

Leah Scolere

Web Bio

Information

Biography

---

Biographical Statement

Leah Scolere returns to the Department of Design and Environmental Analysis as a Lecturer with five years of industry experience as an Associate at Gensler, working on large commercial interior design projects for corporations such as Hewitt, T. Rowe Price, Gallup, among others. A 2003 graduate of the Design and Environmental Analysis Interior Design program, Leah completed her M.A. degree in DEA at Cornell in 2004.

Leah's previous experience as a visiting lecturer at Cornell University in 2009 combined with her industry design experience allows her to help students prepare to transition between design education and professional practice.

Professional

---

Current Professional Activities

Member- Society for Environmental Graphic Design, SEGD
Member- IIDA Professional Member

Research

---

Current Research Activities

Exploring Practice-Based Models for studio teaming and ideation
Infographics, eyetracking, and narrative
Spatial Graphic Design: InTypes

Extension

---

Education

---

Education

M.A. 2004    Cornell University Design and Environmental Analysis

Courses

---

Courses Taught

- DEA 2030 Digital Communications
- DEA 4402 Interior Design Studio VIII
- DEA 4610 Introduction to Portfolio
- DEA 4611 Advanced Portfolio
- DEA 6420 Visual Thinking + Storytelling: The Infographic
- DEA 6421 Materiality + Place
- DEA 6000 Future of Workplace Immersion
- DEA 6000 Introduction to Environmental Graphic Design

Websites

---

Administration

---

Administrative Responsibilities

Director of DEA Design Library ( dLib)

Prospective Student Portfolio Review Committee

Publications

---