11/9th, 1875

J. MacKenzie, Esq.

Dear Sir:-

We have agreed to take from Mssrs. Draper and Groat five barrels of their lubricating oil. If anything like what they recommend, its use must be very economical to Railway Companies. When the oil is delivered, I wish you would make a thorough test thereof by cleaning out and repacking the boxes under two or three locomotives, and doing whatever else may be necessary to satisfy you of the propriety of its use.

Yours respectfully,
R. S. Stevens
G. M.
