

STATION NEWS

Vol. XXXVI, No. 14.

April 16, 1941.

Geneva, N. Y.

ROAD WORK

One of the early spring jobs around the Station will be the completion of the new approach to Jordan Hall and the resurfacing of the driveway leading to the rear of that building and to the new parking area to be laid out just west of it. The filbert orchard is already on its way out to make place for a parking area that is expected to care for fifty cars. Eventually an exit from this area will be constructed so as to create a one-way road around Jordan Hall with the entrance to the east of the building. This will prove a welcome addition to the Station parking lots, especially with summer and its increase in visitors not far away.

FARM AND HOME HOUR FROM CORNELL

On Wednesday, May 21, the National Farm and Home Hour will originate from the campus at Ithaca. This is one of a series of Land-Grant College broadcasts each of which originates at a different Land-Grant college each month. It is hoped to stage the broadcast in a room sufficiently large to accommodate an audience.

CERES CIRCLE TODAY AT 3:30—DR. HILDEGARD HIRSCH ON "FIRST IMPRESSIONS"

A SKEPTIC

A correspondent in a letter to the Editor takes exception to our factual report of the recent meeting of the Apple Blossom Festival Committee in the Director's office, as follows: "Knowing that in the spring a (young, old) man's fancy lightly turns, etc., etc., we are somewhat skeptical about the report in the NEWS that the meeting of the Apple Blossom Festival Committee was 'an august assemblage of solemn-visaged individuals'. My guess is that there was an air of eager anticipation and zest and even a straightening of ties and smoothing of hair that the reporter failed to record. Wanna bet?" Well, there might have been some straightening of ties, figuratively speaking at least, but there wasn't enough hair in the crowd to do much smoothing!

A THIRD TERM

The joint meeting of the Geneva Historical Society and the University Club at the Hotel Seneca last night had as one of the high lights of the evening the re-election of Doctor Breed as President of the Historical Society - a third term. Dr. Hedrick was chosen Custodian of the Historical Society property for another term and Mr. Wellington was elected to the Board of Directors of the Society. Mr. Sayre presided at the brief business session of the University Club in his capacity of Vice-President of that organization and in the absence of the President.

APPLE SAUCE STANDARDS

Apple sauce may be just apple sauce to most people, but when it is sold under the Empire State Brand it is expected to measure up to certain definite standards. A conference of representatives of canning companies which pack apple sauce, of the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets which directs the inspection services of the State, and of the Experiment Station, including Mr. Beattie, Dr. Pederson, and Dr. Kertesz, was held here last week to discuss the standards which should prevail under the State Brand.

MR. MERRILL HERE

Mr. Thais A. Merrill who has entered upon his new duties as Associate Horticulturist at the Vineyard Laboratory at Fredonia spent a day or two at the Station last week in conference with the Director, Mr. Wellington, and others in planning the season's work, and returned here yesterday for further conferences with the Vegetable Crops and Plant Pathology Divisions and proposed field work to be carried on by those Divisions at Fredonia this season.
