CORNELL UNIVERSITY LIBRARY
REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN

1934-35

To the President of the University:

SIR: I have the honor to submit the report of the Librarian of the University Library for the year beginning July 1, 1934 and ending June 30, 1935.

Well-nigh forty-four years ago, on October 7, 1891, the building in which this report is written, erected and endowed by Henry William Sage, was dedicated with solemn ceremonies. A memorial volume, containing a description of the new building, preserves for us the addresses made by six speakers who were unanimous in their belief that this new building would solve the University's library problems for many years to come. They were all generous, enthusiastic, optimistic lovers of Cornell, who then proclaimed their faith in the University and uttered their glowing hopes for its development. But in one point their vision was not as broad as they believed. The building which they so hopefully dedicated ceased, at least ten years ago, to be wholly adequate for the University's actual needs.

The "description" in the memorial volume gives the capacity of the book-stacks then provided as 400,000 volumes. The later conversion of space not originally intended to hold books has added materially to the capacity of the building. But the figures given in this librarian's report for books actually housed in the building include 729,275 items, exclusive of maps and charts, which present a space problem of their own. These figures count pamphlets and all such smaller items as figure with definite, single and independent entries in the library catalogue. They are often bound together, as many as twenty or thirty in one volume.

By actual count the number of real volumes, book-binder entities, or their unbound equivalents (of which the University Library holds more than it should) amounted one year ago to 561,468. The actual number of such book-binder volumes in the original book-stacks, for which the memorial description gives a capacity of 400,000 is now 349,225. The estimate of the builders was therefore too high. And our present figure is reached only by resorting to a system of compression and congestion which, as has been repeatedly pointed out in librarians' reports, not only hampers the proper functioning of a library with respect to its users, but is actually harmful to the books and bindings entrusted to our care.

For this condition there is but one real remedy—a new library building, which would also provide proper working space for the technical staff required for a collection of this size. If, under present financial conditions, an undertaking of such magnitude cannot be envisaged, the dangerous congestion alone could be remedied for a reasonable period by the construction in the Southwest angle of the present building of the inexpensive extension for which definite plans have been submitted.

The continued shrinking of endowment income beyond the low of last year has at any rate prevented a reckless disregard of the space limitation, and kept the increase in pressure lower than a normal year's growth would have produced. As in the last few years, the special grant of $5,000, made by the Trustees on the recommendation of the Cornellian Council, has tided us over a situation in which growing needs and demands of the Faculty and the student body were faced with diminished purchasing power. Additional aid was given this year by the administration of the book fund of the George Fisher Baker Non-Resident Chemistry Lecturers Endowment, which carried for one year the cost of a number of expensive journals and continuations, the burden of which would otherwise have fallen upon the Library's book fund.

STAFF

During the period covered by this report the following changes have taken place in the staff. Mrs. Muriel Farr Bennett, Catalogue Reviser, and Miss A. E. Beal, Cataloguer, resigned. Mrs. H. Rosalind Speed and Miss Laura Jennings were appointed as Cataloguers. Miss Gertrude Losie, the Librarian's stenographer, resigned, and was replaced by Mrs. Ann Wood.

During the year death laid its hand upon the library staff for the first time in many years. On July 8, 1934 the Librarian Emeritus, Mr. Willard Austen, died at the age of 73. Mr. Austen, who attended Cornell University from 1887 to 1891, had entered the service of the University Library in 1889. In 1892 he was made Assistant Librarian, and on the retirement of Librarian George W. Harris he became librarian in 1915. After his own retirement in 1929 Mr. Austen continued to live in Ithaca and was often seen in the library, never losing his interest in the institution whose course he had guided for so many years. To his memory his successor is anxious to pay this tribute of respect, in the firm conviction that he expresses the common feeling of all the members of Mr. Austen's staff who are still in the service of the University.

FACULTY RESEARCH ASSISTANT

The funds provided by the Carnegie Corporation have made it possible for the Faculty to utilize for another year the services of Mr. Henry H. King, who has now performed the duties of a faculty research assistant for more than two and one half years. It is the unanimous opinion of those who have called upon Mr. King for aid in research that the institution of a Faculty Research Assistant has amply justified itself.

FEDERAL EMERGENCY RELIEF STUDENT EMPLOYEES

The Library has profited greatly by the Federal Employment Relief System. Some twelve to fourteen students were assigned to the Library. While none of them were competent to do the kind of technical library work which our inadequate staff copes with heroically year after year, their less skilled labor was employed to great advantage. They were marshalled into a corps of book census takers who completed the count of binder's volumes actually on the shelves, for which figures were given in the beginning of this report. They learned to wrap neatly books and magazines which, for lack of binding money, had perforce to be left unbound. They provided us with a handy typed list of the 2,500 journals and periodicals kept current in our library. Their largest task was to extract from the public card catalogue, and type in an alphabetical list, the "subject-heads" used in that catalogue. The catalogue is more than half a century old. Up to the present no official subject list had been available.

EXHIBITION

The reproductions of the miniatures in the "Hortulus Animae" (1521) which were exhibited last year, remained on exhibition this year, until they were replaced by a display of interesting items from Cornell's great Icelandic Collection. The collection originally gathered by Cornell's first librarian, Willard Fiske, was bequeathed to the University together with separate endowments for its continuation, for the salary of a Curator, and for the expenses of an annual publication, on Fiske's death in 1904. The exhibition, prepared by the present Curator, Professor Halldór Hermannsson, shows a fifteenth century manuscript Icelandic law codex, several of the earliest books printed in Iceland, and a series of reproductions of miniatures and facsimiles of whole Icelandic manuscripts. A special case is devoted to the material relating to the Norse discovery of America five hundred years before Columbus.

ACCESSIONS

The total amount expended for books during the year was $28,865. Miss Ingersoll, Head of the Accessions Division, reports that the total number of additions to the accession book was 10,756. Of these 8,802 went into the general library, the remainder into special collections. Of the general acquisitions 3,982 were purchased and 4,820 were gifts.

CATALOGUE DIVISION

The following figures are submitted by Miss Speed, head of the Catalogue Division:

Volumes and pamphlets catalogued . . . . .	11,230
Maps catalogued . . . . .	102
Manuscripts catalogued . . . . .	5
Titles added to the catalogue . . . . .	6,496
Typewritten cards added . . . . .	11,106
Printed cards added . . . . .	11,598
Cards added to Library of Congress Depository Catalogue . . . . .	63,245
Additions to cards . . . . .	5,395
Volumes recatalogued . . . . .	181
Cards corrected or dated . . . . .	3,676

CLASSIFICATION AND SHELF DIVISION

The figures reported by Mr. De Grassi for this division are:

Books classified. . . . .	9,394
Documents. . . . .	245
Manuscripts. . . . .	7
Maps. . . . .	92
Theses. . . . .	235
Books reclassified. . . . .	15
Presses moved. . . . .	348
New presses added. . . . .	7

PERIODICAL DIVISION

Miss Leland, Head of the Periodical Division reports:

Periodicals currently received
By subscription. . . . .	1,279
By gift and exchange. . . . .	1,238
Total. . . . .	2,517
Number of current periodicals on open shelves in Periodical Reading Room. . . . .	654
Number of volumes on open shelves. . . . .	3,577
Issued for brief home use. . . . .	442
Periodical volumes bound during the year. . . . .	2,492

The list of publications of Faculty members, appended to the President's report was edited as usual by Miss Leland.

READERS DIVISION

This is the second year in which by a special grant of the Trustees it was possible to keep the Reading Room open for readers on Sunday. The number of students using the room on Sundays has fully warranted the additional expenditure. Mr. Willis, Associate Librarian, who is in charge of the Reading Room and of Inter-Library Loans, provides the following figures:

Days open to the public. . . . .	338
Registered borrowers
Faculty. . . . .	1,086
Students
College year. . . . .	4,970
Summer Session. . . . .	222
Recorded use
Reading Room (Number of books). . . . .	100,956
Seminary rooms. . . . .	3,465
Laboratories and Departments. . . . .	2,589
Home use (including 12,522 "seven-day" loans). . . . .	34,740

INTER-LIBRARY LOANS

Loaned to other libraries (volumes). . . . .	981
Borrowed from other libraries. . . . .	231

The number of university, college, and industrial libraries that borrowed from Cornell was 151. They included:

University of Rochester. . . . .	76	Eastman Kodak Company. . . . .	21
Keuka College. . . . .	44	Colgate University. . . . .	19
Corning Glass Works. . . . .	36	E. I. du Pont de Nemours. . . . .	18
University of Buffalo. . . . .	34	Ohio State University. . . . .	18
Wells College. . . . .	31	Syracuse University. . . . .	18
Columbia University. . . . .	29	Bryn Mawr College. . . . .	15
Hobart College. . . . .	28	Brown University. . . . .	14
Iowa State University. . . . .	27	Hamilton College. . . . .	13
New York University. . . . .	27	Princeton University. . . . .	12

Cornell borrowed books from 35 other libraries. As usual our debt is greatest to the Library of Congress.

Library of Congress . . . . .	53	Harvard College Library . . . . .	13
University of Rochester . . . . .		University of Chicago . . . . .	10
Sibley Musical Library . . . . .	30	American Museum of Natural
Medical Library . . . . .	10	History . . . . .	9
University Library . . . . .	5	U. S. Army Medical Library . . . . .	9
Columbia University . . . . .	21	Yale University . . . . .	8
Teachers College . . . . .	13	New York State Library . . . . .	6
		Princeton University . . . . .	6

GIFTS

Once again the Librarian feels constrained to pay a special tribute of thanks to donors, who in these days of diminished purchasing powers, have contributed freely to our growth. This year's gifts and exchanges, totalling 4,820, exceeded last year's number by 385. Two anonymous donors have added to our books on the drama a collection made by the late Joseph Whitmore Barry around the turn of the century and until shortly before the World War. It consisted of about 2,000 volumes, mostly bound, largely single plays by contemporary playwrights. The remainder includes books on the theater, many modern novels, and a number of general works on literature, art, and music. There were also forty volumes of bound and unbound periodicals, and finally, some one hundred and forty scrap books containing excerpts from the daily press on dramatic or theatrical subjects, or collected extracts from the periodical literature of the day dealing with particular dramatists or actors. A second large gift came from benefactors of long standing. Mr. William F. E. Gurley donated a large collection, numbering about 5,000 items, of instrumental parts for musical compositions for small band or other small instrumental ensembles. Mr. and Mrs. Gurley have likewise continued to send frequent shipments of books, Shakespeareana as well as books in other fields.

One gift came to us this year which sets an example to be held up for emulation. The Class of 1899 is collecting a class fund which is eventually to be added to the general fund of the University. In the meantime the administrators of the class fund turned over to the Library in its hour of need the accumulated interest amounting to six hundred dollars. The sense of gratitude for such a timely gift is shared by wide circles in the University community.

Emeritus Professors as well as active Faculty members have contributed as liberally as in past years. Emeritus Professor W. F. Willcox has been especially generous in his gifts of books on the social sciences.

Dr. N. M. Crouse of Ithaca has remained a constant donor. Dr. Henry P. DeForest again sent a number of periodicals from the Cornell Club of New York and also secured for us interesting and valuable volumes from the medical library of the late Dr. Charles Francis Chapman, the gift of Mrs. Ella Jane Whitlock Chapman. From Mrs. Andrew D. Carnegie and the Carnegie Corporation came the impressive ten-volume edition of the writings of Andrew D. Carnegie. The Club of Odd Volumes of Boston gave us five volumes from its series of publications. Mr. Dudley Fay of Auburn presented a forty-volume edition of the works of Washington Irving and the twenty-five volumes of "The Historian's History of the World".

From the French Embassy in Washington came "Documents diplomatiques français (1871-1900)". The Friedrich List Gesellschaft of Basle donated an eight-volume edition of the works of Friedrich List. M. Armand Godoy of Paris sent a number of his own works. Mrs. G. Whitney Hoff gave us the sumptuous catalogue of her collection of autograph letters, and from Mr. J. J. Hoff we received the French edition of the Life of Mrs. Hoff. Mr. Henry Ickelheimer presented a subscription for R. Offner's "A Critical and Historical Corpus of Florentine Painters". Mr. Leon Kelso sent his "Key to Species of American Owls". Mr. Carter R. Kingsley donated thirty volumes of the "Proceedings of the Board of Supervisors of Steuben County, N. Y. (1859-1894)" as well as other books. From

Mr. James McCall came nine volumes of "The Bath (N. Y.) Plaindealer" in the eighteen-nineties, and Vol. 2 of the "Craftsman" (Rochester, N. Y., 1830-1831). The H. A. Manning Company, through the Ithaca Chamber of Commerce, added thirty-two items to our collection of American city directories.

Professor Dayton C. Miller presented us with the catalogue of his collection of books relating to the flute. Mr. F. J. Nettlefold sent the catalogue of his collection of bronzes. Dr. Sigmund Spaeth donated his "The Art of Enjoying Music". From Mr. Myron Taylor came several works on the Underhill family. Mr. Stevens L. Werner gave two works by D. H. Lawrence.

OTTO KINKELDEY,
Librarian.
