PRICE 12 CENTS

"NO PLACE for triflers" is the way President Livingston Farrand characterized Cornell in the first University gathering of the term, speaking to freshmen in Bailey Hall on September 27. He said that a university course offers "tremendous opportunities for good or evil" and that "college careers are made or harmed in the first year." Harvey S. Gerry '24 of Washington, D. C., acting president of the Student Council, welcomed the new students for the undergraduates and told them something of Cornell customs.

THE FROSH BIBLE, or freshman handbook, this year contains in the freshman rules the one that underclassmen are forbidden to own cars. Gerry explained that this was not official, but merely an expression of opinion, which it is hoped may become a tradition.

THE Y. M. C. A. has added two Cornellians to its staff in Ithaca. A. Buell Trowbridge, Jr. '21, who has just completed his course as Rhodes Scholar at Oxford, will be in charge of hospitality to foreign students and of the Cornell-in-China Club. While at Oxford he was head of the Christian Student Union and undergraduate head of University College. The Rev. G. Eugene Durham '20 succeeds the Rev. Henry Brock as Methodist student pastor and will have charge of union meetings and conferences.

DELEGATES from fifty-one fraternities unanimously adopted rushing rules proposed by the Student Council at a meeting on September 24, and most of the remaining fraternities have since adopted them. These rules provide for no rushing from September 1 to 26; no meeting of freshmen at trains; and no rushing between the hours of 11 p. m. and 10 a. m. These rules are to be administered by a committee of twelve which includes three from the Student Council, three officers of the Interfraternity Council, and six University Faculty or administrative officers.

IN ADDITION to the special physical examination given athletes at the beginning of the year before they are allowed to participate in any varsity sport, every undergraduate is now required to take a thorough physical examination during each school year.

THE SUN started publication for the year on September 26, announcing the election of Sumner W. Singer '26 of New York as associate editor.

REGISTRATION for most sports, including baseball, crew, soccer, lacrosse, and track is well under way, and aspirants are practicing daily on the upper Campus. Fall baseball practice is planned again this year, and Coach Moakley has selected a tentative varsity squad in cross country of sixteen men. Interfraternity and inter-college soccer leagues are also ready for organization.

EDGAR L. KAW '23, last year's varsity football captain, is coach at St. Lawrence University at Canton, N. Y. Walter P. Knauss '21 is his assistant, and Harold L. Ebersole, also a member of last year's team, is coach of athletics at University School, Cleveland, Ohio.

TWO NEW HOUSES have this year been added to the University residential halls for women. Thurston Cottage, at 15 East Avenue, is the home originally presented to the University by the Sibley family to be used as a residence for the deans of engineering, and last occupied by Dean Albert E. Smith '78 and his family. It is named for Professor Robert Thurston, its first occupant after the gift. It will accommodate approximately twenty women.

RISLEY LODGE, the second newly acquired house, at 324 Waite Avenue, was purchased by the University from Mrs. Andrew D. White. It will accommodate ten to twelve students.

RISLEY COTTAGE, the women's house on the grounds of Prudence Risley Hall, formerly run as a University residential hall, is being run cooperatively this year by thirteen women students who rent the rooms but will run their own table.

MRS. JOHN B. GRACE (Anna Fielden) '10, who was for years assistant to Thomas Tree '80, has been appointed manager of University residential halls.

THE UNITED STATES Marine Band, of Washington, D. C., will appear in Ithaca for two concerts in Bailey Hall on October 22, being brought by the Rotary Club.

THE SAGE CHAPEL Preacher for September 30 was the Rev. Dr. Samuel S. Marquis, rector of St. Joseph's Church Detroit, Michigan. The Preacher for October 7 will be the Rev. Dr. Clarence A. Barbour, Baptist, president of the Rochester Theological Seminary.

REPAIRS to the toboggan slide, for which the contract is already let, are expected to add at least a week to the season for this popular winter sport. Concrete pilings at the lower end will rest on bed rock and have adjustable supports which will permit the raising and lowering of the end to conform to the level of the ice on Beebe Lake.

A STEAMROLLER proved a white elephant to Ithaca police when it ran away on University Avenue, was wrecked, and abandoned by its owner, whom they could not locate. After a few days, however, he appeared in town from Groton and sold the pachyderm to the junk man.

FRESHMAN WOMEN were entertained at tea by the Self-Government Association at Barnes Hall on September 28 and at a reception in the Old Armory by the Y. W. C. A. on September 29. Margaret A. Cushman '23 is secretary of the Y. W. C. A. until Christmas, succeeding Lois C. Osborn '16, who left in August for three years in India in charge of social and religious life at the Women's Medical College at Vellore.

FIVE CORNELL musicians spent the summer playing in their own orchestra through the middle West. They were two weeks in St. Paul, and played on a regular circuit through Minnesota. Several concerts at radio station WLAG at Minneapolis brought letters of praise. The members of the orchestra were John O. Todd '24 of Minneapolis, Lyman M. Breese '23 of Elmira, Ludwig F. Audrieth, Grad., of Elizabeth, New Jersey, Charles E. Howes '25 of Elmira, and Charles W. Smith '26 of Chattanooga, Tennessee.

FRESHMAN CAPS appeared for the first time at the football game on Saturday, and the rest of the freshman rules went into effect on Monday.

FRANCIS I. RIGHTER '23, of Port Jervis, New York, will assist Howard B. Ortner '18, director of intramural athletics at the University, in developing intramural track and cross country meets. He will also help Coach Moakley with the overflow of varsity candidates. Righter was a member of the freshman and varsity track teams during his four years in college, and a member of the varsity soccer team the last three.

THE DEAN OF WOMEN announced on September 29 a registration of 440 freshman women, exceeding all former classes by nearly a hundred, with expectation of more to be registered.

THE WILL of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Tatum Long, mother of Eleanor Tatum Long '15, who died last November, includes a bequest of $2,000 to the Endowment Fund of the University, in memory of her daughter, and the sum of $30,000 to be known as the Eleanor Tatum Long Scholarship in structural geology.

ENFIELD GLEN, near Ithaca, is being cared for by a force of men under Professor Carl Crandall '12, who are widening the walks, cleaning out the stream, putting up new guardrails, and building fireplaces.

Many Cornellians in Japan

Thomas D. Finn, Jr., '20 Called Hero of Recent Earthquake Disaster in the East

A list, probably incomplete, of Cornellians who were living in the two cities most seriously affected by the recent earthquake in Japan, includes some eight Americans and a score of Japanese alumni.

Among the Americans Thomas D. Finn, Jr., '20, former varsity football player and captain of the hockey team, distinguished himself for bravery. According to The New York Times:

"There were many instances of heroism. One outstanding feature was that of Thomas D. Finn, Standard Oil Company employee in Yokohama. He plunged into the bay with Miss Robinson, who was injured, and swam with her to a life boat and took her aboard the P. & O. steamer Dongola, but the surgeon was unable to save her life."

Thomas Finn, better known as "Tommy," entered Cornell in 1916 and was one of the stars of the varsity football team in 1919. In 1920 he was captain of the hockey team. He was a member of Sphinx Head and Sigma Alpha Epsilon. During the war he served in the United States Navy.

Other American Cornellians were Paul Messer '94 and William C. Collyer '15, with the American Trading Company in Tokio; John A. Daniels '18, with the International Banking Corporation at Yokohama; Eric S. Erickson '21, with the Texas Company, Yokohama; Miss Marion E. Potts '15, who was in Tokio; Professor Charles F. Sweet '74, of the Trinity Divinity School at Tokio; and Mark Owens '18, who was with the Standard Oil Company at Kobe.

Japanese graduates of Cornell who were living in Tokio include Keisuke Fujioka '09; Kenjiro Fujikura '17; Keigo Harada '89; Kiyonori Hayashi '04; Ichiro Ito '08; Hideo Kai '09; Tokisuke Yokogawa '21, who is known to be safe; Sadaharu Katsuno '07; Nagaatsu Kuroda '12; Professor Kiichi Miyake '01; Ichiro Motokawa '16; Tsunezo Nakagawa '09; Tetsuhiro Nakamigawa '14; Tsunejiro Nambu '88; Masayasu Naruse '89; Tasudo Ogata '09; Sanji Osame '01; Shiro Sano '08; Professor Yaekichi Sekiguchi '03; Otojiri Takahashi '92; Yoshimaro Takatsuji '98; Shusei Tsuchiya '13; Shiro Yamazaki '02; and Seikichi Usfioda '23.

MORE IN BOND BUSINESS

The list of Cornellians in the bond business in New York, published in our issue of May 17, is enlarged by the addition of the names of Theodore M. Stevens '09, Robert S. Byfield '17, and Julius Sobel '17, who are with Ames, Emerich & Company, and of Robert Minshall '17, Harold V. Lalley '19, Herbert L. Scales '19, and L. Wainwright Voigt '21, who are with Hemphill, Noyes & Company. The addition of these seven names brings the list of New York Cornellians in the bond business to forty-nine.

Dean Haskell Retires

Leaves University and Active Engineering Duties to Make Home in Hamburg, New York.

Professor Eugene E. Haskell '79, former dean of the College of Civil Engineering, who has more recently been emeritus professor of experimental hydraulics, left Ithaca on August 20, with Mrs. Haskell, for Hamburg, New York, where they will make their home at 136 Pierce Avenue. Dean Haskell has retired from active engineering duties but will occupy himself in a consulting capacity in his profession with Buffalo associates.

Eugene E. Haskell '79

Dean Haskell received his degree of B. C. E. from Cornell in 1879 and of C.E. in 1890. He was with the United States Lake Survey at Detroit in 1879, the Sioux City and St. Paul Railroad in 1880, the Mississippi River Commission in St. Louis from 1880 to 1885, the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey at Washington from 1885 to 1893, and the United States Lake Survey at Detroit from 1893 to 1896.

He was dean of the Cornell College of Civil Engineering from 1906 to 1921, a period of fifteen years. Dean Haskell has been considered one of the foremost authorities on experimental hydraulic engineering in the country.

He was a member of the American Section of the International Waterways Commission from 1906 to 1915, and is a fellow of the A.A.A.S. and a member of the American Society of Civil Engineering, the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, the American Society for Testing Materials, Alpha Tau Omega, Tau Beta Pi, Phi Kappa Phi, the Cornell Society of Engineers of New York, and an honorary member of the Detroit Engineering Society.

Need Philosophy of Music

Dr. Otto Kinkeldey Says College Teaching Should be More Than Training Performers

To build a philosophic foundation for music is a task awaiting American scholars, according to Otto Kinkeldey, who is giving up his post as chief of the music division of the New York Public Library to take the chair of music here. Meeting a representative of The Christian Science Monitor at his office in the Public Library, Professor Kinkeldey gave his views on the problem of musical esthetics, as it remains to be solved in the United States, and discussed certain aspects of musical education in colleges.

We should possess, he says, a better grounded esthetic judgment of music than we have yet found, and we should study more deeply than we have been moved to hitherto into the connection between music and other activities. As an illustration of what I mean, a college music department should from the beginning teach the relation between music and physics. This work, I admit, has been well looked after in universities, but it has not engaged the attention of musicians. It has been left to acousticians.

Another branch that colleges should have been attending to is folk-song; and there, again, more has been done by persons interested in folklore in general than by those primarily devoted to music. A more remote concern is the detection of talent. In Europe, they study these things as belonging to the art of music; and in America, we ought to take them up systematically. An Eastern university might be named which has attempted a well-rounded scheme of musical cultivation, and a Western college could be mentioned too, which has achieved something better than one-sided results. But in many places the cause has made deplorable headway, proceeding under the flag of what is called musical appreciation. In some instances the college has become but an adjunct to the music school, and the instructor has considered himself successful if he has sent out graduates who boom him.

The trouble is that many college music departments have grown into conservatories, which is the wrong idea altogether. Conservatories have their place, but they deal with the training of performers. The colleges should investigate the profounder issues of music. They should be in a position to take it for granted that a student knows the elements of music, just as they are to assume that he knows grammar and spelling.

But when I go as far as that, I ought to say that no basis for a philosophic judgment of music has yet been found anywhere. Great thinkers like Darwin and Kant, have looked at the subject from the

Far-Away Alumni Come to Next Week's Buffalo Convention

Committee Announces Details of Program for What Promises to Be Biggest Away-from-Ithaca Gathering

EVEN the more conservative of the tabulations made just ten days before the Convention make it a safe betting proposition that the attendance figures in Buffalo on Thursday and Friday, October 11 and 12, and in Ithaca on the Fall Reunion Day, October 13, will be high both ways. In total registration the record which Cleveland set up at the first Convention in May, 1921, when approximately seven hundred signed the book, will fall back to second place. The Buffalo Cornellians claim they will have more than that number from Western New York alone. In the total number of Cornellians represented through their clubs by voting delegates, the high record established last October in Pittsburgh is already beaten by the clubs which have given assurance of representation. Last year there were twenty-one clubs and associations represented, their delegates voting for some 3,552 alumni who could not attend the Convention but who were paid-up members by virtue of the per capita assessments paid by clubs.

It has been the aim of the Buffalo committees to combine all the good points of former Cornell gatherings. They started from the basis that the annual Convention is now clearly established as a worth-while Cornell alumni activity, that the success of the meetings held in Cleveland, Chicago, and Pittsburgh have proved that certain tangible results of vital importance to the University can be accomplished in these meetings of Cornell men and women in cities outside of Ithaca. They saw as their problem to bring together more alumni than ever before; with more clubs represented in the business sessions, the deliberations of which would bring material contributions to the advancement of Cornell's interests; and with social features unique in their appeal.

Reports already in give assurance of a delegation from Los Angeles and another from San Francisco, four alumni from New Orleans, and twenty from Canada, with all the cities within a few hundred miles sending heavy quotas. New York, Cleveland, Rochester, Binghamton, Cincinnati, and Detroit give particularly good promise.

Announce General Program

The Convention will open on Thursday morning at 10:30, at headquarters in the New Hotel Statler, when President Thomas Fleming, Jr., '05 will formally call to order the first meeting of the Cornell Alumni Corporation. The time prior to the opening will have been devoted to the greetings, breakfasts, and registrations which form an indispensable part of all such gatherings. The business of the morning will be the election of twelve regional directors of the corporation, the Convention by its collective vote to select that number from among the twenty-nine men and women who have been nominated from the various sections of the country.

Luncheon at one will be followed by a talk or two on Cornell topics. At three o'clock the party will leave Buffalo in special cars for Niagara Falls. Paul A. Schoellkopf '06 will play the host at the plant of the Niagara Falls Power Company. The special cars will leave the Falls at six o'clock, for a combination supper and smoker in Buffalo at the Statler at 7:30.

The women are arranging a special entertainment for the many Cornell alumnae who will be in Buffalo.

The business session at ten o'clock Friday morning will be opened with addresses by Judge Frank H. Hiscock '75 chairman of the Board of Trustees, and by Frank P. Graves, State Commissioner of Education. The new officers of the Cornell Alumni Corporation will then be installed, the elections to have been made by the new board of directors.

To Consider Women's Representation

The final business will be the report of the committee which was appointed to place before alumni the matter of representation of women on the Board of Trustees. This committee, appointed last spring, is comprised of Nicholas J. Weldgen '05 chairman, Miss Emily Hickman '01, and Lewis L. Tatum '97.

The Board of Trustees will hold its annual fall meeting at two o'clock. While they are engaged with Cornell problems, the rest of the Convention guests will take such recreation as suits their whims and fancies. Besides sports for those that wish them, others will visit the Bethlehem Steel Company, the Larkin Company, the Pierce-Arrow Motor Company, and the Dunlop Rubber Company.

The wind-up banquet is scheduled for seven o'clock, in the ballroom of the Hotel Statler. Two of the speakers will be President Farrand and Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., of New York. Walter P. Cooke '91 will be toastmaster.

Special trains will leave Buffalo for Ithaca at one minute past midnight, arriving at Ithaca along about daybreak on Saturday. The annual Fall Reunion Day promises a full program. The party will march behind a band to the corner of State and Aurora Streets, where the procession will disband. Breakfast will be available at the hotels, downtown restaurants, fraternity houses, and cafeterias.

No formal program is arranged for the day. The Cornell Law Association will hold its regular meeting at 9.30 in Boardman Hall. The meeting was originally called for October 20, but the date was changed to coincide with the larger alumni celebration. Other alumni will attend the dedication of the new Dairy Building of the College of Agriculture, at which President Farrand and Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York will be the principal speakers.

At the end of the morning, or in the early afternoon, the officers of the R. O. T. C. will play a polo game with the officers of Madison Barracks. In the evening Cornell undergraduates will meet a team from Oxford University in an international debate. The Oxford team is touring this country and Canada, meeting selected college teams.

The annual alumni luncheon will be held at the Drill Hall. The old Armory has been large enough for the crowds at the Fall Reunion Days during the last two years but the committee changed to the larger building a week ago on reports of the large numbers expected. The special attraction of the Ithaca visit will be the Cornell-Williams football game, on Schoellkopf Field at 2.30 p. m.

Buffalo Committee in Charge

Arrangements are in charge of the following alumni in Buffalo: general committee, J. F. Schoellkopf, Jr., '05, chairman; Ralph McCarty '96, and Arthur L. Jones '06, vice-chairmen; Mrs. Walter Nichols, chairman for women; publicity committee, Carl H. Bowen '13, chairman; banquet, A. L. Jones '06; registration, William A. More '13; entertainment, J. B. Fenton '98; finance, Edward B. Holmes '05; reception and automobile, Parton Swift '98, Floyd K. Smith '94, Van Loan Whitehead, Jr., '08; special train and Ithaca trip, John L. Tiernon, Jr., '95.

NICHOLAS BAWLF, coach of soccer, hockey, and lacrosse, was married on September 18 to Miss Laura O'Reilly of Ottawa, Canada, where he has been in charge of government athletic activities during the summer. He and Mrs. Bawlf have now returned to Ithaca.

THREE STUDENTS of St. Bonaventure College hiked to Ithaca from Allegany, and finding themselves short of cash and beds in Ithaca high-priced, sought a night's shelter in the local jail, from which they set out Saturday morning to see the Campus and the football game.

CLUB ACTIVITIES

Binghamton

The Cornell Club of Binghamton opened its fall season on September 21 with an all-Cornell meeting. The local alumni were out in force, augmented by undergraduates who had not yet returned to college and by a sprinkling of sub-freshmen from various points in Broome county. Talks were given by John Hummer, principal of the Binghamton High School, and by Archie M. Palmer '18, who until September 1 was secretary of the College of Arts and Sciences.

The regular luncheon meetings were scheduled to start on October 2, at the Hans-Jones restaurant at 12.15. Meetings will be held thereafter every two weeks.

Fall events are announced to Cornellians of Binghamton in the first issue of The Third Rail. The paper is a saffron-hued sheet which on its own admission was distilled in 1880, opened in 1923, and is now selling at the price of 50 cents per kilowatt hour.

Mount Vernon

At the annual meeting of the Cornell Club of Mt. Vernon held at the University Club in that city on September 25; the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Albert H. White '12, president; Edward Boegehold '08, vice-president; Raymond Potter '00, secretary and treasurer; and Noah Cummings '94, director.

The principal topic of discussion was the new alumni organization of the Cornell Alumni Corporation. The Mt. Vernon club has a particular interest in the convention in Buffalo inasmuch as Dr. Walter H. McNeill, Jr., '10 is the only candidate for director of District No. 3. Dr. McNeill is a resident of Mt. Vernon who was instrumental in the establishment of the club three years ago.

It was voted that the club should meet informally on the first Friday of every month at the University Club rooms.

New York

It is only necessary to refer to the membership lists of the Cornell Club of New York, comparing the figures of January 1 and September 1 of this year, to have convincing assurance of the success of the special campaign which was waged last spring.

The total membership on January 1 was 940, of whom 543 were resident members, 371 non-resident, and 26 honorary and life members.

The figures on September 1 had increased by more than 50 per cent, with 902 resident members, 495 non-resident, and 26 honorary and life members. The present membership, 1,423, exceeds by a substantial margin the highest previous record of the club.

The following new members were elected at the September meeting of the Board of Governors: A. J. Boudia '20, Dr. R. S. Crispell '17, Luther L. Emerson '98, Robert W. Gastmeyer '11, H. C. Hasbrouck '04, E. W. Hassan '10, Rev. Charles E. Karsten '18, F. T. Ketchum, Jr. '23, E. F. Le Cluse '23, Jesse Mayer '92, Stuart H. Richardson '25, Herbert Smithers '10, Frank Sullivan '14, R. DeB. Warren '23, Willis K. Wing '23, and R. H. Yerkes '25.

The club will run a special campaign for non-resident members this fall, continuing to waive initiation fee of non-residents until the end of the year.

Pittsburgh

At the weekly luncheon of Pittsburgh men, on September 28, the speaker of the day was H. K. Smith of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, who spoke on "Railroad Electrification." The speaker has long been identified with electrical work in this country and abroad.

Akron Women

The Cornell Women's Club of Akron, Ohio, will hold a meeting on Saturday, October 6, at the University Club. Several members of the club are planning to attend the convention in Buffalo.

Rochester Women

The Cornell Women's Club of Rochester will meet October 6, at 3 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Charles W. Curtis '88, president of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs. The meeting has been called for a special discussion of the convention to be held in Buffalo the following week.

The women of Rochester will meet regularly on the first Saturday afternoon of each month at the homes of members. The places of meeting will be announced in the Rochester newspapers.

New York Women

The committee on entertainment of the Cornell Women's Club of New York has arranged a program covering most of the dates for the coming year. Unless otherwise indicated all meetings will be held at 2:30 p. m. on Saturday at 15 East 60th Street, New York.

Cornell women who may be in New York are asked to keep in mind the following schedule: September 29, annual business meeting; November (date to be announced), informal luncheon and theatre party (place to be announced); January 12, Miss Genevieve Deming, University of Wisconsin, of Saks & Company, will talk on "Big Store Advertising;" February (probably 16), annual luncheon (hotel to be announced); March 8, Miss Faith Wilcox, University of Wisconsin, of the Traveler's Aid Society, will talk about her work; May 10, Miss Mabel Rollins '08, editor of The Business Women's Magazine, will talk on being an editor.

DR. DAVID STARR JORDAN '72, who was at one time instructor in botany at Cornell, has been the elected chairman of Pacific Division of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

ATHLETICS

The Football Schedule

Cornell 41, St. Bonaventure 6.

October 6. Susquehanna at Ithaca.

October 13. Williams at Ithaca.

October 20. Colgate at Ithaca.

November 3. Dartmouth at Hanover.

November 10. Columbia at New York.

November 17. Johns Hopkins at Ithaca.

November 29. Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

Team Looks Fair

The football season opened Saturday with a victory over St. Bonaventure by a score of 41 to 6, in a game that was far from satisfactory, and which indicated that Coach Dobie is facing a more difficult problem this year to turn out a representative team than has been the case in the last two seasons. Individual players there were who showed plenty of promise; there seems to be a good deal of potential power, but there were markedly lacking cohesion and coordination in team play, and the snappy, decisive clean-cut individual technique that has been characteristic of recent Cornell elevens. Much fumbling and a good deal of offside play tended to slow up the team's momentum; also the visitors called time out frequently, so that the game dragged along from three o'clock to 5.45. That, and the lack, except in a few instances, of the spectacular such as Cornell audiences have been accustomed to in the recent past were no doubt responsible for the rather general feeling that the game as a whole was uninteresting and unsatisfactory.

St. Bonaventure was a better coached and more lively team than is usually the case. They were however unable to make a single first down by rushing. But three times they held Cornell for downs, twice inside the ten-yard line; for most of the third period they successfully held the Red attack at bay; and catching Cornell asleep in the second period, scored a touchdown.

The varsity scored six touchdowns, five by rushing,—one helped along by a twenty-five yard forward pass—the only worth while pass executed by Cornell during the afternoon. One touchdown, scored toward the end of the third period, was the outcome of a mad scramble for a blocked punt, which Henderson finally recovered behind the visitors' goal line, five others having failed to hang onto the elusive pigskin.

Five goals from placement, following touchdowns, were scored. Sundstrom kicked three, and two were allowed when the visitors were offside on the play.

Early in the game Farrell recovered a fumble on Cornell's thirty-four yard line, putting the home team on the defensive but penalties soon set the visitors back and Patterson caught their punt and was downed on his ten-yard line. The team settled down to a steady attack which carried it to St. Bonaventure's twenty yard line where the visitors braced. Several passes failing, St. Bonaventure recovered the ball on her thirty yard line. MacAndrews punted almost immediately and from midfield Cornell rushed for a touchdown, a fifteen yard run by Pfann and some effective line plunging by Cassidy helping materially. Cassidy plunged over for the score.

In the second period a twenty-five yard forward pass took Henderson to the ten yard line and in three rushes Cornell had scored again. Another drive, from the twenty yard line straight down the field, with Pfann proving the big ground gainer again, produced a third touchdown.

A few minutes later Kenneally picked up a partially blocked punt by MacAndrews and ran to Cornell's forty yard line. Running plays failing, the visitors resorted to strategy and caught Cornell unprepared. A twenty-five yard pass thrown by Green sailed away over the heads of the defending backs, and Eppolitto grabbed it and ran fifteen yards for a touchdown.

In the third period the visitors stopped a forty yard drive by holding for downs on their fifteen yard line and a little later compelled Pfann to punt—the first punt of the game on Cornell's part. Pfann placed the kick nicely at the corner of St. Bonaventure's fourteen yard line. And on MacAndrews's attempt to kick back the ball was blocked by Affeld and recovered by Henderson for a touchdown.

In the fourth period another fifty yard series of rushes sent Pfann over with a score, and the final tally was made inside of four minutes of play by Smith. Pretty nearly the whole second team played the last part of this period.

Individuals who stood out were Morris, Affeld and Sullivan on the line, Morris in particular proving an effective man on defense; in the backfield Pfann and Cassidy. Pfann's hard, close-to-the ground running and stiff arming were reminiscent of his best work last year. Cassidy also showed power in straight line bucking. Ramsey, regular right half, was suffering from a slight illness and was unable to play. Wade and Whetstone were used in that position. Wade made a number of effective drives through the line and off tackle.

Both Patterson and Smith, who were used at left half back, seemed nervous, high-strung. They fumbled occasionally. Neither seemed sure of himself while playing back for kicks and poise was painfully lacking. On the offense they showed promise of developing into reliable ball carriers, but it was plain that the left half-back problem is still unsolved.

Summed up, a powerful line seems in the making. The ends on the whole did their work well, though Henderson was taken in once or twice. The backfield is of course still unorganized; Ramsey's absence made a difference and the instability of the left half-backs was evident. There were occasionally flashes of nice interference and team play but the team is still far from together. The basis of power is there but on Saturday the play as a whole was slow and ragged.

The varsity in this game contained four of last year's letter men, F. L. Henderson, left end, F. L. Sundstrom, left tackle, G. R. Pfann, captain and quarterback, C. E. Cassidy, full back. H. D. Kneen at right end was a third string end last year, Francis Kearney, Jr., left tackle, played on the freshman team a year ago, while J. E. Sullivan, who succeeded Kearney in the third period, was a varsity substitute for two seasons. The guards, J. H. Berean and Robert Morris, were substitutes last season, while F. O. Affeld, Jr., the center played on the freshman team a year ago.

The line up and summary:

Cornell	St. Bonaventure
Henderson	Eppolitto
	Left End
Kearney	Reilly
	Left Tackle
Berean	Triski
	Left Guard
Affeld	Carroll
	Center

Morris	Connors
	Right Guard
Sundstrom	Kenneally
	Right Tackle
Kneen	Farrell
	Right End
Pfann (Capt.)	(Capt.) Lucco
	Quarterback
Patterson	Green
	Left Halfback
Wade	Frey
	Right Halfback
Cassidy	McAndrews
	Fullback

Score by periods:

Cornell	7	14	7	13	—41
St. Bonaventure	0	6	0	0	—6

Touchdowns:—Cassidy 2, Pfann 2, Henderson, Smith, Eppolitto. Goals from placement:—Sundstrom 5. Substitutions: Cornell, Smith for Patterson, Sullivan for Kearney, Trousdell for Berean, Raymond for Kneen, Savage for Sundstrom, Friend for Wade, Dexter for Henderson, MacWilliam for Affeld, Wester for Pfann, Wallendorf for Morris, Whetstone for Cassidy; St. Bonaventure, Hickey for Triski, Kinney for Connors, McConville for Frey, McCarthy for Carroll, Souhan for Farrell, Frey for McConville, Dershang for Souhan, Companion for Green, McConville for Frey, Carroll for Eppolitto. Referee, C. A. Reed, Springfield. Umpire, A. W. Kolt, Rochester. Head linesman, Frederick Palmer, Jr., Harvard. Time of quarters, 15 minutes.

NATIONAL ACADEMY HERE

The National Academy of Science will meet for the first time at Cornell on November 12, 13, and 14. Arrangements are in charge of a committee composed of Professors Edward L. Nichols '75, Liberty Hyde Bailey, Ernest Merritt '86, and Wilder D. Bancroft. All of the sessions, at which papers will be presented for discussion, will be open to the public except one business meeting.

It is planned to hold a formal reception at the President's House on November 13. Directly following this event a subscription dinner for members of the Academy and their guests is to be given in Prudence Risley Hall.

The position of home secretary of the Academy is held by David White '86, chief geologist of the United States Geological Survey at Washington.

COMPARE LAST WEEK'S CARTOON

Sufficiently like the artist's conception of last week to vindicate his prophecy for the Williams Fall Reunion Day Game October 13. This shows Captain Pfann making a gain of twenty yards in last Saturday's game with St. Bonaventure.

ITHACA, N. Y., OCTOBER 4, 1923

QUITE the most important business to come before the convention next week, seems to be the discussion of the report of the committee on alumnae representation on the Board of Trustees. There are several possible methods of producing a result that will give to the women a part of this representation which they want, and apparently seem to need.

The simplest method of course would be for some of the Trustees to step aside and yield place to women who are qualified. Such method would, however, be but temporizing. In addition it calls for a combination of temperamental qualities that would probably be rare and not necessarily desirable in a university trustee. To assure the election of women in the annual balloting would be even more difficult. The same qualities would have to be found in the so-called campaign managers of one of the candidates as well as in the candidate himself. Election of women trustees by agreement would thus likely be difficult and uncertain. Furthermore, under the existing law no agreement or resolution could prevent any ten graduates from nominating any additional candidate to replace the one who would withdraw.

The method suggested of creating new trusteeships open only to women seems to have principally against it the standard objection that it would require action by the Legislature; not that legislatures are not now accustomed to amending charters to grant rights to women, but that legislative action is not usually sought except as a last resort by corporations anywhere.

Another possibility is the granting of a similar privilege to women that is now accorded the Faculty, of having representatives on the Board with all the rights except that of voting. It has the advantage of ease of accomplishment, requiring no resignations and no legislative action, and the disadvantage of not being wholly satisfactory to the women, who might justly contend that if they need and are entitled to that much the same reasoning should lead them to be entitled to full Trusteeships.

The principal debate might conceivably be on the desirability of enlarging the Board, the need of representation, the possibility of securing most, if not all, of the advantages in some other way, and last but by no means least important, the effect on Cornell women themselves. If the granting of assured representation will enhance the value to the University of this large minority of the alumnal body it might well be worth a small yielding of traditions and privileges, even a slight depreciation in the value of the individual Trustee's vote. The answer to that depends on the probable result produced by the change.

It is, at any rate, a question worthy of some celebration at the Convention. One must be omniscient or exceedingly bigoted, who can vote without hearing both sides. The problem deserves careful consideration, an academic discussion, without heat. The Convention should be protected from sentimentality on the one side, and haughty prejudice on the other. The debate should include several rounds of highly concentrated information on fundamental facts, intermingled with real reasons for and against; and very few pyrotechnics.

SPORT STUFF

It is the unanimous opinion of experts that this year's freshman class shapes up better than any preceding outfit that anyone can remember. They look as if excellent judgment had been exercised in the selection of their parents—an advantage generally enjoyed only by horses, cattle, and dogs. Well set up bodies, well shaped heads, and good complexions predominate. They look at once capable of intellectual attainments and able to take care of themselves in a fight. If there is anything wrong with the University's product in the next few years the fault can't be laid on the raw material. It's great stuff. And what an awful responsibility is resting on the University to see to it that the most is made of that splendid material and that none of it is needlessly ruined in the process of manufacture!

In the opening game with St. Bonaventure the team looked unusually crude even for the first game. Yet there was the impression of vast latent power. I don't know.

Ticket application blanks for both the Columbia and Pennsylvania games will be mailed about Oct. 15. For the Columbia game tickets in the Cornell section will be handled by the Cornell Athletic Association in Ithaca. None will be sold by the Cornell Club in New York. R. B.

LITERARY REVIEW

A Notable Class History

Cornell University: Record of the Class of 1877, June 1873 to June, 1923. Ithaca, N. Y. 1923. 24.5 cm., pp. 138. With 7 illustrations and an accompanying pamphlet 29.5 by 37 cm., pp. 17, containing 56 illustrations.

This readable book is by far the finest record thus far produced by a Cornell Class. It is well printed and admirably illustrated. It reflects the greatest credit on the secretary, William O. Kerr, and on the editor, Professor Simon H. Gage.

There are various arrangements possible for a class book: e. g. (1) a simple alphabetical Who's Who arrangement, such as is employed in the Rosters of the Class of '93; (2) a division according to the degree or courses taken in the University; (3) an arrangement according to professions chosen. The last is the one selected by the projectors of this book. A disadvantage is that the individual record may be chopped up and distributed in several parts of the volume. It has the advantage that the contributions made by the class to the respective activities are caused to bulk out as they do in no other way.

The editor has tried with happy results the experiment (entirely novel so far as we know) of dividing the class into small groups according to life work and securing the assistance of expert collaborators. The list of these includes sixteen names. The members of the class are divided into nine groups: agriculture, architecture, business, education, law and politics, literature and journalism, medicine, and scientific investigation.

In 1873 The Northern Christian Advocate, of Syracuse, always bitter against Cornell, printed this item of news: "Cornell has entered 212 new students—212 more recruits for Satan." The imps of Satan have done pretty well, and we believe that a fair number of them have been exemplary members of the great communion represented by the (for many years defunct) Advocate. The total number at any time registered with '77 is 240. Of these information is reported as follows: six have followed chiefly or ultimately the profession of agriculture; seven, of architecture; thirty, business; fourteen, education; forty-one, engineering; twenty-five, law and politics; five, literature and journalism; twelve, medicine; six, scientific investigation. In compiling these figures an effort has been made not to repeat names, but probably not with complete success. The relatively high figure for engineers is probably due to the fact that several are included of whom no recent records are available, and who may have followed other professions. The record of achievement is one to be proud of. A class which includes figures like Gage, Howard, Miss Thomas, Balch, Loos, Mrs. Moody, Lindemuth, Gurley, Halsey, and Ostrom, to mention only a few, has a right to hold its collective head very high.

The volume contains much general information of great value on the history and organization of the University. We hope it will be followed by many other similar records of alumni activities. Cornell secretaries and class historians have not yet perceived the great importance of such detailed records for the larger history of the University and her influence on the lives of her sons and daughters. That history, indeed, can never be written until such preliminary work as this has been done.

Books and Magazine Articles

Dr. Alexander Meiklejohn '97 writes in The Century for September on the question "To Whom are We Responsible?" He concludes that the prime responsibility of the scholar and the teacher has to do with the spread of the truth both in his own work and in that of his fellows of the profession. In the same number Alfred E. Zimmern, last year acting professor of political science here, writes on "The Politics of Martha." It is the first half of a highly instructive article on world politics. The realm of Martha is the realm of practical politics. "When our modern Caesars have taken the twentieth-century world, diagnosed its ills, and provided appropriate treatment, when they have policed and doctored and made decent and habitable a world organized and knit together for plain people to live in with safety and comfort, they will have done no more than lay the foundation of a civilized world society. What remains—and it is the better half—is of the realm of Mary."

In The American Political Science Review for August Professor Robert C. Brooks, Ph.D. '03, of Swarthmore, discusses "The Swiss Initiative Vote of December 3, 1922."

The tenth edition of Baird's "Manual of American College Fraternities" has lately appeared. The present editor and publisher is James T. Brown '79, who like the original editor is a member of Beta Theta Pi. Originally published in 1879, the book has now become a volume of 845 pages and is well worth the price of $4 which is asked for it. In his preface the editor points out that whereas in 1920 the men's fraternities owned 773 houses at an average value of $21,000, they now own 1207 houses at an average value of $27,000.

OBITUARY

Eugene H. Watkins '73

Eugene Henry Watkins died at his home in Bath, N. Y., on December 7, following a stroke of paralysis. His wife died from the same cause just three weeks before.

Mr. Watkins was a student in science in the University from 1869 to 1872. He was a member of the Tom Hughes Boat Club. For a number of years he had conducted a livery stable in Bath.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Watkins Jefferson, of Bath.

Frederick W. Ingersoll '73

Frederick Whiton Ingersoll died suddenly in Bay City, Mich., on July 5.

Ingersoll entered the University in 1869, in the optional course and remained four years. He was engaged in the practice of law in Bay City, and had been for a number of years deputy county treasurer of Bay County, holding that office at the time of his death.

He was a brother of Mrs. Mary E. Bell of Ithaca, and an uncle of Miss Elizabeth Ingersoll, of the University Library.

John H. Skillicorn '84

Dr. John Henry Skillicorn was found dead on the floor of the library of his home in Albany on July 12, his death having been caused by the rupture of an artery leading to the heart.

He was born in Albany on December 25, 1862, and attended the Albany High School and the Albany Medical College, graduating from the latter institution in 1873. He came to Cornell in 1880, registering in the course in natural history, but remained only a year. He was a member of Delta Upsilon. He afterward practiced medicine in Albany for more than thirty years.

It is believed that Dr. Skillicorn had been dead for several days before his body was discovered; he was last seen alive on July 6, when he entered a confectionery store opposite his home and wrote a note stating that he had a sore throat and could not speak, and asking the proprietor to call a doctor.

He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Ida Skillicorn Davenport of Albany; his brother, William J. Skilliron, an Albany produce merchant, died about two years ago.

Louis W. Marcus '89

Louis William Marcus, Supreme Court Justice in the Eighth Judicial District, died at his home in Buffalo on August 18 after a long illness. An attack of pneumonia last spring had left him in poor health, from which he never fully recovered.

He was born in Buffalo on May 18, 1863, a son of Leopold and Amelia Marcus. After graduating from the Central High School and the Williams Academy, he entered the Cornell Law School in 1888, receiving the degree of LL. B. in 1889,

He was a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon.

In the same year he was admitted to the bar, and became a member of the firm of Swift, Weaver and Marcus of Buffalo, winning distinction as one of the keenest practitioners and most successful trial lawyers in Buffalo. Upon the withdrawal of Mr. Swift two years later, the firm became known as Weaver and Marcus, the two continuing in partnership until the death of Mr. Weaver in 1894. In 1895, although only thirty-two years old, he was elected surrogate of Erie County, by a majority of five thousand, being re-elected for a second term by an even larger majority. In 1905 he was appointed by Governor Higgins a justice of the Supreme Court of the State, to succeed Edward W. Hatch of Buffalo, resigned. Elected the following year, he had served on the bench continuously since that time, and was known as dean of Supreme Court justices in the Eighth Judicial District.

Mr. Marcus was a thirty-second degree Mason, and a member of the Shrine, the Buffalo Club and the Country Club. He was an accomplished pianist, organist, and cellist.

In 1889 he married Ray H. Dahlman, and since her death in 1917 he had made his home with his sister, Rosalind C. Marcus. Surviving him, in addition to his sister, are two brothers, Albert and Hiram C. Marcus. Two other brothers, Henry and Marvin, died some years ago.

Herbert B. Clearwater '91

Dr. Herbert Butler Clearwater died on May 5, 1916, at the home of his parents in Hackettstown, N. Y., after a long illness.

He was an optional student in the University from 1897 to 1899, being a member of Phi Delta Theta. Leaving in 1899, he entered the College of Dentistry, University of Pennsylvania, from which he was graduated in 1891. He opened an office in Seranton, Pa., later going abroad, and practicing in Kiev, Russia, for several years. During vacations he traveled over the different countries of Europe, becoming a skilled linguist; he was greatly interested in art, and was considered a fine water color artist.

Upon returning to America in 1904, he opened an office in New York, where he developed a large practice. A few years later, he contracted tuberculosis, but, although in poor health, continued his practice until the time of his death.

In 1906 he married Louise Persone of Munich, Germany, whom he had met while abroad. She survives him with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Clearwater.

Charles M. Russell '95

Charles Mills Russell died on August 11 at his home in Pelham Manor, N. Y., after a week's illness. Death was due to heart trouble following an attack of nervous prostration.

Mr. Russell was born in Glens Falls, N. Y., on December 11, 1872, and prepared at the Glens Falls High School, receiving the degree of B. Lit. at Cornell in 1895. Later he attended the Albany Law School, and was admitted to the bar in 1899. He was a member of Delta Phi, Sphinx Head, the Club, the Kwill Klub, and the History and Political Science Association, and served on the Junior Promenade Committee.

Before entering into the practice of law he was legislative correspondent for The New York Tribune from 1896 to 1898, and for The New York Sun in 1899. For a number of years he had been vice-president and counsel of E. Fougere and Company, imports, and the Metropolitan Hardware Company, of New York.

Russell was a member of the Masonic Fraternity, the New York State Bar Association, the New York County Lawyers' Association, the Montauk Club, the Hardware Club, the Machinery Club, and the New York Press Club. During the Semi-Centennial Endowment Campaign, he was head of the committee for the class of 1895.

On June 11, 1902, he married Ella Watson LaRoche of Brooklyn, who survives him with a son, William, and two daughters, Marian and Eleanor.

HELLER '88 SECRETARY

To succeed to the place left vacant by the death of Professor William W. Rowlee, Judge Harry L. Taylor, president of the class of '88, has appointed David N. Heller of Elmira secretary pro tem of the class. Mr. Heller is a lawyer in Elmira, where he has lived for many years.

layman's point of view. Kant regarded music as a bother to people. He classified it as the most abstract of the arts. So we have no theory of beauty in respect to sound; and I do not see how we ever shall have, until many persons who know the field of music and that of philosophic thought as well undertake to evolve one.

Take, in contrast to Kant, a man who knew music but not philosophy, like Wagner. He filled volumes with his speculations; but he did not get much of anywhere, largely because he had not familiarity with musical history. When he needed a theory he just made it. Wagner, I grant knew the philosophy of Schopenhauer, but that was about all.

I indicated that I have my doubts of the so-called study of musical appreciation. Of course, appreciation is itself a good word, but in college much has been done in its name merely to attract students and give them an easy course that counts for as much credit as a hard one.

At Cornell, I shall have to be content, I am aware, to start with a small group. I shall endeavor, however, to get the members of it to adopt a serious approach to music, in the hope that when they have shown what they can do, others will be drawn.—From The Christian Science Monitor of September 18, 1923.

ALUMNI NOTES

'82 AB—A tribute to Dr. Hermann M. Biggs, '82 whose death occurred on June 28, appears in the July number of American Medicine. It was written by S. Adolphus Knopf, M. D., of New York.

'95 Phd—Mrs. A. Ross Hill, the wife of Dr. A. Ross Hill '95, was elected treasurer of the American Association of University Women at its annual convention in Portland, Oregon, on July 20, with the privilege of maintaining a paid assistant treasurer in Washington, D. C. As chairman of the finance committee of the A. A. U. W., Mrs. Hill raised $30,000 to furnish and equip a clubhouse for university women in Washington, and later raised $50,000 for payment of equity in a clubhouse building which the university women purchased while Dr. and Mrs. Hill were living in Washington. This building was the former City Club near the White House.

'96 LLB—Harry M. Hart, principal of the Lewis and Clark High School, Spokane, spent the month of August traveling through the East and Middle-West.

'97 Phd—Professor Willard E. Hotchkiss has been appointed director of the Bureau of Industrial Education of the Institute of American Meat Packers to develop a plan for the technical education of men entering the packing industry.

'00 Phd—Professor William C. Bagley, of Teachers College, was scheduled as one of the speakers at the hundredth anniversary of the founding of Concord Academy, Concord, Vt., said to be the first normal school in America, on August 4.

'03 CE—N. Adelbert Brown has resigned as engineer of sewage and garbage disposal plants with the Department of Public Works of Rochester, N. Y., to accept a position with the C. O. Bartlett and Snow Company of Cleveland, makers of garbage plants. He will have charge of garbage and rubbish disposal plants for the new firm, beginning his work in Philadelphia. Brown was with the Engineering Department of the City of Rochester from 1907 to 1921, when he was transferred to the Department of Public Works, supervising the Durand-Eastman, Charlotte, and Brighton sewage disposal plants. He planned and was in charge of the main sewage plant at Durand-Eastman Park, and in 1920 had charge of the erection of the Charlotte plant. He had supervision for the city during the construction of the present garbage plant, erected by the Bartlett and Snow Company. In 1918 he left the city to become a lieutenant in the Sanitary Corps, and was in charge of sanitary work at Taliaferro Field, Texas, until 1919, when he returned to his former position with the city.

'04 AB, '05 AM, '00 Phd, '12 LLB—Arthur Gordon, the representative of the Todd Protectograph Company in Buenos Aires, was recently elected president of the American Club, which is the most important American institution in that city. The three former presidents of the club were the managers of Armour and Company, the Ford Motor Company, and the National City Bank, respectively. Gordon writes that the organization of the Cornell Club of Buenos Aires is under way, and that there are about sixty prospective members.

'05 ME—We have received the following note concerning the activities of Frederick W. Poate '05: "He went from China by way of Siberia to enlist in the British Army when the war first began; refused a commission in the Royal Engineers, because he could get into action more quickly by joining the Motor Machine Corps; served throughout the war, was two years in Flanders, and afterwards in Mesopotamia, was cited half a dozen times, and was decorated by King George, receiving the Military Cross for exceptional gallantry in directing a motor machine battery under fire, riding into action on the running board of a car, and making repairs under fire, etc., finally being discharged with the rank of captain. He invented a machine gun range finder and other appliances which were adopted by the British Army and used with great success. And since the war he has been back in China, where he recently quelled a riot, practically a rebellion, almost single-handed, after arresting and jailing its ring-leader quite single-handed." Poate is with Mackenzie and Company, located in Shanghai.

'06, '07 BArch—Robert H. Coit is with the Chicago Trust Company; he lives at 1226 North State Street, Chicago.

'06 ME—Frank E. Haskell has been admitted to the bar of the State of Massachusetts. Haskell taught mechanical and electrical engineering in Lehigh University for a year, was for four years an instructor in the Trade Institution of Rochester, and spent two years in the United States Patent Office in Washington, returning to his home in Holyoke upon the death of his father, to manage the Haskell Electric Company. He will continue as head of the company, and will also associate himself with local attorneys in handling patent cases.

'07 AB—A son, Robert Seem, was born on July 14 to Mr. and Mrs. Martin L. Wilson, of New York.

'07 ME—Walter S. Wing is with the Universal Portland Cement Company, 518 Frick Building, Pittsburgh.

'07-11 Grad—Charles H. Williams, director of extension work at the University of Missouri, has been elected secretary of the World Federation of Teachers, which held its first session at Oakland, California, early in July. Williams is a member of the committee on foreign relations of the National Education Associ-

Waterfalls, transformed into electricity, carry the trains of the C. M. & St. P. 650 miles over the Rockies.

And you know what coal costs!

Fifty-one G-E electric locomotives are now doing the same work which 130 coal and oil-burning engines used to do on the 650 mile electrified sections of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul.

Saving coal is important, but saving human energy is much more important. General Electric Company designs and produces the equipment by which electricity does both.

ation, and a delegate to the World Conference on Education.

'08 DVM—A daughter was born to Dr. and Mrs. Ray Van Orman of Baltimore on August 30 in Ithaca.

'10 AM, '19 PhD; '21 AM—Dorothy Lee Waugh '21, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Waugh, and Professor Carleton Chase Murdock '10 were married on August 28 in Chicago. They will make their home in Ithaca. Mrs. Murdock received her A. B. degree at Northwestern University in 1917; Murdock received the degree of B. S. at Colgate University in 1907, and came to Cornell in 1909. From 1909 to 1913, and from 1914 to 1919, he was an instructor in physics, becoming an assistant professor in 1919.

'11 AB, '12 BS—Captain and Mrs. Jay D. B. Lattin announce the birth of their daughter, Elizabeth Billings, on August 11.

'11—The marriage of Julia T. Driscoll daughter of Mrs. Mary Driscoll of Ithaca, and Walter C. O'Connell '11, wrestling coach and instructor in physical education in the University, took place in the Church of the Immaculate Conception on August 18. Three of the ushers were Lawrence M. Mintz '11, Henry A. Carey '12, and Ernst W. Kurz '17. Cass W. Whitney '13 sang a solo before the ceremony. Mrs. O'Connell is a graduate of St. Elizabeth's College, and has been a teacher of biology in the Ithaca High School for the past five years.

'11, '12 CE—Charles A. Howland has been appointed staff engineer of the Bureau of Municipal Research, Washington. For several years Howland was with the New York State Department of Health, where his work consisted principally of field studies of the sanitary engineering problems of cities. During the war he was overseas with the 102d Engineers, and for the past three years he has been with a firm of consulting engineers in Kansas City.

'12 LLB—James I. Clarke, formerly second vice-president of the National Bank of Commerce, New York, has lately become associated with Hitt, Farwell and Company, investment securities, 160 Broadway, New York.

'13 ME—George W. Tall is in charge of furnace sales for the Leeds and Northrup Company, electrical measuring instruments, 4901 Stenton Avenue, Philadelphia. He would like to hear from recent graduates who are desirous of training for selling electric furnaces.

'13 AB, '15 ME—Ralph Knapp, of Ardmore, Pa., managing director of the Near East Relief in Greece, was one of eleven workers of that organization decorated in July with the Cross of St. Xavier. The award was made in recognition of his services since the Smyrna disaster among the orphans and refugees in Greece, and was made by the King of Greece at ceremonies in the National Exposition Hall, Athens.

'13 AB—Malcolm C. Kneeland is with the United Engineering and Foundry Company, 6001 Butler Street, Pittsburgh. He lives at 321 North Murtland Avenue.

'13 ME—Clinton W. Brown is in charge of all machinery and equipment and plaster and paint manufacturing for the Certain-teed Products Corporation, with headquarters in the Pershing Square Building, 142 Forty-second Street, New York.

'13 AB—Donald C. Dougherty '13, publicity and organization counsellor, and his associates, Mildred O. Waugh and Harold J. Miskell, announce that they are now located at 721-22 Bulkley Building, Cleveland.

'13, '15 AB, AM—John Winans Roe has been appointed assistant professor of Spanish and French in the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, Ala. Professor Roe has taught in Syracuse University, spent sixteen months in France as an interpreter, and has also done some work in the University of Porto Rico.

'13 AB—The second of a series of stories about Elmira men, appearing in The Elmira Sunday Telegram, is a sketch of Leslie D. Clute. Clute has been selling Fords since his graduation, starting his own business in 1916 in the building that is now the Market Street Garage. The following year he erected a new building putting on an addition in 1920, and he now has a branch of his business in Horseheads. Do You Sing?

Things are beginning to hum in Ithaca. The Frosh are learning the songs and the Sophs are jogging their memories. Your Cornell Club meeting will be improved if you sing. The song-book with words and music costs $1.75 postage paid.

Cross Section Sample Book

It is pleasing to us that so many are interested in our cross section paper and even more gratifying that most of the inquiries develop into orders. No charge for the sample book. Are you interested?

Books on Agriculture

Book which are being read by the man of the city as well as the farmer. Get a book on the small garden flowers or vegetable gardening. Good winter reading. Know what is worth while in books.
