Vol. XXXV, No. 6.

August 21, 1940.

A GOOD TIME WAS HAD

Vegetable growers who attended the Field Day of their State Association last Wednesday appeared to enjoy themselves thoroly. A crowd of four hundred or more took over the Station completely and did not miss many points of interest on the grounds. Also among those present was Tom Murray agricultural news broadcaster for WHAM. The frozen food dinner made a distinct hit and will long be remembered as a high light of the day by the nearly 300 persons who partook of it. Our only regret was that the supply gave out before we had a chance to try it, but from all appearances, especially the well-cleared plates, it was rated a good meal from first to last. We greatly appreciate the cooperation of the NYA boys who assisted in all phases of work thruout the day. Certainly all of those engaged in any branch of vegetable crops work should feel well satisfied with the interest shown by the visitors in all that they saw and heard.

THE NEXT EVENT

The next event on the calendar is the twenty-seconding of the New York State Fruit Testing Cooperative Association which will be held here on Thursday, September 19. This an interesting meeting because of the fruit exhibit that it. The next day, September 20, the Station will be the New York State Nurserymen's Association for their field day.

WHAT WE LIKE TO HEAR

Here's the kind of a letter we like to read, especially coming from a printer. The letter was an acknowledgement from a Chicago publisher who had written in for copies of Farm Research. Here's what he said:

"Many thanks for your kind letter and the last two copies of Farm Research--it sure is a goldmine of information. I especially like your excellent modern layout, your fine typesetting, and your perfectly beautiful printing. To a printer, it is a real pleasure to again see a piece of literature that is printing--there is so little of it around here with the competitive markets and the many imitations."

ASSEMBLYMEN VISIT THE STATION

Assemblyman Abbott Low Moffatt, Chairman, and C. T. Locke, Secretary, of the New York State Ways and Means Committee, Assemblymen Harry R. Marble, and Mr. Estes, of New York City, conferred Saturday with Mr. Parrott on needs of the Station and an inspection tour of the laboratories and grounds was made.

THE STATE FAIR

A word about the Fair--Mr. van Alstyne requests all exhibits to be in place not later than Saturday, August 24th, as the Fair opens the 25th. If exhibits are to go on the big truck get in touch with Carl Oswald at once, so arrangements may be made. The Station exhibit will be very attractive this year with the various murals and novel displays of the different departments. If the weatherman is good to us the Fair this year should be a huge success, for everyone works hard getting there exhibits in order and especially a great deal of credit is due Mr. van Alstyne who has charge of the Fair this year. He spent yesterday in Syracuse completing final arrangements.

CONGRATULATIONS

Gunter Jahn received notification Monday that he was the recipient of a four year State scholarship. This was in addition to the scholarship he received from Hobart Colloge, which he expects to enter next month.

TRAVELING BY TRAILER

Mr. Ralph Stearman and family just returned from a beautiful trip thru the Smoky Mountains in North Carolina and Tennessee, visiting Norris Dam enroute. They were very fortunate and escaped the flood which caused landslides and great destruction in Ashville, North Carolina, by two days.

ALSO VACATIONING

Mr. Bowen is taking a few days vacation from the tribulations of the business office, visiting New York City and surrounding country.

Mr. Wellington is also on vacation until next Monday.

IN MASSACHUSETTS

Mr. George Slate and family left Monday for Mr. Slate's home in Massachusetts, where they expect to spend a vacation period, returning to Geneva about the 10th.

JUDGING FAIR EXHIBITS

Mr. van Alstyno is very busy these days going from one Fair to another. Wednesday, the 21st, Van and Henry Bennett will go to the Yates County Fair at Penn Yan and judge fruit, vegetables and granges. On Monday morning, August 26th, Mr. van Alstyno will judge the boys fruit exhibit at the State Fair. There will be no commercial fruit exhibit there this year. At the Naples Fair, on the 29th, he will judge the fruit and flower exhibits. Sounds like a full schedule to us.

MISSING FROM LIBRARY

The following Journals are missing from the Bacteriology Library:

Canadian Public Health Journal, Vol. 29, No. 4 - 1938.

Journal of Dairy Research, Vol. IX, No. 2 - 1938.

Zent. f. Bakt., II Abt., Vol. 99, No. 24/26 - 1938.

Bacteriological Reviews, Vol. 1, No. 2 - 1937.

The return of these Journals would be greatly appreciated as the volumes are ready to go to the binders.

MORE RELATIONS

For the second time this year Dr. Lovelace has met relatives he didn't know he had. Last week at the Vegetable Growers Meeting a man and a girl stopped in his office and introduced themselves. It seems that they were from Mexico, N. Y. Earlier in the year at the Jersey Cattle Sale Dr. Lovelace learned that one of the cattle men was a distant cousin.

RECUPERATING

Mr. George Pearce, of the Chemistry Department, is recuperating in the Geneva General Hospital from an operation for appendicitis last week.

ALSO JUDGING

Dr. Yale and Mr. Marquardt expect to visit the State Fair this week Friday to judge limburger and foreign type cheeses.
