EDITORIAL.

The writer of this article on her way across the fields yesterday, came upon a great crowd of her sophomore friends. So busily engaged were they in picking flowers, that it was only after much effort that she succeeded in attracting their attention. They paused but long enough to say that the May baskets were for their distinguished sisters the seniors. So the writer went on her way thinking - May is here, Spring has come and the sophomores honor their seniors.

PAGEANT.

The main purpose of the Pageant Mass Meeting last evening was to arouse enthusiasm among the girls themselves for the remaining work to be done. There has been a decided slump of interest in the Pageant since the outbreak of war which will end in failure of the undertaking unless there is a greater support of the girls. From the first it was thought best to continue with the pageant plans not only because of financial loss incurred if not given but because it is a big thing in which to fix one's immediate attention. That the proceeds are to be given for a great cause is another reason why it must be a success. We have every opportunity to make it the most dignified and beautiful pageant ever given by college women. It is interesting to know that the May issues of the Review, Era, Widow, Countryman, Sun, Journal and many out-of-town papers are giving space to publicity of the pageant. It is up to the girls now to co-operate to the very best of their ability.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

Rowing this week on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings 7:30 p. m. in the armory. Everyone report promptly.

Sara Abbott has been elected census-taker for next year.

FRESHMEN AND SOPHOMORES.

Attendance is taken at all Pageant rehearsals. Since they count for gym, it would be well to look into the matter and come out to every one. If there are two rehearsals of your scene a week and you only come to one, you don't get any credit that means one cut in gym. ---Beware!!

SPEAKERS.

Professor Creighton will speak on "The Rights and Limitation of Political Discussion." There will be a lively discussion, Tuesday, 8 p. m. at Barnes Hall. Be sure and hear it. Everybody is welcome.

Miss Alice Hunt, a very eminent speaker in the labor field, will speak on the "Consumers' League," Thursday 12 M. at Home Economics Building, room 245. She is coming here at your request and expense. Are you going to take advantage of her visit and so acquaint yourself with a big and vital issue of the day? Reserve Thursday 12 M.
