Vol. XXIII, No. 26

Ithaca, N. Y., April 7, 1921

THE Chimes, up to March 25, had played 2,710,024 times, according to statistics gathered by The Cornell Daily Sun, and the "Jennie McGraw Rag," or the changes, has floated out over the Campus 22,000 times.

SHARK'S HEADS in unlimited quantities are being asked for by Cornell according to reports printed in the papers of Florida. They are wanted for research in blood circulation, and since the head forms about a third of the whole carcass, that portion is said to be enough for the Cornell purposes.

ELECTIONS in the C. U. C. A. resulted in the following choices: president, Louis W. Voigt, Arts '21, of Pittsburgh, Pa.; vice-president, Edmond A. Perre-gaux, Agriculture '22, Lincoln, R. I.; secretary, Henry W. Smeallie, Arts '22, Amsterdam, N. Y. These men assume their duties immediately after the spring vacation, and will hold office for one year.

VAUDEVILLE BAITING as a college sport is a recent subject of discussion at Cornell, with the consensus of opinion that the abuse constitutes a vicious circle in which poor acts are the cause of the "razzing," while the student razz prevents good acts from coming to Ithaca. A comparison of Ithaca theatre prices with those prevailing elsewhere in the State shows that local residents pay higher prices for similar attractions.

CHEMISTRY STUDENTS have organized an honorary society to be known as Al-Djebbar, taking the place occupied by Alembic before the war. The society has lately announced the following elections to membership: Warren H. Jones '21, Rockaway Beach; Robert E. Burk '22, Okmulgee, Okla.; William B. Douglass, jr., '22, Washington, D. C.; Charles H. Fletcher '22, Detroit, Mich.; Caesar A. Grasselli, 2d, '22, Cleveland, Ohio; Eugene L. Jewett '22, Fredonia; Charles H. Quick '22, Newton Center, Mass.; Alvin L. Satterthwaite '22, Stanton, Del.; and Franklin Taylor, jr., '22, Wilmington, Del. All are registered in the Department of Chemistry.

THE MANUSCRIPT CLUB plans the first open meeting it has ever held for the evening of April 25. Invitations will be restricted, it is said, to about fifty of the more literarily inclined members of the University, including Faculty and students.

in three sports at Cornell and more recently at Yale, will return to Ithaca as head of a school of physical culture to be connected with the Ithaca Conservatory of Music. Ground is being broken for a new gymnasium facing DeWitt Park. Coach Moakley will be associated with the new adventure in an advisory capacity.

CORNELL DEBATERS spoiled their wonderful record of four consecutive victories by two defeats on the same night to Pittsburgh and to Princeton. If the best teams had been used there is a possibility that Cornell might have won; but it is the policy of those in charge of debating matters to see that practice in actual debate is extended to the largest possible number.

CORNELL is grouped with Yale and Harvard in a proposal for the new Pope School for Boys at Avon, Conn. Mrs. John Wallace Riddle, professionally known to architects as Theodate Pope, has established this school on entirely new lines as a memorial to her parents. She proposes that the affairs of the school shall be handled by a council made up partly of the presidents of each of the three named universities, of the Progressive Educational Association, and of the National Education Association.

THE SAGE CHAPEL preacher for April 3 was the Rev. Dr. Wallace E. Brown, minister of the University Avenue M. E. Church of Syracuse, and for a number of years minister of the First M. E. Church of Ithaca.

LECTURES for the fortnight include "A Biological Study of Aphelinus Mali Hald. with a View to Its Establishment in South Africa as a Check on the Woolly Apple Aphis" by Arnold E. Lundie and "The Ithomyids or Ghost Butterflies" by William T. M. Forbes before the Jugatae Society; "Chemical Problems in Immunity" by Dean Veranus A. Moore '87 before the Cornell Section of the American Chemical Society; "The Kingdom of Darkness and the Coming of Antichrist" by Professor George L. Burr '81 in the course on the history of civilization; and an address before the Menorah Society by Professor Louis L. Silverman, of Dartmouth, organizer of the Cornell Menorah.

THE ARTS ASSOCIATION is likely to be revived to administer the honor system in the College of Arts and Sciences. Before the war this association had much to do with student affairs in the College. The students in chemistry will have a separate organization for their honor system committee.

PHI DELTA PHI, honorary law fraternity, recently elected the following law students to membership in the Conkling Inn, the local chapter: Gethin T. Fowler '22, Salt Lake City; Herbert R. Reif '23, Pittsburgh; and Ansley Wilcox '23, Castleton-on-Hudson, N. Y.

A SAWMILL maintained by the Department of Forestry cuts firewood from the farm woodlots as improvement cuttings.

A FIG TREE in the Sage College greenhouse has bloomed again and promises another crop of figs this year.

MARCH WEATHER in Ithaca broke all records since the Weather Bureau was established, forty-two years ago. The average temperature for the month was 42.6, which is 10.7 above normal and .5 higher than March, 1903, which previously held the record for warmth.

AS YOU WERE, the mimeographed publication of the R. O. T. C., says that the riding class for cadet officers has been discontinued because of present overcrowded conditions of the Infirmary.

THE UNIVERSITY ORCHESTRA will present its third free concert of the season in Bailey Hall on April 26. A feature of the program will be a group of Jennie Lind songs.

TELEPHONE RATES in Ithaca have promised to go up, according to a new schedule submitted to the Public Service Commission, though the company promised that the consolidation of the two lines would bring with it no increase in rates.

THE WOMEN'S DRAMATIC CLUB will present Mrs. Josephine Preston Peabody Marks' prize play, "The Piper," at the Lyceum sometime in May. Edith Wynne Matthison starred in this play in 1911.

GILMOUR DOBIE again proved himself "the prize gloom" at the Junior Smoker in pointing out the conditions that prevent success in football at Cornell. He held out some rays of hope that factors which have militated against victorious teams in the past may begin to change.

STUDENTS make the complaint that the Cornell spring vacation comes after that of all other colleges and thus prevents the renewal of pre-college friendships among former schoolmates of the old home town.

Professorships Authorized

Trustees Allow Groups Five Years to Complete Endowments.

Coincident with the announcement by the Cornellian Council that two fraternities, Alpha Delta Phi and Psi Upsilon, have subscribed enough money to Cornell's Semi-Centennial Endowment to endow full professorships, comes the announcement by the Trustees that groups or individuals who had already undertaken to endow a chair by the raising of a special fund prior to the close of the Endowment Fund Campaign, on December 31, 1920, may have five years within which to complete the quota sought and to obtain sufficient subscriptions to endow professorships, assistant professorships, or instructorships.

The members of the Psi Upsilon Fraternity have subscribed considerably more than enough to establish one professorship, as is also the case with the Alpha Delta Phi Fraternity, and the number of subscriptions actually allocated to the fraternity professorships in each case is now more than sufficient to enable the Trustees to establish the chairs. The Psi Upsilon fund is $156,751 and the Alpha Delta Phi Fund $135,888. In completing its quota, the Psi Upsilon Fraternity committee reported the only 100 per cent record established during the course of the campaign. Of the 107 members in Greater New York the entire number made subscriptions to the Endowment Fund.

By a recent resolution, the Board of Trustees have authorized subscribers to the Endowment Fund to reallocate subscriptions made during the campaign to any fund which was already started before the close of the campaign. This step was taken to enable fraternity and other groups which had undertaken to endow professorships, to campaign among their members to obtain the allocation of the subscriptions already made. This reallocation can be done until Commencement Day this June. After that time all allocations will be considered final, and all subscriptions at that time which are not allocated cannot be changed.

The resolution further provided that organizations which had actually undertaken to establish funds prior to the close of the campaign might obtain additional subscriptions to swell such funds until December 21, 1925. This will not allow any such organization, however, to name more than one such chair unless the intention of the organization to name more than one chair was announced prior to the close of the Endowment Campaign. The Trustees voted that "the amounts of $125,000, $65,000 and $40,000, fixed by the Semi-Centennial Endowment Committee as the basis for the privilege of endowing and naming respectively a professorship, an assistant professorship and an instructorship, have no connection with the salaries that will be paid now or in the future to the incumbents of any such endowed chairs, but are regarded as amounts in consideration for the payment of which the University agrees, during its existence, to maintain chairs of those grades, respectively, named for the donors."

In view of the fact that the four undergraduate classes of last year each pledged sums in excess of $125,000, and are paying interest thereon at the present time, the Trustees at their April meeting, on April 2, voted to establish at Cornell University "the Class of 1920 Memorial Professorship, the Class of 1921 Memorial Professorship, the Class of 1922 Memorial Professorship, and the Class of 1923 Memorial Professorship" and resolved "that suitable tablets be prepared with appropriate inscriptions commemorating such professorships and stating the date of their establishment and the names of the successive holders thereof, and that such tablets be placed in the University buildings used by the respective professors who from time to time are appointed to hold such professorships." The Trustees further provided that the names of such professorships should lapse if "such subscriptions for such respective professorships up to the aggregate amount of $125,000 for each professorship, or regular payments of interest on unpaid portions thereof, are not paid as pledged."

S. P. ORTH BADLY INJURED

An automobile accident in which a car driven by Professor Samuel P. Orth went over the Cayuga Street approach to Six Mile Creek bridge shocked Cornell and Ithaca last Sunday. The car contained Professor and Mrs. Orth, Grace Seely '04, warden of Sage College, and Mary Louise Campbell '24, of Ithaca, Mrs. Orth's niece. Miss Campbell was only slightly hurt. All of the other occupants were severely injured and all suffered from concussions of the brain. At the time that the ALUMNI NEWS goes to press, Professor Orth has a fighting chance. Miss Seely and Mrs. Orth are expected to recover; but Professor Orth's physique is not of the best because of a number of recent illnesses.

The car turned completely over and the top was wholly wrecked. Steering gear and running gear were so little injured that the car was taken to the garage under its own power. At the time the accident happened there were no other cars on or near the bridge.

Purpose of the Convention

Cleveland Club Points Out the Reasons for Holding Convention There.

"What is the purpose of the Cornell University Alumni Convention?"

"Why is the convention not held at Ithaca?"

In a letter of March 30, addressed to ninety-three Cornell clubs and alumni associations, Harold D. North '07, chairman of the committee on arrangements for the Cornell Convention to be held in Cleveland, May 13-14, answers these questions in the following way:

"The Cornell University Alumni Convention will be held—probably annually—to secure the sentiment of the Cornell alumni on educational and university questions, that the university and educational bodies generally may learn the reaction of the university graduates on these problems and be guided by the sentiment thus expressed.

"The convention will be held outside of Ithaca that these questions may be discussed away from the atmosphere of the University Campus and to emphasize the fact that Cornell is more than a local institution—that it is national and international in its scope."

The history of the Cornell Alumni Convention in summary is about as follows:

A convention had been contemplated by the Cornell alumni before the war. In fact, alumni in Chicago had taken definite steps, in cooperation with the Associate Alumni, to hold the first big convention in the Windy City. The war, however, turned the thoughts of every Cornellian towards the immediate task of finding his special niche in the war machine, and problems that had long been seated deeply in the minds of leaders among the graduates were forced into the background.

Chicago broached the question of a convention after the armistice inasmuch as there was a real crisis to meet anyway in circles of higher education. There seemed, however, to be a feeling that as long as the Chicago convention had fallen through, through no fault of the Chicago delegation, perhaps it might be wise to make a fresh start.

Heads of the Associate Alumni then seemed to turn to Cleveland for a solution of a convention city. They definitely approached the Cleveland club with a plan. "Will Cleveland take the initial plunge in the field of big alumni conventions?" these men asked. Cleveland men were a little hesitant to take upon their shoulders as big an event with so much depending on its success or failure. There followed a heavy discussion and when the smoke of battle had cleared, Cleveland men were united on the one idea that they would take on the first convention and make such a thorough job of it that it would set a precedent for future gatherings which would tend to place Cornell alumni in the forefront of progressivism.

There is the history of the convention movement in a nutshell. Immediately upon the announcement that the ball had been set in motion by the Associate Alumni in conjunction with the Cleveland Club and with the cooperation of clubs in other cities, the executive committee received cordial response from all quarters. Many alumni have written to the committee telling their views of what should be discussed at the convention. Prominent men in various walks of life have said that they were watching the development of the Cleveland convention with interest, as they felt that it would pave the way for greater alumni action in the colleges; that it would broaden the scope of alumni activity, and thus increase the honor and prestige of higher learning.

Characteristic letters from alumni cannot all be easily quoted to show the trend of popular opinion in regard to the convention. A few will suffice to make clear the point that graduates of Cornell are in dead earnest.

John Dodds '08 writes: "Nothing short of an earthquake can keep me from Cleveland on the big days of May 13-14." Seconding that sentiment, Nicholas H. Noyes '06, ex-president of the Associate Alumni, also sums up his ideas on the convention in one terse sentence: "You bet I am going to be at the first real convention if I have to walk."

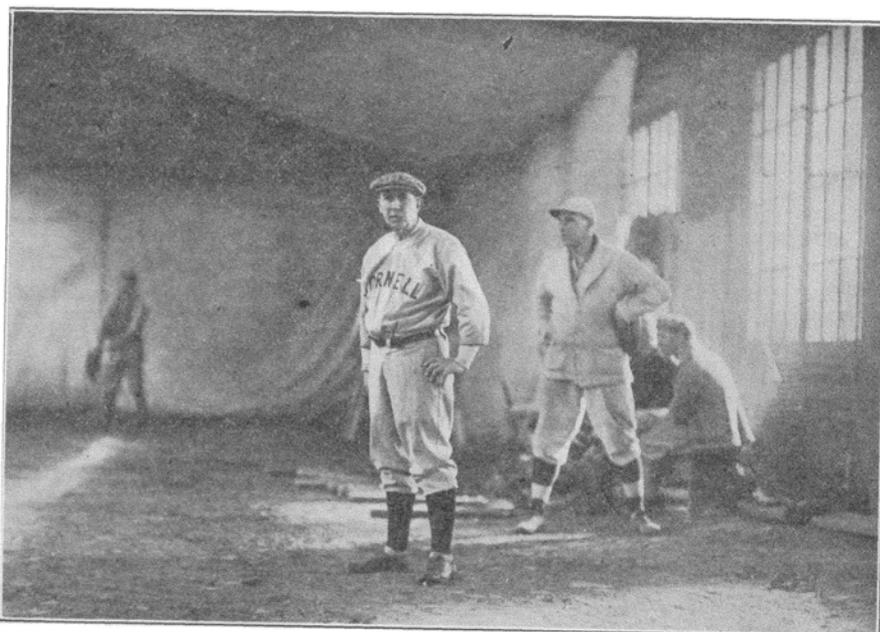

In the field of entertainment for the convention days, alumni might be interested to learn that the "Be a Frosh Again" idea, in which every alumnus attending will wear a "frosh" cap, has met with instant favor. Of course, there are those who hold out on the proposition, declaring their "frosh" days have been put behind them for all time, but that sentiment is maintained decidedly by the minority.

The entertainment committee is planning a huge affair for the New York-Cleveland baseball game on Saturday, May 14, when the graduates in a body will march to the ball park. Babe Ruth and Tris Speaker will probably be the proud recipients of degrees from the visiting alumni. That afternoon and night will be full of events of the kind that make Cornell history.

WESTERN PA. ANNUAL DINNER

Cornellians from all over Western Pennsylvania will gather at the University Club in Pittsburgh, at 6 p. m., April 9, for their annual dinner, in honor of President Albert W. Smith '78.

man; his assistants include W. K. Frank '11, secretary and treasurer; "Doe" Umstad '06, music and stunts; J. Harry Letsche, jr., '12, publicity; E. E. Ludwig '16, decorations; W. T. Todd, jr., menu; Karl W. Gass '12, speakers and program; W. S. Elliott '87 and William Metcalf, jr., '01, entertainment of guests; Charles M. Thorp '84, Col. E. A. Gibbs '06, Dr. R. S. McClelland '82, E. Willis Whitted '12, William S. Wallace '10, John F. Craig '12, Curtis M. Yohe '09, and Marion Rhinehart '20, reception committee. "Let's Go!" is their slogan.

John T. (Terry) McGovern '00, New York, who "chaperoned" the cross country team to England, is scheduled for a formal address. Louis A. Fuertes '97 has promised to attend if it's in the wood and his friends in Pittsburgh are keeping the wires hot. Harold D. (Bub) North, general chairman of the Cornell Alumni Convention at Cleveland, May 13-15, is going down from Cleveland with a delegation of "C. U. at Cleveland" boosters to give the Western Pennsylvanians some "Education." Pittsburgh's Own, Charles C. Bailey '21, undergraduate manager of track and cross country, will be on hand, and is rounding up the Western Pennsylvania undergraduates who will be home for the vacation, and who are all invited to be on hand and to bring their fathers, brothers, and chums.

The "Cunawpa" Quartet (Ramsburg '99, Rose '06, Titus '05, and Umstad '06) will be there with a lot of new stuff, as will the famous "McCutecheon" Quartet, composed of "Nort" '14, "Ken" '15, "Don" '16, and their dad, W. A. McCutecheon, who supplies the heavy ones,—some family for real "harmony."

President Thomas Fleming, jr., '05 will present Howard Douglas '04, who will have the evening in charge as toastmaster. Howard is now in the sunny South getting in shape for the fray.

Moving pictures direct from Ithaca and London and other parts where Cornell is active will be shown, the old songs will be sung, and every possible and some impossible things will be done to make this an old-fashioned Cornell Night.

TWO CLEVELAND LUNCHEONS

A. H. Lintz, secretary of the Cleveland Safety Council, spoke to the Cornell Club of Cleveland on March 31. For the past eight years he has been selling the science of safety engineering to the manufacturing and domestic public and to the schools. Mr. Lintz appealed to every Cornellian to stress the important side of the slogan "Safety First" and not to look upon the term as one of derision.

A conventional Cleveland spring drizzle failed to keep down the luncheon attendants who stormed the lounge room in Hotel Statler just as they have done on previous occasions, while in the streets probably more than the usual quota of accidents to school children were being tolled off even as Mr. Lintz was pleading his cause to the Cornellians. It was a prime day for accidents. Perhaps that was a contributive cause of the unusual attention paid to the speaker.

At the luncheon on March 24, R.

Warren ("Tubby") Sailor '07 was a speaker along with Gardner Abbott, leader of the American Legion in Cleveland. Reports from the committee indicate that both speakers went big. The Cleveland crowd is out to finish with all standing records broken; ninety-three men attended the luncheon on March 17, ninety-five on March 24, with the one hundred mark topped last week.

SENIOR IN NEW ENGLAND

John L. Senior '01, a Trustee of the University and president of the CORNELL ALUMNI NEWS Publishing Company, was scheduled to speak on University affairs at the weekly luncheon of the Cornell Club of New England on April 4, at the Hotel Essex in Boston.

NORTHWESTERN PA. ORGANIZES

With President Smith present to give the necessary inspiration, the Cornell Club of Northwestern Pennsylvania was organized at a banquet held at the University Club in Erie on March 12. Cornell men were present from many towns in that section of the State, particularly from the four counties of Warren, Venango, Crawford, and Erie.

Officers were elected as follows: president, H. W. Taft '17; vice-president, Charles J. Ling '90; secretary and treasurer, Donald C. Miller '12; directors, Frederick B. McBrier '96 and Frederick B. Downing '95, elected for three years; Nelson J. Darling '07 and Harry Casler '98, elected for two years; James D. Murphy '07 and John O. Green '15, elected for one year.

COLGATE IN BUFFALO

Forty-six Cornellians in Buffalo turned out at the regular weekly luncheon at the Hotel Iroquois on April 1, to entertain six members of the Colgate Glee Club, which gave a concert in Buffalo on March 30. "Bill" Crowe of the freshman class entertained the Cornellians with some excellent piano playing, and later accompanied his classmate "Jim" Turner with the Colgate song "Faith of Our Fathers."

ROCHESTER GETS ACQUAINTED

The Cornell Club of Rochester introduced a novel stunt at its luncheon last week to promote better acquaintance of members. Thirty-six attended the regular luncheon, which was devoted entirely to Cornell affairs.

The chairman obtained on slips the name, year, and business connection of each person attending the luncheon. He then called upon each one in turn to stand up while he introduced him and gave him a consecutive number. After all had been introduced blanks were passed and an examination was conducted to see how many could identify the men as they were called upon by number to stand up again. Each then passed his examination papers to the person sitting at the left and each list was checked off to determine the standing of the test. More than half of the members identified correctly thirty of the thirty-six at the luncheon.

The scheme was heartily approved and seemed to work out very satisfactorily in making all better acquainted.

JUDGE KENNEDY IN PITTSBURGH

At the Cornell luncheon in Pittsburgh on Friday, April 1, County Judge Richard A. Kennedy was the speaker.

DETROIT MEETS MICHIGAN

Fifty Detroit Cornellians and seventy-five Michiganders heard the Hon. James O. Murfin, a Regent of the University of Michigan, and William B. Stratton '88, the Cornell spokesman, at a dual luncheon in the Hotel Cadillac on March 24. These two are the largest alumni clubs in Detroit.

On the following Saturday, seventy Cornellians went to the indoor track meet in Ann Arbor in a special car. Several varieties of noise and music are reported on the way to the meet. Dinner was served at the Michigan Union; the features were a rendition of the Bostonian Chorus, said to have been insisted upon by certain self-conscious members of the group, the Alumni Song by the track team, and talks by Jack Moakley and Romeyn Berry.

Arthur H. (Hal) Place '94 spoke on "Employment in the Public Service" at the weekly luncheon of Michigan Cornell men held at the Hotel Cadillac in Detroit on March 31.

SPORT STUFF

Here it is Easter vacation already. That is the point where all the athletic conspiracies which have been hatching for months go into execution. The baseball team goes South to-day. The lacrosse party follows it to-morrow. Six boatloads of oarsmen remain in Ithaca to row twice a day during vacation. Many of the track squad are also staying.

Why go South? There is no answer. But who knew six months ago that we shouldn't be wading in snow at this time as we were a year ago? A marvelous season, with the playing fields crowded in March! It has been an impressive sight to stand on the summit of Kite Hill these glorious afternoons and watch the plains below swarming with teams—lacrosse, polo, soccer, spring football, and freshman baseball. The older members of the Athletic Council gather there looking like the picture of Napoleon and his staff at Austerlitz. They gaze on the impressive scene until, overcome by their emotions, they burst into the grand old anthem of the Graduate Manager's Association—"That's Where My Money Goes."

Whitman for Trustee

Nominations Closed with Three in Race for Two Positions.

Since our last issue Ezra B. Whitman '01 has been nominated for the position of Alumni Trustee and the nominations have been closed with three candidates in the race for two positions.

The candidates, in order of filing, are Erskine Wilder '05 of Chicago, Herbert D. Mason '00 of Tulsa, Oklahoma, and Ezra B. Whitman '01 of Baltimore. Ballots are now being prepared, and will be mailed to all holders of degrees of any kind, within a few days.

The biographical sketches of Mason and Wilder appeared in our issue of March 17.

Whitman was born in Baltimore on February 19, 1880, the son of the late Ezra B. Whitman and Belle Cross (Slingsluff) Whitman. He prepared for the University at the Baltimore City College and entered Cornell in the fall of 1897, graduating C. E. in 1901. He won a University Scholarship in his freshman year. He was one of the organizers and the first president of Pyramid, and also president of Rod and Bob. He is a member of Delta Upsilon, and since graduation has been elected to membership in Sigma Xi and Tau Beta Pi. While in the University he was a member of the hockey team and of his class baseball and track teams.

He was married in 1906 to Miss Fanny Glenn, of Brooklyn, and they have a family of two sons and one daughter and reside at 139 W. Lanvale Street, Baltimore, Md.

After he had worked for a year in sanitary engineering in New York and Chicago, the firm of Williams and Whitman was organized with headquarters in New York. Between 1902 and 1906 engineering work was carried out by this firm in New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Tennessee, Ohio, and Texas.

In 1906 he was appointed division engineer of the Baltimore Sewerage Commission, and had charge of the Sewage Experiment Station, the materials testing laboratory, and the design and construction of the sewage disposal works for Baltimore.

In 1911 he was appointed chief engineer and president of the Water Board of Baltimore and had charge not only of the operation and maintenance of the water system, but of the design and construction of $5,000,000 worth of improvements and extensions, including a filtration plant, concrete dam, large distributing conduits, and two pumping stations.

In 1914 he became a member of the consulting engineering firm of Greiner and Whitman, working on water supplies, sewerage systems, bridges, and buildings throughout the East and South.

In 1916 he became a member of the firm of Norton, Bird and Whitman. William J. Norton '02 and Paul P. Bird '00 are the other members of the firm.

In May, 1917, Whitman was employed in a civilian capacity as assistant to the Construction Officer of the Construction Division of the Army. He was commissioned as major, Q. M. C., on September 7, 1917, and sent to Camp Meade as Officer in Charge of Utilities and succeeded Lieut. Col. R. F. Proctor '01, as constructing quartermaster at this camp.

Directly following his resignation from the Army in May, 1919, at the invitation of the Polish National Commission, he went to Poland with E. H. Bouton to investigate municipal and housing conditions throughout Russian Poland.

He has recently been appointed a member of the Public Service Commission of the State of Maryland, and elected a member of the Board of Directors of the Atlantic Trust Company of Baltimore.

Mr. Whitman was one of the organizers of the Cornell Alumni Association of Maryland, and was its first president for two years. He is the president of the Baltimore Section of the American Society of Civil Engineers and also president of the Baltimore Engineers' Club. He had charge of the reorganization of this club, and in the last six months has built its membership up from two hundred and twenty-five members with dues of $12 per year, to over seven hundred members with dues of $25 per year. He is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, the American Waterworks Association, the New England Waterworks Association, the American Public Health Association, Kiwanis, and the Baltimore Club.

He is a member-at-large of the Cornellian Council and a director of the Associate Alumni.

Among those signing his nominating petition are:

John C. Trautwine, 3d, '00, Wager Fisher '99, Howard W. Underwood '01, R. A. Pendergrass '00, G. I. Finley '00, of Philadelphia; Samuel H. T. Hayes '95, Karl E. Pfeiffer '12, R. F. Proctor '01, Walter E. Lee '11, Landon M. Brooks '14, Archibald E. MacBride '01, J. Stacy Gorrell '05, Chas. A. Robinson '06, W. B. Beals '02, Wilbur B. Blakeslee '03, Eugene L. Norton '01, Wm. B. LITERARY REVIEW

A Good Story

Ellen Levis: a Novel. By Elsie Singmaster '02. Boston. Houghton Mifflin Company. 1921. 8vo, pp. iv, 284. Price, $2.

Cornellians will be especially interested in this story, not only because the author is a Cornell woman but also because the scene of a part of the story is laid on the Hill. It is not an exciting tale, but it is eminently satisfactory, being well motivated and dealing with interesting characters and scenes.

The group of characters who figure most prominently in the story includes some of those religious enthusiasts who figure so prominently in the early history of America; in this case they are Pennsylvania German Seventh-Day Baptists. There is the old grandfather, Abraham Milhausen, head of a community with which has been connected a Kloster, now no longer a going concern; his son Amos, who bids fair to follow in the paternal footsteps; and the grandchildren, Matthew and Ellen Levis, son and daughter of a physician who has married into this old-fashioned family. The son elects to join the church of his mother's people, but Ellen refuses to do so and yearns for the larger opportunity which education and a knowledge of the world will give her. But the Milhausens and Matthew do not believe in higher education for women; and for a time it looks as if Ellen were doomed to a life of drudgery and serfdom on the farm which is only partly hers. The story of how she breaks away and goes to Harrisburg to earn her living and of the succession of events by which she is enabled to achieve her great ambition is one of absorbing interest. But we are interested not only in the enlargement of mind and the good fortune which come to Ellen, but also in the result which contact with the world and its thought brings to Amos and Matthew. The author has wrought with a sure touch and the characters develop with a certain inevitableness which is characteristic of good art. There is plenty of romance in the story, but it is not of the far-fetched variety.

Well worth while, too, from the reader's point of view, are the pictures of a vanishing stage of civilization which has lingered longer perhaps in the region where Miss Singmaster's scenes are laid than elsewhere in the northern parts of our country.

The story will not only sustain but increase the author's reputation, and is a real contribution to the fictional delineation of the Keystone State.

Books and Magazine Articles

Kenneth P. Roberts '08 in The Saturday Evening Post for March 12 turns his gaze upon Monte Carlo and under the head of "Gambling Made Easy" describes the famous "system" of separating visitors from their money. It is one of the most interesting articles he has written.

In The Iron Age for February 10 John J. Ralph '09 publishes an analysis of "The Machine Tool Situation." In the issue for February 24 Forrest E. Cardullo '01 discusses "The Future of the Machine Tool Business."

SUBSCRIPTIONLESS CONVENTION

Several cynics have asked what kind of subscription proposition will be presented to the alumni at the Cleveland Convention—for what purpose and how much.

Whether this misconception of the convention's purpose is the by-product of one's conscience we do not have to determine. We can say definitely and positively that the convention has nothing up its sleeve.

It is only a short time since the Semi-Centennial Celebration. Between four and five thousand Cornellians had the experience of coming to a convention in Ithaca, enjoying it thoroughly, and subscribing nothing. The cynic might ask anyone who was present if a convention can be pulled off without the use of dotted lines.

Cornell now needs something different. There is a something that is harder to obtain than cash. Permit us to break into the cannery for adequate words: Cornell needs constructive work to foster and cherish the old-time Cornell spirit. It can't be done with the left hand carelessly draped over the change pocket. This is a two-handed convention.

In the forceful words of the chairman, the idea of no solicitation must be put over—"a strong arm or a good, swift kick, but get it over."

ATHLETICS

Baseball Men Leave

Sixteen baseball players left Wednesday for a short vacation trip. The team was scheduled to open the season April 7 with the University of Virginia at Charlottesville, Va. A second game with Virginia is scheduled for April 8. The other games on the Southern trip are: Georgetown at Washington April 9, University of Maryland at College Park, Md., April 11, Catholic University at Washington April 12, and Penn at Philadelphia April 13. The men will return to Ithaca on April 14.

The team as chosen by Coach John J. Carney is more or less a tentative combination; that is, competition for places is by no means ended. After the spring recess the varsity squad of some thirty players will resume practice at Percy Field.

The squad on the Southern trip includes five pitchers, Maloney, Rollo, Flumerfelt, Servera, and Schreiner. Maloney was one of the varsity pitchers last year, while Rollo and Flumerfelt were on the freshman team a year ago. The catchers chosen are Brown and Betts, both new to varsity baseball. Davies, who has played in the outfield on former varsity teams, is now at first base. Fritz, last year's third baseman, is at second, Cowan, a varsity man last season, is at short stop, and Quis, of last year's freshman team, is at third. The outfield is made up of Captain Clyde Mayer, and Munns and Kaw of last year's freshman nine. Woodin, an infielder, and Barker, an outfielder, also made the trip.

Lacrosse Men on Trip

The lacrosse team left Ithaca Thursday morning on a four-game spring vacation trip. They are scheduled to meet Penn at Philadelphia on April 9, the Naval Academy at Annapolis on April 10, University of Maryland at College Park, Md., April 11, and Swarthmore at Swarthmore on April 12.

The men chosen by Coach Bawlf for the trip are Captain Taylor, Wight, Knauss, Kay, Cunningham, Wellenkamp, Cleary, Carey, Baugher, Taylor, Carroll, Hann, Herman, and Wilson.

Some of these, including Knauss, Carey, Kay, Baugher, Wight, and Wilson, were on the varsity football team or squad last fall. Coach Dobie is encouraging football players to go in for lacrosse as excellent training for the great fall sport.

Track Waterloo

The track team went down to defeat before Michigan in an indoor meet in the Waterman Gymnasium at Ann Arbor on March 26 by a score of 50 1-2 to 35 1-2. The Wolverine athletes won seven first places out of the ten events. In the 440, 880, and mile relay the Westerners were a little stronger than Cornellians had thought they would be. Their victories in the sprint, shot put, and pole vault had been anticipated. The relay race, a battle royal, was captured by Michigan by six feet.

Cornell won all three places in the mile run, which was won by McDermott, with Strickler second and Harper third. Time, 4:24 4-5. Harper set the pace for seven laps when McDermott shot by him followed by Strickler. The Cornell captain had about ten feet on Strickler, who was about the same distance ahead of Harper. Ramsey and Lathrop of Cornell tied for first place in the high jump at 5 feet 8 1-2 inches. Vermilye of Cornell won the 65-yard high hurdle race with A. H. Treman of Cornell second. Michigan turned the tables in the low 65-yard low hurdles, however, which was won by Cruikshank, with Swift of Michigan second and Watt of Cornell third.

The 440 and 880 were both hotly contested, Michigan coming out ahead in each. Wetzel beat out Butler, his captain, in the quarter, H. H. Smith of Cornell coming in third, while in the half Burns of Michigan defeated Irish of Cornell by less than a yard.

The mile relay race was exciting. At the end of three laps it was even, Butler and Righter fighting it out in the last lap. The Michigan captain won by six feet. In the 50-yard dash Michigan made a clean sweep.

The 440, 880, mile, and mile relay were run off on the pursuit plan, the runners of each team starting on the opposite side of the track.

The meet was the eleventh of its kind, and the victory gives Michigan the edge in standing, with six victories to five for Cornell. Next year's meet will be held in Ithaca.

OBITUARY

Lewis A. Kelsey '75

Lewis Ambrose Kelsey, one of the best known residents of North Tonawanda, N. Y., died on February 23 at his home, 195 Christiana Street, following a stroke of paralysis. He was stricken while retiring for the night on February 22, and did not regain consciousness.

Mr. Kelsey was born on a farm near LeRoy, N. Y., seventy-one years ago. He entered Cornell in 1871, but remained only two terms, as home affairs demanded his presence there. Having been unable to obtain the schooling he desired for himself, he sent all of his sons through Cornell.

He had been in the lumber business in Tonawanda for a number of years, and as president of the Kelsey Hardwood Lumber Company, was at the head of the only hardwood company in the Tonawandas, with offices in Main Street. In recent years he had been extensively interested in oil operations in Oklahoma.

He was prominently identified with the North Presbyterian Church, of which he was one of the founders, and was an elder at the time of his death. Of a deeply religious nature, he transmitted the characteristic to his children. C. Everett Kelsey '03 became associated with his father in the lumber business soon after his graduation, but the other two sons remained in the work they took up in connection with the C. U. C. A. Earl Kelsey '05 is engaged in Y. M. C. A. work in New York, and Dean Kelsey '08 and his wife, Mary Reynolds Preston Kelsey '09, are missionaries in China. His only daughter, Mrs. Maud Kelsey McClelland, a Vassar graduate, has been engaged in missionary work in India for several years, and is at present in this country on a visit.

Mr. Kelsey is survived by his widow and four children.

Clarkson L. Farnsworth '21

Clarkson Lewis Farnsworth died at his home in Huntington, Long Island, on January 7, after an illness which had confined him to his bed for over five months, the outcome of an attack of Bright's disease suffered nine years ago.

Farnsworth was born in Detroit on September 22, 1896, son of Colonel and Mrs. Frederick E. Farnsworth, and went to New York with his parents in the fall of 1907, when his father was elected general secretary of the American Bankers' Association. He prepared at Hamilton Institute in New York, where he was editor of the school paper, The Hamilton Echo, and won the highest prize medal in debate. He entered Sibley College in 1917, and became a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon.

He was unable to pass the medical examinations for active service in the World War, but was detailed for civil service in the Quartermaster General's Department in Washington, under General Goethals. He had charge of the section of automobiles, accessories, and purchasing, as one of the chief clerks of Col. Edwin S. George, of Detroit. He was discharged in January, 1919, and took a temporary position as secretary to his father to fill a vacancy. Then he became associated with Sidney R. Clarke, secretary of the Advertising Club of New York, and was placed in charge of the club's weekly publication, Advertising Club News. As a result of his work on this publication, he later became associated with Murray, Howe and Company.

He was married last June to Miss Margaret Powell, of New York, who survives him. He leaves also his parents and a brother, Frederick C. Farnsworth, M. E. '16.

Dorothy E. Inscho, Sp.

Miss Dorothy E. Inscho, who for the past three years has been connected with the Department of Home Economics, died at the Cornell Infirmary on March 21. She had been seriously ill, as a result of two major operations; pneumonia developed, and complications followed which resulted in her death.

Two years ago Miss Inscho was graduated from Simmons College, Boston; then she came to Cornell, where she had been engaged in secretarial work in the Department of Home Economics. In addition to this work she had been taking special courses in landscape art and dietetics.

She was to have been married next fall to Norman T. Newton '19, of Wyoming, N. Y.

Miss Inscho is survived by her mother and one brother, Manley S. Inscho '18. The funeral was held at the home of her mother, 363 Lake Street, Owego, N. Y.

FACULTY NOTES

DEAN ALBERT R. MANN '04 and other members of the staff of the College of Agriculture took a prominent part in the celebration of the tenth anniversary of the founding of the first Farm Bureau in the United States in Binghamton, Broome County, New York. Professor John Barron '06, the first farm bureau manager in the United States, was another of the participants. Memberships in farm bureaus all over the country now run into the hundreds of thousands.

DR. PHILIP M. STIMSON, of the Department of Pediatrics of the Medical College in New York, spoke recently at the Academy of Medicine on "Some Aspects of Measles." Dr. Stimson is a nephew of the late Dr. Lewis A. Stimson, in whose honor Stimson Hall was named.

DR. ARTHUR F. COCA, of the Medical College in New York, and editor of The Journal of Immunology, spoke on "Hypersensitiveness" before a recent meeting of the University of Kansas chapter of Sigma Xi. For some weeks previously Dr. Coca had been studying the problem among the Indian students of Haskell Institute at Lawrence.

PROFESSOR JAMES EWING on March 12 addressed the Mayo Foundation at Rochester, Minn.

REGINALD G. HARRIS, Brown '18, who was in South America in 1919-20 with the Cornell Entomological Expedition to South America, has been awarded an American Field Service fellowship for French Universities, and will study at Grenoble and Paris.

DR. WILDER B. BANCROFT, professor of chemistry, recently lectured at Princeton on the subject of "Structural Colors."

PROFESSOR ERNEST MERRITT '86, of the Physics Department, presented papers before a recent New York meeting of the American Physical Society on "Photo-Electric Phenomena in Coated-Filament Audion Bulbs," and "Polarization Capacity and Polarization Resistance as Dependent upon Frequency." At Rochester, before the local chapter of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, he recently spoke on "Submarine Listening Devices in War and in Peace."

PROFESSOR DEXTER S. KIMBALL discussed "The Rise of Industrial Workers in Organized Society" at a recent open forum held by the New York engineering societies. Another recent address was before the superintendents' group of the industrial management council of the Rochester Chamber of Commerce.

DEAN FRANCKE H. BOSWORTH, JR., of the College of Architecture, is a member of the university committee of the reconstruction association which will send students abroad to help rebuild France. Another member of this committee is Professor Everett V. Meeks, formerly of Cornell, and now at Yale.

PROFESSOR SAMUEL L. BOOTHROYD, '04-5, '07-8 Grad., who is to come to Cornell as professor of astronomy from the University of Washington, is said to be particularly interested in the problems presented by the so-called double stars, in some of which, though they appear as one through the telescope, one star is as much as three million miles from the other.

DR. JACOB GOULD SCHURMAN, head of the Association on American-Japanese Relations, recently cabled a message to the newly-organized International Peace Society of Tokio in which he said, "All liberal leaders of both countries must cooperate to remove misunderstandings and promote right internal attitudes and policies."

HOOSIERS ENDORSE MASON

The directors of the Cornell Alumni Association of Indiana have endorsed Herbert D. Mason '00 for reelection as Alumni Trustee "because of his efficient and faithful representation of alumni interests on the Board of Trustees." The directors have suggested to all Indiana alumni that they vote for Mr. Mason and have requested publication of the fact in the ALUMNI NEWS.

ALUMNI NOTES

'87—Judge Cuthbert W. Pound, of the Court of Appeals, was the speaker at the annual meeting of Delta Kappa Epsilon held at the University of Buffalo on February 11.

'92 ME, '97 MME, '02 PhD—George L. Hoxie has been engaged by the Southern California Edison Company as research engineer, to make investigations of power resources and their conservation and most effective utilization. His first business connection was with Westinghouse, Church, Kerr and Company, of New York. In 1905 he opened offices in New York for private practice as consulting engineer, and has followed his profession continuously since that time. He has closed his New York office, but his new connection will permit him to continue his professional activities.

'92 CE—William G. Atwood is now with the Woods Brothers Construction Company, as manager of the St. Louis district, with offices at 2117 Railway Exchange Building, St. Louis.

'93—Harry C. Cushing, jr., is living at the Engineers' Club in New York. He has two sons, Harry C. Cushing, 3d, Harvard '17, and Leonard J. Cushing, a junior at Princeton.

'96—Archibald B. Dalby is in the poultry business at Eatontown, N. J. His mail address is R. F. D. 1, Eatontown.

'96 PhD—The Rev. Theodore F. Joseph was one of the speakers at the reunion of the Lodge of Perfection, Scottish Rite Masons, held recently at Lynchburg, Va.

'97 BL; '98 PhB—Byron E. Brooks and Mrs. Brooks (Helen Mar Townley '98) are living at 314 Elmwood Avenue, Ithaca. Brooks is associated with the Department of Dairy Industry, as superintendent of dairy industry.

'99 ME—Stewart McDonald, president of the Moon Motor Company, has recently been named a member of the Board of Police Commissioners in St. Louis. Mrs. McDonald, before her marriage, was Miss Grace Moon, and is a daughter of the late Joseph Moon, formerly president of the Moon Motor Company. They live at 24 Washington Terrace, St. Louis.

'03 PhD—Professor Edwin W. Kemmerer, of Princeton University, was one of the speakers at the annual meeting of the Mercer County Board of Agriculture held at Trenton recently. His subject was "Taxes and the Great War Debt."

'04 LLB—Howard C. Lake is practicing law at 30 Pine Street, New York.

His new residence address is 125 Bedford Road, Pleasantville, N. Y.

The Way to Keep Health is to Keep Clean Inside

By C. HOUSTON GOUDISS

Publisher, The Forecast, and Nutrition Expert of National Reputation

THE foremost foe of disease is cleanliness. It will defeat even the most persistent and resourceful germs quicker than anything else.

The average person has an idea that a steaming soap-and-water scrub in the tub makes for cleanliness. This is true as far as it goes, but it doesn't go far enough.

Cleanliness that is only skin-deep protects only one of the paths by which disease enters the body—and the one least used by enemies of health.

In the long coils of the intestines these deadly foes find their favorite battle-field. There, in masses of waste matter, are bred noxious poisons upon which these foes can and do feast. There, unless this waste matter is promptly removed, these poisons penetrate the porous walls of the intestines and get into the blood to play havoc with the whole human house.

In order to have health the body must be as clean on the inside as on the outside.

There is just one safe, convenient and harmless interior cleanser—and its name is NUJOL.

By lubricating the walls of the intestines so that the constantly accumulating waste matter cannot stay long enough in one place to cause trouble, NUJOL acts as a perfect human house cleaner.

Being absolutely non-medical, it cannot produce any harmful effect on any part of the body with which it comes in contact.

Not a particle of NUJOL is absorbed into the system in its cleansing passage thru the digestive channels. It causes no pain or discomfort. It is as easy to take as water, yet no amount of water could cleanse and keep clean the interior of the body as NUJOL does.

We have been favored because at this time of year students have so many reports to get out. We have a few machines ahead of orders at present. The standard keyboard eliminates errors. The type is beautiful. The price is only sixty dollars.

“Concerning Cornell”

We wonder whether Easter reminded many to whom we sent the Christmas booklet or whether people think of the book “Concerning Cornell” as a gift book. During the past week we have received quite a few orders and most of them are for the leather binding which sells at five dollars, postage paid.
