Who's on Fifth?

Fifth Avenue, of course . . . 640 Fifth Avenue at 51st Street. There both the Bank and the Trust Company maintain an important branch office. Messrs. Cookman and Denlea, both officers of the Trust Company, are experienced and highly trained in the increasingly difficult business of managing personal funds.

Conveniently situated in the stimulating environs of midtown Manhattan, our spacious Fifth Avenue office is but a nimble hop-skip-and-jump . . . from the famous theatres, fashionable hotels, and fabulous shops that are the district's hallmark.

Next time you're on Fifth, why not stop in for a friendly look-see? And while you're at it, you might ask for a free copy of "HOW TO GET THE MOST OUT OF YOUR INVESTMENTS" . . . it makes very worthwhile reading, and for those with assets of $75,000 or more, it's really a "must."

How to find a job

as big as you are

If you're looking for a better job ask yourself these questions:

Does it offer plenty of chance for advancement?

YES      NO
   

Does it offer regular salary increases?

Does it train you for a more important position?

Does it offer security from business ups and downs?

Does it provide a comprehensive employee benefits program?

The answer is "yes" to all these questions if the job is with The Prudential.

Every year The Prudential selects outstanding college men to be trained for administrative, technical and specialized positions. Thanks to Prudential's sweeping decentralization program, chances for advancement exist not only in Newark but also in our other Home Offices.

To find out how you'd fit into a Prudential job, mail the coupon below. To the right man, The Prudential offers a worthwhile, satisfying career with broad opportunities.

Alumni "Chauffeurs" Bring 365 Boys To Look University Over

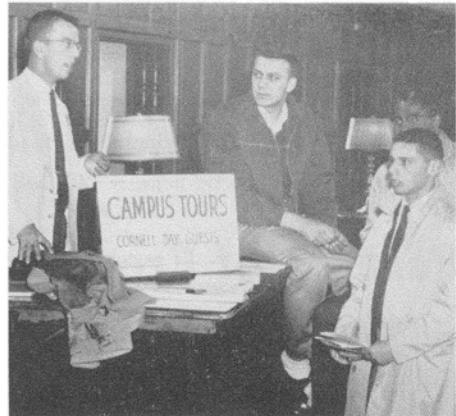

THIRTY-FIVE CORNELL CLUBS sent 365 boys from secondary schools of their areas to visit the University for the sixteenth Cornell Day, May 4 & 5. It was the largest Cornell Day ever, topping last year's record of 346 guests. Most of the boys were juniors in their schools who had expressed interest in entering Cornell. The guests had been interviewed and invited by members of the secondary school committees of the Clubs and were brought to Ithaca by more than 100 alumni "chauffeurs" who volunteered their cars and time for the two-day visit.

The Cornell Day guests were registered in Willard Straight Hall by members of Mortar Board and then taken by members of Aleph Samach and Red Key to the fraternity houses where they were to stay. Forty-five fraternities gave lodging and meals for the week end. Friday afternoon, the prospective Freshmen attended College meetings and talked with College representatives; heard of the numerous extracurricular activities from Associate Director Edgar A. Whiting '29 of Willard Straight Hall and of intramural and intercollegiate athletics from Director of Athletics Robert J. Kane '34. Campus tours and six athletic events were also available Saturday. The schoolboys were guests of the Glee Club and Savage Club for "Songs and Savages" in Bailey Hall Saturday evening and at a Willard Straight Hall open house afterwards.

The alumni "chauffeurs," who had time on their hands after turning "their passengers" over to the undergraduate hosts, were guests of the Faculty and the Administration at a luncheon in Willard Straight Hall and at a reception in Moakley House. Chauffeurs and Cornell Day guests breakfasted together in Willard Straight Hall cafeteria Sunday morning before attending religious services in Sage Chapel, Anabel Taylor Hall, or downtown churches and heading for home.

In charge of arrangements for Cornell Day were Associate Director of Admissions Robert W. Storandt '40 and Alumni Field Secretary Richard M. Ramin '51, with S. Richard Gross '54 of Liberty, chairman of the Interfraternity Council. Cooperating for the Colleges were John F. McManus '36 and Donald H. Moyer, Engineering; Professors J. Dabney Burfoot, Jr., PhD '29, and Rollin L. Perry, MS '47, Arts & Sciences; John P. Hertel '34, Agriculture; Donald L. Finlayson, Architecture; Thomas W. Silk '38, Hotel Administration; and James Campbell, PhD '49, Industrial & Labor Relations.

Guests See Engineers' Exhibits

Later Friday evening, Cornell Day guests and alumni saw with interest the annual Engineers Day exhibits arranged by students in buildings of the Colleges of Engineering and Architecture. The Agricultural Engineers participated for the first time in Engineers Day with an exhibit of farm irrigation techniques and field testing equipment. The Mechanical Engineering students again presented, as well as more technical exhibits, a sports car exhibit on the Quadrangle in front of East Sibley. ## Wide Choice of Entertainment

Willard Straight Hall "Carnival" open house was again a popular feature of the week end. The Memorial Room was transferred into a "midway" with game booths, bridge tables were set up in the Music Room, and the Kimball Room had continuous showings of the Alumni Association film "Spring in Ithaca." CURW also held open house in Anabel Taylor Hall. There was a fashion show in Willard Straight Hall, a band concert on the Library Slope, an Interfraternity Council Song Contest in Bailey Hall, a dance party in Willard Straight Hall, and a choice of athletic events.

Cornell Savoyards presented in the Old Armory five performances of "The Mikado" in conjunction with Freshman Parents Week End. The enthusiasm and excellent knowledge of libretto and music of the principals resulted in an enjoyable production of the Gilbert & Sullivan operetta. Robert Brustein, English, made a fine Mikado and Leonard C. Horn '58 was a wonderful Ko Ko, Lord High Executioner. A. Stratton McAllister '55 as Pooh Bah, Lord High Everything Else, and Mrs. McAllister (Ruth Behrens) '54 as Yum Yum performed with authority. Other roles were ably taken by Michael C. Tarr '57, Jay Leng '56, Lana L. Brennan '56, Dooley Sciple '57, and Mrs. Carol (Ruttenberg) Edelman '56.

The fourteen-member Student Council committee that successfully engineered the Freshman Parents Week End, with advice from the Office of the Dean of Men and Dean of Women, was headed by W. Lowry Mann '58 of Plainfield, N.J., and included representatives of Willard Straight Hall, CURW, and the Freshman Class Councils. The beautiful orchids and anthuriums displayed at the registration desk in Willard Straight Hall were sent to the College of Engineering by the parents of Freshman Howard Nakamara of Wailulu, Hawaii.

Parents of Freshmen Enjoy Week End

Straight Carnival Provides Fun for Parents—Parents and students alike enjoy an activity at carnival in Willard Straight Hall during Freshman Parents Week End. Blaustein '57

FAMILY GROUPS became numerous over the Campus with the arrival of 1500 fathers and mothers for Freshman Parents Week End, April 27-29. Through a busy program arranged by a Student Council committee the parents absorbed many facets of University life.

Dean of Men Frank C. Baldwin '22 welcomed the parents at a convocation in Bailey Hall. Explaining the functions of his office, he declared that he "was never too busy to see individual students." President Deane W. Malott, as the featured speaker of the evening, spoke of the need for parents to get acquainted with the University so that they can understand its effects on their children. He emphasized the many opportunities that the University offers its students. President Patricia Maygoth-ling of the Freshmen Women's Council presented an orchid to Mrs. George Voevodsky of Tucson, Ariz., mother of John Voevodsky, for coming the farthest distance. Cayuga's Waiters and the Orpheus Club sang at the meeting, which was m.c.'d by President Jules Labarthe, Jr. of the Freshmen Men's Council.

Parents Go To Classes

Saturday morning classes were open to the visitors and some Colleges held coffee hours. The parents had a chance to meet their children's advisers and instructors, tour buildings and dormitories, and see exhibits of work done by Architecture students in White and Franklin Halls. Festival of Contemporary Arts exhibits had been left up in

Hotel Ezra Cornell Opens Again

PRESENTATION of a large silver key by J. William Conner '40, manager of Statler Inn, to Joseph R. Woods '56 on the steps of Statler Inn, Friday afternoon, May 4, officially opened the thirty-first Hotel Ezra Cornell. With that, the entire studentry of the School of Hotel Administration, guided by Managing Director Woods and sixteen other student directors, proceeded to take over the Inn and make the three-day visit of some 500 hotel and restaurant executives as enjoyable as possible.

Ground-breaking ceremonies for the construction of the Alice Statler Auditorium, new $1,500,000 addition to the School of Hotel Administration, were held Saturday noon, with Mrs. Alice Statler and President Deane W. Malott joining to turn over the traditional first shovel of earth. The new five-story structure, to include a 900-seat auditorium, library, classrooms and offices, is the gift of Statler Foundation, which was established under the will of hotel pioneer Ellsworth M. Statler, benefactor of the Hotel School. Mrs. Statler, his widow, is chairman of the Foundation's trustees.

President Malott presented the plot of land at the south end of the Hotel School grounds to the Statler Foundation on behalf of the University. Mrs. Statler graciously accepted the land and dedicated the new auditorium "with the hope that it will be a continuing and active memorial to Mr. Statler." The new facility, the President said, will enable the School of Hotel Administration to improve its teaching program and at the same time will give the Campus a new resource, usable for cultural enrichment.

Sinclair Weeks Banquet Speaker

The elaborate dinner and program of the formal banquet was enjoyed by many. Introduced by D. Leo Dolan, head of the Canadian Government Travel Bureau and master of ceremonies for the evening, Lester W. Carter, president of the American Hotel Association, extended greetings, saying that Hotel Ezra Cornell was one of the most enjoyable functions that his office permitted. The audience rose when Mrs. Statler stepped to the podium for a brief talk. US Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks delivered the principal address. In his speech he described the new Commerce division concerned with tourism. He pointed out that the American public spend more than a billion and a half dollars abroad each year and receives six billion dollars worth of foreign trade income. Due to the efforts of the Commerce Department along the lines of improved transportation facilities this income and its corresponding business for American hotel, restaurant, and other travel concerns should continue to increase in the coming years. The really important thing however, he said, was the "trade in ideas." This will control the destiny of the United States and the world. Colonialism is out of date and the people of the world are now looking to the United States in the "contest for men's minds." He called on the American people to realize this situation and to concentrate on selling superior ideas as well as superior products and technology.

Architect's Drawing of Alice Statler Auditorium—The new $1,500,000 addition to the School of Hotel Administration, gift of the Statler Foundation, is shown as it will look on the east side, opposite Barton Hall. From East Avenue, it will be built to the right or south of the present Statler Hall, on the site of the former home of the late Professor Wilder D. Bancroft, Chemistry. The five-story structure, designed by Holabird & Root & Burgee, is scheduled for completion next fall.

Arthur J. Packard, president of Packard Hotels, presented a symposium entitled "Current Legislative Trends in the Hotel Industry." We have lobbyists in Washington, he said, because the "power to legislate is the power to destroy." A little known fact to hotelmen is that there are more than 500 bills in Congress or committees at the present time that are detrimental to the hotel industry. Not all of them will finally reach the floor of Congress for a vote, but it is Packard's job as chairman of the governmental affairs committee of the American Hotel Association to defend the hotel industry against any bills that do come up for a vote. Some of the more important bills now under consideration were explained by him.

The American housewife, as well as the hotel and restaurant industry, does not use imagination enough in the preparation of meals. As a result, the American public suffers greatly from the lack of variation in its daily menu. This was the theme of the symposium entitled "Cooking with Wines" given by Walter K. Tode, proprietor of The Inn in Ridgefield, Conn., and guest lecturer in Hotel Administration. Although the talk was planned to entertain the wives of hotelmen attending Hotel Ezra Cornell while their husbands talked shop, a number of men came to see and hear the world famous chef. As he spoke, Tode prepared three dishes to demonstrate the use of wine in cooking.

HEC Souvenirs Exhibited

A number of outstanding exhibits and displays occupied the fourth floor of Statler Hall. An impressive panoramic view of the history of previous Hotel Ezra Cornells with pictures, programs, menus, and other souvenirs, was placed in the hallway. In one of the exhibit rooms was a display that showed the latest advances in food technology. Featured here was the "plastic egg" re-

Now In My Time! Conway Dury

WE CAN REMEMBER when the Woodford Stage drew a bigger gate than a basketball game, when the Freshman Banquet and attendant manifestations upset the whole community for a week, and when a houseparty was the one occasion when impeccable deportment, complete sobriety, and clean white gloves were required of all concerned.

You can argue endlessly as to whether things are better now, or worse—and you'd be surprised to find how many do—but you've got to admit they're different. With the Junior Promenade gone, along with a long list of traditional events once regarded as important, we're not quite sure if there is a Freshman Banquet any more, and while they must hold that Woodford Oratorical Contest somewhere and sometime every year, you will search the columns of The Cornell Sun and of The Ithaca Journal in vain for any mention of it, either before or after the event.

All this does not mean that any social or extra-curricular void has been created by the departure or subordination of the events mentioned. Quite the contrary! Ask the harassed Counsellor of Students, who from the end of the spring vacation to Commencement must live the life of a train dispatcher in war time trying to find week ends enough to provide for Cornell Days, Hotel Ezra Cornells, houseparties either approved or spontaneous, organized visits of parents, cornerstone layings, horse shows, military reviews, and what not, which have arisen in our midst since your time and mine. Furthermore, the Counsellor of Students, unlike his railroad counterpart, has the duty of cleaning up the wrecks when the inevitable collisions occur on the overloaded right of way. We don't know what stipend rewards the efforts of the Counsellor of Students, but we feel certain that it must be grossly inadequate!

But many new things are much better than the institutions and practices they supplanted. We're pretty sure these military inspections and reviews are vastly to be preferred to the old sham battles which once concluded for the year the activities of the Cadet Corps. We recall vividly the last sham battle conducted under the best traditions of the Spanish War, which rather got out of control. That must have been around 1900 or thereabouts.

The problem involved an Infantry attack on a battery of guns located on the Library slope without supports or defenses. At that time, the guns had to be cleaned after each discharge with big swabs which in the denouement proved highly effective weapons against riflemen armed with ancient Springfields, no bayonets, and blank ammunition. The Infantry advanced up the slope in rushes, with their officers out in front, periodically dropping prone to discharge a volley. They were supposed to charge right into the guns and capture them in a cloud of smoke, which they doubtless would have done had not the gunners lost their heads and decided to fight it out man-to-man with those swabs. Though greatly outnumbered, the gunners won easily, sweeping their attackers down in windrows and knocking a few individuals unconscious.

There was another incident which leaked out gradually. The way we heard it, the casualties inflicted by the swabs were not the only ones suffered in the concluding sham battle. Fifteen rounds of blank cartridges had been issued the day before to each Infantryman, to make a noise with and to add an appearance of reality to the show, and one unit spent the evening picking out the innocuous plug in the blanks and substituting soap, calculated to inflict a painful impact on the pants of an unpopular company commander urging on his troops with drawn sword in the manner still employed in the Spanish War.

True or false, there weren't any more sham battles after that one! So much, at least, is authenticated history. The incident of shooting soap at the captain's pants is hearsay, but was commonly accepted as fact then.

And remind us some time to tell you about the Russian-born and newly-imported professor of Electrical Engineering, who to improve his spoken English asked for and received permission to sit in on the Sophomore course in Public Speaking; all of which happened, of course, long before Russia did away with czars. All went well until pieces were assigned to be memorized and declaimed and Professor Karapetoff drew Tennyson's "Charge of the Light Brigade," and the professor of Speech insisted that he go through with it or get out, and the professor of Electrical Engineering got out, more in anger than in sorrow.

But there isn't time for anything in the spring term any more; even anecdotes about Professor Karapetoff!

cently developed at the College of Agriculture. Various spices, teas, and coffees were shown with their origins and relative merits indicated. Oscar Tschirky's menu collection and hotel models were also exhibited.

For Rhodes Professorship

ALUMNI who are former students of Professor Fred H. Rhodes, PhD '14, Director of the School of Chemical & Metallurgical Engineering, have given nearly $20,000 toward a fund which it is hoped may reach $250,000 to endow a professorship in the School named for him when Director Rhodes retires from teaching at the end of June, 1957. A committee to raise the fund is headed by Gordon Kiddoo '43, vice-president of National Research Corp., Cambridge, Mass. Contributors thus far are individual Cornellians; it is planned before next year to approach corporations which know of "Dusty" Rhodes's work and which have employed his graduates. Walter G. Bruska '50 of the University Development Office is executive director of the Rhodes Endowment Fund Campaign.

Law Alumni Hear Muskie '39

ABOUT 200 LAW SCHOOL alumni returned for the week end of May 11-12 to attend the annual meeting of the Cornell Law Association and Lawyers' Reunion. The week end was opened with a meeting of the Cornell Law School Fund in Myron Taylor Hall, followed by a reception and dinner in Statler Hall. Guest of honor at the dinner was Edmund S. Muskie, LLB '39, who was elected Governor of Maine in 1954. He spoke humorously on his experiences as a successful Democratic candidate in the Republican State of Maine and presented a seven-point outline of his personal political philosophy, which included the beliefs that politics is an honorable profession, that "to young people must fall a substantial part of the leadership of the nation," and that the greatest threat to good government lies in the failure of citizens to participate actively in the processes of government. Frank B. Ingersoll '17, president of the Law Association, presided at the dinner and welcoming speeches were given by Professor John W. MacDonald '25 and Gray Thoron, who becomes Dean of the Law School, July 1.

Saturday morning, the lawyers gathered in Myron Taylor Hall to attend the annual meeting of the Law Association. They heard short talks by Dean-elect Thoron and Professor Robert S. Stevens, Emeritus, who retired as Dean in 1954, and a discussion on "International Legal Studies: Cornell's Expanded Program Under the Ford Grant" by Professor Rudolf B. Schlesinger.

Elected to members of the Association's executive committee for three years were Alexander Pirnie '24, John W. Reavis '21, and Franklin S. Wood '23. Horace R. Lamb '16 was elected a member of the Alumni Association committee on Alumni Trustee nominations. Wood, who was also reappointed chairman of the campaign for the Law School Fund, reported that to date the Fund had reached $40,188 from 925 donors.

Professor W. David Curtiss '38, secretary-treasurer of the Law Association, was in charge of general arrangements for the Reunion.

"Songs and Savages"

THE SAVAGE CLUB of Ithaca and the Glee Club joined forces to present a lively and light-hearted show called "Songs and Savages" in Bailey Hall, May 5. With Jack Deal of Radio Station WHCU acting as master of ceremonies, the show maintained a nice balance between the renditions of the choral groups and the varied acts of the Brother Savages.

Among the many standout performances by the Savages were a series of piano improvisations by Martin G. Blinder '58 on "Mary Had a Little Lamb" in the manner of Chopin, Rachmaninoff, Mozart, Bach, and Bartok; imitations of Al Jolson, Eddie Cantor, and Sir Harry Lauder by Charles A. (Chick) Norris '24; and an amusing discourse on the art of making lamp bases from champagne bottles by Professor Rollo A. Tallcott of Ithaca College.

The Glee Club, under the direction of Thomas B. Tracy '31, gave its usual polished and versatile performance. Highlighting its program of Cornell songs and spirituals were "Shadrach" with soloist Lewis R. Graves '59 and "It Ain't Necessarily So" sung by Howard R. Greenstein '57. The show also featured the breaking of a precedent of long standing when the Cornellaires, a group including eight women, appeared on stage to sing. It was the first time in the history of the Glee Club that women had appeared on the same program with them.

Cornell Day guests were given recognition when the boys and the alumni "chauffeurs" were asked to stand up by the master of ceremonies.

George M. Sutton, PhD '32, has been elected to honorary membership in Phi Beta Kappa at University of Oklahoma, where he is professor of zoology and curator of birds. Professor Sutton was Curator of Birds and professor of Ornithology at the University from 1931-45.

On the Sporting Side - By "Sideliner"

Crews Go All Out To Win

PROSPERITY is so much more appreciated for having been deprived of it! Victory over Yale in the Eastern Sprint Championships, May 12 at Washington, D.C., was an elated Campus conversation piece, coming as it did so soon after Yale's unexpected triumph over the redoubtable Red Varsity in the Carnegie Cup Regatta on the Housatonic River at New Haven, May 5.

The 2000-meter race on the Potomac River had thirteen entries from all the regular rowing colleges in the East and it is the only collegiate regatta to be conducted at the Olympic distance on the East Coast. It therefore had a special significance in this Olympic year. Cornell's victory in the varsity event established it as one of the foremost eight-oared Olympic possibilities for the trials at Syracuse, June 28-30, and the Junior Varsity triumph merely added luster to the achievement. The Freshmen did not qualify for the final. For the Varsity and Junior Varsity wins, the Big Red oarsmen brought home three trophies. The Rowe Cup, awarded to the college scoring the most points in the three races, came to Cornell for the second consecutive year, with 18 points. Yale was second in two races, fifth in another, for 10 points. The Washington Evening Star Cup for the varsity race and the Richard A. Glendon Trophy for the Jayvee are also now residing in the Schoellkopf trophy case.

All Races Close

All three races were won by dramatically narrow margins. The Varsity's edge over Yale was declared to be six feet. Cornell's time was 6:10; Yale's, 6:10.6. Junior Varsity boat won by an even smaller amount, three feet. Even scantier was Navy's win over Yale in the freshman race. Some observers called it inches and two of the judges figured it to be a dead heat. The official times were Navy 6:35.6; Yale 6:35.7.

Faced with the poorest practice conditions in years, Coach R. Harrison Sanford held workouts for his Varsity eights three times the week of the Sprint Regatta at 6 a.m., endeavoring to find Cayuga's waters calm enough to conduct trials. Only on one of the three mornings was it possible to hold a trial, and only on two was he able to get on the Lake at all! He figures he is more than 100 miles of rowing behind last year at the same time. The failure of the Freshman crew to develop in expected fashion is attributed to inability to get on the Lake more often. It has created a real problem for Freshman coach Carl V. Ullrich '50 to attain the coordination and competitive experience necessary for improvement, because workouts on the narrow Inlet course do not permit the Freshman boats to row with the Varsity. The Freshman boat was fourth in its trial heat and did not qualify for the final.

Varsity Takes Yale Nip-and-Tuck

The varsity race was a nip-and-tuck affair all the way. Penn was an early leader. Then Yale took the lead and was ahead about a quarter-length, but this was narrowed at the halfway mark by fast-approaching Cornell. Both Yale and Cornell are big, powerful crews and they rowed in adjacent lanes. Penn was in close pursuit, but Cornell and Yale were quite evidently the contenders. Both kept their beat at about 32 and then Stroke Philip T. Gravink '57 brought it up to 36 and pulled even. Yale likewise came up to 36 and there was never more than a few feet separation. The Cornell boat fairly leaped out of the water the last 100 meters, however, and seemed to have a clear margin for the first time. In the last few strokes Yale caught a partial crab on the port side of the shell, but it appeared that the Red boat had the race by that time. Penn was third in 6:20.5; Princeton, fourth in 6:21.4; Harvard, fifth in 6:21.7; and Navy was sixth in 6:24.8.

Coach Jim Rathschmidt of Yale remarked, "We rowed just as well as we are capable, but Cornell had it. We did not lose the race at the finish. We lost it in the middle. We can beat Cornell out for the Olympic team I am sure."

The Varsity won its trial heat in the morning by an easy three lengths over Navy. The Elis had the fastest qualifying heats in all three races, but failed to win a final. Never before, however, were there two second places quite so close as theirs in the varsity and freshman events.

Penn gave the Jayvees a terrific battle. Water conditions were rough in this race and considering this, the time was excellent. Cornell was given 6:15.9 and Penn 6:16.3, but the margin of winning did not appear that much. Navy was third in 6:19.8; Princeton, fourth in 6:29.4; Yale, 6:30; MIT, 6:32.2.

Princeton was third in the freshman race to Navy and Yale in 6:43.6; Penn, 6:44.1; Harvard, 6:54.5; and Dartmouth, 6:57.8.

Conditions were excessively rough on the Housatonic for the two-mile Carnegie Cup varsity race. The storm whipped up late in the day and there were strong head winds bucking the varsity boats as the times testify. The freshman and junior-varsity times at 10:26.1 and 10:08.3 were better than the varsity with 10:26.9. Even the second-freshman race of this five-event regatta had better time, 10:19.2, than the beleaguered varsities.

Coach Sanford, after seeing Yale beat his Varsity boat by more than a length, remarked, "Yale rowed very well under the conditions. It took the heavy going much better than we did. It is a big, powerful, well-coached crew." Yale, on the inside, took the lead at the start. Cornell, in second lane, encountered early difficulty as there was a partial crab caught in the first twenty strokes. But Cornell stayed fairly close to Yale and Princeton, battling the worst of the elements in the outside lane, could not stay with the pace. In the middle of the race it looked as though the Red boat was moving up, but Yale brought up its beat and in trying to catch the Elis there were a couple of partially missed strokes and the jig was up.

The Red Junior Varsity won over Princeton by about two lengths and Yale was a length behind Princeton. Cornell had the inside lane in this one, which helped, but conditions were not as heavy as later. Freshman race was won by Princeton with Yale a length and a half back and Cornell less than a length behind Yale.

Only change in the Varsity boating from Carnegie Cup was the substitution of Richard E. Phillips '58 for George E. Bullwinkel '58 at No. 3, who assumed Phillips's oar in the Junior Varsity. The Sprint Regatta lineups were as follows:

VARSITY—Bow, John M. Van Horn '57; 2, John A. Blanchard '56; 3, Richard Phillips; 4, Todd Simpson '57; 5, William J. Schumacher '57; 6, Clayton W. Chapman '57; 7, George F. Ford '57; stroke, Philip T. Gravink '57; coxswain, Carl W. Schwarz '57.

JUNIOR VARSITY—Bow, Benjamin S. Park '57; 2, Robert W. Staley '57; 3, George Bullwinkel; 4, Donald R. Cheney '58; 5, Richard J. Comtois '56; 6, Leon B. Rousseau '56; 7, Cord D. Hansen-Sturm '58; stroke, John J. Meakem '58; coxswain, Thomas H. Burrows '56.

Baseball Team Has a Chance

FOUR LEAGUE TRIUMPHS in a row put the Big Red baseballers in contention for the championship. Harvard, Brown, Navy, and Army went down to defeat and made the record look somewhat better after the two opening setbacks at the hands of Yale and Dartmouth. Cornell then must defeat Columbia, Princeton, and Penn to gain a tie with Yale, already through its League season with a 7-2 record.

William DeGraaf '56 was winning pitcher in the Harvard, Navy, and Army games and John H. Perkins '56 was winner of the Brown game. But Perkins needed the big, talented DeGraaf's arm in the last inning to protect his victory. In this game, played at Hoy Field May 5 and won by the Red, 3-1, Captain John R. Anderluh '56 hit a first-inning triple, scoring DeGraaf and Catcher John G. Simek '56 to put Cornell out in the lead. With the count 3-1 and with two Brown men on base and one out, Perkins started to weaken and Coach Royner Greene called in the great Billy from left field and he struck out two men to retire the side and save the game.

DeGraaf was effective against Harvard, not quite as inclusively as he was last fall when he scored all the points to beat Harvard on the gridiron 20-7, but he pitched the whole way and held the Cantabs to three hits and 2 runs and fanned nine to win, 3-2. He also made two of the Red's eight hits off Captain Ken Rossano. Both Harvard runs were unearned. This was May 3 at Hoy Field.

DeGraaf Shines Against Navy

DeGraaf's most spectacular performance was at Annapolis, May 9, when he pitched and hit his way to a 9-5 victory over Navy. He hit home runs on his first two trips to the plate, singled the next two times, and hit a tremendous fly to deepest center in his fifth time. He batted in 5 runs with this onslaught. His second home run went more than 500 feet and he was at the bench before the relay brought the ball in. He held Navy to eight hits, one of which was a 2-run home run in the seventh by slugger Dave Smalley. Smalley also hit a triple in the fifth. The game also featured beautiful defensive plays by E. Richard Meade '56, John Anderluh, and David E. Mott '56.

Cornell outhit Army, 10-7, May 12 at Hoy Field as Billy's strong right arm pitched his team to a 4-3 victory. It was not a great team performance for the Red; none of the Army runs was earned. Billy fanned eleven men, but his teammates made five errors and it took ten innings to come out with the win. It was Dick Meade's single in the tenth which scored Nelson Schiff '58. Schiff had three errors at third base, but he compensated somewhat by his work at the plate. His double in the fifth scored two and his single in the tenth started the rally to score the winning run. Richard A. Shigekane '57, the 5 foot 6 inch first baseman from Hilo, Hawaii, had two triples and a single in four tries.

Syracuse, in a game at Syracuse, May 15, clambered all over pitchers Jack Jenkins, Clayton G. Haviland '56, usually a second baseman, Jeffrey L. Wiese '58, and Robert J. Verstandig '57, another infielder, to a 16-5 drubbing. The importance of DeGraaf was never more clearly demonstrated. There was an unfortunate incident in this game which may keep DeGraaf out for the remaining games, but at least seriously handicapped. In the fifth, he overslid third base and the Syracuse third baseman in attempting to block him toppled DeGraaf over and another player jumped on him. It was discovered two days later that as a result two ribs were fractured and the hairline fracture of the transverse process he suffered in the Yale football game last fall was painfully aggravated.

Track Team Second

IT WOULD HAVE TAKEN only the services of quarter miler John S. Ingley '58 to win the Heptagonal track and field championships at West Point, May 12. But he stayed home with a severe attack of shin splints. As a result, Harvard won with 52.1 points and Cornell was second with 46.3. Yale was third with 34.3; Penn, 28; Navy, 27.8; Princeton, 25.6; Army, 25.3; Dartmouth, 15.6; Columbia, 1; Brown, 0.

Ingley, winner of the Heps indoor 600 and a conqueror of the outdoor Heps 440 winner, Richard Wharton of Harvard, just the week before in the triangular meet with Harvard and Penn at Ithaca, could also have lent enough strength to the mile relay team to have certainly made it a place winner, and most probably a winner.

Captain Albert W. Hall '56 won and set a new Heptagonal record in the sixteen-pound hammer throw with 190 feet 9 inches, and Irvin Roberson '58 won the 220 low hurdles in 0:23.6. But these were extraordinary performances in other respects, too. Hall had thrown 193 feet 7 inches in this meet last year at Princeton, but the circle had been laid out  $\frac{1}{4}$  inch too large and he was deprived of the record. His record now stands, but it is not quite as impressive as the 1955 throw. Roberson had a triumphant day, but not all of its drama was obvious to the judges and spectators. He was clearly second in the 100-yard dash to John Haines of Penn, but the judge gave his place to Earl S. McHugh '58, and Roberson was given McHugh's proper fourth place. McHugh was well aware of the error, however, and insisted Roberson take his second-place medal as he accepted Roberson's for fourth.

Roberson ran a trial in the 100 and a final, a trial in the 440 relay and a final and the Cornell team placed second; a trial and a final in the 220 low hurdles, which he won; and went unplaced in the broad jump. He was seen to limp quite perceptibly between all of these events, but seemed to navigate exceedingly well when the gun went off. On Monday, an x-ray of his injured foot disclosed that he had incurred a broken shaft of the metatarsal bone. He had hurt it in practice two days before the meet, but thought it was merely a lame arch. His foot in a cast made him unable to take part in the Princeton dual meet, May 19, or the ICAAAA, May 29-30. His dreams of making the Olympic team are shattered too. Dr. Alexius Rachun said, "Roberson will be unable to put stress on his foot for at least six weeks." Coach Montgomery labelled it "one of the finest demonstrations of courage I have ever seen. The pain kept growing as he continued to run, but he never faltered. In fact, his performances were incredible under the circumstances."

John S. King '58 was second in the high jump with 6 feet 1 $\frac{1}{4}$  inches; Richard M. Allman '57 placed third in the shotput with 48 feet 11 $\frac{1}{2}$  inches and Roger L. Garrett '58 was fifth with 47 feet. Richard S. Abell '58 was third in both the high and low hurdles. Arthur L. Boland '57 was third in the 440; E. Kirk McCreary '58, fourth in the two-mile and Michael Midler '58, fifth in the two-mile. The 440 relay team of McHugh, Jack D. McFadden '58, Boland, and Roberson was second to Penn.

Winning 8 $\frac{1}{2}$  firsts, the Varsity track team won over Harvard and Penn in a meet at Schoellkopf, May 5. Cornell scored 79 5/6 points; Harvard, 56 11/12; and Penn, 36 1/4.

Irvin Roberson scored firsts in the "100 yard dash," which was only 95 yards due to an error by the clerk of course who started the race at the wrong spot on the track, and in the 220 low hurdles. Roberson ran 0:09.4 for the 95 yards and the lows in 0:24.2. John King won the broad jump with 22 feet 2 $\frac{1}{2}$  inches and tied Henry Moore and John Murphy of Harvard in the high jump with 6 feet. Richard Allman set a new Cornell record in winning the shotput with 51 feet 11 $\frac{1}{2}$  inches and Captain Al Hall set a meet record of 185 feet  $\frac{1}{2}$  inch in taking the sixteen-pound hammer event. Mike Midler won the mile in the good time of 4:16.8, fastest any Cornellian has run on the Schoellkopf track.

John Haines, star Penn sprinter, set a track and meet record in the 220-yard dash with a sparkling 0:20.7 and tied the 440-yard meet and track record of 0:47.6 set by Charles H. Moore '52.

Other Sports

A VICTORY and then four defeats in a row were the meager rewards of Varsity lacrossers in their involvements the first two weeks of May. Colgate was defeated, 4-2, at Hamilton, May 2; Dartmouth trampled all over them at Ithaca, 15-5, May 5; Hobart did it to them less conclusively, 10-8, May 9; a trip to Princeton May 12 resulted in a 15-3 shellacking; and Syracuse did it on Upper Alumni Field, 13-11, May 16.

Varsity tennis team lost to Navy, 6-3, May 5, and Syracuse was defeated, 8-0, May 9. Princeton gave the Cornellians a 9-0 trouncing, May 12. All were on the Cascadilla courts.

Lightweight Crew Wins Cup

Varsity 150-pound crew won the newly-established Ivan J. Geiger Cup, named in memory of the recently-deceased MIT athletic director, by defeating MIT and Columbia on the Harlem River in New York City, May 5. Margin over the mile and five-sixteenths course was about ten feet over MIT, with Columbia in third place. Cornell Jayvees won by four lengths, with MIT second and Columbia third. The Freshmen were third behind MIT and Columbia.

In the Eastern 150-pound championship regatta at Princeton, May 12, the Red lightweight Varsity, coached by J. Barry Hart '55, was second by a half-length to Princeton in the big event and won the junior-varsity race. The Freshman boat did not reach the final. Behind Princeton and Cornell in the varsity race were the other qualifiers, Harvard and Yale. Princeton's time was 6:31; Cornell's, 6:33.4; Harvard, 6:47.5; Yale, 6:45.7. Junior Varsity's winning time was 6:47.3; Harvard, 6:47.5; Navy, 7:01.1; Yale, 7:03.3. Princeton won the freshman race. All races were over the mile and five-sixteenths course.

Varsity golfers have been staying home this season. Six competitions in a row took place on the Moakley course, including the Eastern championships, May 12-14. Captain David S. Stotz '56 called a foul on himself when he mistakenly played his Colgate opponent's ball which cost him the hole, his match, and the dual team match, May 1. Score was 4-3. St. Lawrence fell to the Red golfers, 6-1, May 3; Harvard succumbed 6-1, May 3; LeMoyne lost to the Red, 5-2, May 8; and Syracuse was whitewashed, 7-0, May 9. Cornell did not do well in the sixteen-team Eastern championships. It was won by Yale with a score of 603. Cornell was eleventh with 649. Yale took all the other honors, too. Edwin Vare, son of famous golfer Glenna Collet Vare, was the medalist with 144 for thirty-six holes, and Peter Nisselson won the match play individual title. He defeated Jim Mayes of Penn State in the finals. The Ivy championship is also competed for in this meeting. Yale, of course, emerged as 1956 champion and Cornell was fifth.

Varsity rifle team won the New York State Intercollegiate Rifle League with eight wins, one loss. Highest League average was posted by John C. Strickler, Jr. '57 with 281 of a possible 300. Highest single match went to James V. Hardman '57, with 289.

Freshman Teams Busy

Freshman baseball team defeated Colgate, 12-6, at Hamilton, May 2, and Syracuse, 4-3, on Hoy Field, May 9, and then lost, 8-1, to Penn State at University Park, May 11, and to Ithaca College on Hoy Field, 4-0, May 15. The Freshman record now stands at three wins, two losses.

Colgate gave the Freshman lacrosse team a sound going-over, 13-7, at Hamilton, May 2, but two wins and a tie assuaged somewhat this scourging. Hobart was beaten, 9-1, on Upper Alumni Field, May 5; Syracuse was tied, 6-6, May 9, and this was an encouragement because on April 28 the Orange team won, 6-5, at Syracuse. Penn State was a victim May 11 at University Park, 11-6; Hobart, May 16, 9-1.

Penn State and Harvard were beaten by the Freshman track team within four days. On a miserably cold, rainy May 1 afternoon, the Red runners defeated State, 81-50. David C. Heasley, son of Walter C. Heasley, Jr. '30 of Ithaca, won the 120-yard hurdles in 0:15.3; the 220 lows in 0:25.4; the broad jump in 21 feet 2 $\frac{1}{2}$  inches, and shared first place in the high jump at 5 feet 6 inches. Harvey Weissbard won the 220 in 0:22.8 and the 440 in 0:51.1 and anchored the winning mile relay team. The Harvard meet, held in conjunction with the varsity meet May 5, was tougher but the Red youngsters won 71 $\frac{1}{2}$ -68 $\frac{1}{2}$ , by winning ten of the sixteen events. Heasley won the highs in 0:15.6 and the high jump at 5 feet 10 inches. Weissbard won the 220 in 0:22.6, the 440 in 0:50.6. The "100 yard dash" was 95 yards long and Robert E. Hazzard, son of Lawrence Hazzard '23, won in 0:09.6. Colgate was beaten, 85-46, at Hamilton, May 11, which wound up the season with a clean record. Dave Heasley won the high jump and both hurdles and Bob Hazzard won the 100 and 220.

May 4, Ithaca College was beaten on Cascadilla courts, 9-0, by the Freshman tennis team and Hamilton was taken, 8-0, in a match at Clinton, May 10, which was called with one match to go due to darkness.

Olympic Wrestler

Frank A. Bettucci '53 of Ithaca, won a place on the 1956 US freestyle Olympic wrestling team by winning the 147 $\frac{1}{2}$ -pound weight division in the final tryouts in Hollywood, Cal., April 28-May 2. He defeated a member of the 1952 Olympic team and runner-up in the Games at Helsinki, Tommy Evans of Oklahoma, in so doing. It is the first time in three tries that Bettucci has defeated Evans. Only one other Easterner, Peter Blair of Navy, made the team. Bettucci was Eastern Intercollegiate champion in the 147-pound class in 1951, 1952, and 1953 and was National Collegiate champion in 1953. In 1953, he was chosen "outstanding wrestler" in both the Easterns and the Nationals. After graduating in Agriculture, he was in the Army Paratroopers from 1953 until the summer of 1955 and came out a lieutenant. He entered the School of Business & Public Administration last fall, but dropped out this term to prepare for the Olympic tryouts.

John R. Arnold '53, the only other Cornellian in the trials, was eliminated in fifth round of 160½-pound class.

Bettucci is the second Cornellian to make an Olympic wrestling team. Charles E. Ackerly '20 won the 121-pound championship and was the only American wrestler to score at Antwerp in 1920.

Spring Day A Success

"SPRING DAY U.S.A." has come and gone; has left sunburned and tired students, sodden remains of "crew race" entries on the Beebe Lake dam, and faded reminders of float parade entries in fraternity back yards. May 11, 12 & 13 were the big days. The weather cooperated as well as Ithaca weather ever does, providing mild, quite clear days, with a few hours of hard rain both Friday and Saturday night. Showers, however, meant only confinement, not slackening of spirit, and parties, shows, and picnics all played their part in the successful week-end festivities.

Sally A. Schwartz '59 of Short Hills, N.J. was crowned Queen of the Week End and rode rather regally and very prettily with her court of four on a special float in Saturday's parade. The Dramatic Club presented Moliere's "The Would-be Invalid," as translated by Professor Morris Bishop '14, in the Willard Straight Theater, Thursday through Sunday evenings. Octagon's production of "Finian's Rainbow," directed by Gerald Gordon '55, was staged before enthusiastic sell-out crowds, both Friday and Saturday nights. Special commendation might fairly go to all 200 Cornellians participating in the musical comedy, but space limits us to a public pat on the back for Judith A. Madigan '57 of Rochester, Martin A. Blum '57 of Hartly, Del., Gordon who acted and sang as well as directed, and Judy M. Schlein '58 from the Bronx. The show, acting, singing, and dancing were all good, light, and gay, and fitted well into the general tenor of the week end.

Following the general compass theme suggested by "Spring Day, U.S.A.," the West was represented by the annual Kite Hill carnival, this year entitled "The Gamblers Strip." Entertainment ranged from a variety show, "Psi U Follies," to a spectacular fireworks display over Upper Alumni Field.

"Panhandlers' Picnic" crew races, which unfortunately involved water-soaked boats participating in a race the start and finish of which were, we fear, known only to the planners and officials, got Saturday off to a smoky wet start. By 10:30, the crowds had left the banks of Beebe and the roof of Japes, and lined the streets in anticipation of the traditional float parade, which though it crossed Triphammer Bridge forty minutes late, was warmly greeted both on Campus and in the Ithaca shopping district. Following the parade theme, "Highlights of Broadway," Phi Sigma Kappa and Pi Beta Phi won first place in the pageant class with an elaborate presentation of "Kismet." Tau Kappa Epsilon and Delta Delta Delta's "Teahouse of the August Moon" captured first place in the float division.

In the afternoon, "The Spring Street Stompers" from Williams College played a two-hour jazz concert on the Libe slope. The peak of the week end for many was reached Saturday night, when Richard Maltby and his orchestra played at the annual Barton Hall dance, "Tara's Theme." Equally important to many were the numerous fraternity parties and dances held during the evening.

Two new events in this year's program were a special Saturday picnic and program at Camp Cayuga for graduate students, sponsored by the Willard Straight graduate activities committee, and a Sunday morning (1 to 3) breakfast party in the Straight Cafeteria and Ivy Room sponsored by the board of managers.

All of this was "Spring Day U.S.A." There were events and more events, and if this narrative lacks sparkle and enthusiasm, it is only because we are still in the process of recovering from a busy, fun-filled week end, annual in nature yet particularly fine in its 1956 form.

Chi Omega dedicated its new house at 1 Sisson Place, May 8. Mrs. Ellis L. Phillips, whose granddaughter, Christine Richards '56, is a member of the sorority, was a generous contributor toward building of the new house. She was present at the dedication and was initiated into Chi Omega as an honorary member. Elizabeth Dyer, national president of Chi Omega, came to Ithaca for the ceremonies.

Lael H. Jackson '56 of New York City, a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma and a Senior in Home Economics, was crowned "Miss New York State" by "Miss America," Sharon Kay Ritchie. Lael will represent the State (and to shine by reflected glory, Cornell) in the Miss America pageant at Atlantic City, N.J. in September.

Milo M. Mandel '57 of New York City is president of the Dramatic Club for 1956-57. Beverly A. Bondley '57 of Scotia and Judith A. Sherman '58 of New York City, will be vice-president and secretary, respectively.

Interfraternity Council community service committee led fifty-one students representing six fraternities in a "Help Week" work project at the Boy Scout Camp Barton on Cayuga Lake. The project included cleanup and repair in preparation for the summer camp season. Future IFC community service projects include a "get out the vote" campaign in the fall and the organization and coordination of the fraternities in a disaster plan which would function in such cases as last year's hurricane or this year's floods, both of which did serious damage in the Ithaca area.

A Slant on Spring Day—Crowds packed the banks of Beebe Lake Saturday morning for the "Panhandlers' Panic" fraternity water pageant. Johnny Parson Club, better known as "Japes," was both a launching point and a grandstand for many of the spectators.

THE FACULTY

In recognition of his eightieth birthday, April 22, Trustee Maxwell M. Upson '99, chairman of the board of Raymond Concrete Pile Co., was honored by 300 company employees, April 19, with a dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York City. He received a bronze plaque commemorating the event and his more than fifty years as constructor, engineer, and inventor. Upson joined the company in 1907 as a director, secretary, general manager, and chief engineer. He became vice-president in 1917, president in 1930, and since 1946 has been chairman of the board.

Trustee John S. Knight '18 has been elected first vice-president of the Associated Press. He is president of Knight Newspapers, Inc., editor of the Akron Beacon Journal, and publisher of The Miami Herald, Detroit Free Press, and Chicago Daily News.

Liberty Hyde Bailey: An Informal Biography, by Philip Dorf '24, will be published by the University Press, tentatively, August 21. Dorf is the author of The Builder: A Biography of Ezra Cornell, published by The Macmillan Co. in 1952.

Dr. George N. Papanicolaou, Clinical Anatomy at the Medical College, Emeritus, has been named winner of the Passano Foundation Award for 1956. The $5000 award was given for Dr. Papanicolaou's research on exfoliate cytology, which is "now widely applied in the early detection of cancer, especially of the uterus. . . ." A reception and dinner will be held for him in Chicago, Ill., June 13, during the American Medical Association convention. Last year, the Award was won by Professor Vincent du Vigneaud, Biochemistry at the Medical College, who later received the Nobel Prize in chemistry for his isolation and synthesis of oxytocin, a hormone of the pituitary.

New method of marketing fresh eggs broken into square plastic containers as developed by Professor Lawrence B. Darrah, PhD '43, Marketing, is featured in Life magazine for April 30 in a picture story, "Science Squares the Egg." Pictures show the advantages of cooking plastic-encased eggs and include one of Professor Darrah demonstrating the superior toughness of the plastic case over ordinary egg shells.

US Air Force has disclosed that one of the world's largest shock tubes, somewhat similar to a high-speed wind tunnel, is being operated at Avco Research Laboratory in Everett, Mass., under supervision of Professor Arthur Kantrowitz, Aeronautical Engineering, who is on leave of absence as vice-president of Avco Manufacturing Corp. and director of the Laboratory. The "big tube," hitherto secret, is a cannon-like assembly about 100 feet long and four inches in diameter; automatic cameras and many electronic instruments "watch" it constantly during tests. When it is "fired" to study gases at extremely high temperatures, a shock wave races through it at 18,000 miles an hour (twenty-four times the speed of sound). The high speeds generate a temperature of 15,000 degrees, Fahrenheit, roughly one and one-half times the heat on the surface of the sun. Because of this, the shock tube can only be kept in operation for millionths of a second; otherwise the entire apparatus would melt and vaporize. Besides its use to solve many problems connected with intercontinental guided missiles, the new apparatus will make it possible to study "interaction of man-made satellites with the earth's atmosphere," according to Professor Kantrowitz.

More than 200 alumni, students, and Faculty members attended a testimonial dinner, March 18, for the Rev. John D.W. Fetter, who will retire August 31 after forty years as Baptist student pastor at the University and Ithaca College. He and Mrs. Fetter were presented with a book of photographs and letters from former students. Tributes were paid to him by Dorothy Dean '53, representing the alumni; Martha L. Ballard '57, representing present students; Professor Myron G. Fincher '20, Veterinary Medicine, first president of the Cornell Baptist Student Fellowship; Henry J. Shirey '25, president of the Fellowship's board of directors; Glenn A. Olds, Director of CURW; and the Rev. William S. Hicks, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Ithaca.

Professor Herbert W. Briggs, International Law, was elected an associate of L'Institute de Droit International at its meeting in Granada, Spain, April 11. The Institute meets every other year in European cities and prepares and publishes scientific studies and draft articles with a view to furthering the development of international law.

Professor Lloyd P. Smith, PhD '30, Physics, will leave the University, July 1, to become vice-president of Avco Manufacturing Corp. and president of the company's Research & Advanced Development Division. A member of the Faculty here since 1932, he has been head of the Physics Department and director of the Department of Engineering Physics, which he founded, since 1946. Trustee Victor Emanuel '19 is chairman of the company.

Mrs. Muriel B. Montillon died, April 28, at her home, 73½ Grand Boulevard, Binghamton. She was the wife of Professor Eugene D. Montillon '07, Landscape Architecture, Emeritus.

Richard D. Frank has resigned as assistant director of the New York City Extension Office, Industrial & Labor Relations, to become assistant to the vice-president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad. He has been succeeded by Wallace Wohlking, MSinI&LR '53, assistant director of the district office in Buffalo since July, 1954.

Professors Robert M. Adams and George P. Elliott, English, have received Hudson Review Fellowships of $4000 each. Professor Adams, winner in the field of literary criticism, plans to work in France on a critical and biographical study of Stendahl. His book, Ikon: John Milton and the Critics, was published last year by the Cornell University Press. Professor Elliott received the award for fiction and plans to work on a novel. He is the editor of an anthology, Fifteen Modern American Poets, and the author of short stories and poems.

Intelligence

Emerson Hinchliff '14

JUDGE SAMUEL S. LEIBOWITZ '15, Kings County Court, Brooklyn, my favorite law lecturer, paid a return

Lecturer Does It Again visit to Ithaca to inaugurate the Robert S. Stevens Lectures, a new annual event sponsored by Woodrow Wilson

Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta legal fraternity in honor of our retired Law Dean. The Judge, of course, was one of the most fabulous of the vanished breed of famous criminal trial lawyers and for the last fifteen years he has been the scourge of malefactors from the bench; hence, he has seen crime, criminals, and criminal lawyers from both angles.

He was here several years ago. I went to that talk out of curiosity and came away to write a "rave" column about it. He hasn't lost his skill at delighting an audience; would have made a wonderful actor. Or salesman. In fact, he said that arguing a case was the toughest selling job on earth. A lawyer has to sell his cause to a jury. In a, perhaps, semi-serious way, he urged the establishment of a chair on facts, to teach how to collate evidence and then what to do with it after you have it; thought it should be a post-graduate course. He said that frequently you don't have a lawsuit, but a factsuit, and that "preparation is the cornerstone of success." He was terribly annoyed at the way the movies so frequently portray lawyers as arrant shysters.

What wowed the big crowd especially was a list of examples of what not to do in court. The lawyer should not try to curry favor with the judge, nor should he be a judge-baiter; if a judge is cantankerous and unjust, the jury will make it up to the lawyer and his client. He should not be a: peacock; bore; ripper; gazer (at a certain spot in the ceiling); miner (at a certain spot in the floor); trotter, around the court room; whisperer; fumbler of papers; lover-boy (to # 6 on the jury); bluffer; professor, from Haavahd; lowbrow; table-pounder; finger-wagger; glasses-swisher; orator; poetry-reciter. I was sitting with Frank Nitzberg '22 of Detroit, one of the alumni "chauffers" for Cornell Day, and the professor-routine had him in veritable stitches.

Leaders Discuss Management Training

EIGHTH ANNUAL Management Conference sponsored by the students of the Graduate School of Business & Public Administration, April 20-21, in Statler Hall, was a symposium on executive development, "Bringing Up The Boss." Some 300 persons, including more than 100 representatives from various firms and government agencies, students, and Faculty members heard the topic discussed by prominent men from government and industry.

The executive director of the US Civil Service Commission, John W. Macy, one of five main speakers, said that management must be improved at all government levels and that the demand for all able managers is currently in excess of the supply. William T. Brady, president and director of Corn Products Refining Co., stressed the importance of youth for developing a flexible industrial organization and emphasized training programs including those in the humanities within the particular industry. Marc A. deFerranti, manager of the manager development consulting service of General Electric Co., described GE's program of developing managers. Growth depends upon the sound planning and ability of management to meet current problems of the national economy, he said.

Development of executives within the organization was the theme of Dewey E. Balch, vice-president of personnel administration of General Mills, Inc. He used slides, tape recordings, and printed media to illustrate his company's methods in management development. William G. Carples, vice-president of human relations of Inland Steel Co., was the speaker at the conference banquet in Statler Hall. At the close of the two-day symposium, Balch, Carples, deFerranti, Macy, Dean Edward H. Litchfield, and Conference Chairman F. Tomlinson Sparrow joined in a panel discussion on the conference topic.

Panels of business executives discussed municipal and federal management development, small business executive development, executive evaluation, selection of program participants, the climate for management development, and the transition from specialist to generalist. Assistant Director Roger W. Jones '28 of the US Bureau of the Budget was one of the participants. Exhibits from thirteen firms were shown during the conference, including a Sikorsky helicopter on Schoellkopf Field.

Alumni who attended the conference include Albert J. Eckhardt '19, Walter D. Archibald '20, Eugene M. Kaufmann, Jr. '26, H. Stilwell Brown '27, Karl F. Kellerman '29, William S. Ellsworth '34, Matthew H. Dwyer '35, Charles E. Dykes '36, Robert L. Griffeth '40, Reuben O. Schlegelmilch, Grad '40-'41, Robert R. Irwin '49, Edward H. Stetter '52, Edward J. Connell, MBusAd '55, Kaufmann, Harold L. Bache '16, and Henry E. Abt '25 served on the advisory committee.

FIRST SPRING DAY ON CAMPUS

CREATED BY CLASS OF 1901

First Spring Day "Peerade," March 29, 1901—This painting of the first Spring Day, made by Edward R. Alexander '01, decorates the Ivy Room of Willard Straight Hall. It was presented to the University by Alexander and R. Irving Dodge '01 and color reproductions of it will be distributed to the members of the founding Class of '01 at its Fifty-five-year Reunion in June. They may be obtained at $1 from Willard Straight Hall. This "circus parade" at noon on the Campus was arranged spontaneously by the Class of '01 to advertise an evening show given by the Masque and the Musical Clubs in the Lyceum Theater to benefit the General Athletic Fund. The picture shows the parade rounding the turn of Central Avenue at the Library. Driving the leading buckboard is John L. Senior '01, manager of the Musical Clubs, and riding with him is the manager of the Masque, Warren G. Ogden '01, with T. Bascom Little '01 walking behind leading dogs owned by Henry Schoellkopf '02. Next is Alexander, chairman of the Athletic Fund committee, driving a Canadian "calash," accompanied by the baseball coach, Hugh Jennings '05, and in the back seat, William H. Morrison '01 and Charles W. Cross '01. Walking behind are Willard D. ("Izzy") Straight '01 leading "Wiskey," king of the Campus dogs, painted with white stripes to represent a zebra, and "Shorty," Albert C. Walker '01. Atop the "animal cage" rounding the turn is "Pete," who was Wiskey's constant companion. A "sweater brigade" of athletes is followed by a walking "Book," then "Sappho" on a dray with circus riders, and a float of "Pruns."

News of the Alumni

Addresses which appear in these pages are in New York State unless otherwise designated. Class columns headed by Class numerals and the names and addresses of the correspondents who write them are principally those of Classes which have purchased group subscriptions to the News for all members. Personal items, newspaper clippings, or other notes about Cornellians of all Classes are welcomed for publication.

'95 LLB—John Patterson is an attorney with his own firm of Patterson & Hollenbeck in Dunkirk, where he lives at 12 East Fifth Street. He retired as special county judge in 1943 and has since been in private practice.

'96 LLB—Colonel Edward Davis lives at 2102 Grand Avenue, Santa Barbara, Cal. He and Mrs. Davis have two daughters and five grandchildren.

'98 AB, '02 PhD—Dr. Mary J. Ross, 117 Murray Street, Binghamton, appeared on the CBS television show, "I've Got A Secret," May 9. Her secret, which the panel failed to guess, was that she had delivered more than 5000 babies during her forty-nine years of medical practice. Seated in the audience were a number of persons (now grown-up) whom she had delivered in the past. Dr. Ross was presented with many gifts, including an incubator, bearing her name on a plaque, for use in the Binghamton Hospital.

'01 CE—Sydney L. Tuttle writes that he is in the "housing development" business. His address is R.D. 1, Corning.

'06 E. T. Foote
4100 North Lake Drive
Milwaukee 11, Wis.

Sam Wood writes from St. Petersburg, Fla., enclosing copies of letters which he has sent to many of the Classmates encouraging them to attend our 50th. He doesn't find the environment of St. Petersburg too conducive for effective letter-writing. It is hoped his efforts bear fruit. Mrs. Mark Smith writes that she regrets Mark will not be able to return for Reunion as he has been ill since last September with a cerebral hemorrhage. Before this attack he had planned very definitely to return to Ithaca in June. Henry Leighton writes from Jacksonville that nothing except Ithaca is coming out from a long and pretty winter.

J. M. A. Johnston writes that even though he was a graduate student in our Class and has not been in Ithaca for fifty years he expects to be there. Karl Deitz says that he made his 6th hole-in-one on his 70th birthday, has some hair, and most of his teeth. Arthur G. Adams, who has lived in Ithaca for the last fifty years, says the housing problem will not bother him. He will be at Reunion.

John L. Rich served many years as head of the department of geology and geography at University of Cincinnati. Previous to that, he was with University of Illinois and was also a consulting petroleum geologist. It is reported that he has published widely in the fields of structural geology and physiography. He retired last June.

Reginald (Reg) E. Marsh, after several years in various architectural offices, went into partnership with a friend of his with whom he was associated for thirty-three years. In 1946, he formed his present association with the firm of Starrett & Van Vleck. He says that his proudest accomplishment was to have the opportunity of playing a part in the planning and erection of Anabel Taylor Hall. Reg and Mrs. Marsh have three daughters and seven grandchildren. He sends everybody his regards and expects to meet with us in June.

W. Bartlett Sumner says he has black hair, smokes cigars, is a golf and bridge player, and still has his sense of humor. He hopes to be at Reunion. Dr. Abraham Garbat writes that a trip to Europe will prevent his attending Reunion. Charles Rose regrets that ill health will prevent him from returning in June, but sends his best regards to all of his friends in the Class.

R. W. Akin says that he has not been in Ithaca since his honeymoon in 1911 and had planned to return for the 50th, but feels it is more important to donate the money for the trip to the Alumni Fund. Maybe his attendance would be of more value to the University than the money. Harry W. Martin says that in spite of a waitress spilling food down his wife's back, he and Mrs. Martin has a wonderful time in Ithaca last year and they expect to return for the 50th. Arch M. Snow retired from the position of district engineer, US Bureau of Public Roads in Vermont, and is now making his home in Tom's River, N.J. He and his wife expect to attend Reunion.

Nix Williamson plans a trip to Europe this spring but has allowed enough leeway to be sure he will be present at Reunion. Clyde (Jig) Hutton, a perennial Reunioner, is looking forward with enthusiasm to his trip to Ithaca again and wants a room for three days. Says he is working hard on the Alumni Fund for Hugh Weatherlow. Hilliard (Skipper) Ross says he will write his roommates, Harry Thompson and Charlie Cortelyou, that both he and his wife will be on hand for Reunion.

Douglas Baggerly is afraid that other plans may prevent him from returning for Reunion. Says he has a son, Penn State '33, in the Air Force Reserve, and a son-in-law, Carnegie Tech '41, in the Naval Reserve. He is retired, but is quite active in scouting and church work.

'10 Roy Taylor
Old Fort Road
Bernardsville, N.J.

The above picture of Albert (Ace) Bean entertaining a few of his friends was not taken at the 45th Reunion nor is it Cayuga Lake in the background. Ace writes that in 1954, he and Mrs. Bean traveled through Europe for about three months, with two other couples, and had such a good time that this past winter they all went to Honolulu (and are still on the best of terms). At a Rotary luncheon at Waikiki, the above picture was snapped. The Hawaiian gentleman on the left is none other than Duke of Kalakau, first of a long line of world renowned Hawaiian swimmers, and past holder of several world records, about the time we had our minds on graduation. The girl on the right, according to Ace, is "a very attractive hula dancer" which appears to be somewhat of an understatement.

The most welcome and gratifying news comes from Temp Smith who last summer suffered a detached retina on his right eye, and was kept dead still on his back for a month then with pin point glasses for two months more. To quote from Temp's letter: "Don't recommend this ordeal but I recovered completely. The surgeons who do that work are supermen."

From Edward H. (Baron) Leggett comes the following in reply to a request for a bit of news: "1910, it seems, is quite a remarkable Class and I hesitate to write you. As far as I can see, everyone except me has retired as 'chairman of the board,' winters in Florida in ease and luxury, and brags about his numerous grandchildren. I don't come under any of these headings. I'm still in the insurance business. I endure winters up north, even enjoy them at times as I still do a little skiing; and as I am still an old bachelor I don't have any grandchildren to brag about. In spite of that, life has its compensations, as bachelors are useful in a limited sort of way. You get an occasional free meal and sometimes I think I've detected an envious glint in the eyes of some of my married friends. Had a wonderful time at our 45th Reunion last June and I am going to try and get back this June in hopes of seeing some 1910ers. 1960 is a long way off."

Herbert D. Brown has joined the growing ranks of 1910 Floridians and has bought a home at 211-6th St., Holly Hill (between Ormond and Daytona Beach). While in Daytona in late Feb., the writer received a letter from Herb giving his new address. The letter had gone to New Jersey and was forwarded back to Florida and received by the writer within a couple of miles of the home in question. The same afternoon a 1910 committee consisting of Rudy Christensen and the writer stopped by Herb's new home only to find we were a bit previous and that Herb was expected the following day to take title. If we weren't your first guest, Herb, to wish you the best of good luck in your new home, at least we tried.

From Horace Peaslee comes the following: "Here are my paragraphs about 'What am I doing?' I'm counting undershadowed noses and over-emphasized ears in that Class Reunion picture. It's the worst possible pose when the photographer shoots a group looking squarely into the lens and flashlight. Let's launch a vigilante committee to shoot the photographer. Aside from the foregoing, I've finally finished paying tuition, forever—kindergarten, prep schools, and college, with a very satisfactory end product. Now I'm settling down to enjoy endless new problems, which wouldn't interest our aged pensioners, bored with existence. The chef d'œuvre is a home for the aged annexed to an old estate. I'll have a memorial room in the infirmary marked 'Vintage of 1910,' where survivors may foregather in 1960, '70, '85, etc., ad infinitum, ad nauseum. News item: Dean Eric Huddleston's (Univ. of N.H.) secretary was probably shocked by the incredibly indecent nudes on a triumphal arch, product of his Sophomore days, which I found and forwarded to his academic sanctum."

herited this land in '09 and has since disposed of it.

After a year at Westinghouse, Herb returned to Ithaca for a year of Graduate School, specialized in power engineering and some research on air and steam flow through orifices. This work led to the derivation of empirical laws, his Master's and Sigma Xi. Herb's first wife was Sara G. Haswell, BS '13; his second, Ruth Herlong, Judson College '10.

Herb spent a year with GE at Lynn, Mass., then entered Motive Power Dept. of Interborough Rapid Transit, NYC.; a year with United Rys. & Elec., Baltimore, U.S. Bureau of Mines, then back to Interborough as mechanical engineer to try to reduce power costs for subways. Herb did the job, for as a result, cost of power was indeed reduced $1 million a year. Promoted to mechanical engineer in '19, he soon was operating 2 large plants; Supt. of Motive Power in '41, responsible for operation and maintenance of all power equipment. When all the subways were unified, Herb was put in charge of all power stations as Supt. of Power Generation. Retired in '49, he went with J. G. White Engineering Corp. until July '53; since then, study, writing, and consulting. Member and active in ASME, he served on several committees and was chm. Power Division in '26. Herb is a Fellow in both ASME and AIEE. With no children of their own, Herb and the wife took over the education of a nephew and saw him through CU in '43.

Between Herb's making the smoke and Bill Christy's trying to stop it, '11 had it all right in the family for awhile, eh men? Only hobby is boating; started with a 10-ft. rowboat at ten and ended with a 32-ft. cruiser when he "swallowed the anchor" at the start of WW II.

At Reunion, your committee plans to have a tent at Sage so you who may have grown weary may rest your feet, wash the dust down with refreshment, and chin with old friends. We hope you are enjoying the biographical history. Bring the program with you. All you who decide to come at the last moment, just wire Robt. V. (Bob) Morse, 521 Wyckoff Road, Ithaca. You can pick up your uniform at HQ or bring the old one. Do not expect a reply. See you all on the Slope and other fond-remembered places.

Recently received a nice note from Philip R. Goldstein, 200 Cabrini Blvd., New York City 33. Phil has just completed 35 years of service with the National Jewish Welfare Board. During that time he has served as field secretary of the Pennsylvania-Middle Atlantic region, and New York State. He was in charge of personnel for several years, and was campaign director for about two decades. (That's the way to measure service, in decades, not just years!). During those decades he raised millions of dollars for YHMA and Jewish Community Center buildings throughout the land, and I have heard from other sources that many of the fund raising methods and systems he originated and set up have now become standard procedure for today's institutional and charitable fund raising drives.

Phil and his wife celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary last month by repeating their original honeymoon trip to England and the Continent, and will also visit the recently established State of Israel. Keep a safe distance from the border, Phil, and come back safely.

Argie (LaFayette W.) Argetsinger, Jr. of Watkins Glen took the Arts course at Cornell and later, not content with just that one degree, went back to Cornell and received the LLB in 1934. He has practiced this new profession continuously since his second graduation. He was district attorney of Schuyler County for three terms, and is a past president of the Schuyler County Bar Association. He served in both World Wars and was assistant general counsel of the US Selective System in Washington after World War II. In 1954, after 20 years' law experience in State and Federal Courts, he campaigned in the Republican primary for Schuyler County Judge, Surrogate, and Children's Court Judge. Won the primaries and went on to win the office in the election. So, here's congratulations to Judge Argie.

Treg (Carroll) Trego is vice-president of Alexander H. Sibley Co., Insurance, 2306 Dime Building, Detroit. So help me, I can't drag any information out of Treg, although we correspond regularly. I do know that he has worked hard and faithfully for years on the Alumni Fund drive, covering Ohio and Indiana. In fact, that's what we correspond about. If you folks want to know any more details about Treg, write him yourself at the above address.

Mason Evans, Jr., made a complete one paragraph report as follows: "Not a thing of personal interest. Still married to original wife nearly 40 years. 2 children. 5 grandchildren, ranging from high school to kindergarten. Same old job, Sharon Steel Corp., Sharon, Pa." Well, there's a pretty good report, even if it is sort of brief.

the stockholders know a good thing when they see it, and are going to keep him on the top job. Congratulations, Ced. I assume that means that of course there will be reduced rates in 1958 to 1913 Reunioners.

Also noticed where Unc (R. B. Whyte, retired vice-president of Operations, Macwhyte Co., Kenosha, Wis. was reelected to the board of directors of the company. I just described Unc's wandering life since retirement in the May 1 issue. It would seem that they won't let Unc get away entirely.

Guess I'd better stop. So long.

'14 Emerson Hincliff 400 Oak Avenue Ithaca, N.Y.

Always avid in quest of '14 news (and not averse to taking in a good party in the course thereof), your correspondent hied himself to New York for the Class dinner, April 30, at the Cornell Club of N.Y. On the sleeper, going down, whom should he run into but Walt Addicks, in charge of the dinner. Walt had just been awarded as an alumnus a Tau Beta Pi key, a fitting recognition of his post-college record as an engineer and good Cornelian; actually, he should have had it as an undergrad as he was top man in Sibley in grades. Congrats, Walt.

Also thanks for preparing for me a legible list of "those present," who were: Addicks, Ize Asen, Roger Brown, Joe Callahan, Ike Carman, Guy Campbell, Harry Chapin, Al Clurman, John Christie, Phil Coffey, Hooks Day, Larry Eddy, John Edwards, Tubby Goertz, Sam Goldberg, Ben Goodman, Morris Grossman, Bert Halsted, Alex Hayes, Hincliff, Alex Keller, George Kuhle, Rod Kenneth Mackenzie, Herb Lent, Ike Neuwirth, Tommy Newbold, Frank Rees, Don Rice, Jim Roof, Stub Shaner, Ramsay Spillman, Terk TerKuile, Kauf Wallach, Wendell Phillips, Frank Bowers, Doug MacMahon, Bill Murrin, Oliver Cromwell, Fred Kann, Johnny Howell, and Ed Flood. Regards and regrets came from: Bill Popkin, Fla.; Doc Peters, nursing a virus; Bill Upson; Spike Murray, fishing in the Poconos; George Barnes; Hal Halsted, Fla.; Lex Kleberg, ailing; Harry Drescher, Fla.; Red Vose, Virgin Islands; Pete Dailey; and Sherm Lewis.

Guest of honor was my good friend Dr. Joe Hinsey, who once gave us the grand tour of the Cornell Medical College, of which he was then Dean; now he runs The New York Hospital, besides his liaison duties with associated institutions like Memorial Hospital, Sloan-Kettering, Rockefeller Institute, etc. Total budget for that huge East River complex runs about $40 million a year. It was interesting to see the eyes bulge around me as Joe showed his pictures, since few of those present had ever gone up there. It is truly one of the great medical centers of the world. Three bosoms especially swelled with pride, as Ramsay Spillman (who did the introduction), Kauf Wallach, and Ed Flood were also Cornell MD's.

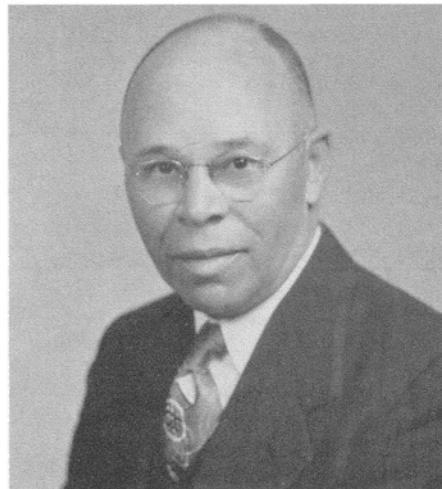

For Doug McMahon, who came up from Baltimore with Guy Campbell, it was his first Class dinner and he has never had the experience of a Reunion. He has lived in England a good deal, moved from Niagara Falls to Baltimore six years ago, and is a consultant for Olin-Mathieson.

MacKenzie tells me that everybody but his Classmates call him Ken, but we call him Rod. Just look in the Classbook, where he is down as Mac; very confusing, but a good guy under any name. He has represented Cadillac in S. Orange for 35 years. Terk Terkuile is with Hallgarten & Co.; showed me an analysis he had written of Rochester Gas & Electric Co., Alex Beebe '15, president. Terk not so long ago visited Thorp Sawyer, out in Grass Valley, Cal., where he keeps his engineering hand in a bit in irrigation; Thorp was for a great many years in Chile with the Guggenheims.

Tommy Newbold is in real estate and insurance in Elizabeth, N.J. Don Rice is building a new one-story house in Trenton; looks well and gave good reports on his family. Topped off the evening by chewing the fat on travel in Europe with Campbell (who had just returned from Spain, my favorite), Phillips, and Roof. Turned out we were all Rotarians, especially Wendell, who is a district governor. Guy is a banker and contractor in Baltimore—Harry T. Campbell Sons Corp., which includes his sons, Dick '41 and Jim '43. Their hot item right now is Sakrete, a ready-mixed concrete in a bag for home use. Jim, among other things, sells Chevies-Olds-Caddies in the Newtons in Jersey. I've run out of space. It was a good party.

Marcellus Staley.

Everett A. Piester, 550 Main, Hartford 4, Conn. says: Even as little as $6 per capita is more than most cities afford for public parks and year round public recreation; but as director of parks and recreation, I find $1,100,000 awfully tight for what people want. I still keep up hobbies—roses, flowers shows, swimming, Rotary Club. Saw Armand R. Tibbitts (P.O. Box 842, Dingleton Road, Greenwich, Conn.), noted

From Lynne B. Fenner, president of The Fenner Corp., 37 Wall Street, New York 5. "Last February, the Fenner Corp. took over the firm of Fenner, Streitman & Co. Our business: general brokerage, stocks and bonds. Our specialty: underwriters of meritorious issues, one of which we have recently completed with an over-subscription of two and one-half times—i.e., Idaho Alta Metals Corp. with substantial holdings in copper and iron ore properties located in West Central Idaho. My son, Robert M. Fenner, in production specialist for Vicks Chemical Corp. He resides at New Canaan, Conn. with Patricia, his wife, and two attachés, my grandchildren, Peter Metcalf Fenner and Robin Mannsell Fenner—Peter being two and Robin, one as of April 21, this year. Note: Being a stock broker, the above represents my four dividends after waiting sixty-five years."

When you read this, I hope your bags are packed and plans made to be in Ithaca June 7-9. These are going to be Big Memory Days for the Class of 1916. The program is all set, reservations made for the largest gathering we have ever had and I promise you one thing, you will never regret coming and will build a memory you will always cherish. It will be a good Reunion but it will be a better one if you come. If you cannot spend all three days, come for two or one, but come.

Arthur Wilson '15 tells of seeing his old Army mate, Mario Lazo, in Havana recently. Mario enjoys a big law practice there and more than any one else was responsible for getting Conrad Hilton to build that beautiful hotel in Havana. He hopes to make Ithaca for Reunion and sell an idea of an off-year Reunion in Havana sometimes. Good idea. Paul Sanborne reports while in Florida this winter he saw George Armory, Harold Lyon, Bob Dahn, and all are coming back.

Bill Webster has just moved from Buffalo to 121 Hubbell St., Canandaigua. He will be back and his old roommate, Harold Terry, writes, "I have never been back to any Reunion but if nothing intervenes will see you at Reunion." Waldo Cunningham's teaching duties keep him on the job till Friday night, but he is coming if only for Saturday. That's fine Waldo, we will be looking for you. Pete Corwith is coming and wants to race Johnny Hoffmire ten yards on one leg. That will be worth seeing. Ed Rogers wrote from San Francisco in January that he could not come, but now may show up. Bet he will. Alton Baker, Walt Higgins, and Lew Hart from the Coast are all coming.

Stu Wilson of York will be back and reports Wally Young, retired president of Kasco Mills, Harwood Martin of Honeoye Falls, Stuart Caves of East Bloomfield, are all coming. Harry Bremer, Assistant Commissioner of Agriculture for Vermont, has never been back, but will be there and so will Gil Allen of Strawberry Fame, Md., and Hale Harrison of Berlin. Howard Sauer, Rochester, is in Europe, but will be back in time. Howie never misses a Reunion and will not miss this one.

Sunny Sunball of Detroit, Edward Horton of Chenango, McKiernan of Red Hook, Fred Alber of Coldwater, and Frank Perry of Burt are all planning to come for the first time. What a pleasant surprise they are going to get. Don McMaster is holding a pre-Reunion party in Rochester for local '16ers, but my deadline precludes report of this. Will predict that every single person who attends Don's party will be back.

Bub tells me over 210 have written him acceptances. He expects we will have over 300 in all. What a record!

The full program has been mailed to you with a special letter from our chairman, Cowles Andrus. No Class ever had a better, more hard-working, earnest, and sincere chairman than Cowles. He and Bub have by all odds worked out the greatest program any Class has ever had. Cornell, Ithaca, and you will see something June 7, 8, & 9.

Again, I say it will be a wonderful Reunion, but it will be a better one if you are there.—Birge Kinne

'17 Men—Reunions this year are June 8 & 9. Please notify Elbridge S. (Eb) Warner if you expect to attend. Eb is a committee of one that arranges for an informal 1917 dinner in off-Reunion years. His address is 3813 Euclid Ave., Cleveland 15, Ohio. His plans require advance information.

Work has started on an up-to-date 1917 Class directory. Corrections can be submitted up to July 1, 1956. If you have made a recent change, or expect to make one, please send your new address to your secretary at once.

Ells Filby's Committee of 17 is beginning to "shape up." Their campaign to contact every member of the Class before our Big Fortieth in '57 has started. Ells was unable to attend our recent Class dinner in New York, but wired his regrets and best wishes, with the hope that all would cooperate in the program of his Committee of 17.

We are indebted to Bill Bellis for a copy of the Investors League Bulletin in which our late Bob Byfield is praised as "a brilliant and fearless patriot, an eloquent advocate of capitalism, freedom of enterprise, the profit motive, and the republican form of constitutional government." Bob was a fighter. He will be missed as our country needs leaders of his type.

Samuel T. Brown, president of Virginia Iron Coal & Coke Co., reports higher earnings for his company in 1955, an improvement due in most part to the improved export market. Harold O. Johnson has been elected chairman of the board and treasurer of Bound Brook Oil-less Bearing Co. Previously he was executive vice-president and treasurer. Harold resides in Hopewell, N.J. Harold G. Meissner is a consulting engineer and lives at 61 Dell Ave., Mount Vernon.

Lester S. Manning reports he is with Harley, Ellington & Day, Inc., architects and engineers. His mailing address is 13502

Rudolph H. Deetjen, 120 Broadway, New York City 5, writes as follows of a recent trip: "I recently returned from a very enjoyable two-week holiday in Miami Beach, and while there had the pleasure of looking up our old Classmate, Jack Corrigan. My wife and I were staying at The Coronado Hotel, and Jack and his lovely wife, Marjorie, came over for refreshments and luncheon during our first Sunday there. We had a wonderful get-together and, in fact, it was so good that they invited my wife and me to visit their new home in South Miami the following week, where we had more of the same enjoyable refreshments as well as a splendid dinner. Jack has a new, modern chick hatchery, and, at present rate of operation, it turns out about seventy thousand chicks per week, which are shipped all over Central and South America, as well as to Cuba. His new home in South Miami is really one of the most comfortable and modern ones I have ever had the pleasure of visiting. Jack asked me to be sure to convey to everyone his very warmest regards." Many thanks Rudy for your welcome letter.

Frank Veith, 22 East 40th Street, New York City 16, mentions a pleasant meeting which took place last summer with Mark N. Turner, who is building his own camp at beautiful Lake Kezar, Center Lovell, Me. Another visitor at that time was Alfred M. Saperston.

Torsten H. Parke, 70 East 45th Street, New York City 17, proudly announces that his daughter, Marjorie Parke Felton of Hingham, Mass. now has a daughter, Alice Parke Felton. Welcome to the lusty ranks of 1919 Grandpa's! Era A. Ladd, 1423 N. Medina Line Road, R.D. 7, Akron 13, Ohio, writes that although he has been "out of the fold" for some time he plans to be with us from now on. How about a few lines about your activities, Era? Harold G. Brewster, 23 Garthwaite Terrace, Maplewood, N.J., writes that he is now branch manager of Reo Motors, Inc., Albany.

Ford H. McBerty, 14 W. Delaware Avenue, Newark, Del., registered his continued interest in the Class, by sending Lloyd Bemis a check to cover several years' dues in advance. We'd like a little personal news about you, too, Ford. Alexander Gordon, 48-56 44th Street, Woodside 77, reports that he is still actively engaged in the practice of optometry at 60 West 46th Street, New York City, and has no thought of retiring yet. Dan C. Lindsay, 106 No. Arlington Avenue, East Orange, N.J., writes: "Still working resolutely on the career of a confirmed bachelor. Foster-mother of four now grown up; Godfather of many. Physicist primarily concerned with air conditioning in industry—blowing hot-cold-wet-dry-up-down, and just blowing."

Carlos Montes, Casilla 512, La Paz, Bolivia, reports serious misfortune due to the political situation in his country. After thirty-four years of hard work, his farm was taken without compensation or trial, and like thousands of his countrymen he has been virtually a political prisoner for two years. Carlos expresses the belief that the United States is mistakenly supporting his government.

Louis A. Turner, 637 N. Washington Street, Hinsdale, Ill., writes that since 1950 he has been "director of Physics Division, Argonne National Laboratory, Lemont, Ill. (24 miles S.W. of Loop in Chicago). Atoms, etc. Never a dull moment. Son, A. Richard Turner, graduated from Princeton in 1955. Took after maternal grandfather and majored in history of art. Married Jane Beebe of Hinsdale, Mount Holyoke '55, last June 25. He graduated Phi Beta Kappa, highest honors and all that sort of thing. He and Jane having a marvelous year in Rome on a Fulbright Scholarship. Expects to return to Princeton for P.G. study in the fall. A whole flock of congratulations are flying Philadelphia-ward this month to light on the doorstep of George E. S. Lallou (above) recently elected a vice-president of The Budd Co. Again it is proved that Cornell turns out some pretty smart civil engineers, for "Ted" selected a good site for the depression years with the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia. Then after surveying the situation carefully, he joined Budd in 1936 as assistant treasurer, was elected treasurer in 1952 and secretary-treasurer in 1953, both of which responsibilities he will retain.

Ted is a director of two of Budd's wholly-owned subsidiaries, Continental Diamond Fibre Co. of Newark, Del., and Diamond State Fibre Co. of Toronto. He is also a director and member of the executive committee of the Philadelphia Manufacturer's Mutual Fire Insurance Co., serves as a member of the industrial advisory committee of the Federal Reserve Bank of Phila., and was recently elected a director of United Fund. Ted resides with his family at 323 Winding Way, Merion, Pa.

Spring came to the Michigan hinterlands just recently and as it burst into bloom it brought forth a rash of sparkling poetic gems from the prolific pen of our 1920 Poet Laureate, William H. Whittemore. Bill, who tosses the King's English about at The Leelanau Schools in Glen Arbor, is a frequent contributor to the Leelanau Enterprise-Tribune, where they have carved out a niche for him called "Uncle Whit's Corner." The paper has proudly announced that for the fifth consecutive year a poem, "Victory?" by Bill is being published in The National Poetry Anthology. The poem was selected from more than 8000 manuscripts submitted. Would that we had the space to publish this and other choice bits of verse and prose at which "Uncle Whit" has become so adept.

Other Classmates scattered about the State who have come up for a breath of spring air are Fayette E. Brown, 203 8th Ave., Iron River, Mich., who is secretary and general manager of Mineral Mining Co., and enjoys the fishing and hunting that part of the country affords; and Glenn S. Warne, who conducts his own public accounting firm in Pontiac, Mich., where he lives at 7301 State Park Blvd.

According to our genial vice-prez, Dick Edson, '20-ites and Cornellians generally should lose no time in hurrying up to learn about the Tom Quick Inn at Milford, Pa., where our Classmate Bob Phillips and his son Bob, Jr. '49 are hosts par excellence. The much heralded trout fishing expedition this spring was a rare treat for Dick. Prexy Walt Archibald, Ho Ballou, Hank Benisch, and Sam Althouse, except that the weather was a bit uncooperative, it being so cold they all got stiff (from the cold, naturally). The attractive Inn includes a Cornell room where hundreds of Cornellian's names are burned in the walls, excellent cuisine and everything to make one happy and comfortable. Bob has several cabins in the woods for fishing and hunting parties, streams and lakes well stocked with trout and bass. Stop, I'm drooling!

Forty years ago come fall at Mrs. Tifts' Stewart Ave. rooming house, a fast friendship was made with Fred Fuchs, the Flatbush fashion plate from Poly Prep, when we put on the same pledge button. Since leaving "that grand institution," Fred has been with Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. at Poughkeepsie, where he is asst. general supt. of distribution, long enough to warrant a diamond-studded Longine. He has one son and resides at 79 S. Randolph Ave.

Francis J. Oates of Norwich is mighty proud of his three daughters who graduated from Russell Sage College, but is really "gone" on his 5 grandchildren. "Blondy" was in the wholesale ice cream business for 35 years, but since selling out to Borden's, he's become Farmer Oates, having fun losing his cud raising beef cows. How many of you fellows can remember when handsome "Ring" Lardner was an Illinoisan, hailing from Rock Island? He now goes by his given name, G. Anthony Lardner, and is one of the grey flannel suiters, an executive of Standard & Poor's in New York. He lives at 196 Hudson Ave., Tenafly, N.J.

Didja ever say "I'll be there on time, or break a leg"? Well, our smiley old past prez, Don Blanke, did just that. Dreaming of his young spring chicken days he hopped out of bed one morning to make an early appointment and fell in a heap, breaking his leg at the thigh. His appointments are now being made at the Flower Hospital, 5th Ave. and 105th St., N.Y.C. A card or two sent to this address will help pass a few of those weary old hours.

We were about to report a severe attack that befell ex-editor Stew Solomon in Bermuda, when in typical Mark Twainish fashion he informed us that the rumors of his mortal agony and demise were grossly exaggerated and should be discounted at least 99 44/100 per cent. Obdurately we filed the odious obtuse obituary back in the obscure morgue for a rainier day. Reunions next week—not ours—but we may see some of you there!

Only a few days now! As soon as you chuck this in the wastebasket, you'll start heading for your dreams of youth, but I note that the thirty-four-year-old Johnny Parson Club at Beebe Lake, "a Campus landmark," is about to be torn down, to be replaced by a new recreation center. The Club was not even in existence when we were graduated. Tony, more beer!

Among those killed when a Military Air Transport plane crashed on Mt. Charlston, Nev., November 17, was Harold C. Silent of Los Angeles, Cal. Born in Azusa, Cal. from an old California family, Harold was educated at University of California and at Cornell. Early in his career as a member of A.T.&T. Co., he worked on voice operated switching devices on the first commercial trans-Atlantic telephone, and spent several years in Hollywood with a subsidiary of Western Electric Co. at the time "talkies" were beginning. He also departed from Norway, where he has been assigned on a patent case, just 30 hours before the Germans invaded that country in World War II. During the war, he worked at Duke University, on a problem for the National Defense Research Council, improving artillery detection and range finding equipment by acoustical means. In recent years he divided his time between Hycon Mfg. Co. of Los Angeles and the US Navy Electronics Laboratory of San Diego. For the latter he traveled extensively, including trips to Guam and the deserts of Arizona and Nevada, and on many classified ocean voyages. At the time of his death, he was acting as consultant to the Air Force. Harold was a member of the Berkeley chapter of Theta Xi, the honorary societies Eta Kappa Nu and Sigma Xi, as well as of several professional societies. He is survived by his wife Vorecia.

All such—and there are many—who will not be with us in the Old Red Barn, will be remembered, but our fun won't be disturbed one whit. That's the way they would have it.

After four years in private engineering consulting work in Harrisburg, Pa., Robert A. Mitchell was asked to become Wilmington, Delaware's first traffic engineer in April, 1954. Although a much smaller city than Philadelphia, where he was traffic engineer for over sixteen years, Wilmington has plenty of tough traffic problems to solve and many of the same headaches. Bob likes living there very much. His daughter is now a junior in high school.

Spencer T. Olin now has three grandchildren. Since the merger of Olin Industries, Inc. and Mathieson Chemical Corp. in September, 1954, Spence has been a member of the executive and finance committees as well as a member of the board of directors of Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. Last summer he was appointed chairman of the National Monument Commission by President Eisenhower. The Commission is made up of four members from the Senate, four from the House of Representatives and four business men. The objective of the Commission is to erect a National Monument north of Arlington Cemetery to represent the five freedoms of our American citizenry.

'23-'24 Sp Med—Dr. Harry G. Goldman is a physician and a member of the New York State Bar. He is active in the Bronx County Bar Association, having served for eight years on its domestic relations court committee and now serving on its committee on civil rights. His address is 57 West Fifty-eighth Street, New York City 19.

In the March 15, 1956 issue of the ALUMNI NEWS, your correspondent appointed all members of the Class as reporters at large (without portfolio) to report on the activities of other Classmates. Henry Hendler, who lives at 188-01A 71st Crescent, Fresh Meadows 65, took this challenge seriously. He reports that Carlyle Ashley has been credited with new inventions in the air conditioning and refrigeration field. He is with Carrier Corp. in Syracuse. Henry says he recently saw Sam Bernart and reports him to be in good health. Henry has become a grandfather and his grandson, Steve Stern, "who will have to choose between Oklahoma University and Cornell," was one-year-old, April 16.

Henry recently wrote that after he got home from the recent Class dinner he found a letter from George Ladas, MD, who regretted his inability to attend the dinner because of his departure for Europe for two months to attend a gynecological convention in Naples, Italy. Henry saw George and his wife off on the Ile de France April 14. Among others in attendance were Ed Kirby and his wife. Henry reminds me that Haig Shiroyan retired from Consolidated Edison April 13, the day of the dinner. Haig copped the lion's share of the prizes which were raffled off. Good luck in your retirement, Haig.

'24 Women—Anita Goltz is now Mrs. R. Elton Harwood. Her new address is 96 Oak-grove Drive, Buffalo 2. Husband "Tink" is Class of '23. Anita has a two-and-a-half year old granddaughter. One married daughter lives in Texas and one in Buffalo. Her son, Bill, is a sophomore at Ohio Wesleyan.

Sally Gephart '54, daughter of John R. '24 and Marge Kimball Gephart, was married at Sage Chapel last July 23 to John D. Killian II, LLB '53, LLM '54, of Hempstead.

I have just received a letter from Mrs. P. Kodanda Rao (Mary Louise Campbell). Mary Louise was a niece of the late Professor Samuel P. Orth, Political Science, and lived at the Orth home when she was a student. She now lives in Bangalore, India. She was so happy to receive the '24 Class letter and was inspired to renew her Cornell contacts. She has been in India since 1937 and is married to an Indian writer and lecturer who belongs to the Servants of India Society. She met him while at summer school in Hawaii. They have traveled to every part of India and have flown around the world, visiting the United States in 1954. She writes that Bangalore is about 3000 feet above the sea and has a pleasant climate ten months of the year.

Paul W. Franklin is in charge of the structural department of Hydrocarbon Research, Inc., 115 Broadway, New York City. Not in the grandparent class yet, since two of his three children were married just this spring.

The sport pages from the Philippines carry the news that John Cotton who had qualified for the Philippine Amateur Golf Tournament lost in the first round. He had a handicap of 8. Last February, John was elected a director of Manila Electric Co.

Benjamin L. Hope's son, Benjamin, Jr., is a Senior in the College of Architecture at Cornell.

August F. Jones reports that he is now working at Federal Telecommunications Laboratories, 500 Washington Avenue, Nutley, N.J.

Dr. Daniel Klein has been practicing medicine in Brooklyn for the past 25 years. A considerable amount of his time is devoted to plastic surgery. If not already, he shortly will become a grandfather.

Harry Wade, Reunion Chairman, reports a wonderful list of Class members returning for the 30th Reunion. The registrations have been rolling in, most of them with checks attached. So many of the Class members are getting in on Thursday, we are going to have to schedule a Thursday night dinner. About 35 per cent of the boys returning will be able to use the Reunion coats of former years. It would seem that the form divine of the Class members hasn't changed too much.

Manuel B. Rivera is bringing his twelve-year-old son and has ordered a Reunion costume for the boy. S. Laurence Samuels writes that he has been giving an annual review course at the New York Eye Infirmary on eye pathology. This comes the first part of June, but he hopes to get off in time to make the Reunion.

Don Ferris writes that he hasn't been in Ithaca for twenty-five years and is determined to be here this time. Dan Coppin of Cincinnati says that he has missed all Reunions to date, but he isn't going to miss this one. Whitney Tucker will be there unless he has to go to Europe.

Irv Woolson is going to be on deck and, at Wade's request, is sending up the Indianapolis 500-mile Speedway race pace car to be used as one of the official '26 Reunion busses. Justice Arthur Markewich won't arrive until Saturday noon, due to the fact that he is retiring as president of a fraternal organization that is holding its annual convention the same week end.

Oliver Griswold is tied up with work at University of Miami, and can't make it. C. M. Merricles' duties at Lafayette College keeps him from making the grade.

Thirty-seven Classmates had definitely signed up and paid the Reunion registration fee, as of May 1. Forty-six more had indicated that they will positively be with us.—Harry V. Wade

'27, '28 CE—William L. Cressman (above) has been named assistant general manager-product divisions, Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., Pittsburgh, Pa. He was formerly manager of Eastern sales for Armco Steel Corp. In 1953, Cressman served as one of the directors of the Iron & Steel Division, National Production Authority, Washington, D.C. He lives in Pittsburgh at 6236 Fifth Avenue, Apartment 101.

'29 AB—Dr. Jerome Engel practices medicine at 196 Main Street, Ravana. He writes that his son, Jerome, Jr., "has been accepted at Cornell and will enter this September."

'29—Leonard A. Spelman is an executive with Dime Laundry Service, Inc., Long Island City dealers in coin-metered laundry equipment. He is married and has two daughters: Barbara, 17, who will enter the College of Arts & Sciences this fall; and Susan, 8. His address is 57 Arleigh Road, Great Neck.

'32 AB—Napier B. Caldwell (above) has been appointed sales manager of the Boston, Mass. plant of Joseph T. Ryerson & Son, Inc., steel distributor. He joined the company in 1935 at its New York plant and was transferred to Boston as a sales representative in 1937. Following three years of military service in the Army, Caldwell became manager of the tubular products department in 1946, and in 1955 was given the added responsibility of manager of sales of cold finished steel bars. He remained as head of these two departments until his new appointment. Caldwell is married and has two daughters. Address: 6 Day Avenue, Danvers, Mass.

'32 AB—Roland J. Parker is associate physiologist and supervisor of experimental surgery at the Lilly Clinical Laboratories, Indianapolis (Ind.) General Hospital. He lives in Indianapolis at 3200 West Thirtieth Street.

'33 BChemE, '34 ChemE—Edward B. Snyder is vice-president and chief engineer of Bentley Harris Manufacturing Co., Conshohocken, Pa. He writes that he was "recently appointed chairman of study groups on electrical insulating sleeving of AIEE Thermal Evaluation Section and of ASTM Committee D-9." Snyder is married and has three children: Hugh, 12, Ned, 8, and Toni, 6. Address: 663 Brooke Road, Wayne, Pa.

'35 AB—Maurice Levy, 1 Beech Lane, Kings Point, writes that he is a partner in the firm of Solomon Bros. & Hutzler. He has been married seventeen years and has one daughter, 14, and one son, 9. "Big interest right now," he reports, "is managing a Little League ball team."

Henry Untermeyer

A very, very, very open letter to Andrew Schultz.

Dear Andy: Under separate cover, you will receive all records and papers pertaining to the news editor's job. This will have to be my last column for a while.

Just after Bill Stoddard and your correspondent were making plans for driving to Ithaca together for our 20th Reunion, the Columbia Broadcasting System, my employer for 19 years, decided it had other plans for me. Effective next month, I am being transferred to San Francisco as general manager of KCBS. It's going to feel strange leaving the East, but everyone says I am heading for the greatest place to live in the whole United States.

So I won't be seeing John McManus and the rest of the gang at Reunion, but want to report to him that the letters to my fraternity brethren have been mailed. John has done a tremendous job in trying to get different groups to come back to Reunion en masse. By cities, fraternities, other interests such as football men, the Glee Club, etc., our Class secretary is really out to make this 20th a record turnout.

Since 1949, when the job of newsletter editor was first assigned me, it has been a pleasure and privilege to serve the Class. There has been fascinating correspondence with Classmates all over the world and in all walks of life. Paul E. Deutschman has written from Paris, France, and Ed MacVittie from the Canal Zone. We have heard about the problems of a rural vocational school administrator in Cuba from Richard G. Milk. We have had an exchange of letters with a Classmate who was the Afghanistan Ambassador to the United States. And a word to Mr. Ambassador Kabir M. Ludin: how about helping whoever Andy Schultz appoints as the new Class correspondent by submitting a guest column for an early fall ALUMNI NEWS issue?

Missed too will be pleasant associations such as sitting near A. P. (Pick) Mills at Cornell-Princeton football games at Palmer Stadium. Jack Wurst will get mad at me all over again for never accepting his invitation to visit him in Albany. I am going to forego the pleasure of running into fellows like Fred J. Daley while we were both vacationing in Florida. Maybe Jack Forsyth, still the big N.Y. wheel with TWO will bring Bob Hamburger (Ameritex Co., 1412 Bway) into the N.Y. Sales Executives Club to keep constant the '36 membership in that fine organization. He certainly should at least invite Wally Lee, general manager of the Waldorf, over as his guest one day, something I have neglected to do all these years.

San Francisco will be great and there will be occasional trips back East. So once in a while, I may still see the Chicago gang including Gager Vaughan (the happy seed man), Dick Culver, (a CBS client who buys time for Benson & Rixon clothing store) and Don Graves (a v.p. with Union Tank Car Co.).

The new Class correspondent will reap rich rewards from the job. He will get warm letters from fellows like Jim Forbes, manager of market development for General Electric's large lamp department. Jim headquarters in Cleveland but travels extensively and occasionally send along notes about Classmates. Sure, there's the job of sitting down at the typewriter every so often and pounding out this column. But a guy like John Dobson with Adesco Industries in North Tonawanda and an old Cornell Daily Sun man, will run into Bill Kyle, see a story in his Classmate's new job, and send the information along with a few notes about himself.

So have a good Reunion all you guys.

John Humphreys and George Lawrence have cooked up some wonderful plans. A very heavy attendance is expected but it's still not too late to sign up for the festivities. Have a brew or two for me. If you ever get to San Francisco, look me up at the CBS offices in the Sheraton-Palace Hotel. Meanwhile, if I see Schuyler Hafely in Modesto (if I need a landscape architect I'll call on you), J. Prescott Blount in Orinda or Thomas Midgley across the bay in Oakland, I'll see that news of them gets sent along to start copy coming in for the new man's first piece.

Finally, thanks to all of you fellows for helping me write this column. Your phone calls, letters, and continuing flow of information made it possible. Thanks to you, Andy Schultz, for trusting me with the assignment all these years. And lots of luck to the new man, whoever he turns out to be. You are really going to have a lot of fun.

—Henry Untermeyer

The Army has provided us with two items of interest this month. Colonel Robert E. Conine, 7 Argyle Place, Cortland, has been appointed commander of the Reserve forces headquarters at Fort Dix, N.J. In his new assignment, Bob will supervise and coordinate the summer-long annual two-week training at Fort Dix of more than 4000 Army Reservists from 11 States. Bob's previous assignment was commanding officer of the 364th Regiment of the "Fighting 69th" Infantry Division.

Lt. Col. Edwin G. Moran just left for Germany as a member of the 3d Armored Division's advance party for Operation Gyroscope. Ed has been in the Army for 14 years and is commander of the 23d Armored Engineer Battalion. Until his recent transfer, he and his wife have been at Fort Knox, Ky.

Gregory Clement, Jr. has been promoted to New York export sales manager for Aluminum Co. of America. Greg has been with Alcoa's Providence, R.I., sales office since 1946.

We just had a note from Bill Cornell '40 that Franklin Baker has recently joined the industrial engineering staff of Schering Corp. in Bloomfield, N.J. Frank has been working in South Carolina, but is currently making plans to bring his wife, daughter, and son to New Jersey to live.

Dr. Jerome Rakov has a new address: 58 Bradford Boulevard, Tuckahoe. Jerry reports, "No new family additions, but I needed more space for an auxiliary office to practice dentistry."

Many apologies for the absence of this column in the April 15 issue. I got caught out of town till two days after the presses had clamped down. Trust it'll be my only deflection.

The crushing part of these address changes is that there's already a neat batch of new new addresses. Why don't you guys settle down?! Anyway, Gus Reyelt, 15 Meadow Rd., Scarsdale; Chuck Riley, 98 Howell St., Canandaigua; Bill Robbins, 11 Nenagh Dr.,

Fairfax, Wilmington 3, Del.; Sam Roberts, 2333 Niskayuna Dr., Schenectady 9; Bill Roberts, 5 Algonquin Rd., Canton, Mass.; Don Robinson, 1750 Rose Ave., San Marino, Cal.; Robert H. Robinson, 3 Robbins Rd., Willimantic, Conn.; Bill Rockwell, 365 Van Buren Ave., Los Altos, Cal.; Gil Rose, 56 Jacobus Ave., Great Notch, N.J.; Bill Rosenthal, 29 Fielding Ct., S. Orange, N.J.; Chuck Roser, Scott Rd., Brielle, N.J.; Lincoln Russell, Rt. 1, Little Falls; Al Salomon, 103 Village Dr., Syracuse; Bud Sauman, 105 W. Morehead, Charlotte, N.C.; Hal Sawyer, 17 Hillside Rd., Claymont, Del.

Ted Hughes is a partner in Continental Sales & Engineering Co., Pittsburgh, Pa., selling specialized electrical equipment. He has four children (3 g, 1 b) and has just moved to new offices (Box 10505, Pittsburgh 35). Ralph King is district sales mgr. for National Insurance Co. Jerry McIntee has two children, Ann C. and J. Jr. (nicknamed Butch). Stan Smith is a general practitioner in Louisville. He has three youngsters Samuel, 8, Terry Ann, 5, and Susan Gail, 2. He somehow finds time to be v-p of both St. Joseph's Infirmary and (get this) The Jefferson County Chapter of the Kentucky Academy of General Practice, suh!

Bill Arthur (new, new address: 175 S. Freeman, Orchard Pk.) is v-p of W. G. Arthur Co., department store. Says he: "Recently completed and moved into new home. . . . Have 2 girls, 1 boy, and a blessed event scheduled for June. Business consists of appliance, hardware, jewelry, gift departments in one building and furniture department in another. . . ."

The Coley Asinofs named their new son Robert David. A note from Hal Shepard: "Just a line to let you know that I'm still alive . . . With our family and business, we find plenty to do. . . . I hope to get back to the 20th Reunion. . . ."

Bill Griest is chief architectural designer, Engineering Dept., Armstrong Cork Co., in Lancaster, Pa. Vic Pardo (new address: 5 Eleanor Rd., Walpole, Mass.) has been named sales mgr., Chemical Industries Div., The Foxboro Co., specialists in process automation. He says: "Daughter Connie, 15, makes me poignantly conscious of the passage of time." Alex Early writes: "Am now with the Lands Division of the Dept. of Justice (in L.A.). More pay and something new to learn with different courts and different procedure (from his previous job with Div. of Highways)."

From Dudley Buck: "Have really enjoyed reading the ALUMNI NEWS these past few months and especially the column for '38ers. Have been with the field training div. of Prudential (Insurance) for some time. Dorothy and I have three girls—12, 8, and 6—and one son, 4½." Bill Kramer forwarded a menu from his restaurant ("Let's Meet and Eat at Kramer's") with a note: "Just to let you know where traveling '38ers can have a good meal in Pittsburgh." I'll take the baked oysters a la Kramer—$1.50!

Question: What '38er has just won an advanced Fulbright scholarship to Finland? Answer: Same column, next issue. Meantime, if anyone knows the whereabouts of "Lost '38ers" Chris Bomberger, Frank Gray, Fred Pape, or Bill Shedd, send along the information, please.

I hate to hold off on interesting news notes that I have been waiting to include in this column, but I just received a letter from Dean Wallace which is so timely that I am pushing it ahead of some other material. Dean writes: "Among our Class tasks which are frequently thankless ones are the positions of regional chairman in our Alumni Fund campaign. For the first time in our history I believe, we have an active regional chairman in every district throughout the country. Some recognition of these men would be highly desirable, and I thought that including their names in a forthcoming ALUMNI NEWS release under our Class heading would be in order."

"The Cornell Alumni Fund regional chairmen are: Metro-New York, Laurence W. Lilienthal; New York Upstate, William C. Baird; New Jersey, John T. Collins; New England, William H. Habicht; Pennsylvania, Elwyn Seelye II; Middle Atlantic, Curtis B. Alliaume; Southern, Morton A. Serrall; Ohio, Wright Bronson, Jr.; Michigan & Indiana, William H. Worcester; Illinois, Frederick G. Jaicks; Middle West, Robert W. Pressing; Rocky Mt. & Southwest, Fred M. Carlson; Pacific Coast, William E. Fisher, Jr.

"Incidentally, I see no reason why the Wallace premises should not serve as a center for any 1940's who may make the Poughkeepsie Regatta or the Olympic Trials this June. We would be delighted to see you, and undoubtedly Lyf and Selly will have further details later on."

Here are a few quick notes to bring you up to date on the doings and whereabouts of some Classmates. Al Reffler is living in Rowayton, Conn. and is Eastern advertising manager of Life International. Fred Faber is an agricultural economist in the Department of Agriculture and lives at RFD 3, Manassas, Va. Rip Gallup is with Hanna Furnace Corp. in Detroit, has a one-year-old daughter and a five-year-old son, and lives at 19235 Linville Avenue, Grosse Pointe, Mich.

To finish on a somewhat longer note, here's an interesting message: "I live the typically dangerous existence of a forecaster for G.E.'s major appliance division. Univac has further complicated life as I have charge of the development of Univac as a tool of marketing. However, Univac is no help with our two children, David, 9, and Kathy, 5." This is from Lon Knapp, 404 Sprite Road, Louisville 7, Ky.

'41 BS—Frank M. Turner '33 (left, above), president of the Rocky Mountain Hotel Association and owner of the Henning Hotel in Casper, Wyo., congratulates John W. Borhman, Jr. '41, upon completion of Borhman's address to the Rocky Mountain Hotel Association convention held recently in Las Vegas, Nev. Borhman is general manager of the Gibbons Hotel in Dayton, Ohio.

'42 Men—Craig Adair, Jr., 17 Cedarbrook Road, Ardmore, Pa., is now sales manager and vice-president of L. H. Parke Co. (Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, and Washington, D.C.) In this day of high cost living, it must be nice to be a purveyor of Selected Foods and Sundry Products. Henry L. Smithers, Jr., 19 Herning Avenue, Cranford, N.J., must be aiming towards a basketball team. He now has 3/5 of a team, ages 9, 8, and 4. Mrs. Smithers (Audrey Jones) '44 is working for Esso in the mechanical engineering division. Orin Hessler, 5815 Caladium Drive, Dallas, Tex., was transferred from Boston and is now living at the above address.

Frederick F. Riser, 2037 Pheasant Circle, Salt Lake City, Utah, is treasurer of W. H. Buitz Co. He has four children, but doesn't get to see many people out his way. Anyone passing through is cordially invited to drop in and say hello. Dr. Edward J. Nightingale, 161 Boulevard, Scarsdale, is married to Dr. Janice T. Nightingale. They have a son and daughter. Ed practices medicine at 25 Central Park West, New York City, and also teaches medicine at New York Medical College.

Jack Eddison, The Ford Foundation, Box 1397 Rangoon, Burma, has recently left Puerto Rico for Burma, where he will be assistant overseas representative of the Ford Foundation for two years. All is well with his family. Look for Uranium Research & Development Co., UREDCO, in the news soon. Bob Harris, 1853 South Tennyson Street, Denver, Colo. is now heading the above full fledged uranium company.

Broadcast Foods is heartily recommended by Charles E. Martin, Jr., 445 Lakeside Manor Road, Highland Park, Ill., who is now general sales manager of that firm. He is married to Valerie Bushbaum '49 and has three daughters. James M. Goodwillie, 101 Huntington Road, Garden City, who is district sales manager of Armstrong Cork Co., Building Products Division, occasionally gets to see Jay Miller and Skip Jones. He and his wife, Mary, have two sons, James, Jr. and Edward II.

Come on out and see us, says Albert T. Ghoreyeb, 64 Bayview Avenue, Northport, L.I., whose hobbies are boating and fishing. He is director of quality control at the Stratos Division of Fairchild Engine & Airplane Corp. Al has three children and virtually lives on the water. Bill Graham, 311 Country Club Drive, Greensboro, N.C., has recently been presented with a daughter. This is his third child. He is busy selling heating and air conditioning equipment for Trane Co. His wife is Betty Jane Francel '43.

John Rivoire, 65-74 Wetherole Street, Forest Hills, has returned from Kansas City, Mo., where he was manager, division of industrial economics at Midwest Research Institute. He is now manager of market research at Westvaco Mineral Products of Food Machinery & Chemical Corp. in N.Y. Hopes to see some old friends at Rye. P. Richard Thomas, 738 Chestnut Street, Meadville, Pa., had served six and one-half years as assistant district attorney, and has been elected district attorney of Crawford County for four years.—Bob Cooper

'45 Men—Now hear this! Now hear this! We are just making the deadline to announce the BIG '45 get-together in New York City. Prentice Cushing just called me with the date: Friday, June 8, at 5:30 p.m. in the East Room of the Hotel Martinique, Broadway & 32d Street, New York City.

We are hoping for a large crew to turn out, both to enjoy themselves and to cut down on the per capita overhead. Beer and sandwiches will be the fare and the date is a good one so make sure to fix it on your calendar. Take time right now to call a few of your Classmates and urge them to come. We ought to have at least 75. If Joe Dartmouth or Bill Princeton in your office would like to come with you and he's a nice guy without too big a thirst—bring him along.

So don't forget! Get permission now from whomever you have to—be it your wife, mother, sweetheart, boss, mother-in-law, parole board, or keeper, but get it for Friday, June 8, at the Hotel Martinique, 32d Street off Broadway, after work or 5:30 p.m., whichever is the earliest.

—Ric Carlson

'46 Women—In just 8 days I hope to see all of you at our 10th Reunion. I just hope we have the biggest turnout ever. Marg Montrose did a wonderful job of compiling the news for our Class letter, so even if you can't make Reunion we have been able to find out what interesting things have happened to you in the past 10 years. Marg will be unable to make Reunion herself because of the graduation at University of Cincinnati where she is assistant dean of women. We sure will miss you, Marg.

Marg received a few more notes from Classmates, but they arrived too late for the newsletter so I'll pass on the information via this column. Alberta Friedenberg Eiseman wrote that she has two daughters, Margot, 5, and Nicole, 22 months. Alberta is a free lance writer, a book reviewer for the New York Times and lives in Westport, Conn. Marion Seel Hackley has been a California resident for 7 years. Her husband is a Stanford graduate and is manager of applications engineering for Varian Associates. They have three children: Laura, 6½, Robert 5, and Brian, 3.

Kathryn Keyes Guyer writes that she has a daughter, Doreen. Husband, Joe, is an independent in the oil business. They see quite a lot of Dorothy Hotchkiss Haberl and Janet Dayton Knipher. She plans to be at Reunion. Nancy Palmerone Quinn announces the arrival of a son, Gerard Patrick, born on St. Patrick's Day, 1956. Beverly Smith is a buyer of neckwear, handkerchiefs, and belts, as well as glove buyer at the Arnold Constable chain of stores.

Marg mentioned about counting the children we have to our credit. Well I did and if some of those names didn't deceive me as to sex, we have 77 boys and 47 girls plus one "on the way." Barbara Schaefer Colbert has 5. There are six runners-up with 4 each. The above statistics only include children whose mothers wrote to Marg for the newsletter. Don't forget to bring pictures of the little darlings along. See you June 9.

—Elinor Baier Kennedy

'47 Men—When you birds read this column, there will remain only a few days before the big Reunion Week End. Although our Class is not having a formal Reunion, I hope that as many '47 men as possible will register in Barton Hall. Start thinking now about our Tenth, which is only one short year away. Frankly, I am going to watch very closely the performance of the Class of '46 this year because indications are that we will have to produce activity galore in order to meet their figures on attendance at Reunion and on Alumni Fund performance. A great many individuals, and I mean at least 150, will have to do some sort of job next year in order to realize a Reunion that is worthy of our wonderful Class. It is not too early to make up your mind that you will work to the limit of your capacity, when and if you are called upon to do so.

ular activities. His note says that he is now living in Princeton, N.J. (14 Southern Way) and commutes to New York, where he directs the sales of Dupont's textile fibers to manufacturers. He sees Ted Kearns and Jim McConnon occasionally. Mention was made of the fact that he saw Hal Bick and Bill Hale on Long Island a while back, also Ed Schrank.

Short letter from Bob Haggerty tells us that he resides in the Boston area, spending working days, and many nights I'm sure, as a doctor at the Children's Medical Center, part and parcel of The Children's Hospital.

Norm Kantor managed to sneak out of his office long enough to drive to Ithaca on the week end of May 5, Cornell Day, to bring to Cornell some high school juniors. It was a rather unexpected trip for Norm since he received the call to help out just a few hours before departure time. I had a nice visit with him in my office Saturday morning, followed by a few beers at Moakley House that evening, where a party was given by the University for the alumni chauffeurs. Norm is in excellent spirits and a very eager man businesswise, since he is in effect running or heading up United Plumbing & Heating Supply Company, Inc., Plainfield, N.J., with additional offices in Summit, N.J. and Providence, R.I. He is still lined up in the narrowing circle of bachelors, but working hard to escape.

William O. Randall II has a mailing address of Charleston Tennis Club, P.O. Box 2164, Charleston 28, W. Va. Our boy Bill has been assistant to the director of food service at MacMurray College for Women and accepted what appears to be a very attractive position as manager of the Charleston Tennis Club (Member of USLTA). Bill included a note to the effect that he has attended the Midwest International Hotel Show, where he saw Jack Boegardus, Nan and Larry and Diana Brashears—all of Chicago. Personally, I am very pleased to know that you are manager of the Tennis Club, Bill, because I am a great one for carrying my racquet around with me. I can tell you now that if I am ever in the Charleston area, you will find me appearing on your doorstep.

One of the most active people around Rochester is Pete Schwarz, an electrical engineer, who lives at 61 Woodcrest Drive. For the records, he married Elaine Drobner in March, 1952 and they are currently taking good care of two children: Martha Susan, born in January, 1954, and Stephen Gregg, who popped his eyes open in November, 1955.—Barlow Ware

'48 BME—Thomas A. Foss, 4123 Dearborn Street, East Chicago, Ind., is assistant superintendent of rail accessories, Inland Steel Co. May 8, he was elected vice-chairman of the Calumet chapter of the American Society for Metals. He is married and has two sons.

'48 BSinME—William R. Rogers was married, April 6, to Elsie E. Megerle of Clarence Center. He is a refractories engineer in the refractory division of Carborundum Co., Bristol, Pa. Address: 7669A Washington Lane, Elkins Park, Pa.

'50 Men—James D. MacNair is the first to send news as a result of the recent Class newsletter. He says he notes with some amusement in the newsletter that there are "at least four Classmates who are fathers three times over." "I wonder if there are any besides myself that have four children —three boys and a girl. Of course, I cheated a little bit—I had two children before I left Cornell." Jim and Mrs. MacNair (Shirley Hardenburg) '50 have a new address, 30 Woodgreen Lane, Roslyn Heights. He is an ad space salesman.

Joseph H. Forman, Jr. and Mrs. F. (Alice Warshaw) '52 sends word from 310 East Seventy-fifth Street, New York. Joe reports he's been five and a half years with Gimbel's in the big city. He is in a new job, as buyer of misses' suits and women's coats. Alice is "still painting, at the Art Students' League on a scholarship."

John (the perennial bachelor) Wallace Reavis, Jr. has bit the dust. From the New York Herald Tribune I learn he is the husband of Thetis Touliatou of New York. The wedding took place April 8. John has a Master's degree from the Sorbonne. He and Mrs. Reavis are both at National Broadcasting Co. He is working on the television show "Wide Wide World."

Walt Jensen gives 2123 Queens Lane, San Mateo, Cal., as his home address now. He is sales engineer for Reliance Electric & Engineering Co., San Francisco, and lists two California "natives" in the family, Susan, 1½, and Stephen, four months.

Two Classmate salesmen were in the news this spring. Charles F. Locke, 114 Heights Court, Ithaca, was one of four district winners in a recent Plymouth sales contest. He's been with W. T. Pritchard Sales & Service since 1954. And Daniel Chabot was named April 9 to be sales manager for the Midwest Division of Pacific Gamble Robinson Co., "the nation's largest food wholesalers." He was with Burnham Corp. in New York and Chicago before PGR. He joined PGR in April, 1954, and has been manager of their flower and nursery department.

The Acacia Newsletter of March reports on Charles Emery: He is "a dealer in farm supplies. He says that about the oldest thing in his family since he left Cornell is the car. Charlie and his wife, Betty, were hoping for a sister for Scotty, age 2, in February. He writes, "We're struggling to get this farm machinery business out of the red, and that means long days and short nights . . ." His address is Selkirk.

Class President Rodger Gibson writes a nice letter in response to the Class newsletter. Says he, "The Company (Fire Assoc. Group) recently promoted me to the position of State Agent supervising five N.E. Ohio counties including Cuyahoga (Cleveland). Randy will be 3, May 29, and Pam will be 1 next September 26. Time marches on. I'll be heading Eastward for my annual two week short tour at Mitchel (AFB) . . . Betty Lou and I might go down to Washington, D.C., on one of the week ends we are East and visit Hugh and Midge Florrenoy. Hugh is on the staff of Senator Case (R-NJ).

"Other news of '50ites': Charles Badger (wife and three boys) is on the administrative staff of the Cleveland Clinic. He lives in Cleveland Heights. Bill Nick (wife, Mary Ellen, and two children) living in Willo-wick, Ohio, is with Lincoln Electric, Cleve-land. Finished engineering training pro-gram a couple of months ago. Don Optron and family also live in Cleveland Heights.

Close An Expensive Gap ... ECONOMICALLY!

With today's high cost of living many a "breadwinner" is finding that his once adequate life insurance program is now insufficient. If that is true in your case, Mr. Cornelian, may we suggest you close that gap with our Gold Standard Policy, the lowest premium ordinary life policy issued by any United States company. For instance, if you are age 35 the premium is only $23.60 per month* for $15,000 protection. Other ages are equally attractive; just ask your insurance broker to write us for more details.

'50 Women—A newsy note from Peggy Mara tells about her impending marriage: "As of June 23, I'll make the trip up the aisle. I met Jack Ogden '52 at Reunion last June. I love Reunions—they're a great idea! We'll live in Kew Gardens at 83-40 Austin Street, Apt. 6 W. I'll continue working at American Rayon Institute—and the apartment, of course, will be furnished entirely in rayon!"

"April 4," Peggy continues, "Janie Humphreys Dieck was in town and we got a group together for dinner at the Three Crowns." Those present were Mrs. Richard J. Keegan (Joan Noden), Mrs. Maurice E. Edwards (Jean Seguin), Mrs. Willard G. Eldred (Margaret Saecker), Lynn White, Pat Carry, and Jean Krag. Joan and Dick are now living in Greenwich, Conn., at 30 Brookside Drive. Jean Edwards has a house in Nanuet, complete with two little ones. Margy Eldred also has two children, and lives in Astoria at 20-36 24th Street. Lynn is about to go up to Syracuse for summer school, and then plans to get a new job—out of New York City, she hopes. Pat lives at 215 East 66th Street, New York, and still works for Eliot Janeway. Dr. Jean Krag—now at Bellevue Hospital in New York—turned up at the Reunion with a brand-new car, complete with shiny new M.D. plates."

Jane Dieck (Mrs. William)—the one who was responsible for this great gathering of Classmates—lives in Rochester at 141 Ridgedale Circle, and has two children, Chris and Bill were in town on their annual trek to the Big City, and this time I finally managed to get them over to my apartment for dinner. A momentous occasion indeed! For years now, I have dutifully trotted up to Rochester at Easter time, just as Jane headed down to New York for a week away from the kids. This time we finally got together!

Florence Conover Peck writes that she and Nathan '51 are living at 806 South Main Street in Blacksburg, Va. Her husband completed his requirements for the PhD from Cornell in February and is now a soil scientist (specializing in soil physics) with the US Department of Agriculture, Agricultural Research Service, at Virginia Polytechnic Institute. The Pecks have two offspring: Nathan, Jr., born in April, 1954, and Nancy Elizabeth, who was born last September.

A few changes of address: Dud and Sally Stroup De Groot have been in their new home at 567 Clifton Way NE, Atlanta, Ga., for some months now. Sal says they have lots of yard and room for David and Bruce and Dud to play football! Our trusty Class Secretary, Mrs. Kenneth A. Murray (Sally Wallace) also has a new address: simply R.D. 3, Rome. A couple of Classmates have new names as well as new addresses to report: Nancy Strouse is now Mrs. Alexander D. Smith and lives at 33 Laurel Place, West Caldwell, N.J. Esther Artman has become Mrs. Paul Hammer, but still receives mail care of Artman, Warsaw Road, LeRoy.

Please continue to send news either to the ALUMNI NEWS office or to me at 340 East 53d Street, New York City.

—Marion Steinmann

'51 Men—Well, time to take the car over for that last check up and get your mug shined up. Why? Reunion is upon us, that's why! Let's go, fellas!

Early reports indicate that the following will be at the Reunion activities: Dale Pulver, 568 Colby St., Spencerport, who is returning from a stint in Korea; Bill Woodward, 9 Fourth Ave., Fairport; Marsh Berger, 817 West End Ave., New York City, who is completing Columbia Law; Bill Coley, sales manager of the Manager Vanderbilt Hotel in New York City; Bud Huffman, 908 Lafayette Ave., Buffalo, who is advertising a new son and his position with Bethlehem Steel; Bill Wesson of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Paul Manion (1st Lt. USA), 118 Mt. Lebanon Blvd., Pittsburgh, Pa.; and Dick Montgomery, 77 Fairfield Drive, Short Hills, N.J., who is with Socony at the Paulsboro, N.J. refinery.

Dick Jung advises that he won't be present this trip; however he is active in the Seoul Cornell Club. Dick is with the State Department's refugee relief program in Korea. Address: American Embassy, APO 301, San Francisco, Cal. And from Tours AFB, France, Dave Epstein was recently promoted to captain. He is base surgeon.

Sheldon Kimmelman, 6401 Oriole Drive, Dallas, Tex. acquired son Jeffrey, March 26. Sheldon is with Acme Building Maintenance Co. July 1, Walter Barth will become a Texan (San Antonio) as the new vice-president and manager of A. I. Root Co. of Texas, a bee supply and candle business.—Bill McNeal

'52 Women: Mrs. Ralph M. Starke
240 Milton Road
Rye, N.Y.

I don't know if it would be a good idea to turn the calendar back, but I do wish we could look forward to a '52 Reunion this year. We all had such a good time. Start planning for next year now! Until then this melange of reports will have to do.

Mrs. Ernest S. Mathews '48 (Mary Alice Newhall) will have a special reason to remember Sage Chapel. It was the scene of her wedding, April 21. Her father is Prof. Allan G. Newhall, PhD '29, Plant Pathology. Two Classmates were in the wedding party, Mrs. Anne Shuttleworth George and Ann L. Shannon. The bridegroom is a graduate of New York Medical College and Flower Hospital, New York City. He is a resident in neuro-surgery at Bellevue Hospital. After June there will be two MD's in the family, for Mary Alice will then have her degree from Cornell Medical College.

It's always nice to get a note from any of you and just as much fun when you have no real news but are just thinking of Cornell. Carol Lovejoy McNeal (Mrs. William) urges anyone coming to New Orleans, La., to stop for a visit. Alice Warshaw Forman (Mrs. Joseph H.) lives at 310 East 75th St., New York City, and is "still painting at the Art Students League on a scholarship." Her husband, Class of '50, is a buyer of misses' suits and women's clothes for Gimbel's.

You don't realize how long you've been putting something off until you're asked to do it a second time. Hope you other delinquents responded to Polly Prine Herman's pleas on behalf of the Alumni Fund. If not, go to your desk right now and send her your contribution.

Stan Landau has received a Medical College graduation gift in the form of a son, Michael Alan Landau, born April 21. Stan receives the MD this June from Cornell's New York City branch. 321 E. 30th St., New York City, contains a "4-room palace in an apartment house condemned for destruction," where Richard L. Klein and Bert Shayeortz—both New York University-Bellevue Hospital medical students—continue to hold fort. Looking forward to Reunion, Dick has just finished serving as president of his medical college class (1957). He writes that Sam Wagonfeld, another medic, recently made his way to the Big City from Chicago.

Along with Al Friedman '52, Len Bebchick '54, and Laura Chapman '55, Sandy Posner (2592 Yale Station, New Haven, Conn.) is at Yale Law School. Myles Greenberg (9 Bronson Ave., Scarsdale) has entered the Army, reporting to Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Tex., April 6, for 5 weeks at the Medical Field Service School.

Recently transferred to the electronics division, General Electric Co., Syracuse, David I. Scheraga's permanent address is 706 Eastern Parkway, Brooklyn 13.

Lt. John F. Schneider (Old Worcester, Mass.) completed his tour of duty in the Far East in February.

Frank Bettucci, former Ithaca High and Cornell wrestling star, won a berth on the Olympic wrestling team, May 2, at the Olympic tryouts in Hollywood, Cal., by upsetting Lt. Tommy Evans, an Oklahoma University grad who had previously beaten Frank three times, twice in National AAU meets. Frank was a graduate student last fall in the School of Business & Public Administration. He took a leave of absence after the first term so that he could do nothing more than "eat, sleep, and wrestle." He will pursue the same routine another six months until the Olympics in Melbourne, Australia.

The well-versed pen of T. David Bulard strokes: ". . . the week before last, I attended the Cornell Club of Tokyo supper meeting. I met . . . Dr. Isaburo Nagai, who is the world's outstanding authority on rice cultivation. He took me in hand for a couple of hours for some of the most fascinating technical discussion of farming I have experienced. He won his degree (MSA) in '12. I wonder how Cornellians received him in those days. Was he a bespectacled bookworm hanging around the stacks or was he a 'regular fellow?' Did he go to Zinck's? Was he part of the Institution? He was all excited when the Glee club sang the old songs in a movie, and he howed and hawed as the crew whacked Cayuga during a race across the screen. These Japanese are racoon-coat alumni. They sang Cornell songs, reminisced about their days on the Hill and plied me with questions about Deane Malott. They were overjoyed when I listed all my Cornell relatives."

'53 Women: Mrs. D. Livingston
136 Tillotson Road
Fanwood, N.J.

Alan and Helen (Teschner) Greene have a son, James Richard, born April 9. Their new address is 232 Cedarhurst, Ave., Cedarhurst, Apt. 25B. I'm not sure of that apartment number, for the postmark was right on top.

Annie Wheeler Wintress writes from 409 Clairmont Dr., Forest Park, Pensacola, Fla., that Robin Sue was born March 16, and Lynn was two, April 16. Vic (EE '54) is now Lt. (j.g.), stationed at Pensacola as an instructor for the next couple of years.

A letter from Debbie Knott Coyle catches us up on them. Doug '52 and Sue Brigham MacLean visited them when Doug was in Memphis in April for a convention. Harry missed the visit as he was busy in Chattanooga, demonstrating Tappan's new electronic range. Debbie says she wrote Peg Doolittle Vickroy praising the three new Jello flavors and got a reply saying she is tired of them since she has done almost all of the recipe development with them (shall we all try those recipes, gals?) Bill Vickroy '52 is in the IBM training program and is very pleased with it. Debbie is looking forward to a trip home to California in July. In the meantime, she hopes anyone in the area will stop at 323 Dreger Ave., which is right between the highways heading south out of Memphis.

Dr. Mrs. Sidney Koretsky (Elaine Stern), 425 Parker St., Mewton 59, Mass., announce the birth of a second son, David Stuart, Feb. 10. Sidney is an MD and Harvard, AB '43. Marilyn Craig Hoge has several new developments to let us know about. Bill was released from the Air Force in November and Marilyn finished teaching school in Las Vegas, Nev., Dec. 16. The next day they started across the country for Christmas in New York. They stopped and saw Edie (Quinn) and Mo Franklin on their way through the Midwest. The Franklins have a darling little daughter and a lovely new home on their farm in Lexington, Ill. Bill started to work as ass't manager of the Red Coach Grill in Yonkers in January and Sherry Lynne arrived March 1. They soon moved to their new address: Apt. B-52, 776 Bronx River Rd., Bronxville. Biff (Marquardt) and Bruce Boehm dropped in for coffee one morning last week. Bruce was recently released from service and was then on his way to Michigan to start work.

A letter from Joan Schultz Petroske reports a new address: 40-33 Jean Avenue, Bethpage. Ed and she bought their home last June and spent their spare time last summer redecorating the interior and buying furniture. In August, she left her job as case worker with Suffolk County Dept. of Welfare and Sept. 4 their daughter, Susan Joy, arrived. In Oct. they had a visit from Shelley Scott Frisch and daughter Nina from Norway. They stayed for a month, during which time Nina learned to walk. Nina is expecting a baby brother or sister this month, and they are back in Norway with her daddy, Rolf Frisch '52, who is still in the Norwegian Air Force (a major).

Joan says they heard from Harriet Schwarzb erg) and Sy Rotter '53 in early December. They are living in Cleveland, Ohio at 2184 E. 30th Street. Sy is attending Western Reserve and is taking the Master's in social psych. They became the proud parents of a daughter, Frances, November 27. Shelley, Joan, and Harriet are all looking for company—travelers take note.

"I've been meaning to write for a while now, but the Quartermaster Corps has kept me moving around quite a lot," writes Don Bandman. "After graduating from the Basic Officer's Course at Fort Lee, I was assigned to Sharpe General Depot out in Stockton, Cal. Life out there on the West Coast was pretty comfortable so the QM figured they ought to send me out into the field for a while. Before I knew it, I was sitting in a jeep, enroute for Louisiana and Operation Sagebrush. I must have changed locations a dozen times during my three months there, and ran into Corneliaans all over. I saw Al Sebald, Jerry Green, Ralph Delaplane, and Sonny Weissglass just to mention a few (and there were many of us). During Operation Sagebrush, I received orders for the Far East and now I'm in Inchon, Korea, about thirty miles away from Seoul. The trip over from the West Coast to Korea included stops in Honolulu and Tokyo, and made me realize what I would be missing by being in Korea instead. Here I've run into Frank Woods, Mickey Ruskin, and Len Solomon and have heard of many, many '54 men in other parts of Korea."

Paul Sternheimer was married, March 25, to Carolyn Cohn of New York and Miami Beach, a University of Michigan alumna. The newlyweds honeymooned at the Hotel Prado Americas in Acapulco, Mexico.

Jim Symons, a graduate student at MIT, has embarked upon his doctoral thesis problem, a project sponsored by the National Institute of Health. The thesis bears the fascinating and unlikely title of "An Investigation of the Nitrogen Relationships during the Stabilization of Glucose by Activated Sludge." Jim's room mate, Doug McIlroy, is working on the PhD in math, spending most of his time matching wits with MIT's Whirlwind Computer. According to the reports, this unique machine, which "can do anything if properly fed and cared for," recently typed out "illegal character" in response to McIlroy's name.

Donald Marion was married to Nancy Lee Hardy of Hopewell, Va., May 12. John Hayt is serving his tour in Korea as company commander of a division recreation center, while his wife lives in Tokyo. Recently promoted to first lieutenant was Irving Costanzo, a platoon leader in the 609th Engineer Company at Ft. Belvoir, Va. After Don Byers won his USAF wings at Laredo AFB, Tex., qualifying as a jet fighter pilot, he headed for a couple of weeks of skin diving and spear fishing at Acapulco.

Mail your Alumni Fund contributions now if you haven't yet done so. Our Class, as of May 1, reached 120 per cent of its dollar goal, but was still 200 men short on the donor goal. Let's set a record on both counts by June 15, the deadline!

News of Susan E. Hirsh's winning a Fulbright award for two years of sociologic study of the Maoris in New Zealand has been announced. For the past two years she has been studying and teaching sociology at University of Hawaii, where she expects to receive the Master's degree in June. Susan's parents are Frederick R. Hirsh '24 and Adeline (Nordendahl) Hirsh '29.

Tom '55 and Kandy (Scholl) Irwin are the parents of a daughter, Denise Maureen, born April 1. They live at 5135 Walker Way, El Paso, Tex. Kandy writes that Ellie (Schroeder) and Jim Price '55 are also stationed at Ft. Bliss.

Nancy Dorr and Garrett M. Duel were married April 7 in Princeton, Ind. After a wedding trip to the South, they are living at Stuyvesant Oval, New York City 9. Garrett is a graduate of University of Wisconsin.

For the first time in a few months, we're jammed with news this issue. But, before I start dispersing the '55 chatter, I must throw a pitch. Don Kennedy, Class representative to the Alumni Fund, urges the '55ers who have not yet mailed in their checks to do so immediately. As I write this column, our Class was lagging behind the others. We were only slightly above forty per cent toward our donor and dollars goals. Let's pitch in and get over the top. I must admit that I've been one of the delinquents, but this will be rectified before the ink dries on this column. Join me in becoming a reformed delinquent.

Service noted: Leonard Ladin has reported to Officer Candidate School at Newport, R.I., in search of an ensign's commission. Len will wind up his course in August. Second Lieutenant Charles Shipman is in training at the Army Light Aviation School, Camp Rucker, Ala. Hans (Swede) Dahl is stationed at Fort Dix, N.J., with the 2d Regiment of the US Army Infantry Training Center. Maury Hagerman graduated 5th in a class of 76 from the Field Artillery Officers' Course at Fort Sill, Okla. Robert Alstrin, whose mailing address is 422 Abbottsford Road, Kenilworth, Ill., is getting gunnery and bombing training as an ensign in the Navy. Carl Glaser is stationed in Tacoma, Wash. His address there is 1315 South Eighth St.

Revere needs men, for two reasons. First, our expansion program creates new needs for men. Second, as men retire on pensions, promotions leave vacancies. So we are looking for men to work in these fields:

Sales Engineering
Production Engineering
Methods Engineering
Sales

Revere is large enough to reward you well in income and stability, but not so large as to forget your need to advance. We want men who can grow.

To save a life

Portable packages of electricity help make our lives safer and more enjoyable

THE BRIGHT BEAM of a flashlight in the hands of an airman down at sea . . . the untold comfort of an almost invisible hearing aid . . . the pleasure of listening to your favorite music over a portable radio.

THESE INGENIOUS DEVICES have one thing in common—they all get their electric power from dry-cell batteries. Each day millions of us depend on these portable packages of power for greater safety, comfort, and pleasure.

LARGE BATTERIES furnish power for signalling and communications systems. Hearing aid batteries are now so tiny that they can hide under a dime. Other dry-cells supply power to everything from toys to Geiger counters.

OVER 60 YEARS AGO, the people of Union Carbide produced the first commercial dry-cell. From this beginning, they developed the great variety of EVEREADY batteries that now serve dependably in so many applications.

SCIENTISTS of Union Carbide are constantly working on new, improved methods of producing packaged power. Their goal is to make dry-cell batteries do even more work for all of us.
