Gentlemen:-

Mr. Geo. H. Nettleton, at present General Manager of several western Roads, and formerly Genl. Supt. of this Road, tells me, he used to get a very fine article of hickory and elm timber of you, and, that the same was admirably adapted for use about cars, in brake beams, &c.

Can you furnish the same quality now, and if so, at what price delivered on cars at your station?

Please advise me.

Yours respectfully,

R. S. Stevens
G. Mangr.
