VOL. II NO

ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR

May 24, 1917.

In our halls of residence we have had recently striking evidence that the cultural and romantic phases of student life are not absent from Cornell. Who upon seeing the inhabitants of Risley in their gray sweaters "faisant queue" before the kitchen doors could deny that the spirit of Bohemia had descended upon us. True some unkind observer suggested that such an arrangement for facilitating the serving of food was merely a manifestation of a too practical spirit. At first we were a bit pained by this shattering of our illusion but as we observed the entire absence of any Bohemian cheerfulness and enthusiasm in the dining room we decided sadly that the skeptic was right and that the innovation was merely destroying our peace and happiness. And this brings us to the most serious aspect of the situation. Are we an over practical society because our meals are served in a crude way or because our mental attitudes can not rise above the crudeness of our surroundings?
