EDITORIAL

Finals are over- peace to their ashes- and we have had a short time to recuperate from the strenuous exertion of actually studying six hours at a stretch on a measly three hour subject. Now we are commencing a new term, with a clear stretch before us and every incentive to do our best- not only in classes but in athletics, dramatics, anything that we are willing to do. Whatever we do, let us do it with a will and make this coming spring term the best in the history of Cornell.

One object for which every girl is going to work, is the Pageant, with the appearance of new straw hats and sloppy weather, it seems almost Spring. Spring means the successful production of the Pageant. Miss Eager, the coach, will arrive Wednesday night and remain until Sunday to make all arrangements for the selection of the cast and dancers. Rehearsals will begin immediately after the arrangements are completed. This term every girl will take English 101, Pageantry- its first and successful appearance at Cornell, and the credit for this course will go not only to the individual but the whole University. Register early.

Meeting of Pageant Committee in Risley Organization Room. 5:15 Tuesday.

Pageant Mass meeting, Thursday, Feb. 23, Details will be announced later.

CLASSES

1917- All the Seniors are invited to attend a tea given by the Alumnae Association of Ithaca at Risley on Saturday, the twenty fourth from four to six. Miss Eager will be the guest of honor and plans for the Pageant will be discussed. This is an excellent opportunity for the girls to become acquainted with Miss Eager and learn all the details of the Pageant.

RED CROSS

During block-week, a meeting of all girls interested in Red Cross work was held, at which it was decided to form a local society here in Ithaca. All wishing to may sign up for membership on the Red Cross posters.

BULLETIN

There will be a meeting of the Bulletin Staff today at 5:15 in Risley, Reading Room. All day editors please be present.

A competition for assistant day editors of the Bulletin will be held for Freshmen, Sophmores and Juniors, beginning the latter part of this week and closing the second week in March. From the twelve people chosen, will be selected next February the day editors for the following year. Anyone interested, see the Editor-in-Chief.

BASKET-BALL.

The winner of the ticket competition can not be decided until all money collected has been reported to the class representatives. Please turn in your unsold tickets and money. Class representatives will notify Evelyn Hiebor of their money receipts.

GYMNASIUM

All Freshman and Sophmores must arrange their gymnasium schedules in Miss Canfield's office at once.

There will be no Health lecture today by Dr. Matzke. The next lecture will be given Monday, the twenty-sixth in Stimpson amphitheater.
