CORNELL ALUMNI NEWS

VOL. XXV, No. 3

ITHACA, N. Y., October 12, 1922

PRICE 12 CENTS

THE GROUNDS are getting a lot of overhauling besides the trench work of the new heating system, and one road, to the north of Sage College, has been removed to make way for a space of lawn and a broad sidewalk. The road just to the north of the Veterinary College has been abandoned for the new Tower Road that goes straight east from the Library Tower along the side of the hill nearer to the President's House, and thence directly out to the new Dairy Building.

DUCK FOOT DOBBIN, the horse-of-all-work at Schoellkopf Field, wears a set of four wooden shoes, each a foot in diameter and padded with rags, when he drags the huge steel roller over the cinders every morning.

ALUMNI FIELD looks good these pleasant fall evenings, with Paul Eckley's freshmen learning the rudiments of block and tackle, as it were; a large squad under Nick Bawlf is butting into the soccer game, and his roster of first-string men doesn't so much resemble the roll-call at the Cosmopolitan Club as it has during the past few years. Jack Moakley has already pulled off a freshman-novice track meet and some stiff cross-country trials. In fact, all around Schoellkopf Training House the horizon is silhouetted with flying footballs, soccer balls, tennis balls, hammers, shots, discuses, and javelins, so that the innocent bystander has practically no choice between getting in and keeping out. Inter-college contests promise fun, with the formation of a soccer league as the first series of the year.

STUDENT PUBLICATIONS promise well. The Widow, with a cover that admonishes the freshmen to see no evil, hear no evil, and speak no evil, starts off as good as its best of last year. The Sun, barring certain careless inaccuracies and poor proof-reading, promises a sensible and balanced presentation of University and Ithaca news. The Cornell Countryman is the most artistic and literary publication, with a strong bent toward poetry rather than poultry. The Era, with strikingly simple cover and page decorations and varied and interesting contents, points to a come-back that will take it out of the slump of its post-war years.

THE TROPHY-ROOM in Schoellkopf Memorial Building has been further embellished by a unique banner presented by Frederick Fortmeier, president of the American Amateur Rowing Association and secretary of the New York Athletic Club, as a tribute to Cornell's rowing prowess. The banner, on which is inscribed the results of the Poughkeepsie regattas from 1899 to 1908, shows that Cornell won sixteen out of thirty races rowed, Syracuse being the next high winner with seven victories.

CREW C MEN have elected Charles F. Kells '23, of Astoria, New York, to represent them in the Athletic Council. Kells rowed bow in last year's heavy varsity, and was the substitute the year before in both light and heavy varsity crews.

THE TENNIS SEASON has opened with the usual fall tournament in which more than the average number of contestants have registered. The open singles attracted eighty-four entries, the freshman singles fifty-four, and the doubles thirty pairs. Captain Alexander H. Harper '23, of Philadelphia, is the only remaining member of last year's team.

THE ERA BOARD has elected Elliott B. McConnell '23, of Warren, Pennsylvania, as managing editor. Louis E. Reed '23, of Winterthur, Delaware, was named business manager, and William G. Broughton '24, of Fort Wayne, Indiana, was chosen photographic editor.

THE DEPARTMENT OF MUSIC has announced for the coming year what appears to be one of the strongest series of concerts yet given here. It includes the Boston Symphony orchestra (November 10); Harold Bauer, pianist, in joint appearance with Jacques Thibaud, violinist (December 8); Maria Ivogun, soprano (February 26); the New York Symphony Orchestra (March 13); and Giovanni Martinelli, tenor (April 17).

THE SORORITIES are running rushing in an orderly manner, and all are quite punctilious about observing the rules of the game, some of which seem to amount to trifles of technicalities. But the sororities at Cornell trust one another more than do the sisterhoods at some of the Western universities, and the Pan-Hellenic has not yet deserved its Occidental designation of Hell-Panic.

THE TENNIS ASSOCIATION on October 4 elected the following officers: president, H. A. Falconer '23, of Chicago, William M. Leonard '24, of New York; treasurer, Professor Charles V. P. Young '99. At the same meeting the Association decided to place on the wall at the entrance to the main office of the Old Armory, a suitable tablet on which the name of the winner of the fall tournament shall be placed each year.

THE COLLEGE OF ARCHITECTURE welcomed its new students at a get-together in the drafting room of White Hall on October 5. Dean Bosworth and President Farrand made the principal addresses. Members of the Faculty of the College spoke informally, and stunts and music completed the program.

THE MAJOR SPORTS COUNCIL has announced the following elections: Wade Duley '23, of Port Jervis, N. Y., freshman representative to the Council; R. C. Yates '24, of Buffalo, assistant manager of the Navy; Harry J. Haon, Jr., '24, of New York, assistant manager of the freshman crew; Charles H. Baldwin '24, of Brooklyn, crew representative on the Interscholastic Council; Lawrence B. Pryor '23, of Millington, Tenn., manager of the Navy.

HERBERT WITHERSPOON, leading bass of the Metropolitan Opera Company, appeared in Ithaca on October 6, at a concert given in the old Star Theatre under the auspices of the Conservatory of Music.

THE AMERICAN SOCIETY of Mechanical Engineers, Cornell Branch, held its first meeting on October 6. Students who hold an associate membership in this organization have an advantage over other engineers who desire admission, in that such associate memberships may become active memberships in three years after graduation. Cornell has the largest associate membership of any branch of the organization.

CREW REGISTRATION still lags behind that of last year's at this time, with about 275 men signed up, of which the majority are freshmen. Some of the older oarsmen have reported temporarily for other sports, but are expected to return in due time to their seats. Tentative combinations have yet to be made, though the men who have reported are being worked out daily on the machines in the Old Armory.

PROSPECTIVE ENGINEERS with transits, chains, and stadia rods are planting the annual crop of wooden pegs to trip the unwary in the campus grass.

ENROLLMENT IN ARCHITECTURE, about 170, is the largest the College has known. This is probably due to the addition of the Landscape Art Department by transfer from the College of Agriculture and the recent addition of courses in fine arts.

INTERCOLLEGIATE contests for Cornell women may take place this year. Last year a Cornell-Wells tennis match was played, without any official intercollegiate recognition. Women students now favor playing tennis and basketball with Wells, Vassar, and Wellesley.

AN ORGANIZED GROUP of Cornell women has indicated that it will not heed fashion's mandate and return to long skirts except for indoor gatherings of a purely social nature. Co-eds at Wisconsin and Michigan are said to have taken the same step.

Trustee Committee Meets

Waive Tuition for Faculty Children on Application—Accept Two Gifts

Members of the University Faculty may, upon application to the President, be relieved from the payment of tuition for their sons and daughters in any college of the University, according to action taken by the Committee on General Administration at its last meeting, on September 30.

At this meeting President Farrand was appointed to represent Cornell at the inaugurations of Dr. George B. Cutten as president of Colgate University, Dr. Charles Wesley Flint as chancellor of Syracuse University, Dr. Marian Edwards Park, as president of Bryn Mawr College, and Dr. Samuel P. Capen as chancellor of the University of Buffalo.

A gift was announced from Colonel Henry W. Sackett '75 of one thousand dollars to purchase the lot opposite Barton Place on the north side of Fall Creek Gorge, and one from Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Treman '78 of a lot at the foot of Cascadilla Gorge east of Linn Street. The acquisition of these properties will insure access to both gorges and a view from below of the lower falls in Cascadilla Gorge for all time.

Leaves of absence for the second term of this year were granted to Professors Ernest Merritt '86, Francis J. Seery, and Walter L. Conwell '09. Professor Frederick Bedell, M.S. '91, Ph.D. '92, was appointed acting head of the Department of Physics in Professor Merritt's absence.

The regular fall meeting of the Board will be held on Saturday, November 18, instead of November 11 as previously planned.

BUFFALO STARTS AGAIN

Matthew Weimar '17, publicity man of Cornell affairs in Buffalo, sends the following report of progress and expectation:

"The officers and directors of the Cornell Alumni Association of Western New York had a business luncheon at the Hotel Iroquois, on September 20, when it was decided to inaugurate the weekly luncheons on Friday, September 29. As in the past, the weekly meetings will be held at the Hotel Iroquois, but when the new Hotel Statler is completed, early in 1923, the headquarters will be moved to that hostelry. It was voted to tax each Cornelian three dollars as membership dues in the local association. At the two luncheons which will be held prior to the Pittsburgh Convention, we hope to engender considerable enthusiasm and have a good delegation represent this community in the Smoky City.

"The Rochester alumni have invited us to attend their clam-bake, which will be held on September 30 at a rifle range near Rochester. Needless to say, we expect to have a considerable number of Buffalo-nians there, and to defeat Rochester once more at baseball.

"During this past summer we had a joint picnic and athletic meet with the local Dartmouth alumni, staged at the Buffalo Automobile Club at Clarence, New York. We defeated Dartmouth at baseball by about the same score as was run up last fall against Dartmouth varsity eleven."

Senior Societies Elect

Nine Out of Eleven Take Sphinx Head; Four Out of Seven Quill & Dagger

In the fall elections to the senior societies, held Tuesday morning, the 1923 delegations extended bids to their classmates with the result that nine out of eleven accepted Sphinx Head and four out of seven went Quill and Dagger.

As usual Quill and Dagger published their intention of not electing any seniors on probation; Sphinx Head as usual elected without reference to academic standing.

The 1923 chapters of the two societies number, with these additions, Sphinx Head 34, Quill and Dagger 35.

The new members are:

Sphinx Head

Harlan Page Bosworth, Jr., Buffalo; lacrosse C; Delta Upsilon.

Theodore Schiffer Garrett, Pittsburgh; editor "Berry Patch," Sun; Theta Delta Chi.

Henry Ernst Luhrs, Brooklyn Manor, N. Y.; crew C; Alpha Zeta.

Elliott Bonnell McConnell, Warren, Pa.; Freshman Advisory Council; managing editor, Era; Kappa Sigma.

Alan Herbert Mogenssen, Plainfield, N. J.; manager lacrosse; Seal and Serpent. George Gilbert Parker, East Orange, N. J.; crew C; football squad; Theta Delta Chi.

Henry Lindley Peel, East Orange, N. J.; Freshman Advisory Council; circulation manager, Widow; Phi Gamma Delta.

Louis Eckert Reed, Winterthur, Del.; Cornell Annuals board; business manager Era; Theta Xi.

Thomas Teller, Boonton, N. J.; baseball C; Phi Sigma Kappa.

Quill and Dagger

Kenneth Hugo Brush, Haffey, Pa.; circulation manager, Sun; business manager, Law Quarterly; Alpha Tau Omega.

Roger Jewett Coe, New York City; assistant manager, football (3); Aleph Samach; Alpha Delta Phi.

Edwin Andrews Gordon '22, Rochester; cross country C; Theta Chi.

HOME COMING IS NEXT

With the third annual Cornell convention now passing into history at Pittsburgh, alumni plans are centering on the fall reunion to be held in Ithaca Saturday, November 4. Although New York State alumni were especially invited to the homecomings in 1920 and 1921 the party this year will include Cornellians from all sections of the country.

The program will be informal in the sense that no stated meetings will be held. The general alumni luncheon in the Old Armory will gather the crowd, which will then proceed in a body to the Cornell-Columbia football game.

Announce Appointments

Administration Committee of Trustees Name Forty-Seven for Positions

The Committee on General Administration of the Board of Trustees made the following appointments to the University staff at its meeting on September 30:

Harry Bretz, instructor in the Romance Languages. Bretz was for three years an assistant professor at Butler University and has recently been an instructor at Princeton. He is a brother of Professor Julian P. Bretz, of the Department of History.

Arthur Bruce Anthony, instructor in economics; Frank R. Therons, Harold S. Woodward, Dwight L. Copeland, and Lowell J. Chawner, instructors in civil engineering; Myron Edward Steczynski, Joseph Walker Cotlin, Miles Gordon Northrup, and Wilbur George Rhodes, instructors in machine design. Paul G. Wellenkamp, Robert S. Stainton, and George H. Hanselman, instructors in machine drawing; Alfred Baylis Walton, Daniel Atwater Rogers, Albert James Blackwood, and Louis Arthur Winkelman, instructors in experimental engineering; Carl Waldeman Vail, assistant in experimental engineering; Jay Clyde Thomas, instructor in heat-power engineering; Wilbur Stanley Cooper, assistant in heat-power engineering; Lawrence Joseph Marshall, instructor in mechanics; Fred Hofer, Frederic Dewey Jackson, and Lawrence Adams Burekmyer, Jr., instructors in electrical engineering; A. R. Riddle, instructor in physics; R. L. Hanson, graduate assistant in physics; Edith W. Parrott, assistant in English. Harold E. Goldsmith, Guy R. Gillette, and Harold A. Jewett, assistants in chemistry; Donaldson Wright Kingsley and Janet A. Williamson, assistants in histology and embryology; Robert H. Volgenau, student assistant in histology and embryology; George A. Weaver, assistant in geology; Lewis McNaughton, assistant in physical geography, Mrs. E. Lawrence Palmer, assistant in paleontology for the first term; Houlder Hudgins and Lincoln Rahman, assistants in accounting; Ester Antell, Lawrence M. Orton, Frederic J. Schlobohm, and Charles Francis Gilligan, assistants in economics; D. M. Booth, graduate assistant in physics; Herbert LeRoy Fancher, reading assistant in the Romance languages; Walter I. Akana, Roland Leonard Maier, and George Swartz Klump, student assistants in anatomy.

JOHN HOYLE, coach of the Cornell crew, is said to be having difficulty in getting clear, white, spruce lumber, suitable for oars. The wood must be of the best quality without defects, and straight grained. Airplane spruce does not set a higher standard than that required by Mr. Hoyle. During the practice at Poughkeepsie last June, six oars were broken.

STUDENT COUNCIL ACTS

At its meeting on October 5, the Student Council made plans for the annual under-class push-ball rush, the first of the two organized rushes sanctioned by the University authorities. The Council appointed two committees to take charge, the chairman of the sophomore committee being W. W. Buckley of Port Edwards, Wis., and the chairman of the freshman committee C. C. Pope. The rush will be held on the night of October 28, after the freshman game with Kiskiminitas School.

The Council made plans for the coming election of members to represent the senior, junior, and sophomore classes, nominations for which will be made at a mass meeting on the night of October 20, preceding the Colgate game. John J. Cole '23, of Buffalo, was appointed to look into the matter of organizing a society similar to the Green Key at Dartmouth, for the purpose of entertaining visiting teams.

NAME FERNOW HALL

A tablet bearing the name "Fernow Hall" was unveiled on October 5 over the main entrance of the Forestry Building. This name is given in recognition of the services rendered forestry in America by Dr. Bernhard E. Fernow, who was dean and director of the first school of forestry on the American continent, the former New York State College of Forestry at Cornell.

President Farrand, Dean Albert R. Mann '04, and Professor Ralph F. Hosmer, head of the Department of Forestry, spoke at the unveiling. One of Dr. Fernow's sons, Karl H. Fernow '16, a graduate student, pulled the cord that released the flag covering the tablet.

Dr. Fernow is known as one of the most distinguished foresters on the American continent. For twelve years, from 1886 to 1898 he was head of the Bureau of Forestry, now the Forest Service, of the United States Department of Agriculture. In 1898 he came to Cornell to organize the College of Forestry, the first professional school of its kind, and he was dean of the college from 1898 to 1903, when he did much to establish standards in forestry education.

Students and alumni in forestry advocated the name "Fernow Hall" for the building; and at its meeting on June 20, 1922 the Board of Trustees passed a resolution authorizing the name.

Bernhard Eduard Fernow, who was born at Inowraclaw, Posen, Prussia, in 1851, is now living at 16 Admiral Road, Toronto, Ontario, Canada, where he is emeritus professor of forestry at the University of Toronto. It was thought that he would be present at the unveiling ceremonies but serious ill health prevented it.

CORNELL COMPETES this year with a dairy-cattle judging team at the National Dairy Show at St. Paul, Minnesota.

SPORT STUFF

The team looked a little better against Niagara on Saturday. The interference put the defense on the ground more. It wasn't just a case of brushing them in passing. There was more charge in the line. It was a wet and sloppy day and yet it wasn't until the fourth quarter that a fumble was registered against Cornell.

On Saturday, November 4, before the Columbia game the University is throwing a party for the alumni and their guests in the Old Armory. A lot of them are coming back. Everybody will meet in the Old Armory. The luncheon part will be fifty cents. We are getting humaner and humaner all the time.

The seat sale for the Columbia game opens for members of the Athletic Association on Monday, October 23. The general sale opens on the 24th. Tickets are $2 each. Fifteen cents should be added to remittances to cover registration and postage. Checks should be made payable to the Cornell University Athletic Association, to whom communications should be addressed.

The yellow slicker has come back into general use as the proper thing to wear in the rain. The wonder is that it ever fell into disuse. Its so inexpensive, efficient and gay withal. In the drizzle that fell throughout the Niagara game the stands looked like a gigantic display of daffodils.

R. B.

BAILEY WINS BEAUX ARTS

Roger Bailey '20, of Jamestown, New York, is the first college man to win the Paris Prize of the Society of Beaux Arts Architects, which he won this year with his drawing of a city hall, competing against one hundred twenty-five other aspirants. The prize is a course of two and a half years at the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Paris, with quarterly payments amounting to $3,000 while he is abroad. He expects to be in Paris by January 1.

After submitting preliminary sketches, competitors are allowed to work under the criticism of two men; Bailey chose Dean Everett V. Meeks of the Yale School of Fine Arts, under whom he had studied at Cornell, and Otto Faelton, in the office of James Gamble Rogers in New York. He with three other entrants who were selected in the first competition, worked night and day for a month in isolated loges in the Society's building in New York.

The jury which made the award was composed of Henry O. Milliken, chairman, James Gamble Rogers, Joseph H. Hunt, John M. Howells, Louis Ayres, Frederick L. Ackerman '01, H. R. Sedgewick of New York; Robert Bellows of Boston; and Paul Gret of Philadelphia.

While at Cornell Bailey was art editor of The Widow and a member of the Masque, Savage Club, L'Ogive, Gargoyle, and Sunday Night Club. He is a member of Seal and Serpent.

OKLAHOMA CLUB STARTS

At its meeting on September 25 at the University Club in Tulsa the Cornell Club of Oklahoma voted to send the Cornell Daily Sun to the Tulsa high school and to hold regular luncheon meetings the first Tuesday of each month at 12.15 at the Tulsa University Club.

Herbert D. Mason '00 presided at the meeting. The board of governors for the year includes Faun W. Freeborn '97, Franklin W. Morrow '10, Russell S. Tarr '15, Frederick L. Bailliere '16, Robert W. Hendee '17, Malcolm H. Tuttle '18, and Bicknell J. Woodbury '18. The various cities in the state besides Tulsa where there are a number of Cornellians will be represented by vice presidents and additional members of the board of governors. At the September meeting John H. Alsop, Jr., '15, was present from Okmulgee.

CLEVELAND BOOSTS CONVENTION

A roll call taken at the regular weekly luncheon of the Cleveland Club on October 5 indicated a delegation of well over fifty all set for the Pittsburgh Convention. Major A. Welling Wyckoff '94, "The Smoky City's Bub North" came over from Pittsburgh and told the Club all the first hand dope on the Convention. "Bub" North '07 and "Bill" Forbes '06 tried out some original songs with which they hope to knock the Convention cold; the Cleveland Club survived the tryout-on-the-dog. The club elected Elbert H. Baker, Jr., '12 and Frank Teagle '02 its delegates to Pittsburgh.

Louis Wolheim '06, star of "The Hairy Ape," now playing in Cleveland, was a guest at the luncheon.

Officers of the Club for the ensuing year are: E. H. Baker '12, president; Victor B. Phillips '15, vice-president; Richmond L. Rathbone '98, treasurer; and Edwin S. Baker '15, secretary. The directors elected at the first meeting of the year include William H. Forbes '06, Harold D. North '07, Herbert N. Putnam '12, Victor B. Phillips '15, Chester A. Thompson '16, and Warren G. King '17.

Colonel Ayres, vice president of the Cleveland Trust Company, spoke at the luncheon of the previous week, which opened the Cleveland season with nearly one hundred members present. He showed, by means of charts, the trend of business and predicted better times in 1923.

THE FIELD on the country road directly opposite the rifle range and a short distance out from Forest Home is to be made a flower garden for the University's collection of peonies, iris, and phlox, now growing to the southeast of the College of Agriculture on the Boof farm. This field has been in potatoes this year, and last year grew the banner stand of corn in Tompkins County. As a floral proving ground, it will be seen by more persons than were able to get to the former location, access to which was over exerable dirt roads.

OBITUARY

Lyman V. W. Brown '96

Lyman Van Wickle Brown was killed at Upland, Calif., on January 3, 1922, just thirty-four hours after he had taken the oath as mayor of Riverside, Calif. He was returning from Los Angeles in his car, and in turning to the side of the road to make room for an approaching car to pass, he failed to notice a truck near the edge of the highway. The coupé crashed into the lumber projecting from the back of the truck, crushing the driver's ribs directly over the heart.

Brown was born in Belle Plain, Iowa, on July 9, 1870, a son of E. G. and Sarah M. Brown, and the family moved to Riverside a year later. After attending the Riverside schools, he attended the University of the Pacific, College Park, Calif.; at the end of his freshman year he went to Stanford University, where he received the degree of A.B. He became interested in the agriculture course at Cornell through his association with Professor John H. Comstock, and entered the University in 1893 in the course in entomology. Owing to the sudden death of his father, he was forced to leave the following January, to take up the management of his father's properties in Riverside. He was a member of the Glee Club.

He had been manager of a number of development companies, and is credited with the reclaiming of two thousand acres of land, of which twelve hundred acres are now in citrus groves. During the war, in response to a Government appeal for more cotton, he engaged in the growing of cotton at Parker and Florence, Ariz.

In referring to the achievements of Stanford graduates during an anniversary celebration, Dr. David Starr Jordan '72, then president of that institution, included Brown in the first ten, and first of all in agriculture. He was a Mason and an Elk, and had served as exalted ruler of the Riverside Lodge of Elks for a term.

On September 10, 1896, he married Miss Theresa Hall, who survives him with two daughters, Charlotte Hall, eighteen, and Sarah Barbara, fifteen; their first child, Pauline, died in infancy.

John K. Ballagh '15

John Kinnier Ballagh died suddenly in Paris on September 13, and was buried in the Albany Rural Cemetery on October 2.

Ballagh was born on October 25, 1893, and after graduating from the Albany, N. Y., High School, entered the University in 1911, receiving the degree of A.B. in 1915. He was somewhat handicapped physically, so that he was not identified with any activity while an undergraduate, but he was one of those rare cheerful fellows who made a friend of everyone who met him, and his death will come as a real shock to them.

For a short time after his graduation he was with Price, Waterhouse & Co., accountants, of New York, but he was forced to give up the work because of ill health, and had been traveling since that time. He spent several years in Japan, later visiting Africa and South America.

FACULTY NOTES

DR. LIVINGSTON FARRAND left on October 6 for a two weeks' trip, including in his itinerary Washington, Pittsburgh, and Cleveland. In Washington he will address the National Conference of the Red Cross and the sessions of the American Child Hygiene Association. He will speak to Cornell alumni at the Convention in Pittsburgh, and will preside at the meetings of the National Health Council in Cleveland.

PROFESSOR EMILE M. CHAMOT '91 returned on October 7 from New York, where he attended a meeting of the advisory council of the Technical Photographic and Microscopical Society, a national organization of which he was recently elected president.

PRESIDENT FARRAND on October 7 represented the Eastern colleges and universities at the inauguration of Dr. George B. Cutton as president of Colgate.

OLIN G. BELL, instructor in geology, on behalf of the Florida Geological Survey, is conducting experiments here to determine manufacturing values of Florida clays.

PROFESSOR HUGH C. TROY '95, of the Department of Dairy Industry in the College of Agriculture, and his associate, Professor Thomas J. McNerny '12, are the owners and managers of the Student Candy Shop at 310 Stewart Avenue.

PROFESSOR PAUL R. POPE, of the German Department, has returned to Ithaca after spending the past eight months in Europe with his family. Mrs. Pope and the children will remain abroad another year.

MISS ELEANOR HILLHOUSE, for three years an instructor in the School of Home Economics, was married on August 18, at her home in Willimantic, Connecticut, to Harold Ryder Crowell of Los Angeles, California. They will make their home in Los Angeles.

A SON, John Butler Babcock, was born on August 10 to Professor Harold E. Babcock and Mrs. Babcock of Ithaca.

PROFESSOR GEORGE G. BOGERT '06, dean of the Cornell Law School, was elected secretary of the National Conference of the Commissioners on Uniform Laws, at the annual meeting of that organization held in San Francisco in August.

RIDING CLASSES for members of the Faculty and their families will be held again this year under the supervision of Major Thomas J. J. Christian, using the horses of the Field Artillery Unit.

ATHLETICS

The Football Schedule

Cornell 55, St. Bonaventure 6.
 Cornell 66, Niagara 0
 October 14, New Hampshire at Ithaca.
 October 21, Colgate at Ithaca.
 November 4, Columbia at Ithaca.
 November 11, Dartmouth at New York.
 November 18, Albright at Ithaca.
 November 30, Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

Varsity Beats Niagara

The football team defeated Niagara last Saturday by a score of 66 to 0, rolling up ten touchdowns. The visitors seemed to have a little stronger team than St. Bonaventure, but were handicapped by fumbling, a wet ball causing them no little difficulty. They offered little effectual opposition to Cornell's attack.

The varsity on the whole showed considerable improvement compared with its form in the opening game against St. Bonaventure. The most gratifying feature perhaps was the way Cornell handled a wet ball—the game being played in a steady drizzle. Not more than two fumbles were made while the first team was in the line-up; in the third and fourth periods as substitutes came in the ball was not handled quite as cleanly, but all in all this phase of play was distinctly encouraging. All sorts of punts, kick-offs, and passes were accepted without an error, to use the parlance of the diamond.

Team work had developed materially in the week that elapsed since the opening game; the new center trio gave a better account of itself than the group that started last week, and line play generally was better. The forwards had begun to charge, instead of just locking up with their opponents. During the week Coach Dobie had promoted Rollo and Flynn, who had entered the St. Bonaventure game late as third substitutes, to the first eleven and he gave Richards, last year's substitute, first call at center. That position remains uncertain; but Rollo and Flynn seem to have won places as guards.

End play had improved also, notably that of Kneen on the right wing, who seems definitely to have earned that position. Henderson, who started at left end, also gave promise. Gouinlock and Buckley, who were substituted in these positions in the second half, are still in the running.

Backfield play was very effective at times; interference for runs on the left side was satisfactory; on the right side things didn't go so well. Until he was hurt Pfann led in advancing the ball; Captain Kaw was also a useful citizen, though his interference was not what it should have been. Ramsey, regular right halfback, did not start, a minor injury keeping him on the sidelines. Wade, who substituted for him, performed creditably, and Harte played a fair game at fullback.

Pfann had to leave the game in the second period, having been kicked in the thigh, but he should be in shape by the end of the week. Rooney, who substituted for him, proved a fast, elusive customer, his work being one of the surprises of the game. He looks right promising. The same thing holds for Whetstone, quarterback on last year's freshman eleven, who substituted for Harte in the third period.

The first touchdown was made in eight minutes of play, a forty-yard run by Pfann contributing most of the necessary distance. A Niagara fumble—there were quite a few during the game—allowed Kneen to run fifty yards for the second touchdown, the period ending with the score 12 to 0. Several pretty runs by Pfann and a fifteen-yard pass Kaw to Pfann soon brought the team within striking distance, and Hart plowed through the line for the touchdown. Another Niagara fumble recovered by Henderson, who sprinted ten yards, produced another score and more rushing by Pfann, Rooney, his successor, and Kaw scored two more in this period. In the second half the fast weakening Niagara eleven was bowled over by the eager Cornell substitutes, two touchdowns each being made in the third and fourth periods. The line-up and summary:

Cornell (66)		Niagara (0)
Henderson.....	L.E.....	Murphy
Hanson.....	L.T.....	DeFillippo
Flynn.....	L.G.....	Black
Richards.....	C.....	McAdams
Rollo.....	R.G.....	Chidzey
Sundstrom.....	R.T.....	Taggart
Kneen.....	R.E.....	Howell
Pfann.....	Q.B.....	Stewart
Kaw.....	L.H.B.....	Mullen
Wade.....	R.H.B.....	Bowman
Hart.....	F.B.....	Goodeff

Score by Periods

Cornell.....	12	27	14	13—66

Touchdowns: Pfann, Kneen, Henderson, Covert, Hart (2), Kaw, Rooney (2), Whetstone. Points after touchdowns: Sundstrom (4), Hanson, Whetstone.

Substitutions: Cornell, Covert for Wade, Rooney for Pfann, Brannon for Flynn, Gouinlock for Kneen, Buckley for Henderson, Mott-Smith for Richards, Post for Kaw, Parker for Hanson, Sullivan for Sundstrom, Whetstone for Hart, Bosworth for Rooney, Zacher for Sullivan; Niagara, Izers for Black, Turner for Stewart, O'Connor for McAdams, Hatch for Mullen, Reckner for Murphy, Miller for Hatch, Stewart for Turner, McGrath for DeFillippo, Turner for Stewart.

Referee: Kirberger, Washington and Jefferson. Umpire: Risley, Colgate. Linesman: Carson, Penn State. Time of periods: 12 and 10 minutes.

Schedule Looks Strong

Results of games played Saturday by future opponents of Cornell follow:

New Hampshire State 7, Norwich 0; Colgate 19, Allegheny 0; Columbia 43, Amherst 6; Dartmouth 19, Maine 0; Albright 7, Dickinson 28; Pennsylvania 27, University of South 0.

Comparative scores indicate that Colgate is stronger than a year ago. This is true to an even greater extent in the case of Columbia, which last year was defeated by Amherst. Dartmouth meets Harvard at the end of this month, which should give a good line on the strength of the Green. Pennsylvania is running along more smoothly than last year and looks, potentially, considerably stronger.

Soccer Team Wins

The soccer team opened the season Saturday by defeating Colgate by a score of 2 to 1 on a wet field. Captain Smith of Cornell made the only score of the first half. In the second half Thompson kicked a pretty goal for Cornell, while Smith of Colgate put one into the net for the Marathon.

Cross Country Schedule

The cross country team's schedule starts October 21, when the Massachusetts Institute of Technology team comes here for a dual meet, to be run off just before the Colgate football game. The harriers have no engagements after that until November 4 when they compete in the Syracuse invitation meet. On November 18 they will run Pennsylvania, Columbia, and Dartmouth in New York City, and on November 27 they will take part in the annual intercollegiate championship run in New York.

So far Coach Moakley has not attempted to pick a team, as ten or a dozen men have been running pretty evenly. The squad as a whole cannot approach the standard set by the last two teams. It is a case of beginning at the bottom and building for the future. Among the more prominent candidates are Captain R. G. Kirby, Gordon, Morrisson, Bonsal, Williams, Glick, Burnham, Emerson, Marchand, Bullen, and Leussler. The squad numbers twenty-five.

About three hundred men have registered for track, including a large number of freshmen. Coach Moakley this fall will give most of his attention to the yearlings.

LITERARY REVIEW

The Federal Reserve Policy

The Development of Federal Reserve Policy. By Harold L. Reed, Ph.D. '14, Professor of Banking and Finance, Washington University, St. Louis. Boston. Houghton Mifflin Company. 1922. 21 cm., pp. x, 352. Price, $3.50.

Dr. Reed has written an excellent book on a difficult subject. Intended primarily for the general public, it may be used also as a second book following an elementary text in a course on money and banking.

The first eleven chapters are devoted to special topics, such as the working of the regional reserve bank system, check collections and clearances, State bank membership, rediscounts, trade and bank acceptances, agricultural credit, open market operations, advances of reserve banks as notes and as credit for deposits. The last six chapters form a sort of historical supplement to the others; but so comprehensive and illuminating are they that it may be well for the general reader to peruse them before taking up the rather more searching and technical discussions of the earlier chapters.

The Federal Reserve Act became law on December 23, 1913. It was not, however, until November of the following year that the twelve reserve banks began operations, the opening being hastened by the financial disturbances created by the war. Reed divides the history of the Federal Reserve into five periods. The first, extending to December, 1916, was one of development and preparation for future emergencies. The management built wisely, meeting the legitimate needs of business without sacrificing principle or establishing unduly autocratic methods. The second period, to May, 1917, is characterized by the facts that the reserve banks by discount and purchase operations were beginning to secure effective control over the money market, and that the system was being prepared to bear the enormous strain of the war. The third period, extending to November 11, 1918, was the period of war finance. For the easy money policy Dr. Reed blames not the Federal Reserve Board but the Treasury, Congress, and the people. "No nation ever taxed itself sufficiently highly during a great war. Any other policy must be inflationary." The fourth period, to May, 1920, is the period of credit expansion, which was checked by successive rate increases ordered by the Board. The last period extends to the present time, including the industrial reaction. The Federal Reserve System, by operating to prevent credit contraction, and thus drawing out the period of liquidation, very probably prevented a great panic.

The attitude of the author is frankly at all points favorable to the policies of the Federal Reserve Board. He is, however, eminently fair-minded, his arguments are cogently reasoned, and the unbiassed reader, we think, is likely to be convinced of the general soundness of the plan of the Federal Reserve banks and the Board which directs their policies. The chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank in one of our largest cities calls this "by all odds the best book that has thus far been written on the Federal Reserve System."

A NOTABLE SERIES

Special significance attaches to the Cornellian Council's announcement of a series of special articles on "Cornell To-day and To-morrow," to appear in The Cornellian Council Quarterly, which is to be published nine instead of four times during the present college year.

The series will be written by the eight Alumni and University officials who are best qualified to present in an authoritative and interesting way the progress and problems of Cornell. It is an earnest and well planned endeavor to acquaint Cornellians with the achievements of the Council and of the Semi-Centennial Endowment Committees and to point the way to new and greater accomplishments for the University.

While these special articles might be said to constitute an "educational campaign," THE ALUMNI NEWS believes that the Cornellian Council is attempting something much bigger than preparing and distributing matter simply to "educate" the alumni. It is striving to make all Cornellians, through an effective piece of salesmanship, feel a sense of responsibility for and a partnership in the program of development for Cornell University.

The "Cornell To-day and To-morrow" articles will soon begin to arrive at the desks and in the homes of 33,000 Cornellians, and THE ALUMNI NEWS predicts that their careful reading will result in better understanding and wider support of the work of a University which is pulsating with progress.

FRANCE DECORATES WEIL '86

Announcement was made under date of August 26, 1922, in Journal Officiel de la République Française that by order of the President of the Republic of France Alphonse D. Weil of the Class of 1886 had the honor of Chevalier of the Legion of Honor conferred upon him on August 19.

Weil is well known to all Cornell men who served in France during the war because of his position as the Cornell representative in the American University Union and because of his great interest in Cornell men in service.

From the beginning of the war in 1914 he rendered distinguished service in the interest of American citizens in France when the war broke out, and for the cause of the Allies. In 1914 Weil was appointed a member of the American Relief Committee formed by the Hon. Myron T. Herrick, Ambassador to France, and during the same year he was appointed chairman of the Emergency Relief Committee of the American Chamber of Commerce in Paris. In 1915 he was appointed to membership on the General Committee and Chairman of the Purchasing Committee of the American Relief Clearing House. In 1917 he became a member of the Auxiliary of the American Chamber of Commerce at Bordeaux. During the same year he became a member of the committee and Director of the Cornell Bureau in the American University Union in Paris. In 1919 he became a member of the executive committee (of four) of the American University Union, No. 1, Rue de Fleurus, Paris. In 1920 he received the silver medal of honor of "La Reconnaissance Française" and during the same year he became vice-president of the American Club of Paris, having previously served as honorary secretary. In 1920 and '21 he served as vice-president of the American Chamber of Commerce in Paris, of which he had been previously a director and member since 1897.

Immediately after the war Weil established a fellowship at the University of Strasbourg, which he expects to make available each year for a graduate of Cornell. This fellowship was held last year by James R. Wadsworth. The present fellow at Strasbourg is Lafayette F. Dow, who studied in the Graduate School.

Mr. Weil served as chairman of the Semi-Centennial Endowment Committee for the district covering the Republic of France and has been a member of the Cornellian Council the last two years. The honor which he received in being decorated as a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor is one of the highest recognitions of distinguished service to France which can be bestowed by the Republic.

A Doorway to Opportunity

It is said that the battle of Waterloo was won on the cricket fields of England.

Just as truly could it be said that many of the great victories of modern industry have been won in the chemical laboratories of our universities and research institutions.

In this field opportunity may be awaiting you. To elect courses in Organic Chemistry is to swing wide the door on a career of unlimited possibilities.

Our book service is above the average store

Many are taking advantage of the opportunity. Not all order. Some ask for information. Few stores carry such a complete stock of textbooks. If you attended the university years ago we want to serve you now as then. Have you read "Concerning Cornell"?

Cross Section Papers

You will remember the quality. We use only papers made of rags. It is best for the purpose. Our sample book will be sent promptly on request. Two new kinds will be ready October 15th.
