George enters College this year, as a junior, and I think will make a fine man in the world; report says he is astonishingly improved, both in mind and manners.

Rudi and Aunt Dora desire to be affectionately remembered to you and Sister; the children are all well, and the two girls are growing genteel and pretty. They frequently ask me questions about Aunt and Uncle Holley.

I hope my dear Mother to hear often from you; I know not when my feelings have been so much gratified, as by the reception of your kind letter this day, and believe me always with this tender affection.

Your Daughter,

Susan S. Adams

PS. Grandmother sends her kind regards, and hopes it will answer well. Have love to your dear Sister.
