They are, from left, Bernard Martineau, George Gibson and Mac MacDonald. A welcome was extended by FS&T Chairman Don Splitstoesser. RETIREE GROUP NAMES EX-B&P MAN AS ITS FIRST PRESIDENT

About 35 Station retirees and spouses attended the second luncheon meeting of the Retirees' Club which was held last week at Anastasi's Restaurant in Geneva for the purpose of electing officers and transacting business.

A former B&P man, Joe Petrone, who retired in June of last year, will head the Club, with the assistance of Phil Crough, also an ex-B&P, who was elected vice-president. Rounding out the slate of officers are: Gertrude Catlin, former photographer for Entomology and Plant Pathology, secretary; Rita Curtin, Communications Services, treasurer; and Social Committee Chairpersons Dr. and Mrs. Al Braun. Braun is a former Plant Pathology faculty member.

A guest at the meeting from Cornell, Betty Corrigan representing the University Club, outlined why her organization was formed and ran over some of the features and benefits available to Cornell retirees.

During the meeting, a list of 14 Club members was logged to help conduct activities during the September 10-11 Station Open House. They will serve in various capacities.

Petrone said that an upcoming executive committee meeting will precede the next Retirees' Club meeting, the date for which has not been set.
