CAMPUS IMPROVEMENTS Make Many Changes

Undergraduates coming back after a summer's absence see numerous changes on the Campus this fall. And alumni who bring their children to Cornell after even a few years' absence express astonishment at the improvements they find. Without exception, they remark upon the generally well-kept appearance of University buildings and grounds. This is the result of a year-round program of refurbishing that is carried on under direction of the Department headed by Hugh E. Weatherlow '06.

Buildings and Grounds Force Busy

But in addition to these continuing operations, more than 350 workmen of the Department of Buildings and Grounds have this summer made striking changes in the general aspect of the Campus. Immediately one notices that the roadway which used to run from Central Avenue to Sage Avenue, just south of Sage Chapel, is now green lawn with neat new paths across it. It was turfed almost overnight with sod taken from a spacious new parking area at the top of the slope between the Chapel and Barnes Hall. This is now surfaced with macadam, enclosed with rustic rails, and has shrubbery growing to screen it from Central Avenue and Willard Straight Hall. Sage Avenue has been moved east around Olin Hall, and its sidewalk along the east side from Sage College to Tower Road has been moved back of the trees and the road widened. North of Tower Road, East Avenue is newly paved; the distinctive old rock quarry in front of the men's dormitories is now smoothly graded and will soon be grass-covered; many trees and shrubs have been set out about the Campus; walks and streets have been resurfaced, and new trails and steps have been built in Fall Creek gorge. Another extensive grading and planting operation has been done around the growing colony of University service buildings near the Heating Plant below East Ithaca. A new lumber shed has been built here, and further up the hill above the East Ithaca station has been constructed a new storage building for the Department of Vegetable Crops.

Largest building operation is, of course, Olin Hall of Chemical Engineering, which is rapidly taking shape and will soon get its roof. On upper Mitchell Street, the all-steel High Tension Laboratory rears its skeleton. Noticeable also, however, is the exterior refurbishing by Buildings and Grounds Department workers of Stimson Hall, the President's House, the south facades of the Sibley group, and repairs and renewals on Roberts, Comstock, McGraw, Franklin, Lincoln, Rockefeller, Goldwin Smith halls, and the Library. Another section of the concrete seats in the Crescent has been completely replaced, carrying out the general upkeep program, and Mount Pleasant Lodge east of Ithaca has been further improved as a recreation center for students and Faculty. The Johnny Parson Club, now entirely under the management of Willard Straight Hall, has its easterly side extended toward Beebe Lake, thus doubling its dining capacity to about 100. New kitchen equipment is being installed and the dining room is being entirely refurbished, complete with a new "juke box," to

GIFTS EXCEED $2,000,000 For Last Fiscal Year

Gifts and bequests to the University totalling $2,261,037.38 for the fiscal year ending last July 1 were announced this week by Provost H. W. Peters '14.

Of this amount $1,054,330.24 was added to the University's permanent endowment. Gifts for current use included $384,024.17 for research and investigatorships, $100,000 toward an addition to the physical plant, $31,138.14 for departmental development, $26,736.76 for scholarships and loans, and $119,604.86 for other purposes. The balance is composed of non-endowment funds, of which some are specifically restricted as to use and others expendable at the discretion of the Board of Trustees.

Alumni Contribute Generously

Included is $112,901.94 in current gifts from 7,220 alumni through the Alumni Fund Council: a record both for amount contributed and number of contributors, unsurpassed since 1931. Cornell alumni also gave $37,902.75 during the year toward the University's program for developing athletic facilities.

The largest bequest, $508,573.93, came from the estate of James Parmelee '76, Cleveland real estate operator and financier, who died in 1931. Gifts from the Rockefeller Foundation for endowment, research, and departmental development totalled $697,425.90. Of this sum, $600,000 was to endow the Department of Public Health and Preventive Medicine in the Medical College in New York. The Foundation also made grants for research in tuberculosis, amino acids, longevity, reflex behavior, maize stock, chemistry, physics, and the history of the Far East, and for departmental development in public health, anatomy, drama, music, and Russian language and literature. An additional $5,555.64 was received from the General Education Board for a project in critical thinking.

$56,500 toward establishment of the Herbert Fisk Johnson Professorship in Industrial Chemistry, and the Olin Foundation contributed $100,000 toward development of the School of Chemical Engineering.

Among notable bequests received during the year were additions totalling $76,280.54 to the John McMullen Fund for scholarships in Engineering, bringing the total of this fund to more than $2,000,000; $49,644.52 and an art collection valued at $35,000 from the estate of Roger P. Clark '91, who was personal counsel to Governors Charles E. Hughes and Horace White '87; $32,380 of an anticipated $100,000 from the estate of Dr. John A. Heim '05, to be used for scholarships in the Medical College; $31,392.47 from the estate of Major Louis L. Seaman '72; $25,000 from the estate of Henry R. Ickelheimer '88; $21,678.69 from the estate of Mary Kerschner; $19,030.98 from the estate of Rollie B. Low, whose brother was the late J. McKee Borden '78; $13,829.13 from the estate of Mabel Estey Rose '00; $11,600.62 from the estate of Della S. Bishop; and $10,000 from the estate of S. Wiley Wakeman '99.

Among numerous grants for research were funds totalling $21,950 from the Josiah Macy, Jr. Foundation for research in neurology, pneumonia, senility, biotin, aviation, and family health; $15,012.53 from the National Research Council for studies of student pilots, morphology, metabolism, visual fatigue, physiology, air-sickness, night blindness, and other phases of medicine as applied to aviation; and $9,101.25 from the GLF Exchange.

Anonymous contributions of $18,000 and the sum of $10,000 from Stanton Griffis '10 were received to be added to endowment funds. $10,000 was received from the Ralph Hitz Memorial Fund to establish a scholarship in Hotel Administration.

CAMPUS IMPROVEMENTS

Important interior rearrangements in Goldwin Smith, Stimson, and McGraw halls have been made possible this summer through a bequest from Roger P. Clark '91, a noted lawyer who died in 1940. He left for the unrestricted use of the University oil paintings valued at $35,000, securities worth approximately $9,000, and an additional sum of more than $48,000. The Trustees appropriated $20,000 from this fund to construct a convenient suite of three offices in Goldwin Smith Hall for the Dean's office of the College of Arts and Sciences; to remodel the old Stimson Hall amphitheater into a modern lecture room with proper seats, efficient lighting, and good acoustics; and to build a statistical laboratory for Sociology in McGraw Hall.

In addition, the former Babcock house on Sage Avenue, recently occupied by the Dean of Women, is now converted into offices for the Counsellor of Women and the Counsellor of Men. The lower floor accommodates Thelma Brummett and her staff, and the second floor, with a separate entrance, is completely remodelled for the use of Donald Moyer and his assistants. Former Faculty residences at 3 The Circle, 2 South Avenue, and 3 Grove Place have been renovated and remodelled to take care of the larger number of undergraduate women. Other improvements include new ticket offices and coaches' offices at Schoellkopf, offices in West Sibley, enlarged facilities for the Medical Clinic at 7 Central Avenue, a new X-ray room in the Sage House at the University Infirmary. In Willard Straight Hall, acoustical treatment of ceilings was completed this summer, kitchens have been enlarged, a new amplifying room installed in the cellar, and new fluorescent lighting will soon be ready in the cafeteria, with new furniture for the music and art room and new rugs for Memorial Room.

Extensive lighting improvements have been made by the Buildings and Grounds Department all over the Campus, and underground they have also been busy. Electrical workers have installed a new power line from the Heating Plant to the High Tension Laboratory site, a new underground line for electric services, and telephone connections to Olin Hall where a new central office will be located. The Department has also extended the enlarged steam lines to the north end of the Quadrangle, with new meters on the main from the Heating Plant, new remote pressure recording devices, and has carried steam, water, and sanitary connections to Olin Hall. A ten-inch water line has been laid from Tower Road to East Ithaca, and progress is underway on metering of all water.

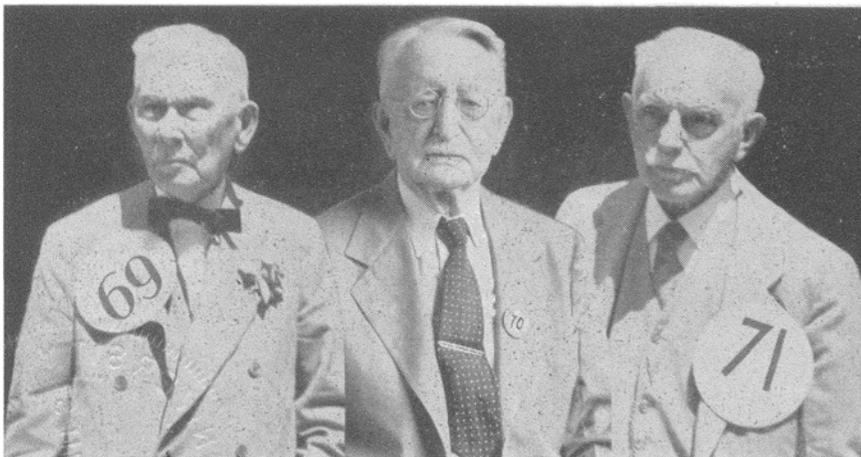

ANOTHER WINS NAVY "E"

A fifth industrial firm headed by a Cornellian has received the Navy "E" as a mark of special merit for producing materials for national defense. Last month at a dinner in Syracuse, the Navy Department presented its pennant bearing the "E" to the Carrier Corp., of which the chairman of the board is Willis H. Carrier '01. The ALUMNI NEWS noted in August that the award had earlier been made in Washington to Walter S. Carpenter, Jr. '10, president of E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co.; to John B. Hawley, Jr. '21, president of Northern Pump Co.; and to Bausch & Lomb Optical Co. of which Edward Bausch '75 is chairman of the board and Ford Instrument Co. headed by Hannibal C. Ford '03.

EARLIEST GRADUATE DIES

Dr. Brandt Van Blarcom Dixon, earliest living graduate of the University and the only surviving member of the Class of '70, died September 6 at his home in New Orleans, La. His death leaves Royal Taft '71 as both the oldest alumnus and the earliest living graduate. Dixon was born February 27, 1850. Taft was born September 5, 1849.

Dr. Dixon was the founder, and for thirty-two years until 1919, president, of H. Sophie Newcomb College for women at Tulane University. He became president emeritus, and in 1929, Dixon Hall was presented to the college by its alumnae as a memorial to him. He entered Cornell as a Junior in 1869 from Amherst College; received the AB the next year. Southwestern University and Tulane conferred upon him the honorary LLD. He was a member of Alpha Delta Phi, the first president of the Baseball Association, and participated in track and rowing. In 1938, he was the official delegate of Cornell University at the inauguration of Rufus C. Harris as president of Tulane.

SECOND OF THREE EARLIEST CORNELLIANs DIES

FROM FAR BELOW . . .

By Bob Bliss '30

Now we know how Rym Berry feels when he writes his column. One of our Jersey cows, named after the wife of a New York advertising executive because she is beefy but breezy, presented us with a bull calf at six o'clock this morning. We get all that glow of the Sage of Stoneposts as he sits down to his stint, his pen proudly poised, his ample figure fairly bristling with parenthood. But this is supposed to be a column on the metropolitan end of the Cornell scene, so we'll leave the butterfat out of the copy and get on with the story, lest the Boss Man tell us we're poaching on Squire Berry's preserves. Just wanted to let you know we've got the mood!

Summer tans are fading hereabouts, and seersuckers are slipping into serges. Tales of golf scores and fishing lies are abating, although Carl Hallock says he's taken a lot this season. There's even a little less about the Dodgers of late. Reason's obvious: the shift is to spinners and double wingbacks. Especially now, with a new menace to upset all the dope of the Forty-eighth Street quarterbacks. They always could allow for graduation loss of letter men and default by bust, but what Ole Debbil Draft may have done to a backfield is anybody's guess. There's nothing to keep professional Campus Room prognosticators hopping like a left half with a 1A classification.

The Cornell Club has a new institution that developed this summer. It's a Dutch Treat Table. You can buy your own drink and pay for it, thank you, but watch that hospitality! It's not allowed. Gives a stranger a nice feeling that he can draw up a chair and have a malted milk if he likes, and not feel he has to do the grand thing by the assembled. It's patronized by professor and advertising man alike, and you can never tell when Bull Durham, Eddie Goodwillie, or Jess Whyte will turn up at your elbow.

Being a farm commuter ourself, we're always interested in news of the breed, misery loving company as it does. We think the Cornell long distance cup should go to Wally Duncan '20, who trains it every day from Staatsburg. That's eighty miles each way, winter and summer, daylight saving or no—a neat batch of whistle stops in any man's language. The Duncan, besides being the spearhead of the sales attack at New York radio station WNEW, finds time to be master of some ninety-five hogs, from whence each Fall he draws very tasty home-smoked hams and a special brand of sausage that would make even Escoffier salivate. If you want some, just write him at Stillpond Farm. No charge for the gourmet service, of course. Wally made a moderate amount of yardage in the press last year when he re-named Old Town Hill, a Revolutionary landmark on his place, dubbing it George Washington Hill, paying a pretty compliment to the mentor of the American Tobacco Co. So far, we have not heard that Mr. Hill has turned the other cheek and named a cheroot after Mr. Duncan! Stillpond Farm is a misnomer too; confidentially, there's not a speck of the limpid wet on the place. Just indicates the family's tired of moving vans and has settled for good. "Still pond, no more moving—" Remember?

FOR NAVY GAME

Cornell Club of Maryland is arranging to entertain all Cornellians who can attend the October 18 football game with the US Naval Academy at Municipal Stadium in Baltimore. Through the efforts of Donald F. Stevens '05, the B. & O. Railroad is arranging for transportation to Baltimore with officers of all Cornell Clubs east from Columbus, Ohio, and north from Richmond, Va. The Maryland Club is also sending to Cornell Club officers announcements of a buffet supper after the game, from 5:30 to 7:30, at the Hotel Belvedere.

As a "warm-up" for the game, the Cornell Club of Maryland will hold a dinner meeting October 7 at the Johns Hopkins Faculty Club. New alumni of the Class of '41 who are in and near Baltimore will be guests of honor.

OMAHA PICNICS

Seven members of the Cornell Club of Omaha, Nebr., and their companions held an August picnic at the Omaha Country Club. A steak dinner was preceded by horseshoe pitching, a softball game between the men and women, and other sports, and the evening ended with the singing of Cornell songs. Secretary of the Club is Edward Schimmel '27, managing director of the Blackstone Hotel.

NAYATI BUYS BOOKS

A gift to the University from the former Nayati Fraternity which existed at the University from 1907 to 1919 will be used for a special collection of books in the library of Willard Straight Hall, Provost H. W. Peters '14 has announced. The fraternity occupied the former home of Professor John V. Van Pelt, Architecture, at 316 Highland Road, but disbanded in 1919 and sold the property to Phi Epsilon Pi. The gift of approximately $2,000 was the fraternity's bank balance after settling its affairs. After a vote by the seventy living members, it was presented for the unrestricted use of the University through the fraternity treasurer, Earle A. Ryder '11. The collection in the Willard Straight Library will include biographies and books on travel, adventure, and related subjects.

NOW IN MY TIME!

By Romeyn Berry

Again has your reporter been tapped for the annual September piece about football prospects.

His qualifications arise solely from his having attended one practice session in the spring accompanied by Mr. L. C. Boochever, the team's official bard and tub thumper, and from his having had his hair cut on many occasions at the Ithaca Hotel barber shop. Mr. Boochever knows the names of all the players, and the barber shop possesses all other necessary information. Prior to 1921, Colgate never bothered to scout Cornell; they'd just send a couple of coaches over to get their hair cut at the Ithaca Hotel.

You'll have to learn many new names this year, but you will have none of the usual difficulty in pronouncing them. This year the squad will run richer in Wolfs and Martins, in Johnsons, Jenkinses, and Pierces.

Commonly such a situation would spell doom, but neither State Street nor the Quadrangle seems unduly cast down. On the whole, we rather like our chances. Not for a championship or an undefeated season, of course, but we figure we might, perhaps, win two or three games on the merits and steal a couple more on the luck. That's enough under the circumstances, and it's a blessed relief to be freed of championship status and implications. We can loosen up and have a little fun this fall!

Not only will the 1941 team possess a different personnel, but it will be a different kind of team and play a different type of football. Gone are the light-hearted acrobats and the laughing contortionists whose deft handling of the ball frequently befuddled everybody, including their own coaches. This year's team will have to get its touchdowns—if any—the hard way. More kick and run, less throw. Not that there won't be some passers on the Cornell team sufficiently expert to keep the defense back there at a respectful distance and give the running plays a chance to get started. There will be no eleven-man lines opposing the Ithacans!

So much for the team, but what of the games? That is a harder problem to discuss, because the outcome of any particular game turns quite as much on the ability of your opponents as it does on the skill, luck, and fury of your own team.

According to the sports writers, all teams with ivy in their hair, excepting only Pennsylvania and Cornell, are to be rated several notches higher than last year. Not that that means much. One's faith in the prophecies of sports writers varies inversely with his acquaintance with sports writers. Excellent reporters, to be sure, but indifferent crystal gazers! But the assurances of the sports writers is all one has to go on until the first games have been played and grim facts have been substituted for hope.

The Navy is rated highly, and we know that both Syracuse and Colgate—Colgate particularly—are likely to present vastly improved troupes. The Ithaca Hotel barber shop is almost as infallible on Syracuse and Colgate as it is on Cornell, and the barbers point out—not without a certain impish playfulness—that our Freshman team was well walloped last fall by the freshman teams of both our neighboring up-State institutions.

And there you have it. A new and untested Cornell team, but one that has fanned the hopes of both Town and Gown to a modest flame! Eight familiar opponents, seven of which may now be regarded as more proficient than last year, and the eighth always a dreadful menace. Syracuse, Harvard, Navy, Colgate, Columbia, Yale, Dartmouth, Pennsylvania! We'll win from some of them, but not all. It would be silly at this time to lay in a large stock of red fire for celebration, or of lethal ammunition with which to shoot the coach. Take it easy this year! Dismiss all thoughts of championships and enjoy some excellent ball games—one at a time. It's that kind of a year.

As for seats, order them early; direct from the Athletic Association and not through prominent citizens of Ithaca. No Ithaca game will this year develop into a sell-out and panic. But there will be no game for which what the alumni commonly regard as choice seats in keeping with their prestige, importance, subscriptions to the Fund, and intrinsic merit, will not all be gone a full two weeks before the contest for which they are intended.

What's the sense of going to all that unnecessary bother of changing your will, cancelling your subscription, and resigning from the Club, every time you procrastinate just long enough to get four in the end zone?

FIFTH GETS MEDAL

Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education at its annual meeting in Ann Arbor, Mich., last June awarded to Dr. Anson Marston '89, dean emeritus of engineering at Iowa State College, its Lamme Medal for "accomplishment in technical teaching and the advancement of technical training." He is the fifth Cornellian among the fourteen who have received this honor. The others were the late Professor Irving P. Church '77, Engineering, Emeritus, 1929; Dugald C. Jackson, Grad '85-'87, of MIT, 1931; Professor Dexter S. Kimball, Engineering, Emeritus, 1933; and Dean emeritus Frederick E. Turneure '89 of the University of Wisconsin, 1937.

FOOTBALL PERSONNEL

The largest football squad since Carl Snavely took over in 1936 reported to the coach Wednesday, September 10, and immediately plunged into practice for the opening game with Syracuse Saturday, October 4, on Schoellkopf Field.

The first real contact scrimmage for the squad of seventy-plus was held one week later, when the outlines of the team that will perform in Cornell's fifty-fourth season of intercollegiate football began to take more or less permanent form.

As of Monday, September 22, it appears that six of the seven available letter winners will start the Syracuse game. They are Roy V. Johnson '43 of Tarentum, Pa., left end; Captain Peter M. Wolff '42 of Highland Park, Ill., left guard; Norman L. Christensen '42 of Englewood, N. J., right tackle; Raymond Jenkins '42 of Philadelphia, right end; Louis C. Bufalino '42 of Swampscott, Mass., left halfback; and Kenneth L. Stofer '43 of Lakewood, Ohio, right halfback.

The seventh letter winner, Edmund Van Order '42 of Ithaca, is meeting considerable opposition for the left tackle position from Whitney C. Doe '43 of Harvard, Mass., who was ineligible last season.

At center the choice appears to be James Blanchard '43 of Hamilton, another 1940 ineligible; at right guard, J. Russell Geib, Jr., '44 of Binghamton; at quarterback, Daniel C. Nehrer '43 of Cumberland, Md.; and at fullback, Joseph L. Martin '44 of Camden, N. J.

This combination, with Doe at left tackle, has been together most of the practice sessions. Van Order, Captain Wolff, Christensen, Jenkins, and Bufalino played considerable time last fall. Van Order, in fact, was a starter at left tackle in several games. Johnson, Nehrer, and Stofer were not used as frequently.

Behind Johnson, the left end reserves are Stacy C. Mosser, Jr., '44 of Winnetka, Ill., Pearne W. Billings '44 of Oneida Castle, and James Keats '43 of Plandome. Other left tackle candidates are John A. Manganelli '43 of Utica, converted from center, and John Vonetes '43 of Binghamton. Captain Wolff, who underwent a knee operation last winter and who is still favoring his leg, is understudied by Francis G. Paul '44 of Easton, Pa., Frederick A. Schaefer, III, '42 of Honolulu, Hawaii, Gordon H. Steele '44 of Cherokee, Iowa, and Pasquale M. Vescera '44 of Utica.

A real contender for the center position is Louis G. Helmick, Jr., '43 of Fairmont, W. Va. He has alternated frequently with Blanchard. Other centers are Meredith R. Cushing '44 of Eggertsville and Frank S. Ekas '44 of Tarentum, Pa.

The reserve right guards are Richard F. Rochow '43 of Pittsford, Donald B. Grady '43 of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Frank E. Barnes '44 of Mineola. Other right tackles are Robert H. Anderson '44 of Arlington, Mass., Charles R. Sweeney '42 of Scranton, Pa., and Strabo V. Claggett, Jr., '43 of Pelham Manor. The reserve right ends include Harry L. Trendennick '42 of Johnstown, Pa., Theodore H. Lansing '44 of Cranford, N. J., and John E. Servis '43 of Princeton, N. J.

The substitute blocking backs (quarterbacks) are Walter F. Pfeiffer '44 of Floral Park, N. J., Louis Daukas '44 of Nashua, N. H., and Martin Tobin '44 of Rome. The reserve tailbacks (left halfbacks) are William S. Wheeler, Jr., '44 of Evanston, Ill., Will D. Templeton '42 of Niagara Falls, and Thomas E. McDonald '44 of Poughkeepsie.

To spell off Stofer in the wingback (right halfback) position there are available Samuel R. Pierce '44 of Glen Cove, Richard L. Quigg '42 of Pueblo, Colo., and Howard W. Blöse '44 of Dayton, Ohio. The fullback reserves are Henry S. Dragon '42 of Albion, Philip T. Goldenberg '43 of Hartford, Conn., and Robert O. Gordon '44 of Winnetka, Ill.

The squad suffered two casualties before practice started. Charles P. Weiss '44 of Putnam, Conn., a back, underwent an appendectomy, and Clayton Rockmore '43 of New York City, a tackle, was ill of pneumonia. Weiss was considered an outstanding back and the best kicker on the squad. Rockmore was expected to bid for the starting assignment at tackle. Both will be available later in the season.

Coach Snavely, having lost twenty letter winners, has to rebuild. On the roster of eighty-three, only seventeen are Seniors, and twenty-four, Juniors. The coach has made it known that all positions are open. He forecasts a team stronger in running and kicking, but considerably weaker in passing. He believes that all of Cornell's eight major opponents will be stronger.

Snavely's assistants are Max Reed, George K. James, Mose Quinn, Ray Van Orman '08, J. Russell Murphy, Gregory Zitrides, Adna A. Dobson, and Walter J. Matuszczak '41. The trainer is Frank Kavanagh.

ODDS AND ENDS

Walter J. Matuszczak '41, now an assistant football coach, was seldom out with injuries in his three seasons as blocking back at Cornell. But he injured his knee in practice for the All-Star game with the Chicago Bears in Chicago last month. He played that game and another with the Eastern All-Stars against the New York Giants with the knee in a brace.

Nicholas Drahos '41 and Mortimer W. Landsberg '41, who played in the All-Star games, plan to play professional football: Landsberg with the Philadelphia Eagles and Drahos with the New York Americans. Michael J. Ruddy '41 is already a member of the New York Giants.

Jerome Brock '34, former center, has joined the Canisius College football coaching staff.

Robert Boochever '39, assistant to Allie Wolff, coach of the 150-pound football team, was inducted into the Army last month. He will be succeeded by Robert S. Grant '34, who is returning to Ithaca to practice law. Grant played halfback at Cornell and coached the first 150-pound team in 1936.

Cornell will number its football players systematically this fall. Left ends will have odd numbers in the 80s, right ends even numbers; left tackle will have odd numbers in the 70s, right tackles even; left guards will have odd numbers in the 60s, right guards even; centers will be numbered in the 50s; quarterbacks in the 20s; left halfbacks in the 40s; right halfbacks in the 'teens; and fullbacks in the 30s.

Coach John F. Moakley, beginning his forty-third year at Cornell, called a dozen cross country men back to Ithaca September 10. They began work at once, and started their training table in Willard Straight Hall.

CLUBS SEND OFF FRESHMEN

Cornell Clubs of both men and women around the country held parties this month for Freshmen coming to the University from their localities. Names of members of the Class of '45 were supplied to Club officers who requested them of the Alumni Office in Ithaca. Reports which reached us by press time indicate that the parties were thoroughly enjoyed both by alumni and by their new Cornellian guests.

More than 100 members of the Cornell Club of Buffalo got acquainted with thirty members of the Class of '45 and twenty high school students at a smoker at the University Club September 12. Harrison Sanford, head rowing coach, was guest of honor. He showed motion pictures of Varsity and Freshman crews in action. Other guests were President Broderick and Coaches Couch and Bennett of Buffalo's West Side Rowing Club, with members of their four-oared crew which holds the 1941 senior championship of North America and of their Canadian Henley senior eight-oared championship crew. Harry E. Harding '05, president of the Club, welcomed the entering students and told them about Cornell and the Club, and Herbert R. Johnston '17 introduced the Buffalo oarsmen. Chairman of the committee was George A. Newbury '17.

In Chicago, Ill., September 11 at the University Club, President Thomas S. McEwan '11 presided at a special luncheon with thirty-five Freshmen and forty members of the Cornell Club of Chicago. Alumni Trustee Alfred H. Hutchinson '09 spoke of the opportunities Cornell offers, and Frederick M. Gillies '18 described athletics. Plans were made for another party during the University's Christmas recess.

Cornell Club of Essex County, N. J., entertained about twenty-five entering students at luncheon in Newark, September 12.

In Los Angeles, Cal., September 9, twenty-three Cornellians who dined at the Mona Lisa Restaurant included two members of the Class of '44 and one of '45. President Stuart H. Hacker '23 of the Cornell Club of Southern California introduced Alfred A. Anderson '10, who is with the Los Angeles Housing Authority. He showed motion pictures of the Campus sent on from the Alumni Office and a technicolor film of construction of two recently completed Federal housing projects. Hal G. Davis '20 is secretary-treasurer of the Club this year.

At the Merchants Club in Baltimore September 15, the Cornell Club of Maryland had a party with fifteen entering Freshmen and about fifty alumni and undergraduates. Donald F. Stevens '05 and Henry R. Gundlach '11, a director of the Alumni Association, spoke for the alumni; Harry L. Turner '42, for undergraduates; and Fred Koch '44 and Charles Latrobe '45 for the new students.

Five of the thirteen boys who are entering the University this fall from Western Massachusetts were entertained at a picnic supper by the Cornell Club September 13, at the home of Vice-president Kenneth E. Paine '23 in West Springfield. Several present undergraduates also attended.

Cornell Women's Club of New York had fifty alumnae, twenty-five undergraduates, and about seventy-five entering girls at a tea in its clubrooms September 13. Eleanor Raynor '37 showed motion pictures of the University, Arleen Heidgerd '42 and Eleanor Reed '42 spoke on undergraduate activities, and Mrs. John W. Arnold (Dorothy McSparran) '18, assistant dean of New York University, outlined the opportunities to be found at Cornell. Cornell songs were led by Doris Gorman '39, and a fashion show by undergraduates especially for the Freshmen, ending with a "Sage fire drill," was in charge of Winona Chambers '42 and M. Elizabeth Beach '42.

In Philadelphia, Pa., the men's Cornell Club entertained eighteen of the region's twenty-six Freshmen and thirty-six undergraduates at luncheon at the University Club September 10. President John S. Fair, Jr. '27 introduced Robert F. McCann, Jr. '42 who described Campus customs and rushing rules. September 13, the executive committee of the Cornell Women's Club of Philadelphia gave a tea for women of the Class of '45 at the home of Mrs. Charles T. Walker, Jr. (Gladys Hobart) '04. Mrs. William H. Emery (Violet Harrison) '12, president of the Club, poured.

FOR FUERTES BIOGRAPHY

Material for a biography of the late Louis A. Fuertes '97 is being collected by his daughter, Mrs. Damon Boynton (Mary Fuertes) '31. She asks Cornellians to loan letters written by her father, and articles and other memorabilia about him, and for personal recollections and anecdotes. Material sent to her will be copied and promptly returned. Mrs. Boynton may be addressed at RFD 4, Trumansburg.

LETTERS

Subject to the usual restrictions of space and good taste, we shall print letters from subscribers on any side of any subject of interest to Cornellians. The ALUMNI NEWS often may not agree with the sentiments expressed, and disclaims any responsibility beyond that of fostering interest in the University.

LIBRARY ASSOCIATES

TO THE EDITOR:

Organization of a group to be known as the Cornell Library Associates, which you announced in August, is an action to be greeted with enthusiasm by any Cornellian interested in the welfare of his University.

Doubtless many of your readers are unaware that such organizations have been active in many university and school communities in the last ten years, and even now many great public and privately endowed libraries have such collateral societies working for their improvement. To mention a few: The Yale Library Associates; The Friends of the Davis Library (Phillips Exeter Academy); The Friends of the National Libraries (Great Britain); The Friends of the Huntington Library (San Marino, Cal.). There are many more, and in establishing a similar organization, Cornell is merely following what has now become a fairly common practice; yes, even for the other great college libraries. But to say that it is following the lead in organization is no reflection on the quality of the start it has made, and I feel certain that many Cornellians will welcome the opportunity to assume an active role in maintaining and adding to the special collections which form so impressive a part of the Library as it now exists.

In these days of decreasing endowments, any additional help, no matter how small, is to be reckoned an asset, and consequently the work of Louis Boochever and Walter Mueller in organizing the Associates and seeing the society through its infancy is of great moment to Cornell. In the next few months, members of the organizing committee will circularize prospective members. Because of the great number of alumni and friends, it will be impossible to reach every one who may care to join and lend support. Any who do not receive a communication and want one, or who know someone else who wishes to affiliate, may communicate with Dr. Walter J. Mueller, Goldwin Smith Hall, Ithaca, and their names or the names of friends will be added to the list. Bulletins will be issued regularly describing the progress of the group.—HAROLD S. L. WIENER '30

CORNELLIANS IN ICELAND

TO THE EDITOR:

I believe you are interested in hearing from members of the Alumni Association at intervals, especially upon changes of address, marriage, etc. Because my present situation is unique, as far as I can gather, to myself and a handful of Cornellians, I send along some facts that may be of interest.

I am stationed with the US Army in Iceland, still holding the rank of second lieutenant in the Signal Corps. Also here with the Army are First Lieutenants WILLARD MAGALHAES '33, EDGAR MATTHEWS '37, and WILLIAM VOGEL '39, and Second Lieutenant DAVID DUDGEON '38. It is impossible for me, or them, to give any information about what we are doing, so it must suffice to say that we are here.

We have found the country to be entirely different from what its name might imply. There are no Eskimos, igloos, polar bears on the loose, or such other impedimenta associated with the polar regions. Instead, we have found a cosmopolitan country, with a population not hostile to the Americans, most of whom speak English well or well enough to make conversation possible. Perhaps the wide use of English has been brought about by the occupation of the island for some time by British troops, but we have also learned that English is taught in the local schools. The terrain, land formation, and such information is fully covered in the Encyclopedia Britannica, so I shall not dwell on these, except to qualify their description by saying that no one here can remember any place in the United States that can be compared to the average landscape here.

Please transfer my ALUMNI NEWS subscription to my new address as soon as possible. We are interested in seeing how the Big Red Team makes out this fall, and you might tell them that at least one touchdown each Saturday for the boys in Iceland will be gratefully received! We are all of the opinion that Cornell's worthy opponents from Hanover and Philadelphia should be thoroughly annihilated, and that the other opponents should be dealt with less severely.

Kindly convey our best regards to those back home. If anyone has time to drop in up here, the visit would be greatly appreciated. We might even be able to arrange for a mild, very mild, party!—LIEUTENANT WILLIAM DIXON '40

GIFT AIDS GEOLOGY

The University has announced establishment of the Charles B. DeLong Graduate Research Fund, from gifts totaling $6,000 made by Berton H. DeLong '09, chief metallurgist of the Carpenter Steel Co., Reading, Pa. The Fund was established in memory of DeLong's son, who was a member of the Class of '37 and who died in November, 1937, while he was a graduate assistant in Geology. Proceeds will be used to assist male graduate students in economic or structural geology.

NORTH COUNTRY WOMEN

Alumnae of the North Country of New York State met for luncheon at the Brick House Inn, Plattsburgh, August 26. They were addressed by Mrs. Allan H. Mogensen (Adele Dean) '23, president of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs, and by Mrs. Frederick D. Colson (Edna McNary) '00, chairman of membership. Mrs. Millerd G. Larkin (Elizabeth Signor) '20 was in charge of arrangements.

PROFESSOR FRASER '13 DIES

PROFESSOR ALLAN CAMERON FRASER '13, Plant Breeding, died September 17 at his home, 119 The Parkway, Ithaca, after an illness of several months. Besides his teaching in the College of Agriculture, his research in heredity was noteworthy and he was an authority on tropical food plants. He travelled around the world twice, in 1936 and 1937, spending considerable time in Japan and Hawaii where he studied the breeding of sugar cane and pineapples and visited numerous research centers. In 1931, results of his six years' work on fishes with Dr. Myron Gordon '25 and others resulted in discovery of so-called hereditary "cancer individuals."

Professor Fraser entered the College of Agriculture in 1909 from Buffalo Central High School; received the BSA in 1913. He was a Senior assistant in Plant Breeding, spent the next year in graduate work and teaching at Columbia, and returned to the Graduate School and as instructor in 1914. He spent a year in research at Edinburgh University and in travel on the continent; received the PhD in 1918; became assistant professor of Plant Breeding in 1919 and professor in 1934. From August, 1918, to January, 1919, he was regimental sergeant-major of the 36th Field Artillery at Camp McClellan, Ala.

He was a member of Sigma Xi, Gamma Alpha, and He Hui Hawaii. Mrs. Fraser (Helen P. Myers) '16 survives, and one of their two daughters is Helen M. Fraser '43. Keith R. Fraser '17 is his brother.

MEDAL TO MIDGLEY '11

At the annual meeting of the American Chemical Society in Atlantic City, N. J., September 8, Thomas Midgley, Jr. '11, vice-president of the Ethyl Gasoline Corp., received the Priestley Medal, highest honor of the Society. Attacked by infantile paralysis a year ago, Dr. Midgley from a wheelchair demonstrated to the 6,000 assembled scientists some of the recent advances in chemistry for which he is largely responsible.

With a gasoline engine, chemical apparatus, motion pictures and lantern slides, he showed the effect of anti-knock material in a running engine; the non-toxic, non-inflammable properties of certain organic fluorides which have revolutionized refrigeration and air-conditioning; experiments through which he and his associates discovered that rubber containing oxygen can be vulcanized by the addition of certain reagents; and the process of commercially extracting bromine from sea water.

The New York Times next day recalled that Joseph Priestley "laid the foundation for the modern science of gases and their reactions" and continued:

It is fitting, therefore, that this year's recipient of the Priestley Medal, the highest honor offered by the American Chemical Society, should be a man who made it possible for automobiles and airplanes to go many miles farther on a gallon of "gas." In 1922, when Thomas Midgley, Jr. announced that six years work at the General Motors Research Laboratories had culminated in the perfection of an anti-knock compound, he predicted: "Within the next two or three years it is expected that gas-engine design will have been changed to get the benefit of the new discovery." The prediction has been abundantly fulfilled. The modern high-compression automobile engine, not to speak of the much more compact airplane motor, would sputter painfully with the kind of fuel that was marketed twenty years ago. To keep the same number of cars on the road and airplanes on the wing (and they would never fly as fast as they do), would require many more tankers, tank-cars, and pipelines from the Western fields. For the present efficiency of the internal combustion engine the nation owes much to Mr. Midgley.

Later, The Times referred again to Midgley's work, saying:

Dr. Midgley has several times made prophecies for which he has not yet been officially honored. He has forecast for the next decade the commercial tapping of the estimated three quadrillion dollars' worth of gold known to exist in dilute form in the world's oceans. He has also predicted these things to come in the far future: interplanetary travel; introduction of water on Mars and oxygen on Venus to make those planets habitable; age control, allowing a man to remain at the age which pleases him; elimination of indigestion through the use of hormones; the end of visiting—people will call on one another via television.

Midgley is a member of the Engineering College Council of the University and has been active in the current program to augment the resources of the College. He entered Sibley College in 1907 and received the ME in 1911. Wooster College awarded him the honorary DSc. He is a member of Sigma Xi and Phi Kappa Phi; for his researches has received the Longstreth Medal, the Perkin Medal of the New York section, American Chemical Society, and the Nichols Medal of the Society of Chemical Industry; was designated last year a "Modern Pioneer" by the National Association of Manufacturers. He lives in Worthington, Ohio; is the father of Thomas Midgley III '36.

DISTINGUISHED ALUMNAE

Of fifty-three women in thirty occupations who were honor guests at this year's convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs at Atlantic City, N. J., three were Cornellians. Mrs. Morgan Barney (Nora Blatch) '05 of Greenwich, Conn., was chosen as one of two women in engineering. One of two outstanding health workers was Alice C. Evans '09, senior bacteriologist of the US Public Health Service, Washington, D. C. Margaret R. Cuthbert '08, director of the women's division of RCA, shared radio honors with Kate Smith.

Another alumna who has recently gained special notice is Dr. Emily Dunning Barringer '97 of New York City. Only woman member of the houses of delegates both of the American Medical Association and of the Medical Society of the State of New York, she has gained recognition for her efforts to obtain military status for women physicians and surgeons who have volunteered for the Army and Navy.

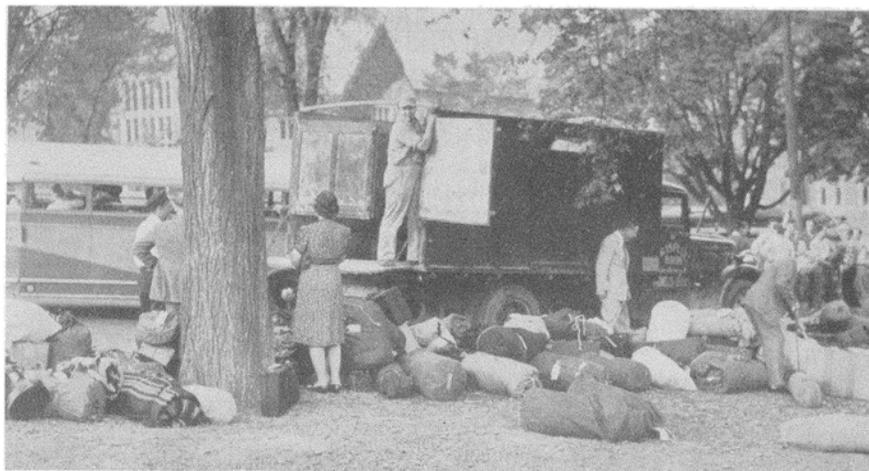

BUFFALO CLUB ACTIVE

Approximately 100 Buffalo Cornellians attended in a body the double-header International League baseball game August 10 between Buffalo and Baltimore, to honor George F. Polzer '40 and Walter J. Sickles '41, former Varsity players appearing with Baltimore. Before the first game, Harry E. Harding '05, president of the Cornell Club of Buffalo, Arthur M. Shelton '14, chairman of the committee, and Herbert F. Johnston '17, secretary of the Club, welcomed the two Cornellians at home plate. Harding presented them with leather wallets containing crisp new bills, which we are informed were "not one dollar bills, either!" Sickles pitched nearly eight innings, striking out eight and allowing seven hits.

August 1, thirty members of the Club met for luncheon to hear Merwin Morrison of the Buffalo Broadcasting Corp. discuss "United States and Japan: What Next?" A welcome guest was Professor Frederick G. Marcham, History, who told a football story.

TO MEET IN SAN FRANCISCO

Cornell Club of Northern California, under the presidency of Bernard S. Sines '22, has announced resumption of Wednesday luncheon meetings in San Francisco, beginning October 1. "Thirty-minute talks on current and interesting subjects" are promised by alumni and others "who will have something to talk about." All of the 350 Cornellians who live in the Bay Area, including San Jose, Santa Clara County, Santa Cruz, Napa, Vallejo, etc., are considered members of the Club, and alumni visitors are invited. Sines is executive assistant in the Southern Pacific Co., 65 Market Street, San Francisco.

BOYS AND BAGGAGE LEAVE FOR FRESHMAN CAMP

Capacity crowd of more than 275 members of the Class of '45 was on hand bright and early September 17 to start from the Old Armory in busses for four days in camp on Keuka Lake. This sixteenth annual Freshman Camp sponsored by CURW was directed by Harry M. St. John, Jr. '42, with thirty undergraduates as counsellors and daily talks by members of the Faculty, sports, and getting acquainted with each other and with Cornell customs before they returned to register in the University. Fifty Freshman women left Barnes Hall the same day for the first CURW women's camp, in the Danby hills, with Beverly Ham '42 as director.

NEW VOLUME BEGINS

This issue begins the forty-fourth volume of the ALUMNI NEWS, and opens its third year of publication under the ownership of the Cornell Alumni Association. Since its first issue, April 5, 1899, the NEWS has carried word of Cornell and Cornellians every week to alumni all over the world. One of the oldest alumni magazines, it is also one of the few that has maintained a continuous weekly schedule of publication.

We shall continue this year to the best of our ability to serve the interests of Cornellians. With the subscription list steadily increasing, you will receive bigger and better issues, with more pages, more pictures, and more news of Cornell than ever before.

COME BACK FOR FOOTBALL

Whether or not one disagrees with Fuel Administrator Ickes on the shortage of gasoline in northeastern United States, it seems likely that there will continue to be restrictions on the use of gasoline.

The scarcity has not reached the point where it is to be regarded as unpatriotic to drive a car. It is the waste of "gas" that is the object of the present regulations. The Athletic Office expects many alumni to attend this fall the four home football games, with Syracuse, Colgate, Yale, and Dartmouth, and suggests that perhaps some forethought may avoid unpleasant situations.

Ithacans have had no difficulty thus far in getting gasoline during the daylight hours. But Ithaca is not a large city, and it is not on the path of heavy tourist travel. The local gasoline supply is based on a population of about 20,000 in the city and some 14,000 more in the county. A football crowd is a very large increment to the population.

It is suggested, therefore, that it may be more convenient for alumni to couple up as much as possible, to make efficient use of each car and help conserve the gasoline supply. So if your Cornell neighbor invites you to ride with him to the games, accept the invitation. Thus nobody will need to miss a trip to Ithaca because of gasoline restrictions.

Cornell Club of Western Pennsylvania entertained fourteen new Freshmen at luncheon at the Harvard-Yale-Princeton Club in Pittsburgh September 11. Each member of the Class of '45 was called upon by President Henry M. Hughes '13 to identify and tell about himself, and Hughes told briefly what they would find at the University. It is reported that the twenty-seven alumni present agreed that they wished they were heading for Ithaca again with the new Freshmen.

Twenty Freshmen and about sixty members of the Cornell Club of Rochester got acquainted at a smoker and buffet supper September 10 at the University Club. Professor Bristow Adams and Robert J. Kane '34, assistant director of Physical Education and Athletics, spoke, and George Hall, golf coach, was also introduced by President Barton Baker '22. Chairman of arrangements was Walter H. Foertsch '39.

In Washington, D. C., at the Dodge Hotel September 15, seventy members of the Cornell Club and entering Freshmen attended a smoker. With President Charles E. Krey '19 presiding, Henry S. Reuss '33 introduced Professor Dexter S. Kimball, Engineering, Emeritus, who spoke on the traditions of the University. Richard H. Lee '41 led singing with his accordian. Chairman of the committee was John G. Tausig '38.

LEHIGH CHANGES TIME

With the end of daylight saving time next Sunday, September 28, the Lehigh Valley Railroad serving Ithaca changes the running time of some of its trains.

Coming to Ithaca, the Black Diamond will leave New York's Pennsylvania Station at 11:05 a.m., Newark at 11:20 a.m., and Philadelphia at 11:15 a.m., due in Ithaca at 6:41 p.m. The night train, daily except Sundays, will come up an hour later, leaving New York 10:10 p.m., Newark 10:25 p.m., Philadelphia 10:35 p.m., due Ithaca at 7:38 a.m. Sunday nights, the train leaves New York 10:45 p.m., Newark 11 p.m., Philadelphia 10:35 p.m., arriving in Ithaca Monday mornings at 7:22.

From Ithaca eastward, the Black Diamond will leave daily at 12:56 p.m., for Philadelphia at 8:30 p.m., Newark 8:29 p.m., and New York City 8:45 p.m. Night train eastward will leave Ithaca at 10:52 p.m., due Philadelphia 7:45 a.m., Newark 7:54 a.m., and New York 8:10 a.m.

New running times in both directions through Ithaca will appear beginning next week in the Lehigh Valley timetable in every issue of the ALUMNI NEWS.

ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

INNOVATION this year was a Freshman "Get Wise" meeting in Bailey Hall Monday evening attended by both men and women of the Class of '45. A program arranged by a new Freshman orientation committee of the Student Council included an official welcome by President Edmund E. Day, talks by Professor Bristow Adams and Foster M. Coffin '12, and by Raymond B. Jenkins '42, president of the Student Council, Elizabeth M. Church '42, president of WSGA, and Roy B. Unger '43, chairman of the committee. Richard A. Graham '42, chairman of the Freshman advisory committee, was master of ceremonies.

CORNELL DAILY SUN distributed its first issue free on Monday. Its twenty-four pages were well filled with Ithaca advertising.

FIRST intercollegiate competition of the Cornell season was that of a livestock judging team coached by Professor John I. Miller, PhD '36, Animal Husbandry. At the Eastern States Exposition in Springfield, Mass., Cornell placed second. Roger E. Bradley, Sp '43, of King Ferry was third of all competitors; Russell W. Durland '42 of Florida, fourth; and Harold E. Outhouse '42 of Canandaigua placed eighth.

FORMER HOME of the late Charles E. Treman '89, between Stewart and University Avenues, back of Alpha Tau Omega, has been leased by Phi Sigma Delta. This fraternity last year occupied the house built by the late Professor Ralph S. Tarr, Geology, on The Knoll above Thurston Avenue.

SPECULATION about mysterious yellow metal discs which appeared on telephone poles, fenceposts, and trees around Ithaca, was resolved when Professor Charles V. P. Young '99 explained that the Cornell Outing Club had put them up to mark some of the interesting trails outlined in the handbook of the region recently published by the Club.

VISITORS to Ithaca for several days in August were Mrs. Leonard K. Elmhirst, the widow of Willard Straight '01, and Elmhirst '21, from their home in England. They stayed at Willard Straight Hall, and spoke before Ithaca audiences on the effects of the war in England. Elmhirst's topic was "Agriculture in War and Defense," and Mrs. Elmhirst spoke on "The Women's Role in National Defense." They are continuing their lecture tour in this country. While they were here, Mrs. Elmhirst said she had just received word that her son, Whitney Straight, wing commander in the RAF, was alive and presumably a prisoner of Germany. He was shot down in his plane August 1 after a raid on German shipping along the French coast.

EACH YEAR, in the opinion of Campus ancients, students come back earlier than the year before. Nobody knows just why. But for three weeks, laundry and rooming agents have been assiduously working the Campus, Sun men were busy downtown, and the place took on an air of breathless expectancy that culminated Monday when Freshman registration crowded Barton Hall. Willard Straight dining rooms from last Wednesday through Sunday served nearly 11,000 meals, an average of about 2,200 a day.

THEODORE J. LINDORFF '07, who wrote the music to words by Kenneth Roberts '08 for "Carnelian and White" and "Fight for Cornell," was another summer visitor. It was his first trip back to the Campus since he left as a Senior, thirty-four years ago. He and Mrs. Lindorff, with her mother and a schoolboy nephew came from their home in Orlando, Fla., stayed in Willard Straight Hall. Lindorff was greatly moved when the Chimes rang out at noon one day with his two Cornell songs, played by Chime-master John W. Sowerwine '42 at the instance of Foster M. Coffin '12, Director of Willard Straight.

RICHARD C. LLOP '30 is the Democratic candidate for mayor of Ithaca, opposing Melvin G. Comfort, now police commissioner. Fitch H. Stephens '06 was the Republican nominee for re-election as special county judge and surrogate, and his Democratic opponent will be D. Boardman Lee '26.

AUTOMOBILES with license plates from forty-one States were counted in six hours on two July Sunday afternoons, passing the corner of Seneca and Aurora Streets, downtown. The count was made by Donald Bennett, a fire truck driver.

DESIGN FOR LIVING, a new "magazine for young moderns," makes its initial appearance with a September issue which includes a two-page picture feature on the "home life of lads and lasses on the Cornell University campus." Undergraduate women are pictured in their rooms at Balch Hall and in the Alpha Phi and Kappa Alpha Theta sorority houses, and men in Sigma Phi, McFaddin Hall, and Psi Upsilon. Phyllis V. Stevenson '42 is the new magazine's "Deb" editor at Cornell, explained to mean "Debonaire Campus Contacts" at a score of colleges of home economics. She is the daughter of H. A. Stevenson '19, managing editor of the ALUMNI NEWS.

"LAKE GUNS of Seneca and Cayuga, written by Professor Alex M. Drummond, Director of the University Theatre, and first presented by the Summer Theatre in 1940, was produced at Geneva High School September 19 before the New York State Historical Society in annual meeting. The cast was drawn from members of the Dramatic Club and students of Hobart and William Smith College in Geneva under supervision of Jonathan W. Curvin '32, who is director of the Hobart College Theatre.

COVER of Coronet for September bears a camera study by Barrett Gallagher '35, and he contributes also a two-page study inside, in color. Gallagher is a commercial photographer in New York City; two years ago he spent some time in Ithaca making color motion pictures of the Campus for the Alumni Office.

PHI GAMMA DELTA national fraternity sponsors this year an exchange of its members with students from Latin American universities. Ruy Ribeire France arrived in Ithaca last week from Sao Paulo University, Brazil, to live in the chapter house this year. Clark D. Burton '41 is studying in Sao Paulo's School of Sociology and Politics in exchange from the Cornell chapter of the fraternity.

PIPE LINE to transport oil and gasoline from Buffalo to Binghamton has been constructed over the Danby hills this summer, with a branch line to supply storage tanks in Ithaca near the Inlet.

DR. FRED B. HOWE, for fifty years an Ithaca dentist, former mayor, and builder of the first motion picture and vaudeville theater in the city, died August 16 at his home, 109 Orchard Place. With his late brother, Dr. John B. Howe and others, he built the old Star Theater, and later the Crescent and Strand, and Dr. Fred was a cornetist in Patsy Conway's Band and played in the Lyceum Theater orchestra when that playhouse opened. He practiced dentistry until he contracted influenza last April.

EAST STATE STREET and Mitchell Street above it have been closed for new brick paving for several weeks. The city has also repaved Thurston Avenue and removed the old trolley tracks, and a new bridge over Fall Creek at Stewart Avenue is being built. The old steel span was built by the late Edward G. Wyckoff '89 when he developed Cornell Heights and Cayuga Heights, and he deeded it to the city in 1903. Workmen cut it at both ends August 20 with acetylene torches and it dropped 145 feet into the gorge below, a mass of twisted steel later cut up and hoisted to be carted away in trucks.

NECROLOGY

'88 CE—MARIO GARCIA MENOCAL, former president of Cuba, September 7, 1941, in Havana, Cuba, after a short illness. Entering Civil Engineering in 1884 from Maryland College of Agriculture, he returned to Cuba in 1891 as a railroad construction engineer. He served in the Cuban Army of Patriots in 1895, and fought in the War of Independence; was later chief of police and active in construction of sugar mills. Elected the third President of Cuba in 1913 on a conservative ticket, he was hailed as a liberator and was credited with bringing prosperity to the Island. Succeeded in 1921 by Alfredo Zayas, he plotted against Gerardo Machado in 1931; was imprisoned, and fled to the United States when released. From here he directed the campaign which brought about Machado's downfall in 1933. He opposed Batista until 1940, when he headed the Republican Democratic Party, part of a coalition which put Batista in the presidency, and was recently engaged in forming a coalition with the National Democratic Party. Nine days' mourning and honors due a President were decreed at Menocal's death. Delta Kappa Epsilon, Bench and Board, Mermaid. Grandson, Mario Garcia-Menocal III '44.

CLASS OF 1913

By Class Correspondent

Your correspondent received a shock some weeks ago. A Classmate actually headed the repeated pleas to send in news for this column. So I saved it for this number, to join it with a plea that the rest of you take note and take action to help the column for the coming publication year. Notes may be sent to GEORGE ROCKWELL, 748 Main Street, Cambridge, Mass., who will turn them over to the correspondent of the moment.

AMBROSE RYDER, who is assistant vice-president of Great American Indemnity Co. in New York, was the gentleman who came to your correspondent's aid. He reports that his son Edson just has finished his Sophomore year in Engineering at Cornell and that his daughter Ruth is now Mrs. Edward J. Cauley and lives in Yonkers where Ryder still lives at 60 Edgecliff Terrace. As a diversion, Ryder plays duplicate bridge in the New York Insurance Bridge League where his pair finished second in the finals this year, third last year, and first the year before, while his team-of-four won last year. Being accustomed to put his shoulder to the wheel, he became confused some time back and put it to the ground while skiing, which your correspondent understands is a mistake. For a long time his name has been on the roster of the Downtown Athletic Club of New York on which also appear the names of '13ers ANTELL, MAJOR, and RALPH.

'14—THOMAS E. MILLIMAN has taken six months' leave of absence as head of the GLF Soil Building Service, to join the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply in Washington, D. C., to work with the fertilizer industry.

'16 AB—"Fiction Feature" in Coronet for September is "House Party," a story of the university scene by KATHERINE LYON. The author, Mrs. Arthur J. Mix, wife of a University of Kansas professor, tells of campus life as she has seen it as a Cornell student, a faculty member at Kansas State Teachers' College, and a faculty wife.

Newspapers of August 21 told of LARRY GUBB's election as chairman of the board of the Philco Corp. of Philadelphia, makers of radios, refrigeration, and air conditioning equipment. Larry has been with the company since 1920. He hopes now that he will be able to return to Ithaca more frequently than before.

"GYP" (Stirling) TOMPKINS, president of the New York Trap Rock Co., has just returned from a five weeks' trip to Peru.

The New York Sun carried a story September 10 about a plan to supply the New York Metropolitan area with gasoline and fuel oil, which was presented by FRED LYFORD '16 and W. J. Flynn, formerly of the Petroleum co-ordinator's staff. The plan calls for pipe lines to bring the oil to Gary, Ind., where Great Lakes oil tankers would transport it to Oswego, N. Y., where the Ontario & Western Railroad would bring it to Weehawken for delivery in the Metropolitan area.

1937 WOMEN

By Carol H. Cline, Class Secretary
1053 Cumberland Avenue, Dayton, Ohio

Congratulations Classmates! If we can manage such a nice turnout as we did this June for an unheralded, unplanned, unofficial Reunion—well, I shudder to think of the strain on the Campus when that overwhelming avalanche of '37 gals pours into Ithaca for our carefully planned, much talked of, very official Fifth Reunion next June.

We drove up to Reunion with KAY SKEHAN CARROLL, stopping overnight in Cleveland with FLO and WOODY GLASS and having a romp with nine-months-old Miss Edith Daniel Glass, en route. ("Danny," a Cornell Coed for 1957, is some glamour girl! We've promised to introduce her to "Pepper" Wall, two-year-old future Cornelian son of "PALMIE" and "SANDY" WALL of Schenectady.)

In Ithaca, we joined forces with CLARE McCANN and HELEN FRY, and the four of us started out on a three-day Reunioning spree—absolutely scorning sleep and visiting every place and every person in and near Ithaca suspected of harboring a '37er! Among those we found in the Drill Hall Saturday noon were BEATRICE SCHEMP REDDICK, MARY LAUMAN, VI HAMILTON, RUTH McCURDY SHAW, AUDREY ALPKE, ESTHER DILLENBECK, DORIS SMALLRIDGE DYKES, JAN COOLIDGE CHILD, HELENA PALMER WALL, JEANNE BREDFENNER (talk about '37 spirit, Jeannie's really bubbling over with it!), ELEANOR SISSON, CLAIRE KELLY GILBERT, MARGY KINCAID BENTLEY, and JEAN THOMSON. Also got brief glimpses of MARION BEAN, JANE BRICKELMAIER CAMPBELL (she and hubby ALAN BONHAM CAMPBELL '36 came all the way from Cincinnati where they now live), EV CARTER WHITING, and KAY AUSTIN. Other '37 girls were registered but we couldn't find them anywhere. The rumor that JEANNE PAQUETTE CLARK was in town drove us all on a fruitless man-hunt—for heaven's sake, Paquette, where were you hiding all day Saturday?

'37, '38 AB—First Lieutenant HEATHMAN T. ALLEN married Joan H. Davies August 18 in Dayton, Ohio. Lieutenant Allen is now on active duty with the 72d Field Artillery at Fort Bragg, N. C.

'37—PERCY H. BALLANTINE married Florence Hudson August 28 in New Orleans, La. He is an experimental engineer and sales representative for the Neptune Meter Co. in Dallas, Tex.

'37 BS—WILLIAM A. SELEEN has been appointed instructor in bacteriology at the University of Arizona at Tucson for the coming year. Seleen completed work for the PhD at Cornell this summer.

The address of HELENE (IRISH) and CARL JOHNSTON is 69 Hawaii Avenue, N.W., Washington, D. C.

MARGE SHENK is now a licensed private pilot as a result of her CAA training this spring.

We had a short visit with JANET DEMPSTER LOEW before she and Hank went west to Seattle to live. The Loews spent the summer in North Edmonds, Wash.

GERTRUDE BRAMLEY is now at the Utica Memorial Hospital, Utica.

PAULINE BLOUNT SNYDER is principal of the Seifert Corners School, Rome.

Dear Classmates: I seems to me it has been a long time since I wrote this article myself. GEORGE SMITH and STEVE DEBAUN have helped me out a good deal during the past year, and I am sure you enjoyed their contributions.

The coming football season promises to be an interesting one and I imagine I will be seeing a good many of you at some of the games. Don't forget that our great Fifth Reunion is only twenty-one months off! I hope you will be thinking about it and talking about it every chance you get. The 1941 football season would be a good time to hash it all over and get some ideas started. We should be well under way by the time the 1942 football season rolls around.

I ran into some Classmates in my travels this summer, but not as many as usual.

In Tampa, Fla., I saw GERT SCHMIDT in July. Gert is in charge of all food at the Tampa Terrace Hotel and does a good job. I know, because I ate one of his meals. The Tampa Terrace is Tampa's leading hotel, incidentally.

Gert tells me that JOHNNY FAIELLA is the manager at another Tampa hotel. We have not heard from Johnny in a long time. I hope he sees this column and will send us some details. Gert also says he sees a lot of Cornellians down there and that AL GALLEY is the Army Air Corps in a field located about thirty-five miles from Tampa.

To make an abrupt geographical change, a very few weeks after I was in Tampa I saw GEORGE SMITH in Boston, Mass. George took a training course in Boston during the summer with the American Mutual Insurance Co. He is now in New York City in the claim department. George says that ERNIE DAHMEN is doing similar work with an insurance company in Chicago, Ill. Ernie was there two months with the Lumbermen's Casualty Co., but has been in their New York City office since September 1. I hope Ernie will send us some more details soon.

This column might be tagged "Variety or What-the-end-of-the-Summer-Brings." There's so much news that it can't all go in this issue, but if you'll stay with me through the year, we'll get it all in eventually.

Weddings are always news. MARIAN PUTNAM was married to LEE FINKILL '38, June 28. We wish them both the best of luck and happiness. They are at home at 39 Thayer Street, Rochester.

VIRGINIA COOK was married to Lewis F. Smith, June 25 in Auburn. Ginny is living at 1015 West Lloyd Street, Pensacola, Fla. That's long a way from Ithaca, Ginny. We hope you won't stay away from the North Country too long.

ANNE BEERS was married to MARTIN W. SAMPSON '39, August 2 in Ithaca. It was a real Cornell wedding as Anne is the daughter of Mrs. Henry H. Beers (JULIA W. McCORMICK) '09 and was escorted by PETER F. McALLISTER '92 of New York City. Martin is the son of the late Professor Martin W. Sampson, English. Best man was STEPHEN H. SAMPSON '34, and among the ushers were EDWARD SAMPSON '42, Dr. RONNY EDWARDS '35, and STEPHEN JONES '37. MARJORIE G. TILLINGHAST '40 was maid of honor. Martin is an instructor in Administrative Engineering, and they live at 114 Sage Place, Ithaca.

KATHRYN AUSTIN was married to ROBERT McDONALD '38, July 5 at Long Lake. Bob is working in New York City, and I would like their address.

Magoun Wins Grand Prize Drawing

Last spring, the Class offered a chance to win Two Free Football Tickets for any game this fall, to all who should renew their Alumni News subscriptions by June 10. Pictured above is the Grand Drawing, by none other than Coach Carl Snively—and the name of John W. Magoun, Jr. led all the rest. The drawing was held in Schoellkopf Field House, in front of the case containing footballs won in games for many years. Holding the helmet containing names of all men and women of the Class whose renewals were in by June 10 is Grace McFerren who handles ticket sales for the Athletic Office, and Robert J. Kane '34, Assistant Director of Athletics and Physical Education, looks on as Coach Snively draws the lucky card containing Magoun's name. Shortly we hope to publish a personal word from the winner, and to let you know which game he selects, so his Classmates can be on hand to congratulate him. Incidentally, Magoun was one of the first to renew his ALUMNI News subscription, long before it expired last June. Thus is virtue rewarded!

Women

By Carol B. Clark, Class Secretary
4-H Club Office, Roberts Hall, Ithaca, N. Y.

From the bridesmaid, CONNIE LOGAN, we hear of the wedding of MARGERY SAUTER and HARRY COPELAND '40, July 15 in the Little Church Around the Corner, New York City. BUD BOOCHEVER was the best man. I think you can reach Marg by writing South Mountain Manor, Wernersville, Pa. Connie is in Milbrook teaching home ec.

KATHERINE ANDERSON, 34 Coen St., Naugatuck, Conn., is an industrial relations trainee for the footwear department of US Rubber Co.

During the Summer Session at Cornell, JULIA KSIONZYK was an assistant instructor in Home Ec, and carried on her usual duties as Balch III night girl. Julie will go back to Piermont to her teaching position. She is also the president of Rockland County Home Economics Teachers Association.

IANTHA EDWARDS has had quite a mixture of experiences since we have seen her last: Summer, 1940, hostess in Guiney's Inn, Montauk, Long Island; fall term, '40, studied French at Middlebury College, Vt.; spring term, '41, taught Math at Pierson High, Sag Harbor, L. I.; summer '41, continued her study toward the Masters in French; fall '41, she will continue teaching in Sag Harbor.

One more wedding: THFO BEEKMAN and FRAN THOMAS '38 were married in Indian Lake, July 12. Fran is with Eastman Kodak and Theo has resigned from teaching in Seneca Falls. Her wedding dress was a Cornell Costume Shop creation. They will live on East Main Street in Webster.

CAROL CLARK, our hard-working Class secretary, is in Cohoes Hospital, recovering from an appendicitis operation of September 8.—ED.

With this issue begins our weekly column for '41 women. In these first issues news will be pretty brief and much to-the-point so that we can get up-to-date on all of us right away. Then we'll have space for more detailed and more informal news notes.

First of all, congratulations go to our first Class of '41 mothers: HERMINE LAWATSCHE MACFADYEN is one of the proud parents of a bouncing baby boy, Kenneth Robert, born July 7. They're living in Rahway, N. J.

July 23, BETTY DEGOLYER NIEDERHAUSER presented JOHNNY ('38) with a little girl, Anne Elizabeth.

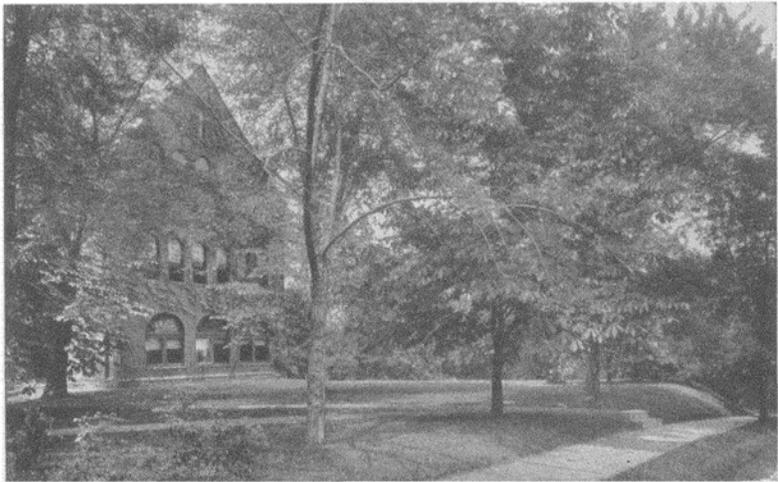

As for more general news:

JANET TALMADGE is attending the Syracuse College of Medicine.

MURIEL E. ELIOTT teaches home economics in the Whitesboro (N.Y.) Central School.

JANE MURPHY is teaching home economics at Forestport.

GRACE O'DARE was to enter the Yale School of Nursing. Her home is at 77 King Street, Yonkers.

Men

By Raymond W. Kruse, Class Secretary
St. Davids, Pa.

Several people have written me this summer telling about themselves and what a lot of others were doing. It's really a big help to get so much news, and here's hoping you'll keep it up. Thanks. Here's what was in those letters:

Dr. RAYMOND A. WOODRUFF is now associated with Dr. MORRIS A. QUINN '16 in veterinary practice in Norwich. He is also the proud father of a daughter, Shirley Ann, born June 9, in Ithaca Memorial Hospital.

JESS B. NEUHAUSER has just been transferred to the Hotel Walt Whitman in Camden, N. J.

CALVIN S. LENDERMAN is at work with the Hercules Powder Co. in Wilmington, Del. His address is 1311 Jackson St., Wilmington.

JOHN T. ELFVIN has been back of the main desk at Willard Straight all summer and expects to continue there during the next school year.

EDWARD A. BRADY, JR. planned to enter Cornell Medical School this fall.

WILLIAM TURIN entered NYU Dental School in September: was at Lake Mohegan until then. He will be commissioned a second lieutenant in May, 1942.

HANS A. ADLER is doing graduate work at Harvard on international trade and South American affairs. He lives at 525 West End Avenue, New York City.

DAVID ALTMAN has a teaching assistantship in chemistry at the University of California, Berkeley.

BURTON AUGUST, 1691 East Fifteenth Street, Brooklyn, enters the Cornell Medical College in New York this fall.

JOHN L. AYER enters the Syracuse Medical School. His home is at 614 University Avenue, Syracuse.

JAMES BENEWAY and his father are managing a 127-acre fruit farm at Ontario.

STANLEY E. COHEN attends Columbia University school of journalism. His home address is 50 Brunswick Avenue, Troy.

JOHN DESIMONS planned to do graduate work in bacteriology at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Blacksburg, Va.

JAMES R. DUDLEY, 54 South Main Street, Portville, is with the GLF.

FEELING WORN FROM WORK? Here's An Idea!

MAN: You deserve to go to the movies tonight, and I'd take you if I weren't so all in.

WIFE: Here's something I wish you'd try, and see if it will help you keep fit . . . drinking the Knox Gelatine I've used in salads and desserts for years.

MAN: One of the boys at the office was telling me about some of the benefits of the Knox protein drink. He says several groups of men in tough jobs drank Knox for 28 days. 2 out of 3 said they felt better after working all day.

3.

WIFE: According to this, proper protein foods are important to maintain vigor and stamina. Drinking Knox is such an easy way to supplement other sources of protein.

MAN: That makes sense to me. I'll try it!*
