NAME EDGERTON '10
For Alumni Trustee

Nomination of Associate Justice Henry W. Edgerton '10 of the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, as a candidate for Alumni Trustee, was filed with the University Treasurer in March 32.

From 1910 until he was appointed to the bench by President Roosevelt in 1937, Justice Edgerton was professor of Law at the University, and he was assistant professor here from 1916 to 1919. In the interim he practiced law in Boston, Mass., was professor of law at George Washington University, and for a year was visiting professor of law at the University of Chicago. The Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia, in which he is associated with Justice Harold M. Stephens '09, is regarded as second in importance only to the United States Supreme Court.

Born in Kansas in 1888, Justice Edgerton prepared at Central High School, Washington, D. C., and after two years at the University of Wisconsin entered the College of Arts and Sciences in 1908 and received the LLB in 1914. He practiced in St. Paul and Boston before returning to Cornell.

For a time he was research assistant in the Library of Congress, and in 1934-35 he was a special assistant to the United States Attorney General. He has written extensively for legal periodicals; is a member of the American Law Institute and of Phi Delta Phi.

He and Mrs. Edgerton have a daughter, Ann, and son, John, who are Sophomores in the Arts College, and the family spends the summers in Ithaca. Mrs. Edgerton is the sister of E. Dana Durand, PhD '96, and of Dr. Albert C. Durand '06. Justice Edgerton is a brother of Franklin Edgerton '05 and William F. Edgerton '15, and their father, the late Charles E. Edgerton, was a student in the Graduate School in '97-8 and '99-'00.

Justice Edgerton's is the fourth nomination for the two Alumni Trusteeships to be filed next June, succeeding Charles H. Blair '97 and James W. Parker '08. His photograph is printed below, together with those of the other three nominees received by the University Treasurer before this issue closed March 14. Biographies of J. Brackin Kirkland '18 and Paul A. Schoellkopf '06 appeared in the ALUMNI NEWS February 16, and of Matthew Carey '15, March 19.

Nominations close at midnight April 1, and shortly thereafter all degree holders of record will receive official ballots. These must be returned to the University Treasurer not later than June 12, and results of the election will be announced at the annual meeting of the Cornell Alumni Corporation in Ithaca June 17.

BRIDGE FOR SCHOLARSHIPS

Cornell Women's Club of Philadelphia, Pa., gave a successful benefit bridge of twenty-five tables March 12 at Whitman's, for the Club scholarship fund. Marie C. Jann '28 was chairman of a committee of hostesses who made tally cards and table decorations in Cornell colors. Mrs. F. Arthur Tucker (Marion F. Milligan) '31 presided.

ALUMNIA DISCUSS JOBS

By Marian J. Baillie '40

More than 400 women students and invited guests attended the fifth annual Conference on Fields of Work for Women, in Willard Straight Memorial Room March 18. Speakers were five alumnae prominent in vocations which had been selected for discussion as the result of a questionnaire circulated among undergraduates. The conference, titled "College to Career," was presided over by Mrs. James B. Calkins (Gladys F. Gilkey) '19 of Rochester. Those who spoke were Dr. Anna E. Biddle '10, clinical psychologist in South Philadelphia High School for Girls, Philadelphia, Pa.; Alice M. Montgomery, former school superintendent in Rochester; Hilda L. Goltz '21, assistant biological chemist at the New York State Institute for the Study of Malignant Diseases, Buffalo; Miss Erwin V. Seiler (Laura E. Cook) '13, copy writer with the Federal Advertising Agency, New York City; and Mrs. Charles E. Duncan (J. Ann Phillips) '18, county home demonstration agent in Binghamton.

Speaking on women in education, Miss Montgomery said, "Teaching is a challenging profession; the field is broad." She quoted a scale for successful teaching which declared the following characteristics essential: voice, vitality and personality with a flair for leadership, understanding and consideration. "Women in teaching must also have a love for people and a tolerant outlook on life."

Dr. Biddle also emphasized that a genuine love of people is essential in psychological work. In addition, the psychologist must be secure within herself and be able to gain the respect and confidence of people. "Psychology is a particularly good field for women because it is constructive, not destructive. The standing of psychology has not as yet been established and it is a challenge to those who enter the field," she concluded.

Miss Goltz, speaking on women in science, declared, "The field of applied chemistry has grown tremendously in the last twenty years due to the new chemical interest developing among manufacturers. There are many openings for the woman with a good, broad background." She advised against a chemical engineering degree for women and advocated a general course in chemistry, physics, and the biological sciences.

Presenting the facts on women in business Mrs. Seiler said there are plenty of opportunities for every year women are undertaking new jobs in the business world. She outlined specific possible openings, stressing the fact that wherever there is fashion or styling in the product there are places for women. She advised that a woman work first in her home town, where people know her and her abilities and where her chances are greatest to make good.

"Married women have a place in the community which they alone can fill and which demands much of them," said Mrs. Duncan. "Homemaking is the oldest profession in the world and as such makes demands upon women everywhere."

In a forum discussion after their talks, the speakers agreed that women who intend to pursue advanced study should get practical experience first. Questions submitted by students were answered at this time, and following the conference students were given opportunity to talk with the speakers at a tea. Here, also, appointments were made for individual conferences Saturday evening.

Luncheon in Balch Halls before the conference was attended by the speakers and by undergraduate women active in Campus affairs.

Like its predecessors, this conference was arranged by the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs in cooperation with Miss R. Louise Fitch, dean of women, the Women's Self-Government Association, and the board of managers of Willard Straight Hall.

MODEL STATE ASSEMBLY, comprised of student representatives from twenty-five New York colleges and universities, will meet at Ithaca April 25 and 26. Bills to be brought in for consideration will deal with tax revision, socialized medicine, and the proposal of the Regents' Inquiry for two more years of high school training. Cornell's delegates are being selected on the basis of proposed legislation submitted to the Public Speaking Department.

About ATHLETICS

CREWS TAKE TO WATER

On March 2, Cornell oarsmen started a brief outdoor training session, ended when cold weather and ice returned to Ithaca. From then until last Saturday, crew candidates practiced on the Old Armory machines.

With the coming of springlike weather and the clearing of ice from Cayuga Inlet and the Lake, three Varsity eights rowed to Glenwood and back last Saturday. Other boats remained on the Inlet.

Last week a new shell was delivered, the fourth in three years, from George Pocock, the Seattle, Wash., boatbuilder. With it came two sets of oars.

During the spring recess, Cornell will be host to Dartmouth oarsmen for practice here.

Varsity Coach Harrison Sanford and Freshman Coach Norman Sonju have been putting large squads through their paces on the Old Armory machines but assert that no predictions will be possible until the oarsmen have been on the water several days.

Coach Sanford said: "The outlook for 1939 from the standpoint of material looks better than the last two years. However, much of it is comparatively green and right now much depends on the weather man. We need rowing and lots of it, and much depends on when we get on the water and what kind of water and weather conditions we encounter from then on. We are counting heavily on the spring vacation [April 1 to 9] when we will have the exclusive time of the men for intensive training."

In addition, the track team defeated Syracuse and Colgate in a triangular meet, finished second in the Quadrangular Games, and placed eleventh in the Intercollegiates.

The skiing team retained its New York State Intercollegiate Ski Association championship, finished second to Colgate in a triangular meet, and placed sixth in the College Week tournament at Lake Placid.

The fencing team also placed first in a quadrangular meet with Hamilton, Penn State, and Syracuse.

Still to engage in intercollegiate championship tourneys is the fencing team.

POLO TEAM LOSES

The ROTC polo team's bid for another indoor championship was halted by Pennsylvania Military College in Squadron C Armory, Brooklyn, last Saturday. PMC won, 17-4.

In two games during the regular season, these two teams each won once, Cornell losing at Chester, Pa., and winning in the Riding Hall.

Merton F. Gerhauser '39 of Chagrin Falls, Ohio, scored two of the four Cornell goals and Captain Arthur B. Christian '39 of Elmira and Henry J. Lawrence '40 of Smithtown Branch each tallied one.

MORE SPRING SCHEDULES

Two more spring sports schedules were announced last week by the Athletic Association.

The Varsity golf team will again compete in the Eastern Intercollegiate Golf Association's Middle Atlantic division, but will not play scheduled matches in the South during the spring recess.

The golf schedule:

April 21 Swarthmore at Ithaca
26 Syracuse at Ithaca
Army at West Point
May 5-6 Pittsburgh and Penn State at State College
11 Colgate at Hamilton
12-13 Pennsylvania, Georgetown, and Princeton at Ithaca
17 Syracuse at Syracuse

The Freshman lacrosse schedule:

May 6 Hobart at Geneva
13 Penn State at Ithaca
17 Colgate at Ithaca
27 Gow School at South Wales

RUGBY TEAM STARTS

The Cornell Rugby Club team lost the first two games in its history last Friday and Saturday. Princeton won at Princeton, 21-0, and the New York Rugby Club was victorious, 13-0, at Randall's Island.

The Club team will play several games in Bermuda during the spring recess.

Cornell lacked knowledge of the finer points of the game, especially kicking, but showed considerably power in scrum (scrimmage).

Football players on the rugby team include Richard H. Morgan '39 of Norristown, Pa., Alexander Burke '40 of Nanticoke, Pa., John C. Hemingway '39 of Syracuse, Club president; Frederic G. Jacks '40 of Hinsdale, Ill., and William H. Worchester '40 of Aurora, Ill.

Two Freshman squads elected honorary captains last week. Track yearlings chose Kenneth F. Zeigler of White Plains; the boxers, Leonard D. Gluckson of Atlantic City, N. J.

Robert H. Mathers '40, captain-elect, was named president of a newly-organized Cornell Wrestling Club last week. Purpose of the club is to promote good fellowship among those interested in wrestling, to foster co-operation with the Athletic Association, and to help arouse interest in wrestling, especially from freshmen. Other officers are vice-president, James N. Trousdale '40 of Glen Cove, and secretary-treasurer, Achilles L. Jeannopulos '40 of New York City. Coach Walter C. O'Connell '12 was elected honorary president.

The bowling team defeated Syracuse at Syracuse last Friday, 5,302 to 3,281, in a four-game match. The teams were tied at 2,599 after the regulation three games.

Cornell ROTC title team won second place medals in the recent Hearst Trophy postal matches, with Fordham in first place with 317 x 1,000. Cornell scored 916, University of Puerto Rico 911, Rutgers 906, CCNY 896, NYU 890, Niagara 887, and Delaware 875. Cornell shooters were Theodore H. Eiben '43 of Spring Valley, John A. Matthews '43 of Albany, Tex., James T. Miller '40 of Millerton, Charles Burns, Jr. '40 of Hartford, Conn., and Howard H. Wilson, Jr. '41 of Ithaca.

Tennis eliminations last week ended in selection of seven men to make the southern trip starting April 3. They are Jerome S. Affron '40 of Beacon, Louis C. Boochever, Jr. '41 of Ithaca, Edward D. Devine, Jr. '39 of Detroit, Mich., William F. Gifford '41 of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, James S. King, Jr. '39 of New Rochelle, William H. North '39 of Cleveland, Ohio, and Robert J. Schwartzman '40 of Bayside.

Walter Jacob, Grad, last week successfully defended his national AAU 158-pound wrestling title at the Golden Gate Exposition at San Francisco, Calif.

Table tennis joined the intercollegiate sports list last Saturday when a Cornell team defeated Colgate, 7-1, in Willard Straight Hall. A return match will be played at Hamilton April 19.

COACHES' GRAMMAR

To the Editor:

I am interested in the article entitled "Let's See You Spit!" in the last issue of the Alumni News on page 255, particularly in the three "standard" questions asked by athletic coaches and trainers, as related in the second paragraph.

The second of these three questions would seem to disparage the grammar of the coach or trainer, and it should not happen at Cornell. If a Cornell football player were slapped down in the Dartmouth game and asked the three "standard" questions, he would probably say in answer to the second, "The answer is Dartmouth, but you should have said 'Whom.'"

What do you think?

P.S. I thought Carl Snavely gave a brilliant talk here recently, and I do not believe he would say "Who" in that situation.

--Subscriber '27

The Alumni News March 16 did not say, of course, that Cornell coaches and trainers now use the "standard" questions quoted. We agree with "Subscriber" that no member of the Cornell staff would be likely to use incorrect grammar, and inquiry of the coaches and trainers confirms this. Coach Snavely and Trainer Frank Kavanagh tell us, in fact, that as tests of a player's mental normality they prefer to ask his locker number, which down it is, and whether Cornell is playing on the offense or defense. Thus they avoid nice questions of grammar, but we learn also that even if they should speak incorrectly, it is not customary for players to correct them. Snavely's comment on this letter was, "I was surprised by one of my players' football knowledge as of their grammar, I should have few worries." --Eo.

COMMENT ON BURPEE '17

To the Editor:

Arent Rym's delightful commentary on Dave Burpee '[17], Charles B. Driscoll, in "New York Day by Day" night before last, gave out as follows on Dave:

"Lately I attended a big party that was given for a new red marigold at the Waldorf, and there renewed acquaintance with David Burpee, the flower and seed man. He was a confirmed, conservative bachelor, last time I saw him. Now he has a pretty young wife, whom I met."

Flying up from Florida five years ago, I had as seatmate this quiet, taciturn fellow who was David Burpee, of the second generation of the seedman. He was then immersed in the creation of some sort of new flower in Florida. During the long flight I loosened him up a little, and heard of his passion for creating new beauty in flowers, and the pains he went to in order to produce a new variety.

I said to him, "What you need is a publicity man. You're almost as good as Burbank, or maybe better. Yet nobody hears of your work. Do you think that's smart? Let 'em know about it, and the public will support you in your efforts. That's always encouraging."

Did I know anyone who could do that kind of a job? Certainly, and I gave him the name of Clare Ogden Davis, red-headed Texan, garden enthusiast, author of books about flowers and gardens.

The taste of glory Burpee has had since that day has helped transform him. Gone is the old shyness—witness the bright new wife! Forgotten is the conservatism that shrunk from public appearance. Advertising appropriations of the firm have increased manifold, because the once-shy proprietor has learned that public interest in his activity is the best tonic it can have."

And I noticed that the red-headed Texan was waving the wand at the big Waldorf party.

Arlen C. Buttrick '16

Loyal to his Class, Buttrick also writes concerning the "electric ear" invented by Harlowe T. Hardinge '16 and the Novachord of Laurens Hammond '16, both of which were noted in the Alumni News March 16. He suggests:

"It might be that Harlowe Hardinge and Larry Hammond with his Novachord could get together to do something sensational, whether in the field of music or radio or mining, or perhaps Reunion harmonizing, June, 1941, when the Class of '16 will celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary, would be an appropriate time for them to demonstrate such accomplishment."

CONNECTICUT WOMEN

Thirty-four alumnae of the district met for a luncheon of the Cornell Women's Club of Western Connecticut at the Aiglon Club in Bridgeport March 18.

Guests were Mary H. Donlon '20, Alumna Trustee, Dr. Mary M. Crawford '04, and officers of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs including Mrs. Edwin S. Knauss (Dorothy Pond) '18, Mrs. R. H. Sherman (Miss S. Knauss) '20, and Mrs. Allan H. Mogensen (Adele A. Dean) '23. Each guest spoke on the Federation Scholarship Fund, and the president, Mrs. James C. Huntington (Joanna M. Donlon) '18 gave a brief history of the Club.

COUNCIL GIVES FACTS

Cornellian Council has issued a four-page folder briefly describing the Council and its work, and setting forth the University's need for a larger Alumni Fund. Tabulations show that Cornell is eleventh in amount of endowment, behind Harvard, Yale, Columbia, Chicago, Rochester, MIT, and Stanford; and that in number of volumes in its library it ranks seventh, following Harvard, Yale, Columbia, Chicago, Illinois, and Michigan.

The number of contributors through the Cornellian Council declined last year to 5,748 from a leading position of 10,134 in 1929-30; and Cornell's unrestricted Alumni Fund fell to $68,962.74 from a high mark of $78,508.44. Cornellian Council goal for the present year is 10,000 contributors and $85,000.

NOW, IN MY TIME!

By Romeyn Berry

Time and change are measured by different yardsticks in a university community, where Sophomores are eternally nineteen, and professors always forty-two. Ideas change imperceptibly and ideals not at all. The small concerns of one decade are so nearly identical with those of the preceding one that the individual comes to regard himself and his surroundings as immutable.

In such an atmosphere, it comes as a shock to realize that the Lombardy poplars which one remembers fringing the Zeta Psi house on Stewart Avenue are now veterans in which the signs of senile decay are apparent.

My earliest recollection of the Zeta Psi poplars pictures Henry Schellkopf '03, then an upperclassman, putting an end to a scrub baseball game on the lawn by pointing out to the participating brothers that it wasn't doing the new little trees any good to use them as bases and have the base runners bend them over to the ground on close decisions.

It is similarly a shock to discover alumni, of whom one still thinks as young men, alarmed by the menace of Communism among the students. Why, I can remember some of these men as slim undergraduates who advocated such dangerous doctrines as Free Trade with a vivacity which varied inversely with their knowledge of the subject.

Without knowing much about it, I suspect that present day undergraduates argue about Communism much as their predecessors argued about woman's suffrage, free silver, and Mormonism. Some, doubtless, are for it (with or without their tongues in their cheeks).

Undergraduates don't change much. In a university community, one takes that sort of thing as a matter of course and is startled when he discovers that any graduate thinks of it as constituting "the menace of Communism."

The only explanation seems to be that some of our former students are getting old and stiff and unyielding, just like the Zeta Psi Lombardy poplars. They aren't young and flexible any more.

WINS GUILFORD PRIZE

Guilford Essay Prize of $350 has been awarded to Howard R. Houston '19 of Newport, for his essay on Gerard Manley Hopkins, nineteenth century English poet.

Majoring in English with Professors Herbert J. Davis and Walter H. French '19, Houston became interested in the poetry of Hopkins, first published in 1919 and now recognized as the forerunner of modernist poetry. His essay is a critical study of Hopkins's poetry. Having graduated from Akron High School as salutatorian of his class, Houston is a member of the Poets' Club. He plans to become a teacher.

The Guilford Prize was established in 1901 with a bequest from James B. Guilford, to promote "a high standard of excellence in English prose composition."

"POSITIONS OPEN"

Job Bulletin 64 of the University Placement Bureau for March 20 lists twenty-one "Positions Open." Ten of these are for Engineering graduates; three are for chemists; three for salesmen; and the others for various positions, including clerical work for women in New York City, a teacher in a private day school for boys, and guides and chair operators at the New York World's Fair.

Alumni may receive these periodical Job Bulletins regularly by addressing Herbert H. Williams '25, Director, University Placement Bureau, Willard Straight Hall, Ithaca.

ITHACA GOES AHEAD

Dr. Dean F. Smiley '16, president of the newly-reorganized Cornell Club of Ithaca, reported at its second meeting, March 22, in Willard Straight Memorial Room, that the Club now has 215 paid-up members, making it the second largest Cornell Club in existence. He announced the appointment of William R. Wigley '07 as chairman of a committee to organize members of the Club to advise with Freshmen entering the University. Gerald C. Williams '20 is Club representative for the Cornellian Council, and Edgar A. Whiting '29 is chairman of the program committee.

About seventy-five were present at the meeting. The president introduced H. W. Peters '14, Provost of the University, and Walter C. Heasley, Jr. '30, executive secretary of the Cornellian Council, each of whom described briefly his plans and program. President Day then told of some of the problems and plans of the new Administration. He outlined three general objectives, the perfection of the general objectives, the perfection of the new Administration. He outlined three general objectives, the perfection of the program to keep Cornell in high place among the universities of America. As examples of the first of these, he mentioned the coming of Provost Peters to take charge of getting larger endowment, the recently organized Council on Physical Education and Athletics, and the suggestion from the faculty for formation of a full-time counsellor of men.

Entertainment was given by R. Selden Brewer '40 of Hartford, Conn., magician, by Edward H. Sargent, Jr. '39 of Albany, baritone, and by Raymond W. Kruse '41 of St. Davids, Pa., at the piano. Opening the meeting, Allan H. Treman '21 led the "Alma Mater," Peters accompanying.

The University's General Information Number for 1939-40, written for all prospective students, has just appeared. This year enlarged to forty-eight pages, it is printed in larger type than before, has new and inviting typography, and is entirely rewritten and rearranged. It answers the questions of prospective students as to entrance requirements, rules and privileges of the University, and expenses, living costs, financial assistance, and possibilities of employment.

The University has published 30,000 copies of the booklet. It is mailed with the Announcements of specific Colleges in exchange to inquiries. Chairman of the secondary school committees in Cornell Clubs have asked for it, and any alumna may receive it on request from the Secretary of the University, Morrill Hall, Ithaca, both for use of prospective Cornelli in whom he may be interested and to give to local school officials.

TRUSTEES COMMITTEES

J. DuPratt White '90, chairman of the Board of Trustees, announced this week the appointment of committees to study compulsory military drill, housing of students, student health service, and the present status and desirable development of the University Arboretum.

The Student Council petitioned the Trustees at their meeting January 21 that ROTC drill be made optional, instead of compulsory the first two years, and submitted a report on the subject compiled by a Council committee headed by Austin H. Kiplinger '39 of Bethesda, Md. The committee to study the matter has as its chairman Neil D. Becker '04, with two other Trustees, Roger H. Williams '95 and Robert E. Treman '09; President Day; three members of the Faculty, Dean S. C. Hollister, Engineering, and Professors Herbert W. Briggs, Government, and Paul J. Kruse, Rural Education; and two undergraduates, Kiplinger and Donald L. Sanders '39 of Maplewood, N. J., who is a cadet captain in the ROTC Field Artillery.

Student housing and health service have both been suggested to the Trustees for study by President Day, and the former has been studied by a Faculty committee. Last week Richard M. Halsey '40 of Rochester published in the Sun the results of a questionnaire circulated among students in seventy rooming houses. The Trustee committee is composed of Thomas I. S. Boak '14, chairman, Maxwell M. Upson '99, and Professor Donald English, Economics. Members of the committee on student health service are Jervis Langdon '37, chairman, Mary H. Warrington and Dean William S. Ladd of the Medical College in New York.

Maurice C. Burtitt '08 is chairman of the new Trustee committee on the University Arboretum, with Edward R. Eastman and George H. Rockwell '33 as the other members.

NEW YORK CLUB OPENING

Cornell Club of New York announces the formal opening of its new quarters at 107 East Forty-eighth Street, New York City, April 12, at a reception from 4 to 8. Members are invited to bring guests who are prospective members of the Club.

AROPLEAGUS

Surveying the tutoring schools in Ithaca in "Shortcuts to Culture," Sonia E. Adelson '41 of Newport, R. I., in Aropleagus for March estimates that about thirteen percent of the undergraduates in the University attended the three schools before finals last February. She says, further, that "nearly all the students came from the Engineering or the Arts Colleges." She doubts the schools' efficacy to instill lasting knowledge, but concludes that "as long as the University continues to place such a heavy emphasis on grades, and as long as the personal instruction is not performed by the University itself, there is some justification" for them.

Professor Edward A. Tenney, PhD '32, English, writes a severe indictment of the recently published Regents' Inquiry Report, "Education for American Life, A New Program for the State of New York." He finds in its suggestion of a "moral" education rather than one aimed toward intelligence a parallel to the education prescribed by European dictators, and vigorously opposes what he says will result in "the creation of narrow, provincial, fanatical, unintelligent tools of the state."

An address given by Lester W. W. Morrow '11 last fall to a class in Engineering is condensed under the title "Industry Meets New Needs." He sees progress ahead for America under the new type of business leadership which is now coming to the fore, and tells how it will be accomplished.

Other writers on this issue are "Professor" J. Ellis Cole '39 of Carlisle, who contributes a learned dissertation on the genus "Amator Cornellius," titled "Evolution of the Demon Lover," and Alvin Gallen '40 of Amsterdam, who answers in the affirmative the question "Is Hitler Courting Russia?" and predicts that "we will see a progressively closer and more friendly relationship between the two countries within a year or two."

ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

OFFICIAL GARB of Junior men this spring has been the subject of widespread student discussion. Two weeks ago we announced that the committee had compromised by allowing the purchaser a choice of white or maroon. Last week the Sun published a new decision, for a maroon jacket with a white seal on the pocket. Then the Student Council, petitioned by members of the Class, asked the committee to reconsider. This it did, but the last word from the chairman, Richard K. Collins '40, is that Junior blazers will be maroon.

GOOD RELATIONS of Town and Gown are being actively fostered by President and Mrs. Day. They will give a tea at the President's House April 2 for the chairman and committee heads of the Reconstruction Ball which will take place in the Drill Hall April 10 for the benefit of Ithaca's Reconstruction Home.

SPRING CONCERT of the combined Men's and Women's Glee Clubs and Instrumental Clubs is announced for Bailey Hall April 20. Second half of the program will be a performance of Gilbert and Sullivan's operetta, "Trial By Jury."

FIRST SWIMMER of the year was Frederick Lerman '41 of Elizabeth, N. J. He dove into Fall Creek March 8, splashed and climbed out to collect a one-dollar bet from friends on the bank. The same day a dog broke through the ice on Beebe Lake.

MRS. LOUISE I. KWAN, Grad, of Hankow, China, soprano, has been giving recitals in several Florida cities under the auspices of the Florida Chain of Missionary Assemblies. On her way back she sang in New York City for the Board of Foreign Missions. Pupil of Eric Dudley, she has appeared as soloist with the Women's Glee Club.

SPRING DANCE of the American Student Union, in Willard Straight Hall March 24, was in honor of four alumni who fought for the Loyalists in Spain. Jacob Shulman '35 and Victor Tinship '37 were present and spoke. David W. Lippert '33 was unable to come, and Raleigh Frohman '36 has been reported "missing in action" for nearly a year.

FISHERMEN (and women) turned out 350 strong for a demonstration and lecture by Marvin K. Hedge, world champion fly-caster, arranged in Willard Straight Memorial Room recently by the Department of Physical Education. They appeared to be about equally divided as to undergraduates and members of the University staff. Right after spring recess the Department has arranged for Hedge to give courses of twelve lessons each on fly casting and bait casting, Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. Professor Charles V. F. Young '99 says that about seventy-five have already enrolled.

POPULARITY of the ROTC band is specifically evidenced whenever they appear at indoor functions. At the recent track meet in the Drill Hall, fourteen young ladies were seated with the band. They were at both edges of the band's section of seats; seemed to belong equally to the woodwinds and the brasses.

ALPHA CHI RHO won the interfraternity ski championship, competing in three events against six other fraternities in the Caroline Hills March 11 and 12.

ALUMNI NEWS of March 16 is being used by the manufacturer of our paper stock as an example of fine printing results. Consolidated Water Power & Paper Co. purchased 100 copies of that issue to send to printers and publishers.

DELEGATES and faculty advisers from thirteen student branches of the ASME in Eastern technical schools and colleges will attend a regional conference in Willard Straight Hall April 14 and 15.

FORBES HEERMANS PRIZE has been awarded to Edward L. Kamark '40 of New York City for his play, "Apart-ment 2D." This was a second prize of $50, no first prize being awarded this year. The Prizes were established with a bequest from Forbes Heermans '78, for plays by undergraduates "on an American theme."

GLENSWOOD HOTEL, down the west shore of the Lake, will reopen early in May under the management of Theodore Howes, brother of Raymond F. Howes '14, George Atesde, proprietor of Ithaca restaurants, and Frederick Abraham. Recurrently popular for fifty years as a lakeside resort, the grounds will be landscaped and planted and the building thoroughly renovated and remodelled for summer occupancy.

SPRING RECESS will be spent by twenty-five students in Chemical Engineering visiting chemical plants in and around Philadelphia, Pa. They will travel in a chartered bus and will be accompanied by Director Fred H. Rhodes, PhD '14, and Professors Oscar J. Swenson and Charles C. Winding. Among their hosts will be the Socony-Vacuum Oil Co., John T. Lewis Co., Pennsylvania Sugar Co., Leeds & Northrup, Brown Instrument Co., C. Schmidt & Sons, and the E. I. duPont de Nemours Co.

The shepherds of the 1916 Class are taking time by the forelock, and knowing that man is but the boy grown older, and with almost maternal care, are providing far in advance for the return of their charges for the 25-Year Reunion. Literature will shortly be in the mails showing how, with a $5.00 monthly deposit, starting hereabouts, all will be able to attend at Alma Mater in 1941, in a neat if not gaudy manner, and without benefit of subsidy, charity, skulduggerly, or other unamiable device. As in all things on the great American canvas, there must be a slogan, and we have it: "Adopt the 1916 Plan." We hope you like it.

Cowles Andrus, the old sweep oar, in his official capacity as assistant cashier of Passaic National Bank and Trust Company, of Passaic, N. J., has arranged for funds to be received on deposit at his bank to the credit of all ’16ers remitting same, by mail, each month, with a minimum of $5 a month to be so forwarded. It is the Christmas Club idea, the funds to be strictly the property of the depositor as in any bank account and merely a little timely, painless saving with a definite object in view. Larger monthly sums will be gladly received for those who may choose to accumulate their funds at a sooner date, or whose design may encompass a more elaborate and gala reunion period, calling for a more impressive budget. We never did have any proletarian prejudice against wealth, per se.

With tongue in check, Cowles mentions a top receivable from any individual of $5,000, with the proviso that if any such tycoon should turn up in our midst, he will ask the boys to stop bothering him with the small change and will arrange that our own parochial wealth, merely a little timely, painless saving for the depositor as in any bank account and with a definite object in view. Larger monthly sums will be gladly received for those who may choose to accumulate their funds at a sooner date, or whose design may encompass a more elaborate and gala reunion period, calling for a more impressive budget. We never did have any proletarian prejudice against wealth, per se.

The reaction of some Classmates may be that they will have adequate funds in 1941, so why bother with these monthly payments. Our reply would be that we hope you will have such funds in 1941 and for all time thereafter until you are gathered to your fathers, but we want you to join in The Plan regardless, so that even if "Come The Revolution" and we are taking our turn at the barricades in 1941, we will still be able to get back to the Hill. Also, your cooperation in The Plan is desired to show the old spirit, the old college try of distant memory, and you will be encouraging those who are giving generously of their time and efforts on the work of the Reunion. May we exhort you—"Adopt the 1916 Plan!"

—H. F. B.

'17 ME—Louis J. Galbreath is a technical adviser for Revere Copper and Brass, Inc., 230 Park Avenue, New York City. He is married, has a son and a daughter, and lives at Mile Road, Suffern.

'18 DVM—Solon N. Blackberg, after whose name can be written a DVM from Cornell, a BS and an MS from Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College, and a PhD from Tulane, has been teaching medical students for many years without benefit of an MD, is acquiring those letters at the University of Arkansas Medical School," according to an article in the Little Rock, Ark., Gazette. It continues, "Among Arkansas physicians now lecturing to him are several who formerly were his students in pharmacology... Mr. Blackberg, individually and working with nationally known scientists and physicians, has written more than fifty published contributions to medicine... Lack of a degree in medicine handicapped him in consultation with physicians even though the question might be covered by a subject he has taught for fifteen years. But his real reason for studying medicine was to equip himself for applying his theoretical knowledge to abnormal cases."

'19—Dr. Carleton Campbell practices medicine at 886 Park Place, Brooklyn. He received the MD degree from Long Island Medical College in 1935.

'24—First meeting of the executive committee for the Ithaca District to make Reunion plans for the Class of '14 was in Willard Straight Hall, March 17. Chairman of the district, which includes Elmira, Binghamton, Corning, Cortland, Geneva, Interlaken, and other nearby towns as well as Ithaca, is Raymond F. Howes, assistant to the Dean of the College of Engineering.

Professor Arthur J. Keeffe, Law, was made chairman of a committee to arrange a dinner for all ’14 men in the district on April 24. Other dinners will be held the same night throughout the country, with the slogan "4/4 for ’24."

Foster M. Coffin '12, Alumni Representative, and Ray S. Ashbery '25, Alumni Field Representative, attended the luncheon and explained details of the typical Reunion of the fifteen-year Class. Present members of the executive committee who attended were, besides Howes and Keeffe, Professors Lawrence A. Burckmyer, Jr. and Stephen F. Cleary, Engineering; William D. McMillan, Thomas F. Marble, Richard S. Hill, and Edward H. Woods. Additional members of the committee are Professor James Hutton, Classics, and Frederick A. Wilcox. A Russian wolfhound, entered by Leonard Miscall '19 and Mrs. Miscall, was awarded first prize in American bred and first prize in its class.

'28 BS—Charles A. Clement is steward at Haverford College, Haverford, Pa. He is engaged to Eleanor Y. Pusey. Miss Pusey is a graduate of Swarthmore College and the University of Pennsylvania.
AN OPEN LETTER

To all Old Men of '29

Sirs:—*

Do you feel the weight of age and responsibility creeping on you? Would you seek your fleeing youth (see above)? Or perhaps merely rest for nostalgic hours under the shade of venerable Campus trees? Or perhaps lie in a gentle stupor in the sun on the Library slope?

Then join our marching throng toward Ithaca in June for '29's 10th Reunion and its first real blow-out!

Your Committee has been struggling with program details and this promises that when you return, you will find familiar faces, things to do and places to go. The program will be full and those who wish to keep busy will not find a dull moment while those who merely wish to browse among familiar scenes and talk quietly with old friends will have ample opportunity.

There will be beer and skittles (sandwiches) on tap in our Class headquarters 29 hours a day. Our costumes will be simple and practical and the fee for everything will be small but aside from the fun let's make this a Reunion of FRIENDS. Elsewhere on this page you will see listed those whom we have already heard are planning to be back. If you see the names of friends of yours, come back and join them. If not, write to some old Classmate and plan to meet him in Ithaca this June. In a later issue we will publish a longer list of all those we have heard from by that time. Why not have your name on that list so your friends will see it and want to come back?

*It would seem inaccurate to use the term “Gentlemen.”

Is Your Boy at Cornell?

After they have been in the University a while, a good many students prefer the privacy and comfort of Sheldon Court, especially as the range of their interests and activities increases. Every year we have a number of upperclassmen come to us from fraternity houses and rooming houses. They know they can get more done, living here.

Rooms for next year in Sheldon Court will be open for reservation right after spring vacation. While your son is home, perhaps you'd better talk it over with him. It is quite possible he would get more out of Cornell living with us next year.

Our location just off the Campus is convenient, yet not distracting. Rooms and suites are completely and comfortably furnished. The building is quiet and safe, with free tennis courts and free parking for cars. Under the same roof are an excellent restaurant, bookstore, barber shop, physician's offices.

And best of all, Sheldon Court rates are no more than for less comfortable accommodations elsewhere.

New folder giving complete information and diagrams for reservations next year is now ready. We'd like you to have it. Address:

WHAT WILL YOUR SON DO THIS SUMMER?

CAMP OTTER WILL SOLVE YOUR PROBLEM

A Summer Camp for Boys 8 to 17

This is the second of seven advertisements addressed primarily to Cornell parents, for the purpose of assisting in solving your boy’s vacation. Boys’ camps, like colleges and schools, develop in the course of time an individual character, tone, and traditions of their own.

Camp Otter with an ideal location, off the beaten track, and with a whole lake to itself, in its twenty-eight years of continuous flourishing existence, has developed an individual identity of a wholesome, rugged, active camp that boys enjoy and parents trust.

CORNELL FATHERS

There are Cornell fathers from Uncle “Pete” (Professor A. W.) Smith ’78 down through the Classes to ’26, from all sections of the land, who have entrusted their sons to Camp Otter—in some cases more than one son, for more than one summer. Among Cornellians and Ithacans who liked the results are President Emeritus Farrand, Professors W. D. Bancroft, C. L. Durham, Olaf Brauner, P. J. Kruse, Carl Crandall, the late R. H. and C. E. Treman, Comptroller Charles Bostwick, Col. Barton, and Messrs. J. L. Baldridge, L. P. Smith, Frank Morse, J. J. Dall, R. W. Sailor, Tracey Stagg, Clarence Morse. Anything like a complete list of Cornell fathers would occupy several columns. Last year sons of Cornellians from seven different states were represented.

CORNELL COUNSELLORS PREDOMINATE

Most of the counsellors are carefully selected from Cornell students for their leadership and camping ability. They are the kind of men you would like your son to know.

BOYS LIKE CAMP OTTER

Boys enjoy Camp Otter because it is a rugged camp in the Canadian North Woods where the fishing and wild life, canoeing, and swimming, are unspoiled by summer people. They enjoy and benefit in a varied program of land and water sports, horseback riding (without extra charge), woodcraft, handicraft, nature study, and canoe trips under experienced counsellors and a licensed Canadian guide, Mr. Bill Crewson, now serving his twentieth year at Camp.

SAFETY AND HEALTH

The health of each boy is carefully guarded by a competent physician, Dr. Showacre of the Cornell Medical Department, who will be back this summer for his tenth year. In Camp Otter’s twenty-eight years, there has never been an epidemic or serious accident. Every precaution is taken to guard the campers’ health and assure them a safe summer. There are no venomous snakes nor any poisonous plants. The region is a haven for those afflicted with hay fever or asthma.

COST IS MODERATE

The fee for eight glorious weeks is only $175. For the 1939 booklet write:

TRUTH FROM ANTIQUITY

An ancient philosopher's trenchant pen set forth this principle:—

"One generation opens the road upon which another generation travels."

What an excellent life insurance slogan!

For that's precisely what a family provider does when he establishes a competency to care for his wife and children if he is taken from them by death.

He paves their future way.
