EDITORIAL.

Today from five to six o'clock, which certainly is convenient for all, the review with the aid of several members of the faculty will give a musicale. The entertainment will take place in Wisley drawing room and there can be no doubt of its success, provided you all come. For the review is your paper and the review card your representative. As your paper you want the review to succeed and your representatives are always striving toward that end. Now the board has done its share, - everybody come out and support its work. A sample of the program will suffice to show what a success this musicale will be. There will be a reading by Prof. Sampson, a vocal solo by Prof. A. A. Brown, and Prof. H. ## SOCIAL NOTES.

Our reporter has just received the intelligence of a sad and impressive funeral which marked the end of the sojourn of Helias and Neptune, both goldfish on the terrestrial sphere. They passed away to the Happy Swimming Grounds on the evening of March 6, 1917. Their demise was probably due to the bad effects of a bath in too warm water. Their funeral was held in their late residence, Wisley 418, yesterday, only immediate friends attending.

P. S. The Bulletin sends heartfelt sympathies to Miss Giefillan in her bereavement.
