WHISKIES OF CHARACTER

THE FINER THE OAK, THE FINER THE BARREL and the finer the whiskey character

In the Ozark Mountains there stretches a special tract of highly-prized white oaks . . . trees taller, broader, far older than their neighbors. Trees more fully seasoned by Mother Nature and Father Time . . . and therefore drier, and possessing the ideal quality and quantity of resins and gums that are so friendly to whiskeys slowly aging in the wood. It is from these towering oaks that the barrels for Schenley's delicious Mark of Merit whiskeys are fashioned. And so . . . when you taste that delicate barrel-seasoned richness which distinguishes Schenley whiskeys, you can thank the giant Ozark oaks for the generous part they have played.

CLASS REUNIONS APPROACH RECORD

Largest Alumni Gathering Since Semi-Centennial

Sons and daughters of Cornell came back to Ithaca Friday and Saturday for class reunions in greater numbers than at any time except the semi-centennial celebration in 1919. The official registration in the Drill Hall was 2,102, of whom 1,469 were men and 633 were women. Everywhere about the Campus their colorful reunion costumes were in evidence as they attended the continuous program of events in the two days, or visited singly and in groups the points of interest and Faculty friends.

The Class of '26 established an all-time high record for a ten-year class, with a total of 185, four more than the Class of '14 brought back in 1924 when they had 145 men and 36 women. Likewise the Class of '16 surpassed all previous records for a twenty-year class, bettering the mark of 146 established by the Class of '10 in 1930. Especially noteworthy also is the fact that all but four of the sixty-seven classes that have left the University were represented, and that many had goodly representations of their members, to renew acquaintances, make new friends, and enjoy together a perfect June week end on the Campus.

First Class Survivor Here

Prominent among the celebrating alumni was John A. Rea '69, the sole surviving member of the first class to be graduated from the University. Although eighty-eight on June 18, he is hale and hearty, and had traveled alone from his home in Tacoma, Wash., stopping enroute in Topeka, Kans. to visit and be photographed with Governor Landon and his four-year-old daughter, Nancy, who is Rea's special friend by correspondence; and in Cleveland, Ohio, during the Republican convention. Rea was greeted on every side by alumni of all classes, and from Ithaca sent back daily despatches to the Tacoma newspapers, which they had requested before he left. He recalled his first arrival at Ithaca by boat in July, 1868, and said he remembered seeing from the Lake the one building of the new University which he had read about as a junior in Ohio Wesleyan University and determined to attend, attracted by President Andrew D. White's description of its aims and purposes. Rea's last previous visit to Ithaca was at reunion time in 1929, when he was accompanied by his classmate, Charles F. Hendryx, who has since died.

Only a year younger is Royal Taft '71, who came from his home in Dunmore,

Pa. to share honors with Rea as the oldest returning alumni. Those who traveled the greatest distance were probably H. Harvey Hitchcock '21 and Mrs. Hitchcock, from Honolulu. Arturo Rodriguez '91 was here from San Juan, Porto Rico, and the Chinese Ambassador, Sao-Ke Alfred Sze '01, celebrated with his Class its thirty-five-year reunion.

All Keep Busy

Alumni began to arrive Friday morning, to be assigned to rooms, most of the men in the dormitories and the women in Sage and Prudence Risley, and by time for the noon lunch in the Drill Hall the vari-colored reunion costumes were much in evidence, their number and variety steadily increasing.

During luncheon Senior members of the ROTC band, directed by George L. Coleman '95, vied with a hired band of one of the classes, with the drummer of another, and with several horns, loud-speakers, Class songs, yells, and the steady hum of greeting and conversation. After a general parade of the Drill Hall, the crowd dispersed to the baseball game at Hoy Field and to the annual meeting and reception of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs in Willard Straight Hall. Several classes held dinners on the Hill and downtown that evening, and many alumni attended the Senior singing at sundown and the Musical Clubs show in Bailey Hall which followed. Others went to the Dramatic Club performance and still others repaired to class headquarters to discuss their own student days, the size of their families, jobs, and the world in general.

A series of breakfasts Saturday morning attracted the women to Willard Straight Memorial Room, Civil Engineers to Sibley, and Architects to White Hall, followed by the annual meetings of the Cornellian Council and the Association of Class Secretaries.

At 10:30 Baker Laboratory auditorium was packed to the walls with alumni gathered for the meeting of the Cornell Alumni Corporation, to hear the report of the election of Alumni Trustees and President Farrand's annual statement to alumni concerning the year at the University. C. Reeve Vanneman '03, president of the Corporation, presided, and spoke briefly of three of the successful activities which it has sponsored: Cornell Day, the Alumni Institute, and the coming convention in Baltimore, Md. November 27 and 28.

Treman and Burritt Trustees

Edward D. Bryde '04, chairman of the committee of alumni who canvassed the vote for Alumni Trustees, reported that of the 12,506 valid votes cast, Robert E. Treman '09 had received 9,727, and Maurice C. Burritt '08, 6,941. Both were thus re-elected to the Board, the total vote being the largest on record. The other candidates were Charles M. Chuckrow '11 and Dr. Preston A. Wade '22. Treman thus begins this year his second five-year term as an Alumni Trustee, and Burritt continues service begun in 1934, when he was elected by alumni to fill the unexpired term of Frank E. Gannett '98 who had been elected a member by the Board itself. Reports of the two on completion of their previous terms were distributed at the meeting and will be published in a forthcoming ALUMNI NEWS.

President Farrand was given a real ovation as he rose to give his customary report on the University's year. In his characteristically vigorous and pungent manner, he touched upon the financial problems and how they are being successfully met, upon the physical condition of the plant, upon changes and developments in the Faculty, and upon undergraduate registration and morale, paying special tribute to assistance rendered by alumni in connection with Cornell Day and through the Alumni Fund. An extended report of his talk will be printed as part of a general symposium of the year in the ALUMNI NEWS for July.

Following the Alumni Corporation meeting, alumni, Faculty members and their wives, and Seniors and their guests gathered again at the Drill Hall for luncheon and a general visit, with parades of the classes, music from the bands, and general hilarity and good fellowship.

A new feature of reunions this year was Saturday afternoon's rowing pageant on the Inlet, to which a parade of cars led by the sound truck of Arthur C. Stallman '29, broadcasting Cornell songs, made its way through town to the boathouse. Thousands of spectators gathered on the west shore to see the Varsity, Junior, Varsity, and Freshman crews engage in a quarter-mile brush and several boatloads of former oarsmen take the water again, some after many years. As each shell left the boathouse float the stentorian voice of Professor Charles L. Durham '99, crew adviser, announced the boatings on the loudspeaker, and 'tis said that folks on the Trumansburg Road far up West Hill stopped their cars to listen. Both the spectators and the oarsmen of all ages and conditions enjoyed the perfect June afternoon to the utmost, and not one lame back from even the oldest of the latter was reported next day.

The veteran crew of the afternoon was a four-oared shell manned by Edgar D. Sebring '03, bow; Professor Asa C. King '99, Farm Practice, 2; Stuart Hazlewood '03, 3; and William C. Shepard '03, 4; with Chalmer R. Heggem '04 as coxswain. Sebring and Hazlewood were members of the 1901 Varsity crew which set a record at Poughkeepsie of 18 min. 53 1/2 seconds, not to be equalled for twenty-seven years.

Five of the men rowed together again on Saturday who had been members of the Freshman crew of '06 which in 1903 rowed the two miles at Poughkeepsie in 9.18, never since equalled by another college and beaten only once, in 1909, by the 1912 Cornell Freshmen in 9.07 3/4. At their former positions were Dr. W. Forrest Lee, bow; Carlton P. Johnson, 3; William H. Forbes, 7; and Edward T. Foote, stroke and former captain; with Charles F. Landmesser calling the stroke through a megaphone strapped over his bald head. The other oars in this boat were pulled by George Lawson '06, at 2; Franklyn D. Hooper '07, 4; George W. Foote '05, 5; and Bernhard E. Fernow '04, 6.

Other combinations boated on Saturday were:

Bow, William F. Ireland '31; 2, Herman Steutzer, Jr. '31; 3, Howard D. Hadley '11; 4, Marcel K. Sessler '13; 5, Armand L. Adams '31; 6, E. Jerome O'Connor '12; 7, Frederick E. Schmitt '31; stroke, Ernest F. Bowen '12; coxswain, David W. Magowan '12.

Bow, George C. Crabtree '16; 2, Royal G. Bird '16; 3, Professor Karl H. Fernow '16, Plant Pathology; 4, Murray N. Shelton '16; 5, George H. Rockwell '13; 6, Albert A. Cushing '17; 7, Russell Welles '16; stroke, Louis A. Zimm '16; coxswain, William H. Jenkins, III '38.

Bow, Hiram B. Young '21; 2, Albert Kurdt '26; 3, Henry J. Benisch '20; 4, Thomas P. Doremus '21; 5, Stuart W. Cooper '21; 6, Allen K. Strong '24; 7, Harris E. Wilder '21; stroke, Richard D. Bullard '27; coxswain, Bruce J. Nicholson '24.

Bow, Sharpe '31; 2, Gustave G. Dammin '34; 3, Stephen H. Tolins '34; 4, Norman G. Staggs '26; 5, James E. Frazer '26; 6, Julian M. Wright '34; 7, Thomas C. Borland '35; stroke, William M. Vanneman '31; coxswain, Richard Aronson '26.

Class dinners Saturday evening were held in every available place on the Campus and downtown, and afterward everyone who could get in gathered at Bailey Hall for the reunion rally. Edward Holmes '05 presided and led them in Cornell songs. Representatives of the older classes were recognized, including Rea, Taft, and John N. Ostrom '75, "the father of Cornell rowing." The Class of '86, celebrating its fifty-year reunion with thirty-four percent of its living membership present, had seats of honor at the back of the stage.

George H. Rockwell '13, president of the Association of Class Secretaries, presented the Association's cups: to '69 for the second time, in the person of Rea, for having the largest percentage of living members back; and to the Class of '26, by Frances P. Eagan and Walter W. Buckley, for having the largest number of women and men; with honorable mention to the Class of '16.

Following songs by the Savage Club quartette, of Allan H. Treman '21, C. Wesley Thomas '25, Truman K. Powers

ROBERT E. TREMAN '09

MAURICE C. BURRITT '08

'30, and William B. Corcoran '23, who sang as an encore the ever-popular "Horses," Holmes introduced successively James Lynah '05, Carl G. Snively, head coach of football, and the veteran coach of track, John F. Moakley, each of whom spoke briefly.

President Farrand, after a humorous introduction, by Holmes as a fisherman and by Professor Durham as an educator, psychologist, anthropologist, and ethnologist, welcomed the alumni and congratulated them on the fact that "Cornell ain't what she used to be," which he said he had heard sung by one Class outside. The President remarked that although the spirit of the rally was in the main devoted to athletics and that the University is interested in athletic vigor as an important part of sound manhood and womanhood, its main concern is in cultivating intellectual vigor. He thanked the alumni again for the help they are rendering to enable Cornell to improve the quality of its student body.

By noon on Sunday, most of the crush of cars about the dormitories had cleared itself, reunion uniforms were scarcely to be seen about the Campus, and many alumni were on their way home, with the families and friends of Seniors arriving to take their places for the final gatherings of the Class on Sunday and Monday.

DELAWARE SAILORS

The good ship Content will cast off from Schaefer's Wharf in Chesapeake City, Del. at 2:30 p.m. daylight saving time, June 27, carrying the Cornell Club of Delaware on its annual cruise down Chesapeake Bay. Spencer Brownell, Jr. '24, 1508 Pennsylvania Avenue, Wilmington, is taking reservations, and Franklin Taylor '24, at Laird, Bissell & Meeds in Wilmington is in charge of transportation to the dock.

PLAN "C" MEETING IN FALL

Fifty wearers of the "C" gathered in the Drill Hall Friday during reunions to discuss the further organization and activities of the Varsity "C" Association formed last October at the instance of the Cornell Alumni Corporation. With Creed W. Fulton '09 presiding, it was decided to hold a meeting and celebration in Ithaca next fall on the occasion of a football game, to perfect the organization and work out its program. All wearers of the "C" and managers of Varsity teams will be invited, the date to be announced later. Among the suggestions made at Friday's meeting were that the "C" Association should take active part in the Cornell Day program of bringing boys from secondary schools to the Campus, and that it should be organized regionally, with periodical meetings of its members in each locality.

THE INTERCOLLEGIATES

At the intercollegiate games on Saturday I sat beside Col. Edward Davis, USA. Colonel Davis was manager of the Cornell baseball team in the middle 90's, but he got into the Army about the time of the Spanish war and stayed there. Consequently he hasn't been around much. He hadn't seen the "intercollegiates" in thirty years and he got quite a thrill, he said, in watching Cornell win them again after a lapse of seventeen years.

While neither of us referred to the incident, I knew that Colonel Davis once had another thrill, and I thought of it as I saw his jaw set and the back of his neck get red at the finish of the two-mile race.

He was the American officer attached to the British staff in the Palestine campaign that ended in the capture of Jerusalem. As such he walked on General Allenby's left when the troops marched up the hill and through the gates of the Holy City.

Men who knew their manners never ride a horse through the gates when they capture Jerusalem. They get off and walk in; because it's Jerusalem. That's always been the custom among Christians and Moslems alike since the Crusades. Colonel Davis is one of a handful of men who in a thousand years has had the sensation of walking into Jerusalem at the head of a column. I imagine when he did it his jaw set and the back of his neck got red just as they did at the finish of the two-mile race in Philadelphia.—R. B. '04 in "State and Tioga," Ithaca Journal.

NEW YORK CRUISE TO RACES

The Cornell Club of New York has chartered the SS Rensselaer of the Hudson River Day Line for the Poughkeepsie regatta June 22. She will anchor at the finish and stroke-by-stroke accounts of the races will be broadcast on deck. Luncheon and dinner will be served on board.

The boat will leave Pier 52, North River, at the foot of West Fourteenth Street, New York City, at 10 a.m. daylight saving time on race day, and stop at Recreation Pier in Yonkers at 11, making return stops at both places. Accommodations are limited to five hundred. Tickets at $5 each are available at the Cornell Club of New York.

CHICAGO TO HEAR REGATTA

The Cornell Club of Chicago, at the invitation of the Columbia Alumni Club, will join with alumni of California, Navy, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, and Washington to listen to radio reports of the Poughkeepsie regatta June 22. Refreshments and a buffet supper will be available, in Parlor B of the University Club. The races will be run at 5, 6, and 7,

FORMER OARSMEN ROW AGAIN BEFORE CROWDS OF ALUMNI AT THE INLET

In the four-oared shell the bow and No. 3 oarsmen, Edgar D. Sebring '03 and Stuart Hazlewood '03, rowed in the Varsity boat which in 1903 set a record at Poughkeepsie of 18.53 1/2 that was not to be beaten for twenty-seven years. The coxswain here is Chalmer R. Heggem '04; stroke, William C. Shepard '03; No. 2, Professor Asa C. King '99. Of the stalwart oarsmen ready to launch their shell to their own delight and that of the crowd on the west shore opposite, the bow, No. 3, No. 7, the stroke, and the coxswain were in the '06 Freshman boat which in 1903 first brought to Cornell the record for the two-mile Poughkeepsie course which she still holds. The boating here is: bow, Dr. W. Forrest Lee '06; 2, George Lawson '06; 3, Carlton P. Johnson '06; 4, Franklyn D. Hooper '07; 5, George W. Foote '05; 6, Bernhard E. Fernow '04; 7, William H. Forbes '06; stroke and the '06 Freshman captain, Edward T. Foote; ooxswain, Charles F. Landmesser '06. Photos by Fenner

Chicago time. James B. Taylor '28 is chairman of the committee.

Informal luncheons of the Club will be held every Thursday throughout the summer, although the regular schedule is interrupted until fall. Several Chicago Cornellians, it is expected, will lunch together weekly in the small room in the southwest corner of the ninth floor at Mandel Brothers.

At its regular luncheon June 4 the Cornell Club of Chicago elected Harry W. Helmer '10 president, succeeding Colonel Edward Davis '96, who becomes ex-officio a member of the board of governors. Richard P. Matthiessen '18 was elected first vice-president; Alfred H. Hutchinson '09, second vice-president; Albert J. McAllister '28, secretary; Mead Montgomery '24, treasurer. Fred W. Bird '11, Junius F. Cook '22, and Richard F. Pietsch '26 were reelected to the board of governors, and F. Morton White '11, James B. Taylor '28, and Richard D. Vanderwalker '33 were elected governors.

SOUTHERNERS' BAL-WASH

The annual Bal-Wash of the Cornell Clubs of Maryland and Washington, D. C. will be held the afternoon of Wednesday, June 24, at Rugby Hall on the Severn, of which W. Snowden Wright '12 is the proprietor. The program includes baseball, swimming and other sports, and supper. C. Stewart Fiske '21 is chairman of transportation from Baltimore.

PHYSICISTS HERE JULY 2

World authorities on nuclear physics will conduct this year's symposium of the Physics Department, to be held in Rockefeller Hall July 2-4, for which the program has been announced by Professor R. Clifton Gibbs '06, head of the Department.

Physicists from all over the country will be here to discuss the newest developments and to hear reports of investigations from such authorities as Professor Rasetti, of the University of Rome, who will remain as visiting lecturer in the Summer Session; Drs. M. Stanley Livingston and Hans A. Bethe of Cornell; Professor K. T. Bainbridge of Harvard; Dr. H. R. Crane, University of Michigan; Dr. J. J. Livingood, University of California; Professor G. Breit, University of Wisconsin; Dr. T. W. Bonner, California Institute of Technology; and Dr. L. R. Hafstad of the Carnegie Institution in Washington, D. C.

It is hoped that Professor Fermi of the University of Rome may also arrive in this country in time to participate in these meetings.

Recognition has recently come to Cornell as one of the world's leading centers for the study of nuclear physics, when Dr. Bethe and Dr. Robert F. Bacher of the Physics Department were invited to prepare a critical survey and review of the of the entire field for the Quarterly Review of Modern Physics.

PROFESSOR STRUNK BACK

Bringing back a "press book" which had been presented to him as one of the souvenirs of his stay of nearly a year in Hollywood as "literary consultant" on "Romeo and Juliet" for the MGM studios, Professor William Strunk, Jr., PhD '96, returned to Ithaca with Mrs. Strunk June 8. At the Alumni Institute this week he was to discuss "Shakespeare on the Screen." Recently the New York Times said of him:

"From Hollywood's standpoint, the most interesting figure connected with the production is Dr. William Strunk, Jr. of Cornell, known on the lot as 'the professor.' It is possible that Dr. Strunk is as startled by the industry as the industry is by him. From that day when the Folger Library in Washington recommended Dr. Strunk as one of the land's distinguished authorities on Shakespeare, each day has been a surprise both to the professor and the industry. . . . Academicians have never been popular with the town. . . . But Dr. Strunk, amiable, shrewd, seemingly bewildered, has molded the production so that, he believes, the most ardent student of Shakespeare will not only find no fault but will applaud. He found that a director or a producer is no harder to handle than a freshman, if you know how. . . .

"He has spent every day on the set, has watched every scene made, and listened to every line of dialogue. He has become such an institution on the Metro lot that they wanted to use him in 'We Went to College,' a forthcoming epic of Class B vintage. The professor's amiability vanished at the suggestion. . . .

"When Dr. Strunk arrived in Hollywood and the first act of the script was laid in his hands he shuddered a little. But when he read it he says that he was surprised to see how faithfully they had adhered to the original.

"The film is an excellent medium in which to present Shakespeare," he said. "The continuity of plot is more natural. Stage audiences are accustomed to listening, but picture audiences want to see things happen. In this the narrative has been resolved into action. The limitations of the stage necessitated many omissions that can be restored in the film."

"Thus has the professor endeared himself to Hollywood. He realizes that the medium is different and that the limitations of the stage can be improved upon. Too, he views writings of Shakespeare as vital, lively words, not to be approached with a pseudo reverence. One of his first statements when they were gingerly approaching him about the feasibility of abridging certain speeches relieved the studio of all fears:

"Shakespeare never said anything in six lines," he commented, "that could be said in twenty-four."

"The professor's stay has been pleassant. He has toured some of the night spots and has had dinner at the Trocadero. He has had lunch at the Thalbergs. He was invited by Mrs. Franchot Tone personally to a musicale in her home, proof enough that he has arrived. He attended the Academy dinner and stood in the foyer pointing out celebrities to a newspaper man.

"He did an astute article for a trade paper on Shakespeare in the cinema, and put a pretty profound title on it. It was published under a somewhat altered heading: 'The Professor Goes to Town.' A Metro executive has described him as the only person in Hollywood who wears dark glasses because he needs them.

"Dr. Strunk says that when he returns to Cornell he will carry an alarm clock that will ring when he has talked about Hollywood for fifteen minutes. He will fine himself a dollar, he says, every time he introduces the subject into a conversation. 'But if someone else brings the matter up, Heaven help him. He will have asked for it,' he threatens."

Professor Strunk recently addressed the class in Shakespeare at the University of California at Los Angeles, at the invitation of a former student, Llewellyn M. Buell '10. To an interviewer later he is quoted as saying, "I believe the students enjoyed learning about Shakespeare in the movies, but I had a feeling they were disappointed that I didn't bring Norma Shearer and Leslie Howard with me."

KNOXVILLE ELECTS

Sixty-five members, of Classes from '84 to '34, and guests attended the annual banquet of the Cornell Club of Knoxville, Tenn. May 28, at the Andrew Johnson Hotel. Songs and children's dancing were followed by four speakers. From the head table, decorated with a replica of the Library tower, Edward S. Fabian '23, the toastmaster, introduced first Dean Ferris of the University of Tennessee college of engineering, who paid compliments to Cornell and the many Cornellians in Knoxville. Daniel Mead '84, professor emeritus at the University of Wisconsin and president of the ASCE, who was in town advising the TVA on an engineering project, spoke of the early days of Cornell. Dr. Alvin R. Cahn '13 director of the wild-life unit of TVA, spoke of the inspiration given to Cornellians by some of the older members of the Faculty—the Comstocks, Needham, and Fuertes; and Nicholas J. Gale (Galucci) '30, lately arrived in Knoxville to teach English at the University, described recent events on the Campus.

The Club elected as its officers for the coming year: Ross M. Riegel '04, president, succeeding Joseph G. Tarboux '23; George M. Cameron '33, vice-president; Helen F. Northup '23, secretary; and Mrs. Constantine D. Sherbakoff, whose husband is '11, treasurer.

ALUMNI FUND AHEAD Best Record Since '32

Archie M. Palmer '18, executive secretary of The Cornellian Council, reported to the annual meeting of the Council Saturday morning that for the first time since 1932 the University's Alumni Fund had already exceeded $100,000. The total through June 11 was $100,586.86 from 5,567 contributors, and Palmer predicted, judging by the rate at which contributions are now coming in, that by the end of the fiscal year, June 30, Cornell would achieve the goal of again becoming the leader in number of contributing alumni among American universities. A complete report of the Alumni Fund and of the Council's activities in 1935-36 will appear in the July ALUMNI NEWS.

Palmer reported that '16, the twenty-year reunion Class, is now leading in number of contributors, with 213; that '01, back this year for its thirty-five year reunion, has taken first place in percentage of members contributing, with 21.35 percent; and that the Class of '10, last year's leaders, have again come to first place in amount, with $4,149.50 so far this year. As a result of unique check-matching letters from their respective Class representatives, Erskine Wilder and Edwin E. Sheridan, the Classes of '05 and '11 have made rapid strides toward the top of the Class lists in the past two weeks.

At its meeting the Council re-elected Neal Dow Becker '05 president and J. Du Pratt White '90 first vice-president; re-elected Allan C. Balch '89 of Los Angeles, Calif. a regional vice-president, and added Robert P. Butler '05 of Hartford, Conn. and Sheridan, of Chicago, Ill. as vice-presidents. New members of the executive committee, elected for three years, are Walter S. Finlay, Jr. '04, of New York City; Blinn S. Page '13, of Grosse Point Park, Mich.; and Emmet J. Murphy '22, of Philadelphia, Pa.

A SEA-GOING CONCERT

Returning alumni and Seniors and their guests comfortably filled the Bailey Hall auditorium Friday evening for the cruise of the SS Harmony, on which a ship's orchestra composed of members of the Instrumental Club, and the Glee Club and guests as passengers entertained under the direction of "Captain" Thomas B. Tracy '31, resplendent in gold braid and brass buttons.

Sea-going melodies in great variety were rendered by the ship's orchestra led by Samuel L. Shannaman, Jr. '36, including a nautical medley, "Hands Across the Sea," arranged by George L. Coleman '95, the orchestra's director. Likewise the Glee Club, led by Elman M. Stausebach '36, and with Stewart L. Seaman '36 as the featured soloist, gave a generous selection of salty airs, interspersed with Kipling, the popular "Song of the Vagabonds," and Alma Mater and the Crew Song.

Julia S. Hardin '36 and Seaman were encored again and again after their rendition of "Give Me Thy Hand, O Fairest," from "Don Giovanni," as was Miss Hardin for her "Mon coeur s'ouvre a ea voix" by Saint-Saens. Margaret Schramm '35 and William G. Roundey '37 repeated their tap-dancing number, "The Little Dutch Plate," first seen at the spring concert of the Musical Clubs, to the delight of the Senior Week audience, and the "Jolly Tars" quartette from the Savage Club gave two numbers and the ever-popular "Horses" as an encore. Three Seniors from the Women's Glee Club, Sharma G. Scutt, Gladys I. Godfrey, and Margaret C. Edwards, as volunteers from the ship's passengers, sang "When Day is Done" with the Glee Club and Robert H. Bodholdt '38 as soloist; and C. Wesley Thomas '25 and "Captain" Tracy pleased with a comedy number of by-play between tenor and baritone. Another comedy interlude, introduced with a threatened mutiny of coal passers from the ship's boiler room, ended with the singing of "La donna è mobile" by Bodholdt dressed as an Italian stoker. George C. Brown '34 sang the Mexican song, "Celita Lindo," and further variety was given to the program by a Scotch bagpiper, Jack Macintyre, and his dancing lassie, Mable Ducat, who appeared through the courtesy of John W. Johnston '04, a former member of the Mandolin Club.

NEWARK CLUB ELECTS

The Cornell Club of Newark, meeting at the Down Town Club, Newark, N. J., June 12, elected J. Paul Leinroth '12 president for 1936-37, succeeding Clarence J. Pope '10. J. Douglas Colman '32 was elected vice-president, succeeding Charles F. Hendrie '18, and Milton H. Cooper '28, 744 Broad Street, Newark, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

ALUMNAE KEEP BUSY New Clubs, President

The Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs, at its annual meeting in Willard Straight Hall Friday afternoon, elected Mrs. R. C. Osborn (Agda Swenson) '20, of Ithaca, its president, succeeding Mary H. Donlon '20; and Lucile West '28, of Rochester, second vice-president.

Delegates from twenty-five Clubs heard reports of the Federation's activities during the year, from Mrs. R. H. Shreve (Ruth Bentley) '02 on the conference on fields of work for women; from Mrs. Claude M. Bigelow (E. Lucile Wyman) '23 on Cornell Day for women; from Mrs. Edwin S. Knauss (Dorothy Pond) '18 on work with secondary schools; from Mrs. Edwin A. Gauntt (Gertrude C. Heim) '24 on scholarships; and from Mrs. Osborn on membership. The formation of a new Club was reported, in Schenectady. Mrs. Joseph J. Klein (Janet R. Frisch) '12 and Katharine R. Buckley '01 reported for a special committee appointed to consider plans for the election of a woman Alumni Trustee in 1937.

Several spontaneous expressions of appreciation were voiced of the work of Miss Donlon as president of the Federation the past two years. A memorial to Miss Mary Cornell was presented by Mrs. Willard Beahan (Bessie B. DeWitt) '78, and one to Dr. M. Carey Thomas '77 by Mrs. Charles T. Walker, Jr. (Gladys E. Hobart) '03.

Following the meeting the Federation entertained at a tea in Willard Straight Hall in honor of the eleven Senior women who are daughters of alumnae. Guests of honor were Ruth Bentley, whose mother was Mrs. Gustavus E. Bentley (Lesbia H. Andrews) '15; Marion R. Blenderman, daughter of Mrs. Helen Reidel Blenderman '03; Betty P. Chuckrow, daughter of Mrs. Charles M. Chuckrow (Mollie Goldenberg) '13; Gladys I. Godfrey, daughter of Mrs. Joseph E. Godfrey (Hazel W. Brown) '13; Babette L. Kohn, daughter of Mrs. Arthur H. Kohn (Lili Levy) '05; Blanche A. Law, daughter of Mrs. Lito W. Law (Blanche Seelye) '05; Charlotte Putnam, daughter of the late Mrs. Henry S. Putnam (Frances E. Thomas) '10; Ruth M. Sharp, daughter of Mrs. Harry L. Sharp (Catherine Allen) '10; Martha Warren, daughter of Mrs. George F. Warren (Mary Whitson) '05; Janet F. Whiton, daughter of Mrs. Walter H. Whiton (Avice M. Watt) '04; and Mary E. Wilkins, daughter of Mrs. Walter M. Wilkins (Frances Hickman) '08.

The alumnae breakfast in Willard Straight Memorial Room Saturday morning, honoring the fifty-year Class of '86, was attended by 256. Mrs. Leonard A. Marcussen (Barbara C. Crosby) '31, president of the Ithaca Club, introduced Miss Donlon, who presided. Speakers were Dr. Mary M. Crawford '04, Alumni Trustee of the University; Mrs. Osborn, the new president of the Federation; and Marjorie S. Kane and Harriett T. Blatt, of the Class of '36. Julia S. Hardin '36 sang the Alumni Song.

GIVE PRIZE PLAYS

Four plays from those entered for the 1936 Forbes Heermans Prize were presented by the Dramatic Club in the Willard Straight Theatre to alumni and Senior Week audiences Friday and Saturday evenings.

The winning play, "The Life of John Doe," by Seymour Berkowitz '36, is an impressionistic study of the world of John Doe. In separate cubicles the characters depict the home, school, church, street, and shop, their lines partly in prose and partly in verse. This production of the play was coached by Margaret Schramm '35.

"Barge Baby," by Charles Brunnelle '36, the winner of the second prize, is a somewhat sordid and hopeless interval of a Saturday night on a sand barge at a Long Island pier. It is played on the slanting after deck of the barge in the hot gloom of a summer's evening. This is the play that won honorable mention in the college short play contest of Stage. It was coached by Professor Walter H. Stainton '19.

Realistic indeed, and to the minds of at least some who saw them, the best of the lot, was "Nearer My God To Thee" by Robert M. Gorrell '36, which won honorable mention in the Heermans contest. Coached by Jonathan W. Curvin '32, the cast of seven Juniors and Seniors seemed to be the country folk of the Middle-Western Bible belt whose unwilling fear of the power of the ignorant preacher led to the death of the mother of the household. Simply but effectively, the play points the blind trust in the Word which often brings ruin and sorrow.

"Louden Olmstead's" "The Hope Chest" is an interesting drama, designated "an experimental choral monodrama," in which the varied aspects of one person's character are separately portrayed against the screen of the other players. The Better Self, The Romantic Self, The Lower Self, The Aging Self, and The Bride Self, each has its share in the action, with no very definite conclusion. Coaching was by Sharma Scutt '36.

About ATHLETICS

CREWS AT POUGHKEEPSIE

Cheered enthusiastically by a hilarious crowd of alumni, townspeople, and such undergraduates as were in town and not at the baccalaureate sermon in Bailey Hall, the crews left the East Ithaca station for Poughkeepsie Sunday night. Professor Charles L. Durham '99 was master of ceremonies, and a sound truck broadcast Cornell songs, the good wishes of the crowd, and the names of all those entraining. As they pulled out, Cornell yells were led by Harold D. North '07.

Members of the Junior Varsity crew in the four days before Sunday raised by contributions from undergraduates, alumni, Ithaca merchants, and friends more than $200 with which to pay the expenses of a four-oared crew to take part in the Olympics trials at Philadelphia July 2-4. They arranged tentatively to borrow a Pennsylvania shell for the trials and to sleep in Pennsylvania fraternity houses during training, and hope to go to Philadelphia directly from Poughkeepsie. The combination which hopes to make the trip rowed in a four-oared shell on the Inlet Saturday afternoon before the reunion crowd. Fred J. Schilling, Jr. '38 of Franklin Square pulled the bow oar; Milton R. Porter '38 of Garden City was at No. 2; Charles R. Noback '36 of Scarsdale, No. 3; and Edmund F. Pfeifer '38 of Hackensack, N. J. stroked the boat.

The Varsity crew as it left East Ithaca Sunday evening was almost ten pounds lighter in average weight than they were at the beginning of the season. A recent weighing showed that the men average 177½ pounds instead of the earlier 186 pounds. Besides Coaches James Wray and Clarke Wray and Ben Gifford, and the manager, John R. Young '36 of LaJolla, Calif. and the assistant manager, Morse Johnson '37 of Cincinnati, Ohio, the crews entrained as follows:

Varsity

Bow, Albert W. Hartman '37, 168 pounds, Mansfield, Ohio; 2, Robert H. Menges '37, 172, Pittsburgh, Pa.; 3, Elbert C. Sowerwine, Jr. '37, 174, Westfield, N. J.; 4, John W. Rogers '37, 187, Wheeling, W. Va.; 5, Robert W. O'Neill '37, 185, Syracuse; 6, Herbert A. Hopper '36, 185, Ithaca; 7, Commodore William G. Van Arsdale '36, 180, Castile; stroke, F. Donald Hart '36, 169, Mattituck; coxswain, Allen L. Davison '36, Pittsburgh, Pa. Substitutes: Pfeifer and Noback. Of this combination, all but Hartman and Rogers rowed in these positions at Poughkeepsie last June.

JUNIOR Varsity

Bow, Edward B. Lanman '38, East Chicago, Ind.; 2, James C. Forbes '36, Cleveland, Ohio; 3, James G. Dodge '37, Lancaster, Pa.; 4, Henry B. Risley '37, Brooklyn; 5, Baldwin C. Avery '37, Aurora; 6, Irving A. Jenkins '37, New York City; 7, C. Chester, DuMont, Jr. '36, Ulster Park; stroke, Arthur T. Williams '36, Highland; coxswain, Charles W. Lockhart '36, Youngstown, Ohio.

FRESHMAN

ELECT THREE CAPTAINS

The teams have elected as captains for next year John A. Meaden, Jr. '37 of LaGrange, Ill., track; Stephen J. Roberts '38 of Hamburg, polo; and Rudolph A. Doering '37 of Camden, N. J., baseball.

LAST IN BASEBALL LEAGUE

The baseball team closed its 1936 season last week in undisputed last place in the Eastern Intercollegiate League, with two 8-4 defeats at the hands of Dartmouth. The reunion crowd at Hoy Field on Friday was encouraged by two runs in the first inning and by the Varsity's holding Dartmouth scoreless through that one and another, but sloppy fielding and eight runs off Batten in the third put the visitors into a lead which they maintained to the end.

In the seventh inning the Class of '26, seated together in the east stand, paraded the field in their red jumpers, but failing to get the umpire to join the parade, they returned to their seats and the game went on. The summary:

THE ATHLETICS STAFF

Personnel of the Physical Education and Athletics staff for 1936-37 was announced completely last week by James Lynah '05, Director, except the head baseball coach, this year Paul W. Eckley '17, and the director of intramural sports, formerly Howard B. Ortner '18.

Louis C. Boochever '12, in addition to his duties as director of public information of the University, will be publicity director for the Department. Professor Charles V. P. Young '99 will be head of Physical Education, with Dorothy H. Bateman '25 in charge of the women's section.

The administrative staff of the division of intercollegiate sports will be headed by Henry S. Godshall '36 as assistant to the Director, with Grace McFerren assistant treasurer and Mrs. Nora P. Leonard secretary and stenographer.

Coaches announced are: Baseball, James Tatum and Mose Quinn, assistants; basketball, John H. Rowland, head, George James and Mose Quinn, assistants; crew, James Wray, head, Clarke Wray and James Wray, Jr., assistants; football, Carl Snavelly, head, George James, Mose Quinn, John Rowland, Max Reed, and James Tatum, assistants; track, John F. Moakley, head, John R. Bangs Jr., '21, Robert J. Kane '34, and Joseph R. Mangan '34, assistants; boxing, Schuyler C. Slater; fencing, George Cointe; golf, George Hall; soccer, hockey, lacrosse, Nick Bawlf; pistol, Lieut. John R. Pitman; polo, Maj. Charles E. Boyle and Lieut. Pitman; rifle, Maj. James O. Tarbox; swimming, Gordon S. Little; tennis, Richard Lewis; wrestling, Walter C. O'Connell, '12.

NEW HOSPITAL AFFILIATE

The gift of three million dollars from the General Education Board for the construction of new buildings for the Memorial Hospital for the Treatment of Cancer and Allied Diseases, announced April 28, brings further development to the medical center on New York City's upper East Side of which the Medical College and New York Hospital are now a part.

Memorial Hospital has been affiliated with the Medical College since 1913. Dr. James Ewing, one of the original members of the Medical College Faculty and now chairman of the board of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, will remain as president of the Hospital's medical board. Last month

Dr. Ewing won a John Scott medal and $1,000 awarded annually by the Board of City Trusts in Philadelphia, for his research in classifying malignant and benign tumors.

The new buildings will front on Sixty-eighth Street and will occupy the entire block to Sixty-seventh, from First Avenue to York Avenue, to the southwest of the New York Hospital-Cornell Medical College group. The site was assembled by John D. Rockefeller, Jr. and given by him to the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research in December, 1934. The new hospital will have approximately two hundred beds, as compared with its capacity of 110 in its present quarters on Central Park West. It is expected to be ready for occupancy in the fall of 1937.

NEW YORK CLUB ELECTS

The Cornell Club of New York board of governors has re-elected Charles H. Blair '97 president of the Club; John T. McGovern '00, Alexander C. Clogher '04, and Wallace B. Quail '19, vice-presidents; Bertel W. Antell '28, secretary; and James J. Clark '03 and G. Norman Scott '27, treasurer and assistant treasurer, respectively.

Neal Dow Becker '05 and Jansen Noyes '10 were elected vice-presidents, and at the annual meeting of the Club Harry A. Bemis '09, James W. Brooks '26, and William M. Vanneman '31 were elected to the board of governors.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR James Lynah '05 will not return to Ithaca after the Poughkeepsie regatta, but will go at once to Wyoming for a month's vacation in the mountains.

COL. JOHN J. FULMER, commanding the ROTC, has offered the Ithaca police the use during the summer of the University's rifle and pistol ranges. These ranges are located in an isolated hollow adjoining Fall Creek about a mile upstream from Forest Home (Free Hollow), where the cider raids were held in the nineties.

MORE NEXT WEEK

Reports by the Class secretaries of their reunions, together with pictures of some Classes, will appear next week. That number will also contain accounts of the Commencement and other Senior activities, and a special section of news items about the members of the Class of '36. It will also report the Alumni Institute, June 15-18, and the Sigma Xi celebration June 19 and 20.

ABOUT REUNIONS

While no recent reunion has been a downright failure, that of the past week leads us to look for a great eagerness, an increase in ingenuity, and a general renaissance of interest in reunions generally.

There has been little recent opportunity for experimentation with new features. Results are sure to be judged more or less on a quantitative basis, so that, with no tendency toward new records or greater attendance, the obvious course to pursue was to repeat, varying in detail, what had proved successful in the past.

We believe the high attendance last week gives encouragement to a critical overhauling of the whole project by class secretaries and the Alumni Corporation. There is a wide enough choice of events to interest alumni with every sort of taste. It is a fair question whether the program could not be broadened to attract many times the number of reuners that took part in bringing about this new high record.

Opinion is by no means unanimous concerning the Dix plan of reunions. The larger classes do not need it. The smaller classes could produce similar results by invitation, as do the classes of the eighties. Rarely does another class in a Dix group have as good attendance as the quinquennial class of the group. On the other hand, there are many points in favor of the plan. After these ten years or more of experience, it might be appropriate to check up on the Dix plan to see whether it should be retained, modified, or replaced.

It would be well also to review critically the history and performance of the Saturday night rally. Inaugurated as an impromptu affair more than twenty years ago, the responsibility of the host class has dwindled somewhat and the performance is by no means uniformly good. Saturday is a day of heavy congestion. Event after event goes on with much less than enough time for completion. Those years when the ball game is played on Friday and not on Saturday there is a better chance for successfully making all connections. Any movement to relieve the congestion on Saturday by spreading activities to Friday and Sunday would produce welcome results.

These and many other lesser problems are the concern of the official bodies, primarily the Association of Class Secretaries, but almost equally the Alumni Corporation. On the other hand, no intelligent reunion chairman would have a final opinion until he had consulted a representative cross section of his Class. It is the right and duty, therefore, of the alumnus who is not in an official capacity to ponder matters of this sort and reach a conclusion that he can defend and explain.

The present apparent reawakening of interest in reunions affords the first real opportunity for successful consideration of change in the present program. We believe that the interests of Cornell and of her alumni are best served when more alumni voluntarily return and continue to return to their class reunions.

GIVE KIMBALL PORTRAIT

Seniors of the College of Engineering announced at a dinner given by undergraduates May 28 to honor Dean Dexter S. Kimball that they would raise a fund to acquire a portrait of him, to be hung in Willard Straight Hall.

Three hundred students, members of the Faculty, and guests attended the dinner. Harold D. North, Jr. '36, whose father was an Engineer of the Class of '07, was toastmaster. Besides the retiring Dean, he introduced Clarence F. Hirshfeld, MME '05, J. Wright Taussig '08, Thomas Midgley, Jr. '11, and Lester W. W. Morrow '11.

PLAN BOSTON GATHERING

Anthony O. Shallna '16, president of the Cornell Club of New England, invites all Cornellians, whether Law alumni or not, and their friends, to attend the luncheon of the Cornell Law Association, to be held in Boston, Mass. at the Hotel Statler at 12:30 August 27, during the convention of the American Bar Association. The speakers will include Judge William L. Ransom '05, president of the Bar Association; Barrister Duncan Campbell Lee, of London, England, who was assistant professor of Oratory and Elocution at the University in 1903-04; and Justice Hanna, of Ireland.

LETTERS

Subject to the usual restrictions of space and good taste, we shall print letters from subscribers on any side of any subject of interest to Cornellians. The ALUMNI NEWS often may not agree with the sentiments expressed, and disclaims any responsibility beyond that of fostering interest in the University.

NEW PRESIDENT'S HOUSE

TO THE EDITOR:

I am fortunate to have received the April 16 number of the ALUMNI NEWS, "The University Campus in 1936," with its key and historical sketches of the photograph from the air. It is a most practical souvenir for an old grad.

I submit that a new President's House for the new President would be a potent inducement to the wise choice of the Trustees and "save the face" of the hallowed Andrew D. White grounds. One dollar from each and every former Cornell student (even by self denial from a "relief fund") would, under Trustees' fiat, make possible this most necessary achievement.

FOR MEMORIAL SERVICE

TO THE EDITOR:

I am wholly in accord with the sentiment expressed in an editorial in the last issue of the CORNELL ALUMNI NEWS with reference to a proposed memorial service to be held in honor of those graduates and undergraduates from Cornell who made the supreme sacrifice during the World War. A large percentage of all those who served with the colors in 1917 and 1918 received the only military instruction which they had had prior to their entry into the World War in the ROTC at Cornell.

Since the organization of the Organized Reserves as one of the three components of the Army of the United States, the Cornell ROTC has furnished numerous well trained cadets who have qualified for commissions in the Organized Reserves. Hence, I venture to suggest that a committee of the Board of Trustees, Faculty, alumni, and undergraduates be appointed to confer and prepare plans for an appropriate military memorial ceremony to be put on by the Cornell ROTC in honor of Cornell's World War heroes, and that the Trustees, Faculty, alumni, and undergraduates be invited to attend these memorial services.

WORK HAS BEGUN on the widening and repairing of Stewart Avenue (Factory Street to the graduates of the seventies and early eighties) from State Street to the cemetery. It's a $177,428 job.

ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

PROFESSOR STRUNK has returned to the Quadrangle after a year in Hollywood, where he served as the Shakespearean authority in the filming of "Romeo and Juliet." This community is unquestionably impressed by Mr. Strunk. Can't you imagine the awe with which the Freshman Class regards the professor who is personally acquainted with Mae West, Donald Duck, and Shirley Temple? "Ah, did you once see Shelley plain?"

THE CARNEGIE CUP, emblematical of rowing victories over Yale and Princeton, the Intercollegiate track cup, and the championship cup for Association football are all on display in the lobby of Willard Straight. More than one observer has pointed out that there would be plenty of room on the table which holds these trophies for the Seaman cup, too. The Seaman cup hasn't come to Ithaca since 1930. A victory in the Varsity race at Poughkeepsie next week would bring it back.

ITHACA POLICE have been carrying on a campaign to enforce greater respect for traffic rules, stop signs, and red lights. Many of our most respected citizens have joined with careless students in contributing fine money to the City treasury. A college town needs a check up of this character periodically.

BUT THE EFFECTS of traffic law enforcement in downtown Ithaca have not yet shown themselves on the Campus. There is a dangerous intersection where the road to Schoellkopf crosses East Avenue. It is prominently marked by a "Stop" sign against north and south traffic. On June 9 your correspondent stood on this corner for fifteen minutes while waiting for a bus. Forty-nine cars passed him on East Avenue during this period. Two of them stopped, sixteen of them hesitated slightly, and the remaining thirty-one crashed right through without retarding speed in any appreciable degree. Of the two that stopped, one was driven by a student and the other by a professor's wife. The thirty-one that crashed through were pretty evenly divided between students and members of the Faculty.

WILLARD STRAIGHT HALL management has concluded the college year with an operating profit of $6,183.09. This sum has been transferred to a sinking fund against future replacements and repairs. The income was $76,089.77 and the disbursements, $69,906.68. These figures do not cover dining room experience. The dining room account is carried separately and apart from the general operation of the building. It appears in the Comptroller's report.

By Romeyn Berry '04

AT A CLASS REUNION the ones who remember you call you by name, while the others shout "Well, Well, Well!" and slap you vigorously on the back in false joy. That's why it becomes such a tragic occurrence for a popular alumnus to develop a painfully inflamed excrescence between his shoulder blades on the eve of his class reunion. Mr. Charles Howland '26, who presided at his Class dinner in the Johnny Parson Club, had that misfortune. At the conclusion of the 1926 dinner, Mr. Howland reported to your correspondent that he was physically exhausted and spiritually subdued. He said that of the 136 classmates there gathered, fifteen had called him Charlie, while 121 had addressed him as "Well, Well, Well," with a hearty slap on the carbuncle.

THE SOLIDARITY of 1921 was strongly evidenced. On Friday night one brother had the misfortune to mistake a total stranger for a classmate, with the result that he (the brother) appeared on Saturday morning with a black eye that was noteworthy. To relieve this gentleman's embarrassment and to keep him from being painfully conspicuous in the various ceremonies, the rest of the classmates straightway procured burnt cork and each man blacked his own left eye. This gave 1921 a rakish appearance in the parade.

HIGH SCHOOLS of South-Central New York, including Binghamton, Norwich, Cortland, Ithaca, Watkins, etc., held their championship track meet at Schoellkopf Field June 6. Binghamton won, with Ithaca second and Johnson City third. The roster of the Ithaca team included such familiar surnames as Eckley, Van Orman, Stutz, and Boochever. One way to get athletic material, apparently, is to raise your own.

SEVENTY-FIVE BATH TOWELS disappeared from Schoellkopf on the day of the track meet reported in the preceding paragraph. None of the young gentlemen whose names are mentioned is in any way implicated or suspected.

HENRY W. BANTA, whose workshop is in Rockefeller Hall, is official University glass blower. Mr. Banta doesn't do anything but blow glass. He makes all the special apparatus, blows practically all the flasks, decanters, beakers, and retorts used in the various laboratories. Mr. Banta came to Cornell nine years ago. Before that he worked for the late Thomas A. Edison as laboratory assistant.

BOOK AND BOWL, convivial literary society, held its concluding meeting of the year June 6 at Forest Park, the old home of Ezra Cornell. Professor Richard Robinson, PhD '30, Philosophy, was elected president, and Christopher Morley, Jr. '37, secretary-treasurer. Book and Bowl, membership in which is shared by professors and upperclassmen, is one of the few Campus organizations that seems to flourish more luxuriantly than it did "in the old days." Reversing the practice of thirty years ago, it now books more conscientiously than it bowls.

JOSEPH R. MANGAN '34, former Varsity distance runner, now a student in the Law School and a successful participant during the past winter in spectacular races with Cunningham and Venzke, has announced that, because of the conflicting demands of his law studies, he will not be a candidate for the Olympic track team.

CARL SNAVELY, football coach, who returned to Chapel Hill, N. C. at the conclusion of spring practice, came back to Ithaca for the class reunions. He expects to move his family up here sometime in July and to live in the house formerly occupied by Gilmour Dobie at the corner of Delaware Avenue and Mitchell Street.

JESSE C. VAN DYNE, baseball umpire, Ithaca policeman, and intimate of Cornell students, died at Memorial hospital June 2. "Beans" umpired most of the Freshman baseball games between 1920 and 1930. Some three years ago he became the only Ithaca policeman to receive a gold medal "for bravery in the line of duty." Discovering two much-wanted Syracuse gangsters burglarizing the J. C. Stowell wholesale grocery establishment, he shot it out with them in a running fight which resulted in the death of one thug and the wounding and capture of the other.

FIFTY-TWO WOMEN from upwards of twenty foreign countries visited the University over the reunion weekend. They were a flying squadron of the triennial convention of the Associated Country Women of the World recently gathered in Washington, D. C. Here, these women saw the State Colleges in operation and the working of representative farms in these parts. Expert guides steered them by routes which carefully avoided all alumni gatherings. Among themselves the ladies discussed their children and swapped recipes. There is nothing so calculated to create international goodwill and to promote better understanding on the distaff side as discussing babies and swapping recipes.

He entered Civil Engineering in 1918 from the University of Pennsylvania and remained three years. Theta Delta Chi; Pyramid; Masque.

NEW VETERINARY BUILDING

Requests in the annual budgets of the Veterinary College for twenty years have culminated this year in the appropriation by the State Legislature of $284,000 for a new building for teaching and research in Pathology and Bacteriology. It will be named for Dr. Veranus A. Moore '87, who, as a member of the original Veterinary Faculty, instituted the work in Pathology and Bacteriology, and was Dean of the College from 1908 until his retirement in 1929. He died February 11, 1931.

Construction of the new building is expected to start this year, as soon as plans are completed by the State architect and contracts are let. It will stand just south of James Law Hall, between it and the Drill Hall, facing East Avenue, and will have a wing extending back toward the Surgical Building, leaving a court to complete the Veterinary quadrangle. The several small temporary buildings now in the quadrangle will be removed.

The three-story structure will be of buff brick, faced with native stone. It will relieve present conditions and furnish up-to-date laboratories, offices, a class room, an autopsy unit, and quarters for the Pathology museum.

Concerning THE FACULTY

J. DUPRATT WHITE '90, University Trustee, received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws at Colgate University June 15.

FACULTY CHILDREN received degrees this June from a number of colleges and universities besides Cornell. Among them were Otis Curtis, son of Professor Otis F. Curtis, PhD '16, Botany, and Howard Merritt, son of Professor Ernest Merritt '86, Physics, Emeritus, at Oberlin College; James Harper, son of Professor Merritt W. PROFESSOR ALEXIS L. ROMANOFF '25, Poultry, is one of four men in the United States invited to present papers at the general session of the World Poultry Congress in Leipzig, Germany, this summer. He will sail on the Bremen the middle of July to be gone eight weeks, and will visit research laboratories in England, Scotland, France, Czechoslovakia, Poland, and Denmark.

PROFESSOR RALPH FELTON, Rural Social Organization from 1923 to 1931, sailed with Mrs. Felton and their children from New York City June 13 for a year's trip around the world. In August Professor Felton will attend meetings of the Near East School of Theology in Beirut, Syria. He is a member of the faculty at Drew University, in Madison, N. J.

RANDALL SEULKE, fifteen-year-old son of Karl J. Seulke, PhD '16, who was formerly professor of Animal Husbandry, and Mrs. Seulke, died suddenly in Albany June 10. Dr. Seulke is now director of nutrition and Eastern representative of the Staley Corporation, and lives in Albany.

PROFESSOR EDWIN NUNGEZER, PhD '27, English, and Mrs. Nungezer have a daughter, born in Ithaca May 30. They live at 202 Overlook Road.

ROMEYN BERRY '04, director of intercollegiate athletics, addressed the Ithaca Exchange Club June 16 on "Dirt from the Dirt Roads."

PROFESSOR GEORGE E. G. CATLIN, PhD '24, formerly Political Science, contributes "Colonial Policy From the New View" to the Fortnightly for April.

WILLARD W. ELLIS '01, Agriculture Librarian, was elected treasurer of the Knights Templar of New York State at their conclave in Buffalo June 8. He is also one of three named as secretaries of the education foundation committee of the order.

PROFESSOR ARTHUR P. WHITAKER, American History, will be visiting lecturer at this year's summer session of the New York University School of Education.

MRS. HERBERT HOWARD WILLIAMS, the mother of Herbert H. Williams '25, director of the University Placement Bureau, and widow of the late Herbert Howard Williams '94, died in Burlington, Vt. June 2.

DEAN CARL E. LADD '12 of the Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics addresses the convention of the New York State Bankers' Association meeting at Bolton Landing the week end of June 20.

ROBERT E. TREMAN '09, University Trustee, and Professor Walter King Stone, Architecture, were speakers at the fifteenth annual Commencement exercises of the Empire State School of Printing in Ithaca June 5.

PROFESSOR GEORGE S. BUTTS '25, Agriculture Extension, has returned from a week's cruise around Cape Cod in the twenty-five-foot yawl, "Fortune," with Richard Parmenter '17, Physiology, her owner, and Professor Gilbert Ross of Smith College, formerly in the Music Department.

PROFESSOR FLOYD A. HARPER, PhD '32, Marketing Extension, spoke at the New England Institute of Cooperation meeting in Amherst, Mass. June 9-11.
