Portraits, Annual Composites

Composites depict the brotherhood as an assembled group of individual black & white photographic portraits. The originals measure in excess of 24 x 36 inches and are normally hung in the public rooms of the 13 South Avenue Deke House. Small copy prints measure 11 x 14 inches. The composites included a representation of the Fraternity coat of arms in the center field. The chapter’s coat of arms was substituted in some years beginning in 1988.

Recent composites have included a picture of Ralph C. Mannuni, a fictitious member (accession number 1103) of the Delta Chi chapter attributed to Brother George Edwin Fox ’61. Mannuni’s original home was allegedly in East Jesus TX. Mannuni’s composite picture is from a daguerreotype of John Caldwell Calhoun (American statesman, 1782-1850) taken by Matthew Brady. The original is in the collection of the National Archives and Records Administration, Washington DC. See Coit, Margaret L., John C. Calhoun; American Portrait, Houghton Mifflin Company, Boston 1950.
