, E. L. Quackenbush '00, O. H. Knowlton '07, H. A. Augenblick '10, Howard Tilson '13, J. N. Bassin '03, F. V. Friedlander '18, A. V. Niseason '10, A. C. Grayson '14, Aaron Kaufman '19, G. H. Stickney '96, W. R. Landmesser '17, A. L. Stern '17.

As all of the above expect to be on hand at the next luncheon, it is sure to be a success. This first luncheon had no entertainment attached, but it is expected that five-minute talks will hereafter be given by prominent men.

NEW YORK WOMEN OFFICERS

A well-attended meeting of the Cornell Women's Club of New York was held on November 13, at the Women's University Club.

The following officers were unanimously elected: president, Dr. Helea L. Young '00; corresponding secretary, Mrs. H. D. Williams '10; directors, Dr. M. Alice Asserson '01 and Miss Amy L. Luce '17.

Reports of the meetings of the Associate Alumni and the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs were given, and various topics discussed, including plans for club work during the year, the Endowment Campaign, housing conditions for women at Cornell, and the clubhouse recently opened by the Intercollegiate Alumnae Association at Washington. The business was followed by a social hour during which tea was served.

THE STAFF of The Cornell Era has been increased by the election of H. P. Vaughan '24, Sibley, as photographic editor.

OBITUARY

Arthur M. Bennett '72

Arthur Melville Bennett, who was a Cornell pioneer, died in Rochester, N. Y., on July 29, 1920.

He was born in Oneida, N. Y., on August 1, 1850, son of Oscar and Paulina Elizabeth (Lipe) Bennett. They removed to Rochester while Arthur was young and he was there fitted for college in a private school. He came to Ithaca at the opening of the University and passed the entrance examinations that were held in Library Hall on October 5 and 6, 1868, becoming a member of the first freshman class.

He remained only during the first term, and returned to Rochester, where he was employed in the hardware store of his father, later carrying on the business. He was connected with Levi Hey & Company, then with the A. M. Bennett Company; this company was later joined by L. E. Mason, forming the Bennett & Mason Company, of which Bennett was vice-president and later president. The Bennett & Mason Company was succeeded by the L. E. Mason Company, with which he continued until about two years ago, when he retired from business. He was a lifelong member of the Rochester Yacht Club.

He was married to Anna Isabelle, daughter of John and Julia Teresa (Burke) Williams of Hamilton, Ontario, on May 16, 1906, at Rochester. There were no children.

For nearly a year he had been in failing health and for several weeks had been confined to his home by a stomach trouble. This and the darkened outlook so preyed upon his mind that he severed the arteries in his wrist with a safety razor blade which he had obtained, and death resulted. Burial was in Mount Hope Cemetery, Rochester. He is survived by his widow and a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Schuyler Lawrence, of Arlington, N. J. E. V. W. '72.

Robert S. Towne '78

Robert Safford Towne, who was a student at Cornell in 1874, died on August 3, 1916, in New York City. At the time of his death he was a metallurgist, with offices at 82 Beaver Street, New York. His home was in Portsmouth, Ohio.

Charles E. Acker '88

Charles Ernest Acker, a noted manufacturer and inventor, died at his home in Ossining, N. Y., on October 18, after a long illness.

Acker was born on March 19, 1868, at Bourbon, Ind., the son of Mr. and Mrs. William James Acker. The family came originally from Holland, and settled in New Amsterdam. He entered Wabash College in 1884, remaining two years; then he came to Cornell, and received the degree of Ph. B. in 1888. He was a member of the Glee Club.

Immediately after his graduation he went to Chicago, where he became engaged in engineering work. Since 1893 he had been engaged in chemistry and electro-chemistry. He developed the first electrolytic process for the manufacture of caustic soda by the electrolysis of molten salt, known as the Acker Process. For this invention the Elliott-Cresson Gold Medal of the Franklin Institute of Philadelphia and several other medals were conferred upon him. He built the plant of the Acker Process Company at Niagara Falls, N. Y., originated processes for the manufacture of tetrachloride of tin and carbon tetrachloride, and was the first to manufacture tetrachloride. About fifty United States and foreign patents for inventions relating to the chemical and electro-chemical industries were granted him.

He was a director of the American Electro-Chemical Society, and a member of the Society of Arts, London, the Faraday Society, London, the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, the American Chemical Society, the Society of Chemical Industry, and the Chemists' Club, New York. He was treasurer of the Westchester County Research Bureau, White Plains, N. Y., and of Trinity Church in Ossining.

In 1892 Mr. Acker married Alice Reynolds, daughter of William R. Beal, of New York, who survives him with six children, one of whom is Ernest R. Acker '17.

William C. Clark '17

William Cornwall Clark died on February 22 last. He was born on August 15, 1893, a son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Clark, of Fredonia, N. Y. He prepared at the Fredonia Normal School, and entered Cornell in 1913 in the course in arts, receiving the degree of A. B. in 1917. He was a member of Delta Chi, and played on the freshman baseball squad. He was also a member of his college basketball team in his sophomore and junior years.

Since his graduation he had made his home in Fredonia. He was a brother of Jackson B. Clark '12, of 249 McClellan Avenue, Detroit.

Rex E. Field '15

Lieutenant Rex Everitt Field was killed at Love Field, Dallas, Texas, on November 7 when an airplane in which he was flying went into a tail spin at an altitude of 1500 feet and plunged to the ground. A civilian passenger who was riding with him sustained a broken arm and several minor injuries.

Field was born on May 29, 1887, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Field, of Elmira, N. Y. He prepared at the Wellsboro, Pa., High School, and entered Cornell in 1911 in the course in arts.

He enlisted in Company L, 3d New York Infantry, on June 1, 1917, being promoted on June 22 to sergeant, and on July 19 to first sergeant. He attended the first Officers' Training Camp at Fort Niagara and received a first lieutenant's commission. On December 11 he was assigned to duty at Chanute Field, Rantoul, Ill., and on December 20 was made commanding officer of the 38th Aero Squadron. From April 9, 1918, to October 9, 1918, he acted as commandant of cadets at Chanute Field. He was ordered to report to the Air Service Depot at Garden City, but had been there only six days when he received orders assigning him to duty at Love Field. He was assistant adjutant from December 17, 1918, to January 1, 1919; from that time until March 24 he was commanding officer of Squadron B. Later he served at various times as post signal officer, prison officer, police officer, maintenance officer, camp supply officer, camp transportation officer, and salvage officer.

THE SAGE CHAPEL preacher for November 28 is the Rev. Dr. Nehemiah Boynton, of the Clinton Avenue Congregational Church, Brooklyn.

Professor Bristow Adams of the College of Agriculture has been added to the staff of the ALUMNI NEWS, replacing Professor Benton S. Monroe '96, who has been forced to resign because of the additional administrative work he has undertaken during the illness and leave of absence of Professor George P. Bristol. Professor Adams is head of the Information Service of the State College and teaches in the Forestry Department as well as gives courses in journalism in the Department of Extension Teaching. Professor Monroe has been writing for the ALUMNI NEWS since the formation of the editorial board in 1917, and his resignation is accepted with regret.

CONCERNING HAWAII

Ruling out Hawaii because its record is too good to use as a criterion, we find that the various States, Territories, and foreign countries have percentage records in the Endowment Campaign that range from zero for a State that contains thirty-two Cornellians up to forty-six per cent of a State that contains 644.

The responsibility, if you are one of these persons that always have to find out who is to blame, is primarily on a chairman and a committee. In the case of the small percenters, the organization either has not understood or has not functioned. And by virtue of its fault, the individual resident can duck the responsibility by saying that no one has solicited his gift.

Perhaps this is true, if one disregards anything but direct, strong-arm, personal solicitation. The problem in the Dakotas is more difficult than in Hawaii or Massachusetts. It is a matter of record also that the organizations in the two high spots have gone at their jobs with a determination to get every Cornellian to give. And the opportunity has come by mail to each, not once but a dozen times.

Seven thousand, seven hundred and forty-three Cornellians have averaged to give $774 each. It doesn't require a wealthy individual to be able to give as much as the average. The pay-at-will plan takes the sting out of giving. A person who has never had net assets of $774 in his life can give $774 if he can spare $38.70 a year out of his salary—the interest at five per cent on the principal. By simple arithmetic he can give $77.40 if he can spare $3.87 each year, or $77.40 if he can spare $387 each year.

But what of the principal? The principal can be tucked away in the back of one's head for a brighter day. Those oil stocks might kick through; Uncle Benjamin might bequeath a small wad of coin to you; you may not need the Liberty Bonds when they mature; you can take out a few shares in a building and loan association; or you can make the University your beneficiary for that much of your insurance. The pay-at-will plan thus becomes a pay-as-you-leave proposition and you don't have to worry over it again.

We have but one suggestion more. If you know of a case where an interested Cornellian cannot give a dollar a year interest until death us do part, and therefore cannot subscribe $20, get him to familiarize himself with every argument of the campaign, contribute whatever time he can afford, and go out and get the money for his committee. If he thus contributes, tell him to give merely a nominal sum, help his State and city toward a hundred per cent, and by his efforts rather than his gifts, raise the average subscription for his district.

For it is obvious that the Dakotas and New Mexico have either not understood the need or the process of caring for it, and that a person who can get the money has an important place in the campaign just as the one who can give it. It is equally obvious that Hawaii and Massachusetts have both kinds of Cornellians, or Cornellians with both kinds of talent.

SPORT STUFF

Here at Ithaca interest in the outcome of the Penn game has reached the stage where it amounts almost to a pathological condition. The houses are conducting raffles. He who wins one has his expenses paid to Philadelphia after being ducked with his clothes on in the fraternal bath tub. Merchants of progressive and sporting tendencies put large bowls of pumpkin seeds in the shop window. If you guess the correct number you receive a trip de luxe to the game as the guest of the establishment.

One philosophic undergraduate is going on the ample proceeds of a raffle, the stake of which was an engagement ring which had been returned to him during the week along with a communication of some bitterness.

It was pleasant to have the cross country pack win at New Haven. Inter-collegiate championships so common in antebellum days had become rare visitors to Ithaca and it is reassuring to find that we have not wholly lost the power to attract them. Moreover, it gives a feeling of satisfaction to be able to offer the British universities the opportunity of defeating the American intercollegiate champions.

The pack sails on the Aquitania December 14. The race with Oxford and Cambridge will be run at Roehampton on the 27th. English racing conditions call for a good deal of steeplechasing, whereas American cross country running is done on the flat. Consequently the more remote sections of Tompkins County have become dotted with hedge jumps, liverpools, and the like, over which the pack practices regularly. It would be pleasanter if the darn water jumps didn't so frequently freeze up over night.

Basketball practice has begun. The squad is a good deal larger than the audiences were ten years ago.

SIBLEY MEN WANTED

Pursuant to the change in its constitution to admit all Cornell engineers, as described in the ALUMNI NEWS of October 28, the Cornell Society of Engineers has also enlarged its Executive Committee to include five Sibley graduates. E. B. Katté '93, W. W. Macon '98, S. B. Whinery '99, R. W. Weed, jr., '09, and S. C. Finch '12 are the new members of the committee. The society has issued a special invitation to Sibley graduates to become members, setting forth the advantages of the society to the new Engineering College and to its members.

ATHLETICS

Wins Cross Country Championship

The cross country team won the intercollegiate championship last Saturday at the annual meeting of the I. C. A. A. A. held over a six-and-a-half-mile course at New Haven, and run off an hour or so before the Harvard-Yale game. It was the first time since 1916 that Cornell's harriers have captured the title and the sixteenth time since the championship meet was inaugurated in 1899 that the championship has been brought to Ithaca by the runners coached by Jack Moakley. In the twenty-one meets that have so far been held, Cornell has sixteen victories and Yale, Harvard, Maine, Syracuse, and Pennsylvania one each. In regaining laurels in this sport the team lived up to the tradition that no set of Cornell harriers has ever lost the intercollegiate meet twice in succession.

There was even more at stake than regaining first place in a sport in which Cornell has long been pre-eminent, gratifying though that accomplishment will be to Cornellians everywhere. For the team that Cornell sends to England on December 14 to race the Oxford and Cambridge harriers will be truly representative of America. This match was not arranged as an international meeting, but it now becomes one, because Cornell, the champion of America, will meet the best of the English university runners.

The victory last Saturday was won by a very narrow margin, Princeton being but one point behind. It was probably the closest team finish in the history of the race. Cornell won by team strength, which Coach Moakley had emphasized all along in training the runners. Throughout the greater part of the race the Cornell runners were pretty well bunched, although in the last few miles the whole field strung out, Cornell men included.

The five Cornell men who counted in the scoring all finished inside of the first eighteen men to cross the line out of a field of ninety or more who completed the course. The whole Cornell team of seven men finished inside of the first twenty-two.

Princeton finished her five scoring runners inside of the first twenty-three, but the Princeton team as a whole did not finish better than seven in the first thirty-six. This shows that although the meet was won by the narrowest of margins, there is no doubt that the strongest and best balanced team won.

The winning Cornellians finished as follows: McDermott in fourth place, N. P. Brown eighth, R. E. Brown tenth, Irish fifteenth, and Bonsal eighteenth. Captain Dickinson and Lentz, the remaining Ithacans to start, finished twenty-first and twenty-second respectively, but they did not count in the team total.

Princeton's runners finished as follows: Rogers third, Swede seventh, Forsman eleventh, Martin twelfth, Penfield twenty-third.

The score by teams follows: Cornell 55, Princeton 56, M. I. T. 90, Penn State 135, Yale 148, Syracuse 158, Williams 208, Columbia 217, Harvard 220, Pennsylvania 261, Dartmouth 297, C. C. N. Y. 328.

Individual honors went to Romig of Penn State, who covered the course in 33 minutes one second. Higgins of Columbia was second, Rogers of Princeton third, and McDermott of Cornell fourth. Simmons of Syracuse, last year's individual champion, twisted his ankle about a mile and a half from the finish and was forced to drop out. At that time he was closely pursuing Romig.

The referee was John T. McGovern, Cornell '00. McGovern is going to accompany the team on its trip to England next month.

Freshman Harriers Fifth

The Cornell freshmen team finished fifth in the freshman race which preceded the varsity contest. This was run over a three-and-a-half-mile course. Eight teams were entered. The race was won by the Yale freshmen, with thirty-six points, and a Yale runner, Douglas, captured individual honors, covering the course in 16 minutes 30 seconds.

Geohagan, the first Red and White runner to finish, came in fifth, but the next Cornellian to cross was Hennings in fifteenth place. The other Cornell men finished as follows: Raush twenty-ninth, Corbett thirty-fourth, DeProsc thirty-fifth, and Emerson thirty-seventh.

Team scores follow: Yale 36, Princeton 43, Syracuse 85, Penn State 95, Cornell 114, Harvard 144, M. I. T. 185, Penn 208.

Frosh Football Team Loses

The freshman football team was beaten by the Pennsylvania freshman eleven by a score of 13 to 7 in the annual game played last Saturday on Schoellkopf Field.

Neither team was able to score in the first half, Cornell having the advantage most of the time and keeping the play well in their opponents' territory. In the third period both teams resorted to aerial football with Penn having the better of it.

In this period a neat pass, Keency to Bader, allowed the latter to get away for a thirty-five-yard run for a touchdown, while in the last period, with Cornell trying desperately to score by the passing game, Hubbard tossed a forward pass which was intercepted by Brayden on Cornell's twenty-five-yard line and he ran over for a score. The Cornell cubs fought savagely and after several successful line plays, scored a touchdown on a forward pass, Hubbard to Ramsey. This score was made in the last two minutes of play.

In rushing the Cornell youngsters were superior to Penn, but the latter has the edge in the open game. Cornell started her own open game too late.

Soccer Team Loses

The Cornell soccer team was defeated by Penn State by a score of 8 to 2 on Alumni Field last Saturday. The visitors clearly outplayed Cornell, having a strong attack and a clever passing game, while Cornell's defense was rather loose.

LITERARY REVIEW

Books and Magazine Articles

In The Cornell Civil Engineer for October William M. Reck '14 writes on "The Bar Company in Reinforced Concrete Construction." Walter J. Sherman '77 discusses the question, "Should Engineers in the Teaching Profession Engage in Private Practice in Competition with Their Own Alumni?" a practice which he strongly condemns. Professor Charles L. Walker '04 takes an opposite view of the question, under the title "Engineering Teachers and Outside Practice." Harry Ten Hagen '13 describes "Military Roads, Trails, and Bridges in Panama." A committee of the American Railway Association headed by A. W. Johnston has prepared a memorial notice of Albert J. Himes '87, which the Civil Engineer reprints from the June Bulletin of the American Railway Engineering Association. There is also an obituary of William M. Torrance '95. Harold A. Axtell '11 presents "Suggestions for Concrete Design."

Under the title of "An American in Asia," Louis Graves writes in Asia for September and October on the career in China of the late Major Willard Straight '01. The article is illustrated by a full-page portrait of Straight after a photograph by Histed, London, and by reproductions of Straight's sketches of Chinese characters. The second instalment is made up of extracts from Straight's diary, of 1902-3, written in Peking. Straight, who long kept up his painting and drawing, had a fine eye for color and in his diary gives many a vivid scene of life in the Chinese capital. In the September number also, at page 754, is a full-length portrait of Miss Gertrude Emerson, daughter of former Professor and Mrs. Alfred Emerson and sister of Alfred E. Emerson '18 and Willard I. Emerson '21; she is now conducting, with Donald C. Thompson, an expedition to the Orient for Asia, in which she is later to describe her experiences. Miss Emerson has spent some years in Japan as a teacher and writer.

The opening article of The Philosophical Review for September is on "Philosophy in France, 1919," by André Lalande, translated by Dr. Katherine E. Gilbert '12. Mrs. Marion Crane Carroll, Ph. D. '16, writes on "The Method in the Metaphysics of Bernard Bosanquet." Professor Frank Thilly, '91-2 Grad., reviews G. E. Partridge's "The Psychology of Nations" (Macmillan). Professor Alfred H. Jones '07, of Brown, reviews "Modern Science and Materialism" by Hugh Elliott (Longmans) and Holly Estil Cunningham's "An Introduction to Philosophy" (Badger). Professor Elijah Jordan, A. M. '08, of Butler College, reviews Edward Carpenter's "Pagan and Christian Creeds: Their Origin and Meaning" (Harcourt, Brace & Howe). The editor, Professor Creighton, reviews A. P. Fontaine's "La Philosophie d' E. Boutroux," H. Wildon Carr's "The New Idealistic Movement in Philosophy," Harold H. Joachim's "Immediate Experience and Mediation," and the revised edition of A. E. Taylor's "Aristotle." Dr. Katherine Gilbert reviews Herbert Ernest Cushman's "A Beginner's History of Philosophy" (Houghton Mifflin Company).

In Studies in Philology for October, Professor John C. Rolfe, A. M. '84, Ph. D. '85, of the University of Pennsylvania, publishes a batch of "Marginalia," consisting chiefly of linguistic discussions of passages in Latin authors.

In The Cornell Era for October 28 Professor Frank Thilly, taking his life in his hands, ventures to give utterance to "A Defence of Probation."

In The Cornell Countryman for November Professor Bristow Adams writes on "The Kermis Plays" and Professor Elmer S. Savage, '07-11 Grad., on "Cattle at the State Fair." Howard A. Stevenson '19, of the ALUMNI NEWS Board, and supervisor of the Cornell Farm Study Courses, writes on "Taking the College to the Home." Professor John C. McCurdy '12 reviews H. Colin Campbell's "How to Use Cement for Concrete Construction." Louis A. Zehner '22 reviews Charles F. Saunders's "Useful Wild Plants of the United States" and Mary Dillon's "The Farmer of Roaring Run." Professor Edward S. Guthrie, M. S. A. '10, reviews Otto F. Hunziker's "The Butter Industry." Professor T. Lyttleton Lyon

'91 reviews Wilbert W. Weir's "Productive Soils." R. H. Sawyer, '20-1 Grad., reviews "The Use of Artificial Light to Increase Winter Egg Production," of which Professor James E. Rice '90 is one of the authors and which is published by the Reliable Poultry Journal Publishing Company; and "Profitable Culling and Selective Flock Breeding," also published by the same company.

In The Journal of Experimental Psychology for April, which was received in the late summer, Henry J. Watt publishes a "Note on Mr. G. J. Rich's Study of Tonal Attributes," which is followed by a rejoinder by Rich (A. B., A. M. '15, Ph. D. '17), who is now at the University of Pittsburgh.

Gertrude Rand Ferree '08 collaborates with her husband, Clarence E. Ferree, in an article on "The Limits of Color Sensitivity: Effect of Brightness of Preexposure and Surrounding Field" in The Psychological Review for September.

In The Political Science Quarterly for September Thorstein Veblen, '91-2 Grad., reviews John Maynard Keynes' "The Economic Consequences of the Peace."

The Physical Review for October includes a study of "The Performance of Physical Horns" by Professor George W. Stewart, Ph. D. '01, of the University of Iowa. There is also an abstract of an article on "The Dielectric Constant of Silk" by Professor Frederick J. Rogers, M. S. '91, of Stanford, read before the American Physical Society at Seattle on June 18.

In The Saturday Evening Post for November 6 Kenneth L. Roberts '08, under the title "The Goal of Central Europeans," discusses the subject of immigration and restrictions thereupon.

In School and Society for November 6 Professor Ray H. Whitbeck '01, of the University of Wisconsin, publishes an article on "The Rejuvenation of Geography." It is an abridgement of an address before the Missouri State Teachers' Association a year ago. Vaughan MacCaughy '08, superintendent of public instruction in Hawaii, writes on "The Teacher Supply Situation in Hawaii." In the same issue the ALUMNI NEWS editorial on salaries, issue of October 7, is reprinted entire.

An article by Arthur A. Blue '15 entitled "Notes on Heat Treating Equipment" appeared in the September number of The American Drop Forger.

The Friend, of Honolulu, "the oldest newspaper west of the Rockies," now in its eighty-ninth volume, devotes its September issue to the University of Hawaii. Professor David L. Crawford, '12-13 Grad., writes on "The University and Future Citizens of Hawaii." Dr. Arthur L. Andrews '93, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and professor of English in the University of Hawaii, writes on his college. A group picture of the faculty also appears, including the four Cornell men mentioned in our issue of November 4.

John Alan Hamilton '92, chairman of the Housing Committee of the New York State Reconstruction Committee, writes in The Survey for October 16 on "The Need for Permanent Housing Boards." The same number includes an obituary notice of George W. Nasmyth by Frederick Lynch. In the issue for October 30 Frederick L. Ackerman '01 writes on "Selling Cooperation at a Top Price." "A Call to Social Workers" is signed by eleven persons, one of whom is Howard S. Braucher '03.

Professor George L. Hamilton writes in Modern Language Notes for November on "The Sources of The Fates of the Apostles and Andreas," two Old English poems. Professor T. Frederick Craue reviews Johannes Bolte and Georg Polivka's "Anmerkungen zu den Kinder- und Hausmärchen der Brüder Grimm, Dritter Band," and Dr. Allan H. Gilbert '09 reviews Charles H. Whitman's "Subject Index to the Poetry of Edmund Spenser." Dr. Gerard E. Jensen, formerly of the Department of English, now of Connecticut College, contributes a note "On The March of the Lion," an anonymous pamphlet of the time of Henry Fielding.

In Science for November 12 Professor Edwin G. Boring '08 of Clark University writes on "Predilection and Sampling of Human Heights" and Dr. Leland O. Howard '78 contributes a note on "Swarming of Anopheles" (mosquitoes).

Dr. Leon A. Hausman '14 contributes to The Scientific American Monthly for November an illustrated article on "The Figured Stones of Würzburg: an Account of the Most Remarkable Hoax in the History of Science."

In The Nation for November 10 is printed a letter from the late Dr. George W. Nasmyth '06 to Secretary Newton D. Baker concerning the continuous imprisonment of political prisoners. Professor Carl Becker reviews Frederick J. Turner's "The Frontier in American History."

WILLIAM E. UTTERBACK, last year an assistant in public speaking, has gone to Dartmouth with Professor Winans as instructor in public speaking.

ALL UNIVERSITY organ recitals are to be given in Bailey Hall for the remainder of this term.

ALUMNI NOTES

'94 BS—Dr. Marguerite T. Lee is a teacher in the Girls' High School, Brooklyn. She is also secretary of the School Garden Association and a director of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae.

'99 ME—Edwin J. Lewis is superintendent of the Climax Manufacturing Company, manufacturers of geared locomotives. His address is 60 East Bond Street, Corry, Pa.

'03 ME—Frank Davol Williams and Miss Mildred Eckert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Eckert, were married on October 2 at the summer home of the bride's parents in Noronton, Conn. Howard S. Williams '02, of Cleveland, was his brother's best man, and Donald D. Williams '05, another brother, was one of the ushers. After December 1, Mr. and Mrs. Williams will be at home at 134 Columbia Heights, Brooklyn.

'03—George H. Mueller, formerly with the J. I. Case Plow Works Company, of Racine, Wisconsin, has recently become associated with the Termaat-Monahan Manufacturing Company, of Oshkosh, Wisconsin, as vice-president and general manager. This company conducts a foundry and machine shop manufacturing gasoline engines, portable sawmill outfits, etc. During the war, Mueller was chief engineer for the Curtiss Aeroplane Motors Corporation, and the original Liberty motors were built under his supervision. Previously he was with the Willys-Overland Company, and for several years was chief engineer and New York sales manager for the Jeffrey Manufacturing Company of Columbus, Ohio.

'04 ME—Harry Sanford Brown and Miss Marjorie Carpenter were married on September 18, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick B. Carpenter, in Wakefield, Mass. The bride is a graduate of Miss Dow's School at Briarcliff Manor, N. Y. Mr. and Mrs. Brown will live in New York.

'05 ME—William O. Kurtz is general traffic engineer for the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania; his address is 1631 Arch Street, Philadelphia.

'06 ME—S. Jay Teller has been placed in charge of the engineering department of the Pratt & Whitney Company, Hartford, Connecticut. Following his graduation, Teller spent eight years in Washington studying and practicing patent law; he has since been associated with the Pratt & Whitney Company.

'07 AB—Miss Alice Ethel Rowe has returned to her parents' home in Hampton, Virginia, for the winter; she spent the summer at one of the artists' colonies in the Catskill Mountains. Her address is 808 Park Place, Hampton.

'08 LLB—Henry E. Schlobohm is engaged in the general practice of law in Yonkers, N. Y., with offices at 45 Warburton Avenue; he is now serving his second four-year term as justice of the peace in Yonkers.

'08 ME—Charles B. Curtiss is sales manager for the Bay City Foundry and Machine Company, Bay City, Michigan; his address is 924 Center Avenue, Bay City.

'08 ME—The marriage of Mrs. Lillian Schenck and William G. Mennen, of Newark, took place on October 21 at Mrs. Schenck's home at 220 West Ninety-eighth Street, New York. The bride was attended by her daughter, Miss Dorothy Knoepe, and the best man was Harry P. Williams. Mr. and Mrs. Mennen will live at 370 Ridge Street, Newark.

'08 ME—Albert W. Morse is president of the Anthony Company, Long Island City, N. Y. With the same company are Frank Martindell, M. E. '15, production manager, and Wayne W. Cowan, M. E. '15, engineering manager. The office is at 9 Jackson Avenue, Long Island City.

'10 MSA—Joseph W. Hungate is head of the Department of Applied Arts at the Cheney State Normal College, Cheney, Wash.

'11 CE—W. Mitchell Price is president and general manager of the Price Construction Company, 210 Maryland Trust Building, Baltimore, Md. He lives at 2703 Roslyn Avenue, Baltimore.

'11 AB—Miss Jane Louise Jones, for some years a highly successful instructor in English in the State College for Teachers at Albany, has resigned to accept the principalship of the Brown School, a private school in Schenectady.

'11 ME—Lafayette L. Porter is secretary-treasurer of the Universal Conveyor Company of South Bend, Ind., manufacturing and selling a cableway conveyor using a gravity-filling bucket for the handling of coal, ashes, gravel, etc. He lives at Long View, Dragoon Road, Mishawaka, Ind.

'11 BSA—A daughter, Elizabeth, was born on October 19 to Mr. and Mrs. Lewis H. Schwartz, 1007 First Street, West Lafayette, Ind.

'12 ME—A son, Jean P. Leinroth, jr., was born on July 4 to Mr. and Mrs. Jean P. Leinroth, 5943 Cobbs Creek Parkway, Philadelphia.

'12 ME—Fred W. Krebs is district sales manager for the United Alloy Steel Corporation, with offices at 614 Sweetland Building, Cleveland, Ohio.

'12; '14 BS—Mr. and Mrs. Walter

Johnston (Mary Newman '14) announce the birth of their daughter, Margaret Louise, on June 28. Their address is 3113 North Front Street, Harrisburgh, Pa.

'12—Miss Adelaide L. Long and John L. Wilson were married on October 6 at the Grace Reformed Church in Brooklyn. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Long, of Brooklyn. Wilson was a lieutenant in the Air Service during the war. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will live at 719 Eighth Avenue, Brooklyn.

'13 AB—Austin P. Story and Miss Cordelia Wallace, daughter of Colonel William Wallace, U. S. A., and Mrs. Wallace, were married on April 24 at Norfolk, Va. They are now living in Chillicothe, Ohio.

'13 ME—Reynolds Longfield was married in October to Miss Helen Louise Goerts, of St. Louis, a graduate of Mary Institute, class of 1915. During the war, Longfield served as a first lieutenant in the Tank Corps.

'14 AB—H. Wallace Peters has been appointed general manager of the new Packard retail sales and service branch at Jefferson Avenue and St. Antonio Street, Detroit. Peters has been an executive of the Packard factory organization for the past four years, serving first as assistant to the president, and later as office manager in charge of extensive activities within the Packard organization.

'15 AB—William A. Fay is in the foreign sales department of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, 26 Broadway, New York. He lives at 112 St. James Place, Brooklyn.

'15 AB—Mr. and Mrs. Edmund T. Kennedy, 190 Guy Park Avenue, Amsterdam, N. Y., announce the birth of a son, Thomas F. Kennedy, 2d, on October 15.

A fact:

Day in and day out, at this great railway terminal, the sales of Fatima exceed those of any other cigarette.

This fact clearly shows Fatima's popularity with a large part, at least, of the traveling public.

"When Building Costs Are Right"

BUILDING operations by the thousands are awaiting that indefinite time. Meanwhile certain industries are under a severe handicap; others are failing to prepare for the greater production that will inevitably be necessary.

Can building costs be materially lower in the face of overwhelming building requirements? Can the downward tendency of the past few months continue? Economists, statisticians and your own judgment unite to tell you they cannot.

The increased building activity that responds to each downward trend in prices necessarily forces the prices back to their former higher levels. You cannot anticipate a more favorable building time than the present. On the other hand, postponement may be costly.

Under present conditions, it is doubly necessary to select your Construction Company only after the most careful investigation. May we tell you why our experience, organization and character qualify us to serve you?

Appraisals

Rapidly changing values have increased the importance of reliable appraisal work based upon knowledge of current costs. Our experience in this connection is at your service.

Life on the Ocean with Electricity at the Helm

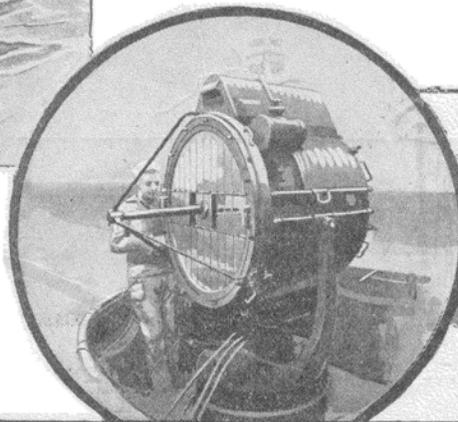

IN the old days, life before the mast was rated in terms of man power but the new sea is measured in horsepower, with electricity as the controlling force.

A modern electric ship, like the "New Mexico" or the "California", is a great city afloat. With oil for fuel, a central power plant generates sufficient energy to propel the massive vessel and to furnish light and power for every need.

And on the shore the application of electricity to the loading, unloading and repair work saves time and labor.

To make possible marine electrification the future needs aboard ship had to be visualized and then the machinery engineered to meet those needs. In this capacity the organization, experience and facilities of the General Electric Company have been serving the American Navy and Merchant Marine.

It is just about time to begin your Christmas buying

Students in Ithaca need no urging to buy at the Co-op. We simply notify them that the display is ready. The "out-of-town" frequently write us to send them a certain number of ten or fifteen cent cards and we make the selection. Can we serve you?

Whitman's Shield Chocolates.

A Christmas item is the Whitman Special Cornell box called the "Shield Chocolates." The price is $1.75 per pound and we sell the one, two, three and five pound boxes. Why not send a little extra and have the box insured?

Calendar

We have not received the cut from Mr. Troy showing the cover of this year's calendar. We have seen the proofs of the pictures. The calendar is a good one. The price is $1.55, postage paid as last year.
