Good for Business

Advertising in the Cornell Alumni News increased materially during the business year 1935-36. Advertisers find it profitable to carry their messages directly to our five thousand Cornell graduates and former students through this personal news-magazine.

It will be good for your business to advertise in the Alumni News this year... Because...

You Buy Quality Circulation. You reach more than 5,000 Cornell men and women, prosperous, loyal, and interested. Their tastes, inclination and ability to buy are far above the average. They constitute a selected market for quality products.

Your Advertisements Will Be Read.
The men and women who read the Alumni News are not urged into it by high pressure methods. They buy the paper because they want it, and they read each issue from cover to

ALUMNI MEET DR. DAY

In West and South

Dr. Edmund E. Day, President-elect of the University, has just returned from a trip to the West Coast and New Orleans, during which he was able to accept invitations to meet with alumni in five cities. Seattle, Portland, and New Orleans entertained him at luncheons; San Francisco and Los Angeles, at dinner. Without exception, the alumni responded in large number to the opportunity of meeting Dr. Day. Reports are unanimous in the real enthusiasm shown for the new President. In three of the cities, Dr. Day's fellow alumni of Dartmouth joined the alumni in entertaining him. Chester N. Retize '05, president of the Cornell Club of Western Washington, sends word of a well-attended luncheon at the Washington Athletic Club February 5 in Seattle. Arthur W. O'Shea '29 wrote that he had "never seen so many Cornells together at one time since I left the East." Ray R. Clark '12, president at a luncheon at the University Club of Portland, Ore. February 6, with sixty-six Cornell men and women and their wives and husbands greeting the President-elect. They came from near and far, even though but a few days before one of the worst snowstorms in years had closed most of the roads in the Northwest. John R. Laing, president of the Dartmouth Club of Portland, introduced Dr. Day. Dr. William J. Kerr '91, of the Oregon State Board of Education, responded for the alumni. That afternoon Dr. Day attended a tea in the home of Dr. Dexter M. Keezer, AM '23, where he met the faculty of Reed College, of which Dr. Keezer is president.

In San Francisco at a dinner at the Fairmont Hotel, attendance records were broken; the 747 guest included 28 Dartmouth men. Arrangements were in charge of Brandon Watson '28, president of the Club, and Nathaniel J. Goldsmith '14, chairman of the dinner committee. George P. Dyer '95 presided, and introduced Dr. Day, Professor A. Cottrell, chairman of the School of Social Sciences at Stanford, Dr. Monroe E. Deutsch, provost of the University of California, and Edwin J. Shattuck, president of the Dartmouth Club of San Francisco. Clarence M. Oddie '95 entertained Dr. Day at a special luncheon.

In Los Angeles February 16 the men of the Dartmouth and Cornell Clubs entertained the guest at a dinner and reception at the University Club. Here, as in Portland, Dr. Day was introduced by the president of the local Dartmouth club, Mr. Merrill, a contemporary at Dartmouth.

The Cornell Club of New Orleans entertained at luncheon February 23 at Arnaud's Restaurant. Alumni were there from the surrounding territory, including a delegation headed by Dr. Julian C. Miller, PhD '16, president of the Cornell Club of Baton Rouge. With Dr. Day on the program were Professor Riverda H. Jordan, Education, and Dr. Brandt V. B. Dixon '05, former president of Newcomb College for Women and the only surviving member of his Class. Edward E. Soule '88, president of the Cornell Club of New Orleans, introduced the speakers.

AGRICULTURE BROADCASTS

First of a series of twenty-six international short wave broadcasts arranged by the College of Agriculture was given by Dean Carl E. Ladd '12, February 23 from General Electric's Station W2XAD in Schenectady. The programs will be given twice each Tuesday from this station, first in English at 2:30 p.m. and again in Spanish translation at 7:30 p.m. March speakers are Professors Van B. Hart '16, Agricultural Economics; Axel F. Gustafson, PhD '20, Agronomy; Floyd A. Harper, PhD '31, Agricultural Economics; Glenn W. Salisbury, PhD '34, Animal Husbandry; and Mortier F. Barrus, '12, Plant Pathology.

Dr. Ladd extended greetings to the agricultural scientists in almost every country who have studied as undergraduates or graduate students at Cornell. He compared the agriculture of different regions of the United States, and described the work of the State Agricultural colleges in teaching, research, and extension.

WOMEN TO GIVE "ALICE"

Freshmen Maintain Custom

Freshman women, coached by Seniors who themselves gave it as Freshmen, will give Lewis Carroll's immortal "Alice in Wonderland" again this year. Since 1919, when the Class of '22 gave it, this has come to be a triennial custom, kept alive largely through the efforts of Miss Gertrude H. Nye, head resident at Prudence Wiley Hall from its opening in 1914 until her retirement two years ago. Miss Nye now lives at 627 East State Street, Ithaca, and is taking active part in the preparations for this year's performance, which will be given March 12 and 13 in the Willard Straight Theatre.

The following brief history of the performances of "Alice in Wonderland" at Cornell was written by Miss Nye on the occasion of the Lewis Carroll centenary, and appeared in the Alumni News of March 24, 1932:

"Scenes from Alice were first given at Cornell by the Class of '09 in Sage gymnasium. Later '16 gave a performance in Barnes Hall. With the Class of 1922, the play started on a firm basis. The play was given in the Freshman year of 1919, and the tradition was begun that the class giving the play in its Freshman year should train the entering class of its Senior year. In this way five performances have been given, 1919, 1922, 1924, 1928, and 1931. [A sixth performance was given in 1934, by the Class of '37.] Perhaps the record is unequalled by any other American college. Oxford University, the home of Alice, has an enviable record of performances with original music."

"The Alives have been Esther E. Parker '05, Helen Spalding '16, Alice Burchfield '22, Frances Irish '25, Margery Blair '28, Mary Pueters '31, and Marion Miller '34. [There were two Alives in 1934, Jean Bradley '37 and Ruth McCurdy '37. Trials are still being held for this year's cast."

"The first performances used the arrangement of Mrs. Burton Harrison, with a prologue by Abbie Potts '06. Miss Potts coached the 1919 performance. Her love and understanding of the story, her lightness of touch, with a true Alice-turn-of-mind, made a lasting impression upon the girls."

"After the merging of the Women's Dramatic Club with the Cornell Dramatic Club, the performances of Alice were given in Willard Straight Theatre, where the girls had the privilege of having Mr. Drummond's guidance, with delightful results in scenery and properties, due to the lively interest and cooperation of the students in Archi-
ANNOUNCE NEW SONG BOOK

Publication of a new Cornell song book by the Cornell Alumni Corporation has been authorized by the Corporation's board of directors. Professor Paul J. Weaver, head of the Department of Music, is chairman of a song book committee appointed by the Corporation. Its other members are Eric Dudley, Professor Albert W. Smith '78, Emeritus, Allen H. Treman '21, Foster M. Coffin '12, Alumni Representative, and Ray W. Ashbery '25, Alumni Field Secretary.

The committee is now determining the songs to be included, and plans to send the book to press shortly, for early publication.

FARMERS HONOR WARREN '03

Special tribute to Professor George F. Warren '03, head of the Department of Agricultural Economics, was paid by his friends and admirers when his portrait was presented to the University and unveiled in the top-floor seminar room of the new Agricultural Economics Building on Wednesday afternoon of Farm and Home Week.

The gift of the painting and a fund for the establishment of a George F. Warren Scholarship for graduate students studying the economics of money was made possible by the activities of a group of farmers in Genesee and adjoining counties who wished to show in this way their recognition of the value to them of Dr. Warren's teachings. This group was originally organized as the Western New York Farm Management Association, and from it has grown the Genesee County Farm Forum. Its members have for several years gathered regularly to study and discuss their farm businesses, largely, as they say, making use of the principles developed and taught by Professor Warren. Thus an economist of international reputation is recognized for the practical value of his teachings to farmers who apply them in their own businesses. Since the project was announced a year ago, contributions have been made by more than 100 farmers and others in agricultural work in New York and they are still coming, both from this country and abroad. Most of the money has come from the products of farms that have profited by Dr. Warren's findings.

At the presentation meeting February 17, Dean Carl E. Ladd '11 of the College of Agriculture introduced Robert V. Call '17, president of the Genesee County Farm Forum and chairman of the committee, who presented the portrait and fund to the University. President Farrand, accepting the gift, expressed appreciation both to Dr. Warren for his contributions to farm progress and to the donors for this recognition of Warren's work. Dr. Warren then spoke briefly.

Besides Call, the members of the Forum's portrait and scholarship committee were Ralph W. Rubino of Oakfield, vice-chairman; George Torrey of Stafford, secretary-treasurer; and Ralph D. Morgan '31 Genesee County agricultural agent, assistant secretary. The portrait, which will be hung in the Agricultural Economics seminar room, is the work of the late Rev. Martin D. Hardin, of Ithaca.

NEW YORK WOMEN TALK

Cornell Women's Club of New York announces for March 10 a buffet supper and round table discussion of "Merchandising," to be conducted by alumnae with retailing experience. V. Emily Sullivan '30, of the training department of Abraham & Straus, will give a "Survey of the Field;" Marian Saunders Bond '33, formerly with Tobe Inc., speaks on "Styling;" Helen F. Keane '25, director of publicity at Bloomingdale Bros., discusses "Advertising and Publicity;" and Majorie A. Rice '29, also with Abraham & Straus, will tell "Why I changed to Merchandising."

The conference is arranged by the Club's committee on vocational guidance, of which Ruth Irish '22, 25 East Sixty-third Street, New York City, is chairman. It is announced that this may be the first of a series of similar discussions of other vocations of interest and value to alumnae in New York City.

ALUMNI FUND MOUNTS

The Alumni Fund of the University, during the eight months which ended with February, received $76,205.80 from 3,461 contributors, Archie M. Palmer '78, executive secretary of the Cornellian Council reports. This is much more than for the same period in several years, and exceeds last year by more than $29,000 and by 125 contributors. Of this year's total, $31,846 is unrestricted as to use, the remainder being given for special purposes, including additions to the Pound Memorial Fund, the DeGarmo Fund, the Graduate Student Loan Fund, and others.

Twenty-five classes have so far given $11,000 or more each. The Class of '10 maintains its previous lead over the others in amount. The next nine highest classes are, in order, '91, '10, '16, '24, '98, '23, '12, '11, and '13.

One hundred or more contributors are credited to each of thirteen classes, '36 leading to date, with 771. Next in number is '35, with '22 and '26 tied at third place. Then came '24 and '34; '23, '21, and '20 as tied at seventh, and '12 is in tenth place.

Announcement has been made that nearly a hundred additional Cornell lawyers have recently accepted invitations to become members of the Cornellian Council committee on bequests, of which Edward Cornell '89 is chairman. Members of this committee are kept especially informed concerning the University's achievements and needs, for use with persons who wish to make bequests to worthy educational institutions. The committee now numbers nearly 800 Cornelianns who are lawyers and trust officers of banks and other financial institutions.

STONEPOSTS' BLESSED EVENT

That black cow we got from Mr. Burr had her calf last week, or, as we say so delicately in the country, "she freshened." On confidential information received from Mr. Burr we'd rather expected that freshening to happen a week earlier than it did, and on no information at all we'd confidently believed the calf would be a heifer. Consequently, we'd decided in advance to name her Rosie (after a friend of ours, if you must know). But the little stranger turned out to be a bull calf, born on the President's birthday. There isn't any farm in the world that can afford to have two bulls, named respectively Bessie and Rosie, so quick as a flash we changed the name to Roosevelt.

Along about bed time Thursday night (8:30 to you) we received word that the arrival of little Rosie might reasonably be expected in the not distant future. This put us on the spot, torn between sleepiness and a sense of feudal obligation to the retainers. It didn't seem quite sporting to go to bed, and yet we couldn't think of any substantial contribution we could make to the situation if we stayed up. So we went across the road and placed all the facts before our neighbor, Mr. Harrison, who is our chief counsel in all matters involving animal husbandry and the tilling of the soil.

Mr. Harrison pondered the matter for quite a while and then asked, "Is this that cow's first calf?"

"Oh, no indeed! This will be her third."

"In that case," said Mr. Harrison, "my best advice to you would be to go home and get a good night's sleep. I wouldn't want to say anything to hurt your feelings, but your cow knows a lot more about having that calf than you ever will. Good night."

And the next morning when we went out to the barn, there was little Roosevelt prancing around in the box stall as if he'd been there for months, and the black cow was munching hay as nonchalantly as though having Roosevelt come to town had been an episode connected in some manner with the dim past.—R. B. '04 in "State and Tioga," Ithaca Journal.

About ATHLETICS

The intercollegiate tennis tournament in the Drill Hall last Friday and Saturday, revived after a lapse of five years since the Larned Cup matches largely through the efforts of Richard Lewis, tennis coach, proved to be a pleasant affair. Many interested spectators attended the matches, which were refereed by Louis W. Shaw, chairman of the umpire's committee of the Eastern Lawn Tennis Association; and the Drill Hall arrangements brought commendation from members of the six visiting teams. Harvard was forced to withdraw a few days before the tournament opened.

Princeton won the team trophy, with a score of 13; Cornell was second with 10, Columbia 8, Dartmouth 4, Syracuse 2, and Colgate and Swarthmore did not score. Individual winner was Captain Alastate B. Martin of Princeton, seeded second, who went eleven sets, of 112 games, in the singles matches, to defeat William J. Simpson '37 of Larchmont in the finals Saturday night after each had won an extra-set match. The first went to Simpson, 8-6; then Martin won, 9-7; and finally he defeated Simpson, 6-1. Simpson played ten sets, of 90 games, first defeating Winslow of Princeton and then Antignat of Columbia and Anderson of Dartmouth, seeded Nos. 3 and 1, respectively. Captain Bernard E. Diamond '37 of Brooklyn, Cornell's other singles entry, defeated Lyon of Swarthmore and Dixon of Syracuse, and lost to Martin, 6-2, 2-6, 6-3 in the semi-finals.

Martin also played 48 games in five doubles sets, as a member of the Princeton team which reached the semi-finals. He and Winslow, his team-mate, were defeated by Antignat and Gilbert of Columbia 6-4, 2-6, 6-3. The Varsity doubles team, composed of J. Garrett Peavy '36 of Dobbs Ferry and Herbert Sobel '38 of New York City, defeated Swarthmore but was beaten by Columbia, 7-5.

FENCERS WIN AND LOSE

The fencing team broke even on a two-day trip last week, defeating Pennsylvania 17-10 in Philadelphia Friday and losing to the Navy 8-19 at Annapolis, Md. Saturday. The foil team, Steyer, Harold Parker, and Detmold, lost to Pennsylvania 4-5, and to Navy 3-6. The epee team, of Captain Macbeth, James Parker, and Harold Parker, won from Pennsylvania 7-2, and lost to Navy by the same score. With sabres, Shaw, Detmold, and Hopping defeated Pennsyl-

WRESTLERS WIN TWICE

Varsity wrestlers won two meets in the Drill Hall last week, defeating Colgate 11-9 February 14, and Pennsylvania, 18-12, Saturday afternoon.

Against Colgate falls were scored by Ward in the 118-pound class; by Hartzsch in the 135-pound; and by Gerald E. Oaks '39 of Angelica who defeated both Maxcy and Kuchler in trials for the 145-pound class. Winners by time advantage were Captain Mosher, 116-pounder, and Kenneth T. Smith '37 of Wellsboro, Pa. in the 135-pound class. The three last bouts were lost on time advantage, by Harry Smith at 165; by Robert L. Lucas '39 of Van Etten who had ousted Jack J. Siegel '38 of New York City in trials for the 175-pound division which lasted 22 minutes; and by Manning in the heavyweight class. The referee was Gilbert B. Hart '28, former Varsity wrestler.

Saturday afternoon the Varsity took four bouts against Pennsylvania, three with falls, of which Manning's in the last bout, with the score then Cornell 13, Pennsylvania 12, clinched the match. The other two were scored by Hartzsch, 135 pounds, and Harry Smith, 165. Captain Mosher made 3 points with time advantage over his 126-pound opponent. Ward was defeated on time by his blind lightweight opponent, Allman; as were Oaks in the 145-pound class and Reimers, back in at 135, by Captain Taylor of Pennsylvania. Siegel's match in the 175-pound class ran to extra periods after Clyde Cole, the referee, stopped the bout for coaching from the Pennsylvania bench when Lutz of Pennsylvania had Siegel on his back with a crotch hold and half nelson, and ordered them both to their feet. Siegel lost on referee's decision.
A Junior Varsity wrestling team lost to Mansfield (Pa.) State Teachers’ College, 8-28, in a match which followed the Varsity meet Saturday afternoon.

TRACK TEAM TAKES THIRD

The Varsity track team finished third, with 29 points, in the quadrangular meet in Boston, Mass. Saturday. Dartmouth won, with 345 points, Yale was second with 339, and Harvard trailed with 238. Welch set a new meet record and ran the fastest intercollegiate mile ever raced in Boston when he finished first in 4:19.6, a split second ahead of Captain Meaden. Herbert Cornell took another first, in the two-mile race, in 9:35.6, finishing ten yards ahead of Bassett, with Woodland of Yale, intercollegiate indoor 3,000 meter champion, twenty yards behind. Dartmouth was leading Cornell in the mile at the start of the mile relay. Hucker, Breitenbach, and Rossiter, son of Winton G. Rossiter ’11, had first trailed Boston when he finished first in 4:19.6, a split second ahead of Captain Meaden. Herbert Cornell took another first, in the two-mile race, in 9:35.6, finishing ten yards ahead of Bassett, with Woodland of Yale, intercollegiate indoor 3,000 meter champion, twenty yards behind.

LOSE TWO AT BASKETBALL

The basketball team rallied sharply in the last half against Syracuse February 24 at Syracuse, to bring the score up to within 6 points of tie, after a disastrous first period; but lost, 44-51.

Saturday they lost to Pennsylvania in Philadelphia, 24-40, giving Pennsylvania the championship of the Eastern Intercollegiate League with nine successive games won, the seventh title in twelve years. Cornell has lost all its nine League games. They play return games with Yale March 6 and with Dartmouth March 8 in the Drill Hall, and will finish the season against Columbia in New York City March 13. Saturday’s summary:

SWIMMERS LOSE

Cloyes, of the swimming team, took the only first place for the Varsity as it lost to Columbia in New York City Saturday, 15-50. He won the 50-yard free style race in 24.9 seconds. He also won second place in the 100-yard free style, as did Captain Rasch in the 200-yard breast stroke. Third places were gained by George M. Holley ’38 of Gross Point, Mich. in fancy diving; by Frank H. Tilloston ’38 of Sagaponack, in the 150-yard back stroke; and by Zens in the 40-yard free style race.

RIDERS BREAK RECORDS

The ROTC polo team won easily and by the highest Riding Hall score, 33-13, its last home game of the indoor season Saturday night, against a substitute team of the 179th Field Artillery, from Wilkes Barre, Pa. Thomas Lawrence ’38 of Smithtown Branch bettered the Riding Hall record of 17 goals in one game which he set last year, by getting 23.15.10 ride rode at No. 2, and Merton F. Gerhauser ’39 of Chagrin Falls, Ohio, substituted in two periods for Captain Roberts.

Announcement was made at the game that the new official ratings, just made, have raised Clarence C. Combs ’39 from a 5 to 6 handicap, the highest of any American college player; and given a handicap of 6 goals to Arthur B. Christian ’38, who is ineligible for the team this year but officiated Saturday night at the loud speaker. He is the son of Dr. Frank L. Christian ’99. Lieutenant John R. Pitman of the Military Department officiated as referee, after having served as an umpire at the tennis tournament in the Drill Hall Friday and Saturday.

SPORTS EXTRA!

Baseball practice started in the cage February 15. That’s about two weeks earlier than in recent years. A new coaching staff needs more time to size up the players and get practice organized.

Seventy men comprise the present baseball squad; far too many for effective practice in one group. Mr. Tarum, new baseball coach, contemplates a temporary cut to 30. The pitchers look more promising than for several years. The problem is to create a strong infield.

The track team continues to spread its activities in much the same way that it has since the board track was rebuilt and moved up from the lower field to Schoellkopf in 1912. Except when they get into the Drill Hall by special arrangement in the week preceding an indoor track meet at Ithaca, the runners concentrate on the outdoor track at Schoellkopf. Field event men work in the cage after the departure of the baseball players, and the hammer throwers practice their specialty from an outdoor platform just south of the cage. Now the baseball players give up the cage at 4:30 and track moves in at 4:45.

Just at present Professor Coach John R. Bangs ’21 is the most harassed individual in the track organization. As professor of Engineering he has to put stu-getting a little sensitive about that question. Too many colleagues in the Humanities have been calling up to find out what the correct answer was supposed to be, because they'd been making pools on it over in Goldwin Smith. He says the question was framed—and he thinks it's a swell question for the purpose—to test the students' resourcefulness and not to ascertain their attentiveness or factual knowledge. He says there isn't any one, specific answer, and that lots of gentlemen wouldn't know just what to do in the case as stated.

Professor Meek says some of the best answers turned in by a student suggested first advertising new management and a radical change in policy, and then getting the Ministerial Society and similar organizations to hold their meetings at the smelly old dump.

LOS ANGELES WOMEN
Cornell Women's Club of Southern California met February 23 at the Los Angeles home of Kathryn Kyser '07. The hostess, who taught for eight years in old Mexico, served a real Mexican luncheon, and showed some of her collection of Mexican curios, laces, and other works of art.

MILLS BAKER LECTURE
Dr. William Hobson Mills, international authority on stereochemistry, is the Baker lecturer in Chemistry for the second term. Both a scholar and a fellow of Jesus College, Cambridge University, England, he studied for two years in Germany under the distinguished organic chemist, Hans von Pechmann, and received the degree of Doctor of Reum Naturae of the University of Tubingen. Returning to Cambridge in 1912, he was appointed University Lecturer in Organic Chemistry and later reader in stereochemistry. In the same year he was re-elected a Fellow of Jesus College and appointed lecturer and director of studies in Natural sciences of the College.

Fellow and member of the Council of the Royal Society and a former president of the chemical section of the British Association, he has received the Longthorpe Medal of the Chemical Society for research, and the Davy Medal of the Royal Society with this citation: "... distinguished for his outstanding contributions to stereochemistry and to our knowledge of cyanine dyes. He has made important observations in many branches of descriptive chemistry, and has extended especially the theory of stereochemistry and strengthened its foundations, both theoretically and by the performance of carefully planned experiments... He has made significant and characteristically ingenious contributions to the theory of the constitution of atomic nuclei. His researches have frequently enabled him to give a really decisive answer to fundamental questions of chemical philosophy."

FOOTBALL IN WATERTOWN
Coach Carl G. Snively was the guest speaker at a meeting of the Cornell Club of Northern New York, held February 23 at the Black River Valley Club in Watertown. Other speakers were William I. Graf, head coach of football at the Watertown High School, whose team were guests at the dinner, and Frank Bowman '95, who discussed football as it was played in the "rough old days."

Judge Henry J. Kimball '11, who acted as toastmaster, was reelected president of the Club, and the other two officers were also elected for another term: A. Raymond Cornwall '05, vice-president, and Clarence J. Webster '31, secretary-treasurer.

NO ALUMNI INSTITUTE
The University Faculty has voted against holding an Alumni Institute this year, it was announced this week. Although keen interest in the project was expressed, the Institute is being discontinued, at least for the present, because of insufficient interest on the part alumni. It may be resumed in the future if there is sufficient demand.

The first Alumni Institute was held in June, 1935, following a recommendation made at the convention of the Cornell Alumni Corporation. The second was last June. Alumni were invited to bring their families and spend the three days following Commencement, living in the dormitories, eating together, and attending lectures and taking part in discussions conducted by members of the Faculty. The first Institute dealt with current social, economic, and political questions; the subject last year was "The Arts in an Industrial Civilization." In both years the total attendance was about one hundred. In 1935 sixty-one persons not connected with the University registered. Last year the attendance from out of town was considerably smaller.

TO STUDY PARK COSTS
Three Cornellians will collect data on the cost of maintenance of park areas throughout the country as members of a committee appointed by President Albert D. Taylor '06 of the American Society of Landscape Architects at the annual meeting in New York City January 20. They are Gordon D. Cooper '07 of Cleveland, Ohio; Ralph E. Griswold '16 of Pittsburgh, Pa.; and Herbert M. Blanche '20 of Ithaca.

Participating in a symposium on the comparative advantages of Government and private practice, Taylor asserted that Government service offers great educational advantages as well as the opportunity for raising the standards of the profession. Declaring that economic conditions do not warrant general change from Government service to private practice, Walter H. Sheffield '15 of the National Park Service in West Chester, Pa. added that there is further need of a Government land policy to permit expansion of the present program, in order to make progress possible within the profession of landscape architecture. Professor Frank A. Waugh, '86, Grad of Massachusetts State College said that private practice is concerned more with the development of "a great art," while the Government considers "the contribution to public welfare."

ROCHESTER DINES—DANCES
The Cornell Club of Rochester had 250 at its dinner dance at the University Club February 19. A unique feature of the dinner, which seemed to evoke no little enthusiasm, was the complete absence of speeches. George S. Babcock '16 presided at the piano, Howard A. Sauer '17 led the singing, and Joseph W. Alaimo '31 sang the Alumni Song. Mrs. Babcock sang several solos. Henry L. Howe '20 was chairman of the committee in charge.

The regular weekly luncheon of the club was held February 17 at the Hotel Rochester. Miss Elsie A. Zur Welle, from the Berkshire Industrial Farm Institute at Canaan, told of the work being done in the rehabilitation of young boys at the Farm. Her subject was "Making Good."

"BURY THE DEAD"
Cornell Radio Guild, two-year-old organization of undergraduates, broadcast Sunday afternoon from Station WESG its own half-hour adaptation of "Bury the Dead," the startling anti-war play by Irwin Shaw which won acclaim on Broadway last year. This was the first time the play had been presented over the radio, and it was a most successful effort.

Listeners over the air heard a forceful drama of the six war dead who stood up in their shallow trench and refused to be buried. The play was given with all the finish of a professional performance, including the script, the acting, and even the sound effects. Radio adaption was made by Melville Shavelson '37 of Spring Valley, who is both president of the Radio Guild and C. D. XXVI, conductor of "The Berry Patch" in the Sun. The cast of twenty was directed by Charles Mendick '37 of Brooklyn, a member of the Guild and president of the Dramatic Club.

Organized last year largely through the efforts of Charles Brunelle '36, its first president, the Guild includes not only actors among its undergraduate members, but writers, technical staff and all the phases of radio production. It was given special permission to broadcast "Bury the Dead" by Alex Yokel, Broadway producer of the play, and plans now to offer its facilities to others who may wish to experiment with radio and audience reactions without the expense of professional production.
ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

By Romeyn Berry '04

INTERESTING SIGN of the times is the development of the afternoon tea custom in the cafeteria and soda bar at Willard Straight. Every day now, from two to three hundred young persons drop in for tea around 5 o'clock. They sit at tables in congenial groups—boys and girls both—where they eat, drink, and talk about all kinds of things. The practice would appear even more charming to the eye of a mature person if more of these young men and women took tea, and not quite so many ordered a toasted cheese sandwich and a maple nut sundae with whipped cream on it.

THE SUN has started a new feature, "The Inquiring Reporter." Three times a week a question is put to persons selected at random in the Quadrangle. The first question asked was, "What is your opinion of the recent Supreme Court proposal?" The four students quoted the first day were all against it. A first-year woman in the College of Arts characterized the proposal as "pretty lousy."

IN GENERAL, however, Campus opinion on the Supreme Court question seems divided, with other matters taking precedence in interest. Dean Stevens of the Law School is against it; Professors Carl Becker and Julian P. Bretz (both of History) are for it. A petition of protest was circulated thoroughly in the Law School. Eight of the 11 professors signed it, but 101 of the 186 students did not.

LECTURES for the week include Professor Cecil Roth, fellow of the Royal Historical Society, "The Jew in Modern Times," March 1; Professor Royal E. Montgomery, Economics, "The CIO Plan of Industrial Unionism versus Trade Unions," before the Current Events Class, March 2; "The San Francisco Bridges," illustrated, by Leon S. Moisseiff, March 5; and Walter Lanoe, formerly of the Prussian Ministry of Education and lecturer at the University of Berlin, "State and Education as a Problem of Political Science," a Goldwin Smith lecture, March 5.

SAGE CHAPEL PReACHER March 7 is the Rev. J. Edgar Park, president of Wheaton College.

ROTc ARTILLERY now has one of its batteries completely motorized. Ford and Chevrolet have loaned equipment for teaching a new course in the subject. The guns—French 75s—are mounted on pneumatic tongs so they won't cut up the dancing floor in the Drill Hall. In all other respects service conditions prevail.

THE MORNING after the Junior Prom somebody found beside the path that leads down the Library slope a Burberry ulster, size 40, bearing the mark of Finchley's in Chicago. The pockets contained two pairs of masculine gloves (one pair leather, the other wool) and stuffed down a sleeve was a very nice black satin muffler with a gray lining. The finder left this coat with the Cornell Daily Sun, which advertised it conscientiously for weeks, with no takers. The situation is becoming embarrassing, for the business staff of the Sun runs this year to short sizes. The overcoat is much too large for any member. A new board comes in at Easter, however, and one of its first problems will be to determine who gets that coat. The lucky man will be expected to pay the old board for all those advertisements.

THE ORGANIZATION of another peace society has been announced. This one is to be called the Campus Peace Council.

CAPTAIN RICH of the basketball team, whose normal weight is around 180, lost 23 pounds in his recent attack of scarlet fever which proved so disastrous to the team. He now weighs 157. Eight more and he's going out for baseball as a center fielder.

BADMINTON has been added to the list of sports in which there is intramural participation.

IN THE DUSK of almost every Sunday afternoon there is music in Memorial Hall at Willard Straight. Last Sunday there appeared three groups of local instrumentalists, all directed by Mr. Joseph Kirshbaum of the Music Department. In one group a horn, a violin, and a piano played Brahms; in another Ravel was read by harp, flute, and clarinet against a background of a string quartet. There is no admission charge for any of these concerts.

PROFESSOR JOHN E. PERRY, Railroad Engineering, has been elected chairman of the Republican County Committee to fill a vacancy which has existed for weeks. In the past that has been regarded as about the best job around here, and it's likely to become a good job again. Tompkins is still a Republican county, and by a large majority. But that chairmanship has gone begging. The acceptance of it now by Professor Perry is regarded as an unselfish and public spirited action.

GEORGE H. HARTMAN, last of the old time Ithaca boat builders, friend of Charles E. Courtney and familiar figure around the Varsity boathouse in the beginning of the century, died last week.
NECROLOGY

1932. BS.—Rev. (Isaac) Newman Lounsbury Herb, February 19, 1937, in Kingston. He entered the University at its opening in 1869, and became a First Lieutenant in the Cadet Corps. A Methodist minister for half a century, he was graduated from Drew Seminary in 1877, and held pastorates successively in Cannonsville, East Chatham, Millbrook, Ellenville, Monroe, Alligerville, Kerhonkson, Grahamsville, East Branch, Cooks Falls, Accord, and Woodridge.

'01 SP.—Thomas Stahl Marble, January 22, 1937, in Baltimore, Md. He was a special student in Mechanical Engineering in 1897-98. He had been a naval architect and marine engineer with the Bethlehem Steel Company for many years, and moved to Baltimore two years ago. Phi Kappa Psi.

'11.—Harold Smith Hawkins, January 23, 1937, in Los Angeles, Calif. He entered Mechanical Engineering in 1907 and remained three years. After many years in Cleveland, Ohio, he moved to Los Angeles in 1935 to become associated with Luxford and Company. Alpha Delta Phi.

'15 BChem.—Geoffrey Minto James, February 17, 1937, in Philadelphia, Pa. of injuries received in an automobile accident February 10. In July, 1915, he became a Second Lieutenant in the British Army and was invalided out of service in Loos and Ypres, France, in 1916. During 1917 he was detailed to the U.S. Army School of Military Aeronautics at Ithaca as a machine gun instructor. Later he became an instructor at the University of Pennsylvania, where he received the Doctorate in 1926; the next year he was appointed assistant professor of chemistry. He made a reputation for important research in the electrochemistry of solutions. Resigning at Pennsylvania in 1935, he had since been working on plans to establish a dry-ice cream plant and brewery with his father and brother in Bombay, India. Phi Beta Kappa.

'32.—William Wood Booth, February 8, 1937, following an automobile accident. His address was 142 Summit Avenue, Buffalo. After two years in the Arts College, he had since been in the sales department of W. E. Biggers, Inc. Varsity football squad; Mummy Club; Alpha Delta Phi. Brother, Theodore H. Booth '25.

COMMEMORATE TREMAN '78

The University Board of Trustees at its recent meeting adopted a resolution commemorating the life of Robert H. Treman '78, and his services to Cornell, to Ithaca and the State, and to the nation. The resolution recounts that his interest and influence in sports "in the earlier days of the University did much to overcome doubt and even prejudice on the part of Trustees and Faculty toward intercollegiate contests." His service as a banker, business man, and public servant is touched upon, and the tribute rendered by his associates in the Federal Reserve Bank of New York in their establishment of the Robert H. Treman Memorial Fund.

The story of his life would be but half told without an account of Robert Treman's association with Cornell University, the resolution continues. "For more than forty-five years he was a Trustee, the longest continuous record in the history of the University. To him, this office and its personal contacts were highly prized possessions. Here again he found an ample field for the exercise of his energy, talents, and wisdom. We can never think of this long, devoted, able service without sincere gratitude, nor without amazement that any man could accomplish so much in the comparatively short span of a human life. The Board of Trustees recognized him as he deserved, as chairman of the buildings and grounds committee, as chairman of the finance committee, and finally, as chairman of the committee on general administration; and through it all, he was the same earnest, unspoiled, vigorous personality.

"If a long, clean, useful, successful life, if a manhood of about sixty years characterized by integrity and fidelity; if a career noted for common sense, wisdom and ability; if endless patriotic efforts and many philanthropic benefactions count, as they ought to count, then the life of this departed associate and friend may be justly termed the life of a great man."

The Trustees' resolution was drafted by a committee appointed by the chairman of the Board, Judge Frank H. Hiscoc '75, of which Horace White '87 was chairman.

IN STATE BAR OFFICES

New York State Bar Association at its annual meeting in New York City the end of January elected two Cornellians as vice-presidents, and four others as members of the executive committee. The two vice-presidents are William F. Bleakley '04 of Yonkers, and Warnick J. Kernan '05 of Buffalo. Executive committee members include Loren E. Harter '95 of Watertown, Ralph E. Hemstreet '00 of Brooklyn, Philip J. Wickser '08 of Buffalo, and Robert E. Lee '23 of New York City.

Members of State Bar Association committees so far appointed include Nicholas J. Welden '06 of Rochester and James R. Robinson '08 of Ithaca, committee on unlawful practice of the law; Harry Moseson '11 of Elmir, committee on corporation law; and Lee and Henry S. Fraser '26 of Syracuse, committee on State legislation.

THE FACULTY

"Not an Artist nor a musician; just a wife, mother, and housekeeper," Mrs. Edmund E. Day characterized herself to an Ithaca Journal interviewer last week. When President-elect and Mrs. Day move into the President's House, 27 East Avenue, it will mark a return to the academic atmosphere Mrs. Day professedly loves. The daughter of Professor Charles F. Emerson, beloved dean of Dartmouth for forty-five years, she also lived at the University of Michigan four years, when Dr. Day was dean of the school of business administration. "When President and Mrs. Farrand showed me the President's House, they seemed surprised at my intense interest in the basement," Mrs. Day said. "I should especially like to have a recreation room there. I believe so thoroughly in that type of thing for young people and want the college students to come and feel at home. Particularly I'd like to have facilities for pool and ping-pong."

ALBERT R. BRAND, Ornithology, has recorded the voices of thirty birds and their descriptions for "talking books" prepared by the American Foundation for the Blind.

PROFESSOR JOHN COURTNEY '25 and Charles E. Cladel '29, Hotel Accounting, have announced their professional association with T. B. Maxfield, public accountant, in the Savings Bank Building, Ithaca.

Professor James B. Sumner, Biochemistry, will lecture on "Fifteen Years Experience in Isolating Urease" before a joint meeting of the Toronto Biochemical Society and the Toronto Chemical Association with T. B. Maxfield, public accountant, in the Savings Bank Building, Ithaca.

Professor Arthur B. Burrell, PhD '31, and Harold J. Miller, Grad '34, both of Plant Pathology, have discovered that treating apple trees with boric acid cures the pithy spots and soft brown flecks in the fruit, known for forty years but hitherto incurable.

Professor Walter F. Wilcox, Economics, Emeritus, expressed his support of President Roosevelt's proposal for reorganization of the courts in a letter to Frank E. Gannett '38, head of the National Committee to Uphold Constitutional Government. He writes: "I agree with President Roosevelt that 'the judiciary . . . is coming more and more to constitute a third house of the national legislature. If so, it should be subject to the conditions surrounding the other branches, chief of which is that members do not serve for life. . . This is not revolutionary; on the contrary it is a promising way to avoid an appeal to force, for the President is trying to carry into effect by means undeniably constitutional the overwhelming mandate of the people last November.'"

Professor Laurence H. MacDaniels, PhD '17, Pomology, spoke before the Ithaca Exchange Club last week on nuts. He showed many species as they grow, and described their uses.

Dr. John C. Hutter '33, instructor in Poultry Husbandry from 1914 to 1931, is manager of the New York City operation of Co-operative General Egg Marketing, Inc. Acting as agent for the Government, he recently purchased 125,000 cases of eggs with the double purpose of stabilizing prices and supplying food for flood sufferers.

Governor William I. Myers '14 of the Farm Credit Administration told the annual meeting of the National Grange in Columbus, Ohio, recently that "an eighty percent increase in farm income since 1932 and more advantageous farm credit terms have set a premium on farm ownership." Stating that "voluntary transfers of farm land are now at the highest level since 1918," Professor Myers recommended that owner-operator farming should be a permanent national policy.

Professor Frederick B. Hetty, Poultry Husbandry, will address the student body of Nova Scotia Agricultural College, Truro, Nova Scotia, March 10.

Mrs. Frank Thilly, whose husband was for some years Dean of Arts and Sciences and Professor of Philosophy, is confined to Doctor's Hospital in New York City with a fractured hip. Mrs. Thilly slipped on a rug in her apartment.

Professor E. Franklin Phillips, Agriculture, formerly district governor of Rotary, delivered a peace lecture at a Rotary Club meeting in Schenectady February 15, which was transmitted over the two General Electric short wave stations in an international broadcast.

Professor Arthur A. Allen '28, Ornithology, presides at technical sessions of the second American Wild Life Conference in St. Louis, Mo. March 1-4. For seven years he has been chairman of a research round table which he started at the National Game Conference. Dr. Allen is a trustee of the American Wild Life Institute, and Professor George C. Embody, PhD '10, Aquiculture, is a member of the technical advisory committee.

Concerning THE ALUMNI

'86—"Two Dutch retainers daily light the Welsbach gas mantles in the Victorian home of Louis Michel Elshlemiels at 118 East Fifty-seventh Street, where he sits in amused contemplation of the world, unable to venture forth from the only private brownstone front left in the block. At seventy-three (and crippled by a car) he is a "jolly old man," proud of his New Amsterdam Dutch ancestry and proud of all his art work, which has won him at last recognition in New York (Metropolitan); Paris (Luxembourg); Boston (Fine Arts); Hartford (Athenaeum), and the collections of many other galleries; public and private. Industrious, he feels neglected as a universal genius by a cosmos unwilling to have its problems solved. His days now he passes writing strictures to editors on mistakes, poring over magazines (he's read all the books), and revealing all to his older brother Henry, with whom he lives, that he (Louis Michel) is the family genius, the Mahatma of any subject you care to name. His leading aversions are shaking hands and solitude. Just now he is pleased that the Valentine Gallery, down the street at 16 East Fifty-seventh, is going to hold an exhibition of his oils, in which a group of his famous moonlight landscapes will be the dominating feature."—From the New York Herald Tribune, January 31.

'96 ME—Alfred Hurlburt is vice-president of the Republic Natural Gas Co., Corpus Christi, Tex. "Have been in charge since September, 1931," he writes "but moved all office force to Corpus Christi in June, 1936."

'97 LLB—Gail Laughlin has been a member of the Maine Legislature during 1937-38 and 1933-35. Vice-chairman of the National Woman's Party, she was a featured speaker at the organization's recent convention in New York City. Her home address is 65 Revere Street and her office is in the Press Herald Building, Portland, Me.

'98 LLB—The Associated Press recently dispatched an interview from Washington, D. C. with Congressman Daniel A. Reed in which the former Varsity football coach is quoted as selecting Cornell's 1935 triumph over Harvard as the highlight of his coaching career. "Early in the game," Reed said, "I believe so thoroughly in that type of thing for young people and want the college students to come and feel at home. Particularly I'd like to have facilities for pool and ping-pong."

'87 ME—Dean of the school of business administration. "When President and Mrs. Farrand showed me the President's House, they seemed surprised at my intense interest in the basement," Mrs. Day said. 'O1—Roy M. Hart has been elected president of the Brooklyn and Queens YMCA, with thirteen branches and 17,500 members. Beginning as a clerk in the New York City law office of Burr, Coombs & Wilson, he became a partner in the firm. Albany College, Albany, Ote., awarded him the LL.D degree last year, in recognition of his service in religious, charitable, and civic endeavors.

'O0—Charles D. Young has been elected a director of the Norfolk & Western Railroad. He is vice-president of the Pennsylvania Railroad in charge of purchases, stores, and insurance.

'O3 MME—Clarence F. Hirshfeld, chief of the research department, Detroit Edison Company, presented a paper on 'Arc Welded Piping in Central Station Steam Plants' at the annual meeting of the Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers in New York

'O4 AB—'In 'The Avon Fows,' his first independently written play, George Jean Nathan ('04) has put his and Shakepeare's best foot forward. He calls it 'an editorial variation constituting a comedy of modern marriage.' By shortening and combining 'Romeo and Juliet,' 'Othello,' and 'The Taming of the Shrew,' and reidentifying the characters so that the personages of 'Romeo and Juliet' appear throughout the ingenuous merger, he tells us what we have always wanted to know: to wit, what would have happened if the star-crossed lovers had married. The text is drawn entirely from William Shakepeare, with an occasional stage direction from Mr. Nathan's reticent pen, and sounds quite sensible, even if this summaries aren't. The whole piece of carpentry adds up at the very least to an excellent joke, and indicates clearly the way out for critics who are modest about their creative talents.'—Clifton Fadiman

'O6 AB—Helen Coffin received scores of congratulatory letters, flowers, and many other gifts upon the recent completion of her twenty-fifth year as chief of the legislative reference bureau of the Con-

Rubber Co., Ltd., with headquarters Associated with the firm for the last fourteen years, he was works director at Fort Dunlop, Birmingham, from 1928-31. Since then he has been controller of manufacture at headquarters, a position which involves the supervision and co-ordination of the factories owned by the Dunlop group of companies throughout the world. Collette excited the interest of the late Charles E. Courtney when he rowed a stroke of the Cascadilla School crew. He stroked his Freshman boat, and the Varsity during his Sophomore and Junior years, when he was elected Captain of the crew.
Due to Courtney's injury in 1916, Collyer, still an undergraduate, was selected on the nomination of Courtney as coach of rowing. He functioned on his own through the fall of 1916 and spring of 1917, but America's entry into the War prevented the participation of a Collyer-
