VOL. XXVI, No. 39

ITHACA, N. Y., JULY 1924

PRICE 12 CENTS

SUMMER School registration this year, not allowing for duplications, is 2,281. The final figure for last year was 1,894, and it is thought that this year's final count will considerably exceed that. Seventy-two are registered in the Summer Session in Law, 597 in Agriculture, and 1,612 in the general Summer Session.

A FIRE at the cleaning establishment of Holland Brothers on East Seneca Street on June 21 cost the life of one employee and did considerable damage to the plant.

A SEVERE wind storm struck Ithaca early in the morning of June 21, and another on June 28 blew down trees and wires, and severely damaged several residences in the city and surrounding country.

DEAN DEXTER S. KIMBALL has been appointed receiver for the Ithaca Traction Corporation and sole operating head of the line as the outcome a long struggle to put the company on its feet. In the course of the events which led up to his appointment the Ithaca Trust Company started action against the Corporation on a mortgage which it holds against the property, and Professor Robert F. Chamberlain '08 of the School of Electrical Engineering rendered a detailed report after a thorough inspection of the property, in which he advocated replacement of rolling stock and extensive repairs to the lines.

THREE CONVENTIONS met at the University simultaneously the last week-end in June. Two hundred delegates from every part of the country were entertained at a conference on home economics extension before going to Buffalo the next week for the annual meeting of the American Home Economics Association. At the same time more than a thousand youngsters arrived at the College of Agriculture for their annual field days. They were quartered in the dormitories and their program included a track meet and wiener roast as well as instruction by the junior project specialists of the College. The New York State Federation of Horticultural Societies and Floral Clubs also brought nearly a hundred delegates, including F. R. Pierson of Tarrytown, New York, originator of the Mrs. Calvin Coolidge Rose.

TWO ARMY OFFICERS, Second Lieutenants Theodore M. C. Osborne and Ralph A. Tudor, both of the Engineers' Corps have been assigned by the War Department to Cornell for study under the provisions of a new law enacted on June 7.

LECTURES for the first week of the Summer Session include the following: "The Real Nature of Danish Cooperation" and "The Next Step in American Cooperation" by Dr. Edwin G. Nourse of the Institute of Economics, Washington, D. C.; "Land Problems in Ireland" by Professor John T. Falconer, head of the Department of Farm Economics, Ohio State University; and "The Pittsburgh-Plus Plan; and the General Theory of Markets," by Professor Frank A. Fetter, Ph.M. '92, of Princeton.

THE SAGE CHAPEL Preacher for July 13 was the Rev. Dr. John A. MacIntosh, of the McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago, formerly minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Ithaca.

EARL E. ATKINSON, proprietor of the Atkinson Press, which has printed many of the Cornell publications, has bought the building at 106 East State Street now occupied by The Parisian, a women's furnishing store, and will move his shop to that location about September 1. The Parisian expects to go to the corner store now occupied by the Ithaca Savings Bank when the latter institution moves to its new building.

THE FAMILY of Herbert E. Banta '26, who died as the result of an automobile accident on University Avenue, have brought suit against the City of Ithaca for $25,000. The car in which Banta was riding on November 7 went over the embankment at the west side of University Avenue and he sustained a fractured spine, which caused his death after a long illness.

A POLICEWOMAN, Miss Alice E. Ellis, a graduate of the University of California, has been added to Ithaca's police force, after special training on the police force of New York.

THE CORNELL Summer School players opened their season on July 11, presenting in the Campus Theater "A Door Must be Either Open or Closed," by De Musset, translated from the French by Albert Graeser '21; "Riders to the Sea" by Synge; and a slapstick comedy of married life by George Easton. The plays were repeated on July 12.

DELTA UPSILON is holding an "Alumni House Party" at its house at 6 South Avenue for the Summer Session. The dining room is open and twenty-two alumni, some with their families, are there for the summer. Among other attractions is listed the first and only fraternity vegetable garden.

THE SEVENTH university degree to be awarded to five brothers of the Yellen family of Buffalo was awarded to Maurice Yellen, Cornell '22, when he graduated from Columbia Law School last month. Three of the seven degrees are from Cornell; the other two Cornellian Yellens are Max M. '18 and Irving '22. A sixth brother is a sophomore at Yale.

RUSSELL D. BLACK '16 has been appointed by the Ithaca planning and zoning commission to map out a general plan of improvement to carry out the provisions of the zoning law adopted last year. For six years Black has been engaged in city planning in Akron, Ohio, Ventura, Venice, and Palo Alto, California, and also with the United States Reclamation Service in building the model town of American Falls, Idaho.

A NEW BUILDING has been started just to the rear of Conservatory Hall off DeWitt Park to house the administration offices of the Ithaca Conservatory of Music. Plans call for a three-story building to cost approximately $50,000.

BAPTISM on July 13 in the chapel of the George Junior Republic of Julia Tucker Kirkland, daughter of Joseph B. Kirkland '18 and Eleanor M. George Kirkland '20, and granddaughter of "Daddy" George, founder of the Republic, was the closing ceremony of a three-day reunion of Republic alumni. Kirkland is the director of the Republic.

WALLACE HICKOCK, who has for the past thirteen years been physical director of the Ithaca Y. M. C. A., has announced his resignation on September 1 to accept a similar position at Hornell.

JOHN QUINE, who for two years has been vocal director at the Ithaca Conservatory of Music, has announced his resignation at the close of the school's summer session to return to concert work in New York, where he will also take a limited number of pupils.

DR. BENJAMIN IDE WHEELER, formerly of the Faculty and president emeritus of the University of California, was in Ithaca recently and addressed the local Rotary Club at its meeting on July 2.

THE CLINTON HOUSE, one of Ithaca's historic structures, dedicated by Governor William H. Seward of New York in 1831, and which for years ranked in all America next to the Astor House in New York, is receiving a new coat of paint, the first in twelve years. It is again to be yellow, with white pillars in front of the balcony where as late as the sixties Ithaca bands gave Sunday night concerts.

MAJOR EDWIN C. KELTON, of the Engineers' Corps, United States Army, who has been on duty in connection with the R. O. T. C. at Cornell, has been ordered to report to the Assistant Secretary of War for duty in his office at Washington.

Mann '04 Gets Important Post

Appointed by International Education Board to Start World Exchange in Europe

Dean Albert R. Mann '04 of the College of Agriculture has been chosen by the International Education Board to go to Europe to organize an international exchange for the promotion of agricultural science and education. He leaves late in August to be gone for two years, and has been granted leave of absence by the University Trustees for this period. His headquarters will be in either Rome or Paris.

The International Education Board is created to carry on internationally work similar to that of the General Education Board in this country. Its specific purpose is to advance the basic interests of the nations, severally and collectively, by means of interchange of experience and knowledge in two primary fields, general science—especially chemistry, physics, botany, zoology, mathematics, and related sciences—and agriculture.

In some countries there is great need that the leaders in science and agriculture shall be trained and experienced at institutions outside the borders of their own countries, but their institutions are without funds to make this possible. Europe is undergoing an extensive agricultural reconstruction, not to say revolution in some parts. Countries which have hitherto made meager provision for aid to agriculture by means of science and education are creating institutions for these purposes and are facing serious problems of qualified personnel and facilities. In other lands, with strong institutions and government services, and with high development of scientific work, activities are in progress which could be aided by a knowledge of the experience and methods of other governments, institutions, or scientists. In both these types of cases, the International Education Board is prepared, at the request of the governments concerned, either to finance the sending of the ablest of the educational leaders in these countries to such other lands or institutions as may seem to promise the greatest advantage, or to send into these countries educators or men of approved experience, whom they may desire to have come to them. The end sought is to strengthen the weak and to make the strong stronger.

While at the outset emphasis will be placed on the migration of selected personnel so as to bring about interchange of experience and contributions to facilities for important work, it is anticipated that it will lead naturally into larger undertakings.

Governments and the educational and scientific institutions and societies will be consulted as to how these purposes can be accomplished, with the aid of the resources of the International Education Board. A five-months' preliminary study by Dr. Wickliffe Rose, president of both the General Education Board and the International Education Board, who returned from Europe a few weeks ago, shows that the European governments and institutions are keenly interested and responsive.

Institutions in America are to share fully in this undertaking, on an equal basis. When a field of knowledge in America can be made stronger by a study of European experience, consideration will be given to arrangements for doing so. On the other hand, some of the abler men of Europe will be aided in coming to American institutions to study, when it is evident that the American experience will be of substantial benefit to them. Also, American institutions may apply for the privilege of bringing to their institutions scientists from abroad who can make outstanding contributions to the work here in progress. The International Education Board has not yet invited applications from American institutions, and the advance will issue from the Board itself, on the basis of careful study.

It is planned to organize the work first in Europe and America, and the International Education Board has chosen Dean Mann to undertake the European organization for the agricultural phase in cooperation with American institutions. During his two years in Europe he will establish contacts with all the governments and leading scientific institutions and societies in the several states of Europe, and will add to his staff in due course men to carry forward the work in Europe and to extend it to other parts of the world on his return. Dean Mann's family will spend the second year in Europe with him.

MORE ARTICLES IN CORNERSTONE

The list of articles placed in the cornerstone of the new Cornell Union which was published in the ALUMNI NEWS of June 19, 1924, has since been found to be incomplete. In addition to the articles then listed, the following were also placed in the cornerstone:

Copies of The Cornellian Council Bulletin containing articles on the Cornell Union and the Baker Laboratory of Chemistry; a copy of the 1901 Class Book containing a complete record of Willard Straight's activities at Cornell; a copy of the 1901 Cornellian of which Straight was one of the editors; copies of the Widow and Era published in 1900 and 1901, of which he was one of the editors; a copy of the booklet containing photographs and a description of the Baker Laboratory of Chemistry; a copy of the 1924 Cornellian which was dedicated to J. DuPratt White '90; a Class Day program of 1901 from Willard Straight's scrap book; registration card of Willard Straight when he first entered the University; a sketch by Straight of Morse-Stephens, made while Straight was in college; and a copy of the 1924 Senior Week Sun containing a photograph of the Union and the announcement of the plans for laying the cornerstone.

"Teefy" Celebrates Birthday

Dean Crane Eighty Years Old on July 12 — Still Hale and Hearty He Sees Little Change in Students

Dean Thomas F. Crane, whose life has been associated with Cornell unremittingly since the founding of the University, celebrated his eightieth birthday in Ithaca on July 12.

Professor Crane has aged gracefully under his long years of scholastic industry, and students who sat in his class-room in years past would find him still the same old "Teefy," for he is yet as young as ever in spirit. He walks to and from his office daily—a distance of half a mile. As proof of his remarkable virility, he stayed up away past his bed-time on the night of the All-Class reunion rally, and took the platform at midnight to deliver a spirited address which lasted forty minutes. He had previously spoken at two alumni gatherings on the same evening, but the rally would not have been complete without the "grand old man" of Cornell.

"Teefy" came to Cornell when the University was founded in 1868 as assistant professor of South European languages after having graduated from Princeton at the age of twenty in 1864. He became professor of Italian and Spanish in 1873, and Professor of Romance Languages and Literature in 1881. In 1909 he was retired from active duty on the Faculty and made professor emeritus. Since that time he has made his home in Ithaca and has spent his winters in Florida, whither he expects to return next winter.

Besides his instructing duties, Professor Crane has acted at various times in an official capacity for the University. He was dean of the College of Arts and Sciences from 1896 to 1902, and dean of the University faculty from 1902 until 1909. He has on two separate occasions served as acting President of the University—once in 1899, and again in 1912-13, during the temporary absence of President Jacob Gould Schurman.

He is a member of the Royal Academy of Sciences and Arts of Palermo, and of the American Philosophical Society and the Century Club, and has recently received notification from Helsingfors of his election as a foreign member to the Finnish Society of Letters.

Though Professor Crane has published a large number of works on Romance literature, he has never realized any appreciable income from them, he says. He expects to publish this summer a "Collection of Medieval Latin Stories," accompanied by a complete bibliography of all his publications since 1868. Since his retirement in 1909 he has written eleven separate volumes on folk-lore and Romance languages.

Though concerned chiefly with scholarly pursuits, Dean Crane has nevertheless observed much of the life of undergraduates, with whom he has always been a popular character. There has been little change in the type and temperament of students since the old days, he says, although the growth and ever-broadening influence of the University has undoubtedly worked its change. But study and scholarship—they haven't changed a whit.

Dean Crane was recently forced to vacate the Campus home which he had occupied since 1874, razed to give place to the University Union. With the house went another favorite tradition—the Crane boulder, which stood for years in the yard on Central Avenue. Legend has ascribed the presence of this large granitic boulder to various classes and individuals, but Professor Crane dispels all such fanciful tales by declaring that the rock was rolled into the yard at the instigation of University authorities when he and Mrs. Crane first occupied their home in 1874. He now lives at 115 Eddy Street.

ANOTHER PETTY GRAFTER

A person giving the name of A. J. Walters, and asserting that he is manager of the furniture department of Treman, King and Company of Ithaca, has recently appeared in Chicago and is reported as having borrowed a few dollars from Cornellians on the strength of his supposed acquaintance with Ithaca and Cornell.

Treman, King and Company have no furniture department, and no employee named A. J. Walters. The only Ithacan named Walters is colored. There is no Cornellian named A. J. Walters.

The borrowed money was not returned.

WITH BREEZE INN doing an excellent business on the State Road north of Ithaca along the Lake, another dance pavilion is being built south of the city on Five-Mile Drive near Buttermilk Falls.

SPORT STUFF

Mr. Walter Camp has been leading a plain spoken and effective crusade against current tendencies in the construction and reconstruction of golf courses. He points out that the mad desire to make every course long enough and difficult enough and grotesque enough to break Hagen's heart and keep Sarazen's niblick red hot is utter folly. He says that it gives additional pleasure and opportunity to not more than a very few members and that it's making the cost of golf prohibitive to a great many persons who ought to be playing the game.

The Ithaca Country Club gives a wholesome example of the other attitude. It was started nearly twenty-five years ago by men of wisdom who realized that to succeed in an academic community golf must be kept inexpensive. A small farm situated in the line of the city's development was purchased for $8,000. A course was laid out in a manner to make the most of the natural configuration of the ground. It was laid out—not built. A simple little club-house was erected. Gradually as time went on seven or eight acres would be sold off on the side toward town and with the money realized double the acreage would be purchased on the far side. This process was repeated more than once. As the course edged out little by little the club-house would be put on skids in the winter time and dragged to a new site. Each time it moved a new wing would be added to it. Frugality was practiced and the advocates of heavy bond issues were suppressed.

As a result of this policy the members of the Club have enjoyed good golf uninterruptedly for twenty-five years. A new eighteen holes will be open in the spring with no increase in dues. The course is beautiful, interesting, and adequate. Most of the hazards were placed there by the glacier and Divine Providence—few by wops. The Club's equity is something more than $75,000 in a place where $75,000 is a breath-taking figure and the annual dues for a family membership are $30. As a result almost everyone can and does play golf for the good of his soul and the happiness of the community.

'84 SETS RECORD

The forty-year reunion of the Class of '84 was best the Class has ever had, with forty present, nearly half of the living membership. This figure compares with three back for the five-year reunion, fifteen for the ten-year, twenty-two for the fifteenth anniversary, and twenty-eight for the thirtieth. It was made possible through an intensive mail campaign started nearly a year ago and carried on largely through the initiative of Dr. Henry P. de Forest, the secretary. Beside a Christmas card and a "Valentine" calling attention to the coming reunion, each member of the Class received a photograph of the Thurston house taken last March when it was entirely deserted, with the caption "Nobody Home." During reunion another picture was taken of the Class headquarters with every window and door and the porch filled with members of the Class. Ten members sent letters to all their classmates urging them to be back for the reunion, and they came.

The day before the reunion started Dr. de Forest and Elmer G. Storey made a special trip to Newark, New York, to get from Dr. Jared A. Reed '82 a photograph of the University Faculty as it was in '84's sophomore year, and a prize was given to the one who could identify the largest number in the group.

The Class enjoyed itself in the Thurston house, its reunion headquarters, and many friendships of more than forty years standing were renewed there. A motor bus took the members to the class dinner at the Ithaca Hotel on Saturday night and afterward to the rally in Bailey Hall. Seventy-eight members of the Class and their families and of the "Early Eighties" were at the dinner. The address of Dr. Farrand, who was literally, among his classmates, was greatly enjoyed. He attended the New York College of Physicians and Surgeons in 1890 with Dr. de Forest. Another distinguished guest was Archibald C. Weeks '72, member of the first Cornell crew and one of the authors of "Alma Mater" and other Cornell songs, copies of which he distributed among the diners. One member of each of the classes there was called on for a short talk.

The others present at the dinner were Herbert L. Aldrich and wife, Wilson M. Bering, C. Fred Boshart and wife, Charles A. Brewster and wife, William F. Cassidy, Charles F. Chisholm, Franklin A. Coles, Lewis H. Cowles and wife, George T. Curnow, Clarence B. Dann and son, George B. Davidson, Delbert H. Decker, Henry P. de Forest, George F. Ditmars, John H. Grotecloss, William V. Hamilton and wife, Samuel E. Hillger, Frank P. Ingalls with his three grandchildren, Charles S. Jones, Mrs. Lucretia Taber Kellogg, Mrs. Ida Cornell Kerr, Edward Maguire, Daniel W. Mead and son, Mrs. Everett Fleet Morse and her two sons Clarence F. Morse '14 and Everett Ralph Morse '15, Fred C. Olin, Henry J. Patten, Clarence I. Robinson and wife, Hudson P. Rose and wife and his niece, Mrs. Marcia Spurr Russell, Frank G. Scofield and wife, Herbert D. Sibley, Mrs. Emily Miller Stevenson and her husband George E. Stevenson '83, Elmer G. Story, Charles M. Thorp and his wife, Jessie Boulton Thorp '83, Lewis H. Tuthill, Charles J. Walch, Walter L. Webb, Oscar D. Weed, his wife and three children, Nelson A. Welles, wife and daughter, Horton D. Wright, James N. Wyckoff and wife.

'89 TO PRINT RECORD

The Class of '89 had just fifty bona-fide members in Ithaca for its thirty-five-year reunion out of a possible one hundred and ninety living. The Class recorded itself, however, as believing that this attendance can be increased somewhat for the fortieth, and made plans to work it up.

In addition to the events common to all classes, '89 was entertained at tea by Mr.

and Mrs. Charles E. Treman at their home on Saturday afternoon, and for its banquet that evening '89 filled the red dining room of Prudence Risley to overflowing.

The Class decided to issue a classbook this coming winter, and appointed Professor Henry N. Ogden its editor.

'94'S THIRTIETH A GOOD ONE

The thirtieth reunion of the Class of 1894 was certainly a success in itself, and made more so by two outstanding plans recently put into effect:

First, the Dix Plan which was particularly successful from out point of view.

Second, the fact that we were provided with comfortable quarters in Baker dormitory and practically all the men of the Class lived there. This was a great improvement over previous reunions where the Class was largely split up.

The fact that '95, '96, and '97 were also present gave many an opportunity of renewing friendships that had laid dormant for thirty years. While '94 had its own luncheon and smoker, yet the most successful event was the combined dinner of the Classes of '94, '95, '96, and '97 held Saturday evening at Prudence Risley Hall, and enlivened by the bagpipes of '95 and the balloons of '96. '94 being the seniors of thirty years ago had to maintain great dignity on this occasion, and '97 being the former freshmen were properly modest: even Louis Fuertes told his stories in a subdued and shrinking manner.

A quadruple introduction of Prexy by each class president was a new stunt apparently appreciated by all, including the recipient of the introductions.

The fact that this was the largest thirtieth reunion to date means satisfaction to '94, but nothing to later classes, who by sheer weight of number must exceed '94's record made in June.

The success of this reunion was made possible by the hard working executive committee assisted by regional members of the general committee living in various centers with definite districts assigned to them. As usual, however, the real work was done by our very efficient secretary, Elmer E. Bogart, and the Class in a small way recognized his efforts by presenting him with a handsome watch and chain at Saturday evening's dinner.

'95 GIVES A TEA

'95 had a good time. I think we had about fifty back with perhaps another forty of wives and children. A lot of us lived at Mrs. Rites's house on University Avenue and the rest in Baker Dormitory.

On the first evening we dined at the Johnny Parson Club and you old-timers ought to see the Johnny Parson Club. It is a beautiful building in a beautiful location and they served us a good dinner while the pipers that we brought from New York piped. It was a little hard to get the real stories from our modest classmates, but George Dyer said afterward there was material in that room for one of the most remarkable evenings of experience if we only could unbottle it. We had a bunch of experts there, all trying to chuck a bluff that they were as simple as twenty-nine years ago.

The dinner on the second evening was held with '94, '96, and '97, and we filled to overflowing that beautiful and impressive dining hall at Prudence Risley. President Farrand dropped in on us and gave a delightful and inspiring talk on the real value of reunions both to graduates and the University.

Of course each hour of the three days was filled to overflowing and I must not forget that '95 gave a tea. Think of it! Shades of Mike Casey and Zinck! '95 gave a pink tea in the Museum of Casts, to which we invited '94, '96, and '97, and they came and it was a delightful occasion. We had a chance to really visit with each other and we had excellent refreshments and good music. George Coleman supplied the music. Mrs. Andrews, Mrs. Kerr, and the other '95 Ithaca wives did the work and presided. To them is the credit for a great success. Then we had enough left over to give the Children's Home a little ice cream and cake party.

Now classmates, reunions are worth while and all you who didn't come missed a good time. Just get ready now for the next one.

ONE HIKER IS CORNELLIAN

Since the publication in our issue of June 5, 1924, of the story of the two New York girls, reputed to be Cornellians, who were hiking from New York to Oregon, we have received the following letter from Yellowstone Park from Miss Davis, one of the girls mentioned:

"On my arrival here I found no less than a dozen letters containing a clipping from the ALUMNI NEWS entitled 'Hikers Not Cornellians.'

"Naturally I felt most indignant, having spent four years at Cornell and getting my B.A. in 1919. However, I realize the error you made is due to the fact that while at Cornell I was registered as Rebecca Davis and now am often called by my middle name, Roberta.

"The newspaper clippings you refer to were mistaken concerning Miss Zeller-mayer's university—evidently an error of the reporter."

WALTER, infant son of Dr. and Mrs. Frank J. McCormick, died in the Ithaca hospital on July 5 of burns received several days before.

FIRE swept the old Cortland County Court House in Cortland on June 27, twelve hours after it had been superseded as a court house by a new $100,000 building. The old landmark, which had stood since 1836 was almost totally destroyed by flames of unknown origin.

CLUB ACTIVITIES

New York

At the spring meeting of the Board of Governors of the Cornell Club of New York, officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: president, R. Harold Shreve '02; vice-presidents, Robert H. Treman '78, E. N. Sanderson '87, J. DuPratt White '90, Charles H. Blair '97, S. Wiley Wakeman '99; secretary, J. Dugald White '11; treasurer, Alexander C. Clogher '04.

Delaware

Thirty-seven alumni went to the farm of Roscoe C. Tindall '09 at Toughkenamon, Pennsylvania, for the annual Spring Day of the Delaware Cornell Club. The event of the afternoon was a nine-inning baseball game between married men and single, which the husbands took by the score of 8 to 6, avenging the defeat they suffered last year.

Garrett A. Taylor '18 won the highest number of points in all events with a score of one hundred. Taylor, Walter S. Carpenter, Jr., '10, and Henry M. Taylor, Jr., '15 led the field in trapshooting. First place in obstacle golf was tied for by Robert P. Schoenijahn '06, Thomas L. Stirling '25, Alfred D. Warner, Jr., '00, and Garrett A. Taylor.

Cuba

Fourteen attended the annual banquet of the Cornell Association of Cuba held at the Paris Restaurant, Havana, on June 27. Roll call showed that one of these came from Arts, two from Electrical Engineering, five from Civil Engineering, and six from Mechanical Engineering. Their present occupations range from banking and life insurance to engineering.

A cablegram from President Farrand carried his greetings to the Club, and the following new verse to the "Song of the Classes," written by Tomlinson C. Ulbricht '08 was sung with gusto:

"O we are the old grads, who dream of the past.

The world we are fighting to conquer at last.

We are saving our money and working like Hell

To return for a visit to dear old Cornell."

President Ulbricht outlined plans being made by the University Club of Havana to have sections made up of graduates of all foreign colleges, and Carlos Todd, Columbia '13, urged Cornellians to join the University Club.

The Cornell Association reelected Ulbricht president for the ensuing year and the following other officers: vice-president Francisco Landa '06; secretary, William E. Skilton '24; treasurer, Manuel F. Galdo '11. Other Cornellians present at the dinner were Frank L. Getman '99, Malcolm A. Rice '99, Horacio A. Taveira '03, George T. Street '03, Norman C. Chambers '05, Lawrence E. Gowling '11, David S. Wegg '12, Robert S. Torrance '16, Vidal Ducasse '20, and Henry A. Roberts '23.

FACULTY NOTES

HOWARD B. ORTNER '18, basketball coach, and Mrs. Ortner narrowly escaped serious injury when their new Dodge sedan was completely demolished in a collision with another car on the road near LeRoy, New York, on June 21. The woman driving the other car attempted to pass between the Ortner car and a tractor. No one was seriously injured.

DEAN FRANCKE H. BOSWORTH and Mrs. Bosworth, accompanied by their two daughters, sailed on June 21 from Montreal for Europe. They expected to spend July in England and August in France, returning early in September.

PROFESSOR VLADIMIR KARAPETOFF is associated for the summer with the consulting engineer at the Schenectady plant of the General Electric Company.

PROFESSOR GEORGE C. EMBODY of the College of Agriculture received the honorary degree of Doctor of Science at the 1924 commencement of Colgate.

DR. JAMES EWING of the Medical College in New York has denounced as unreliable and deceiving newspaper reports that Dr. T. J. Glover of Toronto has discovered a cure for cancer.

SUMMER SESSION concerts will be given on July 18 by Clarence Whitehill, noted opera singer, and on August 8 by Sascha Jacobsen, violin virtuoso. Both concerts will be given in Bailey Hall.

A COMPLIMENT FOR CORNELL

CARRYING into international fields the sort of work now done in the United States by the General Education Board, the International Education Board has most effectively paid a compliment to Cornell in drafting for two years' service Albert R. Mann '04, Dean of the State College of Agriculture.

The selection of Dean Mann to head the pioneer work and to establish the Board on a permanent footing is no less noteworthy from the fact that the scope of the work includes, in addition to agriculture, general science, pure and applied.

It need hardly be said that in accepting the compliment both Dean Mann and the University are making sacrifices for the general good, but that the work of the College of Agriculture is so well organized that the hardship, if any, will fall on individuals rather than on the College. Otherwise the compliment would have been pointless.

AIRPLANE MAIL SERVES '12

The Class of 1912 is making use of the most up-to-date methods to make sure that its reunion in 1925 will reestablish the high record that the Class set two years ago. The first through airplane mail from New York to San Francisco carried the following letter from James I. Clarke at the eastern end of the route to Finis E. Yoakum at the western:

"I am sending you this letter by the first aeroplane mail from New York to San Francisco to jog your memory about the reunion of the Class of 1912 at Ithaca next June. I see by the ALUMNI NEWS that the Class of 1909 claims the world's high water mark with two hundred present at its reunion early this month. Of course, those seniors never did anything 1912 could not beat. So 1912 is going to beat that record just as surely as you live in California while I live in New York. At the same time to beat the record the Class of 1912 will have to draw on her enthusiastic members all over the world. We expect you to come.

"My suggestion is, order a 1925 calendar pad now. When it comes, tear out the sheets for June and throw them away. Make a note at the end of May to start for Ithaca. Then forget dates and put your trust in Providence and Fat Kellogg. "Our best regards to you and to Mrs. Yoakum.

"My final admonition is, when you pray, face the East and think of June, 1925. When you vote, vote the straight Republican ticket."

LITERARY REVIEW

A Progressive State

What La Follette's State is Doing: Some Battles Waged for More Freedom. By Chester C. Platt, Sp.'86, State Manager, Wisconsin Nonpartisan League. Batavia, N. Y. Times Press. 1924. 22.6 cm., pp. xii, 292. Price, $2.50.

The energetic author of this book will be remembered by older Cornellians as a druggist in Ithaca and later as editor successively of The Ithaca Democrat and The Batavia Times. For several years he has been living in Madison engaged in journalistic and political work.

It is a most interesting story that he tells of Wisconsin's leadership in many lines of effort, partly under the guidance of Senator La Follette. Wisconsin was the first State to establish part-time schools. It was the birthplace of both the Republican and the Progressive Party. It is a stronghold of the Nonpartisan League, and in 1920 elected a governor in sympathy with this body. The University of Wisconsin was a pioneer in organizing university extension; last year over 21,000 persons enrolled for this work (incidentally William H. Lighty '94 is secretary of the correspondence-study department). Wisconsin was the first State to ratify the woman suffrage amendment and the first to grant women full civil and property rights. Milwaukee is the largest of cities controlled by Socialists; beer no longer makes it famous, but it has the lowest death rate among the larger cities, and no slum or tenement district. Wisconsin is the foremost State in cooperative enterprises. It was the first State to adopt a State-wide primary law (1903). It has a live Women's Progressive Association. It was the first to have a practical income tax law. Finally, it is the home of Senator La Follette, whose progressive ideas it enthusiastically supports. Mr. La Follette is making trouble for the reactionaries and will probably make more. Mr. Platt may well be proud of the State of his adoption.

Josslyn

Josslyn. By Henry Justin Smith. Chicago. The Covici-McGee Co. 1924. 19.5 cm., pp. iv, 252.

A beautifully written story about an incorrigible idealist and dreamer, of essentially noble character, who becomes a newspaper man. There is doubtless some autobiography in the story; Mr. Smith has been connected with The Chicago Daily News. It is the work of a poet, and often suggests the atmosphere of poetry. The plot, though of secondary interest, is well worked out. It abounds in vivid pictures of the seething life of a great Western metropolis. It is a good story, which we heartily recommend.

Books and Magazine Articles

In The Sibley Journal of Engineering for June Professor Heinrich Ries writes on "The Testing of Molding Sands." Myron E. Steczynskis '22 discusses "Requirements of a System of Limits." Professor Frank E. Rice, Ph.D. '13, describes "Problems in the Manufacture of Food Products." William E. Mordoff '13 describes the "Introductory Engineering Laboratory." Professor Earle H. Kennard, Ph.D., '13, of the Department of Physics, reviews Professor Ehrenfest's Lecture on the Theory of Probabilities.

The frontispiece of The Dartmouth Alumni Magazine for June is a reproduction of the painting of the late Dr. Ernest Fox Nichols '93 by Joseph De Camp, and there is an obituary by Professor Gordon Ferrie Hull.

An important paper on "European Tariff Policies Since the War" by Henry Chalmers '14, chief of the Division of Foreign Tariffs of the U. S. Department of Commerce, has been published as a supplement to Commerce Reports for May 12. It makes a pamphlet of eighteen pages.

Professor Jacob G. Lipman, A.M. '00, Ph.D. '03, of Rutgers, collaborates with A. W. Blair in an article on "The Utilization of Nitrogen in Soils and Fertilizers as Affected by Lime" in the April Journal of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry.

The Rotarian for July includes the president's annual address by Guy Gundaquer '96, delivered at the Toronto Convention on June 17.

In Science for June 20 Dr. David Starr Jordan '72 writes a note on "The Bones of Rafinesque." In the issue for June 27 appears Dr. Jordan's address on "Science and Sciosophy" delivered by him as president before the Pacific Division of the American Association for the Advancement of Science at Stanford on June 26. Professor Vladimir Karapetoff prints his skit on "Universities and the Circus."

OBITUARY

Frank D. Lyon '79

Frank D. Lyon, superintendent of streets in the city of Binghamton and prominent in highway work throughout New York State, died suddenly on the night of July 4, following an attack of acute indigestion.

He was born in Oxford, N. Y., on March 7, 1855, and obtained his early education there. In 1875 he entered Cornell as a student of engineering and remained for one year. He was a member of Chi Phi.

On September 1, 1880, he married Florence L. Lyon and they had two children, one of whom is Walter J. Lyon, managing editor of the The Morning Sun of Binghamton.

In his native State he was called the "Father of Good Roads" because of his efforts in getting on the statute books two measures pertaining to improved highways. He served at one time in the State Engineer's office and later was a deputy highway commissioner.

Mr. Lyon helped to organize the first military company Binghamton ever had and later became an officer in the Twentieth Separate Company, now known as Company H. He was also a member of the Rifle Team, which won many trophies and championships. Besides these activities he was interested in fraternal affairs and rose to be a thirty-second degree Mason.

George P. Knox '92

Dr. George Platt Knox, professor of Christian education at Denison University, Granville, Ohio, and dean of Granville College for Men, died on April 11, following an illness of less than a week, as the result of an acute attack of angina pectoris.

He was born at Ballston Springs, N. Y., on February 26, 1871, and secured his early education there. In 1888 he entered Cornell and remained for two years. In 1892 he returned and in 1894 was given the degree of B.S. He also spent the years 1894-5 and 1897-8 in graduate work here.

In his undergraduate days he was member of the Christian Association, Congress, the Baptist Circle, and the Glee Club. He was also active in military affairs and rose to be major of the Cadet Corps.

He had nearly completed two years at Denison when he died. This work followed a long period spent in St. Louis Mo., where he administered thirty-three schools and also was director of religious education for the International Sunday School Association. He was a member of Center Star Lodge, F. and A. M., and of Phi Gamma Delta.

Besides his wife, Mrs. Emma Brown Knox, he is survived by one son, George William Knox, and a brother, Frank Knox of Albany, N. Y.

Edward J. Collins '98

Edward J. Collins, United States Commissioner for the district in which Newburgh, N. Y., is located, died at his home in that city on June 9 after a brief illness of pneumonia.

He was born January 4, 1876, at Port Jervis, N. Y., the son of Timothy and Mary Reardon Collins. He attended the public schools in that city and graduated from the High School in 1893 with honors. The next year he was a New York newspaper correspondent and then in 1896 he entered Cornell. He was a member of Phi Delta Phi and Theta Nu Epsilon.

Soon after graduation he returned to Newburgh and in 1900 was admitted to the bar. He became associated with Justice A. H. F. Seeger and remained with him until 1909, when he opened his own offices. He was interested in civic, fraternal and social affairs and served one term as president of the City Council of Newburgh. He was member of the Powelton Club, the City Club, Newburgh Council Knights of Columbus, and Newburgh Lodge B. P. O. Elks, which he served at one time as Exalted Ruler.

He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. John MacDonald of Jamaica, N. Y. and Mrs. Herbert W. Beyea of Flushing, N. Y., besides three brothers, Frank Collins of Utica, N. Y., William Collins of Brooklyn, and John T. Collins, director general of the government railroads in San Domingo.

Dr. Harry P. Greene '07

Dr. Harry Paul Greene, one of the best known surgeons in Vermont, died on June 1 of tuberculosis.

He was born in Brattleboro, Vt., on June 10, 1883, the son of Louis Darwin and Annie Spencer Greene. After getting his early education there, he came to Cornell in 1903 and remained for two years. Later he went to University of Vermont, from which he graduated as a physician and surgeon in 1917.

He was a member of the Windham County Medical Society, the Vermont State Medical Society, and the American Medical Association.

Edward E. Gentile '20

Word has just been received of the death on September 17, 1921, in Brooklyn, of Edward Eugene Gentile.

He was born on July 31, 1897 in New York, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Gentile. After graduating from the Boys' High School he entered Cornell in 1916 as a student of civil engineering, remaining one year.

THE PROGRESS of the Union has been delayed somewhat by a large amount of unexpected blasting found necessary for the theater floor. Practically all of this level had to be cut out of solid rock, but it is expected that the structure will be roofed by Christmas. The contract calls for its completion next summer.

ALUMNI NOTES

'75 AB—At the last commencement of Williams College, Judge Frank H. Hiscock of Syracuse, N. Y., was awarded the honorary degree of LL.D.

'89 BL—Charles E. Treman was named president of the New York State Bankers' Association at their annual convention held in Montreal in June. Mr. Treman is president of the Ithaca Trust Company and vice-president of Treman, King and Company.

The whole world in your hands

General Electric motors enable one great mill to produce paper enough in a day to cover a 13-foot road from New York to Chicago. Other G-E motors run the huge presses which can print as many as 300,000 newspapers an hour.

So, served by electricity, you breakfast like a king—an electric percolator and an electric toaster on your table, and the world's news in your hands!

Rivers that now furnish power for great mills once ran wastefully away. Not in the United States alone, but all over the world, equipment made by the General Electric Company is transforming idle rivers into hard-working servants.

the scientific control of quality rather than on the old rule-of-thumb method of governing output. He entered the employ of the company in the laboratory of its Oakfield, N. Y., plant. He later began his executive training as assistant superintendent and subsequently had charge of the plant at Blue Rapids, Kansas. Already he has started investigations looking toward the further improvement of the product of the Genoa plant and has developed excellent laboratory equipment with an extensive organization."

'16 AB—Miss Florence E. Wilbur recently directed the presentation of "Fashions for Men," staged in Santa Barbara, Calif., by the drama extension department of the Community Arts Association there, with which she is associated.

'16 BS—Frank G. Corrigan is with the Keystone Lime Company of Williamsport, Maryland.

'17 CE—Professor and Mrs. Milton H. Turk of Geneva, N. Y., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Esther Cornwall, to Harry H. Hemmings of Brooklyn. His address there is 639 East Third Street.

'17 AB—Mr. and Mrs. Byron J. Hopkins have announced the marriage of their daughter, Isabel Hopkins '18, to Stuart R. Allen of New York. The ceremony took place in Philadelphia on June 14 and the couple sailed for Europe on June 17. They will reside abroad for some time and can be reached in care of the Bankers Trust Company, 3 and 5 Place Vendome, Paris. Mrs. Allen had been an instructor in Spanish and Italian in the high school at Atlantic City for the past three years.

'17 CE—Ernst W. Kurz is now in Dayton, Ohio, where his address is 314 Bellevue Avenue.

'18, '20 BS—A daughter was born on June 22 to Peter A. and Mrs. Mattli of Ithaca. They reside at 117 Thurston Avenue.

'18 AB—Joseph A. Becker is credited in recent dispatches from Los Angeles, Calif., with the discovery of a new law of radiant energy. His experiments are claimed to have confirmed the theory that radiant energy, or light waves, does not travel in continuous streams, but that it goes along in minute bundles of energy called quanta, and that when these quanta strike matter, they behave much the same as a tiny chunk of matter.

'18, '19 AB—Clifford S. Bailey is with Newson and Company at 73 Fifth Avenue, New York.

'18 LLB—Mr. and Mrs. J. Arthur Jennings of 30 Strathallan Park, Rochester, N. Y., announce the arrival of a son, Edward James Jennings, 2d, on May 21 last. Jennings is vice-president of the Cornell Club of Rochester, where he is a practicing attorney.

'18 AB—Irene M. Gibson is now located at Holley, N. Y. On June 10 she was '18 LLB—Benjamin Schwartz, former research executive of the Associated Jewish Charities of Baltimore, Md., has resigned from that organization to enter the practice of law. He went to Baltimore three years ago to aid in the reorganization of nineteen charities which compose the Central Charities. He is also editor of The Jewish Times, a weekly periodical of Baltimore and Washington which is printed in English.

'19 BS—Carrie M. Luce was married on July 2 at her home in Ithaca to W. Merle Webster of Warsaw, N. Y. The ceremony was performed by her father. Until recently the bride had been dietitian in the Highland Hospital at Rochester, N. Y. They will reside at Warsaw.

'19—Harry G. Wardenburg was married on June 7 in St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Brooklyn, to Miss Phyllis R. Renz, daughter of Mrs. W. R. Barney of 134 Remsen Street in that city. The bride is a graduate of St. Francis Xavier.

'20 BS; '21 BS—John Witkop of Buffalo, N. Y., was married on June 28 in Sage Chapel to Irene Augusta Zapf '21, daughter of Mrs. Huldena Zapf of Ithaca. After a wedding supper at the Ithaca Hotel, the couple left on a wedding trip which will end at their new home at 269 Parker Avenue, Buffalo. For the past three years, Mrs. Witkop had been in charge of home making work at the Cory, Pa., High School. Her husband is with the Witkop and Holmes Grocery Company in Buffalo.

'20—On March 1 last, Alice H. Neal resigned as secretary to Dean Walk of Teachers College, Temple University, and on September 1 will become secretary to Harry A. Cochran, director of the School of Commerce at Temple University. She will also be an instructor in shorthand. Her address is 1936 North Eighteenth Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

'20—James A. Carberry is in the erection department of the Bethlehem Steel Company at Cornwall, Pa.

'20 BS—H. Evelyn Hendrix recently established what is claimed to have been a new precedent when she conducted a free cooking school in a department store in Newburgh, N. Y. The school lasted for a week, during which she demonstrated approved methods of scientific cooking, employing twenty-three tested recipes, and also lectured upon food preparation to many visitors. She is supervisor of the domestic science department of the grade schools in Newburgh.

'20 AB—Anna M. Leonhardt is spending this month at the University of Rochester. Her home address is 103 Church Street, Alexandria, Bay, N. Y.

Mastering the Mulligatawny

Simeon J. Apthorpe, President of the Atlas Tweezer Company, had the heaviest mustache between South Lyme, Conn., and Perth Amboy, N. J.

He remained a bachelor until he was forty-two years of age. Then he married a lady of good family, and in the excitement following the wedding forgot to include his mustache-cup among the articles that were to serve him on the way to Niagara Falls.

Deprived of the utensil that had become a necessary part of his equipment, President Apthorpe's efforts to eat and drink might have brought disaster upon him if the bride had not come to his rescue.

This occurred upon the occasion of their second visit to the dining car. Mulligatawny soup was served, and President Apthorpe's attempts to find terminal facilities for his share of it were going badly when his wife, actuated by a happy thought, handed him a bunch of hairpins.

Thus the situation was saved.

COLGATE'S RAPID-SHAVE CREAM

softens the beard at the base—where the razor's work is done

It makes shaving so easy that the mustache-cup has become a mere "hairloom," and whiskers have almost disappeared from the face of man.

Lather with Colgate's for shaving comfort. It makes even the toughest beard yield softly to the razor, and it leaves the face soothed and velvety.

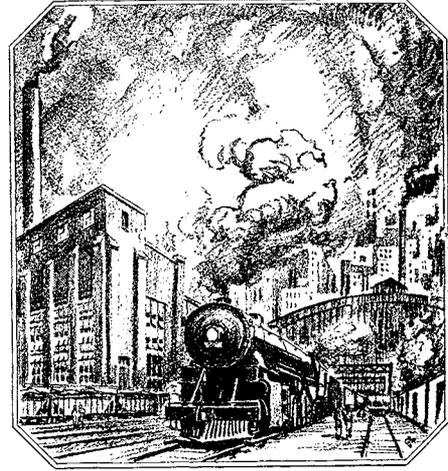

If you would like a free trial tube containing cream enough for 12 easier shaves than you have ever had, please fill out and mail the attached coupon.

COLGATE & CO., Dept. 212, 199 Fulton St., New York:
Please send me the free trial tube of Colgate's Rapid-Shave Cream.
