OVER AND ABOVE A CURRENT INCOME GIFT TO CORNELL THROUGH THE ALUMNI FUND—PLEASE CONSIDER...

1. A Testamentary Bequest to Cornell will perpetuate your endorsement of the University and all its undertakings. No federal estate or gift tax is involved.

2. If you desire to support the University and at the same time to insure a substantial financial return throughout your lifetime, you should weigh the advantages of:

   a. A Cornell Gift Annuity Contract for a person 50 or more years of age with guaranteed annual income, depending on age, from 4% to 7% of the Annuity sum. A survivorship form of contract is also available if it is desired that another person should on the death of the original annuitant receive the guaranteed income during his or her subsequent lifetime.

   b. An Average-Income Endowment Gift on which the University guarantees to pay annually to the donor and if desired to another person, as long as either shall survive, the rate of income credited on its pooled endowment funds.

Substantial income tax deductions are allowed for 2a and 2b, since each involves a material gift to Cornell.

GROUP AVERAGES APPEAR
Fraternities, Sororities Ranked

Scholarship averages and rankings for the university’s fifty-eight fraternities and men’s housing associations and thirteen sororities for the academic year 1941-42 appeared last week. They were compiled by George D. Haupin ’16, Assistant Registrar of the University.

Average grade of all undergraduates last year was 75.19. Average of all women was 76.95 points above that of all men, and the sorority average was 3.95 points higher than the average of the fraternities and men’s associations.

Twenty-one fraternities and associations had averages above that of all undergraduate men, one more than in 1940-41; and ten sororities topped the average of all undergraduate women, as compared with nine the previous year. Twenty-six fraternities were above the “All Fraternities” average in both years, but the number of sororities above the “All Sororities” average dropped from five to four.

Average grade for all men dropped .10 from the previous year, and that of all fraternities and associations dropped .33. Women’s average decreased .39, and the “All Sororities” average increased .06.

Telluride Association led all groups in ablutions.

TO TEST FLU VACCINE
With University Volunteers

To prevent a possible war epidemic of influenza such as occurred in 1918, several thousand students in the University, members of Faculty families, and residents of Ithaca were volunteering last week to be vaccinated for a large scale clinical trial of a newly-discovered influenza vaccine.

An influenza commission of the US Army Board for Investigation of Epidemic Diseases is conducting these tests in the East, Midwest, and Far West. Its civilian consulting group for the East is headed by Dr. Wilson G. Smillie, professor of Public Health and Preventive Medicine at the Medical College in New York. With cooperation of Dr. Norman S. Moore ’23, Director of the University Infirmary and Clinic, Dr. Norman H. Plummer ’26 and Dr. Herbert K. Engworth of the Medical College Faculty came to Ithaca last week to arrange for vaccinations to be given November 23 to December 7.

Registration of volunteers is conducted by the student Cornell for Victory committee under direction of David J. Coons ’43 of Woodmere and Peggy Pierce ’43 of Towson, Md. At the week’s end, more than 1,000 students had volunteered; it is hoped that 3,000 members of the community will volunteer for the tests.

Cornell was selected for this study, Dr. Plummer explains, because there has been a high incidence of colds, grip, and virus-type pneumonia in this region, making influenza vaccine especially important here. Furthermore, he says, such a study can be carried out only where there is efficient medical assistance and institutional organization such as the University offers. Result may be, according to Dr. Moore, that many cases of handicap and death from pneumonia, and many cases of influenza such as occurred in 1918, will be prevented by the vaccine, and if an influenza epidemic should occur, Cornell will be the center for its research and treatment.

“It is an urgent medical need,” says Dr. Plummer, “to ascertain the value of vaccine against influenza, because it is recognized that war conditions are likely to bring about epidemics such as the one in 1918 which took more lives than the war itself. At the time of the 1918 epidemic, the exact cause of influenza in man was not known, but the discovery in 1933 of a filterable virus as its cause has paved the way for development of rational methods of vaccination against the disease. In 1940, further progress was made when a second virus, also capable of producing influenza, was isolated.
JERSEY WOMEN ELECT
Cornell Women's Club of Bergen County, N. J., has elected Mrs. Henry M. Stewart (Marcelle Pendery) '31, president for this year. New corresponding secretary is Mrs. Raphael Rosenberg (Charlotte Levine) '36.

HOTELMEN VISIT NEW YORK
Forty-one Seniors and Juniors in Hotel Administration spent the week of November 8 in New York City, attending the National Hotel Exposition, operating the Hotel Pierre for a morning, and visiting other hotels and food establishments. They were guests at the Commodore and Pennsylvania hotels for luncheon and visited the Radio City restaurants, of which Andrew H. Cipriani '33 is purchasing manager. Managing director of the Hotel Pierre the morning of November 9 was James H. Barrett '43 of Old Forge, with Jerome A. Bart '43 and Robert C. Walker '43 of Buffalo as assistant managers and J. Robert Zellner '45 of Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., as head chef.

The students were accompanied by Professors Howard B. Meek, Charles I. Sayles '26, and Charles E. Cadel '28 and by Henry A. Carey '22, lecturer in Hotel Administration. New York City branch of the Cornell Society of Hotelmen entertained the students, Faculty, and many visiting hotelmen at a Cornell smoker November 10 at the Waldorf Astoria, and gave a dinner dance the following evening. Chairman of the smoker committee was Harry M. Galbraith '35, and David M. Connor '34 was chairman of the dinner committee.

About ATHLETICS
CROSS COUNTRY NINTH
The cross country team, with John F. Kandl '44 in its pace setter, finished ninth in the annual Intercolliegates at Van Cortlandt Park, New York City, Monday, November 16.

Kandl placed fourteenth over the five mile course and was timed in 28:42, compared with 27:28 by Dixon of NYU, the winner. Rhode Island State captured the team title with 55 points. Other scores: Penn State 79, NYU 83, Manhattan 135, Fordham, 139, Cornell 252, New Hampshire 269, Northeastern 319, MIT 323, CCNY 343, St. John's 344, Syracuse 353, Lehigh 455, Columbia 516, Rutgers 520, Brooklyn 569.

Other point scorers for Cornell were Robert M. Brown '45, who placed fifteenth; George E. Hiebeler, Jr. '43, fifteenth; Watson B. Smith '43, sixty-eighth; and Captain Paul M. Kelsey '43, seventy-fourth. Other entries were Frank C. Slovak '45, eighty-fifth; and Donald G. Boegehold '44.

The Freshman team placed third in a field of five teams. The scores: Manhattan 22, Syracuse 58, Cornell 83, Fordham 92, and Columbia 108. Joseph F. Nolan placed sixth, timed in 17:06 for the three-mile course. Other scorers were LeRoy C. Norem, sixteenth; Donald C. Van Pelt, Jr., twenty-eighth; Herman L. Cocchetto, thirtieth; and Paul F. Kelly, thirty-first.

REVIVE OLD RACE
Members of this year's cross country squad, intrigued by Coach John F. Moakley's stories of the old days when men were runners, have purchased a trophy to be awarded each year to the winner of the eight-mile race that used to be a feature of the Cornell cross country season. Named the "Hobe" Young Memorial Run, the race was revived last Saturday, from the Old Armory out to Varna, then down along the hill and across Fall Creek, up hill again to Hansahwy Road and in on Kline Road, around Beebe Lake, back to the Quadrangle between the Engineering buildings, and down Central Avenue to the old finish, now the corner by Olin Hall.

Hobart C. Young 'to made the all-time record on this course, of 39 minutes, 37 seconds. He was never beaten, even by John Paul Jones '13 who made it in 39:42 or by Tell Berna '43 who did it in 39:45. Young died in Pittsburgh June 7, 1941, vice-president and general commercial manager of Bell Telephone Co. in Pennsylvania. He never lost his interest in running; frequently came to Ithaca to visit with Coach Moakley and see how the boys were doing. And last week Berna visited the track room at Schoellkopf; was pleased to learn of the new cup the squad has provided.

Winner of the Hobe Young Memorial Run last Saturday was John F. Kandl '44 of New York City, in 44:51.8. Watson B. Smith '43 of Larchmont came in second, in 46:15, and David R. Bulk '45 of Babylon was third in 46:20.

Annual cross country dinner this year broke a custom of many years in going to the Forest Home Chapel for a dinner served by the Ladies' Aid, instead of to the Varna Church as formerly. The dinner November 18 was sold out.

Annual cross country dinner this year broke a custom of many years in going to the Forest Home Chapel for a dinner served by the Ladies' Aid, instead of to the Varna Church as formerly. The dinner November 18 was sold out. Toastmaster was Edward G. Ratkoski '35, and the speakers were Coach Moakley; Emerson Hinchliff '14, Romance Languages; Professor John R. Bangs, Jr. '21, assistant coach; Captain Paul M. Kelsey '43; and John F. Kandl '44 who was elected the new captain of cross country.

Mr. Moakley awarded the Lung Mow Trophy for greatest improvement this year to Watson B. Smith '43; the fastest time prize to Kandl who led the team in the Intercolliegates; the Varsity blind handicap prize to George E. Hiebeler, Jr. '43 of Chatham; and awarded the Freshman Cup jointly to LeRoy C. Norem of Bayside and Joseph F. Nolan of Raritan, N. J.

J-V FOOTBALL ENDS
The Junior Varsity football team closed its season last Saturday by playing a 7-7 tie with Syracuse on Alumni Field. The season's record was three ties and three defeats. Syracuse scored first, late in the third period, when Harrigan, fullback, plunged through guard from the one-yard line. The touchdown was set up by a blocked punt and a thirty-yard end run by Laidlow, halfback. Elford, end, scored the extra point on a pass.

Cornell tied the score early in the fourth period on a 68-yard march, the touchdown coming on a 20-yard pass, Paul C. Girolamo '46 to Richard A. Murphy '46. Joseph J. Andersen '46, the Varsity placekicking specialist, converted the vital point.

SOCCER CLOSES SEASON

The soccer team completed its season last week by defeating Syracuse, 1-0, on Alumni Field Wednesday, and losing to Haverford College, 3-0, at Haverford, Pa., Saturday. Cornell's record for the season was four games won, three lost, and one tie.

BASKETBALL SCHEDULE

The basketball team will play twenty-two games this winter, opening with the University of Buffalo in Barton Hall December 2. Games with Rochester, Seton Hall, and Albright will be played in a shortened Christmas recess trip. Twelve of the games are in the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League.

The new head coach, Emerald B. ("Speed") Wilson, formerly of Hobart, has been conducting practice for some time, evenings in Barton Hall. William D. Stewart, Jr. '43, of Edgewood, Pa., a high-scoring forward of the last two seasons, is lost to the basketball team, having broken his leg playing touch football.

The schedule:

December 5 Buffalo at Ithaca
12. Fordham at Ithaca
16. Niagara at Ithaca
19. Rochester at Rochester
21. Seton Hall at South Orange, N. J.
22. Albright at Reading, Pa.
January 6 Columbia at Ithaca*
8. Yale at New Haven*
9. Harvard at Cambridge*
18. Syracuse at Ithaca

NAVY CITES OSBERG '42

Navy Cross for "extraordinary heroism" has been awarded to Ensign Carl A. Osberg '42, who was reported missing in action June 4 during the battle of Midway. Navy Department citation received by his father, Rear A. Osberg, 331 East High Street, Manchester, N. H., said:

"Participating in a torpedo plane assault against the Japanese naval units he, in the face of tremendous anti-aircraft fire and overwhelming fighter opposition pressed home his attack to a point where it became relatively certain that, to accomplish his mission, he would probably sacrifice his life. Understressed by the grave possibilities of such a hazardous offensive, he carried on with extreme disregard for his own personal safety, until his squadron scored direct hits on two enemy aircraft carriers. His self-sacrificing gallantry and fortitude were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States naval service."

Osberg was a member of Acacia, played Freshman football and Varsity lacrosse. Leaving the College of Agriculture, he was commissioned as a pilot at Pensacola, Fla., in February, 1941, and until the day after Pearl Harbor was stationed at the San Diego, Cal., Naval Air Base.

BUFFALO HEARS FARNHAM '18

Continuing its series of Faculty lunch-club speakers, the Cornell Club of Buffalo had as its guest November 20 Professor William H. Farnham '18, Acting Dean of the Law School. These Friday luncheons are at the Buffalo Athletic Club.

"NO MOTHER TO GUIDE HER"

Willard Straight "Opry House" was sold our Saturday night after word got around that the Friday performance of the old-time popular and heart-rending melodrama, "No Mother To Guide Her," was something to see!

Audiences and the cast from the Dramatic Club, playing as "The Finger Lakes Stock Company," made the most of the four thrilling scenes and between-acts tableaux and "specialties." Edward D. Eddy '44 of Ithaca was a thoroughly destetable villain whose pursuit of the saccharine-sweet heroine, M. Daviss Hall '44 of Winchester, was properly foiled in the end. M. Priscilla Slimm '43 of Utica was "Nobody's Child," but came to the rescue of the hard-pressed hero, Bernard W. Potter '43 of Truxton. Other notable performances were those of Barbara A. Strauss '44 of Kansas City, Mo., as Bess Sinclair, the wronged shopgirl; Margaret R. Dilts '43 of Pennington, N. J., as the gypsy witch, Mother Tagger; and the comedy team of Lindy Tagger; and the comedy team of Lindy Tagger.

DOCTORS DISSECT BIOTIN

Announcement by Dr. Vincent du Vigneaud, professor of Biochemistry at the Medical College in New York, of discovery of the chemical architecture of biotin has been called one of the greatest triumphs of modern chemistry, certain to lead to important developments in chemistry, biology, and medicine.

The discovery is expected to pave the way to the synthesis of nature's most powerful vitamin, of which the entire world's supply is about one-tenth of an ounce. Biotin is so powerful that one part in 500 billion functions as the growth-promoting factor in yeast.

Dr. du Vigneau'd report to the New York section of the American Chemical Society last month culminated a series of investigations begun at the Medical College in 1940, when he and his colleague, Dr. Arnold B. Melville, announced that they had identified biotin with the life-giving Vitamin H. By an intricate series of experiments they have now succeeded in determining beyond question the arrangement and quantities of carbon, hydrogen, oxygen, nitrogen, and sulphur atoms in the biotin molecule.

It is known that many of Europe's leading chemists have also been at work on the problem, and great satisfaction has been expressed that its solution was made in this country.

A STUDENT'S OPINION
Cornell Daily Sun column, "Well All Right," for November 13 was by Kurt Vonnegut, Jr. '44 of Indianapolis, Ind., assistant managing editor of the Sun. The writer enrolled in the Army Enlisted Re-service last September. His column follows:

"Be it known that we, the student body of Cornell University, do perfectly understand the War Department's rule that "We either work or enter immediately into the armed forces. Our work here is of value to the nation; otherwise, the War Department would never have sanctioned educational draft deferments and reserve programs. Each student has his own conscience in the delicate problem of 'here on borrowed time.' It is not necessary that the University furnish one for him."

"There are those here who seek to change completely our ways, often need-

CORNELL ALUMNI NEWS
lessly; persons with cracker-barrel patriotism, molding now pliable Cornell into new and grotesque patterns. The result satisfies the sculptors, but hardly does credit to the tools and materials. We are old enough to fight: we are adults.

That generation responsible for such statesmanlike measures as the Treaty of Versailles demands that we rectify their errors. We ARE willing to do so, for from the twenty-four years of blunders has burst a war of kill-or-be-killed. 'Ours not to question why... has taken the place of the independent 'The world is our apple,' but there is no need for a Joe Paloooka-like Faculty to administer the coup de grace.

'Cheers for the Army, the Navy, the men, and women on the production lines, the Red Cross, the WAC's, the WAVES. . . to hell with the slackers in college,' shrieks the University at every opportunity. 'You're here on borrowed time (you little bastards)... Men are dying that you may stay (you lousy bums).'

If, in a baseball game, a person screams 'Hit it!' into the batter's ear as he swings, the batter is likely to miss the ball and use the bat on that person.

'We've made a deal with the War Department and our own highly reliable conscience. The only understanding with the University is that we pay our tuition and fees, try to keep off of probation, and stay within the law. The elected student representatives won't say it, but we will: Cornell, outside of that, what we do is justly our own damned business!

'Reasoning behind most of the major changes enacted by the Faculty since Pearl Harbor has been 'what sort of an impression will this make on the outside world?' No cars, no cuts, no out-of-town dates, compulsory physical education, no houseparties—gentle but effective nudges for the sake of publicity and pet ideas; entertainment of the Navy men by fraternities, the 'Cornell at War' section in the Cornellian (an era none of us will care to recall).

'The University has lost sight of its main obligation: i.e., to the students. One thing we've still got is reasoning power. Some rule about it had better be made with the students in mind.'

NOW IN MY TIME!
By Romeyn Berry

There may have been some valid arguments against the expansion of the Selective Service Act to take in boys of eighteen and nineteen. But the contention that lads of that age are too young for military service was not one of them.

Eighteen and nineteen means Freshmen and Sophomores. Anybody who ever went to college, and remembers how it feels, knows that Freshmen and Sophomores are the best instruments in the world with which to accomplish anything that does not require tact, discretion, humility, poise, modesty, restraint, or a nice sense of morality.

I don't know what Freshmen and Sophomores are thinking about at the moment—nobody over twenty-two has, or can have, the slightest inkling—but I'm pretty sure that they don't regard themselves as too young for anything.

Don't you remember those old rushes where the two under classes—hundreds of tons of hot, unheeding flesh—lined up opposite each other in mass formation, locked arms and charged into each other with a bone-crushing impact? No one got hurt. Pretty generally, the participants regarded the rushes as joyous episodes. Only the more mature spectators were sickened and horror-stricken by the utter brutality of the amusement.

And you recall that there never were any upperclass rushes. Juniors and Seniors would have been too timid, imaginative, and sensible to take such crazy risks.

As I sense the situation at Ithaca now, the undergraduates are of all people the least concerned about their own immediate future. Their mood is one of relief. Decisions are now going to be made for them, and not by their parents. Gone are the days of family arguments, the nights of introspection. They can relax, sit on the bench, watch the play, and wait for the coach to throw them in there to do some specific thing.

And one suspects, too, that a comparable sense of relief now exists in Morrill Hall. The fog is lifting that obscured the view. The prospect it reveals is a pretty grim one, but it's becoming definite and certain. You don't have to fear the unknown quite so much.

Reduced to a common denominator, the whole duty of the Freshman Class and that of Morrill Hall now appear one and the same. Relax! Carry on from day to day, as nearly as you can, in the old, familiar pattern. Try and get three meals and a good night's rest every twenty-four hours. Don't attempt to anticipate your orders. Ignore the admonitions of your neurasthenic aunts, and don't load up with baggage that you're never apt to use. When the orders come, and not before, comply fully, instantly, and with a grin.

That's about all there is to it for freshmen, sophomores, and universities.

WAVES IN TRAINING

Seven alumnæ are officer candidates in the WAVES at the US Naval Reserve Midshipmen's School (WR) at Northampton, Mass. Their training is scheduled to be completed early in February, 1943. The Cornellian candidates are Gladyx I. Godfrey '36, daughter of Joseph E. Godfrey '14 and Mrs. Godfrey (Hazel Brown) '13 of Ithaca; Adelaide E. Briggs '37, daughter of Professor T. Roland Briggs '09, Chemistry, and Mrs. Briggs (Frances Ingalls) '12; Helen M. Dunn '37; Estelle L. Roberts '37; Mary E. Strong '39; Barbara Benson '41, daughter of C. Beverley Benson '17 and Mrs. Benson (Katherine McMurry) '18 of Hartsdale; and Ruth Simon '42. Lieutenant (j.g.) Margarette Hicks '26, USNR, was commissioned at Northampton in November and is assigned to the office of the Chief of Naval Operations, Washington, D. C.

FAMOUS PROFESSORS MARCH IN COMMENCEMENT PROCESSION

Hiram Corson and James Morgan Hart march together in the 1907 Commencement procession. That makes this picture a unique historical document, because those two professors of English Literature were never known to march together at any other time or place. They didn't get along! At left, over Professor Corson's shoulder, appears the head of Professor George W. ('Pius') Jones, Mathematics; and behind Professor Hart is Dean 'Teefy' Crane. The face barely appearing is that of Professor Guy M. Whipple, PhD '00, Education.

HERE'S THAT MAN AGAIN!
For the protection of alumni who may be victimized by a person representing himself to be Norman L. MacLeod '17, we publish word just received from Chicago, Ill., of such a person. A man who said he was MacLeod '17 and a member of Delta Upsilon is reported to have made at least two calls in Chicago ten days ago. November 16 he applied for a job with a company for which he said he had previously worked. Inquiry found no record of his previous employment with that company, and the matter came to the attention of a classmate of MacLeod's who writes that he knows Norman L. MacLeod '11 still to be in California, where he has lived on a ranch since 1931.

A man using MacLeod's name appeared in New York City in June, 1940, and tried to borrow money from Cornellians. Subsequently, MacLeod '17 wrote us from Pasadena that the person was clearly an imposter. In July, 1940, similar activities were reported in Philadelphia, Pa., the person then representing himself as looking for a job, talking glibly of Cornellians he "knew," and soliciting small "loans." He was invited to lunch by a group of alumni, one of whom knew MacLeod '11, but evidently became suspicious and did not appear. Last previous word of such calls on alumni was in Providence, R. I., in August, 1940.

The man reported from Chicago gave his address there as 6136 University Avenue and his telephone number as Plaza 9662.

Subscribers who may be called upon by a person using MacLeod's name are requested to send us immediately a complete description of their caller and full details as to time and place, so the News can warn others for their protection.

CORNELL ENGINEER

In The Cornell Engineer for November, Professor John R. Bangs, Jr., '21, Administrative Engineering, writes on "Imagining for Victory," an account of the progress made in building ships and airplanes. As technical consultant to the War Manpower Commission, he returned recently from an extensive tour of war industry plants. In "Men and Ships," David Gaehr '01 mentions many Cornellians who have been identified with the building and operation of ships. Gaehr is in charge of the Lake Carriers' Association Engineering School in Cleveland, Ohio. "President's Message" by George N. Brown '08 to the Cornell Society of Engineers deals with the importance of support to the University Placement Bureau in Ithaca and New York City.

\[ F I I \] ITHACA WOMEN MEET

Seventy members of the Cornell Women's Club of Ithaca met November 16 at the home of Mrs. Robert C. Osborn (Agda Swenson) '20. Dean Sarah G. Blanding, Home Economics, described the war activities of the University, especially as they pertain to women. Ruth E. Davis '17 reported on the Federation Scholarship Fund, and Mrs. Osborn reported on the recent biennial convention of the Alumni Association in New York City.

Gertrude B. Dean '18, president of the Club, having left for war work in Washington, D. C., Mrs. Alpheus M. Goodman (Clara Browning) '12 was elected in her place. Hattie M. Barnes '12 was elected treasurer succeeding Mrs. William E. Bostwick (Mary North) '31 who is in New York City with her husband, Lieutenant Bostwick '29, USNR.

HONOR VETER STUDENTS

Phi Zeta, national veterinary honor society, initiated ten students and two honorary members November 16. Dr. Miles C. Markham '16 of Binghamton and Dr. B. T. ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

ANNOUNCEMENT last week by Dean Cornelius Betten, PhD '06, that the University's Christmas recess would be as originally scheduled, December 19 to January 4, quieted a Campus tempest. November 11, the Sun blazed with a front-page streamer headline: "Faculty meetings next day referred the matter back to its committees on University policy and calendar, and Dean Betten's announcement followed shortly. ODT in Washington said it was not requiring colleges to change their vacations.

THANKSGIVING RECESS this year is limited to one day, as had been the custom until a year or two ago.

ALPHA PSI, Veteran fraternity, won a Thanksgiving turkey from Delta Chi when its team of three men scored first in the annual interfraternity cross country race. The previous year's winner provided the turkey. About 130 aspirants started from the Old Armory November 18 over the two-and-a-half-mile course to Animal Husbandry, the Heating Plant, and return to Alumni Field. Teams of Sigma Phi, Alpha Delta Phi, Phi Gamma Delta, and Kappa Alpha finished in that order.

LISTENERS to CBS foreign news broadcasts recently have heard the voice of Charles C. Collingwood '39 from Algiers describing the British-American rout of General Rommel. He was formerly with CBS in London, going there in November, 1939, from Oxford where he held a Rhodes Scholarship. He is the son of Professor G. Harris Collingwood of Washington, D. C., formerly in the Forestry Department.

SAVAGE CLUB of Ithaca last week accepted as new members Robert B. Murphy '43 of Syracuse, George R. McNear '44 of Scarsdale, James A. Purdy '44 of Hinsdale, Ill., and Freeman J. McKendrick '45 of Ebensburg, Pa. McKendrick plays the piano; the others are vocalists.

STEEL VAULT which was constructed for the University Library by the late Andrew Carnegie in 1915 makes a satisfactory bomb-proof shelter for some of the Library's irreplaceable items, according to Professor Otto Kinkeldey. Within the steel and brick walls of the vault are the letters of Benjamin Franklin which first brought Carnegie's attention to the need of fireproof storage, first copies of Milton's Paradise Lost and of Dickens's Christmas Carol, and several other collections and MSS including papyri from Egypt and clay tablets from Babylonia.

FRATERNITY HOUSEPARTIES are the subject of a front-page Sun editorial which appeared November 21. The editor writes four "open letters," to the Interfraternity Council, the Women's Self-Government Association, the Student Council, and the Faculty. Burden of his argument is that fraternities are holding houseparties, although of somewhat different sort than before they were banned; that 87 per cent of the fraternities (by a Sun poll) want and have houseparties; and that the regulation of houseparties is the job of the Interfraternity Council and the Faculty and not of the other two student organizations.

FRESHMAN CLASS elections this year, by Student Council decree, will be from among fifteen candidates nominated by petition of their Classmates and approved by the Council nominating committee. Fraternity coalitions are prohibited. The three men elected will serve on various Council committees, and after they have demonstrated their capabilities a later election will designate which of them is to be president, secretary, and treasurer of the Class. At an open meeting in Cascadilla Hall last week, seven candidates were proposed and their managers designated.

OMEGA TAU SIGMA, Veteran fraternity, won the interfraternity football championship cup, having come through the entire season unbeaten and unscored-upon. Sigma Phi and Telluride, each leading its league, were the principal contenders, and Omega Tau Sigma beat them both, 6-0.

RECITAL in Willard Straight Memorial Room November 22 was by Thomas B. Tracy '31, baritone; Dorothy M. Cothran, and Kiewiet, History, led discussion by Professor Autrey Kilgore, Agriculture, and George P. Adams, Jr., Economics, and Frederick H. Stutz '35 of the Ithaca High School faculty.

WINTER TERM of the College of Agriculture, scheduled to start November 16 and end March 13, was cancelled because of few registrations. Shortage of farm help is held responsible.

TOWN MEETING in Ithaca November 16 considered the question, "What About a Second Front in the Mediterranean?" Professor Cornelius W. deKiewiet, History, led discussion by Professors A. Henry Detwiler, Architecture, and George P. Adams, Jr., Economics, and Frederick H. Stutz '35 of the Ithaca High School faculty.

SAGE CHAPEL PREACHER November 29 is the Rev. Harold Bosley, of Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church, Baltimore, Md.

CHI EPSILON, Civil Engineering honor society, has elected three Seniors and four Juniors. New members of the Class of '43 are Athan A. Baskous, Schene- factory examiners, Arthur A. Miller, South Ozone Park. From the Class of '44, Carl R. Blanche, Bordentown, N. J.; Robert T. Cochran II, Glen Ridge, N. J.; Jack H. McNamara, Tulsa, Okla.; and Richard G. Milhan, Pueblo, Colo.

ITHACA POWER SQUADRON, commanded by Arthur C. Stallman '29, is offering weekly evening instruction in seamanship and piloting. Classes are held in Franklin Hall, with endorsement of the officers of the Naval Training School.
play was produced not on a bare stage, but in a complicated setting, with stage machinery, scenery, and often elaborate stage properties. He spent two summers in research at the British Museum and other English libraries and a year as a senior fellow at the Folger Library, Washington, D. C., of which Joseph Q. Adams, former professor of English, is director.
