PAGEANT EXT RA.

Rochester and Back!

The alarm clocks rang loudly a 5:30 call Soon the two damsels fled from our own

Risley Hall.

They stood on the track for an Ithaca car And they knew it was late and the station was far.

Then spoke the conductor with sarcastic mien,
"You haven't a chance for that 7:15."

On the last switch, they swore they would tarry no more

So they dashed for the door of a Cadillac four.

The train they reached, with faces gaunt, They started hungry on their jaunt.

Soon spied some ham betwixt rye bread So off the train and back they sped.
To meet our coach was their next thought,
And so her hotel then they sought.

A three hour talk, as you may guess, Assured them of next Fall's success.

They never even stopped to dine Her plans and projects were so fine.

Just after this one interview
We know that Pageant's going thru!

We've got a coach of the best sort, Now will you give us your support?

Now to get down to serious things-Mrs Eager is charming, and her niece, Miss Eager, coach of dancing is a walking Terpsicon. They have coached pageants of 2,5000 people, and so this undertaking of theirs is like child's play. You'd think that they wouldn't be interested in us, but they are just as full of the Cornell Pageant as they can be. In our short sessions, they showed how carefully they'd studied our manuscript, and gave us some of the best, most original ideas. Miss Eager has the reputation of being able to make a pole dance, so if you aren't a perfect dancing spirit, don't worry. She'll inspire you with the art. The two ladies are coming Registration day, and going to stay to see the Cornell Women outdo themselves. Everybody! Come back with spirit and be prepared to attend every rehearsal and every fitting. We have three weeks in which to work three weeks to teach you your dances. But the sword dancers have a great advantage over the others. They may come this Tuesday at 7P.M. and they must come, or telephone 2152Y with the best excuses in the world. Tuesday, June 6, we expect A. Quinlan, L. Hagadorn, E. Ward, M. Conlon, A. Moran, E. Schoeffler, G.

Kolb, G. Huth in the Recreation Room.

If you want to be a dancer, come to 418, and express your wants and we'll try to gratify them. Many are chosen, but we may possibly have overlooked you.
We want You more than anyone. Come on!
Get some spirit. We've started this, and we want to see it pushed through to a howlingly successful finish. And we know it will be, for the spirit among the women is a fine, loyal spirit, and it is certainly backed strongly by the best coaches we could possibly get.

Coming back to Cornell meant coming back to the Pageant and a Pageant not merely of ideas, but one with an actual theatre and many costumes already completed. Upon my arrival a most artistic poster greeted me, then a trip to the field made me still more enthusiastic, and finally after seeing the costumes and the enormous amount of work the girls are handling with cleverness and efficiency- Words Fail me?? Every girl should see the theatre and costumes before leaving. Then take a poster back home with you and describe the plans in detail to your friends. Don't Let Words Fail You There.

Bunty Mac Donald.
