VOL II NO XII

ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR.

Oct. 25, 1916

One nine and one nine
All out and in line
To roast a hot dog
By the bright blazing log.

Now for our silent endurance thru these last two weeks of tribulations, please grant unto poor editorial "us" the luxury of one wail o'woe.

We thought that when the complicated machinery of our worthy press had yielded up each inky secret of each rod and screw, that troubles would be over. No. The powers that be of Sage and Risley, although most satisfactorily impressed with our young importance, face us suddenly with a "where will we put you?"

Therefore bear with us please and help us bear, while we get out your Bulletin under the following list of difficulties: no permanent office, no proper desk and table, no adequate light etc. But then rejoice with us, for hope is in sight.
