ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR. March 14, 1917.

EDITORIAL.

The long list of names that appear from day to day and from week to week, indicating who is expected to appear at the organization room for fitting gives in some measure the idea of the huge amount of work that the Costume Committee must accomplish. Something like 8000 costumes will be turned out by spring vacation, if possible! Just imagine it! What are you going to do to help? First of all, come on the day indicated for you. The chairman plans the work from day to day and a number of people breaking appointments matters considerably, for there are certain members of the committee, who on specified days, will make it their business to measure and fit the costumes. On other days, other members of the committee have special duties. So don't let anything interfere with a Pageant appointment.

The alumnae are helping us greatly. Now, what are you going to do? For upon every woman of Cornell the responsibility of the success of the Pageant rests. If you are interested in the work of the Costume Committee come down any afternoon or evening and help. Someone will always be there to direct you. There is a very wide variety of work for even those persons not fully initiated in the art of sewing. There is plenty of necessary basting to be done, flowers to be wreathed and innumerable other things that are interesting for you, as well as helpful for the Pageant. Come and one and all show your interest and co-operation! Above all keep your appointment.
